COMPLETE COUNTY RETURNS

SCURRY IS VICTORIOUS BY 63 VOTES

COUNT IS COMPLETED LATE SUNDAY AND DOES NOT CHANGE RESULTS INDICATED BY EARLIER RETURNS RECEIVED.

RASSDALE WINS

Hall Defeats Miss Hickman By Small Majority—Colquitt Carries County For Senator With Dr. Brooks Second.

Judge Scurry for 78th district judge, T. E. Hagdale for tax assessor and E. C. Hall for county superintendent are the victors in the democratic primary according to complete unofficial returns received by The Times.

The three boxes which had not finished counting late Saturday night got through with the tallying Sunday, No. 12 being the last to complete its work at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

With the exception of Judge Nicholson, who lost to Judge Scurry by a margin of 43 votes, all of the precinct officials at the court house are returned by substantial pluralities. Hagdale maintained and increased his lead for tax assessor, winning out with Fowler, second and Deaton in good third.

One of the closest races was that for county superintendent. In this contest, E. C. Hall of Burk Burnett appeared a sure winner late Saturday night, but Miss Hickman showed considerable strength in the city boxes and threatened for a time to overcome the lead. Hall's majority was 54 votes.

The pluralities of Sheriff Hawkins, County Attorney Greenwood, County Treasurer, County Clerk, County Sheriff Kelly were steadily increased as additional votes were counted.

E. R. Greenwood increased his plurality over E. P. Haney, by representing 708 in his county, giving him a lead of 596 in the district, as Wilbarger county gave Haney a 116-vote majority.

Wichita county, as indicated in the early returns, went against submission, for the Robertson law, for Ferguson, and for Colquitt for senator, with Brooks second.

County Commissioner Barwise of Electra was defeated for reelection by H. H. Haines, while Commissioner M. McCleary of Iowa Park needed only ahead of his opponent, Browning, R. L. Eads won in the commissioner's race at Burk Burnett, while in the Wichita Falls precinct J. P. Jackson carried every box over J. A. McSpadden, his opponent, W. Howard was re-elected justice of the peace by a large vote, and J. A. Rawls defeated Will Allen for constable carrying every box save one.

RESCUE CHILDREN LOST IN WOODS FOUR DAYS

By Associated Press

Waterbury, Conn., July 22.—The fairy tale of the "babes in the wood" has been duplicated in the woods near Yantankam, this city by Andrew Yantankam, aged nine, and his sister, Mary, aged eight.

The children left home Tuesday to pick berries and have been sleeping in the woods. Their parents had given up believing they were drowned; they were located today.

GERMANY WANTS SWEDEN IN WAR BY WELL-LAID PLAN

ALLEGED OFFICIAL REPORT ON MATTER CAUSES MARKED SENSATION

Published Document Urges Careful Propaganda to Bring Swedes to German View.

Associated Press Mail Correspondent

Stockholm.—A sensation has been created through all of Sweden by the publication of an alleged official report from a German agent in this country regarding a plan to bring Sweden into a political alliance with Germany as the northern link in "an inviolable wall against Russia and against the Atlantic danger."

This wall, representing a new idea as to Germany's plans, is referred to as being constructed by Turkey, Bulgaria, Austria and Germany.

For the work of propaganda in Sweden the alleged report asks for a preliminary appropriation of more than 100,000 marks and suggests that Turkey and the other allies of Germany be asked to contribute their proper share.

The anti-German newspapers in Stockholm comment rather bitterly upon this suggestion of an international "slush fund" for Sweden, but assert that many of the recommendations in the report evidently written last December, have been carried into effect.

It also is asserted that the report explains much of the activity in Sweden against Russia and the attempt to force a situation which would cause Sweden to declare war as an ally of the Central Powers.

The report as printed in detail begins with a discussion of the possible effect of a Russian offensive this summer. It said that if Russia showed sufficient signs of preparation to organize its armies into an "effective force, it would be necessary at once to carry forward a propaganda in Sweden showing the Swedish people how greatly it would be to their advantage to interfere and ally themselves with Germany "thus preserving their present interests and assuring their future. The report is addressed to "Your Excellency" and says among other things:

"Even if you have only a political union in mind, considerable work will be necessary to win over the Swedish people not ready on our side and actively favoring an alliance with the Central Powers. Swedish sentiment can not be swayed by sporadic methods. It must be trained by systematic and sustained propaganda. We must win over the entire people by an intensive effort. This propaganda must be cautiously executed if we are to gain the active interference of Sweden in the spring of 1916. We must be particularly careful not to let it appear that the propaganda springs from foreign sources. Every political thinking Swede must be convinced that he had made his choice voluntarily and in the interest of his own nation."

"In the opinion of pro-German politicians Sweden has not come into the war because she has lacked a direct cause. But gradually the political influence are becoming more and more unfavorable to the extent, especially to England. The new constellation of nations, arranged by German diplomacy in the Balkans, has tended to win only the sympathy but not the consent of the Swedish people for the Central Powers."

"Concerning the tactics of the propaganda it should be carried forward on three main lines:

"First, opposition to and guarantee against British power.

"Second, information concerning true conditions in Russia and the danger threatening Sweden from that quarter.

"Third, the advantage of a lasting union with the central powers.

The so-called activist group in Sweden has lost considerably in influence lately. Perhaps the designation was unhappily chosen, for even some of the best pro-Germans, who believe in the ultimate goal of war on behalf of Germany, have hesitated publicly to align themselves with the group which has demanded immediate action without the necessary working up of public opinion.

There is no denying that in the last ten months sentiment has been growing again, throwing Sweden into the horrors of the war without a compelling cause. The pro-German group, however, in its press and in its agitation against the central powers, has been directing public opinion toward a neutrality as it should be.

The report then declares that the activists have been so impatient and sharp in their demands as to create the suspicion of being foreign agents. Some of these unwise activists, it says, must be cast aside, like many other pioneers "unhappily" and "undesirably" have entered their ranks. The report continues:

"I believe that most of the Swedes who must decide the fate of their nation, can be won over for union with the central power. It is a question now of gathering our friends, and many of those whose sympathies are with us but who are not yet ready to be the activists and the pacifists, but which at the psychological moment will combine forces with the activists to bring about the desired result. In this group of party we must remove those names and whose standing place them above all suspicion. Our program must avoid jingoism or being more Swedish than the Swedes. It must smooth the path for the eventual union of Sweden with the central powers as a move that make certain the future of the country for ever to come. If the ground is properly prepared in advance this position will win the adherence of the people at large. The movement must appear to come from the broad mass of the people."

The report refers to "several unfortunate incidents of the activists campaign, and particularly deplorable the incident in the Light of the German professor, Wilhelm Ostwald publicly proclaiming Germany's plans of conquest."

The report continues, "can cause the Swedes to turn about, but the foundations are not lacking for practical politics or other material for convincing the people where their true interests are to be sought."

"By systematic effort we could weaken the social democrats headed by Branting and who are so decidedly pro-English and wish to propose a pamphlet in which the democracy of the western powers shall be laid bare in all its nakedness and where the real policy of England and its actions against smaller nations, shall be placed in juxtaposition to the theory of English international conditions in Russia and Poland and should show the relation of our social democrats to the fatherland. Through reviews in the press this pamphlet could be given great publicity throughout the country."

"The Swedish-Russian question must Germany—Gal 2—of course play an important part in the propaganda. A Russian news bureau with a Swedish name should at once be started in Stockholm, because Russian questions now are given only a slight space in the newspapers. I have the proper men in mind for the collection and handling of this material. A beginning has been made for spreading this propaganda by John Looney, a Swedish writer, in a work called "Russia and the European War," based upon the German work of Dr. Paul Rohrbach. In this publication the principle has been followed of giving it the character of a Swedish work, putting on the name of a Swedish author and issuing it from a printing house above the suspicion of being the work of Germany."

"The only thing lacking to put through a big plan in Sweden is initiative and systematic work. One of the main things is a treatment of the questions between Sweden and England. We must convince Sweden that her position is going to be rendered more and more difficult by England. A little more is spent, whose lot can be done along this line by clever propaganda. We must adopt the policy of arranging lectures upon ostensibly cultured subjects in order to present the questions between Sweden and England. ### No Problem to Solve

By H. M. EGBERT

(Copyright, 1916, by W. G. Chapman.)
Some men at the club had brought up the old problem of wife versus mother. Which should a man save, if he were struggling with them in the water? Then it was that Merrill told this story:

"Sothey had been out boating with his fiancée, Evelyn, and her little crippled sister, Mollie," he said. "I think that problem was still harder. Ordinarily, of course, his duty would have been to save his fiancée, but Mollie was lame—had been so from birth. She could walk, after a fashion, but she couldn't have swam, and she was far too frail and delicate to swim for her life in such a tide as Eight Mile race."

"He knew Evelyn could swim like a fish, too. The girls were staying at North Cliff when he went to see them. He had met Evelyn a few weeks before, in town. He knew she and her sister were orphans. They had hardly a relative in the world. Sothey had become engaged a week or two before, and he was, madly in love with Evelyn, and the envy of all the other men who admired her dashing beauty."

"I think his predicament was worse. It was about half a mile to the land, and Evelyn could probably have made it. Mollie was helpless. Sothey did not know what to do. He acted on impulse. He saved Mollie."

"He never knew how the boat had overturned. He was trying to bring the tiller around and let the boom go when they found themselves in the water, and clinging to the overturned boat, which was drifting rapidly out to sea."

"He saw Evelyn struggling beside him, and Mollie sinking. Quick as a flash Sothey grabbed Mollie by the hair. He lost sight of Evelyn. He knew he could not save both girls, and he could not let Mollie go. Alternately swimming and treading water, he managed, in utter exhaustion, to get Mollie ashore. Then he faints."

"He awakened in a fisherman's cottage. Mollie was upstairs and doing well. The next day he saw her. He had not dared to ask about his fiancée; everybody knew she was drowned. To his astonishment Mollie seemed almost unconcerned.

"It was a tiny fishing village, and the tragedy, though it stirred the place, was not widely reported. After Mollie and he had recovered the girl gave up the little cottage and went home."

"You must let me come and see you, for Evelyn's sake," said Sothey. "He was rather astonished when Mollie resolutely refused. 'I bear you no ill will, Jack, and I owe you my life,' she said. 'But I feel that it would be impossible after what has happened.'"

"The girl's unchancy opinion shocked John. However, there was nothing to do but acquiesce. It was a year before he saw Mollie again. They met on Fifth avenue, and the recognition was mutual. Mollie told Jack Sothey that she was living with an old aunt in an apartment uptown."

"That had been a hard period for Sothey. He knew that he shadow over his life would deepen rather than disappear, as the years went on. And yet, strangely enough, he began to realize that he had not truly loved Evelyn. Their meeting and engagement had been rapid, and there had been no communion of tastes between them. It had been infatuation, and, in spite of the tragedy, Jack thought of Evelyn as an episode in his life, rather than his lost love."

"When he looked at Mollie he was conscious of a sudden awakening of interest in the frail girl, whose beauty had developed until she seemed a replica of Evelyn—less dashing, less vivacious, but the Evelyn whom he would have loved rather than the one he had known."

"I am coming to see you, Mollie,"

he said. And this time the girl did not refuse.

"Weeks passed. Their intimacy deepened. The girl was becoming very dear to Sothey. At last the day arrived when he told her the shadow which hung over them ought to be lifted."

"Mollie," he said, taking the girl's hands in his, "I want to tell you, dear, that I love you. I want to ask you to be my wife. I feel that you and I have something inseparable, something that makes our lives one. It is Evelyn, and yet I never cared for Evelyn as I love you."

"The girl looked at him, and then, to Sothey's amazement, she burst into passionate weeping."

"I can never marry you, Jack," she cried. "You do not know—Oh, you do not know, and I cannot bring myself to tell you."

"But you love me, Mollie?" he cried. "He took her in his arms, and for an instant her head lay on his shoulder."

"Yes, I love you," she said. "But I cannot marry you." She raised her head and looked him frankly in the eyes. "Listen, Jack," she said. "I have loved you since I first saw you, and I have never loved anyone else. That is why I must send you away. It is because of Evelyn."

"He could find no answer to make. He bowed his head and went away. It was another year before he saw Mollie again. Then he was at Atlantic City."

"He was seated in a secluded corner by the boardwalk when he saw Mollie coming toward him. At first he thought, so striking was the resemblance, that she was Evelyn herself. Then, as he watched her, he saw Evelyn in the flesh, at her side, and beside Evelyn a man."

"The two were advancing toward him, and Evelyn and the man were engaged in animated conversation. Evelyn had grown stouter and feebler; she was still the dashing beauty of old times, but the dashingness could not carry itself so well under that accumulated load of flesh. It was overdone, and the woman was obviously too artificial. The hair was too light, the eyes too dark. Sothey stared. He could not be mistaken. It was Evelyn."

"Sothey was not superstitious. He knew that Evelyn was at Mollie's side, and he rose and followed them to their hotel. He watched them enter, and all that day he waited until he was rewarded at last by seeing Mollie come out alone. She walked, with her limping gait, along the boardwalk until she came to the same place where Sothey had sat that morning. There she sat down, and there he accosted her."

"The terror in the girl's eyes almost unnerved him. She glanced at him fearfully, and saw that he knew all."

"You have seen her?" she cried, with a quick intake of breath.

"Sothey nodded. Tell me the truth, Mollie, he said, taking her hand in his. And he knew then that, although it was not the same Evelyn whom he had loved, it was just the same Mollie who had been so dear to him, who had always been in his thoughts, night and day, since he had learned to love her."

"She is not dead," said Sothey. "But—Mollie, tell me the truth, and trust me."

"Yes, I will tell you the truth," answered the girl. "When you became engaged to Evelyn you looked on it as a serious matter. But to Evelyn it was just a joke, a summer flirtation. She gets engaged at least two or three times every summer. When you looked on it as something lasting Evelyn was—well, just plain scared. She liked you well enough to become engaged to you, but she never loved you, Jack. Why, Evelyn couldn't love anybody. The man she is engaged to now is rich, and she will probably marry him; but she never intended to marry you."

"You frightened her, Jack, and because she really did care for you in a way, she was afraid that she might not be able to help marrying you. And you were not a rich man, not rich enough for Evelyn. I didn't know what she was going to do, but I knew that she was planning to do something, because she was mad with fear when you came down to North Cliff."

"You know she can swim. She told me afterwards—she sent me a letter while I was in the fisherman's house, before you came up to see me. She had upset the boat, knowing that you would take care of me, because I could not swim. When the boat upset Evelyn dived and climbed out and hid behind the rocks. She waited there until she saw that we were safe, and then she ran home and changed her dress, packed up and ran away. That was to prevent your knowing that she was alive. She wanted you to think her dead, so as to escape marrying you."

"And you knew all that, Mollie? And that was why you forbade me to see you?"

"Yes," cried the girl. "And when I was living with my aunt I could see you, because Evelyn had gone West. But I dared not let you love me."

"But I have always loved you, Mollie," said Jack. "I love you now, dear."

"He took her in his arms and kissed her. And this time they knew that there was no obstacle to their happiness."

"Jack, dear," said Mollie presently. "If Evelyn marries—that man they will go West to live. You won't want to see her again. Can you wait two weeks longer until I send for you to come to me?"

"He laughed. I have waited two years, Mollie," he answered. "I think I can wait two weeks longer—for you, not Evelyn."

ARREST BANKER ON OLD CHARGE

ACCUSED OF WRECKING BANK AT JACKSONVILLE, TEXAS FIFTEEN YEARS AGO.

MEXICAN REFUGEE

Depositors Claimed to Have Lost $100,000—Father and Brother Have Since Died.

By Associated Press. El Paso, Tex., July 22.—Ernest Pleaser wanted in connection with the wrecking of the banking house of C. N. Pleaser & Company at Jacksonville, Texas, fifteen years ago, was arrested here last night while trying to get back into Mexico.

The bank in which Pleaser was a partner with his father and brother, failed to open one morning and the depositors broke in the door, to find, it is alleged, that the vaults were empty and all notes hypothecated. Altogether the depositors claim they lost $100,000.

The Pleasers were traced to Mexico where the father and the elder brother have died. Ernest Pleaser went to San Diego, Cal., as a refugee during the recent war scare and arrived in El Paso a few days ago under the name of Barton. He intended to return to Mexico by way of Agua Pass.

He was recognized by an old depositor and his arrest on an embezzlement charge followed.

TONS OF EARTH CRUSH WORKMEN AT TULSA

By Associated Press. Tulsa, Okla., July 22.—E. C. Ballard and Elmer Pinion, workmen, were crushed to death this afternoon while repairing a broken water main when a cavern covered them with tons of earth. The bodies of both men were recovered.

CHINESE OPINION AGAIN UNSETTLED

Ambitious Political Leaders Not Give New President Their Loyal Support.

By Associated Press. Peking, July 22.—Chinese public opinion has been in a strangely unformed state since the death of Yuan Shai Kai. The passing of the would-be emperor president was met with rejoicing rather than sorrow and efforts to enforce mourning have been somewhat farcical.

Every day it becomes clearer that many of the leaders of the revolution in the south who declare Yuan Shai Kai's retirement was the chief end they sought, had personal ambitions and are not giving Li Yuan Sun the support which might reasonably be expected of them.

Many of the provinces have refused to rejoin the union and new demands are made upon the president almost daily by political leaders in the rebellious provinces.

Liang Shang Yi and Chow Tau Chi, the two members of the government who had most to do with finances in China, have both resigned under fire. The former was head of the financial council and director general of the bank of communications. The latter was formerly minister of commerce but for a short time served as minister of finance. Both were close advisers of Yuan Shai Kai and were regarded by foreigners as two of the ablest leaders in China.

REDS FIRST BASEMAN IS SOLD TO CHICAGO CUBS

Mollwitz, a right-handed hitter, is to oppose Sayre in the lineup when the Cubs encounter left-handed pitching in the plan. He will join the Cubs tomorrow.

PEACE MUST BE REALLY VALID ONE

French Senator Thus Declares and Praises the Work of British Staff

By Associated Press. Paris, July 22.—Senator Harry Bassenger, who has returned from a visit to British staff headquarters in the south, is handling the enormous details of the western campaign. He described Sir Douglas Haig as saying: "We must impose a peace that is really valid as we shall have to live with it."

The French senator was shown in detail the methods used by the British general staff in handling the enormous details of the western campaign. He described Sir Douglas Haig as a commander who leaves nothing to chance and said the British commander believed the war would be decided on the western battlefields.

"The technical skill of the British general staff," said the senator, "is on a par with the heroism of the British troops."

An exchange telegram dispatch from Dublin says that opponents of Mr. Redmond intend to hold what they describe as an anti partition meeting in Phoenix Park tomorrow. Use of the park has been granted by the police commissioner.

THE SYMONDS CASE

By FRANK FILON.

The News-Herald was the yellowest paper in town, but old Lyons had never yet had a woman in the reporters' room. He always said it needed men to get the sort of news he wanted. When we came in and saw little Mary Leeson sitting beside the city editor's desk, therefore, we rubbed our eyes.

The city editor introduced her to me.

"Put Miss Leeson wise to the game, Howell," he said, "She's going to cover general assignments."

She was a little country-bred girl, and I thought she had lost her father or mother recently, for she always dressed in black. She was as plucky as you please, and she never fell down on a story. Had a rare gift of descriptive writing, too.

She certainly made good that first year. Baldwin, the sports editor, used to take her round quite a bit, but after a while they ceased to speak, except for a formal greeting. I guessed what had happened, and was sorry for Baldwin, but I had known from the first that no one had a chance with her. It was the same way with Rivers, the news editor. He pulled away in time. And it wasn't the girl's fault. She was as nice as could be to all of us. But she simply didn't care for love-making.

Remember, Miss Leeson, old Jones had said to her, when she looked on the paper comes first. If a reporter hits not his father and mother when the paper's interests are to be served, he won't do for the News-Herald. Remember that—always.

And she did—indeed she did. There was the time when she stood all night in a blinding snowstorm to get the first news of the death of the president of the South-Western system. Brought it back in the gray dawn, the story all written, and had to wait an hour longer till the watchman unlocked the door.

But I am thinking now of the famous Bell trial. Bell had been arrested for murder in some obscure little place that no one had ever heard of, I supposed. He had been in love with a girl, and had sent a box of poisoned candy to his rival, according to the claim of the district attorney. The woman had disappeared, and that was considered the most favorable omen for the prisoner. Six of us were sent down to Shoreport to report the trial, which ran in scare-heads every day. They were a week selecting a jury, and they'd never got one if there hadn't been a change of venue.

For some occult reason—all Lyons' reasons are occult—the News-Herald was told to take the prisoner's side. It may have been because the Eagle was openly for the conviction of Symonds, the prisoner. Personally, I had no doubt of his guilt the moment I set eyes on him. Mary Leeson was there to do the gush work.

"What do you think, Miss Leeson?" I asked. "Guilty?"

Miss Leeson had elected to take an obscure seat in the back of the courtroom, to get the thing in better perspective, as she said. I was coaching her that day—it was her first trial—in the chamber of court procedure.

"The News-Herald says he's innocent," she answered.

"But what do you think?" I persisted.

"Innocent," said Miss Leeson with a certain intonation. It was as if her feminine psychology was at strife with the instinct of obedience to the paper's demands.

The case against Symonds was not a strong one. It became pretty well evident from the second day that he would be acquitted unless the state could bring better witnesses. The girl, Madge Kilns, could not be found. Without her evidence, conviction seemed impossible.

Besides, Miss Leeson's articles encouraged anything that the most accomplished scribbler had ever achieved in writing about a trial of popular excitement. I heard a man in the street discussing the crime on the day the trial opened.

"Guilty? Sure, he's guilty," he said. "Why did they ask a change of venue? The neighbors knew him. He wouldn't want a dog's chance in his own trial."

And on the third morning, when everybody went about with a copy of the News-Herald in his hand, open at Miss Leeson's article: "Guilty? These fellows ain't guilty. Why, there's innocence in his face. Look at him! Who'd be fool enough to send a box of poisoned candy like that? Bought strychnine? Sure! For rats! They can't and won't prove he put it into the creams. Anyway, I'm in favor of giving him a chance for his life."

"They can't prove nothing. No case," summed up the popular verdict.

About all the evidence against Symonds, in fact, was that he had bought a box of candy at one store and some strychnine pills at another. And yet, so susceptible is a jury to the atmosphere of a courtroom, that the man might have been convicted but for Mary Leeson's articles.

On the day on which the verdict was to be delivered, old Lyons came down to see. He patted Mary Leeson on the arm. "We'll win," he whispered. "You've done finely, Miss Leeson. I take back all I ever said against woman reporters."

Miss Leeson smiled, and went on writing her last article.

Lyons created something of a stir in court. The district attorney, in summing up, turned and faced him for a moment. "Where is the missing girl?" he inquired of the jury. "Who knows? If anybody, it is the powerful interests that are defending the prisoner."

Lyons leaped to his feet, but the judge's gavel fell with a thud. "I will not permit such an insinuation," he shouted. "Strike that from the record."

Well, it was "not guilty," of course. And yet, in spite of all the signs of an acquittal, which had been sensed in court from the opening of the second day, I was not sure. I saw the face of the prisoner turn from green to gray as the foreman pronounced the words. Then a ghastly smile came over Symonds' face, and he stepped down, a free man.

The jury crowded about him, to go through the form of shaking hands. "I congratulate you, sir," said each man, with a beaming smile of self-congratulation upon his perspicacity. They gathered round him in an avid cluster till Symonds' counsel pulled him away.

"You had better thank Mr. Lyons," he said.

The two men shook hands. "I was convinced of your innocence from the first, Mr. Symonds," said Lyons. "And so I brought to bear what little influence I possess. I hope, in return, that you will let us have an article on the trial and a personal history. But you must thank Miss Leeson—whose articles did more for you than you perhaps realize now."

He pulled Miss Mary by the sleeve, and the girl and Symonds stood face to face. The man's eyes fixed themselves upon hers in a terrified glare. Then there was a sensation in the courtroom. Symonds dropped to the floor in a dead faint.

And, looking at Mary Leeson's expression, I knew where the missing girl was, knew that the undying hatred pictured there was to burn itself into Symonds' brain for ever. (Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)

TEETH NEED EXTREME CARE

Bedily Health of All Descriptions is Dependent Upon Keeping Them in Condition.

Lack of care of the mouth is prejudicial to the health of children as well as adults. A decaying tooth is always a menace, and especially when the decaying process reaches below the gums, producing ulcerations, pyorrhea, etc., which being difficult of access for treatment, are always to be regarded as dangerous.

Aside from the pain and suffering which these diseases of the teeth produce, the possibility of direct infection must not be overlooked.

So-called blood poisoning and death have been frequent results from diseased teeth. Some forms of inflammatory rheumatism are believed to be caused by the infection of pyorrhea, and in general the health is injured in proportion as the teeth are affected.

Inflammation of the lining membrane and muscular fibers of the heart, chronic enlargements of the joints, acute and chronic inflammation of the kidneys, tonsillitis, gonorrhea, and even diabetes have all been traced directly to diseased teeth.

Squeaky Shoes Once Prized.

While conducting a research for information on the origin of certain fashions of the past I discovered the reason for the existence of the squeaky shoe.

The squeak was once deemed fashionable, and men of great importance in the affairs of the country demanded it in their footwear, and cobblers were paid two shillings extra for putting it in. The squeaky boot denoted the approach of someone of importance, and the way was made clear at once in the same manner as a bicyclist's shrill whistle warns you to look to your interests.

During the squeaky period men found it difficult to sneak into the house after twelve midnight without being discovered and disgraced. Removing the shoes before entering the home is an invention which followed the squeaky shoe era, and while the former is now almost obsolete, the latter is still in vogue and as popular as ever with married men.—Zim in Cartoons Magazine.

ITALIAN PRINCE IS VISITOR AT FRONT

Youth Becomes Great Favorite With Troops—Is Mischievous Youngster

Headquarters of the Italian Army. The most envied boy in all Italy is Humbert, Nicholas Thomas Jean Marie—envied not because he is heir apparent to the Italian throne, but because he is the youngest boy who has been officially permitted to see the Italian front.

This only son of King Victor Emmanuel, who is known as the Prince of Piedmont, is but 13 years old and has had some remarkable adventures. He is head of the Young Explorers of Italy, a body that corresponds to the Boy Scouts in America, and has done a lot of things that any boy would like to do. He has gone up in aeroplanes, down in submarines, steered warships, sailed boats, shot at wild boars and ridden cavalry horses.

But the things he is proudest of are his visits to the front, for he has been here not once but many times. His first visit was a matter of considerable family discussion. In the royal family in Italy all such matters are talked over in the same fashion that they would be in any large American family. Humbert has three sisters, two older than he, one younger than he, all of whom love him very much and it is related that they did not agree about the safety of a visit to the front since the war began, as a matter of duty, felt it was rather risky business letting his only son get within range of Austrian shells and bullets, aside from the usual hazards of rough army life.

Indeed, he liked the front so much that he has since gone on several more visits. He is now in the front again, and until now his happy smile and his sailor uniform of blue serge have become known to the soldiers all along the front. It is related that during his last visit, when the weather was warm on the lower hills of the Isonzo river front, seeing some soldiers going barefooted he insisted on buying them his own shoes. "If the soldiers can go barefoot, why can't a sailor boy?" he demanded.

While the first prince of his line destined to a naval career, young Humbert like the army as much as the navy. His fondness for soldiers comes from his associations with his aged grandfather, King Nicholas of Montenegro, who has been a soldier all of his life and involved in wars with both Austria and Turkey. Humbert loves his grandfather very much and has always insisted on hearing tales of the latter's exploits in war.

His physical training has made of him an unusually strong boy for his age. A year previous to the war, young Humbert was nominally under the direction of Miss Brown, the English governess in charge of the girls of the family. Nevertheless he has found many hours for sports, particularly at Castel Porziano, an estate overlooking the Tyrrhenian Sea, purchased by his father and converted into a hunting forest. There in the summer before the war, he tramped in the forests with his father or played with his sisters along the seashore, took swims in the sea or sailed boats as he pleased. It was not long ago that he might be seen there all but naked somewhere about the beach, after the fashion of the boys the world over. As his father also rents the island of Monte Carlo, he has been in the novel of Alexander Dumas, the little Prince has also made many yacht trips with the family to this island.

Brought up in the tolerant manner of his father, Humbert is all boy, through and through, and is not averse to some of the mischief that characterizes the American boy. It is related that when Lloyd George was American ambassador at Rome and was received at the Palace of the Quirinal in an informal way by the king, young Humbert, on one occasion offered to show the ambassador the garden. The ambassador was surprised to find the garden, in fact, was the summer residence of the Pope. As the ambassador was observing the garden, the king, who was surprised to find himself sprayed with water leaping right up out of the path. His boy guide had led the ambassador purposely into the path, where a hidden fountain was made to work by the simple process of stepping upon the stones.

Just one of his tricks—the king sported. "The little rascal pulled the buttons off my uniform coat sometimes when he comes up to kiss me."

The latest exploit of this youngster was to mount a recently captured airplane. When at Tarante, the naval base inside the heel of the shoe that the peninsula of Italy forms in the south, and where a number of American aviators have been selling in the training of the Italian flyers, he sought and obtained permission to take a ride. "He went up smiling and he came down grinning," remarked one of the American aviators. "Some day they'll call that lad the smiling king."

HEAVY POSTAL BUSINESS ALONG TEXAS BORDER

By Associated Press. Mercedes, Texas, July 21.—Probably never before in the history of the Rio Grande valley have the post offices in the little towns of this section had such a large business in the sale of postage stamps, particularly the one-cent denominations, on account of the presence and consequent correspondence, of the thousands of federalized national guardsmen from eastern and central states.

Scattered post cards, depicting all possible scenes from any main street and public square to bull fights and other reminiscences of better days in Matamoros, the principal Mexican town across the Rio Grande, find their way from this section to all quarters of the United States. Due to the sending of picture post cards, the demand for one-cent stamps has been particularly heavy, and has been particularly heavy.

Sunday afternoon, observation at the various concentration camps show, in the banner day for letter writing, the soldiers not fortunate enough to obtain strategic positions in the rest quarters provided by the Texas Young Men's Christian Association, sitting in their tents, where with stubby pencils, the guardsmen draw word pictures of their border life for "the folks back home."

dinner," afternoon tea is too pleasant an indulgence to be relinquished.

In variety days, was there any hour of the day quite so delightful as the hour on a winter afternoon when, comfortably tired after football or the river, bathed and dressed and cozy, one sat down to tea by a bright fire, with the prospect of a pipe and a book to follow? In the country, breakfast is good and dinner jolly; but do either of them come up to tea? There must be a table, of course, and tea (in pots—none of your trim, stinky sandwiches!), and, if possible, Devonshire cream. And if it is going to spoil your dinner, will you be much the better? Women, who are usually honest about their likes and dislikes, frankly do not care if it does; and year by year more men (other than curates) are found willing to confess that they love their tea.

It is very different at a restaurant, a tea shop. The good tea shops know what is wanted. They may set absurdly dressed old men as advertisements for their goods, but they give you tables; some of them are even wise enough to give you jam in socks. You can sit down to it and twiddle and fiddle on hearing the tea shops has never been so prosperous a time as the present.

A well known variety theater has recently been closed in New York. Never mind the performance. Let us go and have tea. And if we are hurried over it, why, when we get out, we will go somewhere else and have another tea.

MANY MINISTERS' SONS DO WELL, STATISTICS SHOW

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.) The clergyman in a Western city, who recently preached a sermon in which he quoted statistics proving many sons of ministers rise to positions of prominence must have "something on his conscience" or was very hard pressed for a subject. He said that nearly 1,000 out of 12,000 men finding place in the pages of "Who's Who in America" were sons of ministers, and he reported other biographical works showed more ministers' sons have risen to eminence than have doctors' and lawyers' sons. What was the purpose of his exhibit? Surely ministers are in need of no defense for what their sons have become. Foolish or merely thoughtless persons do say sometimes that the children of preachers "always turn out bad." But nobody who knows anything believes that. On the contrary, they know it is not true. The offspring of clergymen ought to average higher in character and accomplishments than those of men otherwise engaged, and they do. If the offering of clergymen ought to be somewhat higher than those of other professions, indeed, upon the ministerial profession.

A man's success in life is not to be measured only by what he is able to make of himself, if he has a family, but rather by what he helps his children to make of themselves. And the minister has more opportunity and better training for directing his children in the course which they should pursue than have men otherwise engaged. The minister has more command of his waking hours than does he who is engaged in what are commonly called gainful occupations. And his business is teaching. If he cannot inculcate correct principles in his own children, can he be a success in pointing the way of right conduct for others?

Likely enough some ministers' sons fall and fall far, but that they do is no reflection on their parent's calling; there is some other reason for the erring one's course. Environment of childhood has more influence in shaping manhood than any other thing; the atmosphere of a minister's home, save in very exceptional cases, must be uplifting. "As the twig is bent the tree's inclination" is a rule that applies as much to human character as to horticulture.

2500 WOODMEN ALREADY HERE TRAINS BRINGING MANY OTHERS

M'DILL NOW IN COMMAND OF MEN HERE

FORMALLY TAKES CONTROL WITH FLAG RAISING CEREMONY THIS MORNING. MORE TENTS BEING RUSHED TO LAKE TODAY.

BEGIN CAMP LIFE

Routine is Now Under Way With Practically All Arrangements Completed—Busy Preparations For This Week's Events.

The biggest and best state encampment ever pulled off in Texas is what the officers of the Woodmen pronounced Camp Wichita this morning. All day Sunday and today Woodmen of all sizes and descriptions from the four quarters of Texas poured into the city on special trains and also crowding down the regular trains.

At noon today considerable more than 2500 men had arrived and the inpouring was steadily going forward. Quarters for a maximum of 2500 men had been erected, but rush orders for more tents, cots and other supplies were placed and the officers are straining every resource to have quarters for more than 3000 men put up by night.

At ten o'clock this morning the ceremony of formally turning over the command of the camp to General McDill took place. With the First Battalion of the First Provisional Regiment standing at attention and the band playing the "Star Spangled Banner" the national colors were run up and broken out on the flag staff and Major E. Z. Crowder, who has been commanding officer during the preliminary arrangements formally transferred the command of the Camp to General McDill, who then declared Camp Wichita open.

General McDill announced the presence of Col. C. L. Mather of Omaha, assistant adjutant of the Woodmen and called on him for a few words. Col. Mather expressed pleasure on being with the Texas division on their encampment and conveyed the regrets of General Frazier, sovereign commander, who was prevented from being in attendance by a meeting of the executive council in Omaha.

In spite of the unexpectedly large number who are in attendance at the encampment all arrangements are going forward like clockwork. Especially was this true this morning of the huge kitchen where Captain Eskew and his corps of twenty assistants looked after the preparation of the food to satisfy the ravenous appetites created by the night in the open. It was an interesting sight to see the hungry Woodmen passing the kitchen in line and holding out their mess kits to one or the other of the kitchen force dishing out the breakfast, receiving a hunk of "saw belly" here and a dash of "spuds" yonder. Immediately after demolishing his meal, each man, most of whom would have been mortally affronted by being asked to help with the "dishes" at home repaired to the washing basins and proceeded to put his mess kit in that state of cleanliness that his personal taste might dictate.

So far there has been no use for the hospital department in charge of Major C. W. Baum of Dallas and Lieut. Alexander of Fort Worth. It is expected that later on a few of the old soldiers will seek the shade within the large 40x60 hospital tent. The only hitch in the arrangements so far has been a partial failure of the water system installed in the camp, but measures being taken to overcome that difficulty, which will have the matter remedied by nightfall.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the ceremony of mounting the guard will take place. This ceremony and that of retreat at 6:30 are the two most impressive military ceremonies and will be a treat that many Wichitans are expected to experience. Guard mount, retreat and the afternoon review will be omitted Tuesday on account of the big parade to be pulled off downtown that night.

This afternoon each afternoon of the encampment beginning at 3 in the afternoon one of the military bands in attendance will give a band concert lasting an hour and a half. Among the organizations that stand out among the others at the camp is the regimental band of the 34th regiment. This band, from Dallas, has been assigned to the larger part of the concert duty, to the ceremonies such as guard mounting, etc. The band has thirty-six pieces, twice as large as the ordinary military bands. It has the reputation of being the best military band in the state outside of the regular United States service.

Another organization that is attracting much attention is the bugle and drum corps of the 34th regiment. This corps numbers twelve pieces and while newly organized is a thoroughly efficient one, containing a number of crack drummers. The buglers know their calls surprisingly well taking into consideration the newness of the organization and promise to be in a position to compare favorably with the buglers in the service before the encampment comes to an end.

Company "A" of the 34th regiment, from Oak Cliff who will put on a special drill at the ball park Wednesday night is in camp and engaged in working out for their drill. This company which is commanded by Captain Geo. W. Hillpot, has not been defeated in three years in any drill contest and enjoys the reputation of being the champion drill team of the Woodmen in the world. The Wednesday night drill will take place in front of the grand stands at the ball park at 8:30. This illuminated drill is said to be very unique and was perfected by the Oak Cliff company, the only ones who have ever put it on successfully. The lights at the park will all be switched off during the drill in order to heighten the effect of the drill. Each man will carry a miniature electric light on his cap, each wrist, each ankle and on the head of his axe, and the captain will have one on the point of his sword. The movements as reflected by the lights are calculated to resemble a dance of fireflies. Judging from the enthusiastic comment this drill has evoked wherever it has been shown it would appear that Wichitans neglecting to see this drill will be doing themselves a positive injustice.

The long column for the parade will be formed at the corner of Broad and Tenth Tuesday night. From this point they will take the march down Tenth to Indiana, up Indiana to Sixth, thence to Ohio on Sixth, down Ohio to Tenth, back to Indiana on Tenth and down Indiana to Eleventh. Here the first two regiments will turn to the right and fall out, the second two to the left and fall out, and the last will disband at Eleventh and Indiana. Major Frazier, Judge R. E. Huff and other prominent Wichitans will review the procession with General McDill and staff at the reviewing stand on the corner of Eighth and Ohio. It is estimated that the parade will be three miles deep and take an hour for it to pass the reviewing stand.

After the parade the section of Eighth between Ohio and Indiana will be roped off and dancing to music furnished by the combined bands attending the encampment will be indulged in.

GENERAL BLISS REPORTS ON INSPECTION OF CAMPS ALONG RIO GRANDE.

SICKNESS IS SCARCE

Food is Abundant But Boling of Water Has Been Considered Advisable.

Washington, July 24.—Major General Bliss advised war department today that he had completed inspection of the Luso-American and Maine infantry camps at Laredo, Texas, and found health conditions excellent, less than one per cent of the command being in the hospital and no serious cases reported. The water supply while abundant in all cases, General Bliss said, had to be boiled for drinking purposes, but the Laredo authorities would take immediate steps to provide purification methods, rendering boiling unnecessary. The command was reported excellently sheltered with the exception of two companies of the Fourth Missouri for which new tents had been requisitioned. Regarding the food supply the general said all officers interviewed by him stated it was abundant in quantity and of excellent quality. He added there was a general spirit of contentment existed among the men.

It directs that foreign submarines in Swedish territorial waters, unless recognized as neutrals or as merchant ships are to be immediately attacked.

INDIANA HONORS RILEY'S MEMORY

FLAGS AT HALF MAST THROUGHOUT STATE FOR DEAD HOOSIER POET.

SKETCH OF CAREER

One of Best Known and Most Beloved of All American Verse Writers.

Indianapolis, July 24.—Flags here and in many other cities of the state were at half mast in memory of James Whitcomb Riley who died suddenly Saturday night. Preparations were begun at the state house for the body to lie in state from 3 to 9 this evening.

Only tentative funeral arrangements have been made today. Those who provide for burial Tuesday. James Whitcomb Riley, born of the Middle West, sang the joys, sorrows, fancies and humors of his folks, largely in his own dialect. The world was so touched by his inspirations and the realism of his homely symbols that he was one of the few, that, devoting his life to poetry, attained a fortune.

Mr. Riley was peculiarly sensitive as to the advance of age and evaded inquiries as to his birth but the most accurate information available indicates that he was born in 1848. "Should you ask his age," one of his friends said, "he would answer 'This side of forty', and leave you to guess which side."

The post was the son of Reuben A. Riley, a lawyer and political speaker of Greenfield, Ind. Riley was sent to school days, but he was wise in the use of streams and fields. His mother, who was Elizabeth Maria, was so touched by his inspirations and the realism of his homely symbols that he was one of the few, that, devoting his life to poetry, attained a fortune.

Mr. Riley was peculiarly sensitive as to the advance of age and evaded inquiries as to his birth but the most accurate information available indicates that he was born in 1848. "Should you ask his age," one of his friends said, "he would answer 'This side of forty', and leave you to guess which side."

He led this cheerful, free and easy life late in the 70's, but he took employment as a reporter on a newspaper at Anderson, Ind. in 1877, for the purpose, as he said, of proving that he could write poetry of value, he persevered in his poems to a great extent. His literary success was a literary sensation. He wrote a poem in the style of Edgar Allan Poe, to which he gave the characteristic of a "hoosier" dialect. The poem was offered to the public as a hitherto unpublished product of the genius of Poe. One of the stanzas was: "Loooonnie—sawnee, a great cur, And they took the light Of the laughing stars and framed her In a smile of white, And the moon's hair of gloomy Midnight and her eyes of bloomy Moonshine and they brought her to me In the solemn night.

In some quarters the poem was accepted as genuine; in others it was denounced as a fraud. After the controversy had waged for months Riley confessed.

In the early 80's he began writing verses in "Hoosier" dialect for the old Indianapolis Journal. He sent some of his poems to Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and they received his praise. A volume was published and "The Hoosier poet" began to win a public. Riley was an excellent reader of his own dialect verses and for the following fifteen years, or until 1898, he made tours of the country, appearing alone in public on a variety of both alone and in association with the humorist, Bill Nye, who was his intimate friend.

Publication of books of poems year after year brought Riley a fortune and wide recognition of his literary genius and not only in the genre form. Many of his poems are imaginative fancies of gently philosophic. In 1902 he received the degree of master of arts from Yale University and in 1904 the University of Pennsylvania conferred upon him the degree of doctor of letters. Indiana University conferred the honorary degree of LL. D. on him in 1905. In 1911, the post presented to the city of Indianapolis property valued at $75,000 for a site for a public library and school administration building. Mr. Riley never married but he was a lover of children, whose spirit he divined so intimately, and of family life. Many of the best years of his life were spent quietly at his home in a secluded section of Indianapolis.

MORE GAINS BY RUSSIANS AND BRITISH BLOWS NEAR RIGA

LATTER SCORE PROGRESS IN THEIR EFFORTS TO CAPTURE POZIEROS, ALSO ON LEFT FLANK.

Petrograd Claims Von Hindenberg's Troops Were Driven Back Twelve Miles at One Point—New Progress Against Turks.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: London reports new and important advances gained by the British in their fight for Pozieros, the present focal point of the attack in the Somme region. The place is considered of great tactical importance as blocking an advance of the British toward Reims.

General Sir Douglas Haig also reports gains of ground near High Wood and the vicinity of Guillemont on the British left flank. Paris announces the continuance of bad weather along the French front in the Somme region and a cessation for the time being of active operations there.

Special dispatches from Petrograd emphasize the importance of the Russian offensive in the Riga region where at one point Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces are reported to have been driven back twelve miles. Petrograd officially reports Russian advance guards within fifteen miles of the Turkish fortress of Erzincan.

Mr. Riley was peculiarly sensitive as to the advance of age and evaded inquiries as to his birth but the most accurate information available indicates that he was born in 1848. Those in Position to Know Cannot Explain Failure of Sub to Arrive.

Norfolk, Va., July 24.—Persons who maintained a vigil for the Bremen, sister ship of the giant German submarine Deutschland for the past 48 hours were keenly disappointed at the failure of the submarine to put in an appearance at Cape Henry so far as could be learned here today no authoritative information as to her whereabouts had been received.

Persons who forecast the coming of the Deutschland almost to the hour of its arrival and who declared Saturday that the Bremen would arrive in not later than today made no attempt to explain her failure to appear.

SAYS GUARD WAS ORDERED UNDER FALSE PRETENSES

SENATOR TOWNSEND DECLARES NEVER WAS INTENDED TO SEND THEM INTO MEXICO AT ANY TIME.

FEWER REDUCTIONS

Less Tendency to Reduce Items in Military Appropriation Bill Evident Today When Senate Resumes Consideration.

Washington, July 24.—Charges that the national guard was sent to the Mexican border under false pretenses was made by Senator Townsend today during debate on the military bill. He urged that all militiamen not in active service ought to be sent home.

Senator Townsend declared that the national guard is not going to Mexico and they were mobilized on false pretenses. "Diplomatic correspondence between Mexico and the United States discloses that there never was any intention of sending them into Mexico. Fewer reductions in army bill items made Saturday were not continued today. A reaction of sentiment apparently had set in. Several senators urged that retrenchment should not be carried too far because of the present favorable aspects of the Mexican situation and a proposal to cut in half a $5,000,000 appropriation for small arms drew protests from Senators Cummins, Jones, Townsend and others. The Senate by a vote of 25 to 23 agreed to cut this appropriation to $2,500,000. Senator Reed insisted a majority did not know what they were voting for and gave notice he would call for another vote when the bill got out of the committee of the whole.

CULBERSON AGAIN IN SECOND PLACE; SUBMISSION MAJORITY SHRINKING

JONES' LEAD IS INCREASING WITH LATER RETURNS

While additional returns are steadily increasing the plurality of Marvin Jones for congress from this, the third district, reports from other parts of Texas indicate that Judge Jones was not the only member of the state's delegation to be re-elected.

In the twelfth (Fort Worth) district U. S. District Attorney Wilson has probably defeated Oscar Callaway. In the ninth district, in South Texas, Congressman Burgess is running behind Mansfield, while A. B. Davison, former lieutenant-governor, is still in the running.

Tom Connally of Marlin has probably been elected in the eleventh (Waco) district, succeeding R. L. Henry. In the sixteenth district, Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene is leading Congressman Smith and the later is thought to have been defeated. Sam Rayburn has been re-elected from the fourth district, in which he was opposed by a son of former Congressman Handell.

Marvin Jones continues to increase his lead, quite a few counties giving him a clear majority. Additional returns today were scarce. Mr. Jones has wired Horace Nutt, one of his most enthusiastic local supporters, as follows: "Amartillo's vote was as follows: Jones 1403; Stephens 160; Eller 97; Prescott 15. Carried practically all other Fairbairn counties by majorities over the entire field. Accept my sincere thanks for your loyalty and the enthusiastic support of my friends in your section."

NO DECISION ON NEXT ACTION IN BLACKLIST CASE

Persons Who Watch for Boat at Norfolk Disappointed, However.

DELAY IS INDICATED

Those in Position to Know Cannot Explain Failure of Sub to Arrive.

Washington, July 24.—President Wilson told callers today that the British "Black List" was causing him a great deal of concern but indicated that details of the plan of the American government had not been decided upon. Senator Hoke Smith who said he spoke only for himself declared after seeing the president that he thought the issue would be settled here today by withdrawal or modification of the black list.

FRENCH AVIATOR FLIES TO BERLIN, LATER CAPTURED

Paris, July 24.—Lieut. Marcial, of the French aviation corps last month left French soil and flew over the German capital upon which he dropped proclamations and then continued his flight, intending to land within the Russian lines. He was forced to descend, however, in Poland and was taken prisoner by the Germans.

TURKS REPORT BRITISH DEFEAT IN SUEZ REGION

London, July 24.—Premier Asquith today told John Redmond, leader of Irish Nationalists in the House of Commons, that the British government did not propose to introduce an Irish bill in regard to which there did not appear to be the prospect of a substantial agreement by all political parties.

MAY DELAY IRISH BILL STILL MORE

El Paso, Tex., July 24.—Gen. Francisco Gonzalez, commandant at Juarez formally protested today to Gen. Geo. Bell Jr., against the conduct of the outpost guard of 9th Massachusetts Infantry who he said crossed into Mexican territory yesterday "in violation of Mexican rights" and "last night 'shot up' without provocation a number of Mexican homes south of the border."

RETURNS TODAY SHOW NO CHANGES IN OTHER CONTESTS

The following totals in state contests were given out this afternoon by the Texas Election Bureau. For submission, 116,230; against 112,652. For Senator: Colquitt, 84,481; Culberson, 62,512; Brooks, 60,371; Campbell, 47,952; Henry, 27,871. For Governor: Ferguson 168,368; Morris, 117,853; Marshall, 17,517. For Chief Justice: Phillips, 151,079; Jenkins, 95,577. For Associate Justice: Yantis, 129,928; Hall, 119,336. For Attorney General: Loomis, 123,149; Woods, 101,996; Rowland, 30,997. For Criminal Appeals Judge: Harper, 114,240; Morrow, 136,582. For Congressman at Large: Garrett, 74,350; McLemore, 72,674; Davis, 48,168; Fitzgerald, 47,317.

Culberson, as indicated by these figures, has again taken second place in the senatorial race, and has increased his lead over Brooks since early today, when he passed the Waco candidate. Brooks was in the lead most of Sunday. While little doubt remains that Colquitt will be one of the candidates in the run-off primary, it is not yet certain who will be his opponent, as Culberson's margin over Brooks is quite small.

Submission, which was in the lead by over 8000 votes at one time in the accounting, now is less than 4000 votes ahead, and the majority has been steadily reduced by later returns, so that it is not improbable that a full count will see the defeat of the proposition. Otherwise, today's returns show no changes from the results that were indicated by the figures published in The Times Sunday morning. Governor Ferguson, Attorney General Loomis and Chief Justice Phillips, with other state candidates seeking reelection, continue to increase their leads over their opponents. Garrett and McLemore have almost certainly won for congressmen-at-large, with Davis and Fitzgerald in third and fourth places, respectively.

No additional returns were received this afternoon on the Robertson law, but the straw vote is known to have resulted in an overwhelming majority for it. Election bureau officers stated that additional figures were coming in very slowly, with prospects that several days may ensue before the results in the submission and senatorial contests are known with any degree of certainty.

VILLA HAD CLOSE CALL AT PARRAL BARELY ESCAPES

HIS CARRIAGE CAPTURED BY DEFACTO TROOPS VERY SHORTLY AFTER HE FLEW FROM IT WHEN MEN RETREATED.

NURSE IS PRISONER

Man Who Had Been Attending Him Says Bandit Chief Will Need Immediate Operation Upon His Injured Limb.

El Paso, Tex., July 24.—Only by the merest chance did Francisco Villa escape capture when his column was repulsed by de facto troops in its attack upon Parral two weeks ago, according to a private letter received here today from an American in the town. "Villa personally directed the band that attacked the city," the letter said, "he directed the operation from a carriage about a mile behind the line. In this carriage were two women and a man. When the bandits were pushed back by the government troops they fled past the carriage stopping only to provide their chief with a horse on which he made his escape. The women fled into the brush and are expected to be captured or so later the carriage was seized by Carranza soldiers and the man, who proved to be a Swiss nurse, was captured. In the carriage were Villa's crutches and some bandages. The nurse said Villa's wound necessitated an immediate operation and complete rest for some weeks."

LONDON'S REPLY ON MAIL SEIZURE UNSATISFACTORY

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS CONSIDER THAT IT DOES NOT DEAL WITH PRINCIPLES INVOLVED IN THIS COUNTRY'S PROTEST.

Believe British Government is Determined to Uphold Attitude to Which Washington Objects—Further Reply to Be Asked.

Washington, July 24.—Great Britain's partial reply to the American note protesting against interference with neutral mails is regarded by officials as unsatisfactory, principally because it deals with specific cases instead of the principles involved. Officials infer from the communication that Great Britain is determined to uphold the attitude which the United States regards as unwarranted and without authority in international law. Acting Secretary Polk said he would cable Ambassador Page repeating the request for an early reply to the last American note. He said the memorandum now is before President Wilson.

With one exception all of the present members of Wichita county's official family were re-nominated in Saturday's democratic primary, the exception being Judge Nicholson, who was defeated by Judge Scurry. Complete returns from all boxes became available late Sunday and while the official tabulation may change these in some particulars, the figures as given in The Times today may be considered substantially correct.

Chief interest centered in the contest for 75th district judge and for tax assessor, both races being quite close. The small leads of Judge Scurry and T. E. Ragsdale were increased as additional figures came in. Generally speaking, Wichita county voted in line with the rest of Texas in the state contests, judging from present indications. On submission, on associate supreme court justice, and on one of the candidates for congressman at large, Wichita county is not in line, but otherwise the various winners received pluralities here.

It was late Sunday before the complete returns were available. The election box, from which not a single figure came for many hours, reported in full at daylight Sunday morning. Early in the afternoon the city hall count was finished and by late in the evening Box No. 13 came in with its figures. Shortly before 10 o'clock No. 12, the last unreported box, finished the tallying and made its report.

Judge William Bonner has swept the district for judge of the 30th district court, carrying three of the four counties and making an excellent showing in Clay county, the home of his opponent. His majority in the four counties will total 2500 if not more.

Additional returns add to the plurality of Marvin Jones for congressman at large. Wichita county is not in this, as in a number of other counties, he received more votes than all three of his opponents combined.

This county's majority against submission was only 118 votes, which is considered small as compared with the known sentiment against prohibition here.

Colquitt upset all local predictions by carrying the county, while Henry, who won even Brooks and Campbell supporters had conceded a plurality here, ran fourth in this county. Culbertson made a much better showing here than many had expected.

In connection with Colquitt's vote here, it is recalled that when here last Thursday, he inquired as to the senatorial race in this county; he was told that Henry was expected to carry the county with Brooks second. "If I get 700 votes here, will I carry the county?" he inquired. He was told 700 votes would certainly give him a plurality and thereupon predicted that he would get that many. His vote in this county was 772.

One of the closest races was that for county superintendent. In this contest, E. C. Hall of Burburnett appeared a sure winner late Saturday night, but Miss Hickman showed considerable strength in the city boxes and threatened for a time to overcome the lead. Hall's majority was 53 votes.

The pluralities of Sheriff Hawkins, County Attorney Greenwood, County Treasurer McHam and County Clerk Kelly were steadily increased as additional votes were counted.

E. R. Greenwood increased his plurality over E. P. Haney, for representative, to 705 in this county, giving him a lead of 595 in the district, as Wilbarger county gave Haney a 110-vote majority.

Wichita county, as indicated in the early returns, went against submission, for the Robertson law, for Ferguson, and for Colquitt for senator, with Brooks second.

County Commissioner Barwise of Electra was defeated for re-election by H. H. Haines, while Commissioner M. McCleskey of Iowa Park nosed out ahead of his opponent, Browning, R. L.

The President
"Yes Sir! Sending out depositors' monthly statements instead of balancing pass books, is one of the best moves this bank ever made."

The Depositor
"This statement handed to me with my canceled checks, once a month tells just how my account stands. I say this is the real bank service. It has the pass book beat a mile."

You Won't Have to Wait For Your Pass Book

You will no longer need to leave your pass book (your only receipt for deposits) with a day or more at the end of every month in order to find out how your account stands.

With the Burroughs Bookkeeping Machine, which we are putting to work in our Accounting Department, we will have every depositor's account posted up to date at all times.

A neatly printed, machine-figured statement of your checks and deposits, and the balance of your account, will come to you every month with your canceled checks.

Your pass book will show only deposits and will remain in your possession all the time.

And if you ever want a statement of your account in a hurry, we can give it to you with every check and deposit listed right up to date, inside of five minutes.

This Monthly Statement System is an improvement in our service to you that we are sure will earn your approval. It is less burdensome, quicker, more accurate, and far more satisfactory to everyone concerned than the old method of calling in and balancing pass books.

"Of Such is the Kingdom," in praise of little children I will say God first made man, then found a better way for woman, but his third way was the best. Of all created things the loveliest. And most divine are children. Nothing here can be to us more gracious or more dear. And though when God saw all his works were good There was no rosy flower of babyhood, 'Twas said of children in a later day That none could enter a heaven save such as they. William Canton.

ALLEN-FRIBERG WEDDING AN EVENT OF LAST WEEK

On Wednesday evening of last week Miss Sarah Allen became the bride of Alfred Friberg, the ceremony taking place at 8:30 at the home of Rev. A. D. Rice, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Allen as bridesmaid, and the groom's best man was his brother, Floyd Friberg. The bride wore a charming frock of white Georgette crepe with all accessories in white while the groom wore a conventional black. Following the ceremony the wedding party, comprising the bride and groom and their attendants, and Messrs. Irvan Karren Brock and Orlo Andree repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allen at 301 Burnett, where they were served an ice course with punch. Mr. and Mrs. Friberg will make their home on the Friberg farm about seven miles north of town. Both young people are well known in Wichita Falls and enjoy a large degree of popularity among their many friends. The bride is a charming young lady of winning personality and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Friberg, long time residents of this city and county, is known as a most estimable young man.

ROWENA CIRCLE POSTPONES PICNIC FOR TUESDAY

Owing to the Woodmen encampment and consequent activities at Lake Wichita the picnic to be given by the Rowena Circle at Lake Wichita Tuesday has been postponed for two weeks. The Circle will meet in regular session Tuesday afternoon with E. L. Richardson as their apartment, 710 1/2 Indiana. The business session will probably be followed by a matinee party.

HONOR GUARD WILL MEET NEXT FRIDAY

Session Called to Receive New Members—Plans Going Forward Steadily.

Friday afternoon at 6:30 at the home of Lieut. Genevieve Cayer a called meeting of the Girls National Honor Guard will be held for the purpose of receiving any new members secured since last week. At this time also the Guard members will sign the pledge which each member of the Guard takes and the certificates will be issued. Lieut. Cayer has received the constitution and by-laws and other literature containing full information concerning the organization and the Wichita Falls company will become a full-fledged member of the national association with the signing of the pledges and the remittance of the fee of 25 cents per capita to the state headquarters at Waco. All these details will be attended to at this meeting Friday.

Two physicians, Dr. Everett Jones and Dr. A. D. Patillo, and a dentist, Dr. J. T. Gibson, have volunteered their services as lecturers along lines that will be of benefit to the guard. Mrs. Gibson has lectured often before mothers clubs and like organizations and her lectures on the care of the teeth as affecting the general health will be awaited with interest.

Dr. Jones was in Fort Worth last week where he attended a lecture and demonstration given for the Fort Worth company, thus gaining ideas for the local programs. Lectures will not commence immediately, the officers having decided it would be better to enlarge the membership before beginning this educational feature in order that the entire company might receive the benefit.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

"I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together."

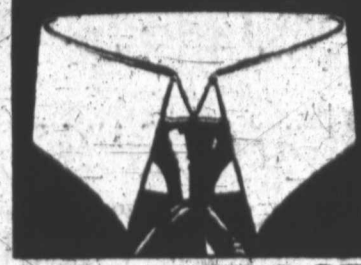

"My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

"Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that ever-increasing tired feeling?"

"If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century."

"Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists."

DROWNED SUNDAY IN WICHITA RIVER

F. W. Krottinger, a farmer living three miles north of town on the Burk Burnett road was drowned while bathing in the Wichita river at the foot of Burnett street about 11:30 Sunday morning. Krottinger was in swimming with his son, Charles and another man when they started on a race across the river.

When about half way over Krottinger who was only a fair swimmer called for help once and sunk. It is thought that perhaps he had a touch of the cramps. His two companions went to his aid, but were too nearly exhausted to render much assistance.

Two boys who were on the bank watching the swimmers, Buell Johnson and Floyd James, went into the water and brought the body to the bank. It had been under the water about two minutes. Dr. L. Mackelchey and G. L. Merkle of the Hill Undertaking Company were called and applied the pump but life was extinct before they arrived. Krottinger had lived near this place for a number of years and was well and favorably known here. He leaves a wife and a number of children. He is also survived by two brothers in Wichita Falls.

A telegram has been received from two daughters of Krottinger who reside in Iowa, stating that they will arrive here Tuesday. The funeral probably will be held Wednesday afternoon from E. B. Scott, the Rev. Mr. Horstmann of Clara to officiate.

Her Blackman, whose Sunday Sandwich for a number of years was one of the attractive features of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, is now contributing the same feature to the North Fort Worth Sunday News. The Sunday Sandwich is the best feature published in Texas. The Times welcomes it back to its exchange table which will be kept stirred up until the Sandwich comes in every week.

While the Times has no criticism to offer against Hon. Marvin Jones, the young Amarillo attorney who swept the 13th congressional district in Saturday's primary, and must, with all others, admit the great campaign he and his friends made for the nomination, it regrets the defeat of John H. Stephens, who has served faithfully and well for nearly twenty years in the national congress. It was urged against Congressman Stephens that he was getting old and did not have the vigor of a younger man, but as the Times pointed out last week the record shows him to have been quite active during the present session of congress where he remained in his seat and aided the administration in pushing through a program of great constructive legislation. If for no other reason, than this the Times had hoped that he would be returned to congress. But a young man, against whom no just criticism has been found, made a hard and vigorous campaign and with the aid of younger men, most of them former students of the State University, has swept the district. Mr. Jones is untried in a way, never having held public office before, but his friends who were so active in his behalf during the campaign vouch for his integrity, and his ability and on beginning his service in congress he will have the best wishes of all his constituents.

The big vote received by Governor Colquitt in Saturday's primary is not a favorable portent for democratic success in the November election. Colquitt is the man who declared in a signed interview sent broadcast over the land that the Wilson administration was the greatest failure in the history of the presidency and who predicted that the election next fall would end the democratic regime in Washington. He has done what he could to embitter the German-Americans of the state against the administration and also sought to embarrass the administration in its dealings with Mexico. His large plurality shows that opposition to the president is popular with the German-Americans and that they can be expected to vote against Wilson in November. It also shows that there is considerable sentiment against the administration's Mexican policy. But giving these factors all the credit which we must, there are still some others to be considered. One of these is the fact that all the republicans who voted in the democratic primary can be counted for Colquitt. Another is the fact that Colquitt forced the prohibition issue in the closing days of the campaign and made his strongest appeal for anti votes and doubtless received the vote of those anti who think of nothing else when they go to the polls. While our faith has been shaken by the big vote cast for Colquitt the Times still believes a majority of the voters of Texas are democrats and that either Brooks or Culberson can win against Colquitt in the run-off. It appears that Culberson ought to have a better chance than Brooks, for Culberson could probably get more prohibition votes than Brooks could get anti votes. The trouble in the run-off will be that if Culberson is opposed to Colquitt a good many prohibitionists may not feel enough interest in a choice between anti to go to the polls, while if Brooks is opposed to Colquitt a good many anti prohibitionists, who would not vote for Colquitt, may not feel liking voting for a prohibitionist to defeat him. The only way that Colquitt can be defeated is by thorough organization to get out the voters who oppose him.

The first as well as the latest returns from Saturday's primary was given to the people throughout this section of the state Sunday morning by the Times. This was done by issuing an early edition that was sent through the mails north and south along the Fort Worth and Denver and north along the Wichita Falls and Northwestern. This edition gave as full and as late a report as was contained in the Fort Worth and Dallas papers which did not reach this section of the state until Sunday afternoon. A second edition was issued at seven o'clock Sunday morning for the city circulation. This edition, which contained much later returns than the Fort Worth and Dallas papers reaching here Sunday afternoon, also was sent through the mails reaching towns north and west of Wichita Falls as early as the Fort Worth and Dallas papers. Thousands of people watched the bulleting Saturday night in front of the Times building and many came to the building Sunday to see the bulletins that had been received after the paper was issued Sunday morning. An extra was issued Monday morning giving the complete county vote and the latest compilation of the vote from the state at large. In this issue appears a table giving the vote by precincts in the county on every contested office. Except from the Electra box where the count of the vote was not completed until seven o'clock Sunday morning and from the three boxes in the city which were not completed until Sunday the Times was enabled to give the vote from every box in the county within a few minutes after the vote was completed. To the election officers and others who enabled the Times to do this, it wishes to express its appreciation and gratitude which it is certain is felt by all interested in receiving the report of the election. The Times went to a large expenditure in order to furnish these returns on the bulletin board and in the paper. No paper in any city, large or small, it believes, gave better or more complete service. The Times made this effort because it believes that the people of Wichita Falls are entitled to the best that can be obtained, and on occasions like the primary this paper is ready to spend many times what it can hope to get out of it in order to give the best service to be obtained.

AN ESTIMATE NEARLY CORRECT.

The pre-election estimates compiled by the Texas election bureau, have turned out to be fairly accurate. This bureau of which the Times was a member, was made up of all the leading daily newspapers of the state who co-operated in the collection and distribution of the returns. Its returns were gathered from 250 reporters covering every county in the state. Between July 15 and 18 its reporters were asked to give an estimate of the vote on the senator in their territory. These estimates which were compiled and sent out several days before the primary gave the following:

Colquitt	93,640
Brooks	91,090
Culberson	79,143
Campbell	74,783
Henry	54,470
Davis	11,220

The actual returns are showing that with the possible exception of Brooks and Culberson the candidates rank in accord with the estimate. It may also be stated that the same bureau forecasted the nomination of Governor Ferguson two years ago over Tom Ball.

FATHER IS SLAIN SON IN CUSTODY

FATAL SHOOTING LATE SUNDAY NIGHT AT BLUE GROVE, CLAY COUNTY.

RESULT OF QUARREL

Charge From Shotgun Enters Head, Causing Instant Death—Boy In Jail.

William B. Smith, farmer aged 45 is dead and his son, Alfred, aged 18, is in the Clay county jail, as the result of a shooting which took place late Sunday night at Blue Grove, Clay county, about 21 miles east of Wichita Falls. The father was instantly killed by a charge from a shotgun which entered his head as he reclined on a cot on the porch of his home. Reports from the community state that the boy went to Henrietta Saturday afternoon against the wishes of his father. When he returned late Sunday night, the father reproached him for his disobedience, and a quarrel ensued. The shooting followed. The youngest son was arrested and taken to Henrietta and placed in jail. B. Smith was a well known stockman and farmer of the Blue Grove community, where he had resided for probably a score of years.

WANT CONTRACTOR TO EMPLOY WHITES

Petition Circulated Asking That Court House Labor Be Not Given To Negroes

A petition is being circulated today requesting the Lisle-Dunning Construction Company, contractors for the erection of the new court house, to employ white men and residents of the city in connection with the work on that building. The petition is being liberally signed and at 3 o'clock this afternoon contained about 300 signatures. At this hour the men who were circulating the petition were at the court house and their request was meeting with a liberal response, including the signatures of practical by all of the county officers. The same consideration was accorded at the city hall and many of the business men, very readily affixed their signatures. It is alleged that the construction company has brought a large number of negroes to the city from Oklahoma and are idle men here willing and anxious to take the positions. The petition is being circulated by laboring men who assert that there are plenty of working men who want to work to take the place of the negroes brought to this city. It is expected that the petition will be presented to the contractors tomorrow. Work has been inaugurated on the new court house to the extent that additional trees are being cut down to make room for the building and other work preliminary to the construction of the foundation is well advanced. A party of negroes has arrived from Oklahoma and will be used in making the excavation and in other heavy work in connection with the erection of the building, and it is expected that ground will be broken for the foundation tomorrow or next day. Sam Simons, who had the contract for raising the old building, has completed his work and is now out of the way for the contractors for the new building.

CONVIVIAL PARTY WINDS UP IN COURT

Carried Things Too Far and Are Fined—Other Police Court Happenings.

Four visitors to the city this morning entered a plea of guilty in the city court to a charge of drunkenness and were each fined $10 by City Judge Whitelaw. Two others of the party were released, it being shown that they were not connected with the disturbance. It seems that the boys, who had imbibed too much of the juice of the grape, or soft, other forbidden liquid had paid a visit to the flats and became impressed with the idea that they should appropriate various and sundry articles as souvenirs of the trip. They accordingly took a quantity of clothing, including a $33 silk dress, some silk hose, several pieces of cut glass, and other items, and left for town. Two of the party of six, not being intoxicated, failed to appreciate the joke and advised the officers of the play. The offenders were taken in charge and the goods returned. When the case was called this morning and several offenders were fined for infractions of the law. Four men were fined $10 each on a charge of drunkenness, two thus charged were released. Another charged with a like offense received a fine of $5. There was one case in which the defendant was charged with an affray and he was given a fine of $5, while a case in which the defendant was charged with permitting stock to run at large, was dismissed.

TWO WEDDINGS PERFORMED

BY REV. F. F. WALTERS

Saturday afternoon Miss Geneva Ferguson and H. I. Mills were quietly married at the home of Rev. F. F. Walters, pastor of the First Christian Church, the marriage being quite a surprise to the friends of the young people, who were apprised of the fact in an unusual way. About 10 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Mills and his bride came again to the Walters home and asked him to perform another ceremony in the Ferguson family, the sister of the bride of Saturday afternoon, Miss Bessie Ferguson to wed Harvey Hicks. The guests here all gathered for the ceremony but the minister who was to officiate had failed to make his appearance so Mr. Walters was sent for. After Mr. Wal-

OPPOSE CHANGE IN COLORADO HIGHWAY

This City Will Send Delegation to Meeting of Association at Raton, N. M. Plans are under way to send a number of Wichitans to the meeting at Raton, N. M., early in August, of the Colorado-Gulf Highway association. John W. Thomas, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has received information that tourists over the Colorado-Gulf Highway are being routed at Fort Worth and Amarillo around through the towns of Midland, Sweetwater and Lubbock, leaving Wichita Falls and the other towns along the Denver between Fort Worth and Amarillo of the highway. It also seems that an effort will be made at the annual meeting of the highway association at Raton, N. M., August 25 to change the route of the Colorado-Gulf Highway to go through these towns. Mr. Thomas has written to all the towns along the Denver from Fort Worth to Amarillo apprising them of the situation and its gravity and urging them to have large and representative delegations at the Raton meeting in order to combat efforts to change the routing of the highway. D. P. Talley of this city, who is a director of the association and who is now in Colorado, has taken an active part in working the intentions of those who are endeavoring to make this change in the routing. He writes that he will be at the Raton meeting. Mr. Thomas will also attend the meeting and says that a number of local motorists have expressed an intention of going, so he has hopes of taking a strong delegation to the meeting.

WAGON YARD THEFTS FOLLOWED BY ARREST

Policeman Gilman yesterday arrested a party, who it is alleged has committed a number of wagon yard thefts, the accused being turned over to the county authorities. It is charged that he had at one time appropriated $10 from one of the men at the yard and later relieved another of $5, securing the money while the men were asleep. The officers awaited their opportunity to locate the offender and when the opportunity was afforded he was very promptly taken in charge.

THREE ARRESTS MADE IN CONNECTION WITH ROBBERY

All three are held in jail pending the action of the grand jury. Both of the negro men are well known in police circles, the James boy only recently completing a sentence on the road for carrying a pistol while Montgomery was a guest in the county jail some few weeks ago for an alleged infraction of the law.

The first service held in the new Salvation Army Armory was the Sunday school yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the first Sunday school held by Captain Robb and his workers since last October, when indoor meetings were discontinued. There was only an average attendance to commence with but after a few weeks Captain Robb expects to make a banner school of the Wichita Falls school which has already twice won the banner in the southern service division of the Salvation Army. The Sunday school service followed the usual order and in the evening Captain Robb preached on "Progress or the Gospel of Love" to a good congregation. The dedicatory services will take place Wednesday evening at the armory and a number of the churches have adjourned prayer meeting in order to take part. Since last October when a new armory was actively planned the Army has had no downtown home. Captain Robb and his workers holding open air services. Now however, the indoor meetings will be resumed and the workers are much interested in the building up of the Sunday school, which they expect to be a speedy process. Thirty-four students in the Wichita Falls summer normal began on their final series of examinations for teachers certificates here today. The summer school examinations began at the same time.
