Let's Cook Something

Meals tell a lovely story—they tell about the systematic planning and the economical buying of foods. They reveal the house wife's forethought for her family and friends and then they speak volumes concerning her pride in her home and in her ability. Time was—and not too long ago—when the foods one cooked were largely a matter of seasons. Today, with cold storage lockers and other preserving methods, foods of every conceivable sort are on hand to fit any taste or budget in all seasons.

Young cooks the world over have adapted their mother's time-proven recipes to suit their needs and that's what Mrs.

Allison has done with this Kentucky favorite. She passes it on to other young cooks, but you'll be glad you tried it if you are an old hand at the game.

CORN PUDDING

- 1 No. 2 can of whole kernel corn (fresh corn is much better.)
- salt to taste
- 2 table-spoon flour
- 2 egg yolks
- dash of pepper
- 1 heaping tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup sweet milk

Blend all these ingredients well and cook in double boiler until thick and creamy. Put in baking dish. Beat the whites of 2 eggs stiff, but not dry, and add two heaping tablespoons of sugar. Place the beaten egg whites on top of the corn mixture in baking dish and bake in oven until light brown.

Mrs. Lange Hostess To Church Group

The Congregational Ladies Aid met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. F. Lange, with Mrs. J. C. Wilkison as co-hostess.

After a short business session, with the new president, Mrs. Carl Maurer, presiding, the afternoon was spent at quilting.

A motion was made and carried to change the meetings from the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of each month to the 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of each month.

Dainty refreshments were served to eleven members.

Despite the bad weather of this week services were held every night except Wednesday night. Services were also held Sunday morning although they were called off Sunday night.

Rev. Marcus Exrode, pastor of Summerfield Church, Tandy Legg, former teacher of Summerfield and B. A. Atchley of Summerfield visited church services Saturday night.

Mrs. C. A. Landers returned to her home in Okemah, Okla., Tuesday. Mrs. Landers has been visiting her son, Joe Landers, since October.

The next meeting of the Home Demonstration Club is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. T. B. Cox.

Nina Beth Hartman and Ava Gene Gore missed school this week because of sickness.

Dan Turrentine and Loy Cook returned to Lubbock where they are attending school at Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dickson were hosts and hostess at a party at their home Friday night for young people. Games were played and refreshments served to Vesta Mae and Roy Landers, Gladys and Howard Gore, Junior and Elvin Wilson, Roger Hartman, Wanda Marie Allmon, Helen Marie and Ruth Tucker, J. D. Green of Summerfield, Rev. Gerald Moore of Sudan, Rev. Hardy Stevens of Dawn and the host and hostess.

Roger Hartman returned to college at A & M Saturday morning. Jack Allmon returned to Tech and Vesta Mae Landers to Canyon Sunday.

Best Bet for Blackout

A curtain of felt material provides protection in blackouts. Material is put on a flexible piece of wood with thumb tacks and is hung from the top of the window just like a picture. Not only is light concealed, but felt absorbs splinters in case of shattered glass. Miss Margo Lundgren shows how easily this type of curtain is hung.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Madloe of Hot Springs, N. M., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gunn early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dodson and son, Monte, of Claude visited in the R. M. Gunn home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cox and children returned Saturday night from their trip to Phoenix, Ariz., where they visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hooton.

People of this community received a letter from S. J. Cook of Camp Roberts, California, thanking them for the box of Christmas treats they sent him. He said he would certainly be glad to receive letters from anyone in the community and gave his address as Co. D, 85th Infantry Tnf. Tng. Bn. 1st Platoon, Camp Roberts, Calif.

Helen Marie Tucker entertained members of her Sunday School class in her home Sunday. Those who attended were Wanda Marie Allmon, Doyle and Rea Cox.

Special Health Measures Work With Defense Set-up

Outlining the immediate step being taken in emergency health measures for national defense, Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who is acting as Chairman of Defense Health and Emergency Medical Core, today announced that the Offices of Civilian Defense are working in close collaboration with the American Red Cross and have, now available, seven types of defense work training courses.

In those lines of work closely allied with emergency medical care, those considered most important and which have therefore been given precedence in organization, are first aid training, nurses' aides training, canteen service, motor corps, home nursing, disaster relief, and home service to assist with the problems of families of the men in uniform.

Since there has been some confusion concerning the proper procedure for enrolling in civilian defense work, Doctor Cox emphasized the fact that County Judges and Mayors throughout the state are acting as defense coordinators and advised all who wish to enroll to communicate with these officials for full information.

Training will be available to all who wish to register, Doctor Cox stated, and workers will be assigned to those duties which they prefer, and for which they are best fitted.

Messenger News

MRS. J. N. MESSENGER

Mrs. Charles Brown gave a party for her daughter, Thelma's class from the Friona High School, Dec. 27. There was a good crowd present, and all reported a very pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Abbott of Bovina had as their guests on Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Messenger and children and their mother, Mrs. J. N. Messenger, of this community, also Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Houlette and four little girls, of Clovis, were present during the evening. Also, Margaret, J. R. and Elizabeth Houlette, of Clovis, and Stephen, Elsie and Rosalie Messenger of this community, were present, and all exchanged gifts and feasted on turkey and all other good things that go to make up a No. 1 feast.

Miss Glenna Jack entertained a number of her friends at her parents' beautiful new home, Jan. 1.

The snow checked the threshing for a few days in this community. There are several large fields of can, hegar and Sudan to be threshed.

Melvin Allen and Stephen Messenger took a load of grain to Rocky, Okla., Saturday. They will return today.

We received another light snow Saturday night, and this forenoon, which makes the second snow of the year.

Baptists Hold Watch Service On New Years

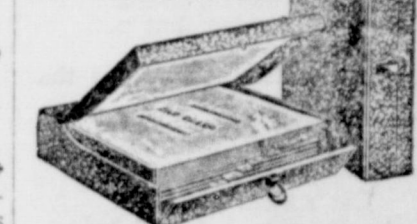

A New Year's watch service, the local observance of the World Day of Prayer proclaimed for Jan. 1, was held last Wednesday night at the Baptist Church in Friona, with Rev. Joe Wilson in charge of the program.

Prayers, singing, scripture reading and short talks served to usher in the New Year in the thoughtful spirit especially suitable to these troubled times.

Ladies of the congregation served refreshments at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Wilson reports a good attendance from all churches in Friona.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

It occurs to me that there are a lot of things that should be said for the good of our people all over the country, and many of these things have been and are being said by people better informed than I am and in terms more eloquent and forceful than mine.

Some of these things are to be found in a little poem contained in a copy of the Tribune-Sun, of San Diego, Calif., in its issue of Nov. 22, 1941, which was handed to me by my very good friend, "Brother Joe" Wilson. The Wilson's son Joe Earl, gave it to his family when they visited him in San Diego last month.

The poem depicts the feeling of the U. S. Marines on the United States labor disturbances. It was written by Sydney Weinstein, PMc, one of the first Marines to return to San Diego from Iceland, and expresses the feelings of his shipmates in that distant outpost, showing how they feel toward the action of the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. in their strikes in defense works plants.

Please do not accuse me of trying to create a war hysteria or to enhance that which has already been created. Far be it from me to do any such thing. I would far rather create a vacancy in the place where I may stand, sit or lie, than to do that. But I think of this horrible nightmare or holocaust called war, and good people, it is meet that we all should be giving it some of our most serious thoughts. The poem is entitled: "There's No Pay For Overtime" There is no pay for overtime Aboard the ships that man the line Along the far flung paths that guard The distant life lines of our shores. Here night and day, the ceaseless watch, Grim-faced men a vigil keep. Watch and watch through tempest roar, Watch and watch, so you may sleep.

There is no pay for over time, Paid to a soldier in a clime Far removed from his native land, Where bleak and dismal he must stand His lonely sentry post at night, And feel the Arctic wind's raw bite.

There's no A. F. L. or C. I. O. Where the North Atlantic Patrol must go, And icy gray waters that foaming break, May burst anew with dealy wake, Shattering the thin steel wall away, That keeps the raging sea at bay.

Brother, you, who are secure Within the ramparts, feel so sure, That you will kiss your wife to-day, That you will hear your child at play— You do not know the pangs that fill The hearts of men, when in the still Of "lights out" each man wraps the gloom Around himself and dreams of home. Then many a brave heart heaves a sigh, And on many a cheek a tear will lie.

These men who silent do remain, Who do their task and don't complain, Knowing full well, within their hands They hold the freedom of our lands. But an uneasy murmur backward runs— "Brother, where are those promised guns?"

When the hour strikes, 'tis then too late, Within that hour decides our fate, And if our lines should form and break, Because of things you failed to make.

The extra tank, or ship, or plane For which we waited all in vain, And the supplies that never came, Will you then come to take the blame? For we, not you, will pay the cost Of battles you, not we, have lost.

Well, it just occurs to me, judging from what I read in the newspaper and hear on the streets (I hear very little on the radio, anymore) our boys in army and navy uniforms have more than a just right to entertain and express just such sentiment as is poured forth in the above little poem. Not because I think so, in the least; but it is not just that these boys must be taken from their homes, their jobs and their loved ones and compelled to undergo the hardships of war and place their lives in jeopardy from the enemy's bullets and bombs, and be inadequately equipped to defend themselves because some fellows, safe and secure at home, are laying down on the job of producing this necessary equipment.

I sometimes find myself wondering as to just which is our nation's greater enemy—the boys in the army of the enemy nations, whether real or imaginary with our nation, and whose duty it is to whip us if they can, by either fair or foul means—or, those "fellows" at home (it seems like I can hardly keep my mill from spelling out some other word than "fellows"—seems like it just naturally wants to do so) but nevertheless, "fellows" at home, who for the sake of a few more cents per hour or a few less hours per day, are simply lying down on their part of the job of winning this war—that of producing the equipment and ammunition for our boys in the armed service.

And all this too, in face of the fact, that the workers are already getting for their services from two to five times the amount being paid to the boys in the service.

From our enemies we can expect nothing but the strongest and the most treacherous, the most fiendish, they are able to fare, and we are going to get all we expect, and maybe, more. It is therefore up to us to be constantly on our guard, to use eternal vigilance to thwart all such plans or intentions.

On the other hand, we have a just and honorable right to expect from these other "fellows" the most careful, the most efficient, the most continuous and patient service, they are capable of giving, in their job of producing the provisions and equipment for carrying on the war. And are we getting from them what we have the right to expect? Have we been getting it? As I see it, neither group is worth bragging on from an American point of view, but we do get what we expect from one and we do not, from the other.

I have been reading some of Lynn Landrum's "Thinking out Loud" column in the Dallas Morning News, recently and it appears that following the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor, our soldiers found the body of a Japanese Lieutenant, who had been killed, and the United States soldiers gave the body of this enemy Lieutenant a military funeral with all the honors attendant upon such an occasion. Henry McLemore, a national columnist, announced that such honor to the "low down" enemy made his "backies rise," and Mr. Landrum took issue with McLemore. The Dallas writer has received plenty of letters both of praise and condemnation of his stand.

If my conceptions of Mr. Landrum's expressions are correct, I must say that I fully agree with him in the matter. I feel much prouder of our American soldiers for their humane act, which marks them as true Americans, standing for the American principles of courtesy, decency and honor. I have frequently stated that, in my opinion, "two wrongs never make a right." Because the Japs have shown treachery and barbarism toward us, does not make it right in us to do the same for them. It only places us on their moral level.

Mr. Landrum seems to have left the matter open to discussion by his readers, many of whom took advantage of the opportunity to express their minds on the matter. I was pleased to note that quite a number of quotations in his column, were written by

Too Many Beef

by Cattle raisers.

1. Market more cows and heifers to prevent further increases in cattle numbers. The goal for cattle slaughter next year cannot be reached unless a larger proportion of breeding animals are marketed.

2. Pay off indebtedness now while prices are good so as to avoid having to pay big debts at low prices later.

3. Improve breeding herds by culling out and selling undesirable animals while demand is good.

4. Keep livestock in balance with normal feeding supplies. Range conditions and feed supplies in the west have been unusually good this year. Drought can cause a lot of loss if there is no feed reserve available or if ranges are over-grazed.

"The 1942 Farm Defense Program calls for a slaughter of 23 million head of cattle and calves compared with a probable slaughter of about 26 million head in 1941," the county chairman explains, adding that meeting this goal in 1942 will make the long-time position of the cattle industry more secure and will at the same time help supply the increasing need of the nation's workers and armed forces for meat.

high school boys and girls, and by far the greater number of them upheld Mr. Landrum's position and opposed that of the man who had derided him.

War hysteria is taking possession of a few of our people, I say few, as compared to the whole mass, and this attitude may prevail, and it will take the expressions of a large number of such competent and fearless men as Lynn Landrum, to cause them to keep their mental poise, if this war is fought out along lines of honor and fairness, instead of along the lines that are being used by our enemy nations, which will include war practices that will cause a blush of shame to over spread the faces of those who shall read these pages of our history.

THE AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

Jan. 13 is our regular meeting night and we especially urge all who possibly can to attend this meeting. This is the close of the past year and there are some very important things to be disposed of. We are in receipt of our revised service officers manual and a great number of changes have been made in the past year. Among those are laws governing the claims and hospitalization for the boys now in the service. This makes it doubly important for all those who have boys now in service to give the local post all information available as to serial numbers, camps, enlistment dates, ages, where stationed and all other information you have. Get in touch with the adjutant or any member of the Legion who will gladly help you.

Buddies we have been looking over our membership and there are a good many of you who have not paid 1942 dues. This is part of your duty to defense. I know you have just let this go without a thought, but we urge you to get in touch with some member and hand him three dollars; it will pay 1942 dues, give you our three Legion papers a year, help some crippled veteran, educate a delinquent child, make driving safer, help to prevent a disaster or to help those that have had one—so many things now depend on the membership. Our program is in line with all charity programs and in the new emergency the officials of our Legion are being used very extensively due to previous experience. We owe the world our patriotism and help in time of need; we owe our sons a carefully planned program for the future. You are to determine the amount of good we will receive in the future, so let each of us stop and be on guard to do our level best to make our services worth while. We have duties other than these but our duty now is to help those who are in service to bring back another peace.

Your membership will do a lot toward this and our defense committee will soon receive instructions and with the help of every one will do a good job locally. Attend the post meeting when possible each 2nd and 4th Tuesday nights. All veterans welcome, if you have questions pertaining to claims, hospitalization, child welfare or what not, bring these to our attention. Every thing possible will be done to relieve the situation to your satisfaction.

Remember our meeting Jan. 13, we will give a report of our service work for the past three years and you are entitled to know this report which has never been made public.

ROY PRICE
Adj. & Service Officer.

An Announcement...

To The Car Owners of FRIONA:

As you all probably know, no more new cars will be available to most of us for some time to come, probably for the duration of the war, which will naturally work a hardship on all of us. Repair parts are hard to get — good mechanics are becoming fewer and fewer, because of the demand for them in defense works and higher wages in larger places than Hereford.

We have had many of our friends and customers inquire as to whether we could or whether we intended to try to stay in business. We have even heard some rumors that we were closing.

As an automobile dealer, our first impulse was to "close shop" and give up what at first looked like a hopeless task. Upon further thought we decided that as new car dealer we owe to our friends and customers the best service department possible, plus a place to get parts to keep these cars, trucks and pickups going. Please bear with us if it takes a little longer to get those much-needed repairs. With a shortage of men it will be necessary for you to notify us a day or two ahead so that we may get the needed parts if not in stock.

We are trying to add to our shop force the kind of men whom you can depend on — men who will see that you obtain the maximum mileage from your present car or pickup.

TIRES . . .

This tire situation is bad, make no mistake about that. We feel certain, however, that there is now a re-capped tire on the market that will give you service and fill your needs. Watch your present tires. We have in our shop a complete REAR wheel balancing machine, plus front-end alignment equipment which will insure you the longest possible life from your tires. We believe firmly that we can add 50 percent to the life of your tires if you will come down and let us be sure your car is in proper alignment and if the steering is set properly. We make no charge for this check-up, and if the car does need work the charge will be nominal.

PRICES . . .

Wages for men and mechanics have naturally gone up sharply in the past year, and of course it is necessary for us to charge a little more than in the past. We pledge to you that you will have to pay no more than is needed to pay expenses plus a reasonable profit.

BUDGET PAY PLAN . . .

Remember that you can buy from $10.00 to $150.00 here and pay your bill in small monthly installments. No insurance on carrying charge is added.

PAINTING, FENDER WORK, GLASS INSTALLATION . . .

NOW IS A GOOD TIME to have the present car dressed up to look like new. We have two expert body and paint men whose services are reasonable and who have the equipment to do the job well. We will appreciate your patronage, and will try to take care of your needs to the best of our ability.

Very truly yours,
