

TWELVE AMERICAN SOLDIERS KILLED IN CLASH WITH CARRANZISTA FORCE; BREAK MAY YET BE AVERTED

MEXICAN VERSION SAYS 17 PRISONERS TAKEN

By Associated Press.
El Paso, Texas, June 22.—The Americans lost twelve dead, including their commander and seventeen prisoners while fourteen Mexican were killed and thirty wounded in the battle of Carrizal, according to the official announcement today at the Mexican consulate which said it had received complete details from Villa Ahumada. The Americans removed their wounded with them.

The name of the American commander is still unknown. The bodies of the American dead were counted as they lay on the field of battle.

The Mexicans captured 20 horses and 20 rifles at Carrizal, they claim.

Cavalrymen Shoot General, Riding Under Flag of Truce, When Mexicans Resume Machine Gun Fire Without Orders

By Associated Press.
El Paso, Texas, June 22.—A new version of the Carrizal engagement was given here today by a Mexican civilian who was in the Villa Ahumada early yesterday afternoon, and who said he assisted in dressing some of the Mexican wounded. He said that General Felix Gomez, the slain Carranza commander, had been aware of the approach of the Americans for twelve hours and had sent a number of couriers to them, warning them to return to their encampment. When they persisted in their advance, he said, a pitfall, several hundred feet in length, was dug directly in the trail over which the cavalrymen must ride; this was concealed with brush.

The Americans unsuspectingly came through the sand dunes toward the entrenchment; General Gomez lay concealed some hundreds of yards away in the woods. The horses of the American vanguard plunged into the pitfall, unseating their riders and injuring a number of them. Then, the Mexican asserted, the Carranza soldiers lying in ambush raked the American ranks with a machine gun. This forced the Americans to withdraw to reorganize their line and the Mexicans captured seventeen soldiers who had been thrown into the pit.

He asserted it was then that General Gomez went forward under a flag of truce and that before the proposed parley began an irresponsible soldier again started the machine gun fire. A small number of cavalrymen started toward Gomez and his party, which were in the center of the field, directly between the two commands, their pistol fire killing the Mexican leader. According to the story, both commands withdrew.

WASHINGTON EXPECTS 100,000 MILITIAMEN FOR POSSIBLE SERVICE IN MEXICO

No. 1 of accompanying picture shows an armored car recently acquired by the national guard of the state of New York for field use. The letters "U. S. A. M. B." mean "First Armored Motor Battery, No. 2" is a line of New York militiamen in field uniform drawn on for inspection (photograph made on June 18). No. 3 is a picture of the commanding officers of the first brigade, national guard of the state of New Jersey. No completion has been made by the war department indicating the exact number of men that will be produced by the militia call for possible service in Mexico. The best estimate available is that it should produce about 100,000 men, when skeleton organizations are recruited up to their minimum enlisted strength. Exclusive of the coast artillery there were on Jan. 1, 1916, 7,790 officers and 117,863 enlisted men in the national guard, making an aggregate of 125,653. There were an additional 451 officers

Note of Allies Expresses Distrust of Skoufodis Cabinet Which Has Just Resigned, With no Successors Appointed

By Associated Press.
Athens, June 22.—Under heavy pressure from the entente powers Greece has accepted without reserve the demands presented today in a joint note by Great Britain, France and Russia. At the most critical moment she was without a government. Premier Skoufodis, late today, announced the resignation of deputies the cabinet and the failure, for the present, to obtain successors.

The joint note presented to Greece affirms the friendly attitude of the allies towards Greece, but declares they have reason for entertaining serious suspicions toward the Skoufodis cabinet. It points out that demobilization of the Greek army must be complete and immediate.

The allies demand replacement of the Skoufodis ministry with a cabinet which would give all guarantees for observance of friendly neutrality toward the entente in harmony with the agreements of the Greek government.

Will Do Nothing Until Attacked, Officers Say—Mexican Authorities Attach Less Significance to Fight Today

By Associated Press.
El Paso, Tex., June 22.—A battery of 4.7 inch guns capable of throwing a 60 pound explosive six miles, pointed their noses threateningly over El Paso in the direction of Juarez today while developments in the situation arising from the battle at Carrizal were awaited.

Along the river, machine gun companies from General George Bell's command were ready to take their positions at advantageous points while at the remotest stations the remainder of his men awaited orders.

With every precaution taken for the protection of the city, hope continued to be expressed that the tension might abate. No shots will be fired from this side until a hostile action commences on the other side.

The Mexican officials here and in Juarez expressed the opinion that the fight at Carrizal should be regarded as a detached incident without effect on the general situation. Inasmuch as they had no communication with Mexico City during the night, observers here thought it possible this might be the view of General Carranza and his advisers.

Mexican Reports Construed to Indicate That Carranza Desires to Disclaim Responsibility for Affair at Carrizal

By Associated Press.
Washington, June 22.—No reason for a change of policy towards Mexico has been given by the Washington government by Mexican accounts of the clash at Carrizal yesterday, between American and Carranza troops.

Until a report comes from General Pershing there will be no decision, but President Wilson is said to view the fight as an incident for which subordinate commanders probably were responsible and not as unlikely to precipitate general hostilities.

From the tone as well as the contents of the official Mexican communication officials draw the impression that Carranza desired to disclaim responsibility for the affair. From foreign diplomats at Mexico City it was learned that Carranza was exerting every effort to avoid a break with the United States.

Secretary Baker conferred with President Wilson on the basis of reports given out by Mexican commanders on the border and transmitted to the state department. Later Lansing was closeted with Secretary Baker and afterwards Mr. Baker hastened to the capitol for conference with congressional military committee chairmen. No explanation for the conferences were given. It was learned, however, that telegraph wires with inquiries sent to various governors seeking reports of the number of national guard regiments mobilized and available for immediate service.

Officials said President Wilson would await a definite report from General Pershing of what had happened.

At the White House it was said the president's policy was unchanged at the present time and that Mr. Wilson had no intention of going before Congress immediately.

No reports have come from General Pershing indicating that he had knowledge of additional troop movements or was preparing to send more men to Carrizal.

Secretary Baker said no marching orders had gone to national guard units. Nothing could be done he declared until a report from American sources was received. Other officials took the same view.

There were no efforts to conceal the anxiety with which the situation was viewed. "There is enough similarity among the border reports to convince them that a serious fight occurred whoever may have been the aggressor and whatever the outcome. It has brought war with Mexico so close that officials say any hour may see the conflict in full swing."

Secretary Baker said no new orders had been sent to General Funston, president of the government, would take no steps until an account from its own officers show what had happened, was received.

Nation's guardmen to reinforce the border patrol will be sent as soon as their organization and mobilization is complete.

From unofficial sources from a few Americans who arrived on trains at El Paso, said Secretary Baker, they are waiting for further information either from General Pershing or other American sources.

From unofficial sources Mr. Baker said he had been informed of the alleged statement by General Obregon assuming responsibility for the order issued to the Mexican detachment which made the attack; he would not comment.

If possible Mr. Hay said he would

Mercedes, Tex., June 22.—Twenty shots fired early this morning to give an alarm for fire caused residents here to believe another bandit raid was in progress and they with the fire department remained in their homes. obtain consideration of the resolution by unanimous consent but he was prepared to ask for a special rule if necessary.

The resolution differs slightly from the provision of the measure originally prepared for bringing the national guard into service in that it would provide for service during "the period of the emergency" instead of the "period of the war."

Members of the active guard of the reserves in all states, territories and the District of Columbia, who take the new oath, will be subject to draft under the resolution. The president will be authorized to combine various incomplete units in order to bring them up to war strength.

Penrose, Crane, Hemenway, and Smoot are the names we read in the list of Judge Hughes campaign advisers. Can anybody quote what Colonel Roosevelt said about this bunch in 1912?

The government is advertising for bids for about 60,000 horses and mules for army service. Uncle Sam's requirements for these animals are more rigid than those of foreign countries which have been in the market here and will likely have to pay a good price for the animals, but notwithstanding the fact that the country has been scoured over for army horses and mules within the past two years there is no doubt but that the United States government will get all the horses and mules it needs without any great difficulty. There are still plenty of high class animals in the country awaiting a higher bid than the foreign buyers have been willing to offer.

The people of Texas as a whole do not read as much as the people of other states. It has been found by the Carnegie Corporation in statistics gathered concerning the Carnegie libraries. The corporation has declined to consider the application of Wichita Falls for a donation for a library here, giving the failure of the people of other communities in Texas to patronize and support the Carnegie libraries already existing, as their reason for not doing so and has announced that no more donations will be made for libraries in Texas.

The Bert Bean Coffee House has the thanks of the Times for several glass cups which were brought up to this morning. They are full cup size with markings of fourth, half, three-fourths, one-third and two-thirds and ought to be a most handy article for the household. If they are intended for Mr. Bean's coffee, however, these half, third and fourth markings are entirely useless for whoever heard of anybody drinking less than a cup of these delicious coffees. In fact, if one serving is permitted, then we want a larger cup.

Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts has asked Congressman Calloway for a showdown. The Texas congressman in a recent speech charged that Congressman Gardner was interested in increasing the profits of munition makers. A resolution is to be introduced in congress for the appointment of a committee to investigate to determine whether Congressman Calloway was warranted in making such a statement. There has been enough of reprimand in congress and it's time to get down to facts. Calloway ought to be reprimanded if it is shown that he did not have sufficient basis for his charge.

That there must be an improvement in army life conditions or a setback in the prosperous industrial conditions that now prevail if a large army is to be recruited in the United States is indicated in recent enlistments records. A few months ago congress provided for an addition of 20,000 men for the regular army. The enlistment of these men was immediately begun and the work pushed with all vigor, but in the first 86 days following the starting of the work only 9428 enlistments had been recorded. The 86 days covered a period of delicate foreign relations when the threat of war was imminent and during that time there was a great agitation for preparedness with monster demonstrations in the chief cities of the country, yet the rate of enlistment was only a little more than the ordinary discharges and desertions from the service. Within the last two weeks enlistments have been heavier owing, no doubt, to the impending trouble with Mexico, but if war does not develop enlistments are almost certain to fall off again. Army life has little appeal to the average American when there is plenty of work and high wages in civil pursuits.

PREDICTS A PANIC. Conjectures as to the effect of peace on business and industrial conditions in America is a favorite diversion just now and some interesting forecasts are being made. Arthur S. Dewing, the economist, presents a speculation in July Life Review that is novel and highly entertaining. It follows: "Immediately after the restoration of peace, the impulse of the community to save will not, in all probability, parallel the impulse to invest in fixed property. The rate of saving will show no appreciable increase. It may even show a decrease, owing to a world-wide wave of thriftless expenditure following the release of the pent-up mental energy consequent on cessation of grief and moral despair. On the other hand, the attitude of the general business man will change. Scarcity will bring its reinsurance. Prices of the war necessities will fall precipitously. General business activity will show signs of revival. Gradually general prices will rise, with the increase of demand for commodities. Optimism will supplant pessimism and hesitancy. Large investments of fixed capital by producers of goods in plant extensions, and by consumers in better houses and more luxurious living, will easily absorb any accumulations of saving set aside during the war. These expenditures will run ahead of current savings, stimulated by rising prices and retarded wage increases. Interest rate on current loans will rise as the fabric of credit begins to stretch; but this sign of impending expansion will as always before, go unheeded. Within a time—depending somewhat on the saving reserves accumulated during the war, but probably not more than once and a half the period of the war—the United States will experience a general business boom on a scale of breadth and abandonment never before witnessed. Prices will be higher than ever, wages will be higher, all cautious will be lost in a hectic orgy of speculation. Business men everywhere will come under its spell—the officers of the Federal Reserve Bank as well as other human beings. Farther and farther will the fabric of credit stretch, for credit is itself a human thing, based on the vague unexpressed feeling of confidence in the future. The more stretched the fabric, the more it will break. Then the deluge."

DON'T FOR HOT WEATHER. The prevalence of bowel disorders and similar troubles at this season ought to be a reminder that we ought to be very careful in what we eat and drink and when and how we do so. Especial care should be exercised in the supervision of food for children. The Director of Public Health at Dallas has issued a bulletin urging the following "Don'ts":

"Don't drink water from wells or cisterns or springs; they may be exposed to contamination. Use city water; it is safest." "Don't buy milk from a dairy unless it comes more than 75 (phone city chemist) and use bottles. Keep the milk cool in the bottle." "Don't eat shell fish. Don't eat raw foods, such as fresh fruits and vegetables, unless they have been thoroughly cleaned and washed." "Don't visit where there is sickness, especially typhoid fever." "Don't swim in water exposed to contamination." "Don't let flies in your home. Keep all manure and garbage in fly-tight cans until removed. Screen the kitchen and dining room; also the privy, if there is one. Keep a fly-trap in the yard and a fly-swat in the house." "Don't drink from a cup or glass used by other people and don't wipe your hands on a towel used by others."

COURTESY AS A CITY BUILDER. Boards of trade, chambers of commerce, traffic bureaus, young men's leagues, and a dozen other organizations, all have their places in the making of a city. The machinery of growth could not revolve. They are as important to the municipality as are the mayor and the board of commissioners. But every man can not belong to these organizations or to any one of them. Time and money are both required for a working membership. And time and money are strangers to the large proportion of the people of any community. But there is a work that any man can do without expenditure of either time or money—a work that will profit the community and will be a distinct asset to every man who engages in it. Courtesy is in itself a city builder of the first order. Courtesy to the neighbor next door, courtesy to the stranger within our gates—these are the things that make life in any city worth the living. Happiness is not a matter of factories, of big buildings, or even of pay checks. Modern conveniences make a city a nice place to live in, but they do not always make us wish to live there. Graveled roads and paved streets, are as valuable in leaving a town as they are in coming to it. It is the people and their treatment of each other that make the difference. And every man, whether he be rich or poor, can make every man living his town a desirable place of residence.

Be courteous, be kind. Treat every one as though he were a friend. Answer his questions, attend to his wants, be courteous. And so doing, you become as great a builder of your city as the richest man in it—Houston Daily Post.

DOWN CONTINENTAL DIVIDE. To the Times: June 13.—When I woke up this morning and looked out of my berth window at the vast white expanse of the Colorado, I looked out on the map and learned that we were about two-thirds of the way on our journey to Los Angeles. On 40 miles east on a branch road is Death Valley Junction. And, I will tell you, the valley through which we are passing bears out the statement. As far as the eye can see is a vast bed of white sand, with here and there a sagebrush. Evidently this once was the bottom of the sea.

As Sherman said, on "his march to the sea," that if a crowd was to follow his army, it would have to carry both rations and water. And, yet, strange to say, there are people living out in this barren waste, at stations along the railway. But man will take his chances and go where money points the way. 'Tis well named the "trackless desert," for the shifting sands soon cover your tracks. Under the circumstances, I felt real comfy, sitting in dining car eating breakfast, knowing that we were carrying out rations with us. Well, at 12:30 p. m. today, if we are on time, we will get off the train in Los Angeles, (City of Angels).

EDGAR RYE. The practice of the Dutch naval authorities is to destroy castaways when and where they are found. "Virtually all mines that are washed ashore are constantly on the lookout for mines on the route followed by the Holland-America liners. Only recently visitors to Scherrenge, a fashionable bathing resort, witnessed a battery of machine guns firing from the promenade on a mine floating past the pier head."

COAST OF HOLLAND IS MINE INFESTED. Explosives Have Become Commonplace But Some Accidents Have Resulted. By Associated Press. The Hague, Netherlands (By mail).—More than 1,000 mines have been washed ashore on the coast of Holland. These include English, French and 193 German, the others being of "origin unknown." A majority of them were cast up by the sea at points in the estuary of the Scheldt River, in the extreme southwestern part of Holland which is nearest to the vast minefield designed to bar ingress from the North Sea into the English Channel. Many mines, however, drift higher up and some even reach the chain of islands which form the natural sea barrier of Holland's northern coast. Swift destroyers are constantly on the look out for mines on the route followed by the Holland-America liners. Only recently visitors to Scherrenge, a fashionable bathing resort, witnessed a battery of machine guns firing from the promenade on a mine floating past the pier head.

THINK GREGORY IS CERTAIN TO SUCCEED HUGHES. In line with the thought uppermost in American minds at the present time Kahn's "Preparedness" sale met with instantaneous success this morning. The sale is the firm's regular clearing sale of summer merchandise and to close the goods out promptly the firm has made prices that will appeal to all economical buyers. All day today the store has been thronged with bargain hunters, and that each found something of interest is evidenced by the number of bundles going out of the store. As Manager E. L. Mercer said: "You have got to hand it to the Times when it comes to drawing the people."

WHEAT RECEIPTS ARE GETTING HEAVY. Threshing Now in Progress in Many Fields. Much Old Wheat Being Held. Wheat is beginning to come in at a very rapid rate for this time of the year. The Wichita mill reports the receipt of between 30,000 and 40,000 bushels yesterday. This includes wheat from a ranch in the vicinity of Wichita Falls and it is expected that the threshing season will be in full swing in Oklahoma within the next week or two. When the season gets further along the mill expects receipts to average fifty thousand bushels per day.

LOCAL KATY TEAM TO PLAY GREENVILLE SATURDAY. The Wichita Katy team will play the Greenville Katy a double header at Katy Park Saturday afternoon. The Wichita Falls and Denison teams are running a neck and neck race for first place in the Katy league, and by winning Saturday's double header the local team could take a step ahead of their Denison rivals. The team winning out in the race in Northern Texas will go to play the South Texas champions, and the winner of that game will be allowed to meet the champion of the northern branch of the Katy system at Carson during the Katy track and field meet this fall.

CIVILIAN ENGINEERING CORPS IS NOW PLANNED

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, June 22.—Organization of a civilian volunteer engineering corps, for service of the field in case of necessity, is proposed to Adjutant General Henry Hutchings by a number of leading Texas civil engineers, headed by Fred Richter of San Antonio and Austin. It was presented to General Hutchings that there are many engineers throughout the state who are ready and anxious to form such a corps. The plan contemplates the formation of a civilian volunteer brigade for Texas with one officer of the regular army engineering corps as an advisory head. Training will not interfere with private business and will follow as closely as possible instructions as approved by engineers of the regular army. The matter is under consideration.

Cedar Point, Ohio, June 22.—This year, as usual, the haymakers' ball scheduled for the evening of July 13, will be the feature of the social program being arranged for the pleasure of the "hay men" who will come from all parts of the United States to attend the National Hay Association's annual convention, July 11, 12 and 13. The haymakers' ball is unlike the dress suit functions enjoyed by most of the other organizations that come to Cedar Point, for instead of full dress the hay men, many of whom are millionaires and seldom appear in anything but broadcloth, frolic in blue overalls with bandana handkerchiefs around their necks and heads covered with hay-field hats which brims that hang far down over their faces.

The women who accompany the haymen—wives, sweethearts and daughters—dress in old-fashioned gingham and wear sunbonnets from under which tresses hang in graceful braids. The haymakers' ball is always one of the big affairs of the season socially at Cedar Point but this year it is to be made more elaborate than it ever has been before.

Secretary J. V. Taylor, of the National Hay Association will lead the grand march with Mrs. Taylor. The march will be followed by a series of old-fashioned dances, such as quadrilles, polkas, mazurkas, schottisches and the like. New dances of every kind and description will be barred.

Training will not interfere with private business and will follow as closely as possible instructions as approved by engineers of the regular army. The matter is under consideration.

Cedar Point, Ohio, June 22.—This year, the haymakers' ball scheduled for the evening of July 13, will be the feature of the social program being arranged for the measure of the hay men who will come from all parts of the United States to attend the National Hay Association's annual convention, July 11, 12 and 13. The haymakers' ball is unlike the dress suit functions enjoyed by most of the other organizations that come to Cedar Point, for instead of full dress the hay men, many of whom are millionaires and the soldier appear in anything but broadcloth, frolic in blue overalls with bandana handkerchiefs around their necks and heads covered with hay-field hats with brims that hang far down over their faces. The women who accompany the haymen—wives, sweethearts and daughters—dress in old-fashioned gingham and wear sun-bonnets from under which tresses hang in graceful braids.

The haymakers' ball is always one of the big affairs of the season socially at Cedar Point but this year it is to be made more elaborate than it ever has been before.

Secretary J. V. Taylor, of the National Hay Association, will lead the grand march with Mrs. Taylor. The march will be followed by a series of old-fashioned dances, such as quadrilles, polkas, mazurkas, schottisches and the like. New dances of every kind and description will be barred.

TEXACO CRATER COMPOUND The Great Gear Lubricant

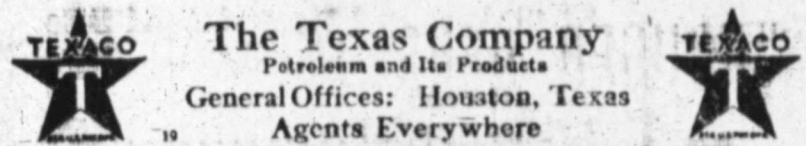

We want to tell you that CRATER COMPOUND is one of the greatest discoveries in the field of lubrication. It fills a long-felt want.

It protects and preserves many parts which never before could be adequately lubricated.

It coats each tooth with a WEAR-checking film which does not harden or scale off. It won't run or dry out. It is always there—lubricating. Dirt and flying dust cannot break this coating on the gears. It protects them from wear and rust.

CRATER is one of the many fine lubricants made by us and sold only under the TEXACO Brand.

You can secure CRATER, as well as a full line of lubricants, for any purpose whatever, from the TEXACO Agent near you. Call on him—it pays.

METRO FEATURE AT EMPRESS FRIDAY

"The Come-Back," an intense five-part feature contrasting the strenuous life of the Maine woods and the idle existence of New York society, in which Harold Lockwood and May Allison, the newest Metro stars, are seen in the stellar roles, will be shown at the Empress Theater Friday.

This unusual feature was produced by the Quality Pictures Corporation for the Metro program, and is one of the most picturesque photodramas ever presented by that company. Fred J. Falshofer, who directed Francis X. Bushman and Marguerite Snow in "The Silent Voice" and Mr. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "Pennington's Choice," produced "The Come-Back" for Metro. It is the type of story in which this master director excels, and it promises to be one of the most popular features of the season.

The Empress. Theda Bara in "The Eternal Sapho" will be the attraction at the Empress today.

The Gem. Harry Benham and Tina Marshall are stars in a multiple reel comedy, "The Capital Prize," showing today at the Gem. The synopsis is given. George Dumont is warned by the secret service bureau that he is in grave danger of losing the formula of an explosive he has invented. It is known to be coveted by foreign powers.

To be sure the formula is safe, George opens his vibro-tone vault. This is done by striking certain notes on the piano, which causes the door to swing open.

George's mother and a number of society women are planning a war sufferers' bazaar. Muriel Trent, one of the girls, suggests they have a lottery, and for the capital prize darily hits upon—George Dumont. That is, he will be the lucky girl's beau for a whole week. George laughingly consents.

The town boasts a fine laundress—Mary Lane. She is shy, dresses plainly and is hardly noticed.

Muriel Trent schemes to win the lottery. George is on exhibition in the lottery booth. Every woman has a ticket, including Mary Lane. Mistakes will happen, however, and the winner of "the perfect beau" is none other than Mary Lane. A sensation follows.

George's mother befriends the bashful girl, and invites her to put herself in Mrs. Dumont's hands. Mary goes home with George and his mother.

Baron Rezek, library owner, opens the library door when George places his mother's jewels in the vault, hears the combination of notes which opens it. He will never forget the combination now.

At the end of the week George's mother gives Mary her last party. While the drinking room is crowded, Baron Rezek determines to open the vault.

The music and conversation will enable him to work undisturbed. But Mary, hearing him strike the combination, quietly steals out and while the Baron is inside the vault she closes the door. Then, summoning George and the excited guests, she cries, "Open the vault."

George strikes the combination, the door swings open and Baron Rezek tumbles out and catches his foot in the formula and then snaps handcuffs on his wrists. Amazed, George asks who she is. "Mary Lane, of the Secret Service," she answers.

Her mission completed, Mary is leaving for good when George intercepts her. He induces Mary to change her mind and become his capital prize—for life.

The Majestic. There is no form of humor so apt to be tragic in its outcome as the practical joke. This is brought home with startling suddenness in "Waifs," a Triangle-Kay Bee release in which Jane Grey and William Desmond are co-stars, showing today at the Majestic. The entire situation out of which the action of "Waifs" grows is a practical joke played by underclassmen in a theological seminary upon a senior shortly to be ordained. It so happens that Arthur Raeburn, the victim in question, has inherited a weakness for liquor. Therefore, his anxious mother has been at pains to prevent his ever tasting it. And now, at the very time when he is about to be ordained, the younger men doctor the "theological punch," which is kept as a beverage on this occasion, with cooking brandy. Raeburn is served with some of the mixture. It goes through his veins like fire; and in the midst of the confusion, with staggering drunk. The ensuing drama casts him forth; and he goes down and down until his companions are relieved of their duty. Then, filled with remorse at the enormity of what he has done, he seeks the river to end it all. Of course he does not end it all, and the story of how he is saved, and of the woman who saves him, make the drama of "Waifs."

CANDIDATES PLAN TOUR OF COUNTY

Will Hold Speaking Programs in All Precincts Beginning July

Preparations are being made by the candidates for district and county offices for a tour of the county in a body and as now proposed the first appointment will be on Saturday, July 1st at Iowa Park to be followed by nine other appointments at different places over the county before the date of the primary.

W. B. Chauncey as chairman of a committee to prepare the itinerary will make his report to a meeting of the candidates to be held within the next few days, following which the various appointments will be announced.

All the candidates will be expected to join in this movement and it is the plan of those in charge of the arrangements to give each one an opportunity to present his claims to the assembled voters, the amount of time allowed to be governed by the issues involved in the office to which he aspires.

It is expected that the final meeting will be held in Wichita Falls, possibly on the night preceding the election.

PLANS FOR PARADE NOW TAKING FORM

Prizes To Be Offered For Best Features—Want Ladies to Occupy Cars

Plans for the preparedness parade on July 4 are now being formulated and the program for the occasion will probably be announced shortly. It is expected to offer prizes for the automobiles decorated most appropriately for the occasion and also to give prizes for the best preparedness features outside of the automobiles.

It is hoped to have the cars occupied as largely as possible by "the ladies, so that the men may march in the various "infantry" divisions of the parade. There will be a division for each of several classes, with a marshal for each division. All marshals will be provided with United States flags, provided the supply arrives in time.

In view of the preparedness movement and the patriotic occasion, at the present time, for a patriotic demonstration, it is felt that there should be a large turnout for the parade, which it is hoped will compare favorably with similar affairs in larger cities.

SELL SCHOOL BONDS NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Issue of $65,000 Has Been Approved By Attorney General—Plans Are Completed

Bids for the $65,000 school bond issue recently voted will be received next Monday night at a meeting of the school board and its officers, that steps for letting the contracts will be taken not long thereafter. Inquiries have already been received from bond buyers, the bonds having been approved by the attorney general; it is expected that a good price will be obtained for them, as there is a good demand at present for stable securities.

Plans for the buildings have been completed and adopted, and every effort will be made to have the buildings started with the least possible delay.

OPEN HOUSE HELD BY WOODMEN CAMP

Speeches and Boxing Matches Are Among Features of Enjoyable Session.

The Woodmen of Camp 2001 held open house at their hall on Seventh street last night, to about two hundred members and their friends. Speeches in the interest of the great state campment to be held here, and on the general good of the order, were delivered by Judge E. W. Nicholson, Judge W. B. Chauncey, Ed. Nagler, Judge W. N. Bonner, E. H. Eddleman, George Hawkins, Lee Prescott and M. P. Kelley.

An enjoyable feature of the entertainment was a spirited battle royal staged by five negroes who manialed each other in great style for the purses offer by the lodge.

J. H. Simmons, local heavy, and E. R. Selman, middleweight champion of the Pacific coast and of the South met on a fast four-round exhibition which was enjoyed immensely by those in attendance. A bout between two local negro fighters was also part of the program. While Skaggs carried off the first prize of $1 from five entries in the boys' potato race. Refreshments and cigars were served.

COURT CAMPAIGN IS BEING OUTLINED

Committee Holds Meeting Wednesday and Lays Plans For Securing Bill's Passage

An active campaign for the new federal district court was mapped out at a meeting of the committee in Judge J. Montgomery's office yesterday afternoon. The work was divided up and the different members of the bar present undertook each to secure a certain district in the bill now pending for the court in the lower house of congress.

The Smith bill as the bill for the court is known, provides for the formation of a new federal district in Western Texas, and fixes as court towns El Paso, Pecos, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo, Brownwood, and Wichita Falls, Wichita Falls being retained in the northern district and eleven counties made returnable to it.

An effort will be made by the committee to interest Brownwood and Lubbock in the bill as well as the new court towns. Brownwood and Lubbock are now court towns in an other district.

Judge Carrigan and Judge Kay left this morning for Vernon where they will endeavor to gain support for the bill. Judge Scurry went to Henrietta where he will work for the new court.

A determined campaign will be necessary to insure the passage of the bill.

Hodges dissenting was handed down in the Sixth court of civil appeals today reversing and remanding for new trial the case of A. H. Belo & Company, publishers of the Dallas-Galveston News against B. F. Looney, attorney-general. The attorney general charged certain editorials were libelous and was awarded judgment for $12,000 in the lower court. The court held that the alleged libelous articles were mostly reproduced from magazines and that the newspaper had not violated the libel law. The court also held that a newspaper has a right to criticize a public official for public acts.

After a reaction July sold up to 13.07 and October to 13.18 around noon. Cotton closed steady. July 13.29; October 13.41; December 13.57; January 13.65; March 13.80.

Chicago Grain.
By Associated Press.
Chicago, June 22.—Because of bullish wheat crop reports opening prices which ranged from 1-8 to 3-8 lower with July at 1.02 7-8 to 1.03 and September at 1.05 1-4 to 1.05 3-8 were followed by a further decline and then by a rally which however, was not well maintained. Corn followed wheat. Wheat closed nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-4 lower with July at 1.02 7-8 and September at 1.05 1-4.
