MINERS ENJOINED FROM GOING ON STRIKE

Lewis Declares Men Will Quit at Midnight

INDIANAPOLIS, October 31.—A temporary injunction obtained here today by the government cannot avert the strike of bituminous coal miners set for midnight tonight, according to John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Lewis dictated the following statement: "I regard the issuance of this injunction as the most sweeping abrogation of the rights of citizens guaranteed under the constitution and defined by statutory law, that has ever been issued by any federal court. This instrument will not avert the strike of bituminous mine workers and will not settle the strike after it occurs. The injunction only complicates to a further degree the problems involved in the adjustment of the controversy."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 31.—United Mine Workers of America will disregard the injunction ordering them not to strike, according to J. R. Kenamer, president of the Alabama district, who said he had received instructions from Indianapolis this afternoon, to proceed with the walkout.

Mr. Kenamer received the following telegram from John L. Lewis, acting president of the miners' union: "Our position remains unchanged. Strike order issued October 15 becomes effective at midnight tonight in all its provisions. We enter this great industrial contest serene in the knowledge that our cause is just, and is in conformity with our rights guaranteed by the constitution and laws of the United States."

(Signed) "John L. Lewis." The message from Lewis was filed in Indianapolis at 10:45 a. m. The injunction was granted by Judge Anderson at 10:45 a. m., but the notice was not served on Lewis until nearly noon.

MESSAGE WAS FILED BEFORE ORDER SERVED

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—The message of John L. Lewis, to the president of the Alabama district, was filed before the restraining order was issued by Judge Anderson. It was explained at union headquarters here today.

"Not one message of any kind has been filed since the writ was served," it was stated.

FARRINGTON ASSUMES A DEFIANT ATTITUDE

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., Oct. 31.—Assuming a defiant attitude toward the government's move to stop by injunction the threatened strike of coal miners, F. W. Farrington, chairman of the miners' scale committee and president of the Illinois district, declared today that "the strike had developed something more than an attempt to enslave the working men and women of the country."

"Nothing that I know of could have a tendency to incite Bolshevism in this country as this restraining order will do," said Farrington. "The agents of Lenin and Trotsky and the influence at their command could not do as much to create Bolshevism in this country as the injunction granted by Judge Anderson will do."

"We are going through with the strike," Farrington declared. "Labor is bound to fight this injunction. If it stands it is within the power of a court to enslave the working men and women any time the court decides to do so."

"If this injunction stands there will be a lot of us deceived as to the liberties we thought American citizens enjoy. The restraining order is a blow at the very heart of free institutions of our country."

DECLARES INJUNCTION WILL MAKE NO CHANGE

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31.—Injunction proceedings in Indianapolis will make no change in the strike situation, it was declared by officials of the district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, said this afternoon. HOUSE OF COMMONS EXTENDS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN BRITISH FINANCIAL POLICY, 405 TO 20

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The offensive against the Lloyd George administration apparently has been stopped. The House of Commons last night voted confidence in the government's financial policy, 405 to 20. Austin Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, introduced a resolution putting the house on record as promising hearty support to the government in all reasonable proposals however drastic for the reduction of expenditures and the diminution of debt.

government was defended by Premier Lloyd George, War Minister Churchill and Andrew Bonar Law, administration spokesman, an amendment to the resolution was introduced by John Cliffe, laborite. This was defeated by a majority of 355, after which the government resolution was adopted unanimously.

"Lord George referred to the peace treaty as 'very drastic' and said that without it 'we would have substituted a defeat for a deficit and the government would have deserved impeachment.'"

SELECT WILSON FOR CHAIRMAN OF CONFERENCE

Labor Delegates Vote to Seat the Representative of Germany and Austria.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Secretary Wilson late today was elected permanent chairman of the international labor conference by acclamation. Wilson thus becomes an official of the League of Nations, of which the conference is a part, despite the refusal of Congress thus far to ratify the peace treaty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—William R. Wilson, former coal mine labor organizer and now secretary of the department of labor, today is slated for election as chairman of the international Labor Conference of the League of Nations.

Unless plans of many delegates miscarry, Wilson will be elected when the conference begins its third sitting today by votes of employees from many nations. Wilson now is temporary chairman.

Except for election of a chairman and examination of delegates' credentials, the conference has finished all preliminary business and is ready to go ahead with consideration of the 'topical' labor before it by the Paris peace conference.

The question of application of the 48 hour week is expected to arouse most discussion. Other subjects scheduled for debate include regulation governing employment of women and children.

Findings of the conference are to be referred to the members of the League of Nations to guide their legislative bodies in enacting uniform social and labor legislation.

Late yesterday the conference decided to admit the German and Austrian delegates.

GEN. PERSHING FOR UNIVERSAL ARMY TRAINING

Statement Is Made Before the House and Senate Military Affairs Committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—General Pershing today declared for universal military training.

"Universal training brings many benefits and such benefits should be universally extended to all of our young men," he said.

Pershing appeared before a joint meeting of the House and Senate military affairs committees to outline his views on the permanent military policy of the United States.

The program, Pershing declared, should include:

1.—A permanent military establishment large enough to provide against sudden attack.

2.—A standing army of 275,000 to 300,000 men to cope with any internal disturbances.

3.—A trained citizen reserve organized to meet the emergency of war.

4.—A standing army of 275,000 to 300,000 men to cope with any internal disturbances.

BUT THREE OF AMENDMENTS NOW PENDING

Hope to Pave Way for Final Treaty Fight by Early Next Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Republican leaders hope to have the way for the final treaty fight cleared by early next week, according to Senator Lodge.

Only three amendments are now pending:

The LaFollette amendment to strike out the labor sections of the treaty, the Gore amendment requiring the people of the United States before this country joins in a war under the League of Nations and one contemplated by Senator Lodge to strike out the Shantung sections of the treaty.

Some senators say they would not be surprised to see the entire treaty fight end after rival leaders have reached an agreement on reservations. The attitude of practically every senator is known and a quiet conference in the near future may bring opposing forces together under a definite agreement to vote at a fixed time on the final resolution of ratification.

Outlines Benefits. Outlining the benefits which he believed would result from adoption of universal military training, Pershing declared:

Development of physical vigor and manhood, development of mental discipline and respect for constituted authority, development of initiative and self-reliance, and the duties of citizenship. This last benefit, Pershing said, is especially needed among aliens in America.

If America has not been unprepared for the war, it has not been unprepared, Pershing said, and added that this country's success in the war was due to its united determination of purpose.

Country in New Light. "The war has placed this country in a new light," Pershing said. "It has shown our people that we are a nation of men, not of women, and that our government, but by our purposes to maintain high ideals."

The A. E. F. chief recommended that the broad powers of army reorganization allowed the President during war-time be continued in peace. This is in accord with the general staff's recommendation.

"Such powers are necessary in time of war," he said, "and would be wise in times of peace with the limitation that the President could not establish or discontinue bureaus."

The number of general staff officers provided for in the army bill is excessive, he said.

Pershing predicted a great future for the air service and said that France, Great Britain and Italy were laying stress on this phase of the army. He declared that the United States would make a very great mistake in allowing our aircraft department to fall behind.

Strength of Army. Pershing's figure for the strength of the army is about half that recommended by Secretary Baker and Chief of Staff March.

Pershing praised the work of the general staff and said that "in recognition of their splendid services," the women should be given rank as high as second lieutenant.

"The fact that the general staff did not make up to expectations was due to the fact that the nation had no experienced staff men," he said.

"Many of the criticisms aimed at the general staff are well founded but this is explained by the fact that many things were attempted by the general staff which should have been handled by other departments."

Bands played prominent part in the army, Pershing declared. He urged the committee to make ample provision for this branch.

ROME, Oct. 30.—In the midst of the parliamentary election campaign, Signor Nitti, the Italian premier, has come out boldly in a letter to his constituents for an Italian Fiume. He asserts that the town of the Adriatic which has been seized and is being held by Gabriele D'Annunzio, "must not be abandoned to an uncertain fate," and declares that he will not realize the question of Fiume has no economic value for Italy, but a moral value, being a question of national dignity and sentiment.

"Opposition from friendly nations will mean the creation of intolerable international situation for Italy," also an uneasy international situation, the effects of which might be most injurious.

TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER ISSUED BY FEDERAL JUDGE ON APPLICATION OF GOVERNMENT

The government worked swiftly at virtually the "eleventh hour today to avert the coal strike set for midnight and its attendant industrial crisis."

Federal Judge Anderson, in Indianapolis, issued a restraining order, at the instigation of the Department of Justice, to prevent union officials from initiating the strike tonight or supporting thereafter. The order, based on the Lever and railroad control acts, prohibits paying of strike benefits from union funds and prevents any union official from sending messages in furtherance of the strike.

A hearing for arguments on the order was set for November 8. After notice of the restraining order had been served on him, Lewis said the strike would go into effect as scheduled.

Secretary of Labor Wilson announced in Washington that he had proposed to Lewis a miners' convention for discussion of the strike, meanwhile postponing the walkout set for tonight.

It was understood that Wilson proposes to call the operators into session at the same time as the miners and in the same city.

Congressman Mondell, republican leader, called up in the House today the resolution passed by the Senate yesterday pelting the support of congress to the government's efforts to protect the public in the threatened coal strike.

The department of labor announced that the coal strike order already had been rescinded in three counties comprising half of the Kentucky coal fields, in which six thousand miners are employed.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 31.—A temporary restraining order preventing eighty-four officials of the United Mine Workers of America from carrying on the scheduled strike of bituminous coal miners, was issued here today by Judge Anderson, district judge of the United States district court.

The terms of the restraining order are so drastic that if any executive officer, member of the board, district president or scale committee member of the United Mine Workers of America sends a single message in furtherance of the strike, he is liable to criminal prosecution for contempt of court.

The order restrains union officials from: Ordering the strike. Issuing instruction to union members to continue the strike. Paying strike benefits from union funds.

Based on Two Acts. The order was issued at the request of Assistant United States Attorney General C. B. Ames and was based on two war-time acts of Congress.

First—The Lever act, which prevents restriction of the supply of food or fuel during the war.

Second—The act under which the United States government took over control of the railroads.

It was also based on the "broad power of the government to protect its citizens in time of threatened disaster."

Judge Anderson set November 8th as the date for a hearing on a temporary injunction. The marshals, after an announcement of the union policy by the order, was expected immediately after the meeting.

As Judge Anderson noted, the restraining order, six United States deputy marshals wait to serve the injunction on the union officials.

The marshals, who were called into union headquarters to carry out the action.

Order Is Served. Bursting into the room where the executive board was in session, Frank Ream, United States deputy marshal, served the court action on the committee members, John L. Lewis, acting president and William E. Green, secretary-treasurer. All conversation stopped when Ream appeared.

"It is a nice derelict school teachers' convention," Green said, glancing out of the window at a downpour of rain after the group had released its composition. Then Lewis spoke up and in a rumbling resonant voice asked Ream to show his credentials, which Ream did.

One of the committee members remarked "they're too late," when Ream appeared and another in the back of the room whispered to a fellow member "we're going home pretty soon now, I guess."

The strike will be held as scheduled, John L. Lewis, acting head of the miners, said after notice of the order had been served on him.

The union officials were evidently taken off their feet by the broad powers of the restraining order. They unofficially interpreted it as extending to the individual miners "or any other person whatsoever," preventing them from even holding oral conversation regarding the strike.

After the United States marshal left the room, the board again went into executive session.

ORDER IS RESCINDED IN KENTUCKY DISTRICT

TRIP THROUGH THE BAZAAR OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Madge and Grace were on their way downtown to do their Christmas shopping. Passing the Methodist Church they saw a sign which read, "Come in and visit the bazaar."

Through curiosity they went in not giving it much thought. First they got to the candy booth as all girls do, they bought some and said it was good. Madge glanced around and suggested looking through all the booths after doing so they were delighted with them. They then started to make the rounds again but in earnest this time. "Oh, Madge, look at those things in the baby booth. There will be no trouble in getting something for our little baby sister. And Madge, dear, how would you like those embroidered towels for your hope chest? There are so many pretty ones in the towel booth.

"Just take a peep at the Japanese Tea Garden. It is a dream. Shall we go in and rest before we finish? Now we will have a cup of tea and some wafers. Look! just across from here is a fish-pond. Only twenty-five cents to fish and nothing less than that in it. We must try everything before leaving.

"I know mother will be glad if I take a loaf of that bread and some salad home for dinner. Do you know I almost forgot the cook. It won't ever do to forget her on Christmas. There is a booth full of aprons and I am going to get her a real pretty one.

"Now I have finished. I bought something for every one I had on my list. It was no trouble and I am so delighted that I hope the Epworth league will have a bazaar every year. I will certainly patronize it."

POLICE DEPARTMENT CLEARS OVER $2500 DURING PAST MONTH

Crime, or at least violations of the laws that come under police jurisdiction, is on the increase in Wichita Falls if the figures of the amount of cases in the police court during the month of October can be taken as an indication.

For the month there were 625 cases representing a revenue of $2,500 as compared with 587 cases and $2,936 for the month of September. The expenses of the police department due to salaries and overhead expenditures during October according to an estimate is around $3,000 which leaves a balance of $2,500 for the month.

The most common item on the docket was violation of the traffic ordinances, this variety leading the rest of the offenses by a wide margin.

LOCAL ELEVEN IS PRIMED FOR GAME WITH ELECTRANS

With the prospect of good weather and with the gridiron in good shape notwithstanding the recent rains the local high school footballers are confident of defeating that stubborn animal with a shaggy coat and dangerous horns belonging to the Electrans high school team in the football game at the Katy park Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

Coach Bolton of the locals has been giving them a stiff workout this week to prepare them for the grueling contest with the visiting team, whose ability they have encountered before.

The local line-up for the contest is as follows: Haney, center; McConkey and Leggett, guards; Morris and Dows, tackles; Hughes and Jackson, ends; Ray Patton, quarter; Willson, full; Bashara and Weldon, half backs; Frank Patton and Jordan, sub.

A record breaking crowd is looked for at this game as the local eleven demonstrated so ably last Saturday that they had the "stuff" that a hard game is expected and one worth seeing.

SANITARY CAMPAIGN, INSTEAD OF CLEAN-UP DAY, IS PLANNED

A clean up campaign and not merely a clean up day was decided upon Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the clean up committee held at the Elks club rooms.

One of the features of the campaign will be the use of a canvas streamer with the words, "Let's Make Wichita Falls the Cleanest City in the Southwest." It will be placed at the crossing of Ohio and Seventh streets.

The clean up committee believes that the visitors from out of town who come here to invest in oil and remain only a few days are the ones who circulate bad publicity about the condition of the city's streets and at the same time do not observe the sanitary laws while here.

Because of the refusal of the council Thursday night to approve of transients with private advertisements on them, a canvas will be started, probably Friday, among the local merchants to raise the necessary amount for the purchase of ornamental refuse cans to be placed on the downtown streets.

The expenditure will be about $300, or $20 for each can. Marvin Smith, a merchant present at the meeting of the board, was the first to contribute $20. Others followed his lead. The cans will have only a civic device.

A set of "Do's" and "Don'ts" was adopted and will be printed on cards with the streamer word, "Let's Clean Up." These cards will be put up on the streets. Under the heading "It's Against the Law," a summary of city ordinances pertaining to sanitation follows. One of them is an ordinance prohibiting spitting on the walls of buildings. Many people think that the law prohibits spitting on the sidewalks only.

The committee is composed of members of the sanitary commission of the city council, Dr. J. P. Reed, M. A. Bundy, W. S. Curlee and the following representatives of the civic organizations: W. W. Silk of the Chamber of Commerce, W. B. Hamilton of the Wichita Club, B. F. Johnson of the Rotary Club and Mrs. T. B. Smock of the Civic League.

Business men who will purchase one of the trash cans are urged to telephone an order to the Chamber of Commerce offices.

Revival meetings begin at the First Heights Baptist church, corner Tenth and Kemp-blvd, next Sunday at 11 a. m. and will continue to November 17, which is the birthday of the church. All services will be led by Rev. W. W. Melton of Waco, Texas. Time of evening service will be 7:15 o'clock. These messages will be pointed, spiritual and soul stirring. If you attend these services a great blessing awaits you. Come, bring a friend. A very cordial welcome in store for you. Sunday school at 9:15 a. m. R. W. McCann is the pastor.

LOCAL ELEVEN IS PRIMED FOR GAME WITH ELECTRANS

With the prospect of good weather and with the gridiron in good shape notwithstanding the recent rains the local high school footballers are confident of defeating that stubborn animal with a shaggy coat and dangerous horns belonging to the Electrans high school team in the football game at the Katy park Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

Coach Bolton of the locals has been giving them a stiff workout this week to prepare them for the grueling contest with the visiting team, whose ability they have encountered before.

The local line-up for the contest is as follows: Haney, center; McConkey and Leggett, guards; Morris and Dows, tackles; Hughes and Jackson, ends; Ray Patton, quarter; Willson, full; Bashara and Weldon, half backs; Frank Patton and Jordan, sub.

A record breaking crowd is looked for at this game as the local eleven demonstrated so ably last Saturday that they had the "stuff" that a hard game is expected and one worth seeing.

NEW ANGLE GIVEN TO RED RIVER BED LAND LITIGATION

W. M. CAMPBELL FILES COUNTER SUIT AGAINST OTHER CLAIMANTS.

INJUNCTION IS ASKED FOR

Wants Defendants Restrained From "Blaspheming" Title to Lands in Controversy.

A new and puzzling angle was given to the Red river boundary dispute at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon when W. M. Campbell filed suit for damages and for injunctions against the Cordell Petroleum Co., the Durfee Mineral Co., W. B. Wortham, Charles F. Schriener and H. S. Bonham.

Action is in the nature of application for a writ of injunction restraining any of the defendants from slandering the title the plaintiff claims to own to certain lands involved in the boundary dispute and the great volume of litigation over Red river lands, arising either in Texas or in Oklahoma.

Campbell claims that on April 3, 1918, Schriener purchased from the State of Texas for 10 cents an acre a gas and oil permit on 171 acres in the A. A. Durfee survey, with the provision that within 12 months he had the right to explore the property for oil and gas.

The mineral permit was only of speculative value, recites the petition, as the land was not being produced. However, on October 1, when the Burk-Senator well was pronounced a producer, being situated in the center of the A. A. Durfee survey, interest in the land was revived.

With this in view, the petition alleges the defendant, through Schriener, instituted suit in the district court at Austin, charging plaintiff with conspiracy to procure the deeds and caused to be spread upon the public records in the district court notice and prepared a statement of their claims and went to The Wichita Falls Times and procured publication of news statements, false and untrue, made in their suit filed in Austin, for the sole purpose of deterring the public from dealing with the plaintiff on the property and to hamper him in his development, management and control and to slanders his title, which they had vouchsafed by their solemn deeds of warranty to protect.

The petition continues that these methods were resorted to for the purpose of forcing plaintiff, "through this species of blackmail and slanders to pay them money to clear his property from this attack.

Campbell denies any conspiracy as charged in Schriener's suit and said that because of the filing of his petition he was damaged in the sum of $10,000. He claims an additional damage because of the filing of the independent notices of the other defendants.

He asserts that his oil and gas rights to the lands he claims to have gained from Schriener were sold by him to the Cordell Petroleum Co. and the Durfee Mineral Co. for an aggregate consideration of $64,827.50 in stock.

He asks that the companies be forced to deliver this stock; that an injunction restrain them and the other defendants from further slandering his title; that the suits at Austin be dismissed by them and the independent notices be taken back and judgment for the $20,000 damages sought and that the injunctions be made perpetual.

Judge Bonner in the 30th district court set the matter for hearing November 24, when the defendants must show cause why the injunctions should not issue.

Judge H. W. Ward and T. B. Greenhood, both of whom are attorneys for the Cordell and Durfee companies in some of the river bed litigation, filed the suit.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY WICHITA FALLS BASEBALL ASSN.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Wichita Falls Baseball association in the offices of R. O. Harvey at noon Friday, officers and directors were elected and plans discussed for the coming season. The first officers and directors are:

Walter Salm, president-manager; J. Will Gray, secretary-treasurer; R. O. Harvey, chairman of the board; Newton Mear, Lloyd Weaver, A. L. Huey, Claude Wood, I. A. Kemp and E. Lieppold, directors.

It was announced officially that all of the $70,000 capital stock of the association had been sold, in fact, over-subscribed.

President-manager Salm was requested, by vote, to attend the annual convention of minor leagues at Springfield, Miss., next month, in company with Walter Morris, president of the Texas league.

COUNCIL IN FAVOR OF EXTENSION IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

The city council, at its meeting last night, went on record unanimously in favor of extensive fire department improvements that will meet the requirements outlined by State Fire Marshal English during his recent visit here, and which will also give to Wichita Falls one of the most modern and effective fire-fighting departments in the state, besides materially reducing the fire insurance key-rate.

While council did not go into detail as to what it would do, being impatient, apparently, to get into its secret session, it was evident that every requirement will be met and that Fire Chief McClure soon will be in charge of a department of which he might well feel proud.

The requirements include: Purchase of two apparatuses in addition to the one now ordered. Establishment of two more fire stations in addition to the two now being projected to replace No. 2, which will be sold.

The employment of 22 more firemen. Installation of a 3,000-gallon pump at the water plant and of numerous fire mains.

These things will be done in addition to installing the Gamewell fire alarm system. Mayor Marlow brought this matter before council. He stated that the city "must get busy quick" or suffer a 25 per cent increase in fire insurance rates. All improvements must be made by January 1, said he.

Fire Chief McClure interposed the information that the great amount of new building being done here and contemplated in the immediate future will put the city's key rate up to 26 cents if the demands of the state fire marshal are not met.

Chief McClure also told council that S. W. English, state fire marshal, complained very severely of the streets being blocked by new skyscrapers and said this condition must be remedied.

Police and Fire Commissioner Bundy said he thought the big contractors were "overriding" the council, and he said something ought to be done to regulate their street-blocking methods.

No action was taken, however.

WARNS OIL MEN THEY MUST FURNISH REPORTS TO STATE

Oil operators must comply with the law which went into effect June 15 requiring them to make reports on certain operations to the railroad commission, or suits will be filed against them.

T. L. Coplin, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas department of the railroad commission, said Thursday, however, that every opportunity will be given the operators to comply with the law before action is instituted.

The law effective June 15 requires that regular blanks be obtained from the commission, filled out and filed with notification of intention to drill wells or to plug them if they are to be abandoned before the pipe is removed.

Many operators are not complying with this law, said Mr. Coplin, who arrived Wednesday. The non-compliance, in many instances, said he, is due to ignorance of the law.

The law also requires that all fires in which any petroleum is destroyed must be reported to the commission, and this has not been done, said Mr. Coplin.

The attitude of the commission is not to be harsh, but the law must be complied with, said Mr. Coplin.

FOOTBALL SEASON REACHES CRITICAL STAGE SATURDAY

By L. R. BLANCHARD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Two claimants to the Western Conference throne will further test their fitness for a place amongst football royalty tomorrow.

Chicago and Wisconsin have important engagements on their hands. They play Illinois and Minnesota, respectively. The quartet, consisting of four traditional enemies of as nearly equal rating as can be expected. The result should be two real battles.

Illinois has all the worst of it on comparisons of this season's play. The Illini has been defeated, by close scores—in black and white. Chicago has won every game, making a more impressive showing each week. Now the maroons go into battle with one of the best looking back fields since the days of Eckersall and Stevens.

The Minnesota Gophers have been defeated which makes them second choice against the undefeated Badgers. Wisconsin has edged along carefully, winning important games by a mere dental cuticle, but always displaying the necessary punch to count a winning score. There are those who believe the strength of the Badgers is husbanded cunningly for emergencies and that Wisconsin will be able to dispose of those enemies whose previous showings have been more stalling. Fans await the squad if that be the case.

The season tomorrow reaches a critical stage. There are hosts of games which appear fairly unimportant in black and white. However, dig into them a little and you find the games are highly regarded by the student bodies. There are grudge games, state games and "tradition" games. While the public may be unimpressed, the student bodies will find much entertainment in the mid-west. A few are:

Northwestern at Michigan, which Michigan should win easily. Indiana versus Notre Dame at Indianapolis, with Notre Dame doping the better. Purdue versus Michigan Aggies at East Lansing, Purdue having the better previous record. Nebraska will play Ames at Omaha, usually a tough battle. Oklahoma and Missouri play at Norman, a "tradition" battle. Kansas and the Kansas Aggies play a state game.

BAN ON THE SHINE BALL THE SPIT BALL AND OTHER FREAK PITCHING DELIVERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A ban on the shine ball, the spit ball and other freak pitching deliveries probably will be on the major league books soon.

John Heydler, president of the National League, said today that a meeting of the rules committee of both leagues would be called soon by the national commission. He would not predict what changes in the rules might result.

Sentiment against freak deliveries has been growing for some time among the magnates. Owners Dreyfuss and Ebbets are among the foremost advocates of legislation to kill such deliveries.

HANDICAP PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED FOR WICHITA GUN CLUB

Secretary J. L. Nabb has an innovation for the local shooters when they line up at the traps Friday afternoon, in the shape of a turkey shoot on a sliding scale handicap. The Dupont system of handicapping will be used, based on scores of 2525. A shooter who scores 20 breaks in his string of 25 targets will be accorded a handicap of 3 targets in his next appearance at the firing line. The maximum handicap to be allowed any shooter is 8 targets in 25, and in the event of a tie the match will be decided by shooting off with the handicaps cut in half, and if further ties result, by cutting the handicap again in half. This method practically eliminates extra shoot-offs. Straight scores without a miss take precedence over all handicap scores. In other words, the shooter who breaks the program of 50 targets wins over his competitors who score 50 with their handicap added.

This method of handicap shooting has been tried at all the big clubs throughout the country, and has been uniformly successful. It gives every member of the club a chance to win a prize, which in this case is a turkey. When all shoot from scratch, the prize usually goes to one of the three or four expert shots, while "Mr. Dub" has no chance whatever.

For the coming "Victory Day" shoot a new trap has been ordered, and it will be installed to the east of the present trap. New parts have been ordered for both traps, and everything will be in readiness for the big shoot. The secretary is already receiving requests for programs and for reservations of rooms for this shoot.

All club members are urged to turn out and to help make this shoot a big success. All shooters, whether members or not, are invited to attend the weekly shoots. Shells are for sale at the grounds, and if you don't happen to have your own gun with you some one will gladly lend you a gun. Shooting starts this week promptly at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

OKLAHOMA EXPECTS EARLY RELIEF FROM THE WHEAT SITUATION

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Oct. 31.—Relief in the Oklahoma wheat situation is on the way, according to word received by the State Agricultural Board this morning.

Cars to haul the wheat have passed Kansas City. The action of the government in supplying cars follows the special survey made by the Federal Grain Bureau. This proved that the grain administration had under estimated by ten million bushels. The crop will exceed fifty million bushels which frankly surprised federal officials.

COUNTY OFFICIALS ON BUSINESS NOT REQUIRED TO PAY THE WAR TAX

TOPEKA, KAN., Oct. 31.—County officials on official business are not required to pay war tax, according to word received here today from W. F. L. Pepperill, internal revenue collector at Wichita.

A construction of the war tax regulation relative to county officers was requested by Maurice McNeill, assistant attorney general who is informed that many county officials have been paying this tax without protest. Pepperill says that it will be necessary for the officials to get certificates signifying their business and sign them up to save the tax.

KANSAS MILLS ARE HEAVY LOSERS FROM THE CAR SHORTAGE

TOPEKA, KAN., Oct. 31.—Kansas mills have lost as high as 58 per cent of their October time because of the car shortage according to information furnished the governors office by E. L. Houglund, rate man for the southern millers. The loss of time ranges from 20 to 58 per cent. A few mills have not been obligated to shut down. Houglund said, but it is only by using every scheme possible, such as grinding wheat out of a car back into it that they have managed to keep going.

GAS EXPLODES AND PONCA CITY HOME IS BADLY WRECKED

PONCA CITY, OKLA., Oct. 31.—A serious accident occurred at about 7 o'clock last night, when gas, which filled the home of Mrs. H. H. One entire side of the house was torn out by the force of the explosion and the remaining three sides were forced out of their natural position. Windows were shattered and much of the furniture was reduced to kindling wood. The house was occupied by Mrs. Pantou, her two daughters Lois and Ruth, and two roomers, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sherbon. Mrs. Pantou and her daughters were cut and scratched and Mrs. Sherbon suffered a fractured ankle, when she jumped from a second story window.

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good—cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"—when someone guesses your age, at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make a heroic effort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.

When you sense a feeling of slowing down of your physical forces—when your stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs show signs of weakness—when you notice a lack of your old time "pep" and "punch"—in other words, when you feel your vitality is on the wane, you should com-

HOMAGE TO GREAT MAN: On the anniversary of his birth, we were reminded that even those of us who seldom agreed with Colonel Roosevelt politically could well pay him the homage that is due a great man.

As The Times remarked the other day: "Wichita Falls is getting all the money and all the new population that any city could wish for. It can keep a big share of the money and a big part of the new population if living conditions are improved."

The remark was made in endorsing the emphasis given by Secretary Harrison of the Chamber of Commerce to the purpose of that organization to make Wichita Falls a better place to live in, and since "build permanently" is one of the slogans of Wichita Falls city builders, it fits in well with the purpose of making it a more livable place, a town which is noted for the attractiveness of its homes and parks and playgrounds as well as for the prosperity of its citizens and its growth in population and wealth.

It requires no particular vision to see that we are building here a great city, and it is evident that we cannot afford merely to build for the present, but that we must look ahead into the future as it is given us to foresee and shape our plans for what we have every reason to believe lies just ahead of us.

Wichita Falls wants especially to keep that part of its new population which would be here as forward-looking citizens for the advancement of the city.

Secretary Harrison is paramounting correctly on the idea that the way to keep them here is to make Wichita Falls as attractive a place to live in as it is possible by a concert of effort on the part of those who have set out here to build a real city.

DELAY ENCOURAGES UNREST: One factor that probably is helping the administration in its fight for ratification of the peace treaty and League of Nations is the growing belief that much of the world's unrest is due to the delay in the formal restoration of peace.

Even in the Senate, aside from a few irreconcilables like Borah and Reed, it is beginning to be recognized that there is a connection between the threatening industrial unrest and the Senate's unconscionable delay in considering the treaty—perhaps there are even some stirrings of conscience over the fact that, aside from the manufacture of political thunder and the satisfaction perhaps of some personal grudges against the President, the opposition has been so futile.

The defeat of the Shantung amendment several days ago presaged ultimate defeat for the objectors, for that feature unquestionably is the weakest phase of the whole treaty, from the standpoint of lively-loving Americans.

The defeat of the Johnson amendment ought finally to satisfy the G. O. P. leaders that, except perhaps for some interpretative reservations, the treaty and League covenant are to be ratified within the near future.

About the only difference between the egg-throwing in Ardmore, Okla., and in New York City is that the execution of the Oklahoma throwers is better. ## Graphic Story of How Woodrow Wilson Met The Five Great Crisis of the Paris Conference

ARTICLE II.

The First Great Crisis at the Peace Conference, President Wilson's Struggle to Secure a New World Coal Policy.

By RAY STANNARD BAKER
Copyright 1919 by United Feature Syndicate.

It was inevitable that President Wilson should be forced at Paris to bear the brunt of the heavy fighting—fighting that would have been cut a stronger, more robust man than he. For he had a double problem, a double task. He had not only to join the other delegates in making peace with Germany, but he had the far more difficult and delicate task, which grew more and more delicate as the conference progressed, of upholding the disinterested American position against the insistent desires and necessities of the other Allied nations.

Most people do not realize that most of the troubles at Paris, and every one of the really serious crises, arose not out of the terms to be imposed upon Germany, but out of deep-seated and often bitter disagreements among the Allies themselves. Throughout the six months of the conference the center and focus of the struggle was the conflict between President Wilson, demanding a settlement upon broad principles (which everyone had accepted) and the other Allied powers demanding various material reimbursements or advantages.

While the war was still in progress, necessity united the Allies; everyone accepted Mr. Wilson's plan of settlement, and welcomed his strong leadership—for three reasons: First, because his principles appealed to the great masses of the world as good in themselves, as the true, reasonable and honest basis of settlement. This tended to disarm the opposition of the radicals in all European countries who were becoming more and more restless with the bloody continuation of the war.

Second, because a hearty acceptance of the American idea of American leadership helped to bring America with her vast resources more wholeheartedly into the war.

Third, because Wilson's diplomacy tended to weaken German support of the war.

The moment the war ended in an unexpectedly complete victory, the high purpose and the unified spirit of the Allies began to fade away. They were not, after all, united nations. Each had its strong loyalties, its ambitions, its necessities, and these immediately began to assert themselves. The high inspiration and enthusiasm of the war men had begun to believe in miracles; when it was over they found themselves back in the old world—and more than that, in a state of exhaustion and demoralization which someone has characterized as national shell-shock. It must never be forgotten that it was in this atmosphere of national shell-shock, exaggerated appearance, exaggerated fears, that the treaty was made.

The President undoubtedly came to Europe filled with great hope and faith. His plan of settlement, his 14 points, had been widely accepted and commended throughout the world. He believed that and has always believed in the power of moral ideas. The statement of them and their approval by masses of men. He had a triumphant progress throughout Europe—there was nothing ever before like it in the world. Never was there such a demonstration in Paris as on that day we saw him driving down through the Arc de Triomphe. I was in Italy in fall of 1918 before he came. His picture was in every shop window. It was even said that the peasants burned candles before it, quotations from his speeches were in every newspaper and on every dead-wall; he was worshipped with an abandon which was enormous. His prestige everywhere was enormous—and it was the prestige not of a great soldier, but of a great political figure, but of a moral leader. He came to Europe conscious of his own high aims and of the real disinterestedness of America.

Even before the Peace Conference met, however, certain ominous things happened.

At the same time that Wilson was making sanguine speeches in England regarding the League of Nations, Clemenceau was telling the Chamber of Deputies in Paris that he still believed in the old-fashioned system of alliances as the only way of safety for the world, and notable French leaders were advancing claims which would be granted, defeat the very principles to which the Allies had agreed at the armistice. A little later the British elections returned a heavily conservative parliament endorsing a hard peace with Germany, and defeating some of Mr. Wilson's strongest supporters in the House of Commons. In Italy there began to be talk of the wide expansion of Italy in the Adriatic and elsewhere. And finally, the November elections in America, which returned a Congress in opposition to the President, and the attacks made upon him by various Republican leaders in the Senate, tended to weaken his influence at Paris. To anyone who had been in Europe during the last year of the war, before the Peace Conference began, as I had been, this change of attitude toward Wilson among the leaders (not among the people) was most evident.

No sooner had the Peace Conference got down to business, sitting within the double-doored, sound-proof room in the French foreign office, than the struggle began—and it centered at once upon an issue between President Wilson, demanding the acceptance of a broad principle of policy, and the other allies demanding that their interests be served. President Wilson had wished to have the hardest problems, those relating to European conditions, taken up first, because he believed that the danger to the world arose from the unsettled conditions there. But the irresistible temptation, as in all such conferences, was to put off hard questions, foreign and domestic, until the peace was made. They were not, after all, united nations. Each had its strong loyalties, its ambitions, its necessities, and these immediately began to assert themselves. The high inspiration and enthusiasm of the war men had begun to believe in miracles; when it was over they found themselves back in the old world—and more than that, in a state of exhaustion and demoralization which someone has characterized as national shell-shock. It must never be forgotten that it was in this atmosphere of national shell-shock, exaggerated appearance, exaggerated fears, that the treaty was made.

and New Zealand certain others; the South African Federation was to have a big slice in Africa, France was to have such and such colonies and Great Britain itself such others.

One of the most extraordinary things about the Peace Conference was the efficiency of the British and French foreign offices, or diplomatic machines. They always had a plan ready; always had it minutely worked out. Even in the minor committees, upon one or two of which I sat, no sooner was a question broached than the French or British had an elaborate plan, beautifully typewritten to put down. There is an enormous advantage in this, as these experienced negotiators well know, for a plan tends to shape the views of everyone present and place all other conferees in the position of critics. I could give numbers of instances in the High Councils in which, although the Americans were the suggesters of an idea, the actual resolutions were presented by Mr. Lloyd George or some other member. A man or a nation, because he believes that the danger of the world arose from the unsettled conditions there, is always in a very much stronger and more definite position than a man or a nation that seeks to apply difficult general principles to a complicated situation. It is so easy to play the old familiar game; so difficult to play the new; it was the new game that Mr. Wilson had to play throughout; and everyone knows how wearing it is, mentally and physically, to be constantly in opposition, constantly forced to play a lone hand.

That the plan for the division of the German colonies had all been worked out—and without any reference to the establishment of a new or a general principle—was clear enough when the prime ministers of several of the British Colonies came to the Conference on January 24, quite unexpectedly, and made prepared statements of their claims to the annexation of certain former German territory. Canada made no such demands, although she had great losses and made great contributions to the war—far greater in proportion than those of the United States—she made no selfish claims whatever for herself. It developed, also, at once, that Japan expected to annex certain colonies, and France certain others; and that possibly Italy and Belgium would have to be satisfied with more extensive territorial concessions.

It was January 27 before Mr. Wilson got an opportunity to present his idea of a new principle of world colonial policy. He was against annexation; he declared for the development of each colony, not for the advantage of the nation that controlled it, but for that of the people who lived there. He thought the League should be placed upon the welfare of the people, not upon the ownership of the land. The world should not be a trustee for these weak and backward people until the day when the true wishes of the inhabitants could be ascertained. Colonies should be assigned to certain mandates or

NEARING THE MEN ENTOMBED IN OHIO MINE

Within About Thirty Feet of Where 22 Are Supposed to Be Hidden.

AMSTERDAM, O., Oct. 31.—"We are now within about 30 feet of where the men are supposed to have been hidden. We should get to them today. Whether we get them dead or alive, I do not care to guess. The fire is under control."

The above statement was made this morning by Jerome Watson, in charge of the work of rescuing 22 miners imprisoned in the burning Young-hoehny and Ohio Coal Co. mine here.

Watson worked his men all night. The gangs labored in half hour shifts, cutting their way with shovel and pick through the tons of rock and coal blocking the tunnel. Watson said the fire can be considered well under control.

The race now is to reach the men before hunger or thirst or the gas fumes finish what the fire started—if the men are not already dead. A mine rescue car from Pittsburgh arrived late yesterday and assisted the Ohio mine experts in the work. Many of the rescuers were overcome by gas while at work and were revived with lung motors.

Another traffic innovation was announced by Assistant Police Commissioner Goodfellow Thursday night when he said that Officer Lesser had been assigned to foot duty on Tenth street, from Ohio avenue to No. 2 fire station, armed with a stop watch, and would in the future time swiftly moving cars and take down the numbers of those that exceed the speed limits. # ALBERTA OIL COMPANY

As the officers, as well as practically all the stockholders of this organization are local men, the affairs of this company will be run, as far as possible, along the lines you would run them yourself.

Stripped of all legal matter and description, the Alberta Oil Company is simply an organization, consisting mostly of personal friends, who agree with us that all the oil in the world has not been discovered yet, and believe that a mighty good place to look for it, is on our 160-acre tract directly between the Kemp-Munger-Allen and the Humble Deep Test.

You are cordially invited to drop in at any time and get whatever information you desire—or if you have the time, go out to the lease and see actual development for yourself. You will always be as welcome as a part owner should be, and will never find a high board fence, nor armed guards barring your way.

Each Saturday we will publish a little report in local papers, advising you of how far the drill is down, and before long, we hope to be able to report a well—when that time arrives every dollar you subscribe to help drill, will return at least $40 to you—and if we don't get a well, you will know that you had the fairest and squarest run for your money you ever had. In the meanwhile, as the drill goes down, the market price will go up on exchanges and you will have lots of opportunity to take a quick profit—but this location is good enough that we strongly urge you to hold your shares.

Our driller, Mr. Donnell, of the Donnell Drilling Company, is very elated over our prospects on this location, and is one of our largest stockholders—as a result, he is bound to be mighty careful in drilling.

He reports this morning that work is being rushed on the derrick and that the drilling rig is being unloaded, and actual drilling will start as soon as he can rig up.

We can still offer about 5000 shares at par—one dollar—and if you have not yet joined, would be glad to have you come in with

COUNCILMEN GIVE PERMISSION TO USE PARK FOR Y. W. C. A.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT GIVEN FOR ERECTION Y. W. BLDG. IN BELLEVUE PARK.

PROPOSED ORDINANCE KILLED

Mayor Casts Deciding Vote Against Ordinance Regulating Itinerant Vendors.

By unanimous vote the city council last night granted the Young Women's Christian association the perpetual use of all of Bellevue park, to be utilized as a building site for the new Y. W. C. A. home. The only restriction governing the permit to use the property is that the park be maintained and beautified and the structure erected there be as handsome as possible and in keeping with its surroundings.

This constituted the most important action taken by council, for much of its business was a routine nature and the last half hour of an unusually brief session was executed by the itinerant vendor ordinance, which was presented in revamped form by Secretary Thomas and a committee from the Y. W. C. A. association, was put to death with hardly a quiver, the vote being 3 to 2 and Mayor Marlow deciding the issue.

A committee from the Y. W. C. A. consisting of Mrs. W. W. Silk, Mrs. P. P. Langford and Mrs. C. R. Hartsook, presented the request for use of Bellevue park as a building site. Mrs. Hartsook explained the request in a brief talk, in which she explained that the Y. W. C. A. was endeavoring to aid girls and young women engaged in business and in the industries here but that it had been handicapped by the lack of suitable room and funds. Funds now have been promised by liberal-hearted citizens, she said. If council grants the request, the park would be uninjured in any way, and, on the contrary, would be beautified, she said.

Mrs. Hartsook speaks.

"By up-holding the standard of girlhood and womanhood here, you will be helping Wichita Falls," said Mrs. Hartsook. She explained that the association would exert every endeavor toward making the park more beautiful, that it will become one of the spots of civic pride and beauty and that no one could object to appearance of the building to be erected. Tennis courts, a playground and other features for making it a real park will eventually be installed, Mrs. Hartsook thought.

Dr. Reed explained that the city had tried and failed to make the park beautiful, and he took the view that if the Y. W. C. A. could improve it in any way it should have the opportunity to do so.

Mayor Marlow explained that the property had been donated to the city by R. E. Montgomery for park purposes and that the city could give no deed to the property for little must rest with the city. However, it was agreed that the mere erection of the Y. W. C. A. building there would not impair the property as a park.

Councilman Weldon made a motion that use of the property be granted provided the park is maintained and the building is handsome as possible and in keeping with its surroundings.

Mrs. Hartsook explained that the citizens referred to had guaranteed all the money that would be required. She said, however, that she did not know whether the committee had authority to care for all of the park, which is 525 by 250 feet in size.

It was agreed that the park committee of council, the executive committee of the Y. W. C. A. and the building committee of that organization meet and arrange all of the details incident to the plan.

John W. Thomas, secretary, and a half dozen or more members of the Retail Merchants' association appeared and the former read a re-drafted ordinance licensing the itinerant vendor of merchandise, other than vegetables, fruits, groceries and meats, requiring a bond in the sum of $1,000 before he could do business, the bond to be in force for six months, defining itinerant merchant, and fixing penalties ranging from $50 to $200 in fines for breach of the ordinance.

Ordinance is Killed.

The ordinance was read and then laid on the table and the committee retired. Just before the executive committee voted for the ordinance, Mayor Marlow and Aldermen Reed and Weldon against it.

Council gave its approval to the "clean up" campaign and granted permission to place trash cans about the city. Secretary Hubert Harrison of the Chamber of Commerce appeared and explained that he would devote the next few weeks to the clean up campaign. He presented the copy of a circular gotten out by the "clean up committee," composed of the sanitary committee of council and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Wichita Club, the Retail Merchants Association and the Civic League. The circular contains a synopsis of the city ordinances pertaining to sanitation and cleanliness, weed-cutting, excavation in public places and the throwing of trash, cans, paper and the like into the streets. They also admonish the reader to make Wichita Falls the cleanest city in Texas and explain that the good citizen will help the poor one must.

Mr. Harrison explained that he had received a sample trash can or receptacle made along the most approved lines and that 40 such cans could be purchased for $800.

City's Critics Contribute to Dirt.

The city's chief critics, said he, are the chief offenders in failing to keep it clean for when strangers see here that efforts toward cleanliness are futile, they add to the dirt. The cans, he said, would have a tendency toward cleanliness.

Alderman Weldon opposed his plan to make the cans pay for themselves by placing advertisements upon them, explaining that it is against a city law to place "ads" on the sidewalks. He wanted no discrimination, he said. Mayor Marlow said he saw no objection to putting advertising matter on the cans and he advocated permitting every business house to have a trash can on its sidewalk.

Mr. Weldon said he had enough confidence in the business men here to believe they would provide cans without advertising on them and several members of the Retail Merchants' committee assented to this.

So the cans will be white and the only lettering upon them will be placed to make Wichita Falls clean and keep it so. Also, a banner of street will be strung across Ohio avenue and Eighth street telling of the clean-up campaign.

F. N. Lawton, former manager of the Strickland interests here, appeared before council with an application for a franchise to build a railroad spur or siding from the Wichita Valley tracks out Mill street to the light and power plant. Council thought the street too narrow but took the matter under advisement pending an inspection of the street and the proposal.

During the argument Mayor Marlow said there would always be a string of freight cars but the spur if the permit was granted.

Two citizens appeared and protested against the Conroy grocery store being left standing and another store erected by the side of it. The store is on Eleventh street near Bluff street. The citizens, who own adjoining property, did not object, they said, to the new store but wanted the old one moved. Council, on Mr. Bundy's motion, decided to grant a permit for the new building if the old one is moved.

A permit was granted to one grocery store to open in the residential section, and permit to do business also was granted the Kent brothers, who will put in a filling station in Seventh street near Scott avenue. The permit for the Sanders-Haig Auto Supply Co. to construct a driveway on Ninth street near Travis street, was withheld again pending an inspection of the property by Councilmen Reed, Bundy and Weldon, who had not seen it.

Milk and Plumbing Ordinances.

Dr. Reed offered a milk ordinance correcting minor defects in the present ordinance, and a plumbing ordinance, both of which were put on first reading, but neither of which was read. The plumbing ordinance would create a plumbing supervising board, provide for an inspector, the licensing and bonding of plumbers, regulate the materials to be used and the methods of workmanship of all plumbing and drain and gas pipe connections. Also it specifies the character of buildings that must be connected with storm sewers.

On request of Police Commissioner Bundy, council instructed City Clerk Walkup to write the railroad officials demanding that a night patrol be placed on duty at union station for the care and protection of girl and women travelers.

A petition from residents of Fifth street requested that a sidewalk be built on Fifth street from Seymour to Lee streets brought instructions to Assistant Police Commissioner Goodfellow to send a policeman there to order a fence removed. It is thought by council that if the fence is moved the muddy and inconvenient conditions complained of in the petition will be eliminated.

After the executive session council adopted a resolution putting on record its agreement of a fortnight ago with the traction company relative to the draining of Kemp boulevard.

SECURITY—SERVICE

The growth of the First National Bank, of Wichita Falls, oldest bank in Wichita county, has been founded on public confidence—a confidence that has been richly merited by the conservative management of institution no less than by the high character, successful business experience and individual integrity and responsibility of its personnel. The officers and directors of the First National Bank have been long and intimately identified with the commercial and industrial development of Wichita Falls and of North Texas, and they are pledged to the future building up of the commonwealth insofar as they may contribute thereto within the bounds of safe and sound banking. On these terms the management welcomes the public's patronage.

REGRETS For thirty years we have served the consuming public of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory in the handling of food products at retail. Twenty-five in the grocery business and the past five in coffee, tea and kindred lines. It is now with the utmost regret we announce that after this week we will distribute our products through the Grocer. We take this step that we may serve you better as our business has increased to such an extent that it is no longer practicable to handle it direct to the consumer. We feel that we have the co-operation of all the Grocers of the City and will supply them each day with goods FRESH FROM THE ROASTER in such quantities as their trade requires. If YOUR GROCER does not handle our brands we will take it as a favor if you will let us know, so we can take the matter up with him and see your wants are supplied. We take this opportunity to thank you all for the loyal support all these years. It is this support that has made it possible for us to build in Wichita Falls, the most modern coffee roasting plant in the entire Southwest. And next week we will be located in our new plant at the corner of Ohio and Sixth, where we extend to you a cordial invitation to call and look us over. "WHO CAN BEAT IT."
