BRITISH LOSSES SMALLER, THOSE OF GERMANY GREATER, THAN INDICATED IN FIRST ADVICES OF GREAT NAVAL FIGHT

MANY VESSELS ARE SENT TO BOTTOM--CLAIMS VARY AS TO WHICH SIDE RETIRED

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—Conflicting claims continue to cloud the issue of the naval battle fought off Jutland coast on Wednesday. There is no such great disparity in losses as at first appeared in the British and German reports according to British admiralty officials, who claim that later reports show two German battle cruisers went down while London announces the receipt of a wireless dispatch from Berlin carrying the admission of the German admiralty that another German battleship in addition to the Pommern was sunk.

Berlin has issued no further statement regarding the German losses which initially were given as one battleship two light cruisers and several destroyers. If the revised British reports are accepted the losses in ships were apparently as follows:

British—Three battle cruisers (Queen Mary, Indefatigable and Invincible) three armored cruisers (Defence, Black Prince and Warrior), about a dozen destroyers and one submarine.

German—Two battleships (Westfaken and Pommern) two battle cruisers (unnamed) four light cruisers (including the Wiesbaden, Ebling and Fraulo), six destroyers and a submarine.

The British admiralty in addition had admitted that the battleship Marlborough was struck by a torpedo but declares she was towed safely to port. It denies the German claim that the dreadnaught Warspite was sunk although conceding that she was damaged by gun fire.

The Germans are greatly elated at the outcome of the engagement in which their main fleet under Admiral Scheer met the British, whose main fleet, they assert, also was damaged; that the Germans held the field after the battle is shown, they declare, by the fact that the Germans picked up survivors of British warships that went down.

London officially denies that the British grand fleet was in the action. The battle cruiser squadron which is reported to have rushed between the Germans and their base seems to have borne the brunt of the fight. Eleven British battleships eventually went into the battle, it is admitted, but of these several are declared to have been only slightly engaged.

FLEET SOON READY FOR ACTION AGAIN OF ZEPPELINS PROVE OF DOUBTFUL VALUE

Quickly Coaled, Refitted and Prepared for Sea After Taking Part in Battle

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—The British admiralty today stated that the battleship Marlborough was "hit by a torpedo but was towed safely to port. The dreadnaught Warspite was damaged by gun fire the admiralty added, but escaped torpedoes.

British Admiralty Does Not Consider Dirigibles of Much Aid to Germans

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—The British fleet saw only one Zeppelin during the engagement and it was fired on so heavily that it retreated from action quickly badly damaged. The opinion had been expressed to the admiralty that the Zeppelins would be a great aid to the German fleet but this was not borne out by Wednesday's battle.

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—A dispatch from Copenhagen says the German torpedo boat V-28 was sunk in the battle. Three survivors rescued from a raft. A Swedish steamer reported, the dispatch says, that all the rest of the crew was saved.

Only Three Members of Crew of Frauenlob Remain—Say Was Running Fight

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—The tug boat Thames has arrived here with eight men of the crew of the German cruiser Frauenlob, which was sunk in the naval battle of Jutland. They say that the ship went to the bottom ten minutes after she was struck. Nothing of the fate of the remainder of the crew of 350 was learned.

BRITISH BRAVERY OBJECT OF PRAISE

Is Mentioned in German Reports Which Say Most of Fleet Was Engaged

By Associated Press.
Berlin, June 3.—"Supplementing the official report of the admiralty," says the Overseas News Agency, "it is stated by a competent authority in the North Sea that the Germans had in action the high sea fleet with dreadnaughts and older battleships, battle cruisers and also light sea forces, including torpedo boats and submarine flotillas. The Germans faced the greater part of the modern British navy.

COMMENT ON FIGHT BY GERMAN PAPERS

Point to Fact That British Tonnage Loss Was Many Times That of Germany

By Associated Press.
Berlin, June 3.—The Tages Zeitung says, regarding the North Sea battle: "Taking into consideration the fact that our blue jackets had the main force of the English battle fleets before them, our fleet behaved brilliantly. To the loss of three of the strongest English ships, no adequate German loss is opposed. Moreover the success was obtained against a considerable numerical superiority. Our young navy showed a tremendous intrinsic superiority over the first and largest fleet in the world."

LOSSES OF BRITISH MAY BE OVER 5000

Wounded From North Sea Fight Begin to Arrive in London Saturday

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—Wounded men from the North Sea battle reached London today. There is no estimate of the number of wounded, but it is feared the loss of life will exceed 5000 officers and men. The German reports they picked up some of the lost and a few have arrived at neutral ports.

Casualties Placed at That Figure, Including Officers—Conflicting Claims Come From London and Berlin as to Fight's Outcome.

By Associated Press.
London, June 3.—The latest reports from the British fleet, from the neutral vessels which witnessed part of the great naval battle in the North Sea, and from the survivors, cause the British public to believe the engagements was not so near a defeat as at first reported and in no wise a disaster. The British losses with all the craft engaged accounted for, were three cruisers, three battle cruisers and three destroyers. The German losses are believed to have been about the same number of ships, although a much less aggregation of tonnage.

NEWS OF WEEK IN OIL CIRCLES

NO WORD IS EXPECTED FROM NORTON WELL BEFORE NEXT TUESDAY

MUCH LEASING DONE

Interest in Electric Wells Being Deepened to 2,000 Foot Sand. Few New Locations.

The Norton well southeast of Iowa Park holds the center of the stage in local oil circles, and definite word from that scene is eagerly awaited. It is expected that it will be Tuesday at the earliest before the under-reaming job is completed, some delays having been encountered.

Leasing and lease-swapping continue brisk in that vicinity and some rather distant acreage has been taken up, some of it by "tenderfoot" who have not hitherto played the oil game but who believe the Norton prospects justify taking a flyer at this time.

Drilling is now under way on the Pope bonus well just northwest of the city and about three weeks will be required to reach the depth at which Mr. Pope confidently expects to find pay sand.

No important completions or new locations are reported from the main field. Further evidence of the recently adopted policy of some of the larger companies, to hold operations in check, is being furnished by the scarcity of new locations, and there is little doubt that a curtailment of drilling is in prospect. It is denied in some quarters that this is due to anything else than the pipe situation, it being increasingly difficult to get casing, but independent oil men believe that the market situation has at least an indirect bearing on the matter.

There is much interest among oil men here in the drilling in a number of wells at Electra which were fair producers in the 1,400 to 1,500 foot levels and which are now being deepened to the 2,000 foot sand which has in some instances, notably on the Stringer lease, proved so prolific, developing several gushers of 1,000 barrels or better. Comparatively few of the hundreds of wells of Electra were drilled to the deeper sand and there is of course the possibility that any of the shallower wells could be deepened with profitable results. Several wells in various parts of the field are now being drilled deeper and the results will be awaited with interest.

The total production in Northwest Texas is now estimated at 20,000 barrels which is a slight decline from the figures of two weeks ago, when the 21,000 barrel mark was reached. This figure compares with about 16,500 four months ago.

A number of leases, most of them on land in the Norton well region, have been recorded recently. They include the following:

Sarah E. Brown et al to J. C. Straus and Chas. W. Bean 120 acres of section 3 S. R. R. Co. survey, $150 royalty one eighth, drilling clause ninety days, rental $150.

U. C. T. PEDDLERS WIN FROM DENVER

In the first game this season for both teams the U. C. T. Peddlers defeated the Denver Clerks Saturday afternoon by a score of eight to three. The game was somewhat slow on account of neither team having had regular practice before but on the whole both teams showed up well. The game was featured by heavy hitting of the U. C. T.'s, Smith especially, and the tight pitching of Brown. Gordon pitched good ball for the Denvers but weakened in the pinches and was a little wild.

A schedule of games between the local teams is being worked out and will be perfected in the next few days. The lineup of the game follows:

U. C. T.—C. V. Smith, ss; Bachman, 1b; Lynn, c; Peeler, 2b; W. Harrison, 3b; Brown, p; Cutrer, cf; Carr, lf; Simpson, of; Judd, presley, manager.

Denver—Eaton, c; Gordon, p; Berry, 1b; English, ss; Gray, 2b; Rankin, 3b; Ferrel, cf; Moore, lf; Hart, rf; umpire, Sleight.

The score by innings: U. C. T. 310 202 0-8. Denver Clerks 000 101 1-3.

STATE SPELLING CONTEST BEING HELD IN OHIO By Associated Press. Columbus, O., June 2.—Boys and girls from all over Ohio are in Columbus today to take part in the second annual state spelling "bee," which will be held tonight in the house of representatives in the state house. Hard words, easy words, and all kinds of words, will be given to the contestants. Cash prizes and sets of books will be awarded the winners. All of the children who will take part are the champion spellers of their districts. Only district champions will be permitted to take part in tonight's state contest. The children will be addressed by Governor Frank B. Willis and Francis B. Pearson, state superintendent of public instruction. This afternoon they were taken on a street car ride about the city. Last year's spelling contest assumed the nature of a deadlock, as the state championship was not decided until long after midnight. In tonight's contest, 100 words will be pronounced to the contestants, which they are to write correctly; 100 words will be printed phonetically and given the boys and girls to be rewritten and correctly spelled; and 100 words, part of them spelled correctly and part incorrectly, will be submitted to be rewritten and corrected. Each word will count one-third of one per cent, it has been announced. Our prices for cleaning and pressing remain at 50 cents, but this price is for cash only, to all De Luxe Dry Cleaners. Campbell of Palestine, candidate for the democratic nomination for the United States Senate, spoke to a fairly large crowd at the Wichita theatre last night in the interest of his candidacy. The crowd gave the former governor a very warm reception, frequently interrupting his speech with applause.

The speaker was remarkable sparing with criticisms of his opponents, saying that he preferred to discuss issues instead of men, but he could not forego a slap at Colquitt in saying that in his campaign if he (Campbell) had written any letters they were addressed to the Democrats of Texas, and not to any scheming and conspiring cabal in New York plotting the destruction of the democratic party and even Americanism itself.

He also made comparisons of the tax rates of his administrations, and those of Colquitt, not to the advantage of the latter.

The only thing the speaker had to say regarding the candidacy of any other opponent was in discussing the strenuous efforts being made by the liquor interest to elect an anti to the senate, he said that they were also supporting a prohibitionist, one whom they thought they could beat in the run-off primary, and needless to say that it was not him (Campbell). He is presumed to have referred to Crocker.

"A man would die for his home, but who will fight for a rented farm," said the governor, discussing rural credits and a system of farm loan banks, he expressed himself as favoring a marketing system that would enable the farmers to have a hand in fixing the prices of their crops.

W. J. Bullock introduced the speaker, speaking of him as a tried and experienced and a business man who had made a success of his own affairs, a man of constructive ability, whose wisdom and counsel was known and respected throughout the state. He referred to Mr. Campbell's efforts for Woodrow Wilson, both at the Baltimore convention and afterward. He spoke of his two terms as governor, mentioning them in glowing terms of praise.

"He is a man," the speaker concluded, "honest in every fibre of his being, and a man who holds the interests of the common people closest to his heart."

Mr. Campbell spoke yesterday at Vernon, coming down late in an automobile with J. H. Hodges, an old friend. He stopped at the St. James, where he will remain until this afternoon, when he leaves for Memphis to speak tomorrow. There he will make a long West Texas and Panhandle tour. He will be joined here today by his son, T. M. Campbell, Jr., cashier of a Palestine bank, who will travel with him on a vacation trip. Mr. Campbell will be the guest of G. C. Wood at dinner today.

While here Mr. Campbell was told that many voters here were concerned chiefly with defeating former Governor Colquitt and that these expected to support the man they thought could accomplish that.

"If they want to do that," commented the former governor, "why don't they pick the man who has already beaten Colquitt once?" He alluded in mind the gubernatorial campaign of 1907 in which he was first elected governor over Brooks, Colquitt and Bell. The former governor received a few friends at the hotel before going to the Wichita Theatre, his visitors sitting in his room and talking to the candidate while the latter washed his face and made his toilet.

Wichita Falls has more than doubled in size since 1 was here in 1907, said Mr. Campbell. "It has certainly grown rapidly, and I know that its best growth is still to come."

In his address, Mr. Campbell dwelt with emphasis upon his record as a friend of union labor, citing the results of his administration as governor in that connection. He reviewed his record as governor at some length, mentioning numerous laws passed while he was in the chair, these included anti-gambling measures, anti-brothel laws, the bank guaranty law, numerous tax laws, 28 anti-trust laws, school laws, and many others. He made particular reference to the low tax rate which prevailed while he was governor.

Mr. Campbell proclaimed himself a Wilson man, recalling that he worked for the present incumbent of the White House four years ago at Baltimore. He declared himself for preparedness, an adequate army and navy, government-owned munitions plants, merchant marine, searward and national prohibition, female suffrage, rural credits and farm loan banks, a farm marketing system, more currency legislation, limiting of the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission and for development of rivers and harbors. The former governor said in part:

"The liquor traffic impoverishes the home, assaults the church, cripples the schools, corrupts the ballot and would debauch the government. It lays its withering hold upon the youth of the land and blows its foul blighting breath upon the hopes and aspirations of mankind everywhere. It shackles its victims, it enslaves fathers, bruises the hearts of mothers and they bleed. It murders little children and robs the world of God's noblest gifts. It lures the innocent to the primrose path which leads to vice and ends in ruin, death and hell. It is reaching for control of farm life, farm equipment and farmers votes through deception and through fraudulent influences which its money can corrupt, bribe and buy. It seeks to fester its strange hold upon organized labor, that noble men may forget the sacred tenets of their unions and brotherhoods, which stand for the brotherhood of men, the purity of the home, the country's honor and the glory of God. It lays its colossal fortunes at the feet of corrupt power everywhere that it may live and that men may die. God help the man who stands sponsor for the liquor traffic to see the error of his way. As for me and my house we will stand against this hideous curse of mankind in all its forms now and forever.

In discussing this question I am not unmindful of the fact that there are good men who hold views widely different from those I entertain. I do not grasp their process of reasoning, but I accord to them the same honesty and sincerity in their views that I claim for myself. Such men no more endorse the corrupt methods of the liquor traffic in politics than I do. They condemn its activity and corruption in politics, and are unwilling that it should ruin this government. Anti-prohibitionists of that type, are of that faith from principle, and I respect them. Many are turning to the prohibition cause and others will not vote at liquor's dictation.

"Some men resist prohibition and urge regulation as the remedy for the evil. This remedy is proposed by them in the face of the fact that our attempted regulations have grown stronger and its promoters more defiant. Others oppose nation-wide prohibition claiming that the handling of the liquor question should be reserved for the police powers of the states. That to prohibit this evil by an amendment to the constitution of the United States would be inimical to the doctrine of State's rights. They seem to forget that every department of the liquor trade is today operated under federal control and under federal license. If we can have national regulation without an infringement of state's rights why would national prohibition be an infringement of that doctrine?"

"Gentlemen who seem so solicitous and are so loud in their declamations about state's rights and local self government at this time; might be taken more seriously, but for the fact that it is known that they are always on the liquor side in every sort of contest. They argue state's rights and with the same breath oppose the submission of state-wide prohibition to the voters of Texas so that the people may enter their own decree at the ballot box. Their argument is without substance and can stand. When state prohibition is before the people they oppose it and loudly proclaim that local option is a wise policy which was conceived in the minds of great men and founded in wisdom, and then when local option or county prohibition is proposed they vote against it. They scream about federal

Using Wood as a Cushion

To keep a race horse in good condition, he is never allowed to stand on a concrete floored stall; a board floor is a better protection from muscular strains.

A blacksmith never uses a hammer with a steel handle. A wood handle keeps the vibration away from his arm.

Every man and woman knows how much more restful it is to walk on a board floor than on an asphalt pavement.

The same principle that prevents fatigue in all these cases is the fundamental of the comforting qualities of Franklin wood chassis frame.

Wood is yielding—it cushions shocks. Steel is rigid and transmits vibrations and shocks.

The wood sill is one element that makes it possible to go farther in a day in the Franklin with greater comfort than in any other car.

Still the increase of fifty per cent in Wichita Falls postal receipts last month is the best showing that has been reported by any Texas city.

DUAL PERSONALITY. The story of Dr. Jeykl and Mr. Hyde is a myth, but its counterpart, wherein Mr. T. Totaller of Archer City goes occasionally to Wichita Falls and involuntarily into Mr. Fullern A. Goat, is an absolute fact—Archer County News.

Very little has been said about the grain crop this year and as a result there has been no movement of laborers to this section and the farmers at the opening of harvest are finding a shortage of labor. It is true that the crop this year will be less and can be harvested probably with half the labor, but very little preparation has been made to provide such labor as will be needed. Heretofore it has been easy to find laborers but this season it appears there are no idle men anywhere or, at least they have not appeared here.

"Get the strike idea out of your head," Grand Chief Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is reported to have told the reporters Friday at the opening of the conference between the representatives of the trainmen's brotherhoods and the railway managers. This does not sound like the brotherhood will refuse to accept arbitration. Grand Chief Stone is an able, cool and long-headed man. Other brotherhood officials in the conference are men of like caliber. The fellow who stands around on the street corner and declares that the brotherhoods will not accept arbitration does not reflect the views of the mass of the membership and certainly does not voice the attitude of the leaders in his brotherhood.

If the pre-pul have not been heroic, Colonel Roosevelt's immediate followers in the progressive faction are indicating that they are, and if Roosevelt is not nominated by the republicans they threaten to reject the olive branch and run the Colonel themselves as they did in 1912. Anyhow the progressives have indicated that they do not trust the regulars and will not adjourn their convention until after the republicans have conformed to their wishes. They may be like the prodigal son in some respects but they are going to stop at the gate until the old man shows them the calf and permits their butcher to kill it.

That the jitney business is not necessarily a losing proposition is shown in figures that have been compiled by J. W. Skull, statistician for the city of Dallas. Mr. Skull in a report to Mayor Lindsey shows that some Dallas jitneys make an annual profit of $429. This is after paying themselves for their own labor 12 hours a day at 25 cents an hour and allowing 33.3 per cent for depreciation of their equipment. The average gross receipts of a number of jitneys was shown to be $2,554.98. This showing is believed to be exceptionally good and it is doubtful whether the jitney business pays so well in most other cities. It is believed to be the general rule that the jitney, if he stays in the business long enough eventually finds himself with a worn-out automobile and no funds to buy another. In the meantime he and others like him have taken away the business that might have enabled the street car company to have made expenses or a profit and to that extent his business has crippled the street car company, and enough of that kind of competition would soon place the street car companies in a position where they would be unable to give an efficient service.

Antwerp, Gallipoli and Kut El Amra with their defeats and the failure of the offensive at Ypres have borne testimony to the unpreparedness and inefficiency of the British on land without shaking the confidence of the Briton in ultimate victory for the British forces. Great Britain was and is prepared on the water and the British have placed their hope and confidence in the fleet, which every Briton has believed invincible. This is the view not only of the British but of the people of every nation, unless it is the German. The result of the first great clash of the British and German fleets and the apparent victory for the Germans must be a distinct disappointment to the British and further lowers British prestige which has already suffered greatly in the war. But partisans of Germany should not rejoice prematurely. The German guns took heavy toll of British ships and British lives. This is admitted by even the British. It proves something which was never doubted—the daring and efficiency of the German sailors. But the clash came at a point where the Germans ought to have been able to have concentrated a larger fleet than the British yet the dispatches say that the fight ended with the Germans retreating before a superior British force, and there were intimations in the dispatches received yesterday that the German victory was by no means as pronounced as earlier reports indicated. The result of the clash does not change the opinion of neutral observers that England still has it on Germany on the sea and will not accept the result of the first great clash as proving that the German navy is not inferior. Until England is convinced that her navy is not invincible there is small hope that efforts to secure peace on terms acceptable to Germany will avail.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer points out that the four years of chastening has wrought no alternation in the republican party; that the party today is not one whit better nor one whit worse than it was in 1912. In support of this statement the Plain Dealer points out that the gentleman who four years ago heralded President Taft "the greatest progressive of the age" delivers the keynote address at Chicago this week. The same chairman of the national committee calls the convention, to order; the same leaders—Penrose, Root, Smoot and others still direct affairs; the same influences will dictate the platform deliberations. This may all be true and yet a large majority of the progressives may do no violence to their convictions in returning to the republican fold. Changing their party label meant no change in convictions to a good many progressives. They followed Roosevelt into the progressive camp because they believed he would lead them to victory and to the pie counter. The same motive is actuating their return to the republican party. By this is meant the majority and not the smaller number who really believed in the high sounding declarations of the progressive platform and who felt a burning indignation at the high handed methods of the republican leaders. There are enough progressives of this latter brand to make the present situation highly embarrassing to the republican leaders and to those progressives who wish to return to the republican fold simply because their desertion four years ago proved as disastrous to themselves as to regular republicans.

HUGHES THE OBJECTIONABLE. (New York World.) We learn from the Oyster Bay correspondent of the Tribune that Justice Hughes as a candidate would be almost as objectionable to a large proportion of the Progressive Republicans as Elihu Root. To Roosevelt, Hughes must be even more objectionable than Root, for he has a better chance of getting the nomination. The only unobjectionable candidates are DuPont and Estabrook who never had a chance.

The discovery that Charles E. Hughes is not pure and holy and righteous enough to merit the sanctified support of the Roosevelt party is very ominous to the inevitable discovery at Chicago that the Republican national convention is in the hands of crooks and rascals and burglars and thieves who have stolen all the delegates from the Only Patriotic American and robbed him of the nomination. That is bound to come.

The fact that there are to be practically no Roosevelt delegates in the convention who were elected as Roosevelt delegates adds to the enormity of the crime. The post-pul want Roosevelt. They never want anybody else, if they wanted somebody else they would not be the post-pul, and if they have refused to vote for Roosevelt at the primaries or at the polls, the crowning infamy of all history has been committed by the villain who thus thwarted the popular will.

It is plain that the Roosevelt forces are preparing to follow the methods they employed in 1912. Their ultimatum to the Republican convention will be Roosevelt or nobody. In one respect they will have an advantage equal to their advantage of 1912, for they can insure the certain defeat of any candidate that the Republicans nominate. Roosevelt has no such strength as he had four years ago, but even with a much smaller following he can poll enough votes to give Wilson practically all of the Electoral College. There may be Republicans innocent enough to believe that Roosevelt, deprived of the nomination himself, would not run against a Republican of unblemished reputation and recognized ability, but many of them were innocent enough in 1912 to believe that Roosevelt would not run on a third ticket against Taft. The Roosevelt crowd are fighting for Roosevelt, of the Republican party, and if they can not rule they are ready to ruin. Roosevelt's judgment may not be in accord with them, but in the end always goes with the mob. The hysteria of the thing is too much for his limited self-control.

The Times believes that the proposed amendment to the Wichita Gas company's franchise ought to be submitted to the voters of the city for adoption or rejection. This franchise is a contract with the people and they ought to have a say in its amendment. If an increase in the gas rate is necessary to the existence of the Wichita Gas Company, and if it can not operate at a profit without the granting of such an increase the people ought to be willing to grant it. The people, of course, will want to be shown in this matter, and it is their right to ask the reasons and demand proof. This, the Times believes, the gas company will be glad to submit. If the reasons are convincing there is no good reason to doubt that the request will be granted. The Wichita Gas Company, being a home concern, was given a hearty welcome to Wichita Falls when it came into existence several years ago, and its relations with its patrons and the public have been such that this friendly attitude is still maintained. The company has nothing to fear from an appeal to the people if its request will bear analysis and investigation.

ONE OF GERMANY'S NEWEST BOATS LOST

Declared to Have Been Put Out of Commission By Own Crew After Much Damage

By Associated Press. Ymuiden, Holland, June 3.—Three officers, three petty officers and twelve sailors of the crew of the new small German cruiser Ebling, which was lost in the Jutland battle have been landed here. One officer said that the Ebling sank after she was rammed by another German vessel; another that she was blown up by the heavy firing of her own guns. The loss of the Ebling is not mentioned in either the British or the German official accounts of the battle but the British admiralty statement says a "light German cruiser" was sunk. The Ebling does not appear in available naval lists. These details of the sinking of the German cruiser Ebling were learned here today from Dutch crewmen—German sailors and the Dutch military commander at Ymuiden who spoke to three of the German cruiser's officers.

The Ebling was a new and fast cruiser of about 1000 or 2000 tons and carried a crew of 450. The British gunfire caused such destruction on the ship that Captain Madging who was among the three officers saved decided to have the valves opened and to allow the vessel to sink. Before the Ebling went down the bulk of the crew was taken over by a German torpedo boat but doubt is expressed as to whether the sailors arrived safely at Wilhelmshaven. Twenty-one remained on board until the vessel foundered when they left in a life boat. Later they were picked up by a Dutch trawler. Members of the crew said that when the Ebling sank the sea was covered with driftwood and dead bodies were floating around. Some of the sailors saw a German warship in a sinking condition while others noticed warships blazing.

Plans are under way for the paving of the alley from Eighth to Seventh between Michigan and Ohio. Practically all the property owners affected are said to have agreed to this work.

Large quantities of harvest supplies were sold yesterday to wheat growers, who laid in binder twine and other binder accessories. Threshermen are reported getting ready for their part of the work and some threshing outfits are already on the road, though it will be several days before time for them to start in on the crop.

Temperatures ten to fifteen degrees cooler than those prevailing during the past week were enjoyed by Wichitans yesterday, the change being most welcome. Cool weather is officially predicted for today.

The wrecking of the old court house continues rapidly and the forces of Sam P. Spores, who is in charge of the work, are getting down below the second floor.

Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the Henderson-Bland building at Seventh and Scott, and the structure has advanced sufficiently to make it apparent that it will be one of the handsomest in the downtown district.

District Attorney Leslie Humphrey is the possessor of a new Dodge car which he expects to use in making his trips from one to another of the county seats in his district.

The case of Tom Ware who last Sunday shot and killed Mrs. J. J. Murrell in Clay county, will come up next Wednesday in the district court at Henrietta. If the case goes to trial at that time, it will be some thing of a record, as the date set for trial is only ten days later than the homicide. Several from this city have been subpoenaed as witnesses.

CHICAGOANS MARCH FOR PREPAREDNESS

More than 150,000 Persons in Demonstration that Lasts for Eleven Hours.

By Associated Press. Chicago, June 3.—The greatest parade ever held in Chicago was finished tonight after 150,214 persons one-sixth of whom were women and filled the streets in a preparedness demonstration. The parade was eleven and a half hours in passing. More than a million persons witnessed it. The parade was made up largely of military organizations which included all branches of the army and navy service. The parade was said by Major General Thomas H. Barry, commander of the central department, U. S. A., who sat in the reviewing stand to be the greatest and most inspiring spectacle he had ever seen. Two thousand telephone operators provided the prettiest spectacle of the day. Several hundred of them were so garbed as to form an imitation American flag. They were followed by others in white waists and black skirts. Each wore a paper cap of red, white and blue. A division of nurses also attracted applause.

Sixty members of the Congressional Union for Women's Suffrage held a little parade of their own to emphasize the purpose for which they are in Chicago, namely to obtain a plank in the republican platform for passage of the Susan B. Anthony amendment. So great was the enthusiasm with which Chicago rose to the spirit of the preparedness demonstration that two parades were necessary one in the day and one at night.

More than 1,000 men and women took part in the parade today, having pledged themselves to do so in rain or shine. The women said that if it rained they would wear their enthusiasm and would not let their enthusiasm be quenched by fear of a drenching.

The day parade formed this morning in Michigan avenue, south of Van Buren street and marched north on Michigan avenue, the entire route being as follows:

Fourth division: Business men, north of Madison street, outside of the loop.

Fifth division: National Guard. The judges of the municipal court joined the circuit and superior court judges at the head of a lawyers' division with Edgar B. Tolman as chairman.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF FIGHT MORE HEARTENING FROM BRITISH VIEWPOINT

By Associated Press. London, June 3.—The British losses in officers were extremely heavy, the list including Rear Admiral Horace Hood who went down with his flagship the Invincible, Captain Sowerby of the indefatigable Captain Kay of the Invincible and Captain Frowse of the Queen Mary. The total British losses are estimated at about 5000.

A British admiralty official made a statement reviewing the battle in some details. He declared the British went out looking for a fight, engaged the entire German high sea fleet interrupted its plans and drove it back to port. The Germans, he said, sprang no surprises; only one Zeppelin was seen and that was driven off and no seven-inch guns were in evidence.

German Statement.
A semi-official statement issued in Berlin declares that the Germans faced the greater part of the modern British navy, the battle cruisers and light cruisers beginning the engagement while later the main forces on both sides took part in the attack. German torpedo boats did also work both during the daylight battle and during the night while naval airships and aeroplanes contributed greatly to the German success, it is claimed.

The German dreadnaught Westfalen of 18,500 tons, has been added to the steadily growing list of vessels sunk according to a wireless dispatch from Berlin which says the German admiralty admits the loss of this warship.

More German Losses.
Additions earlier in the day were the German cruiser Ebbing displaced between 4000 and 5000 tons and the British destroyer Shark. Nearly all the men who manned the destroyer were lost.

The latest British statement regarding the outcome of the engagement shows that the admiralty views it as not at all unfavorable to the British. It is declared that they sought out the Germans, engaged their entire fleet with inferior forces and compelled them to put back to port and give up "any plan of action they may have contemplated."

British Casualties 5000.
The losses to the British side, estimated at 5000, may be heavily matched by those of the Germans if the latest reports on the number of German warships lost are confirmed. In the British casualty list are included Captain Frowse and the entire complement of the battle cruiser Queen Mary which probably had between 900 and 950 men on board. Rear Admiral Horace Hood was lost with the battle cruiser Invincible.

Two of the Zeppelins which played such an important part in the engagement of the British fleet movement reports were destroyed, according to reports brought in by Danish fishermen who declare that the entire crew of one of the airships perished.

May Be More Fighting.
Wounded men from the engagement have begun to arrive in London, cheered by the crowds assembled to meet them.

According to one report today British warships are watching off the Danish coast for the appearance of eight German warships which are declared to have taken refuge in Danish ports after the North Sea battle being given 24 hours to leave by the Danish authorities.

The Associated Press is informed that future details will have even more heartening effect than the news given out today. The admiralty is especially cautious about stating German losses, giving only those

59 STUDENTS ON EXEMPTION LIST MAJORITY ARE GIRLS

Those Making Best Grades During Last Term are Announced.

Only Sixteen Boys Included in Number—Many Others Get Partial Exemptions.

Fifty-nine students in the local public schools were exempt from examinations in all subjects in the recent final examinations. Eleven of this number were high school students. There were numerous others who were exempt in one or more subjects, several hundred in fact.

But one senior was exempt, John R. Sandidge, who made the honor grade among the boys. Though the only senior exempt in all subjects a boy it is interesting to note that there were only sixteen boys out of the fifty nine exempt.

The list of total exemptions follows:

High School, Fourth Year: John R. Sandidge. Third Year: Mary Spert Clark, Dollie Hill, Irene Danilovich, Patsy Lou Koonce, Russell Wait, Second year: Goldie Maricle. First year: Cecilia Adickes, Ruth Bernard, Elsie Oster—Glady Price.

Lee Moore, Blanche Hines, Verna Vanhorn, Winnie Reynolds, Edra Robinson, Judith Shorped, Jewell Mills, Georgia Maxwell, Nolan Bullock, Picket Caskey, Alfred Bennett, Elton Felder, Courtney Howell.

San Jacinto school, list is not reported.

Alamo school, list was not reported.

Travis school, Fifth grade: Jewell Pearson, Orville Holman, Lloyd Woodhall, Mable Riley.

Sam Houston school, Fifth grade: Clayburn Promiss, Dannie Ashby, Fauncein Bergs, Grace Donaldson.

CAMPBELL ASKS VOTERS HERE FOR THEIR SUPPORT

There were stores of ships sinking with a great explosion, of crowds going down singing the national anthem, of ships passing through a sea thick with floating bodies. A life boat with German survivors from the German ship Ebbing rescued Surgeon Burton of the British destroyer Tipperary. Two well known London clergymen, who had volunteered to serve as chaplains at the beginning of the war, Mr. Landehland and Mr. Lakotourel are among the missing. Mr. Lindeland is a nephew of Field Marshall French. He was to have been married Monday at London.

I will stand with the Anti-Saloon League in the battle it is waging.

"The candidates for the United States Senate who are on the other side of the liquor question from me are manifesting much concern over the question of woman suffrage. Well may the liquor interest as well as candidates for office who are on the liquor side dread the day when women vote. Woman suffrage will not be an issue in the coming national campaign, but it has been forced into this campaign and as I do not know the habits and have never cultivated the art of evasion will say that personally I favor votes for women.

"Capital and labor are inter-dependent factors in the world's affairs. Between them there should be no conflict. Each has its rights that should always be respected. Each are charged with obligations to themselves, to each other, and to society, which involve no surrender of rights, freedom or independence and which should be overlooked, but fairly met. The right of capital to organize within the law for the promotion of legitimate business is not denied. The right of labor to organize for the sake of labor's dignity, to promote the spirit of fraternity and good fellowship and to advance the cause and protect the interests of those who toil, is now fully recognized.

"The charge we were once accustomed to hear, that labor organizations and Farmers Unions and other agricultural organizations were trusts that they were unfair and unlawful is no longer made.

"All fair men now acknowledge that the unions, brotherhoods and agricultural associations of this country were organized and are maintained upon just grounds and for the moral and intellectual development and the material prosperity of its members and all mankind. Without justice to any man or business, organized labor and organized agricultural unions when wisely directed strengthen the position, morally, socially and financially, of every man who toils, and in their just measures of self-protection and self-preservation I believe they are entitled to governmental co-operation. They have always had my co-operation and assistance in the past, as they will in all these matters have my sympathy, aid and support in the future.

"Public sentiment is organized labor's best asset in times of stress, and a just government is labor's refuge in the hour of peril. And always recognizing that property rights should remain inviolate men entrusted with office and vested with power should never forget that the rights of man should be held as sacred.

"As a private citizen and as a public officer, I have fought labor's battles and have helped to win its victories. I need not recount them here. I hold a loving cup today, the gift of the local Labor Council of Palestine which I prize. And upon the eve of my retirement from the office of governor, after serving four years, I was presented with a great clock bearing upon its front a gold plate upon which is inscribed these words:

Presented to
Thomas Mitchell Campbell
Governor of Texas
Upon His Retirement from Office
January 17, 1911
As a Token of Appreciation of His Unwavering Fidelity
To
Those Who Toil
By
Organized Labor of Texas.

"No man has ever borne a higher testimonial from worthy men and women. That token of appreciation from honest hearts and noble minds is valued more than words can express. Organized labor helped to elect me to the office of governor of Texas, but its members honored me as much if not more with those kindly words upon that golden plate. After my induction into that office they asked for nothing that was unfair. They favored and urged laws that were just and they were passed. Labor had indeed come into its own in Texas. By the chimes of that magnificent clock, I am reminded each day of labor's friendship for me, and of my duty to the men and women who toil.

"That the interests of organized labor and the toiling masses will be guarded and their cause upheld by me if I should be elected to the office of United States senator, I can offer no better guarantee than the record of my performance in the past.

"At the outset I said that by a man's works he should be judged. I have always invited fair criticism but during my time as governor and since my retirement from that office some of the opposition to me and the active foes of these principles of government for which I stand have leveled their adroit and subtle attacks at me, and their unceasing mis-statements of the facts and their never ending misrepresentations call for a faithful though a brief review of at least a part of my record as governor at this time to the end that a just people may know the truth.

"I made pledges to the people which were all redeemed. The platform declarations of the democratic party upon which I was twice elected were respected and obeyed. The great reforms promised were enacted, into laws.

"By that record I shall stand and upon the principles of government for which I here contend my candidacy for the democratic nomination for the office of United States Senator is based, I have measured my words and I know their meaning. I have measured my ground and I know where I stand.

"Upon this declaration of principles and with my pledge of continued loyalty to the people and their best interests I submit my cause with full confidence to the patriotic democracy of Texas."

Do You Know What Pasteurized Milk Is?

To Pasteurize milk means to take out of it every particle of foreign germ matter and dirt.

It is a well known fact that in every dairy, no matter how perfect the conditions may be or how careful the operators may be, there is always more or less dirt gets into the milk. Then, too, no man in the dairy business can tell when diseased germs get into his herd.

By the process of Pasteurization every particle of this foreign matter is eliminated, thus giving you

GERMAN HIGH SEA FLEET IN COMBAT

Fighting Forces Included Practically All Live Craft and Lighter Vessels.

By Associated Press. Amsterdam, June 3.—Advice from Berlin say that Vice Admiral Scheer commander of the German battle fleet was in personal command of the German forces in the Jutland battle, while the scout division was under direction of Vice-Admiral Hipper. The German forces consisted of the German high sea fleet, with dreadnaughts, older ships of the line, mattle cruisers, all the light sea forces at present in the North Sea, torpedo boat destroyers and submarine flotilla. Admiral Hipper came into contact with the enemy about five o'clock in the afternoon when he engaged the squadron of British battle cruisers and light cruisers. Subsequently the whole fleets on both sides were engaged and the fighting lasted until nine in the evening. Later in the night there were sharp engagements between torpedo destroyers and cruisers. The leading German vessel alone sank six modern destroyers.

TROOPS TO REMAIN AT SAFE DISTANCE

Pershing and Gaviira Said to Have Agreed to Minimize Danger of Clashes

By Associated Press. Columbus, N. M., June 3.—No immediate change in the alignment of American troops in Mexico is believed to be contemplated by General Pershing. It was reported today that in the recent conference General Gaviira made strong representations to General Pershing for the retirement of the American troops from Namasauipa to Casas Grandes or to a point farther north. General Pershing is reported to have laid stress on one point—that the de facto government troops must remain at safe distances from the American lines in order to avoid precipitating a clash. General Gaviira is understood to have assented to this, promising to maintain his present line. Army engineers are going ahead with the work of building a new road from Palomas south to Casas Grandes.

It has been asked that all National Guard enlistment blanks be turned in to Captain Baker Monday as he must know definitely by that time how many he can count on.

The Judge Said: "I Am Open to Conviction"

Of course he meant that he might be convinced, he was not going to take "snap judgment." I have wondered how many customers go about their shopping "open to conviction." I do not mean argument, just wait until they see the many beautiful things and then make up their mind. For it must be that "rocking-chair" shopping, the "making-up-ones-mind-at-home-kind," that causes many steps, tired eyes and aching heads. Our store people lend willing hearts and hands and knowing heads to assist the shopper who welcomes unbiased advice.

Kahn's Dainty Summer Frocks

Offer Rare Beauty and Real Comfort. Hundreds of the daintiest and coolest garments imaginable in a variety of styles and color combinations suited to please the most discriminating tastes. Plain elegance and chic "smartness" are both exemplified here to the fullest degree. Rich and beautiful combinations of colors in all the wanted wash materials, priced $8.00, $10.00, $12.50, & $15.00.

Separate skirts are marvelously attractive this season. The sport influence made possible the use of many attractive materials, in stripes and plaids. Priced $2.00, $4.50 and $6.00. Silks, of course, but this wonderful coloring and design in wash materials rather overshadow all else for smart summer wear.

THE FAIREST ROSE IS NO MORE BEAUTIFUL THAN OUR SUMMER MILLINERY

Summer hats have their season. The chief characteristics are floral effects, with a great many of the simpler tailored styles. Straws—ah, such wonderful straws, leghorns, hems, hand woven Manila, hats with polished liere brims, and tops of dainty crepe chiffon.

Special for Monday & Tuesday HALF-PRICE

One could not personally choose a more bewitching and becoming collection if one personally selected Paris models.

Skip as Much as You Like—These Silk Hose Wear. One need have no terror of the "Dropt stitch," or a little white hole peeping above the pretty heel of a smart oxford. There is no question that it pays handsomely to invest in such good hosiery. Quite a number of effects in striped and clocked hose are shown in our Hosiery Section.

Men Will Be Enjoying their Vacations in Kahns' Clothes

When you go on your vacation you want a suit which has style. But style without comfort means misery. The suits which we are showing have comfort and smart youthful lines; designed by the leading tailors of New York and latest and most durable stylish materials, these suits are the thing the well groomed man will wear this summer. Single and double breasted coats, patch pockets, peaked lapels, sloping lapels; some silk lined and some alpaca lined.

Smart tweeds, plaids and stripes make up a wonderful collection of suits for the particular, conservative yet stylish man.

"STRAWS Without a Flaw" $2.00 and Up

Neckwear for the conservative; for the man who wants the "Classy" tie—we have them all. Come in and look over our assortment—it will undoubtedly interest you. All the latest styles, colors, effects, etc., direct from Broadway... 50c and up.

Wash Suits for Live Boys

Where is the boy who does not think his ancestors that styles have changed—and the wash suits he wears today are simple affairs of durable materials with plain hand trimmings. Our wash suits are extremely serviceable and quite smart. Our manufacturers use fabrics that are "log" tested and will stand plenty of hard wear, and hard rubbing in the tub... $1.00 and up.

A Wonderful Shirt $1.50

Here is the time for any man to add at least one shirt to his collection, and wear a brand new one tomorrow.

You have wondered if the "old-fashioned," $1.50 shirt value, patterns, quality and style would return—well, here they are—men—more than two hundred in all sizes. Patterns that will suit the conservative shirt buyer—and the man who likes color—my, how well they fit and how well they are made.

The Price is Only $1.50

but might well be more, judging them by comparison.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN MEMORIAL SERVICE

Will Hear Special Sermon at Baptist Church Next Sunday—To Attend in Body.

Sunday, June 11 will be observed as Memorial Day by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Wichita Falls. Rev. R. C. Miller will preach the Memorial sermon at the First Baptist Church at 11 a. m.; his subject to be "Odd Fellowship."

The service will be one of much interest and a large attendance is expected. The Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges will gather at the hall at 10:30 Sunday morning and march in line formation to the church where special seats will be reserved. Tomorrow night the first degree will be conferred on several candidates and nominations for officers will be in order.

MEMORIAL SERVICE BY WOODMEN TODAY

Members of Lodge and Circle To Hear Sermon and Hold Other Exercises

The Woodmen of the World and members of the Woodmen Circle will attend the special memorial service to be held this morning at the First Baptist Church; their plans are to meet at the Woodman hall on Seventh street at 10 o'clock in the morning and march in a body to the church where special seats will be reserved for them. Rev. R. C. Miller will deliver a sermon especially along the line of Woodcraft, but the services are open to all.

In the afternoon the Woodmen and Circle will observe Decoration Day and will at the same time unveil several monuments. All members of the W. O. W. are expected to meet at the Woodman hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and march in a body to the Riverside Cemetery, where an address will be made by Hon. W. B. Chauncey. The monuments to be unveiled are as follows: By the Women, monuments to J. A. Thornton, J. A. Talley, and G. V. Zetsche; by the Circle, monument to Mrs. A. W. Chonour.

A. R. COTTON TO DEVOTE FULL TIME TO AUTO SALES

A. R. Cotton, general sales manager for the C. T. Herring Lumber company, has resigned his position with that company to devote his entire energies to the automobile business in which he has already been quite successful.

Announcement is made that he has been appointed agent for the Reo car in addition to the Dort and the Paige, which he has had for some time. Mr.

Cotton will handle the Reo in Wichita, Wilbarger, Ford, Hardeman, Clay and Archer counties. The Reo has already proved itself a car of sterling worth and particularly adapted to the conditions in this section. It with the Dort and the Paige make a combination that offers a splendid field for Mr. Cotton's talents.

Mr. Cotton sells the Dort in Wichita, Wilbarger and Ford counties and the Paige in Wichita, Hardeman and Clay counties.

He has leased the southwest corner room in the new Masonic temple at the corner of Tenth street and Scott avenue for his sales and display room and will occupy his new quarters as soon as the building is completed.

WILEY BLAIR OF THIS CITY IS AMONG THOSE INTERVIEWED BY N. Y. HOUSE

COVERS WIDE RANGE

Peace, Federal Reserve, Railroad Antagonism and Labor Among Subjects Included

An interesting resume of business and political conditions in this section, by Wiley Blair of this city, appears in a booklet just issued by Harris, Withrop & Company of New York. An investment firm, which recently sent out a series of inquiries to leading business men throughout the country to determine the business heart and business mind of America. The views of Mr. Blair, as contained in his answers to the inquiries, follow:

"I believe that when peace comes about in Europe it will directly help our business and all others located in the South where cotton is the principal crop.

"Naturally the goods that we handle, the prices of which have materially advanced, will not be used in the same quantities as heretofore with lower prices ruling.

"All labor is well employed in our section. The laboring classes seem to be contented with the wages now being paid.

"Business men as a whole are satisfied with the operation of the Federal Reserve Law and believe that it is working to mean helpfulness in all lines of legitimate business.

"Our business men think that credit is not over-extended in Texas and while business is being aggressively pushed, yet it is being done with a conservatism and carelessness in looking into details never heretofore in evidence. The average business man's ideas are naturally hazy in regard to currency inflation. They look to the bankers of the country, especially the bankers of New York, for information along this line, having confidence in their knowledge and ability to cope with such a situation should it arise, and their promptness to sound a note of warning when needed.

"The people in modest ways are constructing new buildings and making permanent improvements.

"The business men, and people as a whole, who have studied the tariff question are not only convinced that same shall be taken out of politics, but are very anxious that this shall be done and placed in the hands of a tariff commission selected for their ability and fairness. Business men are needed on this commission and not politicians. In fact it doesn't make any difference what political party or parties they might train with so long as they have the ability to correctly analyze the question from an American business standpoint and the courage to stand by their convictions.

"Not much real estate is changing hands, but what transfers are made are being made at slightly advanced prices over recent years.

"People as a whole are viewing the railroads and the transportation problems more liberally than a few years back. In fact the railroads are now being successfully ridden as a hobby-horse by every fellow who has a desire to represent his district in the legislature. People are demanding better service from the railroads in the way of freight and passenger service and a fair percentage of them realize, and this idea is growing with others, that to give this service the railroads should be permitted to have a greater earning power. As an evidence of this in the hearings before the Texas Railroad commission for increased freight rates, the evidence as a whole shows that the people of Texas would like to see freight rates increased. Further evidence of the more liberal and kind feeling towards railroads is shown in all litigation the railroads have; the suits are not so prone to listen to the litigant against corporations but are bringing in verdicts based on the evidence produced.

"The people as a whole are more economical, consequently are saving more than heretofore. This statement applies as a whole to all of our citizenship, whether the day laborer, professional man, farmer or banker. As evidence of this, as far as the farmers are concerned, will state that last year's crop, in my opinion, was the most economically raised crop that Texas ever produced. The stock of the European war caused the people to sit down and take an inventory of themselves and brought them to the conclusion that the proper thing to do was to live within their means during the year 1915 they carried this out by living economically and abstaining from extravagances. The result is that there is less demand for credit, more people are saving their bills as they go and have money on hand as shown by the increased bank deposits in this State. In fact, the stage is set in Texas for an era of prosperity built along ultra-conservative lines.

"Public sentiment is in favor of ample and liberal provision for preparedness by the National government. They believe that we should have a firm and set policy of trade expansion the world over and be fully prepared to protect that trade wherever it goes. In other words, our policy should be a broad and liberal one for American commercial interests and that our preparedness should keep fully abreast with same and be strong enough to protect our interest no matter where they go.

"It is not possible for our foreign trade to expand as it should unless it is fully protected by our government and this carries with it the protection of American citizens and their business interests in all quarters of the Globe.

"The people do not want to see us embroiled in Mexico if it is possible to avoid same, yet they realize that the chaotic condition existing there can not be permitted to continue indefinitely and sooner or later, not only for the protection of American citizens and American property there, but for the protection of the greater part of the Mexican people themselves, it may become necessary for our government to intervene and set up a stable form of government under which the lives of all the people and all property interests will be safe and protected.

"Some interesting statements are contained in the responses, and a few of them follow:

"Preparedness should not be a political question.

"I object to a change in our government every four years.

Mid-Year Model
257 Cars in One

$1325 f. o. b. Racine
With 26 Extra Features

All 1916 Attractions
Combined in One Car—Plus 26 Extra Features

If you saw this Mid-Year Mitchell without knowing the facts, you would say that such a car at our price is impossible. For it undersells any other car of its size and power and grade.

Then you might say—when you saw all the extras—that somewhere we had skimmed. So we have to tell you of John W. Bate to give you a right conception.

We Have Saved 50%

Years ago, John W. Bate, the efficiency engineer, was brought to this organization.

As an efficiency genius he stands at the top in the metal-working lines.

He has built here a model efficiency plant. He has equipped it with thousands of time-saving machines. Now it represents an investment of $5,000,000.

He has, in this way, cut our factory costs in two. We are building the Mitchell for less than a like car would cost anywhere else in the world.

And all of our extras—beauties, luxuries and conveniences—are paid for through factory savings.

26 Extras Free

This Mid-Year Mitchell has 26 unique features. Each is an extra which all motorists want. But in other cars they cost an extra price.

These include a power tire pump, reversible headlights, light in the tonneau, a locked compartment, cantilever springs, an extra-cost carburetor. You will find in this Mitchell, at no extra price, 26 such attractions which other cars omit.

These make the Mitchell, in those 26 ways, the most complete car on exhibit.

257 Cars in One

You will find here also all the best new ideas brought out in 257 Show models.

This Mid-Year Mitchell was completed after the New York Shows. And it embodies in one car all the new touches which proved themselves attractive. Every new-model car has some of them. The Mitchell has them all.

So you will see here the most up-to-date car that's out.

Lifetime Service

Mr. Bate's idea is that cars should last like watches. That is another side to his efficiency.

He has studied the Mitchell part by part, to attain simplicity, lightness and strength. He has made in the car over 700 improvements.

In each part he insists on a big margin of safety. But he gets it by using Chrome-Vanadium steel. By using drop forgings and tough stamped steel.

There are 449 such parts in the Mitchell.

One Bate-built Mitchell, as a result, has run 218,734 miles. Six of them have averaged 164,372 miles each—over 30 years of ordinary service. There are no other like records in Motordom.

Mr. Bate is Done

John W. Bate's work now seems done. He says he has reached his limit, in the factory and the car. He would never permit us to mention his efforts until they reached this completion.

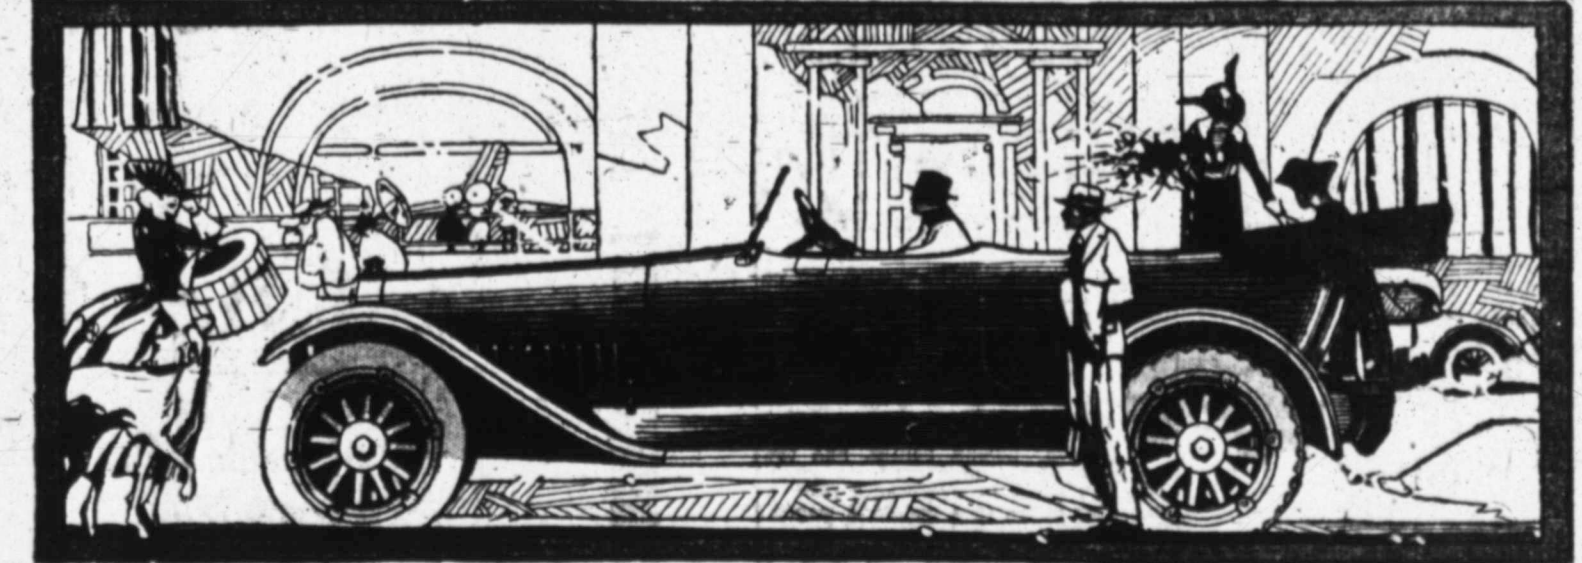

With all these things together, the Mid-Year Mitchell is an interesting sight. No motor car lover should miss it. It has all that men know to make a car handsome, enduring and complete. Your Mitchell dealer will show you a hundred perfections you never have thought of, perhaps.

Go see this model. Then ride in it, put it through hard tests, and watch the car perform.

Our future is a matter of vision, courage and confidence and a thorough understanding of our strength.

Of all things business men heartily welcome the divorcement of the tariff from politics.

WICHITANS LEASE LAND IN VICINITY OF SEYMOUR

(Seymour Banner)

Messrs. T. B. Smith and Long of Wichita Falls have been signing up some oil leases on land southwest of town. They have leased the Harrison boys, L. L. Mitchell, J. E. McClure, George Franklin, etc. The lease calls for the beginning of operations by October 1. Drilling cannot be started much sooner on account of the trouble now in getting casing. Factories are busy making shells and when you can get casing it costs two and a half times as much as it did.

Public men and the great majority of the people do not understand economics.

Peace would not affect prosperity but increase our sense of security and stimulate our work of improvement.

We must have foreign trade of perishables. America can not consume one-half of the cotton goods its coarse mills produce.

Make every boy a soldier on modified Swiss or Australian system. Begin it now, only keep out of the fight.

I believe the new standards, especially of labor compensation and hours of employment, will plague us after the war.

Labor is the only thing in America that wasn't liquidated in the period of adjustment.

Efficient labor is at a premium.

If we expect Americans to spread American trade we must give them protection in life and property.

The growing love for extravagance, so characteristic of Americans, is finding its quota of devotees in our community.

If the world generally once gets an idea that this country will not protect its business men, all the efforts to extend foreign trade will be vain.

Some years ago every laboring man desired to own his own home; at present they are renters.

The ending of the war may unsteady business from shock but like all such things the shock will not last long.

Antagonism to the railroads has not checked railroad extensions but prevented the development of vast areas and interfered with natural prosperity.

The United States must intervene (in Mexico) and establish a government as in Cuba.

The time has come to give the railroads a square deal.

Had it not been for the war we would have been on the rocks long ago.

Business for the next five years will be most satisfactory.

There is much unnecessary alarm about the future.

WHEAT EXPECTED TO START MOVING SOON

Oklahoma Shipments Due This Week With Texas Crop a Few Days Later

According to the Wichita Mill & Elevator Company wheat will be coming in from Oklahoma this week while Texas wheat will not be moving before June 10 at least.

The indication is that the price for new wheat will be the same as offered last year at the opening which was 50 cents. The acreage in this vicinity is about the same as last year but the condition percentage is 78 as compared with 82 last year.

TEARS BRING RELEASE TO PRISONER SATURDAY MORNING

In the police court Saturday morning was the case of a cotton chopper from the country who came to Wichita Falls to purchase provisions and instead bought more liquid refreshments than he could conveniently carry, spending the night in the city jail in consequence. At his trial in the city court he indulged in a good cry and pleaded that the court let him go on account of his wife and small children. The court dismissed the case against him at the same time making it plain that it was not on his account, but on that of his family that he was not made to take his medicine.

Captain Baker Presents Some Arguments in Favor of Permitting Boys to Join Company

The enlistments in the National Guard of this city are slowly coming in and so far about 42 have been signed up. The main reason there is not more interest taken in the movement, according to Captain Baker, is the indifference manifested by the local business men in regard to the organization. In addition, he says, the prominent citizens took hold of the movement and as a result a company of full strength has been mustered in. The argument presented that only idlers join the militia is refuted by the local officers with statistics showing that the chief number of those in the guard who were called out at the recent mobilization were forced to leave their jobs.

There should be no hesitancy, it is said, in joining the guard by those who are employed for some of the largest corporations are recognizing the worth of the militia to the extent that they hold the positions of those employees who are called out open till they return. A state law is also being suggested to the effect that because the Guardsmen are working for the good of the country they should be protected when the occasion demanded it. Some of the parents, the captain says, do not seem to realize that some boys must protect them in time of war but thoughtlessly sing, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," when other's sons are being sacrificed because of the inefficiency of the forces stationed in Mexico.

The time spent at the mobilization camp this summer will be a profitable vacation for any one, Captain Baker says, and in many cases will be the making of many boys who have not yet waked up to the responsibilities of life. Those who serve during the present trouble, Captain Baker declares, will when they return have a true definition of patriotism and it will be one that can not be acquired any way except by actual experience.

LOSES ALL HE HAS WHEN HIS OUTFIT BURNS

(Quannah Tribune-Chief) Walter Lee, a young farmer of Elk City, was traveling through the country Tuesday going home with his wife and baby. All their worldly belongings were in a new wagon, with a buggy trailing on behind. They were passing over an open section northwest of Acme when Mr. Lee discovered that the bedding in the wagon was a fire. He and his wife and baby to get out in a hurry, and tried to save the contents of the wagon, but the high wind rapidly fanned the blaze and he could only loosen his team and buggy; the balance was a total loss. Jim Williams approached in his auto but there being no water within a mile on the bald prairie he could not assist. The Lee family came on to town where the United Charities assisted them to get what necessities they had to have. Mr. Lee estimates his loss at about six hundred dollars. The baby had scattered matches in the wagon, perhaps one of which they had failed to pick up which probably started the fire.

REGULATION OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

ORDINANCE JUST INTRODUCED IN CITY COUNCIL HAS STRINGENT PROVISIONS

SAFEGUARDS SUPPLY

Requires Frequent Inspection and Constant Attention to Cleanliness and Sanitation

The new milk ordinance introduced at the last meeting of the council is considered one of the most severe in its requirements and one of the most comprehensive adopted by any city of Texas.

The new ordinance defines a dairy as any place where two or more cows are kept for the purpose of selling their milk or its products. All dairies have to have a permit from the board of health to engage in business. Application for such permit must be made in writing, and accompanied by the certificate of a recognized veterinarian that the cows of the party making application have passed the tuberculin test. An inspection of the premises of the applicant is then to be made by a representative of the board of health, and the dairy must score 60 per cent according to the score card of the department of agriculture. However, for the first three months after the ordinance takes effect a permit will be issued to dairies who make a score of 50 per cent. The dairy may be scored whenever deemed advisable by the board of health. The scores are to be recorded by the board of health and are open to the inspection of the public. The life of the permit is six months, expiring on the first days of January and July of each year. Two convictions for the violation of any provisions of the state laws, or ordinances of the city will automatically forfeit the permit.

The requirements for the sanitary condition of the stables and the cleanliness of the milkers and utensils are very strict. All utensils must be sterilized. The delivery wagons must be such as to protect the milk from dust and dirt. Both stensils, wagons, and everything connected with the dairy must be used for the handling of milk alone. The milk must be changed from one container to another in the dairy house alone. All milk must be cooled to 50 degrees or lower immediately after milking, unless it is pasteurized when it is heated to 145 degrees and kept at that temperature for 20 minutes, then cooled to 50 degrees or lower. All milk must be delivered in bottles except when it is for immediate consumption on the premises of delivery, or is sold to a dealer in wholesale milk.

The cows must be given the tuberculin test every year, and in case any of the cows show any reaction, they must be separated from the rest of the herd, and the herd tested again in six months.

Any case of any contagious or infectious disease in the family of the owner or any of his helpers must be reported immediately to the board, which shall order an immediate inspection of the premises, and the sale of milk must be stopped until an investigation can be made by a representative of the board and such regulations as may be necessary imposed. Should the dairyman fail to notify the board of any such disease, the milk is liable to destruction by any representative of the board; neither may a milkman enter any premises where there is any contagious or infectious disease. Any dealer selling milk must post the names and license numbers of the dealers serving him in a conspicuous place, together with the quality and quantity of milk furnished by each.

This ordinance will come up for consideration again at the meeting of the city council to be held next Thursday night.

Another of the ordinances drawn up by the board of health, and submitted to the consideration of the council, is one defining food products establishments and providing for the licensing of the same. The definition of food products takes in everything, solids or liquids, whether of animal or vegetable origin that is commonly used for food or drink for human beings, and the definition of the food products establishment takes in everything from a slaughter house to a peddler's wagon. The permits are to be granted by the board of health. Application for a permit must be made through the food inspector, who will transmit it to the board with his recommendation in the matter.

The licenses will expire on June 30 and January 31 following the date of issuance. The license must be posted in a conspicuous place. Provision for the forfeiting of the license is made whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the board whether from the recommendation of the food inspector or otherwise, that the party holding the license is violating any of the laws of the state or ordinances of the city applying to his establishment. This ordinance will come up for discussion at the next meeting of the council, at which time it will also be decided what fee to charge for the license, and what disposition to make of the funds desired.

W. K. Niles Resigns as Austin School Principal to Become Superintendent There

W. K. Niles, for six years principal of the Austin school has resigned his position to become superintendent of the public schools at Smithville, Texas. He will leave shortly, planning to take a vacation before assuming his duties there. Mr. Niles became principal in 1910, when the enrollment of the school was about 600, with eleven teachers, and he leaves the school with an enrollment of 1200 and 22 teachers. It is one of the largest ward schools in Texas in point of enrollment and is said by some to have the distinction of being the very largest. Mr. Niles was the unanimous choice of the Smithville board out of about 75 candidates. Both Mr. and Mrs. Niles have made many friends during their stay in this city and while their departure will be noted with regret, the promotion which has come to Mr. Niles will be a cause for congratulation from those who know him.

LOG ROLLING WILL BE HELD AT VERNON

Local Members of Modern Woodmen of America Planning Affair in September

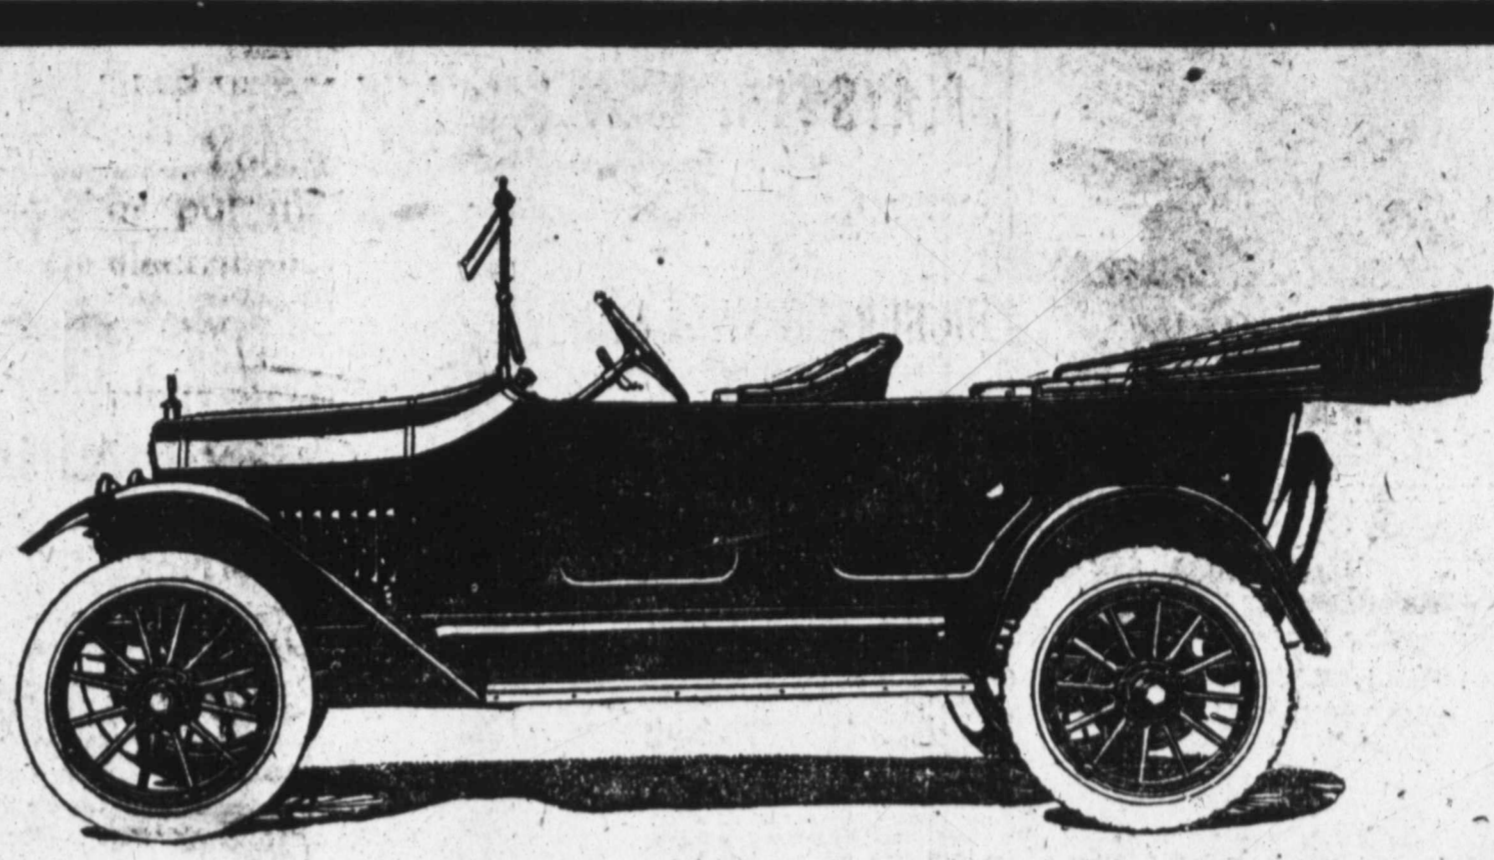

Local members of the Modern Woodmen of America are already making plans for the annual log rolling for this, the seventh district of Texas; the affair will be held Sept. 28 at Vernon, that city being selected at a meeting of the executive board last week. The log rolling will be held in connection with the Willbarger County Fair and elaborate preparations are being made by the Vernon Woodmen and the fair association to entertain all visiting Woodmen. The day, Sept. 28, will be known as Wichita Falls day at the fair. The local camp at its regular meeting last week ordered its per capita tax. The association paid and a movement was started to run a special train to Vernon on the date of the log rolling. The officers of the association are B. M. Billard, president; E. P. Hantz, first vice president; B. M. Leontwiler, second vice president; J. D. Avey, third vice president; A. C. McConnell, secretary; W. N. Thompson, assistant secretary; M. M. Scott, treasurer. COMPRESS AND ICE PLANT AT SEYMOUR IS DESTROYED

(Seymour Banner)

Fire of unknown origin almost completely destroyed the $60,000 compress and ice plant in this city about two o'clock Wednesday morning. According to Nightwatchman Quillin the fire started near the press. Between 400 and 500 bales of cotton were also destroyed being held mostly by outside buyers. R. O. Harvey and Wither spoon & Company were biggest losers. The amount of insurance carried by the compress and ice plant people is not known at this time but the cotton was fully covered. The fire boys responded very promptly, but on account of the fire being at the oil mill being smaller than the hose connection of the fire company no water could be gotten to the fire. About twenty cotton trucks were also destroyed and on account of this the cotton could not be trucked away fast enough to keep it from catching. The walls of the main building and the press are still standing and it is impossible at this time to tell just what the total loss will run to. It is planned by the company to ship ice in and furnish it to their customers from the car until more suitable arrangements can be made.

MORRIS SPEAKS, FLAYS FERGUSON

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR IS HEARD BY LOCAL VOTERS FRIDAY NIGHT

HIGHER TAX RATES

Alleged Extravagance of Ferguson Administration Comes in For Much Criticism

Charles H. Morris of Winnsboro, candidate for governor, spoke to a large crowd at the corner of Eighth street and Indiana avenue Friday night in the interest of his candidacy.

The speaker was introduced by Judge A. H. Clevinger, described him as a successful business man and not a politician, a man of the most exemplary public and private life, and a man who owed no fealty to and was not under the domination of any private interests or clique of self-serving politicians.

Mr. Morris said that he was a plain business man, having been a sealer for thirty odd years, and warned his hearers not to expect any flow of eloquence from him, but promised to give them a few plain facts to think over before they voted to give the present incumbent of the office which he seeks a second term in office. He said that the time had come when the state needed a business man at the head of affairs, one who would give the people of Texas the value of one hundred cents for every dollar spent, and who, while not discriminating against big business, would yet protect the interests of the common people against the machinations of these interests.

Two years ago, the speaker said, there had arisen a prophet who had preached this doctrine of a business administration, and he had been put in the governor's office. The fact that his hearers to join him in the consideration of how this promised business administration had worked out. The speaker then launched into a scathing denunciation of what he characterized as the extravagance of the Ferguson administration. He said that the taxes collected last year were 100 per cent increase over the taxes of 1914, and likewise were twice the taxes for the years 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 combined. He quoted figures showing that while the assessed valuation of the state had made a remarkable increase in the past few years, and the tax rate should be lower, that it had been steadily mounting until it had now reached the sum of 55 cents on the $100. While the assessed valuation of property in general has been growing by leaps and bounds, the speaker said that the assessed valuation of the railroads in the state had exhibited a marked and steady decline, notwithstanding the fact that there had been an increase of 25 per cent in mileage.

He also stated that at the same time that the assessed valuation of property in general had been increasing, that the assessed value of the property of other corporate interests than the railroads had been declining, and reminded his hearers that this valuation represented the valuation of intangible assets of these corporations, which was imposed by a board of assessors at Austin. Mr. Morris declared himself to be highly in favor of the Robertson insurance law, and quoted statistics to show that its operation for the eight years it has been in force has proved a benefit to the state. He attacked the present governor for coming out in favor of this law during his campaign two years ago, and later, while in the governor's office, favoring its repeal. He said that he favored the amendment of the so-called permanent warehouse law in such a manner as to retain its beneficial features, and at the same time eliminate the expense occasioned by the sampling and draughting and handling charges, which falls on the farmers and the ginners, and which amounts into the millions annually. He would likewise favor the abolishment of the present warehouse commission, and placing the business of the warehouses in the hands of the state department of agriculture, thus eliminating an expense of $68,000 in salaries entailed by this commission.

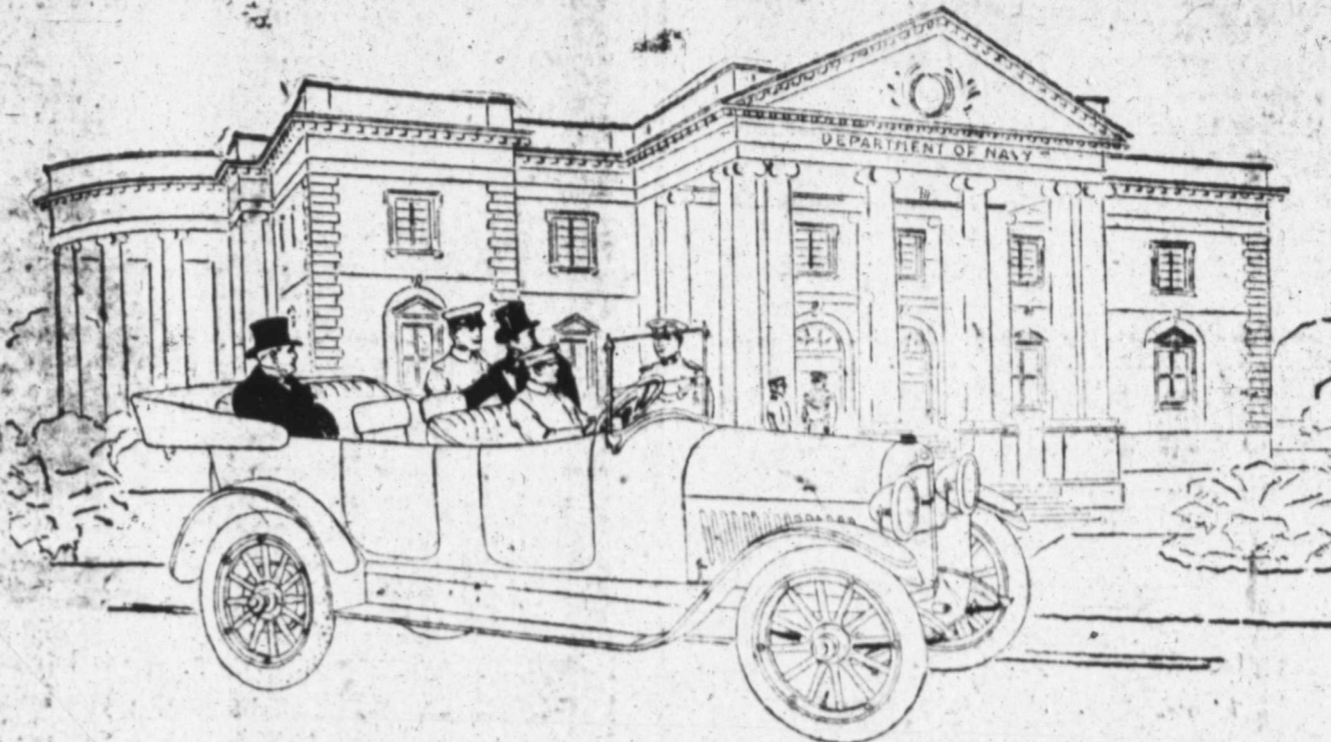

The speaker interrupted the thread of his argument for a few minutes at this juncture to make a few highly complimentary remarks about Peter Bradford, who serves in a certain capacity on this commission with ample salary attached. He likewise took another fling at the governor, saying that he had failed to present the matter of amending this law to the legislators after being petitioned by over 60,000 farmers and ginners to do so. He charged that the governor had sent representatives to the World's Fair at San Francisco, and paid their salaries out of the fund for the apprehension of criminals. He charged that the governor had taken expensive joy rides to Washington and New York at the expense of the state, and had approved expense accounts of other officials who had done the same thing. While the constitution of Texas provides that the governor shall receive a salary of $4000 per annum, and no more, the governor was drawing $2000 for the upkeep of the executive mansion and grounds, $1000 for servants and $3000 for fuel, lights and incidentals, making $5000 additional, and a total of $8000 where it was contemplated that he should receive only $4,000. One of the appropriations for fuel and lights the speaker said that the governor even paid his grocery bill, and quoted several items that had been paid for out of this fund.

Mr. Morris said that he had been sick for the past week, and that W. M. Pierson, chairman of the city democratic executive committee had been filling his speaking engagements. Mr. Pierson was then introduced, and continued the speaking in behalf of the Morris candidacy, along the same lines pursued by Mr. Morris, dwelling more particularly on the increased amount collected for taxes, and also scoring the present administration for the cost of the operation of the warehouse law in the county, which he thought would be conservatively estimated at an annual dead expense of $2,250.

ONLY ONE NAVAL RECRUIT SECURED HERE LAST WEEK

The call of the navy has been very faint in this city the past week, according to the recruiting agent, Mate Becker, there being only one man accepted for service. Homer Wilson of Terrel, Okla., enlisted as coal passer. It is believed that the recruiting from now until the harvest is over will be very light.

DUSTIN FARNUM AT THE MAJESTIC MONDAY

"Ben Blair," a Paramount feature, will be the attraction at the Majestic Monday. Dustin Farnum is starred.

Ben Blair, the boy, a quivering, terror-stricken mite of humanity, alone on the prairie, clinging with fear of a brutal father, who overhead the sky glowing red in reflection of his home, fast crumbling to ashes—another mark of his father's cruelty, and the grave of his only friend—his mother. Then—Ben Blair, the man, strong, determined and resourceful, as only Dustin Farnum can depict him, a wonderful illustration of the man who fights life's battles alone, and who has the courage of his convictions.

"Ben Blair" is a play, unusual in its skillful contrasts of life on the prairie and on Broadway. It possesses action aplenty, a theme that will hold and thrill. The "Ben Blair" of real life had a marvelous counterpart in the "Ben Blair" which Dustin Farnum has created for the screen.

CARLYLE BLACKWELL STAR AT EMPRESS MONDAY

The notable combination of a brilliant novelist and universally popular screen star will be presented the patrons of the Empress Monday, when

Movie Calendar

Monday—Carlyle Blackwell in "The Clarion," five-part Equitable production at the Empress. In "The Clarion," Universal feature at the Gem. Mae Murray in "To Have and To Hold," Paramount at the Majestic.

Tuesday—Dorothy Gish in "Old Heidelberg," Triangle production; Patty Arbuckle in Keystone. Frances Nelson in "Love's Crucible," World feature at the Empress.

Wednesday—Bessie Barriscale in "The Painted Soul," at the Empress. "Ben Blair" with Dustin Farnum, Paramount at the Majestic. Tuesday—"The Iron Strain," Triangle production at the Majestic. William Farnum in "A Man of Sorrow," Fox feature at the Empress. Friday—Marguerite Snow and Hamilton Revelle in "A Million Dollar Bribe," at the Empress. "The Iron Strain," Triangle program at the Majestic.

Saturday—"The Precious Packet," Gold Rooster Play at the Majestic. "The Stain," Signal Film feature starring Edith Sterling and Norbet Myles at the Empress.

Carlyle Blackwell will be seen in the Equitable Motion Picture Corporation's production of "The Clarion," an adaptation of the great American novel by Samuel Hopkins Adams. While the story of "The Clarion" deals in a large way with one of the nation's greatest evils, the most striking and patent medicines, containing habit-forming drugs, the picture is in no way a mere preachment. The story is told in a series of dramatic incidents with a strong and appealing love interest running throughout, and culminates in one of the most terrific mob scenes ever screened. Mr. Blackwell has a part that calls for the elements of romance and heroism and which is certain to add a few hundred thousand more admirers to his already tremendous following. In support of the star an exceptionally fine cast has been selected, including Marion Dentler, Howard Hall, Charles Mason, Rosemary Deane, Albert Blatt, Jean Stewart, George Soule Spence and Philip Halm. The picture was directed by James Durkin.

"LOVE'S CRUCIBLE" AT THE EMPRESS TUESDAY

Frances Nelson, now a full fledged World Film star, will be the attraction of the Empress Tuesday in a big 5-part feature entitled "Love's Crucible." The picture deals with the heart stirring adventures of a young girl who seeks an artistic career in New York City. A cast of sterling screen players has been provided including June Elvidge, Douglas MacLean, L. Lumsden Hare, Jessie Hays, Mildred Havens, Fred Truesdell and Edythe Thornton. Edythe Thornton directed the picture. Thousands of mothers and fathers throughout the country are confronted daily with the problem of their young daughter's ambition to break home ties and seek a career in a great city. The question is answered for them in the new World Film feature, "Love's Crucible" in which Frances Nelson will make her stellar debut at the Empress Tuesday. Supporting Miss Nelson is a large and notable cast of players including June Elvidge, P. Lumsden Hare, Douglas MacLean, Fred Truesdell, Mildred Havens, Edythe Thornton.

"TO HAVE AND TO HOLD" AT MAJESTIC WEDNESDAY

Wednesday the attraction at the Majestic will be "To Have and To Hold." One of the most widely read novels in a generation in America "To Have and To Hold," by Mary Johnston, is related in photoplay form by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, with Mae Murray, the famous stage beauty and star, in the leading role. The production will mark Miss Murray's debut as a Lasky star on the Paramount Program. Wallace Reid, a favorite of the screen will appear in Miss Murray's support. The story of "To Have and To Hold" goes back to the days of the early seventeenth century when a few sturdy English adventurers had the fortitude to brave the dangers of establishing a settlement in Virginia. The scenes of the play are laid in and around Jamestown and the main characters are rough and ready, the kind that made it possible for our ancestors to establish a new world here. In contrast to them was Jocelyn Leigh, a beautiful lady of the English court who fled from England to escape the prospects of an unhappy marriage. Captain Percy, a Virginian settler, marries Jocelyn but his right to her hand is challenged by Lord Carnal who followed Jocelyn from England. Thereafter, is a series of exciting incidents in the effort of Captain Percy to exercise his right "to have and to hold."

Some of the scenes in the Lasky production of this famous story were made at sea in a boat which was the exact replica of the old time Spanish galleon which sailed the Spanish main. The action of the play runs through the entire gamut of emotions, a stirring combat to tender love.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS TO RE-MAIN ANOTHER WEEK HERE

The Murphy's Comedians are to remain another week in Wichita Falls, according to an announcement made by the management. Monday a four-act rural comedy-drama, "The Little Girl From Tennessee Mountain" will be presented. Margaret Swander will be seen as Tennessee and Jack Bronson as her faithful partner. Allen Wishari and Chloe Cary have an opportunity for character comedy acting in this play similar to that in "The Country Postmaster" Thursday night.

Mr. Bronson announces that the company will stay here just as long as the people desire and that the program will be completely changed each night. There are about 70 plays in the Murphy's repertoire and Manager Bronson has announced that requests for plays will be gladly received and will be honored, whether the request plays are in the company's repertoire or not, as if a script is available a play can be learned within 24 hours by the company.

The Gem

Mary Fuller, the old-time favorite, will be the star of the Monday program at the Gem, showing in a Universal feature, "Thru to the Lions." A story of the picture is given. When Rome ruled the world and Nero's maddest caprice was law, human lives were wanted to make a Roman holiday. Youth and beauty were not spared, but chosen, and starved beasts of prey awaited the moment when at a signal from the imperial box at the circus the victim was thrown into the arena to be devoured by the animals.

This is the substance of the action set forth in the prologue of the story. Centuries have passed since Nero's reign, yet the sacrifice goes on. The modern arena is the city, and the lions are the dangers that await the unsuspecting youth in the metropolis. Linnie Carter, daughter of a country piano tuner, is again out of work at the beginning of the story, because the musical show has failed. Her consumptive father needs every penny she can earn.

Her friend, Irma, also of the chorus, but of a very knowing type, arranges with Krotz the proprietor of the cheap, noisy, free-and-easy drinking place, to give both girls a try-out. Certain politicians frequent the place, notably Harry Sullivan, the district leader, and Krotz is ever on the look-out for fresh faces.

Linnie he finds is exactly the type he knows Sullivan likes. When she sings her little song in a quivering voice, Krotz tells her she'll do; "but," he says, "a girl's got to do more than sing to hold her job here." Hardy knowing what he means Linnie takes the position. Irma is also engaged. Billy Weed, the little old-young comedian of the place, looks sympathetic-ly at the new girl. He recognizes her for what she is, and quietly resolves to protect her whenever she needs it. Billy himself is a pathetic figure, with his cough and his dancer's hair, which sends him panting off the stage after his turn to sink into a chair.

Sullivan is taken with Linnie and finds it easy matter to lure the girl into a fake wedding. Irma and Billy, however, are close at hand and by a false telephone call lure Sullivan to the office of the district attorney. Linnie is brought to a realization of her danger and is saved from the man. Sullivan is forced to give up some of his comfort in a crime by a crime. District attorney and gunner are out to get him. Some time later Linnie, by her perseverance and talent is the star of the "Midwinter Nights." Frolic and is loved by District Attorney Bryce. Happiness seems within her grasp but Sullivan her evil angel, at times both hers and her. One night Linnie, escorted by the ever faithful Billy, is going to a party given in her honor by Bryce when Sullivan attempts to stop them. Billy protects the girl, sending off her car. Sullivan attacks Billy, a crowd gathers and a shot is heard. Sullivan falls mortally wounded and Billy is arrested for the shooting. The gun men escape.

Bryce, entertaining his guests, happens to ask Linnie if Sullivan is pursuing any of the Frolic girls. Linnie replies that she has never heard of him, and at that instant is called to the hospital where he is dying. He has asked for her. She foresees the end of her dream. Billy is present and Linnie frantically questions him. Bryce joins the detective in questioning Sullivan.

"Know Linnie?" says the dying man. "Why she was my—"

Linnie runs to Bryce. "His wife," she says. "But Sullivan will not let this pass. 'You know what I mean,'" he says to Bryce, and falls back dead. Linnie cries, "It's a lie!" but Bryce apparently does not hear her. He leaves the room.

Linnie sways and is caught by Billy. A policeman grasps Billy's arm. Then Linnie knows that Billy, good little Billy, is in the meshes of the law. She sines passionately to him. "I'll prove you didn't do it, Bill, dear," she says. But Billy is not worrying about himself. Instead he tenderly consoles Linnie.

EXAMINING TRIAL FOR LIEJOIS HELD
Is Bound Over In Sum of $100 After Preliminary Hearing Saturday.

J. B. Liejois was bound over Saturday to the district court by Judge Howard before whom he had an examining trial and his bond was fixed at $100, which he furnished. Liejois was charged with selling liquor out of the prescribed limits for such business in this city.

It appeared from the evidence that Liejois had a wholesale beer license. The evidence showed that he had dealt in quantities of a gallon or more as his license required but the charge against him rests on the allegation that he sold to consumers instead of retail distributors.

BUILDING AT QUANAH IS WRECKED BY EXPLOSION
(Quanah Tribune-Chief)
An explosion took place in one of the Goodlett buildings at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, which damaged the R. C. Adams piano store considerably. The sound of the explosion could be heard for several blocks, knocked the plastering of the walls, and raised the ceiling four inches. The wooden partition between the music store and the Sanderson barber shop must have burned freely, but the smoke was so dense that it soon smothered the blaze. When the fire company arrived very little water was necessary to put out the fire.

GIRL DESERTED BY FATHER FOUND DESPERATELY ILL
Captain Robb of the Salvation Army yesterday took a young girl from a tent near the Denver stock pens to the general hospital. The child was desperately sick with dysentery. In fact Captain Robb says that the physician with the ambulance expressed doubts as to the child's survival until they could get her to the hospital. Last night the patient showed some improvement, with a fair chance of recovery. It appears that the child's father, who was a horse trader, had further lessened her chance of recovery by deserting the family in the tent home.

CARRANZA DECREE CAUSES MERCHANTS TO QUIT
Douglas, Ariz., June 3.—Five Chinese merchants in Agua Prieta today failed to open their doors because of decrees of General Carranza which went into effect Thursday placing the latest issue of his government's currency on the market at the arbitrary value of ten cents gold on the peso. The merchants declare they could not operate under the decree at a profit.

Brigadier General T. F. Davis has received requests from towns in the Arizona district which is under his command for troops to take part in Fourth of July parades. General Davis authorized the statement that none of his troops would be available for parade reviews "for other duties" under present conditions.

ABILITY

That's the one word that fully describes the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers

A man came in to my place the other day and said:

"What! a 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers at $1090. I never knew Chalmers built a car under $2,000."

So many ask the same question. We never feature price in big type. We don't sell price. We sell a car first; then tell how much it costs afterwards.

I suppose we lose some sales that way. But, of course, we have a car of such decided quality, of such extraordinary ability, of such terrific power from an engine that you wonder where it all comes from—well, we just don't know how to talk price when so many other things bob up in our minds.

Now take power. Here it is rated at 25.3 H.P. when you buy your license. You get her out in mud, or sand, or on a hill—and bing, you can just double that figure.

You have got just about 100 per cent more power than we give her credit for.

Of course, lots of cars have great big power. But with most of them you've got to pay the piper every time you use it. Those big power cars have great big engines mostly, and great big engines have a terrific appetite for gas. You know, I don't need to tell you.

This 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers has an engine in her that's got the kick.

You step on the accelerator button, and zip! You never saw such spunk.

And not only power, but she gets away like a scared horse. I have to watch my foot when it is on the little button. First thing I know I am going too fast.

That's what the boys back at the Chalmers plant call "acceleration." I call it "pep." That's my language.

I used to sell a lot of cars in days gone by in simply stating the price.

Now it is all different.

People are buying cars more intelligently. They want what they call ability. There are too many cars that look alike and have the same price tag on them. The only thing that separates them is ability. There's all the difference in the wide world between cars when you look at them this way.

One car is sluggish like a ploughing horse. Another has got a light foot and gets under way without taking a quarter mile to get into high.

Why, with this 3400 r.p.m. Chalmers I forget once in a while and actually start her on high.

There aren't many cars that ever do that.

Then she runs so everlastingly quiet I am always a little bit suspicious of her—like a fellow who doesn't talk much, but usually delivers.

She's got anything in this town beat. So far I have yet to meet her equal in "pep." She's got everything from get-away to a twister on a hill.

Then when you come right down to look at her, you will have to admit she's got blue eyes. She's beautiful.

The big-town people have all fallen for her this year. I got a letter from the factory the other day telling me they had shipped 18,000 since December 1.

And there are thousand of orders unfilled.

Take a friendly tip and get your order on file now. I don't want to see you disappointed by delayed delivery right in the best part of the driving season.

You folks who have driven a lot will see the difference in a jiffy. Come on down and try her out. She's there.
