District Organizer Speaks. Preliminary to the action referred to above, Mr. Overson addressed the meeting on the importance of the work incident to providing laborers with which to meet the increasing demands of the war industries. He called attention to the fact that a million men would be necessary to take care of the war work of the government and that at the present time one hundred thou-sand men were required in the munibe secured, he said, and they must be secured, he said, and they must come from among those who are idle or engaged in work not essential to winning the war. Of this number Texas would be expected to furnish 29,200 men and Wichitz county its propermen and Wichita county its propore quota of this number.

Classification Necessary.

To meet such a condition: Mr. Overson explained, it devolved upon the community labor boards to immediate. ly classify the various local industries as to their essential or non-essential importance in order that those employed in non-essential occupations may be available for work necessary may be available for work necessary in successfully carrying on the war. In this connection he explained that the nower vested in the state director with the connection has a to render it possible to obtain the required number of men with which to meet the situation now confronting the government. He further explained that institutions classed as non-essential would be expected to release their employes for more essential work and failing to do so would be deprived of supplies and transportation facilities, or otherwise dealt with by the government as wise dealt with by the government as derailment has not yet been definitely the situation required. "The men ascertained." said Mr. Overson, erate with the labor department in supplying the demand." Thousand Available Men.

The speaker explained to those pres ent that the situation in Wichita county had been thoroughly canvassed and was well understood by the depart-ment. He estimated that there were at least a thousand men available for more essential work.

Mr. Overson culogized the county for the splendid record that had been made in meeting every demand made upon it in the sale of Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps, and in subscrip-tions to the Red Cross, declaring that this people could not afford to be classed as negligent in meeting the demands of the labor situation.

Tribute to Soldiers.

During his remarks he paid a glowing tribute to the men who are fighting the battles at the front, recalling the sarrifices, they are making with ing the battles at the front, recalling the sacrifices they are making without complaint, and without regard to the number of hours employed or the wages paid. Such an example, he said, should be antimspiration to those who remain at home to at least contribute their efforts toward winning the warby aiding in the work incident to providing supplies for the army. For every man on the field of battle, it was explained, the services of eight to ten men were required at home to promen were required at home to peo-vide the equipment necessary.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes -Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.
These tablets are w liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for a limit of the successful substi cessful substitute for calomel-now and then just to keep in the pink of condition 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

to warn all again about the erroneous ideas prevalent among you. The country is flooded with pamphlets concerning bankers, railroaders, workers in oil fields, and workers in every other industry, which lead registrants to believe that if they are working along these lines they will be exempt. These concerns are putting in wholesale claims for everybody in their employ, from snipes on the railroad to presi from snipes on the railroad to presi-dents of different concerns, and all we can see that it amounts to is that the majority of these registrants who now think they are exempt are go-ing to find out they are not, and feel we have done them an injus

Serum Efficiency In Preventing and Curing Influenza

The latest issue of the "Journal" published by the American Medical association contains the following discussion on the use of vaccines and serums for preventing and curing Spanish influenza. Local physicians who are constantly being consulted as to the efficiency of such methods, are citing this article as the basis for opinion:

"With the appearance of the epidemic of influenza, reports began to appear, chiefly in newspapers, as to appear, chiefly in newspapers as to new serums; vaccines, drugs and other methods for checking and even for curing the disease. In Massachusetts, Commissioner E. R. Kelly appointed two committees to investigate the value of influenza vaccines as a preventive agent and as a treatment of the disease. The first committee, a special board for scientific investigation, consisting of Dr. M. J. Rosenau, chairman, and Frederick P. Gay and George W. McCoy, was appointed to consider the evidence available on the preventative and curative use of vaccines against influenza. This committee presented the following conclusions:

1. The evidence at hand affords no trustworthy basis for regarding pre-ventative vaccination against influenza ventative vaccination against influenza as of value in preventing the spread of the disease, or of reducing its se-verity. The evidence from the present epidemic, though meager, suggests that the incidence of the disease among the vaccinated is smaller than among the non-vaccinated. The board, there-fore, concludes that further experimen-tal evidence should be collected. 2. The evidence at hand convinces the board that the vaccines we have considered have no specific value in the treatment of influenza, 3. There is evidence that no unfavorable results have followed the use of the vaccines.

The second committee, known as the Special Board of Statistical Investigation, consisted of Dr. George C.
Whipple, chairman, William H. Davis and F. C. Crum. This committee re-

1. The weight of such statistical evidence as we have been able to accumulate indicates that the use of the intigated is without curative benefit. Ex-

3. There is also some evidence to the effect that other methods of protection, such as open air treatment and the use of proper masks, are effective in protecting exposed attendants, and the use of vaccine should not be taken as an excuse for omitting such safe-

As a result, the following recommen-dations were made:
That the state encourage the distribution of influenza vaccine intended for preventative use, but in such manier as will secure scientific evidence se of such vaccine is to be regarded s experimental.

That the state shall neither furnish nor endorse any vaccine at present in use for the treatment of influenza. These reports are conservative, and offer to other health comprissioners and their communities a reliable guide as to procedures that should be adopted before subjecting or trying out on the public any method of prevention or treatment that may be offered. These matters are the domain of medical science, and medical scientists of recognized ability should be called on to nake the decision.
