BRITISH SEIZE MORE TRENCHES ACROSS RIVER

BULGARIANS ARE IN RETREAT AFTER 36 HOUR BATTLE IN WHICH THEY SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES IN THE DEFENSE.

ARTILLERY IS ACTIVE

Big Guns With Infantry Being Vigorously Employed to the West Where Entire Length is Buzzing With Activity.

The Associated Press summarizes the European situation as follows: Reports from the Macedonian front point more strongly than ever to the probability that the present thrust of the entente forces may be the long expected general offensive movement from this base. Of the armies of five nations mobilized on this front, reported to number 600,000 men, the British and French are known to be exerting heavy pressure.

French troops are also cooperating with the British in the more easterly operations, where, like their allies, they have crossed the Struma, capturing the village of Yonich on the eastern banks within ten miles of Demir-Hissar. The British have seized the additional trenches across the river to the southeast and Bulgarians are in retreat after a 36-hour battle in which they suffered heavy losses.

West of the Yadar, Paris reports a vigorous offensive by the French and the allies, resulting in the penetration of Bulgarian positions to a depth of nearly half a mile on a two-mile front. Artillery and infantry alike are being vigorously employed to the west along the front the entire length of which now seems to be buzzing with activity.

On the other hand, the German foreign office some time ago informed the state department that because of the British attitude, apparently nothing could be gained by negotiations and moreover that on account of large Polish crops there was no necessity for relief operations.

TO ASK COTTON MILL MAN HERE

WILL BE INVITED TO SUBMIT ANOTHER PROPOSITION TO THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

POSTPONE MATTER

Directors Discuss Dallas Fair Exhibit at Enthusiastic Meeting This Morning.

Action on the cotton mill proposition was among the most important questions to come up at a busy and well-attended session of the Chamber of Commerce directors this morning. It being decided to have W. A. Holt, promoter of the mill, to come to this city for a conference. If Mr. Holt is unable to accept this invitation, a committee from the Chamber of Commerce will be sent to him for a discussion of the proposition.

Pending the conference with Mr. Holt, at which it is sought to have him make a new proposition, no further action will be taken. The offer already submitted by Mr. Holt was not one that this city could accept, it was stated, but it believed that by inviting him to this city, a definite feasible arrangement can be made.

The directors changed the date of the Vernon excursion from September 27 to 28, appropriated $25 for prizes for the youthful orators at the high school, settled the Woodman encampment financial targets and took further steps for an exhibit at the Dallas Fair this fall.

The Vernon trip date was changed at the instance of B. McConnel, district deputy of the Modern Woodmen of America. He explained that many members from this city were planning to go up on August 28, which had already been designated for the Woodmen festivities and he suggested that the two trips be merged, inasmuch as September 28 is as much this city's birthday as September 27, the directors assented to the change.

Miss Day, teacher of elocution in the high school, told of the work of her department and asked for appropriation for prizes to encourage the youths who learn to speak extemporaneously. An appropriation of $25 was ordered for this purpose.

The cotton mill question was discussed at some length, with results as above set forth. T. B. Noble said that he recently visited the cotton mills at Sherman, Denning, McKinney and other points and that he had been astounded at the magnitude of these enterprises and the amount of money paid in wages. Judge Kay was less enthusiastic on the cotton mill question, saying he was reared in a cotton mill district and that there were other things he believed would result in more benefit to the city.

The committee named to investigate the Woodmen encampment expense, reported through its chairman, T. B. Noble, recommending that the Chamber of Commerce stand in opposition to the proposed encampment, amounting to about $165. This was followed by an extended discussion, some of the directors contending that the traction company should pay all of the expense. It was explained, however, that the number of Woodmen attending the encampment had been much larger than had been anticipated and that the expense had been much greater than at first calculated. Most of those who spoke declared that the encampment had resulted in great benefit to this city, at smaller expense, than anything ever held here. The motion to make the appropriation finally prevailed without dissent. When it had been passed, Mr. Kemp took the floor to say that he would have taken it very much to heart if the directors had failed to make the appropriation.

The Dallas fair exhibit, discussion of which at a previous meeting gave promise of bringing down a storing of the head of Agricultural Agent J. W. Campbell, was next taken up. Mr. Campbell had promised to be present at the meeting and came in while the matter was under discussion. He was told that the directors did not feel that the fair specimens collected made up a sufficient exhibit and that some of the members favored taking it over to a better showing was made. Mr. Campbell replied that he had worked hard on the exhibit, but that he was not through and that he would have more specimens to bring in.

It was decided to give prominence to the manufacturing exhibit at the Dallas fair and a committee consisting of F. N. Lawton, T. B. Noble and Frank Callinan, was named to look after this feature. The agricultural exhibit matter was held in abeyance until the next meeting.

Directors present today were Messrs. Huff, Kemp, Lawton, Reid, Huey, Ward, Harvey, Noble, Pennington, Colman, Kay, Bridwell, Hardy, Ferguson, Leopold, Boyd and O'Reilly.

DATE IS CHANGED FOR VERNON TRIP

Modern Woodmen and Other Citizens To Visit Fair on Sept. 28

September 28 instead of September 27 will be the date of the trip to the Willbarger county fair which the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is authorized today by the Chamber of Commerce directors. September 28 will be designated Wichita Falls day at Vernon.

The Modern Woodmen of America of this and neighboring cities had already planned a big time at Vernon on September 28 and as they were to take part in the Wichita Falls excursion, the change was made for their benefit.

Pennants and canes in ample number have been ordered for the Chamber of Commerce for those taking part September 28 is also Wichita Falls anniversary, as well as September 27, as the townsite opening which marked the beginning of the present corporation was held on September 28 also.

CROWDS IN GREECE HAIL VENIZELOS AS CHIEF WHILE ZAIMIS RULES

VENIZELOS DEMONSTRATION IN ATHENS

While Premier Alexander Zaimis is practically dictator of Greece, it is only through the sufferance of ex-Premier Venizelos who is the idol of the Greeks. Immediately following the broader control of affairs by Zaimis Venizelos demonstrations became more frequent. Crowds carrying Venizelos banners were frequently seen. It is through an alliance with ex-Premier Venizelos that Zaimis became virtual dictator of Greece. Premier Zaimis has indefinitely postponed the elections. As parliament has long since adjourned and as it is universally believed he has a complete understanding not only with Venizelos but also with even the extreme anti-Venizelos party, he has the situation entirely in his hands, and he and the little group around him will say the final word as to Greece's future policy.

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

The River of Life. The more we live, more brief appear our life's succeeding stages.

The gladness of our youth, the passion yet disorders, steals lingering like a river smooth along its grassy borders.

But as the careworn cheek grows wan and sorrow's shafts fly thicker, ye stars, that measure life to man, why seem your courses quicker?

When joys have lost their bloom and breath, and life itself is vapid, why, as we near the Falls of Death, feel we its tide more rapid?

It may be strange yet who would change the course to slower speeding, when one by one our friends have gone, and left our bosoms bleeding?

Heaven gives our years of fading strength, indemnifying fleetness; and those of youth, a seeming length, proportioned to their sweetness.

PROSPECTS FOR A SETTLEMENT

Solution of Dairying Problem Seems Nearer Than Since Ordinance Was Proposed

Prospects for peaceful settlement of the difference between some of the dairy men and the city council over the milk ordinance which was to have become effective Monday, now seem much brighter than at any time since the ordinance was introduced. As a result of the council meeting Monday afternoon, with the committee from the Dairymen's Association, it seems very probable that, with some changes in the ordinance, it will be accepted by the dairymen with few exceptions. The impression, which had gotten abroad among the dairymen, that the ordinance required them to build expensive barns for their cows, has been found, upon study of the ordinance, to be erroneous, and this has done much to relieve the fears of those who opposed the ordinance. The section relating to the dairy stables follows: Dairy stables shall be so constructed that there is allowed ample air and light for the cows therein, and shall be painted in some light color and whitewashed once each year. The stables shall be kept free from dirt, dust, cobwebs and foul odors, and the ceilings thereof shall be dust proof. If horses are kept in such buildings, they shall be separated from the cows by a tight and substantial partition. No animals or any fowls shall be allowed in dairy stables. The floors of all dairy stables shall be so constructed that they can be kept sanitary and clean. The manure thereon shall be removed twice daily and taken at least 50 feet from such dairy and placed where cows cannot get at it. Manure shall not be thrown out of the dairy windows. The manure and waste from cows shall be placed in substantial receptacles and removed from the premises of the dairy stables at regular and short intervals of time. During the two weeks before the ordinance goes into effect, inquiry will be made to determine what charges and fees are collected at other places, and the charges prescribed by the ordinance are deemed excessive, revision of them will probably be made. It is believed that a reduction of the charges will do much to remove the objections to the ordinance. To date a total of 33 permits have been taken out covering a total of 425 head of dairy cattle. It is believed this figure represents more than a third of the milk supply of this city.

SPEEDERS HAVE DAY IN COURT

Two Fines Assessed This Morning and Ten Mile Limit is to Be Enforced

The automobile speed limit of ten miles per hour in the city limits downtown is now being enforced by the city authorities, and as a result of infractions of the ordinance, several speeding cases were docketed in police court today. There has been a general disposition on the part of motorists to disregard the ten mile limit downtown, and until lately they have not been held within bounds, but from this time, it is announced, the rule will be enforced. Two fines for exceeding this limit were assessed today. The case of a third was dismissed when it was shown that the visit of a stork to the offender's household had necessitated his making a hurry up trip. Several fines for intoxication were also assessed, with the customary advice from Judge Whitelaw to cut it out. The lecture delivered by the judge to those charged with intoxication is said to be worth the price alone. One "repeater" was among today's defendants and the judge

YOUNG MAN IS SHOT AT VERNON

IN CRITICAL CONDITION AS RESULT OF WOUND INFLECTED BY WATCHMAN

VICTIM WAS RUNNING

Man Had Been Put Off of Train and the Officer Suspected He Was a Fugitive.

Shelby Beck, aged 24 of Rowell, New Mexico, is in a critical condition in a hospital at Vernon, as a result of two bullet wounds in his breast, near his heart. He is expected to recover.

Beck was detected trying to steal a ride on southbound Denver train No. 8 early Monday morning. He was put off twice, but managed to get back on and was on the train when it reached Vernon. Fireman C. A. Morrison told the negro porter to get the stowaway and as Beck left the train, Morrison fired his pistol into the air to frighten the man. Beck ran away from the track at considerable speed, toward the cotton oil mill. The watchman at the mill, having heard the shot, thought Beck was being pursued and fired at him at close range, inflicting a dangerous wound.

The train was in charge of Engineer Onell and Conductor Sullivan. Fireman Morrison fired when Beck was put off the train in order to scare him into keeping off, but the watchman thought some dangerous fugitive was approaching him and acted accordingly.

VIRGINIA BOY IS TO RETURN HOME

Travels of Youth Brought to Close When He Was Apprehended By Local Officials

The travels of Carlos Farar, the young Virginian who was arrested last week by local officers, came to an end Monday afternoon when the boy's father arrived from Clifton Forge, Virginia, returning with the wanderer last night.

Young Farar was apprehended in Denver yards last Thursday, when he was detected hopping a freight train. He at first refused to tell the police anything about himself, but after some hours confinement he made his identity known and his parents were notified. The youth is about sixteen years old and left his Virginia home over a month ago. He had a good home, he said, but he wanted to see the world. He went first to St. Louis, then to Muskogee, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Quanah and then here. After riding freights out of this city for several days he was caught. He had some money when he left home, along with a suitcase full of clothes, a good watch and a shotgun. He had sold practically all his belongings after his money ran out, and was about ready for the comforts of home and the fattest calf when his father arrived. The elder Farar is a railway conductor.

TROOP/MOVEMENTS A GOOD INVESTMENT

The 15,000 state troops ordered to be returned from the border to their respective mobilization grounds will be discharged. That is, Secretary of War Baker has ordered that as soon as they reach their mobilization camps they will be mustered out of the federal service. They will then be in the national guard of that state from which they were sent to the border and it is believed that the respective states will be prompt in discharging them from service and return them to their homes.

This order will bring much relief, not only to the men comprising the state troops, but to their families. The hardships, if any there were by reason of these troops having been sent to the border, were at the homes of the men, among those dependent upon them and the government early made provision for the care of those dependent upon soldiers in the service of the federal government. If there were cases of suffering from this cause they were not extensively made known but it is presumed if such there were they were promptly investigated and the suffering alleviated.

As to the soldiers, they have suffered no hardships. There never was in history the number of men that were sent to the border moved as they were over the distances these men were taken into a strange climate, most of them unaccustomed to outdoor life, and lost as few lives or had so small a number of hospital cases of illness as have the American troops on the border.

There is not a city in the world with a population of 149,000, approximately the number of troops on the border, that had as small a death rate. In the moving of this large body of troops there were not accidents.

The small number of cases of illness and the avoidance of epidemic of contagious diseases, show the perfect system of the medical corps of the United States army. Most of the troops are returning to their homes in better health than when they left them. They have been benefited physically by their outing.

Even had there been no demand for their services, no anticipated demand when they were called, and had the cost of their transportation and maintenance been twice as much as it has, it would have proved to the government a profitable investment because it has given training, practice, discipline to as fine a body of men as the world can produce.

The result of other recent movements of troops from the border will not doubt rest on the action regarding General Pershing's troops in Mexico. Shall they be withdrawn to take the place on guard to the border, it will not doubt be not long until all the militia will be returned to their homes. Austin American.

MACKENSEN WORKS OUT BATTLES ALONE

Commander of Austrian Defense Has Organized Great System of His Own.

London.—An interesting story regarding Field Marshal Von Mackensen who is understood to be in control of all the central powers' armies in South eastern Europe, is told by Petroff, a well known war correspondent of the Russian Slovo.

German prisoners, he says, speak of Mackensen as "the Archangel of the East" with a flaming sword, who put the enemy to defeat in the Carpathians.

When he assumed command of the Austrian armies in the Carpathians he began by proclaiming the whole Carpathian district in a state of siege. Next he requisitioned all the men from the neighboring villages, registered all the old men, women and even children over 10 years of age, and organized them in the working squads.

Next he requisitioned all the men from the neighboring villages, registered all the old men, women and even children over 10 years of age, and organized them in the working squads.

Petroff quotes statements made by prisoners of war concerning two recent war councils held by Mackensen. The first took place at Kovel, 45 Austrian generals of the highest rank being present.

"At the opening of the sitting," says Petroff, "Prince Leopold of Bavaria, specially sent by the kaiser, handed to Von Mackensen a letter from the kaiser. Von Mackensen rose to his feet and began to read the letter in a rambling and somewhat incoherent manner."

"I did not," slowly retorted Mackensen, "know what the Austrian generals present knew what that quarrel was for, they all became anxiously attentive and regarded each other with an air of distrust. At last, pausing at each syllable, the field marshal replied:

"Because I am too old, and because I have a reputation as a soldier, I am not going to answer anything."

MANY COMMEND TRAINING PLAN

Believe United States Should Adopt System of Universal Military Preparation

New York, Sept. 11.—Emphatic commendation of the campaign of the National Security League to impress the American people with the vital necessity of adopting a system of universal military training and service, has been received at the headquarters of the League in letters from prominent men throughout the United States.

For instance, former President C. W. Eliot of Harvard believes that the question whether the United States ought to adopt the principle of universal military service is the most important one which can be presented to the country for discussion in connection with preparedness.

The same point of view is expressed by Judge Henry Stockbridge of the Maryland court of appeals, who says that he is especially interested in seeing measures taken toward a compulsory universal military service.

AT THE THEATRES

The Majestic. Miss Leah Baird, whose powerful characterization of the disconcerted society woman, who runs amok of the social pirate in "The Lights of New York," the new and powerful dramatic release by Vitagraph, is one of the most popular members of the Vitagraph Stock company, and one of the most statusqueously beautiful women on the screen. Miss Baird went on the screen in November, 1911, for the first time, with the Vitagraph company, and has been with them ever since. Her first appearance was in a comedy with the late Marshall P. Wilder, the name of the play being "Chumps." Her unusual ability, grace and beauty won her immediately a following amongst the devotees of filmland, and for five years her stay with Vitagraph has been one of unabating popularity. Miss Baird came to Vitagraph after five years' experience on the legitimate stage. She was with "The Gentleman from Mississippi" for two successive seasons, and was also in stock in Toronto, Buffalo, Wilmington, Del., and Troy, N. Y. She is a native of Chicago, the home of several of the handsomest women on both the stage and the screen today, and is well known there socially. In "The Lights of New York" Miss Baird gives one of her excellent pieces of the beautiful, spoiled idle daughter of the rich, with nothing to do, and therefore, an ever-present temptation for the troublemaker. Her characterizations of parts of this sort are without parallel on the screen, as it is unfortunately a fact, that on the screen as well as on the stage, the number of people who understand the manner and mannerisms of the haute monde are only too few.

The Empress. "The Living Death," Count Leo N. Tolstol's last play, written before his death and played a drama under the title of "The Greater Love" in this country, has been picturized for the World Film corporation and will be seen as a five-part motion picture at the Empress theatre today, with Brock Flyn in the star role, supported by such eminent stars of the stage and screen as Eleanor Woodruff, Teddy Sampson, Johnnie Hines and Charles D. Mackey.

The Gem. "Where Is My Husband?" is the attraction that holds the top place at the Gem today. Dan Russell plays the part of "the husband." Dinty is the bespeckled man ideal. His wife won't even let him have a beer in the room. How's that for maltreatment? Who would blame a man for rebelling? But Dinty did not rebel. He hadn't the nerve. He just tried to make wifey jealous. Well, it didn't work in a chase. All reel comedy ends in a chase. But this is a wonderful chase. Over house-tops, down fire escapes, out into the street goes Dinty in his nightgown. He has a street car and would have been safe if his demon pursuer had not boarded the same car. At first the car would not stop. Then it would not go. But the latter situation happened on a railroad crossing. Railroad trains are so obliging. One of the beastly things came along just then and zip! No more street. And to tell the truth, there was very little left of Dinty. Dan Russell is a scream as Dinty. In one place where he falls into the bed of a woman on the floor below he is made the funniest ever seen. But the whole picture is wonderful and it would be a shame to spoil it by saying too much in advance.

Wichita Theatre. Billie Burke is here again tonight. She is appearing in the second chapter of "Gloria's Romance" at the Wichita Theatre and will delight patrons who journey there. There is no artist appearing on the screen who pleases as well as this lovable bundle of loveliness. To those who viewed the first chapter the management can only promise a repetition of the great interest it portrayed. Another picture tonight is "Behind the Lines" a gripping story of the Mexican border situation, set to a love theme that is beautiful. A capable cast and the five reels are taken altogether the program today will more than please. The performance begins tonight at 7:20 and continues till 10:30 and the prices are 10c and 15c.

THOUSANDS OF GRAVES MARK RESTING PLACES OF HEROES

Paris, Sept. 12.—Visitors to the field on which the battle of the Marne was fought, which is the objective of an official commemorative pilgrimage that departed from Paris for Meaux Sunday report that only observant eyes could discover that this region was the scene of a far stretching and historic battle two years ago.

Nature has healed almost all the wounds inflicted by the fighting, except for trees with scarred trunks and dead branches, here and there traces of hastily dug shallow trenches along the main roads, and the rusty, tangled and twisted remains of barbed wire defenses at the outskirts of isolated villages and farms.

Journeying along, however, the visitor meets with hundreds, even thousands of graves marked with the cross or the tri-color. Some of these graves are marked with inscriptions such "in memory of the workmen of Paris," or "here reposed 43 French soldiers." Her great majority of the graves, however, bear simply the names of the dead warriors, with the words "killed September 6, 1914."

More rarely the visitor comes across more eloquent memorials of the mighty struggle. Now it will be an unexplicated shell wedged in the trunk of a torn and leafless tree; again an iron chair, high up among the foliage, which was used by a sniper or an observer; or it may be a series of large holes where a number of heavy shells had fallen close together.

One of the chief points of interest to the Marne pilgrimage at Champ Fleury, where General von Kluck had his headquarters during the battle, and where a game of billiards was played on, when a shell from a French 56-millimeter gun dropped on the roof and ended the game.

Another point of interest will be the stands, though more than half in ruins.

In Paris the anniversary is being observed generally. A feature of the celebration is the beflagging of 1000 taxicabs commanded by General Galliani at the critical moment when the battle was beginning, by means of which 15,000 men were thrown into the scale of victory.
