

COMMISSIONERS TO HAVE A MEETING TO DISCUSS THE ROADS

OPEN SESSION WILL BE HELD ON WEDNESDAY, IT IS ANNOUNCED.

PLAN FOR PERMANENCY

State and Federal Road Engineers and Members Chamber of Commerce Are Invited.

Announcement was made today that a public meeting of the county commissioners court would be held on Wednesday, February 12, at 10 a. m., at which the road question would be a special order of business.

At a special meeting of the commissioners court on January 30, it was decided to invite the state and federal road engineers in this district to attend a meeting with the commissioners court.

Requires Heavier Construction. Members of the commissioners court and Road Engineer Crockett are unanimous in their agreement that the roads as planned will not stand up under the traffic.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce held this morning, the matter of our county roads was brought up and enthusiastically discussed by our members.

CHINA IS ASKED BY JAPANESE TO RESCIND ACTION

By Associated Press. PEKING, Wednesday, Feb. 5.—Attempts are being made by the Japanese to induce the Chinese government to rescind the action of its delegates at the peace conference for the reason that they are seriously embarrassing Japan, according to semi-official Chinese sources here.

The chief issue between China and Japan that has arisen in connection with the war settlement is over the disposition of Tsing-Tao and its harbor and adjacent territory and Shantung province, the former German concession in China.

Company Planning The Manufacture Of Auto Bodies

J. P. Meeks and associates, of Lawton, Oklahoma, are seeking a site in Wichita Falls on which to construct a plant for the manufacture of automobile and truck bodies.

The proposed plant will employ between ten and twenty men and in addition to new work also will concern itself with repair work and the rehabilitation of damaged cars and trucks.

AMUSEMENT

"BIRD OF PARADISE" COMING

"The Bird of Paradise," a drama of Americans and modern Hawaii, will be seen here at the Wichita theater for one night only, Wednesday, February 12.

The play is by Richard Walton Tully, author of "The Flame," "The Rose of the Rancho" and other pieces of almost equal renown.

There is a love story in the play—the love of Paul Wilson, a young physician, and Luana, the beautiful child of Mount Pelee, the sacred volcano which all good Kanakas worship wherever the ancient gods are not forgotten.

In this play the American abroad, both as trader and as missionary, is better described than in any other drama which has been written, and indeed, Mr. Tully's accuracy has seldom been equaled in books. The fidelity of trying to make over an island, the visualization in a decade and the prevailing instinct for money making receive their touch of gentle but certain satire at Mr. Tully's pen.

Rita Romilly, whom Manager Morosco discovered this year, plays Luana with almost sensational force and an insight which is absolutely startling and the remainder of the cast is of high order, including a native Hawaiian troupe of singers and players.

"I WANT TO FORGET" AT EMPRESS THEATER TODAY

"I Want to Forget," a new William Fox picture starring Evelyn Nesbit, tells the remarkable story of a woman whose sole ambition has been to capture men's hearts and to "go the pace." It is being shown at the Empress theater today.

The "butterfly" woman sullies her wings, but that is of no concern to her, so long as pleasure follows upon pleasure. But one day Varda realizes that life is something more than empty self-indulgence. The war comes in grim reality, and its fire sears her heart. She enters the secret service department, and, like so many other women of the world today, finds her salvation in war work.

Of course, there is a handsome young man in the story; and the winning and wooing of Varda is by no means accomplished with ease.

"FLO-FLO" HAS REMARKABLE RUN IN NEW YORK CITY. The stage may have its Potash and Perlmutter, but musical comedy has not one Mosher and Simpson. The firm assists materially in the plot of John Cori's "Flo-Flo," which opens here at the Wichita theater February 10 and 11. The show had a remarkable run at the Cort theater in New York.

"Flo-Flo" is concerned with an international romance, although the nobleman turns out to be bogus, and the love affair of the vampirish Flo-Flo, model in the exclusive Bride Shop. The author has included an American heiress, a Spanish count, a match-making mother and the unforgettable Pinky and Aloysius, whose theft of the bride's trousseau further complicates the action of the piece. Every member of the "Flo-Flo" chorus is a "perfect 36" and each one has a sense of humor and lends admirable support to the cast which includes Jack Norton, Cordelia Haager, Martha Lawrence, Thomas Gordon, Maude Nolan, Len Leonard, Bett Booth, Fragels & Ross, Gus Vaughan, and the Perfect Thirty-Six Chorus, besides an augmented orchestra.

"I WANT TO FORGET"
You will want to remember "I WANT TO FORGET." It is Varda who says, "I want to forget." Right here you should know that Varda is the only person who will ever express that wish. The play is one that won't bear forgetting. It will stamp itself indelibly on the mind.
Evelyn Nesbit is at her best in the appealing role of Varda, the woman of joy and laughter, whom war redeems from sin. All the delicate witchery of Miss Nesbit's acting is brought to bear in the scenes where she appears as a society butterfly. Her grown-ups are the shimmering, filmy things that all women love and men admire. Not a woman in town will want to miss seeing Miss Nesbit, if it's only to get a line on the latest word from Paris modistes.

THE ROAD HEARING.

The county commissioners court has announced hearing next Wednesday to discuss the road question with all parties who are interested. The state and federal engineers have been invited and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Wichita, Rotary and other clubs and organization in the county are expected to attend.

Everybody seems agreed that roads of the type that were planned will not be of heavy enough construction to stand up under the immense and heavy traffic to which they will be subjected.

The Times does not wish to anticipate the action of the conference but there is only one thing that it can do; that is, go on record for more substantial roads.

It is fortunate that the work that has been done and the money expended in doing it will not be wasted. The grades that have been built are of a most substantial character. The same can be said of the bridges and culverts. Comparatively a small portion of the road bond money has been expended. Today there was a balance of more than $638,000 in this fund in the county treasury. Some people seem to have gotten the idea that the road bond money was about all gone. It will be seen from the foregoing statement that this belief is wide of the fact.

A HOPEFUL VIEW OF OUR RELATIONS WITH MEXICO.

A very hopeful view of our relations with Mexico was made public by our ambassador to Mexico, Henry P. Fletcher, at Washington yesterday. Mr. Fletcher is in Washington from Mexico City. He said that the feeling toward this country had been more friendly since the recall of the German minister, the notorious Von Eckhardt. He reports that the anti-American agitation had been discontinued. He told of progress made by President Carranza in the reconstruction of his country and declared that the campaigns against the bandits had so scattered and reduced them that they were without real influence or power.

The objections of American and others to the decrees and laws affecting the oil and mining industries and foreign interests in those industries were receiving consideration by the Mexican government. Mr. Fletcher reported, and expressed the opinion that the rights of American citizens would be secured. There can be no doubt that German influences in Mexico have been the cause of much trouble for the United States and for Americans. Now that German influence has been greatly reduced in Mexico it is not improbable that a peaceful solution of the relations of the two countries may be worked out.

Uncle Wiggly and the Snow Man. One morning, when the snow flakes were falling all about in Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains where the Animal Folk lived, they came to a knock at the door of the hollow stump bungalow where Uncle Wiggly, the bunnymaster, the squirrel gentleman, the rabbit gentleman and Nurse Jane, the muskrat lady, were living.

about in the snow, playing tag with the flakes, and also rolling up big snow balls, for that is the way you start to make a snow man, you know. You roll one big ball for the snow man's body, and a smaller ball for his head, and then you make two long pieces of snow, like breakfast rolls, for the snow man's legs.

FOOTBALL PLAYED BY OCCUPATION ARMY ON COBLENZ

COBLENZ, Thursday, Feb. 6.—Football teams representing the fourth corps, and the second division won today the first of a series of games to decide the champion ship of the army of occupation in the final game in the series.

played in Paris some time next spring.

The fourth corps defeated the third division, the fourth division took the forty-second division into camp and the second division beat the first, all the scores being the same, six to nothing. The fourth division team is made up of officers, many of whom were former college stars.

between his eyes, in the place where a nose always goes. So Johnnie got the pieces of red flannel for the man's lips and mouth and tongue and Billie got the two pieces of black coal for his eyes and Uncle Wiggly made the nose. Then Mr. Longears found one of his old, tall, silk hats and put that on the snow man, and next the bunny found an old piece of his red, white and blue rheumatism crutch, and gave that to the snow man for a cane, and he looked as real as anything. "Oh, he's fine!" cried Billie. "I could almost shake paws with him," chattered Johnnie. "I wonder if a snow man can get hungry, Uncle Wiggly?" the little furry chap asked, anxious like. "Well, I don't know about that," said Uncle Wiggly with a jolly laugh. "But I know some squirrel boys who are hungry, and if you'll come in my hollow stump bungalow, I'll have Nurse Jane get you some molasses cookies. "But we didn't ask for 'em, did we, Uncle Wiggly?" Mother said, and we weren't to ask for anything to eat, and we didn't, did we?" "No, indeed!" laughed the bunny. Then he took the two squirrel boys in the hollow stump bungalow, and Nurse Jane gave them some molasses cookies. And, while they were looking out the window, they saw the bad old red-tailed fox creeping softly in the yard. "Oh, look, Uncle Wiggly!" cried Billie. "Will he hurt us?" But before the rabbit gentleman could answer, the fox gave one look at the great big white snow man, with his eyes as black as coal and his lips and tongue as red as flannel, and the fox just tucked his tail between his legs and ran away, howling. "Oh, I'll be good! I'll be good! Don't throw any snow balls at me, Mr. Man!" You see, Uncle Wiggly had made the snow imagine so natural that the fox thought it was real, and ran away. So once again everything came out all right, thus teaching us that it is a good thing to eat molasses cookies, and if the gold fish doesn't whistle in its sleep and wake up the apple dumpling, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's hat shampoo. JOY AND SADNESS INTERMINGLED WITH DEPARTURE OF THE WOUNDED

By MARGARET WALTER
LONDON, Dec.—Our wounded are going home in little bunches every day or two now. We fit them out with all the comforts we can procure, and the very last thing we make up parcels, each containing a package of chocolates, cigarettes, two towels, a wash cloth, a couple of handkerchiefs and an orange, done up in a compact little bundle with a flap stuck through the top. This goes in to the big pillow case into which his comfort bag and all the boy's personal things are packed and which serves also as a pillow. As a little treat to our particular boys who would pass Christmas on board we make up extra bundles containing a small tin of biscuits, a tin of stick candy and a package of candied fruit which they were not to open until Christmas morning so they would have a surprise.

Shout Last Goodbye.
Each whole ward turns out to see the boys off and all the boys who are able hobble down to the entrance to shout a last goodbye and send messages home. Most of those who left today were stretcher cases and it was touching to see how tender the doctors and nurses were. First the boy is thoroughly bathed, then his wounds are dressed and he is put into a complete new suit of pajamas, a new bed jacket, and over that a very warm dressing gown. Then he is packed upon his stretcher in his three warm blankets. Our ward doctor tucked in every boy himself and saw that he was perfectly comfortable before he was allowed to leave the hut. The walking cases are just as well looked after, too. The lieutenant-doctor knelt and rewrapped the puttees of Otto Coleman who has not stood on his feet since he was wounded the first of November and could scarcely stand to take a step, he was so weak.

Prepare Christmas Tree.
When the boys were gone the rest of us gathered round the table to make chains of bright colored tissue paper for our Christmas tree. There are so few of us left now that we are getting very friendly and confiding our Christmas wishes. Most of the boys said theirs was to have a letter from home, and some added a pair of russet shoes, a hand knitted mittener or some little article of dress not provided by the Red Cross.

A boy with one arm was strumming softly on the piano, for we still have some hand organs and it is wonderful how considerate these boys are. There was a rustle at the door. Our Christmas tree was being brought in. Its soft green branches cratching the linoleum as it passed. The boys crowded around to admire. I dropped back beside a nurse, who, coming away from a cot, gave me a look.

Death Visits the Scene.
One of the boys had just died as the tree came in. He had been ill a long time. We had thought he was going to get well; he had even been up. His heart just stopped beating.

Society of Nations Program Will Be Ready Next Week

By Associated Press.
PARIS, Thursday, Feb. 6.—Captain Andre Tardieu, one of the French representatives on the committee of the society of nations, announced tonight that the program for the society will be ready some time next week. We also said: "France is opposed to the raising of the blockade on raw materials against Germany until her damage to French industries has been made good. Germany was responsible for the destruction of one third of the factories of France and if allowed to resume production with equal facilities it will be a serious economic handicap for us."

Prayers Were Confused.
But somehow as I stood in the cold wind outside the hut where my boys were now having their steaming supper and chatting round the fire, the prayers in my mind got confused. I had just gone but not as fervently for the mothers of those four boys who had just left for home. One without legs, and one with no right hand and one with only part of a left hand to carry him through life. At first, of course, they will be heroes; people will vie with one another to do them honor. Then time passes and they fall out of notice, poor lads? What are we going to do to keep them from ever regretting the sacrifice they have made for us? And they are such small handful compared with England's host of martyrs!

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day, with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever congested or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whip, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

GOVERNOR NOT REQUIRED TO SIGN AMENDMENTS

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Feb. 7.—Answering an inquiry from the governor the attorney general's department held today that joint resolutions adopted by the legislature proposing amendments to the constitution, do not require action by the governor. The governor directed advice as to his duty with reference to approval or disapproval of concurrent and joint resolutions. It is also held that all orders or resolutions, both concurrent and joint, passed by the legislature, except such as provide for adjournment and which embrace legislative matters require action by the governor.

Old Hickory No. 2--GOING FAST

Wichita Falls Investors Wake Up! Look What Happened:

Within the past ten days, prominent men representing interested capital of Kansas City, Mo., Arizona and Tennessee, have visited the wonder oil field at Burkburnett, Iowa Park and adjacent territory for the purpose of quietly investigating the situation and reporting their honest opinion of the best opportunities to their friends back home. These visitors made their own investigations—with the assistance of disinterested friends.

Did they find something good? Read these wires received at the offices of the Old Hickory Oil Producing Company, Thursday:

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM From Kansas City, Mo. "We will take all the Old Hickory No. 1 you can give us at $150 per $100 share up to $5,000. Wire how many you can sell us and send stock draft attached to City National Bank. K....H...."	WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM From Nashville, Tenn. "Leaving next week for Wichita Falls. Bringing J.... WHY?

41-10 ACRES AT BURKBURNETT

BECAUSE—The Old Hickory Burkburnett acreage lies directly between the Helen-Elizabeth, Marine, Horne and other big producing wells, on one side, and the Burkburnett (selling at $290) on the other side. It is near a privately owned well which passed a good sand at 600 ft.—another at 1200 feet—and is now near the Fowler sand—with no stock for sale at any price.

20 ACRES AT IOWA PARK

BECAUSE—The Old Hickory shallow acreage at Iowa Park is about one half mile southwest of the famous Watkins producer.

BECAUSE—Two wells are to be drilled by the never-failing, always succeeding Parker and Anderson firm of drilling contractors who have a substantial interest in the Old Hickory Co.

CAPITAL $75,000—STOCK, PAR VALUE $50—GOING FAST

Get it at the Old Hickory offices, or from one of the few salesmen representing us—or order by mail today. It may be gone tomorrow.

Market Report

Cotton Market

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The cotton market showed renewed nervousness opening barely steady at a decline of forty points to an advance of four points. March was relatively easy at the start, selling off to 22.00 under liquidation some traders attributed to Japanese interests while the new crop was relatively steady. After the call March sold up to 22.30 on covering and Wall street buying but soon broke to 21.83 while May sold off 21.06 to 20.53 and July from 20.35 to 19.85 or about 47 to 57 points net lower. The south was among the more prominent sellers while there was a good deal of scattered selling on the unsettled industrial situation and reports that organized labor would ask control of the railroads.

Liverpool bought March but that delivery was relatively weak under liquidation was supposed to be partly for Japanese account and sold off to 21.60 during the middle of the morning, or 80 points net lower while May broke to 20.37 and July 19.60, or 72 or 73 points under last night's closing figures. There was enough covering to check the decline at this level and some buying was reported. No reported prices showed rallies of only five or 10 points around mid-day.

Reports from Washington that a commission had been proposed to investigate and suggest scale of prices for basic commodities seemed to encourage renewed selling during the early afternoon. March was sold off 21.45, May to 20.25 and July to 19.50, or 82 to 85 points net lower.

Cotton closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton.
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7.—Offerings of short cotton caused a sharp decline in cotton today following a brief period of hesitation on the opening during which May rose seven points above yesterday's close. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 41 to 41 points under yesterday's final.

Offerings increased as the session progressed until a general selling movement was under way. Toward noon prices were 43 to 88 points under yesterday's final.

Realizing by short steadied the market at the decline which at 1 o'clock amounted to 49 to 91 points.

Cotton closed steady at a decline of 31 to 87 points net.

Liverpool Cotton.
LIVERPOOL, Feb. 7.—Cotton spot steady; prices lower. Good middling 17.97; middling 17.34; low middling 16.29; good ordinary 14.77; ordinary 14.24.

Grain Market

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Frysh strength developed in the corn today, especially in the February delivery. Absence of a large visible supply and the unlikelihood of getting a big crop movement in the near future seemed to be chiefly responsible. Opening prices which ranged from 1/2 cent off to 1/4 cent advance with May $1.12 to $1.12 1/2 and July $1.08 1/2 and $1.09 1/2 were followed by material gains all around, although interrupted by a brief sharp setback.

Oats displayed independent strength. After opening 1/2 off to 1/4 up the market scored a decided general gain. Big export sales hoisted provisions. Bullish sentiment was intensified later by assertions that a new decree had been issued by the Argentine government prohibiting exports except at greatly advanced prices. The market, however, fluctuated rapidly and closed unsettled 1/4 net lower to 1 1/2 advance with May $1.12 1/2 to $1.12 3/4 and July $1.08 1/2 to $1.08 3/4.

The fact that shipments of lard and both fresh and cured meats were more than double the totals a year ago helped to uphold the advance.

New York Stocks

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—United States Steel's further decline of virtually a point to 88 1/2, the lowest quotation since the recent cut in the extra dividend, accounted largely for the irregular tone at the opening of today's stock market. Other industrials, as well as equipments and metals reflected further selling pressure at declines of fractions to a point. Rails were again listless but also declined toward lower levels with shipping. The few exceptions embraced Industrial Paper and one or two other specialties controlled by pools.

Further offerings of equipments, shipping motors, leathers and oil secure specialties marked the dull trading of the intermediate session of losses extending from one to three points. Adams Express was the conspicuous feature among utilities, breaking 5 1/2 points.

Oils and tobaccos improved materially later and U. S. Steel made full recovery but rails and motors fell back. The closing was heavy.

Final prices on Liberty bonds were: 3 1/2's 98.90; first convertible 4's 93.00; second 4's 92.80; first convertible 4 1/2's 95.00; second convertible 4 1/2's 95.60; third 4 1/2's 95.00; fourth 4 1/2's 94.80.

GOOD SHOWING OF GAS REPORTED IN TWO WELLS

The Chenault Oil Company's No. 1 Chenault, in block 77, Red River Valley lands, is reported drilling around 1500 feet. This well has been in hard rock for the past hundred or so feet; reports from the drillers state, and had a good showing of gas on yesterday.

The Burnett Petroleum Company's well on the Vanleave is now drilling around 1450 feet. A strong showing of gas is reported encountered during yesterday.

Crowley and Willis have let the contract for two more wells to be drilled on the Townline Oil Company's lease at Burk Burnett, having made arrangements with that company for the new wells. The No. 1 well of the Townline company has been completed for some time, it is reported, and is a good well.

DID YOU EVER?

Have an opportunity of getting in on a cinch. Why take chances? We were fortunate in securing our lease right up on the dome and within a few hundred feet of the famous Watkins well, which came in a gusher at 672 feet making 150 barrels of extra high grade oil, worth $4.00 per barrel. Having secured our lease during the early inception of this wonderful field, enables us to put a very small capital on this large acreage, which means enormous dividends to our stockholders. Just think! 30 acres of proven acreage with a capital of only $26,000.00. Compare this with others. Being on the same formation and so near there is no reason why we should fail to get a well equal to the Watkins, however, 15 wells of only 18 barrels capacity will enable us to pay our stockholders 1200 per cent, and we have ample room for this many or more. If deep oil is found (and the old timers in the oil game think it will) in the deep test going down adjacent to us, it will mean fortunes to our stockholders.

POLAND, ADMITTED TO COMMUNITY OF NATIONS, FACES DANGERS

Beset on West by Germans, Who Overrun Important Polish Territory and Who Are Determined to Hold Manufacturing Centres.

By THOMAS B. PRESTON.

(Copyright 1919, by the New York Herald-Examiner—All Rights Reserved.)

By the admission of two Polish delegates to the peace congress the civilized world has recognized the right of a long suffering people to be admitted to the community of nations. But this formal recognition does not assure the establishment of Poland on a plane of equality among the European countries. That is for the Poles themselves to win and they are in urgent need of help to do it. Pressed on both sides by enemies and with some divided councils at home, Poland may succumb to the combined forces of Russian and German Bolshevism unless speedy aid is given.

The steps which have led up to this condition are well worth consideration. In a previous article, published in the HEALTH December 1, I have described the historical claims of Poland to her ancient state and shown how she was brutally deprived of one province after another until finally the last little remnant of Polish independence in the republic of Cracow was extinguished in 1948 by Austria, who simply took possession of the town in violation of the decrees of the congress of Vienna and subsequent treaties. The peace congress of 1815 had declared Cracow "forever a free, independent and strictly neutral city under the protection of Russia, Austria and Prussia."

This was the sheep protected by wolves. Great Britain and France protested in vain and the last vestige of Poland as a separate political power passed away. The three previous spoliations by Prussia, Austria and Russia were the work of freebooters dividing their swag. After a brief but futile insurrection in 1831 the Poles remained quiet for more than half a century, even their language under the yoke of their oppressors. But a whole nation cannot be killed and the emigration from Poland that took place kept alive in other lands the spirit of liberty, her literature and traditions being thus preserved with the hope of final restoration of their country that could never be crushed.

When the great war began this hope was kindled into flame and Poles all over the world flocked to the standards of their adopted countries to take part in the battle for civilization. They knew that their own kindred were being forced into the Teutonic armies, often under the whips of their oppressors, but nothing daunted, they fought for France, for Britain and Italy and Russia. When the Teutonic hordes finally did turn to the west against autonomy they filled the ranks of our armies with those who had become citizens or who were descendants of Polish blood, as testified by the frequency of their names in the casualty lists even at this late day.

Later, through the genius and self-sacrifice of that remarkable man, Ignace Paderewski, a separate Polish corps, recruited in Canada and the United States, was organized, trained at Niagara Falls and sent across the seas, first to aid France in the conflict and, since the armistice, to regain their country and place it once more among the nations of the earth.

But they are not sufficiently equipped with artillery and especially lack aeroplanes, the eyes of the modern army. They need help, and quickly, against their open enemies, the Bolsheviks, and their Prussian masters in the Polish provinces, who are only yielding reluctantly to the new nation territory to which she is entitled. Were it simply a selfish precaution on the part of democratic Europe to erect a barrier between the thieves who despoiled Poland by robbing her property, they have stolen, it would be a matter of policy merely—but of good policy. When, however, it becomes a question of right, a question of delivering subject races from the yoke of their oppressors, it goes far beyond policy and enters into the domain of justice, a justice that is imperative, a justice that if not fulfilled will cause the whole reconstructive forces set in motion by the peace congress to weaken and finally to break down. The conference, therefore, is about to restore to Poland her rightful territory, lest its work be a failure and a new war in the east surpass in frightfulness that which has been won in the west.

Questions of Territory. That this is fully recognized by the delegates of the great Powers is apparent. The only question is how far they will proceed in their award of territory. That is a much more difficult matter than the mere acceptance of the principle of nationality. There are districts where one race imperceptibly fades into another like the colors of a rainbow and other districts where small communities are divided by racial antagonisms that keep them as distinct as the negroes and whites in the South.

There are little islands of one race entirely surrounded by people of different blood like some of the German or Scandinavian settlements in our Northwestern States. And it should be remembered that the political atmosphere of this country is such that aliens are quickly absorbed into the body politic by the melting pot of our democratic institutions so that in one or two generations at most they become Americans, whatever parentage their name may reveal. On the other hand, in Europe class distinctions, hereditary privileges and ancient customs are all against such an absorption.

With no natural boundary like that of Italy's mountain frontier or the Danube separating Roumania from Bulgaria, Poland has been open on all sides to invasion and the various titles of conquest that swept over Europe, some remaining to this day. Thus along the Bug north and south of West-Litovsk, Russians and Poles are inextricably mixed. The Vistula Valley through which Polish settlements centuries ago reached the Baltic, cutting Prussia into two parts, is now a narrow strip of one place to a width of only forty miles, the East Prussians extending across the river.

Thus if nationality alone were to prevail Prussia could bar to Poles the navigation of the Vistula, Poland's principal waterway, just as the Dutch to-day hold both sides of the Belgian Scheldt from Antwerp to the North Sea. Naturally that will not be permitted and it is fore-shadowed in the armistice presented by Marshal Foch to the Germans, the sixteenth clause of which provides that the Allies shall have free access to the territories evacuated by the Germans on their eastern frontier either through Danzig or by the Vistula in order to convey supplies to the populations of those territories "or for any other purpose."

German Forced Out. By other clauses the Germans were compelled to evacuate Russian Poland and to abandon the Brest-Litovsk treaty, but subsequently were allowed to remain for a time until the country could be organized. A Polish army of 50,000 men were reported to have landed at Danzig on December 18 in order to hold the mouth of the Vistula and keep open communications. Without such an outlet in time of peace Poland would be completely subject to Germany in all her commercial arrangements.

With the exception already noted the Polish districts extend from the boundaries of Russian Poland along the Vistula valley to the Baltic and include the city of Danzig and the coast of West Prussia for a distance of about fifty-five miles west of Danzig Bay. The Poles occupy very nearly the middle third of the province and form more than one-third of its inhabitants. East of the river the northern part of the province is German as well as the greater part of East Prussia north of the Masurian Lake region. Danzig and Thorn are mostly Polish cities, Eiding is German. All at one time belonged to the Teutonic Knights, and later came under the sway of Poland.

South of West Prussia is the province of Posen, which is about sixty per cent Polish. The population is mixed, but mingled, the Germans being scattered about in segregated little islands surrounded by Poles all through the central part of the province. There had been some German immigration as early as the thirteenth century, but the province politically remained Polish until the first partition of Poland, when it fell to Prussia. The harshest measures were introduced in the last century to exterminate the Poles and Germanize the provinces of Posen and West Prussia.

The use of the Polish language was forbidden in the schools and $25,000,000 was appropriated in 1888 by the Reichstag to buy lands from the Poles to be leased to German colonists; another $25,000,000 was added in 1898, and by 1903 six hundred square miles of land had been bought in the two provinces and more than four thousand German families settled in them. The sale of land by any colonist to Poles was forbidden, and $62,500,000 more was added to the land purchase fund. Catholic parents were obliged to send their children to Protestant schools, and the children were flogged for refusing to say the Lord's Prayer and answer questions in German.

Prince Buelow's Scheme. Prince Buelow, the same crafty old diplomatist who succeeded in keeping Italy out of a war with Germany for more than a year after she had begun hostilities against Austria, introduced a bill, which was passed by the Reichstag in 1908, providing for the compulsory condemnation and purchase of land owned by Poles. In spite of all this the German population was stationary, while the Poles increased. In the city of Posen itself, which doubled in population between 1885 and 1905.2, the 137,000 inhabitants about 70,000 are Poles and 12,000 are Jews.

South of Posen lies Silesia, astride of the Oder, which divides the province into two nearly equal parts and flows from southeast to northwest. East of the river the great bulk of the population is Polish, while west of it the majority is German, with some 16,000 Czechs in the extreme southern part. The total population of German Silesia is more than 3,000,000 and its area is 15,576 square miles. For four centuries it was under Polish rule, and although that lapsed in the thirteenth century, seven hundred years have not extinguished the Polish language or spirit.

For a time there were a number of little dynasties, owing to the habit of splitting up the princely estates among relatives on the death of each ruler. By the end of the fourteenth century there were eighteen of these little countries. They finally sought the protection of the Kings of Bohemia and thus came under Hungarian and then Austrian rule, being united with Austrian Silesia. Frederick the Great of Prussia stole the territory from Maria Theresa while the Austrian Empress was involved in other wars and it has since remained German. Frederick left to the Hapsburgs the three small districts of Troppau, Teschen and Jagerndorf, which formed Austrian Silesia, the smallest of the Austrian provinces, about one-third of the population being Polish and one-quarter Czechs. Silesia is one of the most important mineral and industrial regions of Europe. Its coal mines have been worked for 800 years and are still the largest in Europe, with an output of 35,000,000 tons a year. In the district of Oppeln are large iron mines, while two-thirds of the zinc in Germany comes from Beuthen. Lead, silver, copper and arsenic are also found in Silesia. In the south at the foothills of the mountains textile industries prevail, and Silesian linen is known all over the world.

Prince Lieknowski, almost the only German diplomatist opponent of the war, who is now back in Berlin, last week gave out a fearful interview opposing the erection of a new Poland out of these provinces, alleging that the Poles have no right to these mixed language territories, "which owe their prosperity alone to German organization and to the German market." This is in line with the suggestion to take a plebiscite of a Turkish district where all the Armenian inhabitants had been murdered to learn the preferences of the locality. Some of the processes of the German organization are reflected in the law of Prince Buelow quoted above and kindred measures. The Polish territories were colonized by force. Poles were ejected from their lands and thus German markets were supplied. We may be sure the German markets were not established with the altruistic idea of helping the Poles.

Sea Outlet Needed. These provinces were once Polish politically and are Polish racially still. Here are some 25,000,000 people who need an outlet to the sea to save them from further subjection to their late masters. They will serve as a barrier to German expansion in the East. These are the three cogent reasons of justice and expediency why the peace congress will give to Poland West Prussia, Posen and Silesia, at least as far as they are settled by Poles on the west, and all the territory to the eastward, except possibly East Prussia.

The bulk of the latter province is German but there are strong admixtures of Polish and Lithuanian blood. South of the Masurian Lakes are 400,000 Poles, about one-fifth of the population of the whole province. The latter may go to Poland also, but whether the whole province will be thus awarded is doubtful. Its chief city is Küniauz, a naval and military fortress of the first class, which was untouched by the great war. There Field Marshal von Hindenburg is reported to have gone to establish a German headquarters and a base for an advance against the Bolsheviks. Perhaps he has an idea in his head of restoring Polish occupation.

That Germany intends at least to make a show of resistance to Polish demands is manifest from the scheme for a federal republic launched in Berlin last week, which names among other states the republic of Prussia, "including the provinces of East and West Prussia and the Bromberg district," and the republic of Silesia, "including Posen and the regions east of Bohemia." Another indication of at least passive opposition is the establishment of a people's council at Danzig "to combat the Polish danger."

On the south there is not only the question of Austrian Silesia, but Austria-Galicia presents a double difficulty. This is the largest province in Austria, with an area of 30,000 square miles and a population of more than seven millions. Cracow, its chief city, was formerly the Polish capital. The province belonged to Poland for more than five hundred years until Austria took it in 1772. Here the Poles constitute forty-five per cent of the population and Lemberg, the capital, is a Polish city.

The difficulty arises not from Austria, who is too weak and divided to make any resistance whatever, but from the Ruthenians, who form the bulk of the peasant population, while the Poles are the upper classes and residents of the large cities. The Ruthenians outnumber the Poles in the west. They are of the same race as the Little Russians of Ukraine. When the Ukraine declared its independence of Russia and made peace with Germany the latter took occasion to stir up the ambition of the Ruthenians and make trouble for the Poles at the same time. Ukrainian troops under German officers graded Galicia and besieged Lemberg and Przemyel, claiming that Galicia rightfully belonged to Ukraine.

Here historic and ethnographic ideas cannot be reconciled. Neither Poles nor Ruthenians have an absolute majority. The latter number forty-two per cent against the former's forty-five, while about eleven per cent are Jews and the rest Germans with some Armenians. But as nearly all the intelligence and skill of the province is Polish, along with the chief cities and towns, the peace congress will probably award it to Poland. On the other hand, there are several Polish islands in Bohemia which will likely go to the new Czechoslovak state.

Finally, the greatest danger to Poland, perhaps, lies on the eastern or Russian front, where the Bolsheviks are advancing toward the border, threatening to reconquer the country. The Bolshevik forces are variously estimated to be from 30,000 to 300,000 strong and are better equipped than the Poles both with machine guns and artillery. They are marching down in a general southerly direction through the Baltic provinces and Lithuania. The Estonians in the north have beaten them off, recapturing Dorpat and Narva, and driving the Reds beyond Lake Peipus. In this they were helped by Finns.

Sweden has evidently been alarmed at the progress of the Bolsheviks. Fearing a Red terror similar to that which it introduced in Finland, a Swedish mission was sent to investigate what might be done to stem the advance of the outlaws. The mission, which has just returned, reported in favor of sending a volunteer military expedition to Lithuania and a detachment of troops are expected this week. Meanwhile the Bolsheviks took Riga, Mitau and Tukum, driving out the Lithuanian Cabinet, who took ship at Libau on the way to Sweden. To Lithuania, President Woodrow Wilson has appealed also to Poland for protection, and Warsaw despatch stated that the Polish government had agreed to take over the administration of the country.

Lithuania, which takes in the old Russian provinces of Kovno, Vilna and Grodno and part of Volynia, was once associated with Poland as a joint kingdom for nearly two hundred years under the Jagiello dynasty, and, although its inhabitants are not Poles, there is a strong Polish element there, especially in Vilna and Grodno, and many Poles would like to see it made part of the new state. On the other hand, the Lithuanians would like to be an independent republic, taking besides the territories mentioned, parts of Courland, Vitebsk and East Prussia. The Niemen, which flows into the Baltic south of Libau, would give them an outlet for trade with the world.

While the Poles are well established in German Poland at Danzig and Posen and in Austrian Poland at Cracow, they are seriously threatened on their Russian front, where the Bolsheviks are across the Niemez advancing on Hlystok and are moving on Brest-Litovsk from Pinsk. Both these cities are on the Polish border and would form excellent bases for an advance on Warsaw. The next ten days should decide the fate of Poland, on which so much depends in the reconstruction of Europe.

Most fortunately the Poles have in Mr. Paderewski an able man of undoubted patriotism and honesty to direct them. He has spent his whole fortune for the cause of his native country. His arrival in Warsaw and his appointment as Premier in agreement with General Pilsudski assures co-operation between the civil and military authorities, the avoidance of military dilatoriness on the one hand or Bolshevik anarchy on the other. "Chi va piano, sano," says the Paris Figaro, planning on Paderewski's profession in quoting the Italian proverb "Who goes softly, goes safely," and wishing for him a prominent part in the coming concert of Europe, whose overture will be played by the League of Nations.

HUN PLOT TO ENTANGLE ALLIES SEEN IN GERMANS' OFFER TO AID IN POLAND

Mr. Cunliffe-Owen Fears Alienation of Russian Masses—Sees Kaiser's Return.

By FREDERICK CUNLIFFE-OWEN.

Something very much akin to topotryumism prevails at the present moment in the Old World, and the International Peace Congress, which is holding its sessions not at Versailles, but in Paris, instead of clarifying the situation is adding to the general confusion.

It is now on the cards that ere many weeks are past the Powers of the Entente may find themselves entangled in an armed alliance with an imperialistic Germany, to stay the advance of the Bolshevik forces from western Russia into Poland. Poland is calling for assistance. It needs help quickly in the way of arms, ammunition, war supplies of every kind, and troops, in order to prevent the Bolsheviks from completing the destruction of what remains of her formerly so prosperous industries. For Russian Poland was the principal manufacturing portion of the land of the Tsar, and Loda used to be regarded as the Manchester of Eastern Europe.

Germany needed as base. Help of the kind required by the Poles can reach them only through Germany. In fact, the Entente will be under the necessity of making Germany the base of its operations in Poland. Tacton co-operation in the matter of furnishing transport, sea, is a sine qua non.

Germany—that is to say, the guiding hand in Germany, which is every day becoming more and more apparent—has intimated that it will not only lend every possible assistance to the Entente, for the defence of Poland, but will even furnish troops to fight shoulder to shoulder with the Allies, against the Bolsheviks in Poland and Western Russia.

Now, German co-operation with the Entente against the Bolsheviks, in Poland—against those Bolsheviks who are endeavoring to overthrow the provisional government organized by our friends, the Russian and patriot, Ignace Jan Paderewski—will have the effect of restoring the waning strength of the Bolshevik movement in Russia. The Bolsheviks themselves would hail anything that could be construed in the light of an alliance between Germany and the Entente. For they could turn it to their own advantage in dealing with the overwhelming movement of the middle or Russian peasant class against them. There is nothing that the Bolsheviks could do to prevent the German, who in his eyes has for the last two hundred years represented imperial greed and the most cruel form of oppression.

When serfdom still existed in Russia, Germans always were employed as hired drivers, and since its abolition they have found analogous means to tyrannize over the middle or Russian peasant class against them. There is nothing that the Bolsheviks could do to prevent the German, who in his eyes has for the last two hundred years represented imperial greed and the most cruel form of oppression.

Germany—that is to say, the guiding hand in Germany, which is every day becoming more and more apparent—has intimated that it will not only lend every possible assistance to the Entente, for the defence of Poland, but will even furnish troops to fight shoulder to shoulder with the Allies, against the Bolsheviks in Poland and Western Russia. Should the Entente enter into any such arrangement, which has been quite recently proposed and considered by the conference the German people, who refuse to regard themselves in the light of a defeated nation, will endeavor to bargain for an extensive modification of the terms of the armistice, in the final conclusions of the Peace Congress in Paris.

But he should, and doubtless will, if permitted, treat Germany in the matter as a humbled and defeated enemy, beyond the pale of honorable dealing, or of international courtesy, and not in any sense as an ally.

"Germany, it must thoroughly be understood, is not humbled. She is not repentant. She does not recognize herself as vanquished. She is merely gathering herself together for renewed efforts for military, political and economic supremacy. The soldiers returning from France are received in the towns and cities through which they pass as victors. They march in with oak and laurel leaves adorning their helmets and are welcomed as 'our undefeated warriors.'"

In Berlin and in other cities of the Interior Entente officers in uniform are obliged to observe the utmost precautions in order to avoid insult and harm, while along the Rhine, where the troops of France, Great Britain and the United States are in close and daily touch with the German population, the latter devote all its energies to flustering the foe within its gates at the expense of his allies.

It is likewise because the Entente is convinced that the only way of holding Germany in check and of preventing her from putting into effect her designs upon the territorial integrity, the independence and, above all, upon a monopoly of the trade, industry and latent riches of Russia, is by promoting the creation, or rather, restoration, of a strong and independent Poland, with outlet on the Baltic Sea at Danzig, and which would serve as a barrier between Germany and Russia.

An independent Poland is in the eyes of the Entente indispensable to the maintenance of a permanent peace. But since it is designed to shut out Germany from Russia and to embrace not only the formerly Austrian and Russian portions of Poland, but also those of the Kingdom of Prussia, along with the former Polish provinces, it is to be feared that the Entente Powers have after long deliberations determined upon the form of punishment to be inflicted upon the German Kaiser, either as he has become insane or has died, or else will be back in Germany and in relative safety.

Germany before the war was a confederation of twenty odd sovereign States, each of them very jealous of its independence and resentful of any interference from Berlin. Nominally the control became insane or has died, or else will be back in Germany and in relative safety.

OIL DEVELOPMENT

BIG ADVANCE IN YOUNG CO. LAND NEAR NEW WELL

Land that could have been bought the first of the week for from $5 to $25 an acre in Young county, some distance from the Texas Company's Graham well, which is the first production in that county, has advanced to $25 and on up, according to W. J. Corlett, of the Texas Company, who with Fred S. Kelleher, also of the Texas Company, has just returned from Young county. The Texas Company's leases around this well amount to 70,000 acres, all the territory for a radius of three or four miles being held.

The well is estimated good for 150 barrels, the sand being round around 4,000 feet. The opinion seems to prevail, according to Mr. Corlett, that the well is much better, and this accounts for the 500 and even greater per cent rise in acreage prices.

Drilling activities promise to be greatly increased in Young, Archer and adjoining counties, and individual prospectors as well, are planning to put down numerous tests, so that the wild cat field in this section will be well worth these coming months.

Reserve Agent's Report Shows a Surplus of Labor

DALLAS, TEX., Feb. 7.—Soldiers who are returning to their homes in Texas after their discharge from the army are finding their jobs almost filled, and there are many unemployed men throughout the district, according to the monthly resume prepared in the Federal Reserve agent's department of the Fifth Federal Reserve district, published today.

The labor situation is becoming complicated by the rapid demobilization, the resume says, of a large number of men are unable to find employment as many concerns are refusing to re-employ soldiers formerly in their services. This of course has resulted in a large surplus of labor, skilled and unskilled, and the situation is becoming acute.

Business is being readjusted to a peace basis without any great disturbance, the federal reserve agent concludes. Trade is still affected by the after holiday dullness, but a genuine oil boom is providing excitement in some parts of the district. The excitement caused by oil operations in Central and Northwest Texas has spread like wildfire and a genuine boom exists in many of the smaller towns in Eastland, Erath, Comanche, Wichita and other counties in the state where wells are brought in daily. The resume says: "All sorts of rumors are being circulated to encourage speculation by the small investor, principally those which chronicle the making of fortunes overnight. As a result of these activities, local business at the smaller towns in the oil field is the heaviest of record. The influx of oil men and the consequent increase in population in the drilling centers, has caused a dearth of housing facilities and location for new enterprises are greatly in demand.

The overflow has contributed to the business of the larger towns adjacent to the fields and is reflected in Dallas and Fort Worth.

Farming conditions are favorable although heavy rains have interfered with crop preparations and farmers are badly behind in their work. A bumper crop in the Panhandle is assured, the federal reserve agent believes and conditions are favorable for row and feed crops.

At the banks a strong demand for funds continues on account of the slow marketing of cotton. Total bills discounted and brought to the reserve bank show an increase of $6,400,000 in 30 days. The demand for loans has been so great that many members found it impracticable to subscribe for treasury certificates of indebtedness with the result that the district has been unable to meet its quota.

Weather conditions have been unfavorable for the building industry and the boom that was expected to follow the close of the war has not yet gained good.

Manufacturing of construction material, however, report many inquiries. The high cost of labor is affecting operations to a great extent.

Exports from the Galveston district in November, the last month for which figures are available aggregated $15,950,744 a decrease of $14,884,778 from October.

The severe weather has caused some heavy losses in livestock in the Panhandle and northern and eastern New Mexico. Heavy snow remaining on the ground and necessitating large quantities of high priced feed.

SHOWING OF OIL NEAR LOMETA HAS AROUSED INTEREST

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
FORT WORTH, Feb. 7.—A showing of oil has been found in the White well of E. H. Howell and Company, seven miles west of Lometa, at a depth of between 1100 and 1200 feet. This has brought about considerable activity there and still is changing hands in lively fashion.

Later reports on the fourth well of Burt and Griffiths, near Duff, in Erath county, which had a showing of oil at 2675 feet, are somewhat discouraging. It now is drilling at 2925 feet in white lime without anything showing.

Well Is Drilled To Depth of 1532 Less Than 9 Days

The record of a well completed to a depth of 1532 feet in eight days and 11 hours has been attained by "Shorty" Alexander and J. A. Hawes, drilling for the Johnson Drilling Company, contractors, according to a statement from the management of the company, which has offices at 705 Seventh street. This well on which the record was made was drilled in the Donohoe Oil Company. Two hundred and sixty-four feet were drilled in one night, according to the managers. There was no trouble of any sort encountered during the drilling of this well.

AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN CUTTING SHOE EXPENSE

"Many months of comfort at little expense" is the way Charles A. Pearson of San Diego, California, sums up his experience with Neolin Soles. Mr. Pearson had two pairs of shoes resoled with Neolin Soles, and after wearing them for twenty months sometime, but so far as the soles are concerned, that time seems as far distant as when they were new.

This is typical of the experience millions are having with Neolin Soles. Created by Science to be durable, flexible and waterproof, these soles are an important factor in cutting shoe expense. You can get them on new shoes for the whole family, and for re-soles. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

A POSITIVE MONEY BACK GUARANTEE TO GIVE SATISFACTORY RESULTS WITH ANY KIND OF BAKING

WE don't care what kind of baking powder you are using—we don't care how much you pay for it or how good the results—you'll never know how wholesome and tasty bakings can be until you try Calumet. Nor will you know the meaning of greatest baking economy.

That is more than a claim. It is an incontestable fact. Let us prove it—without risk to you. Let us show you how to secure superior baking results and to save on baking costs. Just ask your grocer to send you a can. Try it. Then if you are not convinced that Calumet serves you better than any baking powder you have ever used—if you are not sure it saves you where inferior powders so frequently cause waste, tell your dealer and he will cheerfully refund purchase price. Order a can today.

Calumet is the product of the largest and finest baking powder factory in existence. Its wonderful excellence has made it the choice of leading Domestic Scientists, eminent Chefs, U. S. Army and Navy and the most popular leavener with America's most particular housewives.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

A Thousand Yous

When you pick up afternoon newspaper and glance over the advertising you quite unconsciously multiply yourself a thousand times.

In half or three-quarters of an hour you can, metaphorically speaking, visit every progressive store in town. You virtually poke your head into every department of every department store. You run into the florist's, the confectioner's, the oculist's, the leading groceries, banks, theatres, all the various places that supply the things that make this the twentieth century and life worth the living. Here is a greater choice in clothing, food, furniture, books, pictures, musical instruments, travel, entertainment, opportunities for investment, the service of public utility corporations than any monarch of old could command.

It would easily take a thousand yous, traveling hard all day, to find out for yourself what the advertisements tell you in a few minutes morning or evening.

They deserve your attention. They deserve your confidence. Without them, without the progressive spirit of the merchants and manufacturers who back them, the great abundance of things you now enjoy would be a memory—or something still to be realized. Without advertising the prices you would have to pay for many of the necessities you now buy for a few pennies would make a dollar look like a snow ball on the kitchen range.

Read the advertisements. Read them for your own information and advantage. Read them to encourage the advertisers who are making these better things possible for you.

TRIBUTE TO LIFE OF COL. ROOSEVELT BY WILL H. HAYES

PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT MEMORIAL SESSION OF INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

WAS GREAT AMERICAN

Was Supreme Typification of the National Spirit, Says Chairman of the Republicans.

By Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Feb. 7.—Tribute to the life and patriotism of Theodore Roosevelt was paid by Will H. Hayes, chairman of the republican national committee at the Roosevelt memorial session of the Indiana legislature here today.

"The lesson of patriotism of Theodore Roosevelt," Chairman Hayes, who delivered the principal memorial address declared, "is his monument."

"He was for peace when peace was right, but to win right for right's sake, it was necessary, then he was for war or whatever else was needed; and above all he was for America eternally and there he was the severest partisan," the speaker continued.

"His career as a member of the legislature, as a civil commissioner, as an assistant secretary of the navy, colonel of the Rough Riders, governor of New York, vice president and president of the United States, as author, historian, naturalist, hunter, sportsman, husband, father, citizen, he carried through it all as the one controlling motif a consistent determination to do what he thought was right, it mattered not one whit how that course affected himself or anything if he thought it was right, he did it—and he did it to the hilt."

"I have kept the promise that I made to myself when I was twenty-one. That promise was to live to the hilt until I was sixty, and I have kept that promise."

"These words Theodore Roosevelt said to his wife when she died, 'Mr. Hayes said, and this indeed he did.'"

"We cannot say that he was a typical American, because he was too unlike to be typical. He had no counterpart; the foremost American, yes, the leader of leaders, yes; but above all he was the supreme typification of that intangible thing we love to think of as the American spirit."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have. Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-go feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels—you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

THE GREATEST COMBINATION IN OIL FIELD TODAY

Since our advertisement came out last Sunday we have added 5 acres more: N. E. 5 acres of Block 61, and will be drilling inside 30 days. On this 5 acres there is room for 4 wells. This 5 acres is N. W. of the Humble well, making 2,400 barrels per day.

No. 1 well. We expect in any hour. The tanks are ready to receive the oil. Pipe line in few feet of well.

No. 2 well should be on the sand in the next ten days. Remember this well is only about 300 feet from the famous Wichita Southern, making 1150 bbls. per day.

No. 3 well is now drilling at about 1,000 ft. This well is next to the Johnson well making 1200 bbls. per day.

No. 4 well. Everything rushed as fast as possible and should be drilling in a few days—this is offset to We-owna No. 3 making better than 1000 bbls. per day.

The only combination today in sure production. STOP, STUCK, THINK! and mail us a check before too late.

Above cut shows our holdings, except Block 61 N. E. 5 acres—How can you beat it?

Money being raised is for the purpose of drilling our 10 acres and the 5 acres in Block 61. Our interest in the 4 wells of which 3 of them are now drilling is paid for. This interest is for paying dividends and we should be paying dividends in the next 90 days.

ACT RIGHT NOW! Remember 10 minutes ago is ancient history in the oil business. If stock is oversold we reserve the right to return the check to late subscribers. We will pay dividends as soon as wells are producing—not keeping you waiting for money belonging to you.

ORDER REGULATES WEARING UNIFORM AFTER DISCHARGE

Special orders governing the wearing of the uniform of the army of the United States by discharged officers and men have been issued from the office of the chief of staff, General Peyton C. March, and sent to army posts and aviation and other training camps for publication. The wearing of uniforms by civilian tailors to men about to be discharged is discouraged, in fact forbidden, and the regulations concerning the wearing of the uniform are prescribed in full.

The order which was received at Carl Field, with orders to Major Alford to give the widest publicity, follows in full:

Present law authorizes a discharged officer or soldier to wear his uniform from the place of discharge to his home, within three months of the date of his discharge from the service. Thereafter the officer may wear his uniform only upon occasions of ceremony.

The enlisted man must return his uniform within four months of the date of discharge, but can wear it only as stated above.

An act is now before Congress, which if passed, will authorize enlisted men to wear the uniform which they are permitted to wear home, and to wear that particular uniform, only provided some distinctive mark or insignia, to be issued by the War Department, shall be worn.

It will thus be clearly seen that neither under existing or proposed law will a discharged soldier be permitted to wear uniforms made by civilian or other tailors. They may legally wear only the particular uniform which they have been permitted to retain.

Commanding officers of camps, posts and stations will give the widest publicity to this information, both among the soldiers of their commands and in the local press. No person will be permitted to solicit orders for, or deliver uniforms to soldiers about to be discharged. Persons or concerns persisting in selling uniforms to such soldiers, after having been warned not to do so, will not be permitted to come on or do business on the reservation.

By order of the secretary of war: PEYTON C. MARCH, General Chief of Staff.

Endeavor Meeting Christian Church Basement Tonight

The leaders of Christian Endeavor have been planning for some time a general "get-together meeting" of all of the C. E. workers in Wichita Falls and vicinity. An exact date has not been agreed upon, but now the date has been set for Friday night of this week. The determining factor in deciding on this date was a letter received Wednesday by H. B. Brous, president of the Wichita district, from W. Roy Breg of Dallas, stating that he would reach Wichita Falls on the Katy from Muskogee, Okla., on Thursday night and would remain in the city until Friday night. Mr. Breg is the State General Secretary of the Texas union and is well known in Wichita Falls as he has been here on several other occasions. Beginning June he is to become the Southwestern Secretary as was decided by the State Council meeting which met in Dallas during the Christmas holidays. The Southwestern District is to include Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah. That this vast territory may be covered it will necessitate the putting of another secretary in the field to assist Mr. Breg in the work he is undertaking.

At First Christian Church. The rally Friday night is to be held in the basement of the First Christian church, the three societies of that church acting as hosts to all other societies and friends in the city. As this is to be a very important meeting and the plans for the coming year in C. E. work are to be discussed it is very much desired by Mr. Breg, Mr. Brous and others that there be a large attendance by all local Endeavorers.

It is planned to make this a social or fellowship affair as well as a business session. The program is to begin at 8 o'clock, and will be followed by a social hour provided by the Endeavorers of the Christian church. This is to be a very important meeting and the plans for the coming year in C. E. work are to be discussed it is very much desired by Mr. Breg, Mr. Brous and others that there be a large attendance by all local Endeavorers.

While in the city Mr. Breg is to be the guest of Mr. Brous as they are personal friends of long standing.

WARNING ISSUED TO OIL COMPANIES BY GRAND JURY

In its final report submitted to Judge Bonner in the 30th district court late Wednesday, the Wichita county grand jury cautions promoters of oil companies to be careful in their representations to the public. "The attention of the grand jury has been called to the matter of false and fraudulent representations having been made by an oil company for the purpose of selling stock," reads the report, "and bills of indictment have been returned in this case. While other companies have been investigated their representations have not been such as to come within the definition of swindling. But we caution all promoters of oil companies to set out their purposes and holdings specifically, fully and truthfully in offering their stock to the public for sale, and failure to comply with this will meet with prompt prosecution."

The report says the jury was in session fourteen days and returned 41 bills of indictment. It found the court house and the county jail well kept and in a sanitary condition.

The report says the prohibition laws are being very well observed, but that there have been some violations of the law. Several indictments charging violations of the prohibition laws were returned.

Special mention is made of the splendid cooperation given by District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones and Sheriff R. L. McFall, whom it says "have done all in their power to assist in the work before this body."

Concluding the report says: "We find that the majority of cases of crime coming before us were crimes of theft and forgery and were committed in most cases by persons under 25 years of age. We believe, considering the crowded condition of our county, the moral conditions existing here are far better than could reasonably be expected and are exceptionally good."

Alcocks Please A Large Audience At Wichita Theater

Merle Alcock, contralto, and Bechtel Alcock, tenor, delighted an audience which filled the Wichita theater Wednesday night.

Miss Dorothy Sublett at the piano displayed remarkable talent in her accompaniments as only an artist can. Mr. Alcock possesses a tenor voice of remarkable clearness and his enunciation was very good, while Mrs. Alcock has a true contralto voice. Her high tones were especially clear and her vocal enunciation was perfect. They both showed unusual dramatic ability, especially noted in the duets, of which the one from Il Trovatore, "Home to Our Mountains," seemed most in favor with the audience.

Both artists responded to a number of encores, and in spite of the fact that after they reached the city yesterday afternoon they received a message of the sudden death of a member of their family, both showed wonderful self control. Probably Mr. Alcock's negro melodies received the heartiest applause, but his heavier numbers were equally appreciated.

PAINS AND ACHEs YIELD QUICKLY TO SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Are you tormented by Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica or any of those aches that require a counter-irritant? Then let the soothing, warming application of Sloan's Liniment stop the pain by drawing the blood away from the congested part. It is the pressure on the nerves by the blood rushing to the inflamed muscle or joint that makes you ache. So when Sloan's Liniment relieves the swollen blood vessels by setting up a counter-irritant on the surface, the circulation is equalized, sympathetic nerves all soothed, and soreness or lameness disappears. Sloan's Liniment is probably the counter-irritant most widely used to overcome painful inflammation in cases of neuralgia, sore muscles, wrenched joints, strains, bruises, gout. Rubbing is not required. This clear, clean liquid is easily applied as it does not stain the skin. Generous size bottles at your druggists.

A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE who had an opportunity to invest in the first companies organized in Burkburnett

If you had taken advantage of this opportunity your investment has proven good beyond all expectations. If you did not invest, you know that you missed something big.

The Burkburnett field was opened up last summer, very few people realized the possibilities until it was too late. There are several hundred wells now completed, or in the course of completion, and from which there will be taken thousands and thousands of dollars to go to the small investor who took advantage of the opportunity offered him at that time.

The Johnson-Robertson Test

on the Musgrave land 7½ miles north of Wichita Falls and near Friberg, has reached a rich oil sand at 1200 feet, with a splendid gas pressure, which seems highly productive. A thorough test of this sand will be made, and we are confident that it will make good. A new field will be brought in, one that will make a great deal of money for those who secure an interest in the vicinity of this well now.

The Red River Valley Oil Company has 20 acres adjoining the Musgrave tract on the north, directly on the structure. There are shallow wells producing to the extent of 12 barrels on the west line of our acreage.

Our Capitalization Is $20,000

Drilling is to start immediately. This is a ground floor proposition. The acreage of this company was secured before deep developments were started in this locality, consequently was not as high priced. Remember a new field is now opening up. Lease men are making a scramble for acreage around us.

PRICES ARE SOARING

Take advantage of this opportunity and come in with this company which have something to offer besides watered stock. W. M. Frank, Cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, Wichita Falls, Texas, is our trustee and will insure the proper expenditure of funds.

Our holdings consist of two and a half acres out of Block 104, Van Cleave lease, known as lot 40 of the Roy B. Jones Subdivision.

We expect to live up to the full meaning implied in the name of our company. We believe that the location of our lease and the small capitalization of the company will insure the sale of all the stock within at least 15 days, and it is our purpose to rush a well to completion as fast as can be done with careful drilling, in order that our shareholders may have the advantage of quick returns on the money invested. We guarantee to drill to a depth of 1700 feet unless oil is found in paying quantities at a lesser depth. And there is another thing in our favor. Roberts & Hill will do the drilling and the work will be under the supervision of J. J. Hill, whose success in bringing in wells in the Burkburnett field is well known to all who have kept in touch with developments.

RAILROAD PLAN IS OFFERED ON BEHALF OF BROTHERHOODS

GLEN A. PLUMB OF CHICAGO TESTIFIES BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE.

PURCHASE IS SUGGESTED

Would Operate on Co-operative Basis Dividing Earnings Between Government and Employees.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Testifying before the Senate interstate commerce committee on behalf of the four leading trainmen's brotherhoods and other employees organizations, Glen A. Plumb, of Chicago, recommended that the government acquire all railroad property at a price fairly representing the physical valuation, and entrust the operation to a corporation to be directed jointly by employees, officers and the government. Earnings would be divided equally among employees and the government, and rates would automatically be reduced when profits amounted to more than a fixed rate.

This plan, it was argued, would provide cheaper financing, give stability to incomes of security owners, promote efficiency of operation through sharing profits, remove railroad operation from partisan politics, compose authorities, keep rates at a minimum, eliminate complications in rate schedules, and provide a means of making communities benefiting by extensions pay for them. The corporation would be subject to regulation by the interstate commerce commission which would retain its present regulating powers.

Object to Proposals. The brotherhoods objected to the railway executives' proposals for establishing a secretary of transport saying this would constitute "regulating the people in the interests of capital." They also protested against the railroad administration's forbidding railway employees from taking part in politics, arguing that the solution of the railway problem is a political one and that the employees are entitled to participate.

Mr. Plumb suggested organization of an "operating corporation where operating ability constituted its sole capital." "A certain agreed percentage of the net results of operation should belong to this corporation," he said. "The stock of the corporation should be held in trust for the benefit of the employees. The corporation would be administered by a board of directors, who we suggest tentatively, should be selected in this manner: One third to be elected by the classified employees below the grade of appointed officials; one third by the appointed officials and employees; the final third being appointed by the President of the United States.

Would Be Incentive. With one half of the profits going to the government and the other half to the corporation to be distributed among employees, Mr. Plumb said, the men would be actuated by a desire to promote efficiency and economy as a means of increasing profit.

"Such a scheme," he said, "would render to the public all of the benefits of unified operation. It would eliminate all the costs of competition, without losing any of the benefits of competition." "You could provide that whenever the total amount of net revenue paid to the government exceeded five per cent of the gross operating revenue, the interstate commerce commission should thereupon adjust the scale of rates in such manner as to absorb this five per cent, thereby producing an equivalent of a five per cent reduction in rates."

Wage and employment disputes would be settled by wage boards and adjustments similar to those now maintained by the railroad administration. Attacking the proposal for a federal department of transportation, Mr. Plumb said if this were done for railroads, it would soon be demanded for the steel business, packing business and other industries, and "very quickly we would have a sovereign people enslaved by regulations to protect in the hand of a few the capital which they had accumulated from the labor of all."

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The engagement of Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Asquith, to Prince Antonia Bibesco, councillor at the Rumanian legation, has been announced to the Daily Mirror. Prince Bibesco was formerly first secretary at the Rumanian legation at Washington.

GOVERNMENT IS PREPARING TO LOSE ON WHEAT DEAL

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Members of the House agriculture committee today expressed the opinion that the price of flour would be lowered and that the cost to the consumers of other principal foodstuffs would decline should congress pass the bill for carrying out the government wheat price guarantee approved last night by the committee.

The bill provides that while the government would carry out its promise to the farmers of $2.25 a bushel for the 1919 wheat crop, the price to the consumer would be fixed only by the law of supply and demand. The government would lose the difference between the purchase and sale price and the bill proposes an appropriation of $1,000,000,000 for this purpose. The bill gives the President power to continue the food administration's grain corporation to carry out the guaranty or to create a new agency.

Sergeant Nicholls Of Beaumont Has Thrilling Escape

By Associated Press. BEAUMONT, TEX., Feb. 7.—How it feels to jump from a burning balloon, making a parachute drop or several hundred feet while a Hun aviator is peppering away at you with a machine gun, is told in a letter to his parents, by Sergeant H. O. Nicholls, of this city.

Sgt. Nicholls is an observer with the Seventh Balloon Company in France, and has been recommended for the distinguished service cross, according to his letter.

He stated that while up on an observation tour, the balloon was picked as an object of attack by a Hun flier. The pilot maneuvered for a position and dived straight at the balloon and its occupants firing his machine gun as he came.

belts attached to parachutes around their waist dropped. There was a rapid descent of several hundred feet then the parachute opened and the men landed safely. Nicholls says he knows how a worn feels now when it is wriggling on a hook.

Would Create a State Board to Aid the Soldiers

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, TEX., Feb. 7.—Creation of a Soldiers Settlement Board is proposed in a bill introduced in the lower branch of the legislature, consisting of three members, one to be appointed by the Governor, who shall be designated as chairman and known as soldier settlement commissioner, and who shall receive a salary of $3,000 a year. The other two members to be the president of the A. & M. college and the commissioner of agriculture.

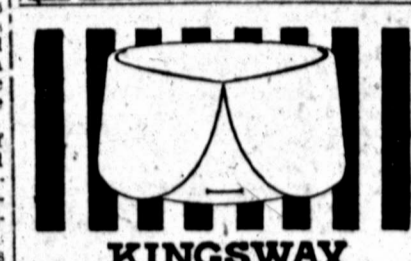

WOULD INCREASE BOARDS OF STATE INSTITUTIONS

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, TEX., Feb. 7.—A bill to increase the number of members of the governing bodies of state institutions from six to nine has been passed in the House of the Texas Legislature under suspension of constitutional rules, and the bill carries the emergency clause. Representative Dan McMulla of Grayson county, who introduced the bill, explained that at present a tie existed between members of boards which are to convene today, and that the governor requested this piece of legislation. The boards of the A. & M. College and the University of Texas will not be affected by the measure, as each has nine members now.

Something New and Safer

Instead of a bare piece of ground with the prospect of finding oil on it, we are offering you a property that has 37 producing oil wells on it which are producing oil from a shallow sand. This lease is completely equipped and is putting oil in the pipe lines every day. Last year it produced over $87,000.00 worth of oil. So you can see that right now the property will pay a large percent on the investment. In addition to all this property we propose to put down a well 1550 ft. without cost to the shareholders, to test out the deeper sands that are known to lie in our vicinity. Mr. W. B. Hamilton of the Texhoma Oil & Ref. Co. is now offsetting a well which he drilled some time ago in order that he may test out the sands which he encountered around 1200 and 1500 ft. This shows you what some of the large operators think of the possibility of oil in paying quantities in the deeper sands in our vicinity. Mr. Hamilton's test well is about 1000 ft. south of our lease, and our lease lies between this test and the big wells of Burkburnett, and only about 2 1/2 miles from the town of Burkburnett itself.

The discovery of deep pay sand on our lease makes it almost impossible to estimate its value. Put your money in a company that is now on a dividend paying basis and has ideal prospects of getting deeper oil. Take a tip from us and buy now. We have the nearest cinch in oil that we know of.

WALL STREET IS MANIFESTING AN INTEREST IN OIL

Wall Street knows about Wichita Falls and Burkburnett and Burkburnett oil stock is in great demand by New York investors in large quantities, according to J. Colonna, prominent Wichita Falls merchant who has just returned from a months buying trip to New York. Mr. Colonna also placed a number of big blocks of stock of the Muriel Oil Company, which his wife has organized.

"New York is more interested in the big companies," said Mr. Colonna, "and if we should take some million dollar company's stock up there, don't doubt that it would be subscribed in a short time. The investors in the east are buying Burkburnett and Hanger stock and are crying for more, but it's a whole lot easier to interest a man in a million dollar proposition than in a $20,000 company, though he buys stock in the little company to."

New York has been so used to high finance that it can't understand these little companies, and the money that they are making and the big dividends that are being paid. One man asked me for all the stock of the Muriel Oil Company, which Mrs. Colonna is managing, wanted to take the whole $20,000 off my hands. However, we had sold a great deal of it here and more of our friends wanted some, so this was out of the question. Colonna.

The oil company which Mrs. Colonna heads has ten acres southeast of Burkburnett, out of the F. H. Lewis tract. The company has been very successful in the sale of stock. Mr. Colonna states, and drilling operations will begin as soon as possible.

MEMORIAL

THOSE INTERESTED.
Never have to be solicited to buy a memorial, while those you have to implore never take much interest afterwards. We are working full capacity for a class of citizens that we are proud to have as our patrons, and can take only a few more orders for spring deliveries. Better hurry if interested.

Two Texans Are Awarded D. S. C. By Government

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The commander in chief, in the name of the President, has awarded the distinguished service cross to the following named Texas officers for the acts of extraordinary heroism described after their names: First Lieut. John Frost, 103d Aero Flights Squadron. For extraordinary heroism in action near Verneville, France, September 17, 1918. While on patrol duty with two other planes in enemy territory Lieut. Frost attacked an enemy formation of eight planes (Parker type) he attacked at close range and, after a severe combat, succeeded in sending one of the enemy down in flames. With his comrades, they destroyed in all four planes and by repeated attacks dispersed the remainder. Home address, Mrs. Josephine H. Frost, mother, 650 Soledad street, San Antonio, Texas. Capt. William D. Crawford, 370th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action at Ferme de la Riviere, France, September 30, 1918. Having been placed in command of Company L, whose task it was to lead the advance in an attack, the same undertaking having failed the day previous, Capt. Crawford, in order to assure the success of the attack, personally led the advanced element of his company in the face of heavy fire. The objective was successfully carried, due to Capt. Crawford's gallant conduct.

TRACTION COMPANY ASKS CONCESSIONS OF CITY COUNCIL

MANAGER STATES IT IS LOSING PROPOSITION TO OPERATE UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS.

WANT TO RAISE FARE

Ask Relief From Two Per Cent Gross Tax and Requirement to Pave By Track.

Declaring that a street railway system cannot be operated in this city under existing conditions, Leonard A. Trickett, new manager of the Wichita Traction company, last night requested that the city council make radical changes in the company's charter and termed the present status of the company "a disgrace to the city."

"I came here to take charge of the local company," Mr. Albritton told the members of the council, "and when I saw the condition the system was in I very nearly threw up the job and went away again."

Albritton brought with him a detailed report of all revenues and expenses of the company for the last two months. The report showed that the company lost $899 in January, "the best month the company ever had," while in December the net loss ran to $2,300.

Concessions Asked. "Mr. Kell has told me he is willing to spend more money on the system," Albritton continued, "if the city will so amend the company's charter as to provide some measure of relief. Three changes are asked: First, the charter must be amended so that, if necessary, a zone system can be established with a five-cent fare charged for a ride of from twenty to twenty-five blocks, and an increased rate from that point on. We don't want to do this if it can be avoided.

"Second, the charter states that 2 percent of the company's gross receipts must be paid to the city when the city reaches a population of 25,000. It is absolutely impossible to consider this; it cannot be done. If the tax were 2 per cent of the net, the situation might be met.

Object to Paving. "Third, the company cannot comply with that section of the charter that orders the company to pay the expense of all paving eighteen inches each side of the rails, and between the rails. To do that would break any railroad company. The city needs at least ten miles more of track, and it will cost about $10,000 a mile. In fact, the entire system should be double tracked—but consideration of new trackage, which would mean infinitely better service, is out of the question if this high paving expense must be borne by the company.

Relief Asked. Mr. Albritton declared that if the relief asked for could be obtained, he was ready to go ahead with development work and hoped he could give Wichita Falls the "best street car system in the United States for a city of this size."

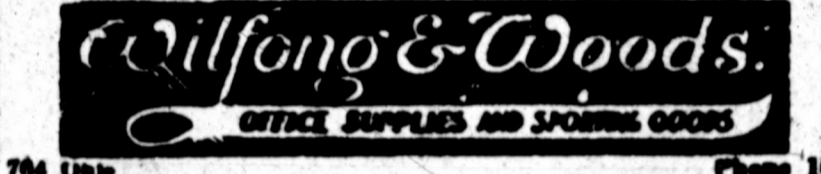

Permission was granted to the property owners on Harrison street, between Tenth and Eleventh, to pave that city block. Roy H. Jones appearing for the owners and assuring the council that immediate granting of the request will result in the owners assuming the entire expense of the work including the grading.

W. F. Weeks, attorney, appeared for the owners of two pool halls in the city who, in view of the fact that they will be forced out of business May 1st by the new state law, requested permission to keep their places open all night throughout the week. The request was refused by the council.

Permits Are Denied. The council, after hearing a report from Fire Chief McClure on the number of recent requests for permission to put up tents and frame structures within the fire limit, he abandoned pat on the present prohibiting ordinance. An increase in pay to $150 monthly until April was given to L. Moore, city inspector, with the agreement that Mr. Moore will furnish his own transportation and expenses.

"Jitney" Drivers May Be Required To Provide Bond

AUSTIN, TEX., Feb. 7.—Indications are the legislature will pass a bill during this session declaring jitneys and service cars common carriers, and requiring the operators of such vehicles to give an adequate bond. A bill on this subject has been introduced in the upper branch of the legislature and has already received a favorable committee report. The passage of this measure would solve the question of the operation of jitneys in many of the Texas cities where this proposition has been perplexing to the city officials.

AVOID THE FLU BY KEEPING LIVER ACTIVE

Doctors Find Calotabs, the New Nau sealess Calomel, Best Laxative For Colds and Preventive For Influenza and Pneumonia.

To cut short a cold over night, to stop a sore throat, and to put the system in the best possible condition to avoid influenza and pneumonia, doctors are advising the new nausealess calomel, called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and salivating effects of the old style calomel. At the first sign of a cold or sore throat, it is best to take a Calotab at once, before the inflammation has gone too far. You may thus save yourself a spell of sickness.

One Calotab at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No nausea, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified and refreshed and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Perhaps you can congratulate yourself that you are still in time has saved you serious illness. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist recommends and guarantees Calotabs and will cheerfully give back your money if you are not delighted.
