DEUTSCHLAND PROCEEDS SLOWLY DOWN CHEESAPEAKE BAY TOWARD ATLANTIC—ONLY ONE WARSHIP SEEN ON DUTY.

USE AEROPLANES

Aerial Scouts Believed to Be Keeping Track of Under Water Boat's Movements After Departure From Baltimore Yesterday.

Old Point, Va., August 2.—Eighteen hours after the German merchant submarine Deutschland had sailed from Baltimore on her return voyage to Germany she still has not been sighted off the Virginia capes or in Hampton Roads...

Although when last sighted she was reported to be making sixteen knots the Deutschland apparently has been proceeding at a much slower rate of speed. On the trip up the bay after her arrival off the capes only seven hours was required for the run from Hampton Roads to Baltimore.

AEROPLANES KEEP WATCH; NET MAY BE PREPARED

Newport News, Va., August 2.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland was sighted off Tangier Sound at six o'clock this morning. She was still heading toward the lower bay at high tide when the Tanager Sound is about 75 miles from the capes.

Two aeroplanes were seen flying over lower Chesapeake Bay and Hampton Roads shortly after daybreak this morning. They were not from the Atlantic coast aerostationary station here.

Passengers arriving this morning on an Old Dominion steamer from New York reported that when they approached the Virginia capes only one foreign warship was in sight.

The Deutschland set out from Baltimore on a return voyage to Germany at 5:40 p. m. Tuesday, after a declaration of confidence from her commanding officer, Captain Paul Koenig, that he would take her home in spite of the heavy odds that she would face when the three-mile limit in the Atlantic Ocean is reached.

After setting into midstream the tow line of the tug Thomas F. Timmins was cast off and the Deutschland proceeded down the Patuxent River under her own power.

After setting into midstream the tow line of the tug Thomas F. Timmins was cast off and the Deutschland proceeded down the Patuxent River under her own power. The tug went to one side, the coast guard cutter Wisahickon to the other and the harbor police boat Lannan brought up the rear to prevent undue crowding by the small fleet of launches that followed.

Annapolis, thirty miles south of here, reported that the Deutschland passed there at 8:45 o'clock, steaming about twelve miles an hour. The tug Timmins alone was conveying and but one vessel was following, a newspaper dispatch boat.

Captain Koenig and his crew of twenty-seven men put to sea with the knowledge that a man hurried to a telephone with a message to agents for the entente allies that the Deutschland had started.

TROOPERS FAIL TO FIND BANDITS

THOROUGH SEARCH IS MADE TODAY IN VICINITY OF FORT HANGCOCK.

QUICK ACTION TAKEN

Reports Early Today of Raiders Cause Forces to Be Rushed to Scene.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 2.—A thorough search of the territory between Finlay and Fort Hancock by United States regulars failed to disclose Mexican bandits. This information was contained in reports to General Bell Jr. Troops had been sent to the district early today upon receipt of advices that approximately 150 bandits had crossed the Rio Grande.

Previous reports that bandits were in the neighborhood had been brought to the attention of the troops at Fort Hancock. They ascertained that the troop train on which they were riding en route to Deming, N. M., was held upon near Finlay.

Two troops of the Eighth Cavalry under command of Captain William Kelly Jr. scoured the gulches and ravines between Finlay, Texas, and Fort Hancock, about 75 miles east of here, in search of bandits early today.

The cavalry was supported by a battalion of the 23rd Infantry rushed from El Paso to Fort Hancock early this morning in response to reports to General Bell Jr. commanding the El Paso military district, that bandits in large numbers had crossed the Rio Grande in that vicinity.

OVERPRODUCTION IS CAUSE OF DECLINE

Oil Trade Authorities Say Price Cut Result of Excessive Stocks

New York, Aug. 2.—Overproduction, trade authorities say, is the chief reason for the further reduction in prices of crude oil and gasoline. Supplies of crude oil now on hand in Oklahoma and adjacent territory are said to be far in excess of immediate demand and producers evidently deem it expedient to adjust themselves to new market conditions.

The cut of 10c a barrel to $1.25 made by the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., Kansas, is the third reduction by that company since July 22 last, when a cut of 10c to $1.45 was ordered. Officials of the Standard Oil Company of New York and New Jersey say that they are without official information regarding the action of their own and competing companies in the midcontinent.

Representatives here of independent companies operating in Texas and Louisiana fields intimate that further reductions are probable. So far as known local dealers in oils and gaso. line have taken no cognizance of price reductions elsewhere, but it is believed that gasoline and other refined products of a similar character are likely to undergo downward revision at all leading centers of distribution.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Representative Gallatin of Massachusetts introduced a resolution today proposing that a recommendation be made to the president that diplomatic relations between the United States and Great Britain be terminated as once because of the exclusion of Thomas Hughes Kelly of New York, treasurer of the Irish relief fund, and "impudent and insulting acts of Great Britain toward American commerce." As a matter of course, the resolution went to the foreign relations committee.

ALLIES AT SALONIKA REJOICE OVER WAR NEWS; PREPARE FOR AN ADVANCE

ALLIES REJOICE AT SALONIKA. Information given out by the French authorities in regard to the situation at Salonika seems to indicate that the entente allies are preparing an offensive movement.

Washington, August 2.—The French authorities in regard to the situation at Salonika seem to indicate that the entente allies are preparing an offensive movement. A Salonika dispatch of several weeks ago said that an allied offensive in Macedonia had been arranged for the middle of May, but that it had been postponed and might be expected in July at the latest.

There are some 150,000 Serbian troops on this front, several hundred thousand French and British soldiers. It is generally understood the allies have 600,000 or more men available for a campaign. Opposed to them are the Bulgarians, with unknown numbers of Turks, Germans and Austrians.

ATTACKS AT VERDUN

French Admit Loss of Positions There in a Strongly Fortified Position Between Hem Woods and Monacu Farm, Close to the River Somme, Northwest of Peronne according to this afternoon's Paris Bulletin.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: Two advances along the Somme front in northern France have been made by both the French and the British. The French gain is most important and is admitted by Berlin.

It was effected between Hem Woods and Monacu farm near the river where a strongly held German trench was captured and the German trenches, says the Berlin report, have been completely demolished.

The British made their advance at Posteres as the result of a hand to hand fighting. The Germans were on the aggressive west of Hem Woods but were unable to get beyond to capture lost ground.

Dealing another powerful blow at the German lines the French last night took a strongly fortified position between Hem Woods and Monacu Farm, close to the river Somme, northwest of Peronne according to this afternoon's Paris Bulletin.

There has been bitter fighting in this sector for several days and a repulse for the French when they advanced in strong force near Monacu Farm was claimed yesterday by Berlin. South of the Somme near Estress a German trench is reported by Paris to have been won in a French attack.

Apparently the Germans are making a renewed effort to force the issue at Verdun. Paris last night reported heavy attacks east of the Meuse in which the French lines were temporarily penetrated in some sections. Today the French war office admits that in the continuation of those attacks the French lines have been pushed a little further back in the Vaux-le-Chapelle wood and at Chenois, northeast of Verdun.

In air fighting along the Somme front where 43 aerial engagements took place yesterday, the French claim notable successes. Fifteen German aircraft were shot down and the French lines have been pushed a little further back in the Vaux-le-Chapelle wood and at Chenois, northeast of Verdun.

Little indication of the progress of events on the Russian front is contained in today's official report from Petrograd which records merely rifle and artillery duels at various points and the repelling of minor attacks on Russian positions. The German war office declares several Russian attacks in the Stokhod sector were beaten off.

Before Verdun where the Germans have been violently attacking east of the Meuse the capture of a trench northwest of Souville. The French admit the forcing back of their line for a short distance.

New York, Aug. 2.—A committee of 50 men convened today for the counting of a strike vote cast by 400,000 employees on 225 railroad systems in the United States.

Timothy Shea, who is in charge, said that the vote will be all right unless the men who are in the railroad unions persist in their refusal to grant the demands of the men for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime. The counters expected to finish today the vote in the eastern territory. They will then take up the western vote.

A meeting of the national conference committee of the railways will be held here next Tuesday to make another attempt to settle the controversy.

When 200,000 of the 400,000 ballots had been counted at noon today it was announced that a preponderant number of the men are in favor of a strike.

THE SYMONDS CASE

By FRANK FULSON.

The News-Herald was the greatest paper in town, but old Lyons had never yet had a woman in the reporters' room. He always said it needed men to get the sort of news he wanted. When we came in, we saw little Mary Leeson sitting beside the city editor's desk, therefore, we rubbed our eyes. The city editor introduced her to me.

"Put Miss Leeson wise to the game, Halliwell," he said. "She's going to cover general assignments." She was a little country-bred girl, and I thought she had lost her father or mother recently, for she always dressed in black. She was as plucky as you please, and she never fell down on a story. Had a rare gift of descriptive writing, too. She certainly made good that first year. Baldwin, the sports editor, used to take her round quite a bit, but after a while they ceased to speak, except for a formal greeting. I guessed what had happened, and was sorry for Baldwin, but I had known from the first that no one had a chance with her. It was the same with Evers, the news editor. He pulled away in time. And it wasn't the girl's fault. She was as nice as could be to all of us. But she simply didn't care for love-making.

Remember, Miss Leeson, old Jones had said to her, when she joined us, "the paper comes first. If you love me, you love the paper."

Well, it was "not really," of course, and yet, in spite of all the signs of an acquittal, which had been issued in court from the opening of the second day, I was not sure. I saw the face of the prisoner turn from green to gray as the foreman pronounced the words. Then a ghastly smile came over Symonds' face, and he stepped down, a free man.

The jury crowded about him, to go through the face of shaking hands. "I congratulate you, Mr. Lyons," said each man, with a booming smile of self-congratulation upon his perspicacity. They gathered round him in an avid cluster till Symonds' counsel pulled him away.

"You had better thank Mr. Lyons," he said. The two men shook hands. "I was convinced of your innocence from the first, Mr. Symonds," said Lyons. "And so I brought to bear what little influence I possess. I hope, in return, that you will let us have an article on the trial and a personal history. But you must thank Miss Leeson, whose articles did more for you than you perhaps realize now."

He pulled Miss Mary by the sleeve, and the girl and Symonds stood face to face. The man's eyes fixed themselves upon hers in a terrified glare. Then there was a sensation in the courtroom. Symonds dropped to the floor in a dead faint.

And, looking at Mary Leeson's expression, I knew where the missing girl was, knew that the undying hatred pictured there was to burn itself upon Symonds' brain for ever. (Copyright 1916, by W. G. Chapman.)

TEETH NEED EXTREME CARE

Sound Health of All Descriptions is Dependent Upon Keeping Them in Condition.

Lack of care of the mouth is prejudicial to the health of children as well as adults. A decaying tooth is always a menace, and especially when the decaying process reaches below the gums, producing ulcerations, pyorrhea, etc., which, being difficult of access for treatment, are always to be regarded as dangerous.

Aside from the pain and suffering which these diseases of the teeth produce, the possibility of street infection must not be overlooked. So-called blood poisoning and death have been frequent results from diseased teeth. Some forms of infantile rheumatism are believed to be caused by the infection of pyorrhea, and in general the health is injured in proportion as the teeth are affected.

Inflammation of the lining membrane and muscular fibers of the throat, chronic enlargement of the joints, acute and chronic inflammation of the kidneys, tonsillitis, gonorrhea, and even diabetes have all been traced directly to diseased teeth.

Squeaky Shoes Once Prized. While conducting a research for information on the origin of certain fashions of the past I discovered the reason for the existence of the squeak in shoes. The squeak was once deemed fashionable, and men of great importance in the affairs of the country demanded it in their footwear, and cobblers were paid two shillings extra for putting it in. The squeaky boot denoted the approach of someone of importance, and the way was made clear at once in the same manner as a bicycle's shrill whistle warns you to look to your interests.

And on the third morning, when everybody went about with a copy of the News-Herald in his hand, open at Miss Leeson's article: "GUILTY? That fellow ain't guilty. Why, there's innocence in his face. Look at him! Who'd be fool enough to send a box of poisoned candy like that? Bought strychnine! Sure! For what? They can't and won't prove he put it into the creams. Anyway, I'm in favor of giving him a chance for his life." "They can't prove nothing. No case," summed up the popular verdict.

About all the evidence against Symonds, in fact, was that he had been jealous of his rival, and that he had bought a box of candy at one store and some strychnine pellets, later, at another. And yet, so susceptible is a jury to the atmosphere of a courtroom, that the man might have been convicted but for Mary Leeson's articles.

On the day on which the verdict was to be delivered, old Lyons came down to see. He paired Mary Leeson on the arm. "We'll win," he whispered. "You've done finely, Miss Leeson. I take back all I ever said against woman reporters."

Miss Leeson smiled, and went on writing her last article. Lyons created something of a stir in court. The district attorney, in summing up, turned and faced him for a moment. "Where is the missing girl?" he thundered to the jury. "Who knows? If anybody, it is the powerful interests that are defending the prisoner."

Lyons leaped to his feet, but the judge's gavel fell with a thud. "I will say nothing such as 'indignation,'" he signaled. "Strike that from the record."

Well, it was "not really," of course, and yet, in spite of all the signs of an acquittal, which had been issued in court from the opening of the second day, I was not sure. I saw the face of the prisoner turn from green to gray as the foreman pronounced the words. Then a ghastly smile came over Symonds' face, and he stepped down, a free man.

The jury crowded about him, to go through the face of shaking hands. "I congratulate you, Mr. Lyons," said each man, with a booming smile of self-congratulation upon his perspicacity. They gathered round him in an avid cluster till Symonds' counsel pulled him away.

"You had better thank Mr. Lyons," he said. The two men shook hands. "I was convinced of your innocence from the first, Mr. Symonds," said Lyons. "And so I brought to bear what little influence I possess. I hope, in return, that you will let us have an article on the trial and a personal history. Among the speakers were Senator Charles A. Culberson as United States Senator from Texas, in the second primary, August 23.

More than 250 leading Democrats of all portions of Texas gathered Monday morning at the Oriental hotel to plan for the renomination of Senator Charles A. Culberson as United States Senator from Texas, in the second primary, August 23.

The keynote of the meeting was struck by T. T. Vandenhoven of San Antonio, who exclaimed, in a brief eloquent speech: "The principal question now is, Are the people of Texas going to stand by President Woodrow Wilson or the German Kaiser?"

The great issue was declared by many speakers to be the vindication of Texas Democracy by the repudiation of O. B. Colquitt, who has made his right on a attack against Woodrow Wilson and the national Democratic Administration.

There has rarely been such an inspiring gathering in Texas. Every delegate and every other Democrat should unite in the support of Culberson, a life-long Democrat, against Colquitt, "of doubtful Democracy."

The great effort of the campaign will be made to arouse the voter to come-out and cast his ballot Aug. 26. It has been predicted by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby and others that Colquitt's vote of 115,000 in the last primary will be enough to win the second primary.

Culberson leaders today are planning to carry the State "with a fine-tooth comb" and they expect that 90 per cent of the men who voted for Brooks, Campbell and Henry in the first primary will vote for Culberson ranks to defeat Colquitt.

WILSON OR KAISER IS DECLARED ISSUE

Culberson Forces Hold Meeting in Dallas and Make Plans for Campaign.

(Dallas Journal) More than 250 leading Democrats of all portions of Texas gathered Monday morning at the Oriental hotel to plan for the renomination of Senator Charles A. Culberson as United States Senator from Texas, in the second primary, August 23.

The keynote of the meeting was struck by T. T. Vandenhoven of San Antonio, who exclaimed, in a brief eloquent speech: "The principal question now is, Are the people of Texas going to stand by President Woodrow Wilson or the German Kaiser?"

The great issue was declared by many speakers to be the vindication of Texas Democracy by the repudiation of O. B. Colquitt, who has made his right on a attack against Woodrow Wilson and the national Democratic Administration.

There has rarely been such an inspiring gathering in Texas. Every delegate and every other Democrat should unite in the support of Culberson, a life-long Democrat, against Colquitt, "of doubtful Democracy."

The great effort of the campaign will be made to arouse the voter to come-out and cast his ballot Aug. 26. It has been predicted by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby and others that Colquitt's vote of 115,000 in the last primary will be enough to win the second primary.

Culberson leaders today are planning to carry the State "with a fine-tooth comb" and they expect that 90 per cent of the men who voted for Brooks, Campbell and Henry in the first primary will vote for Culberson ranks to defeat Colquitt.

A committee of seven was appointed to draft resolutions, suggest the plans to campaign and to arrange a program for the great State-wide mass meeting for Senator Culberson at Houston, Aug. 7, the night before the State Democratic convention.

The committee will report to the conference at 8 o'clock this afternoon. The committee follows: W. P. McLean Sr., Fort Worth, chairman; John W. Amarillo, H. H. Sevier, Austin; F. L. Wilcox, Bart Moore, Waco; Danney White, Tyler; R. E. Taylor, Henrietta; O. C. Mulkey, Commerce; J. C. Harrison, Marshall; Rice Maxey, Sherman; J. C. Hutchison, Jr., Houston; Harry Miller, Dallas.

J. C. Hutchison Jr. of Houston was elected chairman and Senator C. L. Branchfield of Athens, secretary. Judge Barry Miller of Dallas, one of the leaders in Senator Culberson's campaign was in charge of arrangements.

Among the speakers were Senator Veale of Austin, O. C. Mulkey, Commerce; Wylie Imboden, Rusk; R. E. Taylor, Henrietta; Judge George W. Riddle of Dallas, who withdrew from the race for Senator five weeks ago, and who threw his support to Dr. E. P. Brooks of Waco; Hal Sevier of the Lincoln American; M. M. Brook, Dallas; J. C. Harrison, Marshall; Rice Maxey, Sherman; Andrew Randall, Sherman; S. A. Lindsey, Tyler; Allan D. Sanford, Waco; Senator D. W. Odell, Cleburne; Joseph E. Cockrell, Dallas; W. C. Wear, Hillsboro, and others.

An editorial was read from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, characterized as "the bitterest Republican paper in the Southwest," in which Colquitt's supporters have spread broadcast over this State. Andrew Randall of Sherman told of a message to the National Convention in his office in Washington a few weeks ago.

"I came out of there hoping that I might some day have some of the keenness and mental vigor of that distinguished statesman."

Many speakers agreed that the only criticism that the opponents of Senator Culberson have to lay at his door is the assertion that he is sick. Plans were discussed for correcting this impression in every voting precinct in Texas.

Speeches ranged all the way from those impassioned exhortation of Colquitt by M. M. Brooks, who called the former Cleveland a "menace to our party," and who said that he would stack up by the side of a man like President Wilson as a "whipping puppy" to a majestic lion—"to the cool, straight speech of methods and plans by Andrew Randall of Sherman, a student at Princeton under Wilson, who advanced a determined fight in every county in the State."

"There are some of these men in this audience with whom I am not on speaking terms, but when a time comes like this that demands patriotic service, every one of these men may consider now without an apology from them, that I give them the right hand of fellowship."

There were loud cheers and rebel yells and prolonged applause. A similar scene was re-enacted when Judge Joseph E. Cockrell of Dallas said "I feel in sympathy with men here today with whom I have never been in sympathy before."

Judge R. E. Maxey of Sherman received hearty applause when he advocated the nomination of Senator Culberson by "a majority" and said that the "unofficial" nomination rule ought to apply to all offices.

"If we had had that rule in effect," he added, "there are some men who have been Governor of this State who never would have been under the majority plan."

Judge Maxey said he had always voted for prohibition, but that he did not set that control him in selecting candidates and that he had been for Culberson from the first on his record as a distinguished statesman for twenty years.

It was brought out forcibly by one speaker that the issue of the national Administration was not injected into Texas politics by President Wilson, but that the issue was raised by Colquitt.

Senator D. W. Odell of Cleburne said that the most significant meeting in Texas for twenty years. He extended a "warm hand and heart" to every Brooks, Campbell and Henry man, and he believed the vote of every ten of them will vote for Culberson.

R. E. Taylor of Henrietta described Colquitt as "a pen-woman politician." He said that Colquitt, who attacked Wilson in bitter terms, now says he is in favor of the Administration. Cries of "This morning he is!"

Wylie Imboden said Culberson is an anti by principle. M. M. Brooks said that for lack of time to do full justice to the subject in hand he would say that Culberson has principles, patriotism, integrity, honor and competence. He added that if Colquitt, by any chance or accident, should be Senator from the State that he would say "take out the bright stars from the national emblem that represents the Lone Star State and leave them black, nasty mark to show our ignominy."

Hal Sevier of Austin said that the "eyes of the Nation are turned toward Texas" and the "Nation expects Texas to do its duty" for the honor of the Democracy in the Union. He predicted that Colquitt's success would be serious menace to President Wilson and a message to the voters to come out and vote.

Another speaker said that "When the votes are counted, August 26, that Texas will send a message to the Nation the Lone Star State is still Democratic, that Texas is still for Woodrow Wilson."

Joseph E. Cockrell said that as a reward for his attacks on Wilson's administration, Colquitt got 65,000 appointed Republicans. "And now he advocates the Golden Rule," he said, and the "Nation expects Texas to do its duty" for the honor of the Democracy in the Union. He predicted that Colquitt's success would be serious menace to President Wilson and a message to the voters to come out and vote.

sign power it might cut off this supply and then we would be helpless unless we had a plant such as this one about to be built.

In some times the plant will turn out nitrates for fertilizer. The most valuable fertilizer in the world is nitrogen. Until it was discovered that nitrates could be taken from the air the soil was given nitrogen through the application of manure and other fertilizers containing a large percentage of it. But in the last few years the manufacture of nitrates with nitrogen from the air has been developed on a large scale in Europe.

The process is simple. There is a great electric arc in which the air is heated to a tremendous degree. Now air is made up principally of nitrogen and oxygen. Oxygen will burn, but nitrogen will not. So air is passed through the super-heated spot between the poles of the electric arc and the oxygen is burned out of it. What remains is nitric oxide. This is then mixed with air and the result is twice as much nitrogen as before. To the same amount of oxygen. Water is added and the result is nitric acid, which may be used for making explosives. If it had to be used as a fertilizer limestone is treated with it and the result is nitrate of lime, which may be mixed directly with the soil and is the greatest fertilizer known. It is equivalent to the famous nitrate of soda from Chile.

The Germans and Scandinavians have been doing this sort of wizardry for years and their plants have been making nitrogen for fertilizer so cheaply that it is sold in competition with the nitrates from the natural beds of Chile and the plants pay bigger dividends than Standard Oil. Kansas City Star.

Five Chicago chauffeurs were arrested for violating the speed laws while driving a party of mourners to a funeral. They were arrested at the side of the grave. After a man is dead in Chicago it appears that there is some hurry to get him buried and out of the way. And if there is lack of respect in the haste to get the burial over, officers show no more respect than the man's friends.

A FAST AGE. This is a fast age, the swiftest in the history of the world. Even "Father Time" is behind time; instanced by setting the clock one hour ahead in European war counties as an economical proposition. A man or woman is compelled to hustle to keep up with the procession or become sidetracked. If you want to reach your destination you must run on schedule time and whistle only at the way stations. Automobiles, motorboats and flying machines appeal to the impulses and drives the mind to invent and execute in any given direction until space is annihilated. Now, this brings us to contemplate and reckon with a new type of humanity; the up-to-date tailor made, ready-to-wear men and women, whom we meet in business on the street and in society. With few exceptions, they are mechanical in thought and action. To a great extent they have discarded friendly love and emotions for what they try to believe, is a more practical life.

But the problem remains, how much have we lost and how much have we gained? RYE.

KEEPING THE BOYS CLEAN. There certainly is as much dirt in the world as there used to be. It may be there is a lot more water. Or, again, there is a possibility that folks just naturally are coming to connect the dirt of the former and to use more of the latter.

However, it may be, it is a fact that the American boy is a good deal cleaner today than he was even a few years back. He wears cleaner clothes and he wears a cleaner skin under them. Incidentally, it must be said that he uses cleaner language than he did. There are a good many influences working for the cleanliness of the American boy. In the first place his parents have come to the conclusion that girls are not the only children who need semi-daily baths. That used to be a generally accepted notion. About the only time a boy had to use water externally was when in the summer time the hour arrived for going to bed. Then he was told to be sure and wash his feet. That was about the extent of it. Nothing much was said about his face in the morning, and the rest of his body being out of sight received no attention whatever. But this is all changed now.

Not only his parents insist on the boy being clean. His employer looks after him rather closely. Over in El Paso the Western Union Telegraph company now requires every messenger boy to take a shower before he leaves the building. Not a messenger boy can deliver a message before his day's bath is taken. At first the boys rebelled but now they are delighted with the rule. Also there is a new addition to the force of the company over there. He cleans and presses the boys' uniforms and they go out every day looking spry and span. Of both every day. For this purpose officials of the company say the new arrangement has resulted in remarkable gain in the efficiency of the delivery boys.

Here in Houston there are many forces working for the cleanliness in mind and body of the boy. The Y. M. C. A. has done much service. The Associated Press Mail Correspondence. Paris. This is the courier of Verdun. Not a telephone line can resist the incessant bombardment that digs up the soil and levels the field work, leaving the whole line in front of this fortress consequently to assure communications between the front and the rear. The "courier" problem. Communications by carrier, by messenger, by certain and optical signals are insufficient for various reasons. Nothing is certain excepting the man himself, and to transmit information and orders across that beaten field requires something extraordinary in the way of man. He must be an athlete with good lungs and above all, he must have a stout heart.

The courier of Verdun is unable to use the communicating trenches where he would be out of sight of the enemy because that line is crowded always with soldiers going to or from the front line, with wounded being carried back, with men on guard. That is too slow a route for the courier of Verdun; he must take his chances of being sighted and hit—above ground. The first formidable obstacle to pass is the zone of "drum fire," where 3-inch, 4-inch and 4-inch shells are bursting with formidable explosions, sending showers of shrapnel over the whole zone. In going through this ordeal, the courier sees everywhere the spectacle of death, stumbles over corpses, sometimes runs into a shrapnel trap or before he has crossed it; once through, he is within range of the smaller German guns and the quick fire.

During the whole distance of a mile or two miles, according to the position his nerves are at the tension, with his mind on the end of his message and at the same time on the obstacles that are multiplied each instant in his path. surveyor of customs, he said: "We came here dubious about our reception. We go back certain that the friendliest of feelings exist in America for German sailors on board, but then, on courteous and the Fatherland will not forget it."

Captain Koenig knows that eight warships of the entente allies are waiting for him at the edge of the three-mile limit, spread out in a radius of five miles. "We shall have to communicate with them," he said. "We shall have to make that passage under conditions not entirely advantageous to us." (Words filled in at that point 150 feet deep. It would be easier, or could be done, nearly enough to make a submarine, the ship and the water, and the feet deep. "We shall, therefore, have to pass between the warships.") But there was a determined look on the captain's face as he expressed confidence that he would get through. Spectators cheered and waved handkerchiefs in union with the cheering and waving sailors on board the Nord German Lloyd steamer, Neckar, as the little craft started on its way. On the conning tower of the submarine at the feet of her little commodes there was a huge basket of roses and carnations, the last gift of a Baltimore admirer.

A British freighter had been at anchor several hours at Verdun, from the submarine and it probably was feared some steps had been taken to block the safe travel of the undersea boat. None of the officials of the Eastern North German Lloyd company, however, would make any comment about this, however. The manifest on the Deutschland's return cargo has not been made public, but in addition to large quantities of crumpled rubber, which it is believed she carried several hundred thousand dollars in gold.

No Problem to Solve

Some men at the club had brought up the old problem of wife versus mother. Which should a man save, if he were struggling with them in the water? Then it was that Merrill told this story:

He Lost Sight of Evelyn.

had not dared to ask about his fiancée, everybody knew she was drowned. To his astonishment Mollie seemed almost unconcerned.

he said. And this time the girl did not refuse. Weeks passed. Their intimacy deepened. The girl was becoming very dear to Rothery. At last the day arrived when he felt that the shadow which hung over them ought to be lifted.

"The girl looked at him, and then, to Rothery's amazement, she burst into passionate weeping. 'I can never marry you, Jack,' she cried. 'You do not know—Oh, you do not know, and I cannot bring myself to tell you.'

"But you love me, Mr. Rothery," he cried. "He took her in his arms, and for an instant her head lay on his shoulder. 'Yes, I love you,' she said. But I cannot marry you. She raised her head and looked him frankly in the eyes.

"The terror in the girl's eyes almost unnerved him. She glanced at him and he saw that she knew all. 'You have seen her?' she cried, with a quick intake of breath.

"You must let me come an the you, for Evelyn's sake," said Mollie. "He was rather astonished when Mollie resolutely refused. 'I bear you no ill will, Jack, and I owe you my life,' she said. But I feel that it would be impossible after what has happened.

SOME COUNTIES MAY NOT HOLD PRIMARY

There may be no second senatorial primary held in Lubbock and Hale counties, according to Dan Boone who has just returned from a business trip to Lubbock. Mr. Boone says that while he will not positively say that no primary will be held, as he did not have an opportunity of talking with the county chairman, he was very authoritatively informed that no steps were being taken toward the holding of the primary and that the probabilities were very much against one being held in either county.

The Empress. Valentine Grant, starred in "The Innocent Lie," is the attraction at the Empress today. A synopsis of the story is given. Nora O'Brien, who arrives in America with the intent of finding her brother and delivering a note for a friend of hers, is injured in a street brawl. Believing her to be the expected relative of the family addressed in the note, she is conveyed to them. The Winters, not having ever seen their little Irish cousin, welcome her as their own. Mrs. Winters and her two sons, Teddy and Regan, are attentive to "Cousin" Nora, who persists in her plan that she is not their cousin. Thinking that the injury has affected her mind, all her protests go unheeded. After a while Nora becomes accustomed to her enjoyable surroundings and rejoices in the fact that her identity remains only in the forgotten past. Her darling Regan, the youngest of the family, establishes her more firmly in their hearts. Her brother, a notorious thief, plots to rob the Winters. By a remarkable strategy he secures the position of chauffeur in the family; here the first meeting in America of sister and brother takes place. Suspicious and thrilling adventures follow.

With his little daughter he goes to the mountains and takes up a new life. But the child falls ill of moun-tain fever. Just at this time Hardy finds it necessary to return to the vil-lage. Mary returns with him, and in a violent storm comes to her husband's cabin. Houston takes her in for the child's sake. He goes for Hardy as the only physician who can save the child. The child's life is saved, Mary, forced to make her choice between the missionary and Hardy, pleads to ward the child and goes to its bedside. Houston is about to kill Hardy when he sees a vision of the crucifixion, with this legend in the sky above the three crosses: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." He relents, and Hardy goes forth free. The lace eyes for detail is exercised splendidly in "The Disciple." The set showing the western village and the

WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN? COMING TO WICHITA THEATER

At intervals there are plays either on the legitimate stage or in the high-drama of such paramount interest and importance to the nations that long after their presentation reminiscences of their greatness follow in their wakes. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" is the most recent of these wonderful plays. Wichita Falls, however, is to see at the Wichita Theater in the near future, a new production which will take its rank with the never-to-be-for-gotten film dramas. It is entitled "Where Are My Children?" and was conceived and produced by a master woman director, Lois Weber. During the rule of King Herod there occurred a revolting event which is familiar to nearly every man and woman—the killing in cold blood by the king's edict, of thousands of newborn babes—but these mothers, frantically fought to save their young—in the present age, hundreds of thousands of unborn children are sacrificed yearly with the knowledge and consent of the mothers, and it is upon this theme that "Where Are My Children?" is based. The photoplay has just had its premiere at the Globe theater, New York City at $1 admission, and thousands swarmed to witness it. It has received the hearty endorsement of the National Board of Censors, Dr. Parkhurst and a score of other prominent physicians, lawyers, scientists, club women, etc. Lois Weber has handled this play in the delicate manner which it needs, an art which seems natural to her. She has produced it with the same air of refinement and inoffensiveness that surrounded her two former successes, "Hypocrites" and "Scandal."

AT THE Theatre THEATRE TODAY. Return Date of One Day Only. WM S. HART. The screen's greatest actor. "THE DISCIPLE". WHAT "THE DISCIPLE" IS. William S. Hart plays Jim Houston. "The Disciple," a "shootin' iron person," who backs up his doctrine with his gun until his wife runs away with Doc Hardy and his child is stricken with fever. He then "apostles with God," curses him and becomes the author of his own destiny. See "God's night." What does it suggest to you? See Ince's interpretation of it. It is not a religious story. See what the lightning did; what the storm brought—the most terrific storm in moving pictures. See why Hart is the biggest character actor in his profession; his marvelous facial expression; his wonderful ability to seize every opportunity without having them thrown at him like so many bouquets. Hart makes men cry. Hart is a wonderful actor, a wonderful artist. Hart is a man—not a cissy. Triangle Keystone Today, "Her Painted Hero." Coming Tomorrow—Bessie Barricelli in "Not My Sister." Triangle Keystone—Al St. John in "The Moon Shiners."

EMPERESS THEATRE TODAY. DANIEL FROHMAN PRESENTS "THE INNOCENT LIE". A stirring drama with a romance of Springtime, the glamor and adventure in a great city, the mystery of a detective story and a conflict of emotions with facts, brings to the screen a combination of interest difficult to excel. VALENTINE GRANT. Charming portrays the character of Nora, about whom the constantly changing flow of incidents centers. THE BOOB WEEKLY. Animated cartoon by R. L. Goldber, the most original artist humorist of the age, strikes high "G" in laugh—something really new. 5c and 10c. TOMORROW WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS THEDA BARA "EAST LYNNE". The moving picture revival of "EAST LYNNE" as produced by the master organization of William Fox, adheres closely to the dramatic perfection of the old stage favorite, but brings all the power of the motion picture medium to make it an East Lynne never before achieved—THEDA BARA reaches the height of her emotional powers, and her experienced rapport create a photodrama of unusual merit. THE DEUTSCHLAND. Is one of the world's latest and greatest wonders. Get a close up view of it in the new PATHE NEWS. 10c and 15c.

FUNDS GO TO NEW CITY DEPOSITORY. Check For Over $42,000... Tuesday To National Bank of Commerce. The National Bank of Commerce yesterday became the depository for the city's funds, being the successful bidder when the award was recently made. The transfer of the account was made with a check for $42,370.55 drawn by J. W. Walkup, city treasurer. The bank furnished bond for $250,000, signed by J. L. Lott, W. Reid, J. Jackson, Frank Keil, A. A. Hughes, K. E. Bauch and G. W. Musgrave. The National Bank of Commerce, while the youngest of this city's financial institutions, has shown phenomenal growth since it opened for business in May 1914, at that time its resources were only about $75,000, while they total now well in excess of the half million mark, with 500 depositors; it has been on dividend-paying basis practically from the start. The bid for $230,000 covers any deposits the city would be liable to make during the term. The city gets three per cent interest on daily balances.

CHICAGO TAKES LOUISIANA MINISTER TO THE BAD. From the Chicago Journal. The Rev. J. A. Verriault, a middle-aged minister of New Iberia, La., came to Chicago to pursue a summer course of study at Moody Bible Institute. But he fell among thieves, he says, and was persuaded to drink a little. He says the women involved say his intentions were right and that he sought to impress her with the beauties of religion. Being a stranger in the city, the minister entered a cafe in search of food not long after his arrival. There he says he met Thomas Dowling, the bartender, who under arrest. Dowling, the minister said, summoned Miss Blanche Rose, 24 years old. She is also under arrest. She persuaded the minister, he charges, to accompany her to her home, and there, in a kindly way, he says, he sought to tell her of the straight and narrow path. William Truddell of the same address and John Fairchild appeared at the house. They also are under arrest. After much persuasion, the minister drank a little beer, the police say, and after that he has only hazy remembrances of what happened. The Rev. Mr. Verriault says he remembers that the trio were with him in a taxicab and that early next morning he found himself deserted. His watch and chain, $145, a check for $200, his prayer book, umbrella and railroad ticket were missing. Then he complained to the police. Dowling told the police that the minister requested him to introduce him to "a respectable young woman." Dowling said he telephoned to Blanche Rose, who came with the minister and took the minister to her home for dinner. The minister's railroad ticket, prayer book, umbrella and watch and chain all were recovered and charges of larceny were placed against the woman and the three men.

SWEDISH WOMAN'S IDEA OF PEACE AND NEUTRALITY. Arthur Ruhl in Collier's Weekly. The Conservative papers have criticized Ellen Key lately for her un-Swedish or pro-Ally leanings, and she would be criticized exactly the same way at home, particularly in the East for being pro-German. In other words she looks at the war as a humanitarian, and she is not exactly the first of all the people engaged and of the mixed justice of their behavior since the war to swallow the usual patriotic hatred against the enemy. She spoke of Romain Rolland, with whose ideas I should say, she largely agreed. His picture was on the wall, and she remarked that it was the most difficult kind of courage to offer yourself against the tide in your own country in time of war. At the same time she is by no means ready to fall in with every suggestion for peace. Only a day or two before she had declined a request to write an appeal for peace to be signed by the women of her city.

MARVIN JONES' BIRTHPLACE CELEBRATES HIS VICTORY. Gainesville, Tex., Aug. 2.—Nearly two thousand people from various parts of the Thirteenth Congressional District were present last night at Valley View to pay honor to Marvin Jones and George Dayton. Committed July 22 to the offices of congressman and state senator, respectively. Primarily the occasion was arranged for the citizens of Valley View could pay homage to their two native sons who had been so signally honored. Marvin Jones by the most remarkable vote ever polled for an congressman running his first political race in Texas, and George Dayton by an overwhelming majority in the fourth Congressional District. But the fact that their popularity was widespread and the honor of entertainment could not be confined locally was attested by some 500 persons in and automobile from points a hundred miles distant, many from Bowie, St. Jo, Nocona, Monahans, Decatur, Dumas and Gainesville. Following a banquet at the Valley View Hotel, where more than a hundred close supporters were entertained, a speaking contest at the Valley View high school, where seats were placed on the lawn. J. T. Leonard, former mayor of Gainesville, was master of ceremonies.

It is a serum which they found after exhaustive experiments. They say serious cases have been treated with injections. The death rate has been reduced from 25 to three per cent.

ON THE FIRING LINE WITH THE GERMANS. Just Brought Back by Wilbur H. Durborough, War Photographer, who took them on the Battle field while with the German Army. See actually more of the German battle lines than many German soldiers witness. See with the eye of a motion picture camera that traveled by auto with the vanguard of Von Hindenburg's army—that peered over first line trenches of the enemy—that dashed through shot and shell, over the battle in a war aeroplane. Witness the Germans assailing the fortress of Novo Georgeievski—declared impregnable—with infantry, machine guns, cavalry, aeroplanes—constantly attacking day and night for a full week. They captured trench after trench by desperate open field charges against a hail of bullets. Then the big guns wrecked the last ramparts of Russian Poland. See these thrilling, vivid, terrific spectacles. See seven consecutive months of the war—Hospitals, Armies, Camps, Prisoners, Great Supply Trains as well as the battles. another hour and bring the midnight sun to Stockholm. The light seemed reluctant to fade as we sped past wide lakes surrounded with woods, the fresh young green budding brilliant contrast in the pink and yellow and reds of the summer villas. Till nearly midnight it was daylight. Meanwhile through the trees we caught glimpses of a magnificent sunset. The air grew cool, colored and chill. We called for the hot drinks that were supplied by a blonde and smiling Swedish girl, and we put on wraps and overcoats, taking advantage of our privacy to enjoy ourselves with American songs.

The next morning at 10 o'clock we were on the platform watching for the German war prisoners on their way from Serbia. We were at once attracted by the small group of people, all German looking, who wore army caps, a brilliantly accurate military figure with them, a man in middle life, with a smooth face, kept a razor in his breast, a sword at his side, and a military figure with him, a man in middle life, with a smooth face, kept a razor in his breast, a sword at his side, and a military figure with him, a man in middle life, with a smooth face, kept a razor in his breast, a sword at his side.

The cold in Siberia killed a good many who were in a weakened condition. Then there was an outbreak of typhoid in one Siberian town. Each morning the dead were piled up in heaps on a wagon drawn by Red Cross mules, and dumped out. The journey had been slow. Sometimes they would stay in one place for several weeks. Then the people would object to their being there and they'd be moved on.

Most of the prisoners had come from Siberia, through Russia and Finland. Some of them had been in Siberia for a year or more, others for a short time only. On the way, for two days, one of them said he had been packed in with a crowd of prisoners in a cattle car, the sick and the well together. When they were taken out several were dead. The men said they hadn't been well treated by the Russians in Russia, but they were better treated in Siberia.

He referred to such correspondents as "peeps" and said he had endorsed them as long as he proposed to. An order has been sent to all district commanders along the border covering future action against newspaper men sending out dispatches which may be classed as untruthful. In each instance the offender will be tried by a special court of militia officers from his state. If found guilty he will be ordered from camp.

The general's telegram which was sent to the adjutant general said: "I wish to call attention of the department to the carnival of lying being indulged in by many of the correspondents who accompanied the state troops to the border. I have never seen or heard of anything that approaches it for sheer maliciousness and shamelessness.

While there are honorable exceptions, many of these correspondents are men of no judgment or balance, or have had so little experience of the world that they seem to have no sense of balance or proportion. Ordinary inconveniences or deprivations that to a man with real soldierly instincts, are merely subjects for jokes are magnified by them into the most distressing stories.

"They persistently neglect to say anything about the excellent and creditable things that they see, and if they can see nothing to find fault with, manufacture lies out of whole cloth. The effect is to distress needlessly the families and friends of the members of the state organizations, and to make people of other nations think we are a degenerate race of sinners and money grubbers incapable of being made into soldiers. I have on my mind and shall hereafter bar offenders from my ranks and prohibit them from accompanying troops on the march."
