PRESIDENT SAYS DUTY CALLS

Discover Plot to Reinstate Kaiser

By Associated Press. LONDON, Dec. 2.—A plot to restore imperialism and secure the return of Emperor William has been discovered in Berlin, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Express.

According to the dispatch which was filed at Amsterdam on Friday, the chief men behind the plot were Field Marshal Von Beckensen, General Von Horn and General Count Von Arnim. It is said that they instructed the Prussian officers corps to carry on a pro-emperor agitation, beginning immediately after the demobilization of the troops was completed. Large sums of money are said to have been placed at the disposal of the leaders.

The plot collapsed owing to the fact that a secret service man overheard a telephone conversation in which arrests have been made in Berlin and other cities, while the government has long lists of suspects who had planned to seize members of the present government.

No direct evidence of William Hohenzollern's connection with the plot has been found, it is said, but it is believed that the outline of the plan was brought to Berlin by two of his suite who recently went to the German capital for the ostensible purpose of taking the wife of the former emperor to Amerongen, Holland.

Lieutenant Dr. Gustav Krupp Von Bohlen is said to have been in control of the financial arrangements. Field Marshal Von Mackensen is said to have attempted to induce Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to join, but the latter refused, saying that he intended to retire after the demobilization of the army.

The whole Prussian court, it is said, was in sympathy with the plotters, and it is said that Prince Von Buelow and Dr. George Michaelis, former imperial chancellor, had promised to help. The plan was to organize a provisional government under Field Marshal Von Mackensen or some other military leader and then urge William Hohenzollern to return.

GERMANS DISPLAY HAUGHTY ATTITUDE OF INDIFFERENCE

MANIFEST LITTLE CONCERN ON ARRIVAL OF ARMY OF OCCUPATION.

CROSS BORDER SUNDAY

Reception Quite Different From That Given on West Side of the River.

By Associated Press. AMERICAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, Sunday, Dec. 1.—No demonstrations, either friendly or hostile, marked the entry of Major General Dickman's army into Germany today. The frontier was crossed in the day and by nightfall the Americans had moved forward twelve miles, reaching Trier on the left and extended along the Saar river and through Saarburg and Treves.

The reception given the Americans differed from that encountered in Luxembourg and parts of Belgium, as they were welcomed as deliverers by almost all of the population. The attitude of the population of Pheerish, Prussia, was different. Not a single act of open antagonism toward the children had been schooled in the role they must play.

Change is noticeable. Officers are surprised by the lack of display of flags and the absence of the cheering crowds which they had been accustomed to, but they did not expect the silence with which the advance patrols and the columns of marchers were received.

On the Luxembourg side of the Moselle river, the streets of the villages were filled with those out to say goodby to the departing troops or to those who passed to or from church.

Across the Moselle the scene was almost deserted. Perhaps eighty-five per cent of the population remained within their homes and in a majority of cases the blinds were drawn. Here and there a German stood in the doorway watching the troops pass and occasionally groups assembled at streets but there were no signs of either pleasure or disappointment.

Large crowds were encountered in Treves, the largest place occupied later in the day but even there most of the people kept morose and indifferent. So far as possible the men in khaki were ignored.

Once in a while the youngsters under six years of age were carried away by the excitement and displayed enthusiasm over the marching troops, but their forgetfulness was corrected promptly by some older person.

Brigadier General Proston Brown, the military governor for occupied territory, has established his headquarters at Treves, which also has been made advanced general headquarters.

General Pershing will spend part of his time at Treves. Civil affairs will be directed by Major General Harry Smith.

Music Fails to Arouse. The troops marched into the headquarters with bands playing but even the music and the presence of the marching American officers failed to stir the population from its attitude of indifference.

A curious phase of the situation was the presence along the line of marching numbers of discharged German soldiers, both officers and men, still in uniform. Along the roads and in Treves these gray clad men moved in and out of the groups of French in khaki, stood on the sidewalks watching the marching columns. At several places in the city and in the country districts, Germans, armed with rifles, were seen acting as sentry guards. They had been placed by the German authorities to maintain order.

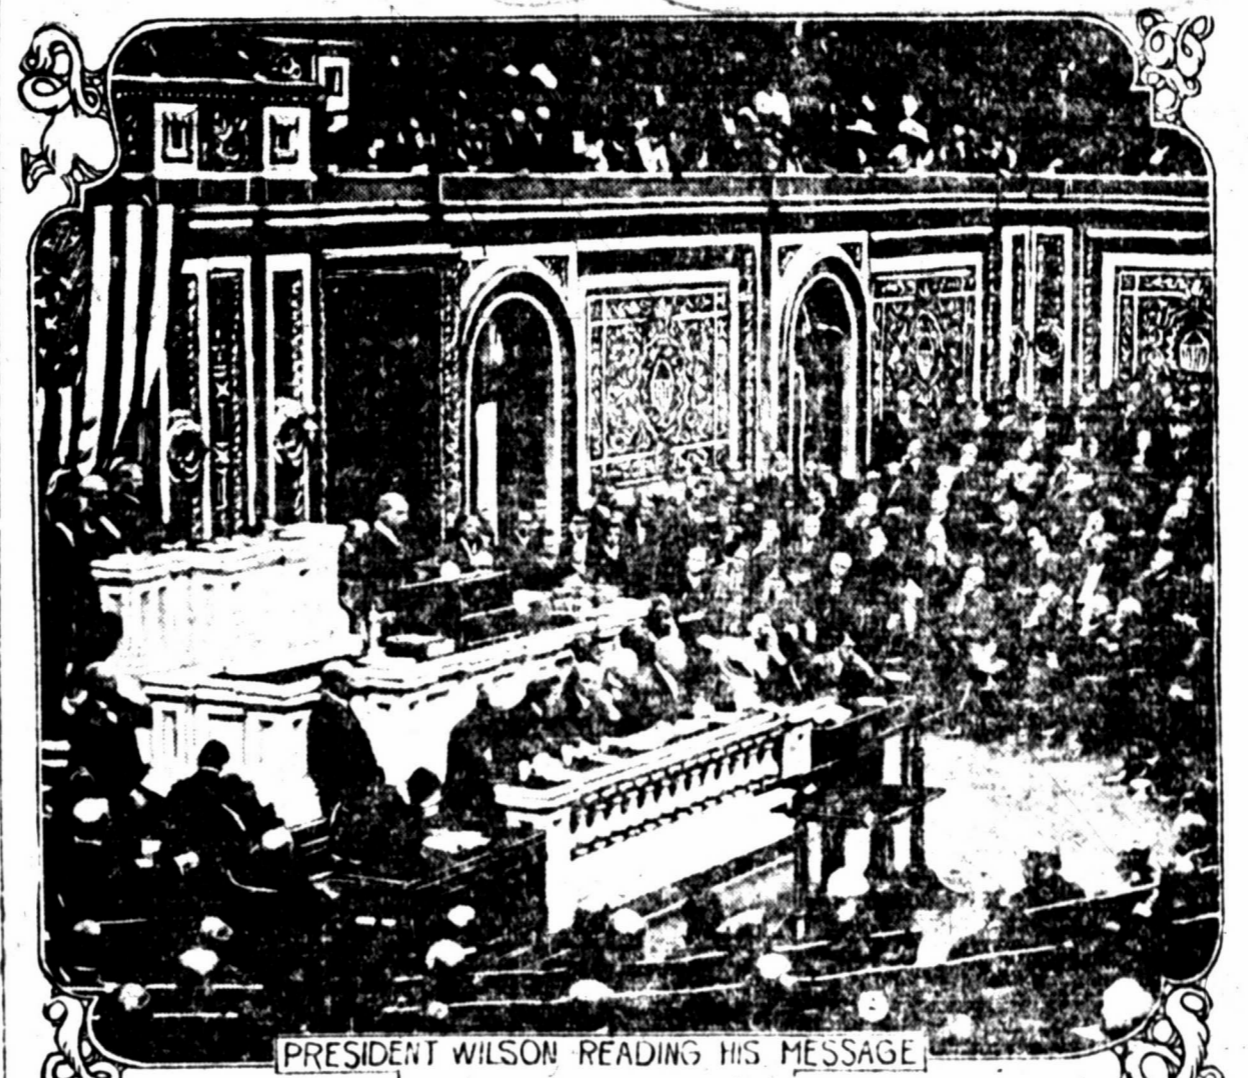

A number of released Allied soldiers appear with the American lines as if they were released from the army. Some of them had been set free by the retreating Germans while others had been permitted to "escape."

The Allied commission, which have been in communication with the Germans, have notified the local authorities in Treves and in other places where the civilian authorities are not troublesome and where they cooperate with the forces of occupation they will be permitted to remain at their posts and will not be disturbed except insofar as it is necessary.

MANY FORMER STUDENTS WILL RETURN TO SCHOOL

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, TEX., Dec. 2.—That many of ex-students of Texas University, who are now in the army, are contemplating returning to the school as soon as they are released from the army, is evident from the number of letters received by the registrar. Many letters are received from men who are anxious to get back into school, now that the war is over.

PRESIDENT WILSON READS HIS PEACE MESSAGE TO SESSION OF SIXTY-SIXTH CONGRESS TODAY

PRESIDENT WILSON READING HIS MESSAGE

Text of President's Address to Congress

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—In his message to congress, delivered this afternoon, the President said:

"Gentlemen of the Congress: The year that has elapsed since I last stood before you to fulfill my constitutional duty, to give to the congress from time to time information on the state of the Union, has been so crowded with great events, great processes and great results that I can not hope to give you an adequate picture of its transactions or of the far-reaching changes which have been wrought in the life of our nation and of the world. You have yourselves witnessed these things as they have unfolded. It is too soon to assess them, and we who stand in the midst of them and are part of them are less qualified than men of another generation will be to say what they mean or even what they have been. But some great outstanding facts are unmistakable and constitute in a sense the backbone of the year which is our duty to deal, to state them, to set the stake for the legislative and executive action which must be taken to meet them and which we have set to the Congress and the people."

Successful Troop Movement.

"A year ago we had sent 146,918 men overseas. Since then we have sent 1,200,000, an average of 162,500 each month, the number in fact rising in May last to 245,000, in June to 275,000, in July to 307,500 and continuing to reach similar figures in August and September. In August 288,579 and in September 257,438. No such movement of troops ever took place across three thousand miles of sea, followed by adequate equipment and supplies and carried safely through extraordinary dangers—dangers which were alike strange and infinitely difficult to guard against. In all this movement only 75 men were lost by enemy attacks—639 of whom were upon a single English transport which was sunk near the Orkney Islands."

Support Was Splendid.

"I need not tell you what lay back of this great movement of men and material. It is not tedious to say that it lay a supporting organization of the industries of the country and all its productive activities more complete, more thorough in method and more efficient in execution than any other great belligerent had ever seen or effected. We profited greatly from the experience of the nations which had already been engaged for nearly three years in the exacting and exacting business, their resources and every executive proficiency taxed to the utmost. We were the pupils. But we learned quickly and acted with a promptness and a readiness of co-operation that justify our great pride that we were able to serve the world with unparalleled energy and quick accomplishment."

Mettle of the War.

"But it is not the physical scale and executive efficiency of preparation, supply, equipment and dispatch that I would dwell upon, but the mettle and audacity, the courage and the spirit of the men and women who went over and of the sailors who kept the seas, and of the spirit of the nation that stood behind them. No soldiers or sailors ever got themselves more quickly ready for the test of battle or acquitted themselves with more splendid courage and achievement than our men and women. These of us who played some part in directing the great processes by which the war was pushed irresistibly forward to the final triumph may now forget all that and delight our thoughts with the story of what our men did. Their officers understood the grim and exacting task they had undertaken and performed with audacity, efficiency and unhesitating courage that touch the story of heroism and the battle with imperishable distinction at every turn, whether the enterprise was great or small—from their chiefs,

Recommendations Made to Congress

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—In an address to congress in joint session today president Wilson formally announced his intention to go to Paris for the peace conference, saying the Allied governments having accepted principles enunciated by him for peace and it is his paramount duty to be present.

The president said he will be in close touch by cable and wireless and congress will know all that he does on the other side.

Referring to his announcement that the French and British governments had removed all cable restrictions upon the transmission of news of the conference to America, the President said he had taken over the American cable system, on expert advice, so as to make a unified system available. He expressed the hope that he would have the co-operation of the public and congress, saying through the cables and wireless constant counsel and advice would be possible.

Discusses Railroad Problem.

Much of the address was devoted to the railroad problem for which the President said he now had no solution to offer. He recommended careful study by congress, saying it would be a disservice to the country and to the public to permit a return to old conditions under private management without modifications.

The President declared he stood ready to permit the railroads from government control to be returned to private ownership under conditions that would be worked out.

The President said he hoped to see a formal declaration of war by treaty by the time spring has come.

No Definite Program.

No definite program of reconstruction can be outlined now, Mr. Wilson said, but as soon as the armistice was signed, government control of business and industry was released as far as possible. He expressed the hope that congress would not object to conferring upon the war trade board or some other agency the right of fixing export priorities to assure shipments of food to starving people.

As to taxation the President endorsed the plan for levying six billion dollars in 1919 and for notifying the public committee of four demerits which would be four billion dollars.

The new three year naval building program was endorsed because, the President said, it would be a step toward adjusting the American program to a future world policy, as yet undetermined.

Having tribute to the peoples conducted in Italy, he spoke particularly of the work of women and appealed for woman suffrage by federal amendment.

No Private Purpose.

Declaring he had no "private thought or purpose," in going to France, but that he regarded it as his right duty, the President added: "It is now my duty to play my full part in making good what they (America's soldiers) offered their lives' blood to obtain."

Democratic representatives arose and applauded vociferously when the President announced his intention of going in person to the peace conference. The republican side was silent and many of the senators on both sides of the chamber.

The President concluded after speaking forty two minutes and left the chamber amid applause limited to the democratic side. Interruptions of the address for questions which had been threatened by some republican members of the House, did not materialize.

SENATOR CUMMINS PROPOSES A SENATE COMMITTEE

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Senator Cummins of Iowa, republican, introduced today a resolution, proposing that a senate committee of four democrats and four republicans be sent to France for the peace conference, to keep the Senate informed on questions arising there.

Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, republican, declared he would oppose the resolution and hope it would be sent to the foreign affairs committee and there killed.

On motion of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the foreign relations committee, the resolution was referred to that committee. Except for the statement of Senator Kellogg there was no discussion of the merits of the measure.

Triumph Has Come.

"And now we are sure of the great triumph for which every sacrifice was made, for which every effort was made, and with the pride and inspiration of these days of achievement. We are quick within us we turn to the tasks of peace again—a peace secure against the violence of irresponsible monarchs and ambitious military coteries and made ready for a new order for new foundations of justice and fair dealing."

"We are about to give order and organization to this peace not only for ourselves but for the other peoples of the world as well, so far as they will suffer us to serve them. It is international justice that we seek, not do merely justice merely. Our thoughts have dwelt of late upon Europe, upon Asia, upon the Near and the Far East, very little upon the acts of peace and accommodation that wait to be performed at our own doors. While we are adjusting our relations with the rest of the world, it is not of capital importance that we should clear away all grounds of misunderstanding with our immediate neighbors and give proof of the friendship we really feel. I hope that the members of the Senate will permit me to speak once more of the friendly relations of friendship and adjustment with the republic of Colombia."

Early Action Urged.

"I urge earnestly upon you upon that vital matter. I believe that they will feel with me that the stage of affairs is now set for such action as will be not only just but generous and in the spirit of the new age upon which we have so happily entered."

"So far as our domestic affairs are concerned the problem of our return to peace is a problem of economic and industrial readjustment. That problem is less serious for us than it may turn out to be for the nations which have suffered the disarrangement and the losses of war longer than we. Our people moreover, are not only to be comforted and led, they are to be encouraged and led. They

RESOLUTION TO PLACE MARSHALL IN POWER

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—A joint resolution introduced by Representative Rosenburg of Illinois, republican, proposed that congress declare President Wilson's trip to Europe constitutes an inability to discharge the powers and duty of the office of president and that so long as he is away from the country the vice president act as president.

The resolution was dropped into the bill box without discussion on the floor. It was referred to the judiciary committee.

BURLESON DISMISSES TWO POSTAL OFFICIALS

Richards, general superintendent of the company's Pacific Coast division for alleged insubordination in connection with the amalgamation of the Postal and Western Union Telegraph companies.

RECOMMENDS ADJUSTMENT OF STATE FRANCHISE TAX

LEMBERG SCENE OF MURDER AND GENERAL RIOTS

By Associated Press. VIENNA, Wednesday, Nov. 27.—Hundreds are homeless at Lemberg as the result of pogroms against the Jews in that city. It is reported that many people have been killed and wounded, three churches and eighty houses burned and wholesale looting has taken place. The trouble is said to be extending west to Jaroslav and south to the Dniester, as well as many towns in western and eastern Galicia.

Jewish reports say that the disorders were not attributable to bolshevism, but were the outcome of an effort to prevent the Jews from carrying out the principle of self-determination, according to President Wilson's program. Disinterested observers state that the fighting is the outgrowth of the fact that Ukrainians in Poland wish to be free and under Ukrainian rule. In Lemberg there is a preponderance of Polish inhabitants, while around the city the Ukrainians are the majority. The people of Lemberg, with the exception of the Jews, want to unite with the Poles. The Poles, therefore, according to these observers, are pursuing a policy of violence against the Jews.

An Interesting Report From the Thirty-Sixth

The following description of the progress of the Thirty-Sixth Division from the time it left Camp Bowie until it got into the fighting line was written by Bill Tapp, brother of Aubrey Tapp, formerly representing a tobacco house in this city. The letter makes an unusually interesting story and will be enjoyed by the many Wichitans who have sons, relatives or friends in this division. The letter follows:

Amb. Co., No. 141, 11th Sp. Th. Amex. Forces, A. P. O. No. 796, October 28th, 1918.

I will endeavor to give you a description of the trip to the 36th Division since leaving the United States.

It was on a rainy, mid-summer morning on which we went to the docks to embark for foreign service. We were loaded on ferries which took us to the large government pier buildings, passing through these we were given rolls and coffee by the Red Cross nurses before we climbed the gang plank into our ship. From the number of soldiers on the docks we thought our ship must be big. The gang plank all that day and all the next morning. The ship was a very large one, having a capacity of several thousand people. First in the afternoon the sailing flag was raised. This meant that the company was ready and would sail within an hour, so we were soon under way. The sailors said: "You are the only ones we have had aboard, whom there were not a number to bawl upon leaving their native soil."

After clearing the harbor we could see that our ship was much the largest in the convoy and was given the lead. It took us about a week to reach the sea, surrounded by her little ones. The camouflaged boats were even more varied in color, some being painted with many colors, fantastic shapes, etc.

The weather was clear and almost no wind and there was little seasickness coming across. Still some of the men had to have a try at heaving, thinking that was the proper thing to be done on a sea voyage.

Troublesome life preservers. One of the most useful, as well as the most troublesome things of our trip across was our life preservers. One never expected to use it for its purpose for which it was intended, but as a coat, smoking jacket, a mattress or cover, it was hard to beat. Especially was this true in the danger zone where we were required to wear them day and night. Nearly every day we had "Abandon Ship Drill" two or three times. During one of these drills we were cautioned by one of the ship's officers that if we were hit by a torpedo the ship would list, but were assured that in case it should list that it would be sure to right itself during the day the open decks were always crowded to their fullest capacity so to keep open the guards had to keep continually saying: "Move on, you can't stop there." To a man looking for a seat this was not welcome news. Of course, applied only to enlisted men. The passengers were in which the officers were quartered was not so crowded and there was plenty of chairs and deck space. Our guns fired at objects which were taken to be subs two or three times. This caused comparatively little excitement. Most of the men were more interested in the splash the shells made in hitting the water than in any other part of the attack. This, with the bands playing, the ship's canteen to buy cookies and candies from and many books to read, the voyage was a most pleasant one. It was after almost two weeks at sea that we saw a purple line rise above the horizon which were indications that we were near land. Columbus and his crew would have been but little more elated over the discovery of America than we were upon seeing France.

Soon some jagged rocks arose from the water and a little more of the hills loomed up on the main land. Then we entered the harbor, which was a beautiful and well protected one, but little could be said for the town which it accommodated.

"The Gang's All Here." Hardly had we gone ashore and started marching through the town than we heard "Hail, Hail, the guns roar and see the light of battle. It was here that our company began its first active service with its ambulances transporting sick and wounded. Much of this moving was done at night without lights. The only accident, however, was the running of an ambulance loaded with seven patients into a shell hole which had been made in the road. No one was hurt and only a slight damage done to the car. From here we moved in our own transportation, the whole train being fully equipped, moving at night and as usual the night was dark and rainy and progress was very slow. At day light we were ordered to unload at a little village that had been the scene of recent fighting. We received the call for our ambulances to go to the front at once. We were tired, sleepy and hungry, having ridden all night without supper or breakfast, still we were anxious to get into action. Then it was that we saw real war and its effects. Soon we were up where the shells burst and whistled. Soon we saw roads torn by shell fire and just as we reached the aid station from which we were to carry the wounded further to the rear a shell tore through the wall of the tent in which the wounded were housed. I was a little surprised to see even here Red Cross women handing out chocolate and cigarettes to the wounded, always with a cheerful smile. All the heroic deeds of this struggle are not confined to the men.

We now began to receive our first experience in trench life. Every one who wasn't on duty was supposed to hunt a hole, crawl into it, wrap up in his blankets and get what sleep he could.

Our next move was across the famous German line that was supposed to be impenetrable. The Hun was really and truly on the move. The earth was torn up literally as if an earthquake had occurred. The surface was too uneven to permit the passage of a man on foot. Every one from the size of a wash tub to a house are what makes the surface of the land. I have seen fields after fields of barbed wire entanglements. To know just what a barbed wire entanglement is like at a little distance you have only to imagine an overripe field of wheat. The rusty wire has that color. To judge from what we have seen there is sufficient wire in the battle area to build a fence twice around the world. For a month now we have not been out of the sound of battle. Sometimes we are very busy, while at other times we have practically nothing to do but wait for action and make life as comfortable as we can by adding little conveniences to our dugouts.

Our division has been so active recently, we have been forced to move rapidly to keep up with the enemy. The 36th has made a record of which we are all proud and which will live for centuries to come. Our boys stay cheerful even under the most trying circumstances. No matter how dirty or muddy or how badly we need a bath or shave we are still able to laugh at our experiences and see the funny side of things. When the large shells which we call G. I. cans, whistle over our heads, everyone automatically falls and you can hear them laughing all down the line. To anyone that didn't know the Texas and Oklahoma touch would think they were out on a jumble instead of being engaged in the most serious of all businesses.

As for souvenirs one could soon collect a museum for all of us have more luggage than we want to carry so we have to pass by many curious and interesting elements of warfare, hoping to be able to get something later.

This war has accomplished one thing at least, and that is we will be able to know in the future who the real men are. After living, eating and sleeping and working with men under the most trying conditions imaginable we can soon learn who we can depend upon and who we cannot. We all hope that in the near future this trouble will have ended and we will be permitted to return to God's country once more. Sincerely,

HILL, TAPP.

COMMISSIONER OF RED CROSS MAKES BELGIUM REPORT

Associated Press Mail Correspondent. HAVRE, Nov.—Conditions in some French and Belgium cities and towns near the Franco-Belgian border, are reported as "in general, good" by Major John van Schanck Jr., acting Red Cross Commissioner for Belgium who was one of the first Americans to enter some of these places after the Germans evacuated them. In a message to the Red Cross Headquarters here, he said: "There is no great emergency like general famine, there is no great amount of sickness, there is no tremendous shortage of clothing but there is need of prompt assistance on our part to meet what distress exists. The roads are horrible, especially on the Paschendale Ridge. Roulers a town of 25,000 inhabitants has now but 1,100 civilians left. A few miles distant, a town of 18,000 inhabitants has 1,100 left. "Our canons have rushed a lot of food up to Turcoing, Lille, Roubaix. Other canons took emergency rations up to some of the other little villages on this side of Roulers. Ambulances brought back sick and wounded Belgians who had been under bombardment. "We had with us a school master," wrote the Red Cross Commissioner. "When the war began he buried all his little fortune, an accumulation of the savings of a lifetime in the garden of his house in Roulers. He returned with our driving machine, whether he was a poor man in his old age or whether he had enough to live on comfortably for the rest of his life. He found his house burned, his garden ploughed with shells, and no trace whatever of his money. "I will start again," said he, "I was a tough thing for him to find that he had lost everything. "While some of the inhabitants have been taken away to work, reported Major van Schanck, "they are in the minority. Many thousands, of course, have been sent back behind the German lines. There are thousands who remain. They need the help of the American people."

Government Urges The Registration Of Coupon Bonds

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—To insure against loss or theft of Liberty Bonds owners are being urged by the Treasury to have their coupon bonds registered, although the procedure results in a great amount of work and expense for the government. Now that the number of bond owners runs above thirty millions, the registration can be arranged at most banks and is done without cost to the owner. After registration of bonds, accidentally lost, stolen, or destroyed, the government will pay it at maturity just the same and interest checks will be mailed to the bond owner twice a year without requiring him to go to the trouble of clipping coupons and presenting them at a bank. "The fact that the bonds of the First Liberty Loan or bonds of the Second Liberty Loan are converted into bonds to affect the date on which interest is payable," explains a Treasury announcement.

Interest Payments. Interest is paid on bonds of the first loan, regardless of whether they have been converted, on June 15, and Dec. 15; on bonds of the second loan, May 15 and Nov. 15; on bonds of the third loan, March 15 and Sept. 15; on bonds of the fourth loan, April 15 and Oct. 15. The Treasury also explains that owing to the material difficulties of preparing millions of interest checks on registered bonds, coupon bonds will not be exchanged for registered bonds or registered bonds transferred on the books from one owner to another, during a month before an interest paying date of each particular loan. For example, exchanges or transfers can not be arranged for First Liberty Loan bonds between May 15 and June 15; and between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15. For the second loan, these dates would be April 15 to May 15, and Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. For the third loan, Feb. 15 to Mar. 15; and Aug. 15 to Sept. 15. For the fourth loan, Mar. 15 to April 15; and Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

Treasury Explains. This arrangement is explained by the treasury as follows: "During any period when the transfer books for any particular loan are closed no transfers of registered bonds of such loan or interchanges of registered and coupon bonds of such loan will be permitted, but requests for transfers of any such registered bonds or interchanges of any such registered and coupon bonds are received during any such closed period, the request will receive attention upon the re-opening of the books. "The semi-annual interest will be paid to the person in whose name bonds are registered as shown by the books of the Treasury Department on the date the books close regardless of any disposition that may be made by the registered holder during the closed period. If coupon bonds are presented for exchange for registered bonds during such closed periods, the coupon next due should be detached and collected in the usual manner. If registered bonds are presented for exchange for coupon bonds during such closed periods, interest on such registered bonds will be paid in the usual manner, and the coupon bonds delivered upon such exchange after the reopening of the books will carry the coupon maturing on the interest day for which the books were closed and prior coupons detached."

LONG EXPLAINS THE TERMS MENTIONED BY PREMIER

By Associated Press. LONDON, Sunday, Dec. 1.—(Via Montreal.)—Walter Hume Long, secretary of state for the colonies, speaking at Bristol today disclosed the fact that he was a member of the committee mentioned by the premier on November 29, to consider the terms that had been maintained from Germany. Therefore he could emphasize the fact that Germany need not figure on undue sympathy on the part of Great Britain. He said that although he did not desire to enlarge the British empire, he saw no alternative to the solution of the problem of the German colonies save by their inclusion in the empire. Where the natives had been consulted they overwhelmingly favored that course, he said.

CZECHO-SLOVAC REPUBLIC MERGER OF SMALL NATIONS

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Sifted out of the heart of northern Austria and Hungary by the sword of war, the Czechoslovak republic, youngest member of the Allied family of nations, is in reality a merger under democratic government of the ancient Bohemian, Moravian, Silesian and Slavic kingdoms, subjected for almost 300 years to Teuton and Magyar domination. The re-birth of Czech and Slav independence forms one of the most striking romances of the war. For centuries Bohemia stood in the forefront of European culture, giving to the world the Christian martyrs and educators, Huss and Jerome of Prague; the poet Kollar, the linguist and teacher Comenius, and, in the field of art, Brozik, the painter, and the musician Dvorak with many others whose deeds have found places in history. Hardly less advanced was the civilization of her sister states. With such inspiration, the Czechoslovaks retained, despite Austrian oppression, a national organization, and were prepared even before the start of the conflict now terminated by armistice to strike the blows that have given them freedom. They opposed the mobilization of the Austrian army, resisted induction of their manhood, despite court-martial and wholesale executions, and throughout the war obstructed and undermined the Austrian administration. From their ranks, through desertion or capture, thousands of fighting men found their way into the Russian and Italian armies, where they turned and fought the power that had conscripted them. By their spirit and efficiency as soldiers they gained recognition by the Allies of Czechoslovak units, and before the war ended more than 100,000 Czechoslovak troops, under their own commanders, were embattled for the Allied cause in France, Italy, Eastern Russia and Siberia. In Russia the Czechoslovaks have 30,000 men under arms, some recruited from the demobilized Russian army, others deserters from the Austrian forces or former Austrian prisoners of Russia, released by the Kerensky or Bolshevik governments. The Czechoslovak force in Italy was 20,000 strong, composed wholly of individuals or units from the Austrian army taken prisoner by the Italian army before December 31 has been made by the Government. The call advises all persons who have made pledges to the United States Treasury Department to invest in these Government securities that they immediately buy War Savings Stamps to equal the unpaid amounts of their pledges or make arrangements to complete their pledge by December 31. War Savings Stamps may be purchased at any postoffice or bank and from almost any business establishment. All United States mail carriers are representatives of the Department in the sale of War Savings Stamps.

AT THE THEATRES LATEST FASHION SHOW FEATURE OF COMING FILM

One of the most striking and up-to-date fashion shows of the year will be seen as one of the original features in "Our Mrs. Chesney," the Metro play which will be the attraction at the Majestic theatre on Tuesday and in which the distinguished actress, Ethel Barrymore, is starred. The costumes for this scene come from the atelier of an exclusive New York modiste who caters to the most fastidious women of the country and are noted for their distinctiveness and individuality. Among garments displayed are evening wraps and gowns, street and sports costumes, dinner and afternoon frocks, both for the debutante and the young matron, and all the hats, shoes and other accessories which go to make the tout ensemble of a perfectly groomed woman. The clothes are worn in the picture by twenty of the most beautiful girls in New York. These models were chosen for their beauty and grace both of face and form and make a gorgeous feature of the picture. The picture is based on Miss Barrymore's famous stage success, "Our Mrs. Chesney" taken from the popular story and drama by George V. Herbert and Miss Ferber wrote the play.

WINIFRED GREENWOOD ON STAGE SINCE A CHILD

Winifred Greenwood, who shares honors with Rhea Mitchell for the feminine lead in "The Goat," which will be displayed at the Empire theatre tonight, has been before the public since she was three years old. At that time she was living in a Pennsylvania town and had practically no dramatic aspirations. But a traveling stock company passed through Miss Greenwood's town and while there, a child actress, who played a small but important part, was taken ill and Winifred was substituted for her. She did so well that the theatrical company decided to take her and her mother along with them, and she has been an actress ever since. After playing Little Eva, Little Lord Fauntleroy, and other famous child characters, Miss Winifred graduated to grown-up parts, and when the pictures beckoned, she left the speaking stage for the new art form.

Complaints Are Made Regarding Quality of Eggs

Complaints have come from Wichita Falls housewives to the city department of food inspection, that rotten eggs are being sold by local dealers. Mrs. T. B. Smock of the department stated this morning. This is a violation of the State law, according to Mrs. Smock, and complaints are to be filed against dealers selling bad eggs. If R. Hoffman, food and drug commissioner for the State of Texas, gives the following interpretation of the State law regarding eggs: "It is a violation of the Texas Food and Drug Law to sell any 'filthy,' decomposed or putrid animal or vegetable substance. "It is a violation of the law, therefore, to sell rotten eggs or have them in possession with intent to sell. "It is the opinion of food control officials that eggs which contain yolks stuck to shell, mouldy eggs, black spots, and other signs of decay, and any other eggs which consist wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid substance, are adulterated. "The U. S. Department of Agriculture gives notice that shipments containing more than five per cent (5%) eggs to the case of bad eggs, will be regarded as violating the food and drug act. "We strongly urge producers, dealers and shippers to candle all eggs. "R. H. HOFFMAN, "Food and Drug Commissioner."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. "You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

THE ACME DRILLING ASSOCIATION was organized for the purpose of establishing a strong drilling contracting company in this field where possibilities are practically unlimited. The Trustees have paid into the Company $25,000.00 in drilling rigs and equipment.

We believe we can pay bigger and surer dividends than 99% of the Oil Companies being floated. Our Board of Trustees are well known and capable men. If they make it the stockholder will too. No dry holes, a strong organization employing only the best labor available.

Selling 1200 Shares at Par Value $25.00 Each. Upper present prices $1,000.00 invested should earn about $100.00 per month in dividends.

know their own business, are quick and resourceful in every respect. I know, definite in purpose, and self-reliant in action. Any leading strings we might seek to put them in would speedily become hopelessly tangled because they would pay no attention to them and go their own way. All that we can do as their legislative and executive servants is to mediate the process of change here, there and elsewhere, as we may. I have heard much counsel as to the plans that should be formed and personally conducted to a happy consummation but from no quarter have I seen any general scheme of "reconstruction" emerge which I thought it likely we could force our afflicted business men and self-reliant laborers to accept with due patience and obedience.

Many Agencies Required. While the war lasted we set up many agencies by which to direct the industries of the country in the service that was necessary for them to render, which to make sure of an abundant supply of materials necessary to check undertakings that could for the time be dispensed with and stimulate those that were most serviceable in war by what we call the purchasing departments of the government a certain control over the prices of essential articles and materials, by which to protect ourselves against alien enemies make the most of the available shipping and systematize financial transactions, both public and private so that there should be no unnecessary conflict or confusion, which, in short, to put every material energy of the country into harness to draw the common load and make of us one team in the performance of a great task. But the moment we knew the armistice to have been signed we took the harness off. Raw materials upon which our government had kept its hand for fear there should not be enough for the industries that supplied the armies have been released and put into the general market again. General industrial plants, whose whole output and machinery had been taken over for the use of the government, have been freed to return to the uses to which they were put before the war. It has not been possible to remove so readily or so quickly the control of foodstuffs and of shipping because the war has still to be led from our granaries, and the ships are still needed to send supplies to our men overseas and to receive the goods that come fast as the disturbed conditions on the other side of the water permit, but even there restraints are being relaxed as much as possible and more and more as the weeks go by.

Situation Well in Hand. Never before have there been agencies so numerous and so varied as we know so much of the field of supply of labor and of industry as the war industries board, the war trade board, the labor department, the administration and the fuel administration have known since their labors became thoroughly systematized and they have not been isolated agencies, they have been assisted by men who represented the permanent departments of the governments and so have been the centers of unified and cooperative action. It has been the policy of the executive, therefore, since the armistice was assured (which is in effect a complete submission of the country) to put the knowledge of these bodies at the disposal of the business men of the country and to offer their intelligent mediation at every point and in every field where it was desired. It is surprising how fast the process of returning to a peace footing has moved in the three weeks since the fighting stopped. I promise to outrun any inquiry that may be instituted and any aid that may be offered. It will not be easy to direct it any better than it will direct itself. The American business man is of quick initiative.

The ordinary and normal processes of private initiative will not, however, provide immediate employment for all of the men of our returning armies. Those who are of trained capacity, those who are skilled workmen, those who have acquired familiarity with established businesses, those who are ready and willing to go to the farms, all those whose aptness are known or will be sought out by employers will find no difficulty. It is safe to say in finding place and employment. But there will be others who will be at pains where to earn a livelihood unless pains are taken to guide them and put them in the way of work. There will be a large floating residuum of labor which should not be left wholly to shift for itself. It is important therefore that the development of public works of every sort should be promptly resumed, in order that opportunities should be created for unskilled labor in particular, and that plans should be made for such developments of our unused lands and other natural resources as we have hitherto lacked stimulus to undertake.

Should Reclaim Lands. I particularly direct your attention to the very practical plans which the secretary of the interior has developed in his annual report and before your committees for the reclamation of arid, swamp and cut-over lands, which might, if the states were willing and able to co-operate, redeem some three hundred million acres of land for cultivation. There are said to be fifteen or twenty million acres of land in the west, at present arid, for whose reclamation water is available if properly conserved. There are about two hundred and thirty million acres from which the forests have been cut and which have never yet been cleared for the plow and which lie waste and desolate. These lie scattered all over the nation. And there are nearly eight million acres of land that lie under swamps or subject to periodical overflow or too wet for anything but grazing. And there are many millions of acres that are scattered all over the country that are returned soldiers to the reclamation of the arid lands which it has already undertaken if it will but enlarge the plans and the appropriations which it has entrusted to the department of the interior. It is possible in devising our public works to effect a great rural and agricultural development which will afford the best sort of opportunity to men who want to help themselves. The secretary of the interior has thought the possible methods out in a way which is worthy of your most friendly attention.

For Belgium and France. I have spoken of the control which must yet for a while, perhaps for a long while, be exercised over shipping because of the priority of service to which our forces overseas are entitled and which should also be accorded the shipments which are to save recently liberated peoples from starvation and so many devastated regions from permanent ruin. May I not say a special word about the needs of Belgium and northern France? No sums of money paid by way of indemnity will serve of themselves to save them from hopeless disadvantage for years to come. Something more must be done than merely find the money if they had money and raw materials in abundance tomorrow they could not resume their place in the industry of the world. The war has very importantly placed them had before the flame of war swept across them. Many of their factories are razed to the ground. Much of their machinery is destroyed or has been taken away. Their people are scattered and many of their best workmen are dead. Their markets will be taken by others if they are not in some special way assisted to rebuild their factories and replace their lost instruments of manufacture. They should not be left to the vicissitudes of sharp competition for materials and for industrial facilities which is now to set in. I hope therefore that the congress will not be unwilling to grant to some such agency as the war trade board the right to establish priorities of export and supply for the countries which have been so afflicted. It has been so happy to assist in saving from the German terror and whom we must not now thoughtlessly leave to shift for themselves in a pitiless competitive market.

Question of Taxation. For the steady and facilitation of our own domestic business readjustments nothing is more important than the immediate determination of the taxes that are to be levied for 1918, 1919 and 1920. As much of the burden of taxation must be lifted from these as methods of financing the government will permit and that we can conduct the industrial activities of the country must be told as exactly as possible what obligations to the government they will be expected to meet in the years immediately ahead of them. It will be of serious consequence to the country to delay resolution of all uncertainties in this matter a single day longer than the necessities of the debate justify. It is idle to talk of successful and confident business reconstruction until those uncertainties are removed. If the war had continued it would have been necessary to raise at least eight billion by taxation payable in the year 1919, but the war has ended and we are now to raise only two or three. Contracts made for war supplies will indeed be rapidly cancelled and liquidated but their immediate liquidation will make heavy drains on the treasury for the months just ahead of us.

Maintaining Overseas Army. The maintenance of our forces on the other side of the water is necessary. A considerable proportion of those which are brought home will be transported and demobilized at heavy expense for months to come. The interest on our war debt must of course be paid and provisions made for the retirement of the obligations of the government which are undertaken. These demands will of course fall much below what a continuation of military operations would have entailed and six billion would suffice to supply a sound foundation for the financial operations of the year.

I entirely concur with the secretary of the treasury in recommending that the two billions needed in addition to the four billion provided by existing law be obtained from the profits which have accrued and shall accrue from war contracts and distinctly war business but that these taxes be confined to the war profits accruing in 1918 or in 1919 from business originating in war contracts. I urge your acceptance of the recommendation that provision be made now, not subsequently, that the taxes to be paid in 1920 should be reduced from six to four billions. Any arrangements less definite than these would add elements of doubt and confusion to the critical period of industrial readjustment through which the country must now immediately pass, and which no true friend of the nation's essential business can afford to be responsible for creating or prolonging. Clearly determined conditions, clearly and simply charted, are indispensable to the economic revival and rapid industrial development, which may confidently be expected if we act now and sweep all its derogation points away.

I take it for granted that the congress will carry out the naval program which was undertaken when we entered the war. The secretary of the navy has submitted to your committees for authorization that part of the program which covers the building plans of the next three years. These plans have been prepared along the lines and in accordance with the policy which the congress established, under the exceptional conditions of the war, but with the intention of adhering to a definite method of development for the navy. I earnestly recommend the uninterrupted pursuit of that policy. It would clearly be unwise for us to attempt to adjust our progress to a future world policy as yet undetermined.

Question of Railroads. The question which causes me the greatest concern is the question of the policy to be adopted towards the railroads. I frankly turn to your counsel upon it. I have no confidence in my own judgment. I do not see how any thoughtful man can have who knows anything of the complexity of the problems. It is a problem which must be studied, studied immediately and studied without bias or prejudice. Nothing can be gained by the comparisons of any particular plan of settlement.

It was necessary that the administration of the railroads should be taken over by the government so long as the war lasted. It would have been impossible to establish and carry through under a single direction the necessary priorities of shipments. It would have been impossible otherwise to combine maximum production of the factories, mines and farms with the maximum car supply to take the products to the ports and markets. Impossible to route troop shipments and freight shipments without regard to the advantage or disadvantage of the roads employed. Impossible to subordinate, when necessary, all questions of convenience to the public necessity; impossible to give the necessary financial support to the roads from the public treasury. But all these necessities have now been removed and the question is what is best for the railroads and for the people in the future.

Hope to Conclude By Spring. We may hope, I believe, for the formal conclusion of the war by treaty by the time we meet. If they had twenty-one months to which the present control of the railroads is limited, after formal proclamation of peace shall have been made, it would be the farthest, I take it for granted, only to the January of 1921. The rail equipment of the railroads by the federal administration could not be completed within any such period. The present law does not permit the use of the revenue of the several roads for the execution of such plans except for the contract with their directors, some of whom will consent while some will not and therefore does not afford sufficient authority to undertake improvements upon the lines upon which it would be necessary to undertake them. Every approach to this difficult subject in matters of decision brings us back to facts. Therefore with this unanswerable question: What is right that we should do with the railroads, in the interest of the public and in the interest of the industry of the world? Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is perfectly clear to me is that it is not fair to the public, even to the owners of the railroads to leave the question unanswered and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the railroads to the public, unless there should appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce one element of a solution, namely, certainty and a quick stimulation of private initiative.

I believe that it will be serviceable for me to set forth as explicitly as possible the alternative courses that we can adopt. We can simply accept the present conditions, the old conditions of private management, unrestricted competition and multiple regulation by both state and federal authority. These are the two opposite extreme and establish complete control, accompanied if necessary, by actual government ownership, or we can adopt an intermediate course of modified private control, under a more unified and affirmative public regulation and under such alterations of the law as will permit a successful competitive control and a considerable degree of unification of administration to be effected, for example, by regional corporations, which would produce certain definable areas would be in effect combined in single systems.

Old Conditions Undesirable. The one conclusion that I am ready to state with confidence is that it would be a disservice alike to the country and to the owners of the railroads to return to the old conditions of unrestricted competition and multiple regulation. There is nothing affirmative or helpful about them. What the country chiefly needs is that the present control and administration should be developed, its railways, its waterways, its highways and its country side roads. Some new element of policy, therefore, is absolutely necessary for the service of the public, necessary for the release of credit to those who are administering the railroads, necessary for the security of their security holders. The old policy may be changed much or little but surely it can not wisely be left as it is. I hope that the congress will have a complete impartial study of the whole problem instituted at once and prosecuted as rapidly as possible. I stand ready and anxious to release the country from the present conditions, clearly and simply charted, are indispensable to the economic revival and rapid industrial development, which may confidently be expected if we act now and sweep all its derogation points away.

The Allied governments have accepted the basis of peace which I outlined to the congress on the eighth of January, last as the central principle also have and very reasonably desire my personal counsel in their interpretation and application, and it is highly desirable that I should give it in order that the sincere desire of our government to contribute without selfish purpose of any kind to settlement that will be of common benefit to all the nations concerned, may be made fully manifest. The peace settlements, which are now to be agreed upon, are of transcendent importance, both to us and to the rest of the world, and we must have no business or interest which should take precedence of them. The gallant men of our armed forces on land and sea have consciously fought for the ideals which they believe to be the ideals of their country; have sought to express those ideals; they have accepted in state movements of their own thought and purpose, as the associated governments have accepted them. I owe it to them to see to it that they are not misunderstood or mistaken interpretation is put upon them, and no possible effort omitted to realize them. It is now my duty to give my full and frank opinion of what they offered their life's blood to obtain. I can think of no call to service which could transcend this.

I shall be in close touch with you and with affairs of this of the water and you will know all that I do. At my request the French and British governments have attempted to remove the censorship of cable news which until within a fortnight they had maintained and there now is no censorship whatever exercised at this end upon our attempted trade communications with enemy countries. It has been necessary to keep an open wire constantly available between Paris and the department of war, and another between France and the department of war. In order that this might be done with the least possible interference with other uses of the cables I have temporarily taken over the control of both cables in order that they may be used as a single system. I did so at the advice of the most expert cable officials and I hope that the results will justify my hope that the news of the next few months may pass with the utmost freedom and with the least possible delay from each end of the cables. I do not hope, gentlemen of the congress, that in the delicate tasks I shall have to perform on the other side of the sea, in my efforts truly and faithfully to interpret the principles and purposes of the country we love, I may have the encouragement and added strength of your united support. I am fully aware of the difficulty of the duty I am undertaking; I am poignantly aware of its grave responsibilities. I am the servant of the nation. I can have no private thought or purpose of my own in performing such an errand. I go to give the best that is in me to the common settlements which I must now assist in arriving at, in conference with the other working heads of the associated governments.

I shall count upon your friendly countenance and encouragement. I shall not be responsible for the war and the wireless will render me available for any counsel or service you may desire of me, and I shall be happy in the thought that I am constantly in touch with the weighty matters of domestic policy with which we shall have to deal. I shall make my absence as brief as possible and shall hope to return to the happy assurance that I have been permitted to take into action the great ideals for which America has striven.

OIL DEVELOPMENT ARE DEVELOPING OIL INDUSTRY IN QUANAH DISTRICT

QUANAH, TEX., Dec. 1.—The test well being drilled on the Neal section at Medicine Mound, is reported 2200 feet deep. It is stated that the top of the sand has been reached and a government inspector has been asked to come and advise regarding cementing the bottom. The casing, 6.5 x 8 inch, has been set on black lines. This well is being drilled for the Oklahoma State Oil & Gas Co., by Galloway & Smith. The Hale Petroleum Co. well on the Riley wheat farm, six miles south of this city is reported about 740 feet deep. This well was started 14 inches in diameter. A Chicago and Kansas City syndicate, headed by H. W. Conwell of Denver, has secured about 12,000 acres of leases north and west of Quanah and has secured trade connections with financial ability and intention to thoroughly test the property, commencing operation within 90 days. Among the land secured are several thousand acres owned by the American Cretaceous Plaster Co., on which oil was struck while digging a water well about six years ago and from which more than 1600 barrels were saved before it was filled up. The test on the C. S. Herring ranch in Fergus county is reported at a little more than 2100 feet deep and on which approximately $55,000 has been expended so far. Casing is at the well to go 3500 feet. The Empire (Douchette) National Drilling Co. and two other large operators are, it is stated, dividing the cost of this test.

Well of Imperial Petroleum Co. Is In and Swabbing

The Imperial Petroleum Company, Skags No. 1, on block 1, Wigham addition, was drilled in on Sunday, according to reports from Burkburnett. The well is now swabbing and reported good for several hundred barrels.

LOCATE ANOTHER SHALLOW FIELD NEAR IOWA PARK

Still another shallow pool around Iowa Park is indicated in the report of a well brought in today on the Harry Zink farm, one mile south of Iowa Park. The sand was reached at 250 feet, according to the report, and the well is said to look better than the Watkins well, which is ten and a half miles southwest of Iowa Park. This well probably means the opening of a new shallow field. The name of the drilling company was not included in the report, which came this afternoon from Iowa Park, where there was some excitement over the report of the latest oil field near the town.

HIGH MARK FOR LEASES REACHED AT BURKBURNETT

A new high price for leases in the Burkburnett pool was reached this afternoon when transfer deeds for two and a half acre tracts were filed with the county clerk, the cash considerations being $2,000 and $3,000 respectively for the two tracts, both being in the W. P. Dulose Survey. The land originally leased from J. C. Hardin, J. A. D. Smith, trustee, sold both leases to Roy Brundage and J. O. Hancock. The Mr. Harris well recently brought in is on the Hardin tract.

New York Stocks By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Heaviness of specialties caused some unsettlement in the general list in the first half hour of today's stock market. Speculative issues such as Lackawanna Steel, Ray's, Duff, and Best Sugar forfeited 1/2 to 2 points. Shippers were moderately firm with Studebaker, United States Rubber, American Wagon and American United States Steel. American high grade rails showed no particular trend, aside from Canadian Pacific's decline of two points.

Grain Market By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Corn prices averaged higher today, influenced more or less by the food administration estimate of 200,000,000 bushels to be added to the broad line depending on shipments from America. On the other hand, predictions that the combined United States and crop would be a record breaker tended to make bulls cautious. Opening prices which ranged from half cent off to a like advance with December 1918 to 26 3/4 and January 1919 to 127 1/2 were followed by material gains in the January and later deliveries. Oats ascended with corn. After opening 1/2 cent down to 8, up to 10 and 11, and 12, the market scored a moderate advance. Firmness in the hog market strengthened provisions.

Financial Review Issued By National Bank of Commerce

The following monthly review of business activity and outlook is issued by the National Bank of Commerce of this city.

The question of after-the-war business activity is of the utmost importance to the country at large and it is very encouraging to note that those in a position to know are of the opinion that peace tasks will keep labor busy and that the return of peace does not mean lack of work.

Motor truck companies report along similar lines and it is known that vast amounts of steel are required for railroad construction and maintenance, huge supplies of building material are needed, both at home and abroad, and continued activity is assured throughout industrial enterprises of all kinds.

Tribute to American Farmers. The Department of Agriculture, through the Bureau of Crop Estimates, has issued a statement of appreciation of the wonderful manner in which the farmers of the United States apparently have accomplished the impossible by continuing to plant larger crops and to harvest larger crops in the aggregate each year in spite of the decreasing supply of labor.

Searching for Food. The great increase in the demand of the entire world for the United States for food and the resulting outflow of foodstuffs from this country has had the effect of causing a great increase in our activity in securing food supplies from out of the world parts of the world to take the place of the vacancy caused by the increased demand for our wheat, corn, meat, (beef) and other food products.

Our exportations of fresh beef in the fiscal year 1918 were 370 million pounds as against 6 million pounds the year before the war. Sugar exports were 576 million pounds as against 51 million pounds in 1914. Corn was represented by 41 million bushels exported in 1918 and 2 million in 1914.

To offset these exportations we have imported rice to the amount of 456 million pounds in 1918 as compared with 270 million pounds in 1914; cod fish, 94 million pounds in 1918 against 40 million pounds in 1914; cocoa, 400 million pounds against 176 million. Many new foods or developments of food supplies were added to the regular list, including reindeer steaks and whale meat, while for the making of vegetable butter 487 million pounds of copra for coconut oil were imported against 45 million pounds in 1914.

America's Wealth and Expenses. With the largest annual income per capita of any nation in the world, the United States has been spending for war purposes the smallest percentage of annual income of any. The people of the United States have per capita $2,404 as compared with $1,915 for Great Britain and $1,625 for France. The annual income from this wealth is $385 per capita for America, $255 for Great Britain and $187 for France. The annual war cost per capita to America has been $103.80 or 22 per cent of income, Great Britain $275.00 or 11 per cent of income, France $189.00 or 36 per cent of income.

A comparison of war loans shows that the United States has put out, not including the Fourth Liberty Loan, an amount equal to $97.30 per inhabitant, Great Britain $397.10 and France $171.00.

The ZIEGLER GAS HEATER

is a real heater, it does not throw the heat from one side only, as most heaters do, but radiates the heat in every direction. This is accomplished by the use of several scientifically correct features, insuring a proper mixture of air with the gas under all normal conditions. This heater is especially recommended for use in stores, halls, dining rooms, and in fact any room where a steady, constant heat is required.

We have the agency for this excellent heater in Wichita Falls, and you will find one demonstrating in our store every hour in the work day, keeping it comfortable for our customers and ourselves. It will give us pleasure to have an opportunity of demonstrating and explaining its many points of merit.
