

POSSIBILITY OF ANOTHER ENCOUNTER LOOKS LARGE; WILSON MAY ASK DISMISSAL OF CARRIZAL AFFAIR

TENTH TROOPERS SURVIVE GALLANT, HOPELESS FIGHT

Mexican Trench Stormed At Carrizal After Treachery Turned Loose Machine Gun Fire

By Associated Press

San Antonio, Texas, June 24.—The force of the Tenth United States cavalry under Captain Stiles T. Boyd succeeded in breaking through the line of the Mexican force under General Felix Gomez at Carrizal, according to a message tonight from General Pershing at Carrizal, according to a message tonight from General Pershing at Carrizal...

Captain Boyd's men of Troop C took the ditch in which the front line of Mexican troops was entrenched and charged through into the town of Carrizal. Troop L, under Captain Lewis Morey, charged with Troop C, but were outflanked and forced to defend themselves from cover but their ultimate fate is unknown as is that of the remnants of Captain Boyd's troops.

This news came to General Pershing by courier from Major John F. Jenkins, commanding the relief expedition sent out from Colonia Dublan. Major Jenkins also announced that he had found five members of the troops of the Tenth Cavalry and one member of K. Troop at the San Luis ranch.

They did not see the finish of the fight but their stories, according to Major Jenkins, confirmed the stories of the other stragglers that the attack had been opened by Mexican troops without provocation. General Pershing said he did not believe that the 37 still unaccounted for had been captured. This was taken to mean here that he feared Captain Morey's men had not been seen to hold out against the overwhelming odds, even from the shelter of the house in which they had taken refuge, and had been killed. It still is hoped, however, that they yet may be holding out and Major Jenkins' command is hastening toward Carrizal with all speed.

General Pershing, according to this report, has sent provisions and wounded to meet Major Jenkins and Howse on their return march toward Colonia Dublan. General Pershing reported that the troops under Captain Boyd and Captain Morey showed the greatest courage and exhibited the most sterling fighting qualities.

No mention of the Mexican cavalry charge reported yesterday last night was made in the Pershing report but the fact that the Americans were able to advance and break through the Mexican lines is believed to give some indication that the charge was checked.

According to the stories told by the five men found at the San Luis ranch they the Mexicans fought with several machine guns. Captain Boyd dismounted his men and formed them in line of skirmish. Captain Boyd with D. Troop and Captain Morey with Troop K, the right. They advanced toward the irrigating ditch 250 yard distant, which sheltered the main force of Mexican troops and while the machine gun was spraying their ranks with lead. They captured the ditch with one final mad rush, putting the Mexicans to flight and capturing several machine guns.

Captain Boyd was wounded twice, once in the arm and once in the shoulder. In the final push on the entrenched Mexicans, Captain Boyd fell dead shot through the body. Without checking its advance Troop D, led by Lieut. Harry Adair, dashed forward after the Mexicans into the town. This was the last seen of them by the men found at San Luis ranch. Apparently they found themselves in danger of capture by Mexicans approaching from the rear and General Pershing's report gives no further details of the fate of Adair and his men. Captain Morey was shot through the shoulder while advancing with his troops on the irrigating ditch. His men, however, were outflanked by a superior force of Mexicans and were forced to take shelter in an adobe house. When last seen by the stragglers they were returning a spirited fire through windows and loopholes, punched in the adobe walls to the Mexicans who entirely surrounded their shelter and were pouring a hail of bullets at every opening.

It is assumed by officers at headquarters here that Captain Morey, in spite of the fact that he was wounded, was able to lead his men into the adobe house. Several of his men probably also were wounded and encircled by the Mexicans, cut off from water and without food, it is feared they could not hold until reinforcements reached them, even if they were able to hold off the Mexican attacks. It is believed at headquarters here that the six men found at San Luis ranch took part in at least a part of the fight at Carrizal. It is thought probably they were cut off from the

OFFICIALS STILL AWAIT PERSHING'S FULL REPORT

Next Development Expected To Be Demand For Apology And For Release of Prisoners

By Associated Press

Washington, June 24.—A peremptory demand that General Carranza repudiate the attack on the American troops at Carrizal and immediately release all captured American soldiers was understood tonight to be the next step in the Mexican crisis now contemplated by the Washington government.

Failure to comply with these demands will result in the gravest consequences referred to in Secretary Lansing's recent note to the de facto government.

Formulation of a communication awaiting a final report from General Pershing on the Carrizal incident. The war department pressed urgently today its efforts to reinforce strongly the border patrol and prepare for any eventuality. More information from American sources as to what happened at Carrizal was still lacking and the long delay in finding additional survivors of the fight was regarded as an ominous sign.

It may be that no American officer has survived, in that event action by the United States would be based on reports already received from stragglers. More than a score of men remain unaccounted for since the fight. Without exception the reports of the losses indicated that the force was massacred by machine gun fire. Some reports persisted tonight that a few of the command left afoot in the desert when their horses stampeded under the Mexican fire may have drifted west of Carrizal, and that they are now waiting for relief. General Pershing's inquiry is nearing the American government and has picked up a number of survivors, according to reports from the border.

Officials were concerned with news dispatches from Chihuahua saying that General Jacinto Trevino, the Mexican commander, had threatened to attack American columns reported to be coming from the border toward San Antonio and Ojo Caliente if they did not immediately retreat. Another battle at this time might precipitate general hostilities.

Rumors that the Carranza government was seeking mediation through the other Latin-American republics came from many quarters tonight. The activity of Wilson Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador-designate, lent weight to the reports. Private advice from Mexico City indicates that General Carranza still hoped to find a way to evade the storm his policy has aroused.

A favorable report on the House resolution authorizing the president to draft immediately into the federal service national guardsmen willing to take the prescribed oath, was ordered today by the Senate military committee after it had stricken out the section appropriating $1,000,000 for relief of dependents of soldiers and another limiting the term of service to three years.

A substitute adopted for the relief provision would direct that guardsmen with dependents having no means of support be discharged. Action on the resolution by the Senate was postponed until Monday because a memorial service for the late Senator Bradley of Kentucky was in progress. No offer of mediation reached the state department from any source. Administration officials hold that they have nothing to mediate. It is generally regarded as unlikely that President Wilson would agree to any proposal that meant tying the hands of General Pershing in his efforts to protect the border from bandits. A mediation plan resting on a military status quo during negotiations would prevent pursuit of raiders or any operations beyond the border to break up bandit operations before they became dangerous and it is for this purpose General Pershing's column has been maintained in their present position despite Carranza's opposition.

Under these circumstances it was intimated on high authority that efforts toward preservation of peace, concerning the initiative of which the minister of Salvador was authorized today to confer with his diplomatic colleagues, could go no further than an attempt to persuade General Carranza to change his attitude toward the determination of the United States to protect its people and territory. A report reached here today that General Carranza and his cabinet had prepared a reply to the last American note rejecting his demand that American troops be withdrawn from Mexico. The report said it would be published in Mexico City tomorrow but did not say when it would be sent here and officials were not inclined to credit it.

Ambassador Arredondo had no information that a reply had been prepared by his government as to its next step. Special Agent Rodgers at the Mexican capital was reported unable as yet to give any inkling as to what may be expected from Carranza. Plea That Horses Be Not Responsible For Conditions Awaits Him Nothing. Laredo, Tex., June 24.—Two hundred Mexican cavalrymen at Nuevo Laredo are preparing to move to the border to establish an embargo on foodstuffs and forage here. General Carranza requests the privilege of passing forage over the border, saying that horses were not responsible for existing conditions, but this request was denied. AMERICAN AVIATOR IS VERDUN KILLED IN VERDUN. Paris, June 24.—Corporal Victor Chapman of New York, member of the French-American flying corps, was killed yesterday at Verdun, after bringing down three German aeroplanes.

NEW BATTLE MAY ALREADY HAVE BEGUN

ORDER IS ISSUED

By Associated Press

El Paso, Tex., June 24.—Apprehension that battles may be in progress tonight between American and Mexican troops in at least two places in northern Chihuahua gripped the border tonight.

American columns were moving in the direction of San Antonio and Ojo Caliente, where General Jacinto Trevino, commanding the Carranza army of the north, has ordered troops to attack them if they do not retreat immediately. While information concerning these movements reached here today from Chihuahua City, additional advice indicated that General Trevino's scouts reported the approach of the Americans yesterday.

A report reached here today that Carranza was assumed here that it is probable that the opposing forces may have met. Little was known here tonight as to the strength of the American column or their mission but it was assumed that one of them might be a rescue party for the survivors of the troops of the Tenth Cavalry engaged at Carrizal. Army officers here, also, pointed out that the column headed for Ojo Caliente, about 35 miles south of the Carranza border, is composed of the troops surviving the engagement there and the two squadrons of the Eleventh Cavalry, sent to reinforce them.

PROMISES RETRICTION OF CARRIZAL INCIDENT. Chihuahua City, June 24.—American columns have been seen advancing from the American field base in the direction of San Antonio and Ojo Caliente and General Jacinto Trevino has issued orders to attack them if they do not immediately retreat. The Mexican commander said today that it seemed probable, inasmuch as General Pershing seemed ignorant of the fate of the Carranza prisoners now being brought here, the Americans were annihilated, although it was possible the subject was not for the names of the dead and prisoners. It was officially announced today that they do not get the same treatment that they received at Carrizal as he is determined to carry out his orders to the letter. In this, he said, he had all his subordinates with them and they will sock with them in case of a rupture.

THOSE WHO VOLUNTEER WILL REMAIN ON ROLLS. St. Louis, June 24.—Announcement was made by B. F. Employment on the railroad will be open for them at the expiration of their service.

BASE HOSPITAL AT FORT BLISS TO BE ENLARGED. El Paso, Tex., June 24.—Preparations being made here today to enlarge the base hospital at Fort Bliss in the event of hostilities with Mexico. LATIN AMERICAN REPUBLICS PLAN MOVE FOR PEACE. ACCEPTANCE OF MEDIATION IMPROBABLE

MEETS DISFAVOR

By Associated Press

Washington, June 24.—Minister Ignacio Calderon of Bolivia, speaking for several South and Central American republics, today asked Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate, whether the Carranza government would be willing to accept mediation in the crisis between the United States and Mexico.

The Mexican ambassador said he would communicate the inquiry to General Carranza but that he was not empowered to make a reply at this time.

Mr. Calderon failed to see Secretary Lansing today on the same mission but announced that he expected the further claim that much of the ground taken by the Germans was recaptured in subsequent counterattacks by the French army. The forces of the crown prince are in possession of the Thaumont wood.

The Italians have made further advances in the Trentino, pushing toward in the Pustio sector elsewhere they have repulsed attacks by the Austrians.

Constantinople reports an important success in Turkish Armenia. The Russians were driving toward a mountain ridge north of the Shoroko river. On the Persian frontier of Mesopotamia the Russians were cleared from Turak heights and advanced by the Turks some ten miles to the eastward. Petrograd claims a Turkish repulse in the Trebizond sector.

GERMAN'S LATEST SUCCESS AT VERDUN IS IMPORTANT. Paris, June 24.—Late details showed that yesterday's fighting near Verdun exceeded anything the French experienced. The two forces engaged on the Verdun front are estimated at between four and five divisions. It was only by the last overwhelming rush when the defenders were worn out and thinned by many hours of bombardment that the Germans succeeded in rushing the Thaumont works and the adjacent advance trenches.

The Thaumont fortifications covered the approaches to Fluery and the enemy hoped to continue the charge by the French but the French counter attack with such vigor that the enemy was able only to cling to the position. It is understood that the Germans were engaged in strengthening all night in preparations for fresh attack to push the advance.

Commentators in the morning's papers freely admit the Germans scored a success but point out that this success cost more than the booty worth the enemy's losses being placed at from 40 to 50 per cent of the effective engaged.

The Thaumont works after three weeks of effort but the French advance line still holds good, possessing the great part of Hill 320 and 321. These fresh efforts of the German battering ram are regarded in authoritative quarters as it is understood that the French will in no way, it is pointed out here, prevent expected developments on the contrary they are likely to hasten them.

Whether it is true or not that the Germans have been obliged to withdraw troops from the western front to send to Russia, the fact is by no means manifest for in the Verdun contest recent attacks have been well up to the standard of intensity. They found it effective to deliver a well aimed onslaught in the Champagne region. Expectations raised by the furious 24 hour bombardment on the right bank of the Meuse were fulfilled from early morning until nightfall attack after attack was launched along the whole front from Thaumont to Damoup.

The object of the German command is to secure control of the Vaux ravine without which it is impossible for him to force back the French advance line and begin an attack upon the main line of forts between Souville and Tavannes. The ravine is closely boxed in by the Caillotte woods to the north, the Chaletre-woods to the south and Hill 320 to the east. German attacks here met with a certain measure of success but at heavy cost and their footing is by no means secure. It is believed the French will not fall to make. East of the ravine the enemy made no headway however. Here the French lines, with command of the approaches to Souville have under attack the rest of three woods: Puzin to the left, Chenois to the right and the woods running from Vaux fort to the slope of Souville on the front.

RUSSIANS STILL MAKING GAINS ON BUKOWINA FRONT

PARIS CLAIMS GAINS

HAVE OCCUPIED PRACTICALLY ALL IMPORTANT TOWNS IN CROWNLAND—SLOWER PROGRESS FURTHER NORTH. Reports Successful Counter Attacks But Germans Still Hold Thaumont—Italian and Turkish Victories Reported.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: The Russian offensive is still in full swing in Bukowina where the advance of General Brusiloff's forces is apparently being little impeded by the Austrians. The town of Kutu across the Galician border at the foot of the Carpathians has been occupied and virtually all the important towns in the crownland now are in Russian possession.

To the north, German troops in increasing numbers are reported to be coming to the aid of the Austrians and the Russians are being forced to fight to hold the ground they have captured. Heavy fighting is in progress along the line from northern Galicia to the southeast of Lutsk but neither side is claiming material progress. German army headquarters asserts that some ground has been gained by General Von Liesingon's forces but Petrograd does not admit that a permanent advantage has been won by the Austro-German forces at any point.

Definite and important gains have been scored by the Germans on the western front at Verdun. Capturing the Thaumont fortified position on the city, the Germans pushed out and captured a part of the village of Fluery, a little more than three miles from Verdun but were soon ejected from the village by a counter attack, according to the Paris official statement. The French war office makes the further claim that much of the ground taken by the Germans was recaptured in subsequent counterattacks by the French army.

The Italians have made further advances in the Trentino, pushing toward in the Pustio sector elsewhere they have repulsed attacks by the Austrians.

FIRST REVETMENT NEARLY COMPLETED

Piling is Placed at Foot of Burnett—Others to Be Put in at Once.

The piling for the revetment at the foot of Burnett street on the Wichita river has all been placed, and the work is now ready for the wicker work. Next week four strong cables will be strung on each of the two parallel rows of the piling, and the whole will be interwoven with wire, which will catch and hold the driftwood, thus forming a barrier to turn the current of the river away from the bank on the city side.

This work was undertaken on account of the fact that the river had been rapidly eating away the bank toward the city. Since 1892 it has eaten more than its own width. In the spring of 1908 more than a city block was eaten away in 24 hours.

Revetments similar to the one at Burnett street will be built at the foot of Austin street, at the foot of Bluff, at the foot of Brook, and another of about 400 feet above the one at Brook street.

Although the point of greatest wear is at the Burnett street crossing, the others are necessary because the current of the river could not be turned with one revetment. The one at Burnett street reaches out into the river for a distance of 250 feet, the one at Austin, which will be begun Monday, is nearly as long, and the others will be a hundred feet each. They will stretch out into the river at an angle of about thirty degrees, and are designed to turn the current to wash against the sand bar on the far side of the river, which was its old bed.

NEGRO MUSIC FAILS TO CHARM OFFICERS

Quintet of Minstrels Lands in Lock-up on Charge of Vagrancy Friday Night

Music hath charms to soothe the savage coast according to the old saying, but it had no effect on the Wichita Falls police, and a negro string quintet was taken to Friday night for playing on the streets and passing the hat. Judge Whitelaw and City Attorney Horace Nutt, proved no more susceptible than the force, and each of the negroes were fined $10 for vagrancy in the police court Saturday morning.

The negro orchestra was from Oklahoma City, which was an aggravating circumstance, according to the city attorney. They came here two days ago to play for a dance, the negroes say, and thought they would stay and make an extra bit of money. In default of their fines they were remanded to the city lockup, and no doubt will lighten the dragging hours for the other inmates with classical selections from their repertoire.

One plain drunk contributed a five dollar bill, and two boys were also fined five each for riding their bicycles on the sidewalk. One of the boys had four dollars of his fine suspended during good behavior, but the other had given the arresting officer a bit of "lip" and had to pay the full amount.

WORK IS DELAYED ON DENVER BRIDGE

Holiday Creek Structure Progressing Slowly—New Turntable Being Installed.

Work of putting in the new 90-foot steel and concrete bridge of the Denver over Holiday creek will be undertaken in real earnest this week. The new bridge will be in three spans, two of 80 feet and one of 30 feet. The piers and abutments are to be of concrete, and the girders of steel. Work on the bridge has been rather slow up to this time because the work will be done by the same bridge crew which has been at work on the new turntable at the Denver roundhouse for the past several weeks. Work on the turntable will be temporarily halted until the arrival of a pile driver.

The concrete foundation of the old turntable has been blasted to a considerable extent. Concrete for the new foundation can not be placed until the piles have been driven. The work on the turntable is a necessarily slow job because the work must be handled in such a way that the old table can be used until the new one is ready for use.

Although considerably weakened by the blasting of a considerable part of the foundation the old table is used daily for the turning of engines.

Be merry if you are wise.—Martial.

REPORTS OF BAD STORM AT ELECTRA

WIRES ARE DOWN AND RUMORS OF SEVERE DAMAGE WITH POSSIBLE LOSS OF LIFE, NOT CONFIRMED.

FIRE IN OIL FIELD

Lightning Causes Blaze and Several Dericks Are Blown Down—Train From North Out at 2:15 Not in At 3 a. m. Sunday.

Fears that a serious, perhaps fatal, storm had swept Electra late Saturday night were entertained in Wichita Falls early today when reports were received of houses being blown away and of extensive damage by lightning and rain.

The reports were received shortly before midnight and shortly afterward wire communications, both telegraph and telephone, were interrupted. In touch with the town had been unsuccessful at 3 a. m. today.

The reports received before the wires failed stated that a number of houses had been demolished, that an amusement tent had been blown away and that lightning had caused a serious fire in the oil field. A number of oil derricks were reported demolished.

At 3 a. m. today, southbound Denver No. 8, due here at 2:15, had not arrived and the Denver dispatcher's office was unable to get in communication with points north.

Reports of the number of houses destroyed varied from a dozen to several times that number, and being no way of getting at the exact situation. The tent of the Phillips show was stripped from its fastenings and blown away, being lost in the darkness.

The electrical disturbance which accompanied the storm caused a fire in the oil field, but its extent could not be ascertained.

The wind and electrical storm were both quite severe in Wichita Falls, but there was no material damage locally. Rain fell as far north as Quanah and Cillochito and on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern to Fortgan.

BURKBURNETT LOOKS FOR OPENING SHALLOW FIELD
(Burkburnett Star.)
Since oil was found on the Cropper farm two miles south of town, about two weeks ago, there has been much leasing done in that vicinity and elsewhere. While the Star is not at liberty to give out much information at present, it is a safe prediction that other wild cat wells will be drilled near town within a short time. Local parties have leased up a large amount of land and prospectors are about completed for at least one well close in. The first well on the Cropper farm has been flowing several barrels per day and will soon be put under the pump. Estimates of its capacity vary from five to twenty barrels. Well No. 2 was drilled in Wednesday and promise to be as good or better than the first. It has been the belief of oil men for a long time that prospects in and near the townsite were good for oil, and present indications are favorable to the matter being tested out within short while. The nearer the producing wells are brought to town the greater will be the advantage to Burkburnett. All being considered, the oil business never looked better in this locality, than at present.

NATURAL GAS FRANCHISE NOW PENDING AT VERNON
(Vernon Record.)
The matter of a gas franchise for the Producers Oil company, which now has two big wells in the field being developed on the Waggoner ranch in this county, is under consideration by the city commissioners, and it is likely that a plan will be adopted that will be agreeable to both the city and the oil company. J. D. Parnell, secretary of the Young Men's Business League, is to make a trip to Fort Worth Monday for a conference with officials of the oil company on the subject, and Vernon anxious to pipe gas into town provided a satisfactory franchise is granted. The plan that will be followed will be the one outlined several months ago to local business men by officials of the oil company, namely that a local company be organized for any or all of the stock, which company will purchase the gas at the city limits from the owners of the well. The amount proposed to be charged for domestic consumption is fifty cents a thousand feet, with ten per cent off for prompt payment of bills, and a lower rate for industrial concerns. The oil concern is ready to begin work within a very short time after the granting of the franchise, just as soon as men and material can be placed on the ground.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO DYNAMITE FREDERICK HOME
(Frederick Leader.)
A bold but unsuccessful attempt to dynamite the home of Mrs. Viola Waller, on North Twelfth street, was made Tuesday night. That it was not successful was due to the fact that the fuse was blown out before reaching the cap. The Waller home is one of the finest in the city. It is of concrete, two stories, and has a concrete porch on the east. Wednesday morning Mrs. Waller's daughter, Miss Jean Waller, went out on the porch at 10:30 o'clock and saw a fuse lying there. She at first thought it was a joke, but upon examination found that it was anything but a joke. She telephoned Mayor Rogers and he, with Marshal May and J. W. Alexander, went to the Waller home. They found a long string of fuse, about 40 feet, attached to a 40 per cent strength dynamite stick, the stick lying against the front door. The fuse was all burned up to within about one inch of the cap, when the fire had been extinguished, probably by the wind.

OKLAHOMA IN NEED OF HARVEST HANDS

Superintendent Butz Returns After Strenuous Time With Washouts
 Although men are pouring in there by the thousands, the need for harvest hands in the fields of Oklahoma is growing acute, according to J. W. Butz, superintendent of the Northwestern, who just returned from that section. At Laverne yesterday he was told that 150 men could be used at that place alone. In spite of the heavy rains recently suffered in that section all crops are looking especially fine, and the harvest and threshing season is on in full blast.

 In speaking of the recent washouts on the Northwestern, Mr. Butz stated that in all his years as a railroad man he had never seen any washout quite as discouraging as this one looked when he went up there to take charge of the rebuilding operations sixteen days ago. It seemed then, he said, that it would not be possible to rebuild inside of a year. The crews were working night and day for more than two weeks before the first train was run through. The country in which the washouts occurred was sandy and washed badly. As an instance of what he had to contend with he mentioned a large bridge over the main channel of Wolf creek where the creek forked around the bridge and made new channels on both sides, leaving the bridge high and dry on an island in the middle. The damage to the Northwestern from the washouts is estimated at $40,000.

The water main of Woodward, Oklahoma burst and the city is without water except what they can get out of the Canadian river, which though filtered, is said to be hardly fit to drink. There was one morning when Mr. Butz said that one could not get enough water in Woodward to wash one's face.
 The Santa Fe had considerable trouble five miles southwest of Woodward. The approach of a bridge gave way, throwing the engine over on the fireman's side. Quicksand sucked the engine down, and each car slowly followed except the sleeper. The movement was so slow however that all except the fireman, who was pinned under the engine managed to get out in safety. The fireman's body was taken out after ten days, and a leg had to be amputated to get it out then. When Mr. Butz left they had not been able to get the engine out, although the rest of the train had been removed.

BUICK
 Pioneer Builders of Valve-in-Head Motor Cars
 Right Principles
 And Their Public Reward

The motorist who watches the signs of the times is deeply interested in the ever-growing dominance of the road by the Buick.

It is significant of that appreciation which the American public always accords to the pioneer genius who builds consistently on the right foundation principles.

The Buick Valve-in-Head Motor has been proved to be the logical application of power. Power that means swiftness with grace and smooth, dependable action.

Measuring miles by the gallon—it is easy to prove the extra mileage which Buick engineering obtains from every gallon of gasoline.

This economy is a point of consideration nowadays, when a motor-car, from being a hobby, of a luxury, is a necessity in the world's affairs.

Motorists of experience and insight are quick to grasp the long-time investment benefits which a Buick purchase assures.

PASSENGER GOES SUDDENLY INSANE

Four Men Required to Restrain Him—Taken to Hospital

Stricken probably by the excessive heat, a man suddenly lost his mind at the car barns about 6 o'clock Saturday night and proceeded to attempt the demolition of the street car in which he was riding, four men being finally required to overpower him.
 A doctor and several officers were rushed to the scene, and the party was taken to the Wichita General Hospital. He had to be tied down to the bed, and a dose of an opiate given him to keep him under control. He is being held at the hospital to await instructions from his relatives, who have been notified.

IT'S SEVEN YEARS OLD

 Over seven years ago Mrs. Swope testified to relief from kidney illness. Later she said that the benefit had lasted.
 "Wichita Falls sufferers will take a deal of comfort in Mrs. Swope's statement.
 Read what she says:
 "Mrs. G. A. Swope, 612 Barnett St., Wichita Falls, says: 'I suffered terribly at times from my kidneys. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I suffered constantly from weakness across my back. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from the Wichita Drug Store and they quickly brought relief.' (Statement given June 16, 1908).
 "On April 3, 1915, Mrs. Swope said: 'I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions and I am justified in doing so, as they cured me of kidney complaint.'

RUMORS OF ATTACK ON DOUGLAS ARE GROUNDLESS

By Associated Press. June 24.—Persistent rumors that a large force of government troops were moving northward and would attack the town during the night caused the United States troops stationed here to take precautionary measures but nothing developed.
 Americans here feared for the safety of Edward Symes, an American mining man who has been operating in Sonora. Symes and two American companions are said to be in an isolated canyon and doubts have been expressed as to whether they have received the official warning to come out.

ROSE OF MEXICO

ANONYMOUS.

The night when Ramon Beasa slipped from his saddle in front of the ranch house, Cecilia felt the first tug at her heartstrings since she had come to Texas.

Four years ago it was now. She had been eighteen then. Bob, her brother, had been running bachelor's hall for three years, while his four sisters stayed back home in Vermont. Bob said, wasting their time while their one and only brother pined for lack of gentle company down in the wilds. So Cis, as he called her, had been the one who felt the call of duty.

"And she ain't never been sorry," Bob told Senor Beasa that first night as they stood together out on the adobe porch smoking in fraternal fashion. "I've got more cattle than I'll even count. The beef trust never hits me, and it'll all go to Cis when I cash in. Don't want to buy any horses, do you?"

Ramon shook his head. "I am not North for buying. I travel to Corpus Christi to bring my Dolores from the convent there. When we return this way, I will show you the rose of Mexico, senor."

Then came a still twilight hour, with a slip of a new moon showing faintly in the amber and jade sky, and two horses coming up the road, with the senor and his girl sister. Cis ran down to meet them and took Dolores in her arms. Bob stood watching them both, his keen gray eyes half closed.

"Such a child, senor," Cis cried, in a bright, hopeful way. "Why is she so sad?"

"We have lost our father in the war, back in Chihuahua," he told her, resting one booted foot on the steps. "Our mother lived a month afterward, so we two are alone. You must be very sweet to her, my senorita."

Cis flushed at the caressing tone and the look in his eyes.

"I love her even now," she answered. "I wish you both could stay here awhile."

Bob would not listen to them going for a week at least. Big, long-legged Bob, twenty-nine years old, with the fiber of rock-ribbed Vermont in his being, would flush to the roots of his curly, straw-colored hair every time the senor spoke of leaving.

One day in the garden, while Cis worked among her rose bushes and spiced pansy beds, Dolores followed her around.

"It is glorious to have a brother, is it not?" she sighed. "We must be very loyal to them, for they need us greatly. If I were to marry—certainly I will never marry—but if I were to marry, Ramon would almost die."

Cecilia's hands went faster.

"They're fearfully dependent creatures," she answered. "Bob wouldn't know his head from his heels if I wasn't right there to tell him which way 'gwich. I'll have to stay right here and take care of him."

"But if he should love, senorita? It would be very hard for you?"

"No, it wouldn't. I'd go back home and teach school again."

"And you would not mind at all?"

"Something in the eager, joyous tone made Cis look up. It had not occurred to her that Bob might be interested in this slender, dark-eyed girl from over the border. And her own face grew tender as she smiled up at her.

"Why, I guess I shouldn't mind; got it she was mighty sweet."

Down the road there came the sound of horses galloping up from the south below the roll of land that sheltered the ranch.

Curly Barton was the leader. As he talked to Bob, he looked over where Cis stood and waved his hat to her, but she stood silent, chin up, waiting.

There had been a fight along the border, Curly said. Rustlers had stolen over and out over a hundred horses. His cowboys had pursued them and there had been a running fight. Five men lay dead down the wash, their faces upturned to the sunlight. It had been decided best for the community at large to drive every last Mexican back over the line. And they had heard that Bob had a couple there.

"Yes, I have," Bob said calmly. "The young lady I am going to marry and her brother. What you got to say to that, Curly?"

Dolores heard, and her hand reached out for Cis.

"You got all the horses back?" asked Bob. Curly grinned naminicently.

"Yes. And some of their's, too."

"Then drop it. These are my guests. He is watching the boys ride on, and Beasa came toward him."

"They would have shot me, yes," he asked gently. "You are very kind, senor, very faithful. I am no bandit, no revolutionist. I have been plundered alike by Villa and the others. It has been peace here at our ranch. I have lingered because I love your sister. I have already told her, but she is loyal and tender-hearted. She will not leave you alone, she says."

Bob leaned back his head and laughed.

"I got the same answer last night from Dolores, but still I got her promise. You are slow, Beasa. Get tell her now we will make it a double wedding."

"My Work is Done"

The Mid-Year Mitchell, and the plant that builds it, embody in full my ideas of efficiency. The car is my 17th Model. I have spent 13 years on the factory. I submit the result to all men as marking the best that lies within me. —Jno. W. Bate

Every man, in any line of business, should study this Mid-Year Mitchell. It matters not what car you own, or what car you favor. Or if you want a car at all.

The New Mitchell, in a thousand details, typifies efficiency. It is the product of a model efficiency plant. It is the creation of a genius in efficiency. Every man can gain some inspiration from it.

A Car to Rule

John W. Bate, the efficiency engineer, came here to build the master car. And to found a plant to build that car at the lowest cost.

It has taken him long. The industry was new. The very machinery had to be invented. It took ten years to evolve the Light Six type, which seems finality.

But the results you see in this Mid-Year Mitchell will win your deep respect.

Big Safety Factors Lifetime Service

Mr. Bate's great aim was to build a long-lived car. And to build a reliable car, practically trouble-proof.

He has dealt with part by part. In this New Mitchell, 440 parts are either drop forged or stamped from toughened steel.

He has used a wealth of Chrome-Vanadium. He has made parts over-size. His margins of safety are at least 50 per cent. In the car itself, Mr. Bate has made more than 700 improvements.

Six of his Mitchells have averaged 164,372 miles each—over 30 years of ordinary service. And they are still in active use.

Cost Reduced 50 Per Cent

Despite his high standards, he has in six years reduced Mitchell costs 50 per cent.

He has done this by building a model plant. By equipping that plant with 2092 up-to-date machines. And by training our army of workers.

Probably no other plant could build this New Mitchell within 20 per cent of our cost.

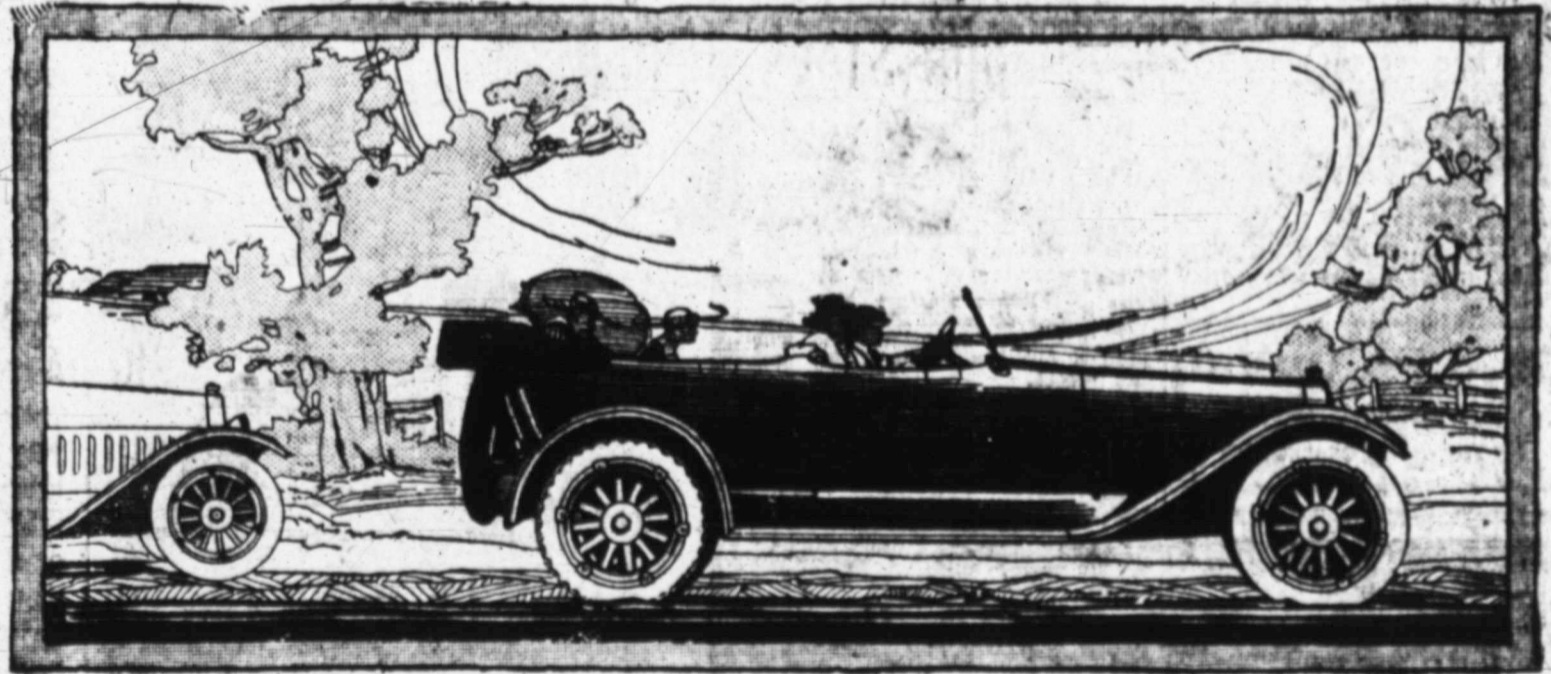

26 Extras—Free

The results show in the car. It is the most complete car that was ever built.

The last named is the object of the Germans since it runs out to the adjacent of the Vaux front all other attacks are subject to a flaming fire from it. They succeeded in obtaining a footing in this wood during the night but lost a large part of the gains - Thursday. Further attempts made yesterday were prevented by the French fire.

GERMANS CLAIM PROGRESS IN THEIR COUNTER ATTACK Berlin, June 24.—The German counter attack in Volhynia against the Russians under General Brusilov has developed over a front of 80 miles extending from Koll on the Styra almost to the Galician frontier. General Von Linsingen's forces have enveloped the Russians, who had made a big bend in the Austro-German lines in front and on both flanks, and now, according to all reports reaching here, are pressing the Russians back all along the line toward Lutsk.

Although considerably reinforced, Von Linsingen is confronted by highly superior numbers which, however, have been unable to check his counter attacks and start the Russian steam roller again in the direction of Kovel and Vladimir Volynski. The Russian losses are described as enormous. The Russian officers time and again led their men in desperate but fruitless charges against the German lines. The country covered by these engagements is cut up by woods and swamps and much of the fighting therefore has been at close quarters.

CUSTER'S MASSACRE WILL BE REENACTED

Fortieth Anniversary of Famous Fight To Be Observed at Billings, Montana

By Associated Press Billings, Mont., June 24.—Custer's Massacre on the battlefield of the Little Big Horn near here is to be reenacted tomorrow as a feature of the fortieth anniversary of the historical event, according to completed arrangements of committees in charge of the celebration. A company of veterans commanded by Gen. E. S. Godfrey, survivor of Custer's famous Seventh Cavalry—is to traverse Custer's trail from the last camp on the Rosebud river and attack an Indian village, built on the identical spot occupied by the Sioux village which Custer attacked.

Following the attack, the line of Custer's retreat is to be followed by General Godfrey and his little company until the summit of the hill on which the famous "last stand" is reached, where memorial exercises will be held. General Godfrey is to give the memorial address and read a brief message to the people of the northwest from Mrs. George A. Custer of New York, who was unable to be present at the celebration.

The historic battlefield has been arranged as near like it was on the memorable Sunday, June 25 of forty years ago. An Indian village of about 150 teepees has been pitched and between 2,000 and 3,000 Indians are ready to take part in the reenactment of the crucial point of the battle. The approach of General Godfrey and his command is to be similar in every detail to that of General Custer and his troops. A mimic attack was to be repulsed by the Indians and the retreat to the "last stand" was to be followed in every detail.

It is hoped by the committees in charge that the reenactment of the massacre will dispel many of the misunderstandings relative to the famous battle that have existed for so many years. It has been pointed out that Custer really wore his hair cut short in his campaign against the Sioux, whence invariably he is pictured by artists and described by writers as wearing long yellow locks. General Custer also is almost invariably depicted as wearing a sabre. There were no sabres with the Seventh Cavalry on the expedition.

In the spring of 1873 the Sioux became restless and took up the war path. Their depredations led to sending an expedition, commanded by General Terry against them. He left Fort Abraham Lincoln, Dakota, May 17, 1876, with a command consisting of the Seventh Cavalry, companies from the Sixth and Seventeenth regiments of infantry and a long wagon train. The command marched overland the entire distance, the infantry and wagon train being left behind to form a supply camp at the mouth of the Powder river. The cavalry, with pack mules, continued.

At the mouth of the Rosebud on the Yellowstone, Terry's column met General Gibbon, who had come from the west with a detachment of the Seventh and four troops of the Second Cavalry. From here on June 22, Custer, with six hundred men, was sent forward to the Little Big Horn to attack, should he deem advisable, a camp of Sioux. Custer covered the distance of one hundred miles in three days and learning that the Indians were ahead, prepared to attack, he divided his command, giving Reno three companies, Benton three and retaining five himself. He detailed Captain McLaughlin, with one company, to act as rear guard.

Reno and Benton went forward. The former almost immediately engaged the Indians in overwhelming numbers and retreated to the crest of Reno's Hill, four miles from the battlefield. Custer, instead of supporting Reno, as he had originally planned, passed around the west side of the stream and was furiously attacked by a large body of Sioux. He was surrounded on the ridge and his whole command was wiped out in less than two hours after the first attack. Reno and Benton fought the Indians the rest of the day and until Terry and Gibbon arrived during the afternoon of the third day.

Miss Katy Lee Graves of Del Rio, Texas, arrived Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Mask, former residents of Del Rio. Miss Graves reports that Del Rio, although on the border is quiet and its people are confident. A big force of soldiers are stationed there, the troops being well equipped with machine guns while cannon of different calibres point toward Mexico. Every avenue of approach to the town is heavily guarded, she reports.

Mrs. Alice Frazier, assistant deputy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, left Saturday for Acargal, where she installed officers last night. She will visit other lodges before returning.

I. R. Aufrecht, J. H. Davis, Jimmy Griffin, George Herron and Jerry Schaefer were among members of a party which went out to Medicine Park Saturday for an outing.

NEW KATY SCHEDULE IS NOT ANNOUNCED SATURDAY

The change of schedule announced by the Katy is held up indefinitely according to a message sent out to the superintendents of the line by H. F. Anderson, general manager of the Texas Katy received by Superintendent J. W. Butz. The change in schedule was to have taken effect Sunday at noon. No reason for the change of plans is assigned in the message.

WOODMEN READY FOR ARMY DUTY

BELIEVED LODGE COULD FURNISH BRIGADE OF 5,000 MEMBERS SHORTLY.

MEN KEPT IN FORM

Company Commanders Instructed to Hold Frequent Drills to Keep Ranks Ready.

That the uniform rank of the Woodmen of the World in Texas is ready to furnish a brigade of 5,000 members in case its services are needed by the United States war department, is indicated by the activity of Brigadier General R. H. McDill, Dallas, who is at the head of the organization in this state.

Friday afternoon Mr. McDill telephoned to Captain Tom Bork of the Wichita Falls company, instructing him to keep his men well drilled and in the best possible condition that those who might desire to volunteer could answer a call to service at any time. It is understood that a similar request was communicated to the head of each uniform rank in the state, with a view to a prompt response in the event the offer to furnish men was accepted by the government.

As it is understood, the Woodmen are to constitute a military unit separate from the regular forces, the various commands to be offered by members of that organization and possibly by the officers now in command. To this end members have been requested not to enlist otherwise during the time that the present offer to the government is being considered.

It is thought that Mr. McDill will have little trouble in raising a brigade of 5,000 men, as he has volunteered to furnish a total of 12,000 members of the uniform rank at this time, and there is little doubt that the required number would enlist readily.

Mr. McDill has telegraphed the following to Senator Morris Sheppard to be communicated to the war department:

"Interest is at fever heat. Hundreds of our boys are anxious to join. We can furnish a high class set of officers. This telegram is being sent at the request of the boys at an enthusiastic meeting. This is not a spasmodic request, everyone means business. We want the first call. Hundreds of our men are splendidly drilled. We can raise a brigade just as easily as a regiment. If we are allowed to raise only a regiment many of the boys would be disappointed. We are not interested by any means, but mean business and are acting after due consideration. We are now ready to begin and can organize in thirty days. (Signed) Brig. Gen. R. H. McDill and Col. Clark W. Mottican."

In addition a telegram, signed by 37 leading citizens of Dallas, was forwarded to Senator Sheppard, endorsing the movement.

The uniform rank of the local camp is in splendid condition, and in the event of the acceptance of the services of the organization, would undoubtedly compare favorably with any group in the state, and the number of volunteers would no doubt be fully in proportion to the number furnished by other ranks.

HARVEST HINDERS

ARMY RECRUITING

Two New Members of Army Last Week—Naval Station Accepts Three

Last week was rather quiet with the local recruiting offices owing to the number of men at work in the harvest fields. Two men were enlisted at the local army recruiting office. They were Luke Clower of Kingston, Tennessee, and Forrest M. Holt of Wichita Falls. They were sent to Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio, all recruits now being sent directly to their organizations instead of to the training stations.

The army recruiting is expected to pick up on account of the trouble with Mexico according to the recruiting officers stationed at this place. Also many railroad men have filed their names as being willing to work on the military railroads should the United States intervene in Mexico.

A number of rejections, mainly because the would be recruits were found to be under age, were reported from the army station.

Three recruits were secured by the navy recruiting station here last week. They are Charles B. Hartsook, Garvin, Okla., George D. Neal, Kemp and a recruit from Wichita Falls, who wished his name withheld. Notices has been received that the enlisted strength of the navy is now over the number authorized, but all applicants who pass are being accepted because of the expected increase that will be voted by Congress.

Buy a Car You Will Want to Keep

IN the whole history of the automobile business there has never been a time when real care in selecting a car is more imperative than today.

No longer is it possible to buy any make of car, drive it 12 to 15 months, and trade it in for a new car at one-half or two-thirds of its original cost. The market on used cars today will not permit this.

Consider then, the importance of buying a car that will give you such service and satisfaction that you will enjoy running it season after season, until you have realized every last dollar of the price you paid, —before you even think of trading.

Buy your car on this value-getting basis and it will be a Dort. No car on the market has more features of general all-round superiority and no car gives as much for the money. Ask the dealer to point out some of the special features of the Dort, or send for free booklet.

PLANS TO ERRECT NEW HOTEL BUILDING AT VERNON
 (Vernon Record)
 J. H. Kinchloe, a prominent west side farmer and stockman, informed the Record representative this week of his plans relative to the building of a three-story brick hotel upon his property. He stated that when heerty immediately east of the City did build he would put up a building hotel on the site of the old Aldrens that would be a credit to Vernon. He thastate, which he recently purchased, has enough confidence in the future from W. E. Lundy. Mr. Kinchloe of the town to believe that such a building does not know just when he will begin new would be profitable as an investment but hopes to do so within a reasonable time.

to monkey with a hose, it made him feel so coolish. "What a couple of hammocks and a porch swing," said he, "for you will get many a comfortable cool hour from them on a warm day or evening."

"At this point, Henry called the attention of the young folks to the value of putting up one's fruit as it came in season. "I have preserved fruit tastes so much better, so we'll order a quantity of glass jars, and here are two other things we need," he continued. "Uncle Henry's Coffee Percolator and a set of those 'Lander's' Fryer and Clark's carving sets."

"What a pleasure to buy at a store like that!" exclaimed Nellie, as they drove away again, "and what a stock that was. Is there anything Mr. Arvis does not carry?"

"Not in the hardware line, there isn't," replied Henry. "They do an immense business in builders and carpenters' hardware, household furnishings, and the famous John Deere and Rock Island farm implements and tools, and they are well liked here. Now suppose we call it a day's work and go home."

"Mr. Arvis was telling me the other day," laughed Uncle, "about a well known local divine who was preaching one Sunday morning on the subject of 'The Great Small Things of Creation.' To illustrate his thought that nothing was either too vast or too tiny to be of interest to God he proceeded in the way we are now doing."

"The creator of this immense universe, created also the most infinitesimal atom of it. The architect of these vast mountains, fashioned also the finest thread of gold running through them. The God who made me made a daisy."

"Well, this has been a pretty strenuous day," remarked Nellie, as they were having dinner that evening at the St. James. "But, I have had a most delightful time. I thought you might find it a little bit tiresome," laughingly replied Henry. "I've not a sort of reserved a little treat for you tonight."

"What on earth can it be?" exclaimed Nellie. "You have me interested."

MAJESTIC THEATRE

AT THE THEATRES
UNIVERSAL FEATURE AT THE THEATRE MONDAY

Carter De Haven, famous juvenile of the legitimate stage and the screen is starred in "The Youth of Fortune" showing at the Gem-Theatre Monday.

Several screen actresses, notably Miss Ella Hall, have made a hit in child parts. Given a small stature, a slight figure and a sympathetic memory of their own childhood, and their talent enables them to reproduce it in remarkable fashion for the screen. It is not to be denied, however, that their clothes and hair-dressing help them considerably. Straight, indefinite little frocks and curls tumbling on the shoulders, are half the battle in enabling a clever woman to assume the part of a small girl. Just as a patriarchal white beard, and shaggy white eye brows are helpful in transforming a young man into an old one. Women who have old parts to play have often wished that they might have recourse to some such distinguishing mark of old age as a man's white beard to help them in their make up. But things are not so simple when a man tries to play a boy, for there are few tricks of make up and almost no distinction of clothes to aid him. Young fellows' clothes are not very different from old fellows' clothes, once the short trouser stage is past.

Carter De Haven was a red feather all to himself to stick in his already sufficiently decorated cap when he succeeds in giving us such a clear impression of the character of a boy as he does in his role in "The Youth of Fortune." Carter is not very ancient, but he has been voting for a few years, although one would never think it if you had seen him only in the two Universal productions "The College Orphan" and the latest Red Feather. "The Youth of Fortune." One would be ready to swear that he is going to be seventeen on the screen, with his red hair and clothes! Every boy in every town where the Red Feather is shown will envy the lucky youth, Willie O'Donnovan, his marvelous wardrobe. But it is not his clothes which make this part so attractive; it is the fresh, bubbling enthusiasm, the very spirit of youth itself, which he brings to the role.

His dainty little better half, known to the screen as Flora Parker De Haven, has the role opposite him in this Red Feather. Don't miss the chance to see them together, for she is soon found off starting on her own. As Mary, the dairy maid, she is like the heroine of a fairy tale. The whole cast is a remarkable one. Margaret George plays the mother and J. Hope the father, while Harry Carter, the villain of a thousand facelies, has a sympathetic role for once as the grandfather, whose well intentioned will causes all the excitement. Bertram Grassby has a particularly good bit as the foreign detective, Ketchum.

A beautiful Paramount Photoplay in Five Acts, from the Famous Novel by Mary Johnson. Positively the masterpiece of Miss Fredericks entire list of big successes—Here for one day only with no advance in price. COMING WEDNESDAY—Charlie Chaplin in "The Fireman", Blanch Sweet in "The Sowers."

WILLIAM HART FEATURE OF MAJESTIC PROGRAM

That William S. Hart who is starred in "The Arryan" Ince's Triangle Kay-Bee feature on the Thursday and Friday program at the Majestic, is a man of unusual strength and a horseman of exceptional skill, is demonstrated in a number of thrilling scenes in the production.

Hart has the role of a young prospector, who, early in the picture, is duped out of his two years' savings by the clever ruse of a dance hall girl, a part played by Louise Glbaum. To accomplish her end, the girl is forced to lie to him regarding the contents of a telegram which tells him of the mortal illness of his mother. When he learns the truth, revenge fills the prospector's heart and mind. He goes to the dwelling of the girl and by main force drags her out to his horse where he throws her over the animal's back, mounts and rides away at a gallop, answering shot for shot, the volleys that are fired after him by the pursuing party.

PAULINE FREDERICK AT THE EMPRESS MONDAY

"Audrey" is the release of the Famous Players to show at the Empress Monday, in this five part subject, Pauline Frederick has the leading role. The story will make good entertainment from the pictorial side as well as from the dramatic. The script is adapted by Harriet Ford and E. Biederman from the novel by Mary Johnston. Robert Vignola, the producer, has traveled to the far South for his settings, and they are indeed picturesque. The period is Colonial—and one wonders where Mr. Vignola unearthed or ungarreted all the beavers of ancient vintage. Miss Fredericks has the same role, Audrey is an orphan—in her childhood her parents had been slain by Indians—who is given by her rescuer, a man of means, over to others for keeping on account of his leaving for England. The child becomes a drudge, in a few years she is a girl, and in turn the protector of his ward and her husband. It is a pretty romance. Miss Frederick contributes to the illusion of the drama.

Charles Waldron is Lee Hayward, the guardian of Audrey. Mr. Hayward and Helen Lindroth are the school master and wife who are in the picture. Clark is a dashing Southern swell, the brother of Evelyn—portrayed by Marguerite Christianne—who loses out in her conquest for Hayward; she postpones her acceptance of his suit and Hayward changes his mind in favor of his ward, Miss Connolly, the child Audrey, will make a hit with any audience.

These candidates for church membership are from among the converts of the recent revival services which Mr. Miller, pastor of the First Church, has been conducting at the Walnut Street Mission. There were a number of others who made public professions, some of whom joined the church last Sunday and others will join later.

CHAPLIN AND SWEET AT THE EMPRESS WEDNESDAY

Blanche Sweet in "The Sowers" and Charlie Chaplin will be the attractions at the Empress Theatre Wednesday. Chaplin is seen in "The Fireman." Departing from his usual mode of procedure, Chaplin has worked into this production a number of unusually sensational scenes, which have been filmed on an elaborate scale. These scenes depict the burning of two houses, both of which had been condemned by the Los Angeles fire department. They were purchased outright by the management of the Chaplin-Mutual studios and destroyed by fire.

For the filming of "The Fireman" the Mutual's comedian temporarily abandoned his usual screen make up and in practically all of the scenes appears in the garb of a fireman, which to say the least, is one of the most exccratically funny of his kind ever witnessed on the screen.

In the photographing of the scenes depicting the burning of the houses, as well as the numerous ones which take place inside a fire house, Chaplin had the assistance of several members of the Los Angeles fire department to help him out. One of the fire stations is located but a short distance from the Chaplin-Mutual studio and in a number of the scenes were filmed.

Chaplin's antics on the fire pole, used by the firemen in sliding down from the dormitory to the main floor at the alarm signal, furnishes an avalanche of laughs, the comedian outdoing by far anything he has ever attempted in this particular line.

Work of Tearing It Down is Expected to be Completed This Week.

The work of removing the old court house building is well under way, only the vault and a portion of the foundation remaining. COMMITTEE ON PREPAREDNESS PARADE NAMED

PLANS FOR DEMONSTRATION ON JULY 4 TO BE ACTIVELY PUSHED THIS WEEK—ARE RAPIDLY TAKING FORM

WANT LADIES TO AID

They Will Be Expected to Make Automobile Section a Success—All Organizations Are Urged to Help in Movement

With the appointment of the general committee and with the formalization of the preliminary plans, the movement for the preparedness parade here July 4 received marked impetus Saturday, and the plans will be actively pushed this week, in the hope that the demonstration may be a representative, creditable affair.

liquor in prohibited territory, the committee will meet Monday morning.

The parade will be in two main divisions, the first composed of marchers and the second of automobiles. All the men who are not too old, too decrepit or too unattractive to march are expected to do so, leaving the decorated automobiles to be driven by the ladies.

The committee is anxious that all organizations be represented, pointing out that by getting in line they not only lend their support to a movement of recognized worth, but help to advertise themselves and show their progressive spirit.

It has been suggested that the aid societies and similar church organizations obtain possession of cars for the parade and decorate them with a view to getting some of the prize money which will be offered for the best decorated cars.

of the prizes has not yet been announced, but the committee will give attention to this matter early this week.

In urging all organizations and all citizens to take part in the demonstration, the committee points out that the present time, perhaps more than ever before in the present century, is one when there are real, vital reasons for arousing one's patriotism and putting one's Americanism on record.

Every marcher will be provided with a small American flag, provided they arrive in time and there are enough of them to go around.

The committee recognizes that the time will not be available for seeing all the organizations and industries that should be represented, and urges all who are interested to co-operate and help without waiting for an invitation to do so.

GRAND JURY BRINGS IN 19 BILLS FRIDAY

Eight Are in Connection With Recent Raid at Burkburnett By Officers

The grand jury, which was in session during the week past, made a report to District Judge Bonner of the 30th district court late Friday afternoon and asked to be permitted to take a recess until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, which request was granted by the court.

A total of 19 bills were returned, of which 16 were for felonies and three for misdemeanor cases. The felony indictments include eight cases against W. B. Butler, charged with selling liquor in prohibited territory, the cases growing out of the recent raid of his place of business at Burkburnett, by Sheriff Hawkins, District Attorney Humphries and County Attorney Greenwood.

Joe B. Lejoh was indicted in one case for selling liquor outside of the prescribed limits in the city of Wichita Falls.

Stark Hunter was indicted in one case for selling liquor in prohibition territory. Another indictment was found for a violation of the liquor law, but the defendant is not, as yet, in the custody of the officers, or on bond.

H. C. Geriz was indicted for the theft of property of a value exceeding $50.

J. E. Miller and A. C. Hollinger were indicted for forgery, and J. E. Davis and F. B. Dye each for assault to rob. The three misdemeanor cases were filed in the county court.

SAYS GERMANY IS URGING SPAIN TO FIGHT ENGLAND

From the London Chronicle. No more characteristic example of German propagandist methods can be found than a book written by Doctor Diercks and published by Curtius of Berlin, entitled "What is to Happen to Gibraltar?"

He begins by telling the Spaniards that they are not to believe what England and France say regarding the origin of the war, that the real cause of war has been the unrestrained efforts of England to seize the lordship of the world, its boundless dominion of the sea, of trade and transport, its policy of isolating Germany. And, in carrying out its part of the war, England has employed soldiers addicted to heinous savagery—Africans, Indians, Northern Asiatics, Australians, Serbians, and other uncivilized auxiliaries.

A historical review of Anglo-Spanish relations follows. Without a shadow of right, England took Gibraltar from Spain, and now declines to return it to its rightful owner. It has used Spain as a pawn on its chess-board and employed it in turns against France, Italy and America.

But thanks to this war, and to the growing interest which Germany is taking in the welfare of Spain, a new question has arisen—the Iberian question. The noble project of a federation of the Spanish South American states with Spain must be decided, also the question of Morocco, the Straits of Gibraltar and the cessation of the rock. No Spaniard, Herr Diercks says, who does not feel the sore prick of that thorn. He quotes a letter from the Archbishop of Tarazona, in which this dignitary declares that the very name of Gibraltar sounds like the crack of a whip to Spaniards and brings the red blood of shame to their faces.

Spaniards are implored to think of what their naval power would be were Gibraltar in their hands. A stronghold so necessary for their defense of their southern coasts, for the development of the Northern African presidios, for their interests in Morocco—in the hands of a foreigner! In times of peace Spain was powerless; but this period has passed, England is now fully occupied, and even though good relations have hitherto existed between Spain and England it does not follow that Spain should neglect its present opportunities.

The Spanish nation, Doctor Diercks says, is not friendly disposed to England, the nation that killed Spain's sea dominion and robbed it of its position as a world power. Spaniards remember that in 1588, and again in 1895, their fleet was totally destroyed by England, and that to England is due the fact that it lost its colonies in the war against America. It was England who thwarted Spain in Morocco. Wherever Spain has made a move to improve its position to gratify just ambitions, there stood England, with its selfish objections and refusals.

What can be done? is the question to which this genial German mischief maker next addresses himself. Spaniards are to remember that the victory of England in this war means the complete downfall of Spain, its descent into misery and powerlessness, its hopeless future, but that the victory of Germany will be the victory of Spain. Spain, he thinks might follow one of two courses: Either seize Gibraltar by force of arms or get it restored by diplomatic means, or that Spain cease to be neutral and throw in its lot with Germany.

W. D. CLINE TO MOVE TO MONTANA TO RESIDE

(Burkburnett Star.)

W. D. Cline and family leave the last of this week for Billings, Montana, where they will make their home. Mr. Cline having accepted the position of general superintendent of the northwestern division of the Producers Oil company's holdings, which includes extensive interests in Wyoming and Montana. This position is one of much responsibility and carries with it a big salary. The moving of this family from Burkburnett causes general regret. Walter Cline, during his three years' stay in Burkburnett, has made hosts of friends, and has been very successful in the oil business. His holdings at this place yield a big monthly income. He announces that he will hold his property at this place, for the present, at least.

His place as mayor of Burkburnett will likely be filled by election.
