

SUBSTANTIAL ALLIED GAINS BEING MADE

FRENCH RESUME ADVANCE NORTH OF SOMME AND CAPTURE GERMAN SECOND POSITIONS IN THAT REGION.

BRITISH ATTACKS

Are Heavily Engaged All Along Their Front Meeting Heavy German Counter-Attacks—Claim All Gains Are Held.

Paris, July 6.—The Anglo-French offensive in Picardy has entered another day of substantial progress, outstanding features being the resumption of the French advance north of the Somme and the capture of German second positions there. Complete preparations have been made in this section, virtually unimpeded by the Germans, while the French forces south of the river, not a thorough grip on the German second line has been so demolished by artillery that they were unable to make a strong resistance except at the village of Hem, which had been strongly fortified. The French consider the capture of Hem of considerable importance for it commands the passage of the river of Foully and already in their hands its possession assures a direct bond between corps on either side of the stream. French critics expect the Germans now will concentrate their main defense of the villages of Barleux and Villers-Carbonnel.

BRITISH MAINTAIN GAINS DESPITE COUNTER ATTACKS

London, July 6.—Having captured the whole German second line south of the Somme from the river to Belloy, the French have resumed operations north of the river and have cleared the banks almost to Clercy. The French established themselves at Bournont farm, also threatened Clercy. The British still are heavily engaged all along their front from Hardecourt to Commeourt. Notwithstanding heavy German counter attacks they have been able to maintain all the ground gained and in some cases to extend it. As the German trenches are occupied evidence accumulates of the deadly accuracy of artillery. In some cases 80 per cent of the defenders were killed by the terrific shelling to which they were subjected. British losses vary, certain formations being called on to attack defenses where machine guns remained undamaged and suffered heavily. Others captured positions with very small losses.

GERMAN REPORT INDICATES SOME PROGRESS BY ALLIES

Bonn, July 6.—Between the Ancre and the River Somme and in the region south of the river, says today's German official statement, fighting continues. Minor progress made by British troops by Fievel, it was added, was balanced by counter attacks. Further south the British succeeded in obtaining a firm foothold in advanced trench positions. The headquarters staff announced that the small village of Hem in the Somme valley had been evacuated by the Germans. Belle-en-Santerre, southwest of Peronne, has been captured by the French. The fighting around Estrees has come to a standstill. Attempts made by the French yesterday to advance in the wood southwest of Fort Vaux in the Verdun sector, were repulsed, says the official statement today. Similar efforts made to capture the Damloup hill batteries were also unsuccessful. French troops yesterday made an attack in the front of the Aisne district south of the Ville-Aux-Bois, northwest of Rheims, the statement says. The attack was not successful and cost the French serious losses.

DISCUSSION OF VOLUNTEER MOVE

MEETING IS HELD AT WOODMAN HALL WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Importance of Giving Support to Government in Case of War is Emphasized.

Although the volunteer movement received the warm endorsement of prominent citizens last night at the joint meeting at the Woodman hall, the response to the appeal on the part of young Wichitans was anything but encouraging to those who are interested in the movement. Only a small crowd turned out.

S. Meyer presided at the meeting and in his opening remarks spoke of the tender by the Woodmen of $500 of their drilled men to the government. He spoke of the warm interest the Woodmen had in preparedness, and their desire to do something for their country. He then introduced the speaker of the evening, Judge R. E. Huff.

Judge Huff opened his remarks by saying that he was sorry that the response to the appeal on the part of the young Wichitans had been such as it was. He commended the Woodmen for their patriotic offer of services, saying that it did their order much credit, and he doubted not that they would be among the best soldiers going forward. He hoped the war cloud with Mexico would blow over, but he did not believe the nation would allow its dignities to be so compromised. "The American spirit of sympathy for the under dog had caused the president and leaders to be more than patient with the Mexicans, but there was a point where patience ceases to be a virtue, and he thought that point was being rapidly reached."

"I was glad to note the interest in the matter on the part of some of the young Wichitans. It would mean a lot to show that the young men of the country stood with the president on this matter. They say that we Americans fear nothing, but I do not. However I think when the urgent necessity has dawned on the young men of the country they will show the same patriotism that we see in the world that the same patriotic blood courses in the young men of this generation that animated our forefathers of the Revolution and the Civil War."

"In this time of war and strife it has been demonstrated that the nation which is unprepared will suffer all manner of outrage from those better prepared. Our own lack of preparedness was strikingly demonstrated a short time ago when a lone bandit raided our border, killing women and children and escaped across the line and it was more than a week before we were able to follow."

"I would hate to see a single mother's son have to go across that border for the Mexican greasers are not worth it. But it seems more and more like we will have to do it in the near future, and when we do it we should be prepared to do it thoroughly."

The speaker closed his remarks with the assertion that he believed that the surest way to remove a war by the defiant and arrogant attitude characteristic of the Mexicans. He again referred to his belief in an adequate degree of preparedness for the protection of American citizens in every land and on every sea. He said that he did not believe that a large army drawn from the "straw body of the citizenship would prove any menace to democratic institutions and as an example cited the immenses rapidly increased of the army which were absorbed back into the ranks of the private citizens."

Judge W. B. Chancellor and Judge W. C. Carleton spoke on this subject. They were warm advocates of preparedness and believed that the United States should resent indignities and the murder of American men, women and children by the Mexicans. They believed that the time was surely and rapidly approaching when this country would have to intervene in Mexico, and believed it should do the job thoroughly. They complimented the Woodman order for their patriotic spirit.

LIEJOIS ON TRIAL IN DISTRICT COURT
Case Involving Liquor Sales Outside of City Limits is Called Today.

In the 30th district court this morning, J. B. Liejois was arraigned to answer a charge of selling intoxicating liquor outside the limits prescribed by the city, for which an indictment was returned by the recent session of the grand jury.

When the case was called attorneys for the defense filed a motion attacking the constitutionality of that section of the city charter prescribing limits for the sale of liquor. The motion was overruled by Judge Bonner and a jury was empaneled for the trial of the case.

It developed from a statement of counsel for the defense in examining jurors, that no denial would be made to the allegation that liquor was sold at the place alleged, but that an effort would be made to show that the defendant was authorized to sell in wholesale quantities by virtue of licenses from the constituted authorities.

The state is represented by District Attorney L. Humphrey, Assistant County Attorney John Davenport and City Attorney Horace Nutt, the defense by Bernard Martin and W. T. Carlin.

An application for a suspended sentence in the event of conviction was filed by the defendant through his attorneys.

"What was that rumpus at your house last night, Squire?" "That" replied the Old Coder, "was my beloved niece, singing at a mark."—Judge.

CIRCULARS POSTED BY BROTHERHOODS
Posters Present Railroad Men's Side of Demand For Eight Hour Day

The transportation brotherhoods publicity bureau has posted circulars advocating the eight hour day in a number of public places about the city. The proclamation contains expressions from a number of governors favoring the eight-hour day for railroad men. They are the governors of the States of Texas, Michigan, South Dakota, Ohio, Montana, New Mexico, Idaho, North Carolina, Arizona and Iowa.

Governor Ferguson is quoted by the proclamation as follows: "I am heartily in favor of the movement for a shorter working day for the railroad men in Texas. I will be glad to see the time come when they will do eight hours work, eight hours play, eight hours sleep and eight dollars a day."

The poster continues: "Freight train crews are now required to work from twelve to twenty hours and receive less pay per hour than any other trade—their occupation is more hazardous and their working lives are shorter. Fair and reasonable is their demand for an eight hour day. It will make stronger, healthier and more efficient citizens."

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

“The Form of the God Within.” The king from the council chamber came weary and sore of heart; He called to Cliff the painter, And spoke to him thus apart, “I’m sickened of the faces ignoble, Hypocrites, cowards and knaves; I’ll shrink to their shrunken measure, Chief slave in a realm of slaves.”

“Paint me a true man’s picture, Gracious, and wise and good, Dowered with the strength of heroes And the beauty of womanhood; It shall hang in my inner chamber, That, whither when I retire, It may fill my soul with its grandeur, And warm it with sacred fire.”

So the artist painted the picture, And hung it in the palace hall; Never a thing so novel had he Had garnished the stately wall. The king, with head uncovered, Gazed on it with rapt delight, Till it suddenly wore strange meaning, Baffled his questioning sight.

For the form was the supplest courtier’s, Perfect in every limb; But the bearing was that of the henchman Who filled the flagons for him; The brow was a priest’s, who pondered His parchment early and late; The eye was the staring minstrel’s Who sang at the palace gate.

The lips, half sad and half mirthful, With a frown, trembling grace, Were the very lips of a woman; He had kissed in the market place; But the smile which her curves traced, As a rose with its shimmer of dew, Was the smile of the wife who loved Queen Elizabeth, good and true.

Then, “Learn, O King,” said the art, “This truth that the picture tells— That in every form of the human Some hint of the highest dwells; That, scanning each living temple, For the place that the veil is thin We may gather by beautiful glimpses The form of the God within.” —Helen B. Postwick.

Ever since their marriage, Albert Berensford had depended on his wife, Mary, and always had he found her ready, willing, able. In the beginning, when it had been a hard struggle to make ends meet, she uncompromisingly did the scrubbing and washing, and then had sat up half the night aiding him in his law studies, nursing, babying and encouraging him to good work in spite of himself.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 6, 1916

Charles T. Rowland of Tarrant county... announced his campaign for nomination for attorney general at Amarillo this week.

Captain I. Persius, naval expert of the Berlin Tagblatt, declares that the German government proposes again to begin a 'new and unrestricted submarine warfare.'

Announcement is made that speakers will take the stump this week in every section of the state in behalf of the candidacy of Senator Culberson.

There is much speculation as to the effect the administration's failure to begin a conquest of Mexico will have on President Wilson's fortunes.

Nobody would ever hamper a horse like this... But many horse owners are unwittingly handicapping their animals and robbing themselves of having value by making poor 'Dobbin' strains, with stiff, dry-running gear.

COMMUNICATION FROM SENATOR CULBERSON

The Times has received the following communication from Senator Culberson: Washington, July 4.—Senator Culberson, in a statement issued Tuesday night, warns Democrats not to be deceived by the charge that he is physically unable to perform the duties of senator.

These misrepresentations and mis-statements are based largely upon the fact that I have made no personal campaign of the State, except during the two weeks in June when the national conventions were in session.

My announcement for renomination was made only after mature deliberation and not until I felt certain and was given assurance by those best qualified to know that it was as probable as man could foresee that I could continue to represent my State in the senate in the manner which seems to have met public approval.

The assertion that my candidacy was induced and is being promoted by leading politicians is too plainly and absurdly false to require further comment.

My belief is now that it is sufficient for me to say that I have been absent from the senate but two months in the past two years, and that was in the early part of the present session.

For more than four and a-half months I have been in attendance and actively engaged in the discharge of my duties in the senate and its committees. My health is improving and there is nothing to warrant the statement that I am physically unable to discharge the duties of senator.

WHEN IT COSTS TO BE JUST.

It is an easy thing to come out, in a presidential year, in favor of international righteousness and "America first" but it is a hard thing for a president to set up to the first of these ideals without coming into conflict with the second.

MRS. JOHN S. FORE VICTIM OF STROKE

Dies After Few Minutes Illness Today—Resident Here For Many Years

Death came this morning at 11:30 to Mrs. John S. Fore, a pioneer resident of Wichita Falls, following a paralytic stroke suffered but a half hour before. Arrangements have not yet been completed for the funeral which will probably take place Friday afternoon from the family residence, 804 Travis.

Mrs. Fore had risen, apparently in her usual good health this morning and was about her household duties when the stroke came. About a year ago she had been seriously ill with Bright's disease, but for some time before her death she had been able to be up and was considered in fair health, the fatal stroke being a great shock to the family, friends and neighbors.

Mary Phillips was born in McKinney, Tennessee in 1860 and came with her parents to Texas, settling in Wichita Falls in 1884. September 22, 1888 she became the wife of John S. Fore, a resident of the town almost since its settlement. Two children, Clifford P. and Thora Fore were born to this union, both of whom survive. From girlhood Mrs. Fore was a devoted and consistent member of the Baptist Church and was known as a devoted wife and mother, a faithful friend and a kind and thoughtful neighbor.

Beside her husband and daughter and married son there are surviving three grandchildren, two nieces, Miss Cora Phillips and Mrs. O. D. Cottrell and a nephew, Curtis Phillips. With the exception of Mrs. Cottrell, whose husband was recently killed in an automobile accident at Amarillo, these relatives were here at the time of death. Mrs. Cottrell is expected to return today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McKinley of Dallas are the guests of Mrs. McKinley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wilson.

The whole art of successful Tea blending being to combine body and pungency with some particular and distinct flavor in order to please a majority of that portion of the public for whom the Tea is specially prepared, and at the same time to arrange its constituent parts in such a manner that this most desirable result may be obtained at a more moderate cost to the consumer than that of any single higher priced variety. But it must be understood that all combinations of Tea as a rule must depend upon the general character, grade and flavor, most in demand in the particular section or district for which they are intended. This being the case, DON'T IT STAND TO REASON that the best results are to be obtained by the blender who knows the likes and dislikes of his public and the character of the water in which his teas are to be drawn?

Our local experience in Tea blending covers a period of twenty-seven years. We carry a complete line of New Seasons importations and feel we are in a position to meet your most exacting requirements.
