Sons In Service

F. S. Truitt recently received a letter from his son, Frank, who has been transferred from Norfolk, Va., to Bremerton, Wash. We can get the information across to our readers better by quoting Frank's own words than we can by trying to repeat it, so here it is:

August 20, 1942

Dearest Dad:

Just a note to let you know where I am right now. I am now at Bremerton, Washington, which is located just across the bay from Seattle. I cannot write anything about the place, but you may be sure that this place is very well protected. I am not sure how long it will be before they ship us out, but I hardly think it will be long. I am feeling fine and I am gaining weight right along. I weigh 169 pounds now, and before long they won't know whether I am walking or rolling. I'm sure getting big but the weight I'm putting on is more muscle than fat. I don't have time to get fat. Ha! This is about all I am allowed to write, so guess I'll close. It will probably be a long time before I get to see all of you again, but I am thinking of all of you all the time and wishing I could be with you.

Bye,

I love you lots,

Son,

Frank's address at the time this letter was written was: Frank Truitt, cm-2c, Bn. 12, Co. A, Plt. 3, U. S. Navy SSW, Care Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

The following letter has been received at the Star Office: Mr. White,

Dear Sir, Please don't send the Friona Star to C. D. Day, of 747 M. P. Bn., Wilmington, Calif., any longer. Thanking you,

Your Friend,

It will be noticed that the above letter is not dated and is unsigned. It is supposed, however, to have been written by C. D. Day, who according to a letter received by his brother, Emmett Day of this city, is in a government hospital, suffering from a case of nervous prostration.

The envelope bore the Santa Barbara, Calif., postmark, and the return address was 80888, Naff Sen Hospital, Santa Barbara, which indicates that the writer may be in that hospital.

Sgt. Bill Hamlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hamlin of this city, sends a card informing the Star of his change of address from A. P. O. No. 36, Delworth, N. C., to Camp Edwards, Mass. Bill's full address is: Sgt. Bill Hamlin, Co. C, 11th Med. A. P. O. No. 36, Camp Edwards, Mass.

Pvt. Onis H. (Hurd) Whitefield, one of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield, who is now in the armed service, has been transferred from Camp Wallace to Camp Hulen, Texas, and his present address is Pvt. Onis H. Whitefield, C. Battery, 439 Sep. Bn. (A. Ar.), Camp Hulen, Texas.

Trailer Ride Hazardous For E. L. (Smoky) Price

E. L. (Smoky) Price was painfully injured Sunday afternoon when he fell from a trailer which he was repairing.

Mr. Price was repairing the trailer by nailing some boards on the body of it and had climbed inside to clinch the nails when two young men thought to give him an innocent free ride by trundling the trailer along by hand. It got beyond their control and they dropped the tongue of the vehicle, which allowed it to tilt and the passenger was thrown out upon the pavement with such force that two ribs were broken, one of his toes painfully injured and a severe bruise sustained on the back of his head.

Mr. Price was unable to be at work in his barbershop, Monday, but was back at work Tuesday though still feeling quite sore from the mishap.

Bigger Allotment For Conservation

A blow at conservation this year is a blow struck for Hillier Olan N. Schlueter, chairman, Parmer County AAA committee, announced this week.

One of the war's big battles is agricultural production and the success with which this task is accomplished depends entirely on the soil, he said.

Faced with shortages of labor, machinery and equipment, farmers not only are being called upon to produce the greatest amount of food and feed the world has ever known but to keep soils in condition for record output.

Comparing industrial and agricultural production, Schlueter said that industry was expanding and building new plants to provide for increased production of tanks, guns, planes, and ships but that agriculture would be working with the same equipment for record output of milk, eggs, meats and other nourishing foods.

Under the 1941 AAA program, Parmer county farmers were allowed $44,000 to invest in their soils but the amount has been increased to $187,600 under the 1942 program. From two to three times more soil-building work must be carried out if all funds are to be utilized.

Practices which can be carried out between now and the close of the program year include terracing, contouring, listing and chiseling non-crop pasture, building earthen dams and reservoirs, and planting non-leguminous cover or green manure crops.

Staff Sgt. Buck Fallwell, who has spent the past two weeks here, returned to his duties at Camp Crowder, Mo., Tuesday.

Clubs Plan Recreation For Clovis Soldiers

Wrap Cotton In Cotton

Texas cotton farmers will receive a 7-pound per bale allowance for cotton wrapped in cotton patterns this year.

The new program, under which cotton is substituted for the traditional jute wrapping, is the culmination of years of intensive action by state and federal agencies to get buyers and handlers of cotton to make allowance for the additional cotton in a bale wrapped with the fabric.

Cotton patterns and ties on a 500-pound bale weigh about 14 pounds while the jute wrapper and ties weigh from 21 to 22 pounds. Fred Rennels, assistant administrative officer of the AAA in Texas, said:

The cotton bale covering not only gives a neat appearing and well protected bale, but permits the packing of more lint per bale and gives producers an opportunity to use a fabric manufactured from their own product he explained.

The 1942 program provides for production of 4,000,000 cotton patterns which will be sold by mills to producers at a fixed price of $1.10 and to wholesale distributors at $1.00 per pattern. This is close to prevailing prices for jute patterns.

Since 11,000 bales are required to make 1,000,000 cotton patterns, it would take about 130,000 bales to make enough patterns to cover a 12,000,000-bale cotton crop, Rennels, said.

STAR FIRST MAIL RECEIVED

A card received from Mrs. J. H. O'Rear, Pampa, gives the following information:

August 20

Dear Mr. White: The Friona Star was the very first piece of mail we received here. It was quite welcome. We are beginning to feel a little bit settled, one of Harlan's brothers, who is employed at the Pan-Tex plant, is moving here with his family from Altus, Okla., today. Mr. White, I wonder if you have an extra copy of the Aug. 7th Star. I sent the poem from Jodok's column to a friend and now I want one for myself. I should have copied it.

Yours sincerely,

Esther O'Rear.

The extra copy was sent to Mrs. O'Rear, Ed.

According to Miss Elsie Cunningham, home demonstration agent of Parmer County, the H. D. club members are sponsoring a move to provide recreational facilities for soldiers stationed at the Quartermaster's camp at Clovis.

Miss Cunningham stated that the building now being used as a barracks there is unfurnished, and while there is plenty of space in the recreation room, there is absolutely nothing in it that soldiers can use except a few worn-out cloth bottom chairs.

The officer in charge informed the committee that visited the camp that anything in the line of furniture, rugs, magazines, books, or indoor games will be gladly accepted.

To this end the Home Demonstration ladies are asking the people of Parmer County to contribute any such articles as they may be able to spare for the use of the soldier boys. It should be remembered, of course, that broken or worn out equipment cannot be accepted, since the soldiers have no means for repairing such articles, and they would, therefore, be useless to them. Anyone having such equipment to contribute should contact Miss Cunningham for further particulars.

There will be a picnic supper held under the auspices of the H. D. ladies on Sunday evening, and everybody in the county is invited to attend. It will be held at the Roadside Park just west of Bovina and a large number of the soldiers will be present as guests.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

Farmer John has in this issue of the Star, one of the best articles that has ever come from his pen. It is filled with as good gospel truth as the best sermons that comes from any pulpit. Absolutely devoid of "Spineen" and filled with common sense and sound reasoning. If you do not have time to read both it and this effusion, by all means quit this now and turn to Farmer John.

It is a pleasure to note that more and more yards are being cleaned, more lawns are being watered and clipped and more weeds and rubbish are being removed from the streets and vacant places in front and rear of homes, and here and there something is being done around business premises. This all helps to make a cleaner and healthier town and more attractive to visitors and home seekers. Anyway, let's all do our utmost to make Friona a city that is as fair to look upon as any in the land.

I have just been informed that there is considerable complaint among our citizens regarding what is supposed to be the results of boys shooting air guns promiscuously on the streets. Several costly plate glass windows show small round holes in them, such as would be made by bullets from air guns.

It was stated that boys who use these small guns should be taught the destructive effects of reckless shooting and admonished not to use them out on the streets where such damage as broken windows could result from them. Also, pellets going with force enough to crash these small holes through plate glass windows, could also do bodily harm to their fellowmen. Please be careful, boys, for I know you do not want to hurt or harm your friends.

A few weeks ago I mentioned the fact that our little city can aid in making itself a more prosperous and desirable business center for the people living in the adjacent territory, and surely this is one thing that we should be of one mind about. The more business that comes to Friona, the more prosperous its merchants and tradesmen will be and the more attractive our homes and places of business will be to our patrons and neighbors.

In that effusion I also mentioned some of the things, which I thought would have a tendency to bring about just such results, and these were things with which each one of us can help, and whether we are in business or just plain citizens, we should all have sufficient civic pride in our home town to make us enough interested in its welfare that we should all be willing to do our utmost to bring such a condition to pass for Friona.

Since writing that effusion I have received literature from one of the Government Departments stating that it is the duty of that department to assist towns or work, and offering the services of the Department, which is the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. It further states that in doing this sort of work for themselves, these towns and small cities are doing their part in helping to win this war, and it urged that the city officials or the local Civilian Defense Council be urged by the citizens to take immediate steps toward accomplishing all ends in defense work.

In doing this, I find that it is not only community and home-town patriotism, but is also considered to be national patriotism as well, for it all included the working together of the entire town and community to accomplish the ends which are demanded of us by our country to enable us to win this war for freedom and democracy. Just to mention a few of the things which we can do to help ourselves as a community—it is proven a fact that it is very hard, and in some instances, impossible to secure repairs for some kinds of machinery. Our neighbor may be seriously in need of some parts for his machine, which he is unable to secure from the dealers or the factory. Maybe you have an old machine of this same make and style which you have consigned to the scrap or junk pile, and it may have the very part on it that your neighbor is in need of and you can accommodate him by letting him have that part. And the same rule may work the other way for your good. It is an old saying that "It is a poor rule that won't work both ways."

Then it will soon be cotton picking time and row crop harvest, and I am told that labor shortage on the farm in this territory is going to become a serious matter, and most of our farmers will be in dire need of help in harvesting these crops; while on the other hand there are men who become temporarily out of work and will be only too glad to help the farmers with their cotton and row crop harvest if they but knew who are needing them. Why not have a sort of agency or office where these farmers can register their need of help, and also where the unemployed men can register their willingness to assist and their need of employment and thus the two can be brought into contact.

Such an arrangement will be the means of helping both these men, and if established at Friona will, at least, put a good taste in the mouth of both of them for Friona. And another old maxim—"Killing two birds with one stone," will have been practiced. Such an arrangement need cost nobody any money and only an inconsiderable amount of time, and your town and community will have been served and more community and home-town prestige will have been secured.

Many of our farmers were hit by the hail storm that came this way just at the beginning of the harvest season, and some of them did not have enough wheat left to seed their farms again this season and will be forced to secure their seed wheat from others. If you have good seed wheat that you can spare or if you know of someone else that has, why not let these hail-stricken neighbors know about it and thus serve both yourself and your neighbor, or at least your neighbor.

This matter could also be handled by the same arrangement as that which I have suggested about the labor problem. If anyone has a better plan than that which I have suggested, and will let me know I will be pleased to mention it in this column next week or any other week. The thing that should be done is to help your town by helping yourself and your neighbor. If you want to know who your neighbor is read Luke 10: 25-37.

Tom Paine, who used to be commonly referred to as "The Dirty Little Atheist," uttered one of the most profound truths that has ever been accredited to modern man, when he said: "The world is my home, to do good is my religion." Yet he was denounced, ridiculed, humiliated and stigmatized for that and other similar expressions. But still he is described as an American patriot, and it is said that his books "Common Sense" and "Crisis" did more toward winning the war for American Independence than, perhaps any other thing or any other one person. But in the light of present day thinking one can hardly give that expression a fair, unbiased, fair-minded consideration, and arrive at any other better interpretation of religion than—"To Do Good."

It occurs to me that it is up to each of us, collectively and as individuals, to do all the good we can for our neighbors and by so doing we will help in making better our town, our country, our state, our nation and, eventually, the world, by helping to win this war for American freedom and American democracy and thus make of it a world-wide democracy where, in the weakest and puniest nation on earth may feel and really enjoy a feeling and experience of freedom as great and secure as that of the richest, the most powerful and the most arrogant nations that now or forewent hereafter my exist.

There's always need for men who seek To help the lonely and the weak, Who ready are; though means are small, To answer "Here," at friendship's call; Whose only wealth, perchance may be The golden ore of sympathy.

YOU'RE RIGHT tootin'

William Allen White, Editor of the Emporia (Kansas) Gazette, and celebrated American journalist and author.

Says William Allen White "The Sage of Emporia" about America's Railroads

"You ask me whether I think the American railroads are doing their jobs in this grave crisis. Well, I would say, you're right tootin', they are and tootin' is the word!

"I live six city blocks north of the Santa Fe main lines. All trains between Chicago and Galveston, between Chicago and Los Angeles and San Diego east or west, go right by my door and you should hear them toot. Try to sleep with your south windows open on a summer night and you will certainly hear them toot . . .

"It's a continuous procession of swift passenger trains laden with soldiers and long grumbling, rumbling freight trains often with two engines and all night they sound like some cosmic rooster crowing to spell the dawn of the day of doom for America's enemies. "No other service in the United States is doing such a swell job as the American railroads. They were ready for it. When the warning came in '39 after we repealed the embargo clause of the Neutrality Law, the railroads knew what was coming. They are now equipped with cars and with rails. Their roundhouses are full but not clogged. They keep the wheels moving. "The American capacity for organization under crisis never was exemplified so splendidly as the American railroads have proved their worth and excellence. It is a great job well done. It is a sort of thing that Americans do better than anything else. Our hard common sense, our indomitable purpose to achieve, all these are back of our effort. The railroads have done their work without friction with either labor or capital. They have responded to a great emergency with splendid intelligence. "And are they doing their job? You're just right tootin' they are!"

Let's All Pull Together

Increasingly, under war conditions, the railroads must furnish mass transportation, military and civilian, for the nation. The load is already great—and growing steadily. Military movements come first, without question. You can do much to help us maintain adequate rail service for civilian needs as well, in these ways: When you travel, make your reservations and buy your tickets early; cancel reservations promptly, if necessary; check all personal baggage not actually needed in passenger cars; and spread the travel load by avoiding week-end and holiday rush periods. When you make shipments, order freight cars only to your actual current requirements; load them to capacity; and release them promptly.

AT YOUR SERVICE—Why not talk over your transportation problems with your Santa Fe representative? He'll be glad to help you with practical suggestions.

Let's Cook Something

No one has time these days for hard-to-make desserts or intricate recipes that may cause a waste if everything doesn't turn out just right. Simple menus are always welcome and well planned and much more in harmony with the rationed food lists and high cost of food today.

There's no trick involved in making this Robert Montgomery Dessert for its easily gotten together and easily served. The recipe belongs to Mrs. N. E. Millburn. Follow her directions carefully and you'll be serving it on many occasions, for its that stimulating kind of dessert that rounds out any type of meal.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY DESSERT

- 1-2 cup butter
- 3-4 cup powdered sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons sweet milk

Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add vanilla and well beaten egg yolks and add the flour alternately with the milk. Spread batter in 10x12 pan and top with the stiffly beaten egg whites to which one cup granulated sugar has been added. Sprinkle with 1-2 cup chopped nuts and bake in 325 oven 35 or 40 minutes.

When cool cut in squares and serve with whipped cream to which a little crushed pineapple has been added.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

By ROY PRICE

The American Legion wishes to thank all of you for your wonderful cooperation in our "Used Record Drive" for phonograph records for our fighting boys. We also want to ask those who have not turned in their records to do so this week as they will have to be shipped by Sept. 1 or a few days after.

We again wish to call your attention to the importance of your birth certificates, for regardless of whether you are a veteran or not if you have a son in the service you are required by the new regulations to have a birth certificate, and in case you are named as a dependent or beneficiary and the son gets killed this will have to be given before you are eligible to receive these benefits. There are several methods now in use for those who cannot get the original certificate. Please advise all your neighbors and friends this is a strict requirement and there is no need in putting it off. The boys are now in a great danger for more casualties will be coming in our way soon. But if you fail to have proper birth recordings you may find a great difficulty in the final adjustments.

The local Post has completed a Legion Post Scrap Book in 1941 and 1942, and we tried to secure all the boys' names in this county with a kodak picture, and enlistments records for this book, and we have a great many. You are invited to look this over and if you have a son that is not in this record we are now beginning a new volume and we earnestly request all mothers to let us have all the records of those boys to put in for future uses. We are glad to be of assistance in any future claims you may have for the boys, but records will have to be made and proofs filed, all of which will have our most valid attention. The American Legion is now being charged with the securing of many records and if you will just help us by furnishing the records required it will be much easier, and at this time we are beginning a new year in our work under new officers. It is impossible yet to give a view of our program, but we know the American Legion is the largest in history and its work far more valuable than ever.

Charley Maisel, our own Buddy from Phillips, will serve the State as new Commander. Charlie has a record that cannot be challenged. Buddies, let us each get behind this old war horse and shove.

Remember your birth certificates, the record of the boys and any problem you do not understand will be cheerfully explained by the Post officials. Let us help you. As our Legion dues will be due now in a few weeks, let us begin now to meet that little saving each week, and it will not be noticed. Or, better still, send them in now, but at least before Jan. 1. Our regular meeting will be Sept. 8, and we are planning a good meeting. You who were absent really missed a treat last meeting. Ask anyone who was there. You fathers and mothers come see our book and records of your sons at my shop in Friona, and bring others, so we can have 100 percent of our sons in these records.

To an ordinary American layman, the war claims and world politics are a conglomeration of pressing attacks and accusations and counter pressing attacks and he knows close to the truth, accusations. No one feels that which may be for the better or may be for the worse. For us to believe wholeheartedly all the propaganda put out by even the leaders of our own side, would leave us with a most depressing opinion of humanity. We could but give the other half of the world credit for being devoid of the rudimentary instinct of civilization. Yet, we know that Martin Luther cannot have served and died in vain. Our enemies cannot all be devils.

To lend an ear to the claims and accusations of our enemies is but to more thoroughly arouse our antagonism; our mistrust and condemnation of the institution of war as a means of settling disputes among people is more thoroughly established. We know afresh, that "War is hell."

The harrowing realization comes home. Young men, our young men, by the thousands, are being slain. The ambitions of countless others are being crushed and ruined. The wealth of the world, the materials out of which living conditions should be built, the world around, is being ravished. Yet, civilization know no way to stop the carnage except to fight it out to the bitter end. Mob psychology demands complete world exhaustion. The individual as does "dumb driven cattle" to slaughter, knows no route but to war. The world must suffer for lack of vision, lack of leadership.

We know that nearly two thousand years ago the greatest hero man ever knew revealed to others an example of tolerance, of suffering and of sacrifice for a cause. We know that Christ gave to the world a philosophy of brotherhood which is not abstract, but concrete, and must challenge each of us today as keenly as it did when Moses first proclaimed the Ten Commandments as a standard of human conduct. The philosophy of Christ still is a challenge. We know it means PEACE.

As a nation, we need to conquer ourselves before we can help others, or conquer the world. We need to conquer the acquisitive instinct within us that leads to the exploitation of property and human beings. We need to fight hardest against selfishness, the dishonesty, the lack of frankness with each other and the indifference to the suffering of fellow human beings which primarily produced the conditions that bring on war.

We must look to our glass houses. Granting benevolent objectives to the New Deal, it has fostered a system of coercion of the individual that is undermining our national strength and sapping the vitality of the initiative before our very eyes. Minority rights are trampled, constitutional interpretations are twisted with supposedly patriotic excuses and pressure groups are coddled, all in the name of political ambition and alleged public interest. No, Uncle Sam's skirts, under the present reign, are not all spotless.

We must go further. We must persuade the ruler of our British allies, that the world cannot much longer, permit the exploitation of weaker people, or the maintenance of a colonial status quo that prohibits Germany and Japan from attaining an outlet for their millions of workers. We should call on our allies to help us, one and all together to pick the beam from our own eye.

Preaching generally falls on deaf ears in these dark days. The popular cry is for a program that will kill Germans and Japs. Mob psychology demands the destruction, not only of the enemies' manions, but their wealth and means of a livelihood. In our anger, fear, and covetousness, we must cause suffering in all the world. Even unto death.

Yet it is true, that in every country on earth THAT STILL SMALL VOICE struggles for an audience. Christian, humanitarian teachings and backgrounds cry as from a wilderness for love. The functions of a democratic Christian principle, that men should do as they would be done by, is the answer to this global test. Could we but be stronger and happier if our great national and international heart was more the image of the Great Master?

CHDA NOTES

By ELSIE CUNNINGHAM

Vegetable canning time invariably brings up troubling questions. There's a recollection of something that didn't turn out so well last season—or a doubt about the correct method for putting up a product that has never been tried before.

One question which is being asked a lot these days is whether or not it's safe to can vegetables in the oven.

Non-acid vegetables, if canned, should be processed in a steam pressure canner. Only with one of these is it possible to get temperatures of from 240 to 250 degrees Fahrenheit—the heat necessary to sterilize the vegetables within a reasonable length of time.

It is unsafe to can non-acid vegetables in a water bath, or in an oven, or in a steam canner without pressure because the temperatures in them never gets above the boiling point of water.

At that temperature it is impossible to kill the dangerous botulinus bacteria that may be in the vegetables unless containers are processed 6 to 10 hours, or even longer. If allowed to live, these bacteria may produce a toxin in the food which makes deadly the food in which it lives. The illness that results after eating such contaminated foods is called botulism—and so fatal is it that some authorities say 6 out of 10 afflicted with it die within a week.

Since 1925 all cases on record show botulinus resulted from careless and improper methods of home canning, such as "hot water bath" and "oven processing."

It behooves every housewife, no matter where she lives—to adopt the one safe, approved method of canning non-acid vegetables and meats—and that is under pressure.

Chances of getting a new pressure canner are reasonably slim, owing to scarcity of the necessary metals. So it may mean that you will have to borrow one from a neighbor for canning non-acid vegetables.

If you are unable to borrow a pressure canner then consider another method of preservation. Freezing and drying are both recommended.

Your oven with a heat control makes an excellent home drier. Where freezer-locker storage is available it is one of the best means of food preservation.

Let's play safe. Don't process snap beans, corn, squash, okra, lima beans, peas, meats, or any other non-acid food in the oven or in a water bath.

Of the relatively large variety of snakes in Texas, only four are poisonous: the rattlesnake, the moccasin, the copperhead and coral snake.

CHANTS of the CHANTACLEER . . .

The three rows of government grain bins that have been erected just north of the Santa Fe Grain Company elevator give so much the appearance of a small town in themselves, that some one has given it the title of "Weisville", in honor of H. H. Weis, who had the contract for their construction. Following up the idea of another city within a city, several of our citizens have been interested as to who would become mayor of it. The two most likely candidates for the office seem to be John Silver-tooth and G. S. Lloyd. Meeting Mr. Lloyd on the streets recently, the Chanticleer asked how his campaign was coming on, and he was promptly informed that the race was all over and that he had secured the position and was the "whole cheese" in that city then and from now on.

Many things may be seen and heard out on the streets here at Friona. H. was heard to remark to W., "There's a hole in the seat of your pants", to which W. promptly replied: "Tell me something I do not know". And they all laughed.

We met Marvin Whaley out on the street Saturday afternoon and accosted him with the fact that we seldom see him out in town, for, although Mr. Whaley lives in the west part of the city, we do not average seeing him more than two or three times a month. He replied that he seldom comes to town except once each day to get his mail, stating that he has a pleasant and comfortable home and does not like to leave it. In that he is perfectly right, for Mr. Whaley's home is one of the more attractive homes in Friona. He is deeply interested in ornithology, and it is stated, has one of the finest collections of birds, both native and foreign, to be found in the Panhandle. He is also deeply interested and well experienced in floriculture, and has an extensive collection and variety of flowers, both common and rare, growing in his yard and garden. Mr. Whaley's home is an interesting place for any one to visit and he can not be blamed for not liking to leave it.

There seems to have been quite a lot of rye and barley planted in this territory this year, both of which crops seem to have made good yields, and as a result these grains are in demand for seed and it appears that a larger acreage of both grains will be sown this fall than has been sown heretofore. Two reasons for this seem to be prominent—Each grain makes good feed for livestock and poultry, and neither of them have any government quota placed on them.

New methods and theories of farming seem to be discovered and developed nearly every year. Some of these come under the old adage that "Necessity is the mother of invention", and some of our farmers are finding that it will work in farming the same as in mechanics. One farmer whose farm was so dry in the spring that his row crops failed to sprout, repaired his crops when the showers began to come about harvest time. These plantings came up, as did also myriads of weeds such as "goatheads" and careless weeds; and also the showers continued to fall at frequent intervals as though trying to make up for lost time in the spring. When his crops needed cultivating to kill the weeds, the ground was too wet for his tractor to operate, but the weeds continued to grow rapidly under sun and shower. When he was finally able to get into the field he found that the weeds had his cultivator "buffaloed", and he destroyed more of the crop than he did of the weeds. He noticed also that the crop was growing rapidly, and in much of the field, was outgrowing the weeds. He thus concluded to withdraw from the contest and just let the crop smother out the weeds, which, with the aid of more showers, it seems to be really doing.

George Odell says the story we had in last week about his soiling machine was just as good as an advertisement for lots of people had come in to see it; but he is going to be game and has ordered an ad inserted in the Star this week. So, do not fail to read it. George is no poacher.

There were lots of people in town last Saturday, many of them all day but many more in the afternoon. Of course, being election day had some inducement for people to come to town and they were all in a decidedly cheerful mood; and, as the returns showed, by far the greater number of them voted for O'Daniel. They were not vindictive or overbearing about it, and while much was said in praise of the Senator there was no disrespectful or abusive talk about Mr.

Allred. They were just having a good time, yet all were entirely conscious that we have a terrible war on and were expressing their willingness to bear their part of the burden necessary to win it.

County Agent News

By GARLON A. HARPER

War time is no time for burning of homes. The excitement of seeing a farm home burn is costly enough but during times like these this is one excitement we can well do without. To many of us this matter of farm fires may seem like a very small thing but to the owner of that home it is never a small matter. Now that building materials are needed in the war effort and expert building labor is almost unavailable we must watch more than ever for this fire danger.

Every fifteen minutes a farm building somewhere in the United States burns. In Texas every year about 250 people lose their lives in fires on farms and about one-third of these are children under 10 years of age. The toll of farm fires in Texas reaches the 6 1-2 million dollar mark each year.

Here's why lumber and other building materials are so scarce and cannot be used for replacing homes. Uncle Sam needs 5,000 board feet of lumber for every soldier in the army! It takes about 20 trees to make that much lumber.

Fire prevention specialists tell us that the leading causes of fires on farms are open kettles, faulty flues and chimneys, mis-use of electricity, spontaneous combustion, matches and smoking, lightning, gasoline and kerosene, and combustible roofs. Let's watch all these items as well as any others which may cause a fire on our farms. Get the habit now of looking for fires and find the danger spots before the fire finds you. We have a supply of Fire Prevention Bulletins in our office which will serve as a check sheet to determine the danger of a fire on your farm. If you will take time to come by and get one of these and then use it to find your danger spots it may save your home.

Remember that insurance may save your money in a fire but caution and care may save the home.

Austin—Because the Legislature and not the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission makes regulations governing hunting and fishing in Texas, there will be several changes in the new Game Law Digest now being prepared for publication about September 1, the Executive Secretary of the Game Department announced today.

The changes principally affect deer and turkey hunting. Sportsmen were advised to note the changes carefully, and to procure upon publication a copy of the handy pocket-fitting Digest. They may be obtained free of charge from Game Wardens, County Clerks, and most sporting goods dealers.

Wild turkeys may not be killed in this county, however, until November 16, 1946, because of a special law passed at the Regular Session of the Legislature last year.

2. Deer and wild turkey may be killed beginning with this year's open season in Marion, Cass, Coleman and Mills counties, because a special law providing a closed season in those counties for five years expired this month.

3. Wild turkeys may be taken in Brown County beginning with this year's open season. A law protecting the turkeys for five years in this county expires this month. As was the case last year, the bag limit on deer in Brown County will be one per season.

4. Deer and wild turkey may be taken in Taylor County beginning with this year's open season, because of the expiration of a three-year protective law on May 15.

5. Wild turkey may be taken in Guadalupe County beginning with this fall's open season because of the expiration this month of a three-year protective law on March 15.

6. Wild turkeys may be taken in Austin County beginning with this year's open season because of the expiration this month of a law that gave protection to these birds for five years.

7. Seining and netting of any kind of fish is now permitted in the West Fork of the Trinity River in Wise County, because a law that prohibited these practices for three years expired on February 15.

8. In Cass, Bowie and Marion Counties it is now lawful to trap fur-bearing animals anywhere, provided the trespass law is observed, because of the expiration April 26 of a five-year law that forbade trapping except on one's own property. It is still unlawful, however, to take pelts of fur-bearers except during the months of December and January, with the exception of Cass County, where under terms of a law passed last year, wild fox may be killed and their pelts sold during the month of December only.

9. It is now legal to kill fox at any time, and to market their pelts during December and January only, in Lamar, Fannin, Smith and Red River Counties, because of the expiration this month of a special law that gave complete protection to these animals for five years.

Amarillo College Course Prepares For Defense Work

Because of the intense demand throughout the nation for men and women who can use their hands as well as their heads it is anticipated that no graduate of the new vocational courses offered by Amarillo College will have any difficulty in obtaining good jobs, says Shelby M. Kritzer, director, in announcing the new courses which will be offered in conjunction with the U. S. Office of Education and the State Department of Vocational education.

The training is offered without cost, except for the expense of manuals and textbooks, to men who have had practical experience in mechanical fields and to qualified young men and women who have had no previous training.

Applicants not employed at present should report to the United States Employment Service (323 W. 7th St., Amarillo) to make application for courses.

With the exception of the aircraft engine course, all classes are open to men of ages 18 to 60, of good physical condition with a minimum of 8th grade education. Previous experience is desirable but not essential.

The aircraft course is open only to high school graduates from 18 to 40 years of age who have preferably had at least two years of math or science in their high school work.

Classes in machine shop and aircraft sheet metal are open to women. Age limits for women are from 18 to 35 years with a minimum of 8th grade education.

Upon completion of the training program all trainees are awarded a certificate of training and referred to the U. S. Employment Service for placement.
