WAR SUMMARY

The Associated Press summarizes the European war situation as follows: Field Marshal Von Mackensen's advances through the Rumanian province of Dobruja, where the combined German, Bulgarian and Turkish forces have been striking for the railroad from Constanta to interior Rumania, have ended for the time at least, according to accounts from both sides of the struggle.

Bucharest yesterday announced a check for Von Mackensen's armies on the line of the defense against the Bulgarians and Rumanians, who have been heavily reinforced. Today a statement of the Sofia war office, under yesterday's date, concedes the stubbornness of their resistance and reports the entente armies still holding their strongly fortified positions.

Reports regarding the fighting in the Florida district in Northwestern Macedonia are conflicting. Accounts from the entente sources have asserted the Bulgarians were falling back on Serbian territory and preparing for the defense of Monastir, Sofia and Antioch, however, a term in the fighting, favorable to the Bulgarian forces, declaring that counter attacks resulted in the capture of Serbian and allied troops with heavy losses.

Further east in the mountainous region along the Serbian border the engagement is heavy all along the line, the struggle in the Kaimakoulou district being particularly stubborn. On the far western end the allies are making progress but apparently are attempting no serious forward thrusts in either the Vardar or Struma regions.

WILL REMOVE BLACKMAILERS TO NEW YORK

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 21.—Conferees of federal agencies, who have been investigating the so-called blackmail syndicate, were continued today at the department of justice. LIBERAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

Funds Needed

Editor Wichita Daily Times: Will you open your columns immediately for liberal contributions to the Wilson campaign fund and conduct vigorous campaign along same lines as four years ago? Ninety thousand individual contributions were received in 1912. We want to largely increase that number this year. We must fight the secret millions with the above named dollars of the people.

Contributions in any amount will be gladly received but The Times does not want the impression that $1 is the limit. Those who can give more are urged to do so. In this effort The Times will cooperate with the auxiliary fund and it would like to print a long list of names of contributors tomorrow.

MOB STRINGS MURDERER TO A PHONE POLE

JAILER WAS OVERPOWERED AND ENRAGED CITIZENS FORCED THEIR WAY THROUGH DOORS TO REACH PRISONERS.

WAS EX-CONVICT

Farmer and Wife Were Killed and Their Bodies Hid Away While Perpetrator of Crime Continued to Work on the Farm.

By Associated Press. Blaine, Kan., Sept. 21.—Burt Dudley, charged with the murder of Henry Muller, an aged German and his wife, was taken from the Johnson county jail here early today by a masked mob and hanged to a telephone pole. The mob came to Olathe in motor cars, supposedly from near Stillwell, where Muller had lived.

The mob was well organized and apparently led by one man. It came into Olathe quietly, the lights of the dozen motor cars dimmed by coats thrown over them and the license tags removed. One man went to the jail first and called Sheriff Carroll out with the story that a man had been hurt in a motor car accident.

Just as the door of Dudley's cell was broken down some one struck Carroll in the back of the head with a revolver and rendered him unconscious. Dudley was taken out and his hands tied. He denied he had committed the crime. He was taken to the edge of town to the end of the road that is coincidentally known as Dudley street. The convicted man's feet were tied and he again denied he had committed the crime.

A forty foot pole was thrown over an arm of a telephone pole and he was pulled up, his feet being nearly ten feet from the ground. Then the mob, for the first time since it had entered the town.

This plan has received the approval of the board of regents and the University Students Association and is expected to prove a great advantage over the old plan which has been in operation for many years.

MEXICO WILL BE POPULAR RESORT

When Peace is Restored Southern Republic Will Be the "Venice of the Valley."

Washington, Sept. 21.—When peace once more broods over Mexico, and the "See America First" campaign is made to embrace the wonderful scenic beauties of the southern republic one of the most popular resorts for tourists will probably be "The Venice of the Valley," graphically described in a communication from Walter Hough to the National Geographic Society.

"One of the pleasurable experiences among those that delight the traveler in Mexico is a visit to the home of the Aztec lake dwellers. In the heart of the great Valley of Mexico, where they live, is due to the stretches of water among the trees and verdant fields in a landscape which is here a beautiful mountain and bathed with the clearest air of heaven.

"Their lakes—Texcoco, Xochimilco, Zumpango, and Chalco—do not reveal themselves, except from the high mountains encircling the valley. They are shallow bodies of water in the midst of extensive marshes, unapproachable and lacking the effect of our lakes with their definite shorelines.

"Long before Cortez came the Indians of the valley worked in the boggy lake lands and dug canals hither and thither—main canals between the lakes and to the great city of Tenochtitlan and smaller canals between the fields. Through this maze of waterways, then as now, they sent their boats and in the fens built their thatched houses.

"The Sabancan, the Franciscan, records that 'the City of Mexico is like another Venice and the people themselves are comparable to the Venetians in urbanity and savoir.' This was written in the 16th century, but in the lapse of several hundred years the city's wonderful water environment has become dry ground, and the seeker for lake dwellers will have to look farther afield in the neighboring valley of the sky.

"The way to the present Aztec Ven-

NO FOOD FAMINE IS ANTICIPATED

Mexico is Said to Be in Position to Feed People with Products of Soil

Mexico City, Sept. 17.—The production of food stuffs in Mexico for the current year has obtained any chance of shortage, according to the department of agriculture, the crops are said to be not only sufficient to prevent famine but will make Mexico practically independent of importation of food-stuffs from other countries.

Within the last few months, according to the department officials, means of transportation have increased many fold. Regular train service has resumed not only with the United States border but between interior points and ranches which have been idle for an extended period have resumed operation.

The bean crop, according to department reports, while not a bumper one, will be sufficient to permit the exportation of old beans, which recently was removed by a decree of the First Chief. In connection with the bean crop, officials of the department declare that the shortage of crops in Durango is due solely to the speculative operations of Pancho Villa in the last two years.

The production of cotton, it is admitted by the department of agriculture, will fall 50 per cent below normal but reports from the Laguna district in the amount of water now in the streams which in some seasons are entirely dry, indicates a full crop next year.

There is a great need among the farmers for new parts of the more simple types of agricultural machinery and the department of agriculture now is preparing a plan whereby such supplies as plowpoints and other machinery parts will be bought in large quantities by the government and sold at cost to the small farmers.

will go to a river, shake crumbs from their clothes and recite among other prayers the verse from Micah, "And you will cast into the depths of the sea all their sins."

"On the New Year all the inhabitants of the earth must before Him as sheep before a shepherd." In these words the ancient Jewish law book, the Mishna, refers to the significance of this day. It is a day of judgment when the sins and the merits of all men are weighed by the Divine Judge. The Talmud tells that in this annual New Year's Judgment some three books lie open before the Most High. In one book, the Book of Life, the names of the perfectly righteous, the sinless are inscribed; the second book, the book of death has recorded in it the names of the utterly wicked; and the third book is for the ordinary "middle type" of men in whose behalf judgment is suspended through the ten days of penitence until the Day of Atonement when the decision is finally made and recorded.

A Wichita Falls citizen whose business requires that he live at Amarillo has been unable to find a house there to live in. It is said that a hundred new houses there would find tenants in a week. Amarillo bank deposits and postal receipts show good increase. Conditions are prosperous at Amarillo, it reports that come from that city can be credited. Amarillo can hardly be pointed to as an example of the horrible results of prohibition.

A democrat and a republican were candidates for the gubernatorial nomination on the progressive ticket in New York. The incomplete vote gives the republican 10,233 and the democrat 6,889. The republican will win, of course, and his name will appear on the progressive ballot, but the vote shows that the progressives are by no means unanimous in their support of the republican candidates. If the democrats can get anything like this proportion of the progressive votes in the general election they will win by an overwhelming majority.

ORIGIN OF THE SABBATH.

Scholarship tells us that the Assyrian Sabbath days and the Hebrew Sabbath are both probably derived from some more primitive moon period to which religious significance was attached. But the evidence is not conclusive. A crude primitive Sabbath clause, a crude primitive Sabbath clause, may antedate the history of both Assyrian and Hebrew. Professor Hutton Webster of the University of Nebraska has undertaken to show that there is no warrant for making the Hebrew holy day an importation from either Egypt or Babylonia. All the evidence points to its being a very ancient institution, and his theory is that the Hebrews and the Babylonians derived their new moon and full moon festivals from a common ancestor. These festivals, however, underwent radical, unlike evolution among the two kindred peoples. The outcome with the Hebrews was their Sabbath. But the real day, according to Professor Webster, is but one of the many such days known to many different peoples. The custom of refraining from labor on certain occasions is by no means unknown to peoples in the lower stages of culture. His theory of the origin of rest days is stated in the following words: "A survey of the evidence indicates that the sabbatarian regulations have arisen chiefly, if not wholly, as pure superstitions, the product of an all-too-logical intellect or of a disordered fancy. In the last analysis they are based primarily on fear. The fact remains, however, that one day in seven for rest corresponds with man's nature and necessities, and affords an opportunity for the cultivation of his spiritual nature, thus confirming the ancient statement that he blessed the seventh day and hallowed it, the creature being the expression of the Creator. That fear should enter into the transaction is regrettable, for out of this has grown many persecutions. God made man free. Many persons, in making himself a slave, and that's why it is so very easy to believe in a personal devil. The Sabbath was made for man. It was helpful and is helping us to establish on the earth a pure democracy, and this, despite the wrong interpretation given to it by many intelligent persons. -Waco Times-Herald.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKES.

What, for instance, do the 700,000 workaday men of New York think they can gain by a sympathy strike? In what way will the idleness of scores of untrained occupations affect the rapid transit company? In what way will the hunger of multiplied thousands of children, which sympathetic idleness will cause, help their families in fighting the rapid transit company? Supporting the rapid transit strike lasts two or three months and is finally lost. In what way will the loss of millions in wages by 700,000 people contribute to the victory or defeat?

The sympathizers are doomed to loss and defeat, even if the rapid transit strikers win. And how does it happen that men are ready to sympathize with one class of fellow beings, and yet are unable to sympathize with employers with whom they have no quarrel? It is comprehensible that if the barbers' union or the plumbers' union felt they ought to support the strikers, the proper sympathy would be expressed by sharing wages with them, for surely many of the strikers and their families are suffering. That sort of sympathy would tell, but just to quit work and go on the suffering list out of sympathy is so absurd that it would be laughable but for the serious consequences that are involved.

Real sympathy implies help, but there will be little help in augmenting the demands upon union relief funds by organizing a strike 700,000 strong. Of course, the Post is not butting in. It has already criticized the arrogance of the company officials in refusing to arbitrate the differences. But simply can't understand how, if the strikers of one office building were to go on a strike, the house painters on a job seven miles away can help matters by quitting their work, or how the pastry cooks of a hotel can quit their jobs and help the striking bricklayers in another part of town. There are some things we can comprehend about strikers, but the sympathetic stunt, and it is promised for tomorrow in New York, is beyond us. -Houston Post.

WHAT THE STUDENT EARNS.

The state superintendent of public instruction of Wisconsin has figured the value of school down to an exact dollar basis. He asserts that the child earns $5 every day he spends in school. His assertion is based on the official records of the bureau of education at Washington. These records show that uneducated laborers earn on the average of $600 a year for a period of forty years, a total of $24,000. That high school graduates earn on an average $1,000 a year for forty years, a total of $40,000. To acquire this double earning power twelve years in school are required, twelve years of 180 days each, a total of 2,160 days. If these $20,000 to a life income, it is figured that each day at school is worth $9.26. That, the estimator contends, is only the money side. But it is important, because the development of all earning power depends upon the earning capacity makes for better standards of living, a broadened perspective and time for gratification of the soul that has nothing to do with the material. -Dallas Journal.

THE ISSUES FAIRLY JOINED.

What is this we are hearing that Mr. Wilson in his speech of acceptance discussed the great issues of the campaign and that Mr. Hughes never so much as touches on them? Going back to other campaign speeches the Courier-Journal finds that he has met frankly and fully the issues which Mr. Wilson emphasizes in his speech at Shadow Lawn. Thus: "Wilson has no disposition to boast of what the democratic party has accomplished. It has merely fulfilled its duty. It has merely fulfilled its explicit promise. But there can be no violation of good taste in calling attention to the manner in which those promises have been carried out or in advertising to the interesting fact that many of the things accomplished were what the opposition party had again and again promised to do, but had left undone." Hughes: "The republican party is the only national party. I never would have done what Wilson did about Mexico."

Wilson: "The republican party was put out of power because of failure, practical failure and moral failure; because it had served special interests and not the country large because it had no leadership of its preferred and established guides, of those who still make its choices, it had lost touch with the thoughts and the needs of the nation." Hughes: "I'm for suffrage for women—if they can get it through a constitutional amendment. (But they can't get it that way.)" Wilson: "Under the democratic party alike in the domestic field and in the wide field of the commerce of the world-American business and industry have been set free to move as they never moved before." Hughes: "I'm putting them back in the protecting cage which Dayley and Payne and Aldrich, and which the old guard demands shall be reconstructed." Besides, it was perfectly scandalous about Mexico. Wilson: "By the federal reserve act the supply of currency at the disposal of active business has been rendered elastic, taking its volume, not from a fixed body of investment securities, but from the liquid assets of daily trade; and these assets are assessed and accepted, not by distant groups of bankers in control of unavailable reserves, but by bankers at the many centers of local exchange, who are in touch with local conditions everywhere." Hughes: "The incompetent democratic administration appointed a stock breeder and veterinary surgeon to office." Besides, if I do say it, I'm the man who could put the I in Mexico and settle the whole business before breakfast.

Wilson: "For the farmers of the country we have virtually created commercial credit by means of the federal reserve act, and we have created credit. They now have the standard of other business men in the money market." Hughes: "The democrats have endorsed the 'pork' industry, but it should not be forgotten that this is one of the oldest republican industries." Besides, the democrats can't dodge Mexico by referring to a little old currency and such things.

Wilson: "The republican party is just the party that can not meet the new conditions of a new age. It does not know the way and it does not wish new conditions. It tried to break away from the old leaders and could not. They still select its candidates and dictate its policy, still resist change, still know no methods of encouraging business but the old methods. When it changes its leaders and its purposes and brings its ideas up to date it will have the right to ask the American people to give it power again, but not until then." Hughes: "I am the representative of the national republican party and have no concern in local political squabbles." Besides, is there a human being within the sound of my silence who believes, if Taft had turned over that Mexican mines to me instead of to Wilson, that there would be any Mexican mine today?

Wilson: "In foreign affairs we have been guided by principles clearly conceived and consistently lived up to. These are plain principles, and we have never lost sight of them or departed from them. We stand for the principle of self-determination, the principle of the right of every nation to choose its own government, and the principle of the right of every nation to be treated as an equal. We stand for the principle of the right of every nation to be treated as an equal." Besides, it is not our business to interfere with the domestic affairs of other nations. We stand for the principle of the right of every nation to choose its own government, and the principle of the right of every nation to be treated as an equal.

Wilson: "I am the candidate of a party, but I am above all things else an American citizen. I neither seek the favor nor fear the displeasure of any small alien element amongst us which puts its loyalty to a foreign power before the loyalty to the United States." Hughes: "Me for old age pensions! Besides, why should I tell Wilson how to run Mexico? If I gave that secret away does anybody believe he wouldn't take advantage of it before I could get it patented? If a fellow gives up a life salary in order to run Mexico do you suppose he is going to tell the other fellow how to run Mexico so there won't be anything left for the first fellow to do but go back to the life salary, which he can't go back to? I'm not giving incompetents the advantage of what I know, but the American people suspect that I don't know what I know and have my doubts that I know how I would run Mexico just let them try to run man Wilson's place. -From the Louisville Courier Journal.

SAN DIEGO IDEAL IN MANY RESPECTS.

Editorial Times: San Diego, Cal., Sept. 17.—Two months in the city of San Diego sight-seeing and I am still enjoying the pleasures and comforts that surround me on every side. From the time of my arrival up to the present time the weather conditions have been ideal; never hot, never cold; balmy and temperate at all times. Superabundance of hotels and apartment houses, numerous cafes and restaurants, makes competition so great that prices of board and lodging are very cheap. Fact is, I am rooming at a first-class hotel at sixteen dollars per month, and my meals at one of the best cafeterias average thirty-five cents. In the same proportion, car and auto fare is very nominal. So, you see outside of railway fare, food and return to Wichita Falls, one can live as cheap here as at home. Now, remember, I am not boasting for San Diego, either. I am only voicing my surprise that it is true. San Diego, I would judge, is a city of ninety to one hundred thousand population, well built and offering every facility for comfort and pleasure. So temperate and genial is the climate, that old and middle-aged tourists decided to arrange their business affairs under the leadership of its preferred and established guides, of those who still make its choices, it had lost touch with the thoughts and the needs of the nation. Hughes: "I'm for suffrage for women—if they can get it through a constitutional amendment. (But they can't get it that way.)" Wilson: "Under the democratic party alike in the domestic field and

HUNGARIAN CITY ON THE DANUBE.

Is. Double Town, One Section of Which Has 5,000 Whites and Other has 3,000 Population. Washington, Sept. 21.—The National Geographic Society's war geography bulletin issued today gives the following information concerning Orsova, the Hungarian frontier city on the Danube recently occupied by Roumanian forces. "Only a few miles above the Iron Gate, the last defile of the Danube and about an equal distance below the scenicly magnificent Kusan Delfis, is the quaint and picturesque free port of Orsova. It is 94 miles east of Belgrade and a 10 hour voyage from that city on the Danube steamers, which in peace times leave the Serbian capital daily at five in the morning. "Orsova is a double town. Old Orsova with a population of about 5,000 clings to the west bank of the Cerna river which here mingles its waters with the Danube. New Orsova, on the east bank is mainly a Turkish colony with a population of 3,000. In former times the town was a Turkish fort but since 1878 it has been Hungarian. "On the outskirts of Orsova, about two miles from the steamboat pier, there is an attractive little park in the midst of which is one of the holiest shrines of the Hungarian people. It is the Kronen Kapelle (Crown Chapel) erected by Emperor Francis Joseph over the spot where Louis Kosuth and his fellow patriots buried the Hungarian crown of St. Stephen and other relics of the kingdom in 1849. The story of the hiding of the crown is one of the most pathetic chapters in the life of the man who is generally admitted to have been Hungary's greatest orator and most incorruptible patriot. The revolution against Austria (1848-49) having failed, Kosuth and his de-

The chapel is approached by a splendid avenue of tall poplars. "Another interesting spot in the environs of Orsova is Mehadia, a celebrated 'cure' also called Harkulebad. The medicinal value of whose hot springs has been appreciated since Roman times. "Orsova is esteemed by travelers as one of the most delightfully restful villages of eastern Europe. A famous woman globe trotter has paid this appreciative tribute to its charms: "There is a certain little town named Varena, lying on the brink of the Lake of Como and looking down competitively on its own fair image reflected in that pure mirror which used to be my bean ideal of a quiet retreat, for one worried of the world and its follies; but as soon as I had seen this little town, I abandoned my former favorite, feeling that nowhere else had I seen a spot at once so bright and peaceful." Carbolic acid, self administered, caused the death of Mrs. W. H. Chiles at her home on Downing street here this morning. Though the woman lived for some time after taking the acid, she made no explanation of her act and left no note or communication of any kind. Her physician stated that she had been in poor health for some time. Mr. Chiles was in the yard of his home this morning about 9:30 when he saw a messenger come to the house and deliver a package. He did not appear to know the messenger and he was told that the messenger was his wife as to what the boy had delivered and discovered her in the act of drinking the bottle. The half ounce vial was emptied in one draught and efforts of physicians, summoned immediately were unavailing. Mrs. Chiles was about 32 years of age and is survived by her husband and two children. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, pending advice from relatives in North Carolina.

While the recent increase in the insurance rates of the city does not affect the rate of the city, and is caused, according to members of the fire commission, by individual hazards that exist at three individual places in the city, Fire Chief McClure is very much concerned over the rate. While he had no suggestions to make, he said that he would be glad to make a further reduction in the rate. The plan of Chief McClure is to get the water company to put meters on at least 75 per cent of their consumers on which the state commission would allow a reduction of an additional one per cent on the local rate. Only about 50 per cent now have meters. The idea of this is, that with most of the water consumers of the city provided with meters, they will be more economical with their hydrants on private lines have been known to have been running within a block of a fire in this city and this materially lowers the pressure available for fighting the fire. The key rate at which Wichita Falls insurance is figured is already one of the lowest of any city in the state, and both the council and the fire department have been constantly striving to lower it still further. A further reduction of three per cent would be allowed on the key rate at Wichita Falls if the paid fire force was increased to ten men, but it seems that the condition of the state will not permit such an increase. The commission, while taking cognizance of the value of a volunteer fire department, does not rate it as highly as a professional one, hence the allowance of the three per cent reduction for a full paid department. It is believed that the council will be able to see their way to the increase at the beginning of another year. As has been frequently mentioned in The Times in the past, the Wichita Falls department in spite of some extremely bad luck in late losses, stands an excellent chance to round out the three year period with losses of less than half of the insurance premium collected in the city. This is regarded as a record of almost impossible attainment and with an even break of luck in the local department will obtain it for the city. Citizens in the United States that have studied this record could be counted

Plans to reduce insurance rate. Chief McClure has suggestion to submit to council tonight. Key rate is low. Rumors in local railroad circles have it that the railroads over the country interested in the demand for higher pay for shop employees have made an offer to the organizations that is likely to be accepted by them. It is said that the proposed raise in the instance of the Katy will amount to two and a half cents per hour for mechanics and a cent and a half for apprentices. Local employees of the Katy, such of them as could be seen, seem to regard the raise as very fair one and it is probable that it will be accepted, if formally tendered, although less than the offer made to men working for roads in better financial shape than the Katy. While local officials, when queried on the rumor, denied knowledge of the matter, none of them felt themselves in a position to deny or discount the report. GAMESTERS ARE CAUGHT IN RAID LAST NIGHT. Seven alleged gamblers were the swag captured by Officers McDonald, Burns and Melver in an early hour raid on a Seventh street boarding house this morning. A poker game of no mean proportions was in progress, according to the officers. Three of those arrested plead guilty in the corporation court this morning to charges of gaming, and fines aggregating $30 were collected in consequence. Four cases were passed to enable the defendants to secure the services of attorneys on their declaration that they desired to fight their cases. Only two

The mob convinced that Dudley was dead, they turned back and started south on a road leading toward Stillwell. It is supposed that they were neighbors of the murdered couple although he all were masked. One man seemed to direct all the operations, the leader was forced to compel the mob to give up the plan of taking Dudley to the cellar where the bodies of the man and his wife were found and burn him there. A few minutes after the mob had departed Sheriff Carroll and other officials cut down Dudley's body. Only one clerk, and that a meager one as to the identity of any of the mob has been found. It is a small card that was found tucked on the telephone pole. It read "Burt Dudley was hanged by the neck on this pole until dead Sept. 21." The card is supposed to have been written by one of the Lynchers and Sheriff Carroll

TO SPEAK FOR WILSON IN WESTERN STATES

By Associated Press. Chicago, Sept. 21.—When President Wilson comes to Chicago next month he will make at least one speech to the general public. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky and Bainbridge Colby of New York, a progressive party leader, are to speak in the central and western states for Wilson and Marshall. It was announced here today.

BROTHERHOOD LEADERS URGE SUPPORT OW WILSON

By Associated Press. Cleveland, O., Sept. 21.—Urging that labor support President Wilson in his campaign for re-election, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has sent out a bulletin in which he was "urgently requested that the position taken by President Wilson and both branches of congress be not forgotten and that all members use every honorable means to retain in office regardless of partisan beliefs those who have proven their loyalty to the cause of labor."

Similar bulletins have been prepared by Warren S. Stone of the engineers, A. B. Garretson of the Conductors and W. S. Carter of the Firemen. The official organ of the trainmen "The Railroad Trainman," will present an editorial in its coming issue attacking the attitude of Chas. E. Hughes on the eight hour day law and urging organized labor to support Wilson.

The Devil's Bible. A remarkable exhibit at the royal palace in Stockholm is the so-called Devil's Bible, a huge copy of the Scriptures, written on 300 prepared asses' skins. Tradition says that it took 500 years or from the eighth to the thirteenth century, to complete the work, which is so large it occupies an entire table. According to another tale, Satan did the job in a night and gave the monkish recipient of the gift a picture of his fiery self for the frontpiece.

For Cramps. Massage will usually instantly afford relief, also rubbing with a soft piece of flannel, dipped in alcohol. Another suggestion is to tie the affected part with a ribbon so as to stop the circulation for a little while. Compresses, either of hot or cold water, will be found to be very effective. If the cramp is in the leg, place the foot on the cold floor or stretch out the toes of the suffering foot, just when the cramp is starting.

Zoological Fancy. According to Plutarch the ancient Romans would not extinguish a candle, letting it burn out instead. The reason, he states, was that they considered fire an animal, for it needs nourishment, moves itself, grows with added food, and when extinguished gives a gasp, as if slain. The Romans were opposed to ending the life of so useful a creature. Probably they chafed their minds quickly respecting this when a house got afire.

Once Brilliant Capital. Cordova, Spain, was a brilliant capital of the world with half a million population when the rest of Europe was clouded by the deepest lethargy of the middle ages. In the year 960 Cordova was considered the world's fountain of learning and science and Christian Europe turned to her for instruction in "everything from tanning leather to charting the stars."

Optimism. The spirit which is whole has no room for the suffering of fear. It can meet life and do battle with it cheerfully; work and friendship and the daily round of events fill it to the exclusion of all phantoms; it is a joy to overcome obstacles, to right mistakes and to endure hardships in the hope of better days to come.

Iron-Rust Spots. Spread straining portion over a bowl containing one quart of water and one teaspoonful borax. Apply hydrochloric acid, drop by drop, until stain brightens, then dip stain at once into water. If not removed, use same method until stains disappear. Care should be taken to use either borax or ammonia or soap in rinsing water.

Evidently Warm. I was visiting with my sister and family, and while we were eating dinner one day little Paul looked up so funny with big ears standing in his blue eyes. His father asked what was the trouble, and Paul replied: "Me don't know, papa; it's going down cooked."—Exchange.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS RETURN FROM FREDERICK

C. L. Fontaine, general freight and passenger agent for the Northwestern, and J. W. Butts, superintendent, have returned from Frederick where they represented the Northwestern in a hearing before Col. Jack Love of the Oklahoma corporation commission regarding a new depot at that place. While the gentlemen regard the Frederick depot as ample for the accommodation of the city, and believe that they made out a good case for the railroad in the hearing they have nothing but praise for the civic pride of the citizens of Frederick for getting a depot that they could point to with pride. The present depot, while large and presenting a pleasing appearance, is a frame structure and the people of Frederick want one of brick. Pictures of the present depot were entered in evidence by the railroad representatives. They say that a brick structure would entail an outlay of possibly as much as $30,000 which the railroad is not in a position at this time to make without pinching somewhere. Frederick is not only one of the most progressive cities in Western Oklahoma, the gentlemen report, but affords a fine example of the general prosperity of that section. In the Days of Youth

"Children's affairs become important the moment an adult discusses them in their presence. Questions of lying, deceit, morality, self-defense and the like should never be taken up in advance of the need. The Boston woman who told her children 'never to put beans in their ears' which they promptly did, is sure to understand me. Experimental lies start in this way, and gain great headway, for the parent who anticipates them is always on the lookout and is generally rewarded."—Exchange.

Two Inscriptions. The Pharos lighthouse, built in 233 B. C. during the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus of Alexandria, when finished bore the legend: "King Ptolemy to the gods, the saviors, for the benefit of sailors," which presently crumbled off, having been formed in mortar by the builder Sostratus, and beneath, carved in the rock itself, appeared the following: "Sostratus the Cnidian, son of Dexiphanes, to the gods, the saviors, etc."

Sulphuric Acid. Sulphuric acid has been known commercially for about 700 years. The first step in its manufacture is the burning of sulphur. This forms a gas, which is chemically treated to produce sulphuric acid. A curious feature of the acid is that it cannot be shipped in diluted form in iron containers, because it will eat through the iron, but strong sulphuric acid can be shipped in tank cars.

Real Quality of Patience. Sometimes a little child, in the simplicity of the heart, makes the best theologian. In an examination in a school in Scotland, the question was asked one of the classes: "What is patience?" and one of the little girls answered: "Please, sir, it is bide a wee, and dinna weary." Yes, patience is biding, waiting, without wearying.—Selected.

Words That Live. It was Baxter, chaplain in Oliver Cromwell's army, author of "The Saints Rest" and other books, who dug up from an obscure seventeenth-century writer, Rupertus Meldenus, and made current coin these golden words: "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; and in both, charity."

Competition. Competition begins in the school-room, when each child is made to feel the honor of being at the head of his class. Only the one who knows the lessons best can go to the head of the class. Those who fall descend the line one by one, until the one who has made the worst mistakes rests at the bottom.

About North Dakota. North Dakota, besides its Devils lake, its bad lands and its tremendous stretches of absolutely worthless scenery, is chief producer in this country of three grains—spring wheat, flax and barley. It also is bounded on the straight up by the swiftest moving fresh air in America.

Value of Ripe Olives. Pound for pound, ripe olives, so far as total value of heat unit is concerned, contain almost as much food value as bread, and in the case of very large olives the value may be increased to approximately the same as that of bread.

A Wise Answer. Demarcus, a Spartan statesman, when asked why he held his tongue during a useless argument and was accused of being a fool for so doing, replied: "Not so; a fool cannot hold his tongue."

Some Men Are That Mean. "Some men would almost welcome an earthquake or an explosion," said Uncle Eben, "foh de sake of thinkin' 'bout how it 'ud scare up some folks; dey don't like."

Good Stuff. Not every man can own an auto, but every man can go about deploring the price of gasoline and letting others draw their own conclusions.—Milwaukee Journal.

Avoid This. We often discard the wrong cards, and sometimes it happens that way with friendships.—Kansas City Journal.

Better Indication. A man is known by the company he keeps, although the best indication of character is the company he avoids.

Daily Thought. The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think than what to think.—Beattie.

NEW TURNTABLE FOR THE DENVER

Stone Which is to Form Pivot Was Placed in Position This Morning.

The immense stone which is to form the pivot for the new turntable on the Denver was placed this morning, and the new turntable at the roundhouse will be ready to receive engines before night. With this done it is stated that it will be only a matter of a few days until the work is completed. A bridge and building crew of the Denver has been working on the new turntable for the past four months. The new table is ten feet longer in circumference than the old one. This was made necessary by the putting into service of larger engines on the Denver road. While the new table was in the process of construction the work had to be carried on in such a way that the old one could still be used, which made it a necessarily slow and tedious job. The table was in service the whole time with the exception of a few hours today.

One man who has a herd of five cows and who is moving out of the county was very anxious to take the cattle with them, but the Chamber of Commerce would not permit the cows to be taken from the county and it was with expressions of deep regret that he turned them over to Assistant Secretary Thomas for sale.

ARREST WOMAN FOR POISONING FIVE PEOPLE

By Associated Press. Hartford, Conn., Sept. 21.—Evidence to support the charges that Mrs. Annie Arthur-Gilligan, proprietor at Windsor of an old people's home was responsible for the death of five inmates of the home, was laid before the grand jury today. The death for which Mrs. Gilligan was arrested was that of Franklin R. Andrews, an inmate who died in 1914. His body was exhumed and it is alleged the autopsy showed the presence in the body of a powerful poison. The bodies of four others of the inmates who were exhumed and examined disclosed the presence of a like poison.

SENIOR CLASS-ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Charles Williams was elected president of the senior class of the high school to take the place of Lester Cooper, who is attending the State Normal at Denton, at a meeting of the senior class this afternoon, the first meeting since the opening of school on Monday. Miss Adele Adickes, former vice president, is also attending school out of town this year and the vacancy created by her departure was filled by Miss Louise Frieze. Miss Louise Leichman remains secretary and treasurer. Fitz Hickman, sergeant at arms and Miss Marian Dobson, historian.

A meeting will be held next week to elect the staff of the Coyote, the annual high school publication, and it is probable that the opening of the 26th Annual Fall Style Show opening day will be appropriately observed as "dress up day" by the senior class.

AT THE THEATRES

The Empress.
William Farnum once more brings into play the marvellous strength and power of his frame in the newest of William Fox's pictures of the great Northwest, "The End of the Trail," showing at the Empress today. In this photograph, Farnum acts as Jules Cleru, a French Canadian, factor in a Hudson's Bay trading post. Le Cleru has fallen in love with a woman (Gladys Brockwell) whose husband (Willard Lewis) has asked her to carry her away to a lonely life in the forests. Overcome by his brutality, she leaves his house, and learns that her husband has been killed, and she has aided him, and makes his escape, and starts back to find his wife. He arrives at the trading post just after a baby has been born to Adrienne and Jules. He enters their home, and Jules, and seizes Adrienne. Off into the deep woods he goes again, taking with him his wife and her child. For a few months, the poor kid lives with him, in utter terror, lest he work some harm to herself or her baby. Then she sees her opportunity. She strikes! Devil across the head with a heavy implement, and he falls to the floor in a heap. She thinks he is dead, and runs out into the snow. At the door she meets Jules le Cleru, who has been searching frantically for her, ever since Cabot had taken her away. Jules carries her back to his house. But the excitement has been too much for her. She dies after the long trip, and leaves her little girl in Jules' care. The first husband meets justice later at the hands of Le Cleru.

Daring of Diana. today. This picture is a vivid tale of newspaper life. Diana being a reporter on one of the biggest sheets in New York City. Thrills are many. In the picture is a factory fire and a fire and so are the crowds. Suddenly the clanging fire engines appear and the crowds hurry after them. Diana in their midst. This is no "fake"—the engines are really going to a fire and so are the crowds. In fact, the crowd was so intent on getting where the excitement was—that they failed to look at the camera which was being taken through the streets in a moving automobile. This is quite unusual and was something of a treat to Director S. Rankin Drew, who is responsible for the production. The fire in the picture is a factory fire and as Miss Stewart stands in the street, horrified, we are shown on the screen the sight upon which she is supposed to gaze. As the smoke circles slowly into the windows of a great stone building the different workers leap out frantically in their insane desire to reach the street. Director Drew is noted for the realism which he instills into his pictures and his "Daring of Diana" is no exception to the rule. There's a thrill in every few feet with only a melodramatic impression being carried to the audience.

The Gem.
Cleo Madison, one of the Universal favorites plays a prominent part in a heap. She thinks he is dead, and runs out into the snow. At the door she meets Jules le Cleru, who has been searching frantically for her, ever since Cabot had taken her away. Jules carries her back to his house. But the excitement has been too much for her. She dies after the long trip, and leaves her little girl in Jules' care. The first husband meets justice later at the hands of Le Cleru.

JOLLY PATHFINDERS HAVE SPLENDID REPORTS

Last night the Jolly Pathfinders presented the high class Oriental comedy drama, "Lost in Egypt." The tent was packed and judging from the applause that greeted the performance, the costumes, and scenery were far above the average used ordinarily. The scenes for this play are taken from Egypt and there is embodied a strong love story, interspersed with just enough comedy to keep the audience laughing and to please those who appreciate the lighter vein in comedy production.

FUEL OIL WILL BE READY SOON COMPANY IS BUSY

Effort Will Be Made to Have New Supply Ready by October 1 if Possible.

Although the material for the fuel oil pipeline of the Panhandle Refining Company has not arrived yet, it is expected to be ready for use within the next day or two. As soon as the material is on the ground the company expects to put a large force of men to work, and by working with all possible dispatch they expect to get the line finished possibly within a week of the beginning of the work, giving the company a fighting chance of getting the line in operation within the time limit fixed for the discontinuation of the natural gas supply.

It could not at this time be definitely learned what companies other than the one named in the original petition for the franchise had contracted for the oil, but it is known that at that time several plants within the city were practically ready to sign contracts for the gas.

The engineers representing the firms who have already contracted with the refinery for the oil supply have definitely decided that the residuum oil is cheaper than the natural gas itself, and the matter of an extra firman or two will afford the only increase in expenses, a rather insignificant item in the monthly power costs of most of the plants in the city.

The large storage tank that the electric power plant just outside the city is rapidly nearing completion. It has a capacity of between thirty and forty thousand gallons, assuring them of an uninterrupted supply of the oil.

LITTLE KNOWN OF PLANS OF KAISER

German Emperor Has Faculty of Keeping Secret His Visits to the Front.

Associated Press Staff Correspondence. There never was a time when so little was known of the Kaiser's movements as at present. When he decides upon a trip to some point on the front it is kept as secret as possible, and it is even reported in the German press is delayed until the royal visitor is far away from the other side of the empire. It is believed Emperor Wilhelm visits the front more frequently than any other ruler.

Behind the scenes were on hand before the appointed time—and had a chance to see some maneuvering that would have done credit to first-line troops in possession of the front. On the other side of the square, at one end of which was a military band, and in the center the officers.

Half an hour after the appointed time the Kaiser arrived in a lean, gray automobile. He sprang from the car with the vigor of a young man. He wore the helmet of a general of infantry, but the tall boots, coming in front high above the knee, of a cuirassier. He cast from his shoulders the long gray cloak through the streets in a way shown in his favorite pictures, and with a stride of long steps lifted each foot high from the ground. His majesty walked through the streets in a way shown in his favorite pictures, and with a stride of long steps lifted each foot high from the ground. His majesty walked through the streets in a way shown in his favorite pictures, and with a stride of long steps lifted each foot high from the ground.

It was only of the conclusion of this ceremony that correspondents standing at a little distance had a chance to see His Majesty at close range, and to get a good look at his seamed and lined, but strong, healthy, vigorous face.

After the ceremony, the Kaiser walked to the roadway that leads by the chateau, then faced about and prepared to review the troops. Most of them were new troops, probably few had ever marched by the emperor before, and it was possible to detect some nervousness. But they paraded in the goose-step, and their feet were as stiff as ever did a like set of men on the Tempelhof Field.

DETROIT A LOSER IN SECOND GAME

Henriksen For Red Sox Hits Safe, Scoring Winning Run in Eighth.

Detroit, Sept. 21. Fifteen thousand fans saw the Detroit Tigers make a desperate effort Wednesday afternoon to remain the pennant race but whose hopes were shattered in the eighth inning, when Henriksen hitting for Carrigan, singled to right, scoring Scott from second. This score had been tied to 5.

The Tigers jumped into the lead in the second inning. Crawford singled to center. Hollman beat a slow ground ball to the right fielder, and then threw wild to first. Crawford sprang on the error and Hollman went to third. Young was safe on first, and Crawford scored on the error. Hollman went to third, Young was safe on first, Stanage hit a sacrifice fly to Shorten, scoring Hollman, Leopolis intercepted the throw and made a wild heave to Hollman to get Hoblitel to get Young off first. On the error Young came all the way home with the tying run.

In the fourth, Shorten singled to left, the first hit off Ehmke. Hoblitel popped to Cobb back of second base. Lewis doubled just inside the right field foul line, Shorten coming to third. Gardner fled to Cobb, scoring Shorten, Lewis going to third on the catch. Carrigan hit past Cobb, sending Scott home with the run that tied the score.

GERMAN CHILDREN PROVIDES PUZZLE

Much Attention is Given to the Problem by Newspapers in Holland

Associated Press Staff Correspondence. The Hague, Netherlands.—The question whether German children should be entertained in Holland and fattened there on Dutch milk and butter has led to a storm in a tea cup here. Columns of the newspapers have been devoted to articles on the subject by learned professors and editorial writers.

It is declared on the one hand, "and it is unneutral and what is more, opposed to all Holland's interests to help defeat the object of the besting Germany by relieving distress there."

"How can that be?" is the question posed in reply, "when Germany has freed access to Holland, Scandinavia and Switzerland. Holland is sovereign of her own frontier and the feeding of hungry German children is our good right and not the faintest violation of neutrality." "If you have money to spare for poor children," is the retort, "give the benefit of it to many thousands of half starved children in your own cities, who are suffering from too large exports to Germany, or lavish your pity upon the millions of suffering children in Poland, Serbia, Belgium and northern France, the countries ruthlessly desolated by Germany. Moreover, you are endangering our own food

REVISION OF EDUCATION PLANNED FOR ENGLAND

London.—Under direction of the Earl of Crewe, the new president of the board of education, the board is busy preparing for the revision of the national curriculum. The revision is a result of new conditions flowing the war. It is to be a consistent continuation of the start made last year when Herbert Lewis, parliamentary secretary of the board, obtained from the House of Commons a vote of funds for research in comparative education. England was definitely determined to direct the minds of its youth towards the study of science as applied to industry, in preparation for the economic war after the war, as well as the study of languages with a view to the acquisition of trade.

Will Women Elect the Next President?

It is estimated that there are in twelve states of the Union, more than 4,000,000 women who, if they care to do so, may vote for president in the November election. One third of these live in Illinois. California has more than 800,000, Washington more than 400,000, Kansas nearly 300,000, Colorado 250,000, Michigan and Utah about 100,000 each and Oregon more than 200,000. Arizona has probably 45,000, Wyoming 35,000 and Nevada 25,000. True it may be that a considerable percentage of these women do not care to vote, but the great majority, after fighting for years to get the ballot, now exercise this privilege.

They will be ankle length, frequently pleated and requiring as much or more material than last season. Houston Capitalist Returned From There With Blatant Tidings Monday. Houston, Sept. 21.—J. S. MINNESOTA CHAPLAIN Wants Intervention In Old Mexico

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 21.—"In my opinion there is only one thing for the United States to do, and that is to throw an army of invasion into Mexico and establish a permanent government and a permanent peace. It may take five or fifty years, but Mexico is worth it to the American continent." The speaker was Major E. C. Clemens, chaplain for the Second Minnesota infantry, and one of the most prominent church members of the northern Minnesota conference. He is field secretary for the board of conference claimants and is attending the Methodist meeting in Dallas. "Anvone who has visited the border knows why Mexico is quiet at this time," Major Clemens added to his opinion. "The situation is 'One hundred thousand troops ready to quell any trouble they may start is the principal reason. Take the troops away and Mexico will begin with plots and rebellions and the border will see the same old story." "There is no use for army men or the public to deliberately close their eyes to the Mexican situation. Mexico as it stands today is the greatest economic loss the American continent possesses. Its production is nothing but a vast wasteland. The cost of the cost of meats, foodstuffs, oil, commercial minerals and a dozen other things the United States and the western hemisphere need. Mexico needs government. There is but one way, ultimately, for it to get it."
