FORD'S PART IN WILSON'S FIGHT

WILL CIRCULATE EIGHT HOUR DAY PROPAGANDA TO AID PRESIDENT

IS TO USE AGENCIES

Campaign Will Be Carried On Where Ever Forde Are Sold And Where They Aren't

Wherever goeth flivver, there also shall go democratic campaign literature; yes, even where the flivver goeth not, shall there go eight hour day propaganda for Woodrow Wilson.

Which may be taken to mean that the Ford and democracy will go hand in hand in the remaining days of the presidential campaign, and wherever there is a Ford agency, it will be used in the dissemination of eight hour day literature by which Henry Ford hopes to make voters for Wilson. The details are given in a recent issue of the New York Times, as follows: Henry Ford announced yesterday that his contribution to the Wilson campaign would be a country-wide eight hour day propaganda. This will be spread from every point where there is a Ford agency, according to legislative plans discussed. Where there is none, there will be established a special agency for disseminating the Ford literature on the benefits of the eight hour day.

"Out of the Shops in Eight Hours" will be the slogan. It sprang into being in a discussion of the subject at a Biltmore Hotel luncheon yesterday when Mr. Ford was reminded of his peace expedition and its slogan, "Out of the Trenches by Christmas." At the luncheon were present Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Vance McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee; Thomas A. Edison and Mr. Ford. The question as to how the eight hour day campaign could best be carried out was discussed at length, and each gave suggestions that will be incorporated in the perfected plan.

"Eight Hour Day His Text." As his text Mr. Ford will take the working of the eight hour day in his own business. The plan has been tried there for three years after a nine hour schedule that lasted for nearly ten years. To the slogan, "Out of the Shops in Eight Hours" he said he would add, "for the benefit of the employer." Mr. Ford said he was tremendously in earnest, because he believed that an eight hour working day was needed in this country just as there was now a need for labor to have a greater share of the profits it helps to make. His contribution to the success of President Wilson's campaign, he argued, was really a contribution to the general good.

"You know," he said, "I really know nothing about politics, much less anything about conducting a political campaign. I do know, however, about Wilson. He is there. He is a great business man and he has done so well that I can't see a single reason that can be advanced for putting him out of office and electing Hughes. I know there are some who say he is cold and lacks sympathy. That is not so. Because he has so well upheld the dignity and the honor of his high office, stories have sprung up that he is a hard, cold man. He is not a bit cold, and he is infinitely human. He is the best of fellows. I had the pleasure of seeing him for four hours the other day, and I know what an talking about. Some of the stories were told well."

Mr. Ford has an aversion to the term "working people." He said he used instead, the term "industrious persons." For that was broader and took in all who worked for wages. He feels a keen personal interest in disseminating knowledge of the eight hour law in his business. He said, the working of the eight hour day was past the experimental stage. "I employ 55,000 in the business, of which 35,000 are in the factories," he continued. "The eight hour day has meant an increase in the efficiency and in the loyalty and the self respect of every one on the payroll. I am in favor of the passage of a federal law that will make eight hours the national working day. I don't see how the wage earner can vote for any one else than Wilson for if he does not take another forward step for the good of the industrious he will always have the honor of having begun a movement that may revolutionize working conditions."

Advantage to Employers. His own experience, Mr. Ford said, had shown him that there was no difference in a nine or an eleven hour day, but that when he got down to an eight hour working day he found his reward in the increased efficiency of his men and in the increased mercy of the gods. He turned out with eight hours a day in which to work and with a fair wage the average man began to feel that he had something to live for, Mr. Ford said.

Mr. Ford made it very plain that he also believed there should be a fair wage. Profits had increased in many lines of business, he said, and some businesses had been built up from next to nothing by labor as well as by capital. Those concerns were now paying great dividends and scarcely would ever care for the workers, who must fight against an increasing cost of living with an insufficient wage.

"It is an absolute fact," he continued, "that labor has not had a fair share in the profits. I believe the time is coming when conditions in this respect may change. Perhaps it may come in the next four years—in Wilson's time."

It was suggested that in certain businesses it might not be satisfactory to operate in eight hour shifts. "There is no business where the employees cannot be worked eight hours a day and do more," he said, "if they can't do it, then the business is not properly managed."

Suggestion to Railroads. "What about the railroad business?" he was asked. "A railroad doesn't like to work an engine continuously for eight hours," he said. "Why should they work a man? One is as necessary as the

ARMENIANS MUCH IN NEED OF HELP

Hoped to Raise Relief Funds At Services to Be Held Here October 22

In connection with the plans for "Armenian Relief Day" here on Sunday, October 22, there is published below an account of some of the sufferings through which the Armenians people have passed. Some of the accounts given out by the American committee have been so horrible that many newspapers have confined themselves to the less fearful statements, which are amply sad enough.

It is expected that services will be held in several local churches in connection with the campaign for Armenian relief, and that special collections will be taken up for the sufferers. The following account of the massacres has been furnished The Times. "The Armenian massacre which led President Wilson to choose October 22 as a day on which contributions for the victims should be received in churches," was carefully planned by the Turkish government. It had even been rehearsed some years before in Constantinople. The worst eye-witness in the city were the dogs, which had been permitted to establish themselves in the streets, and exercise those functions of scavenger for which an easy-going municipal administration had failed to provide. The Turks dealt promptly and effectively with these undesirable denizens. They collected them on boats and massacred them on a desert island in the Sea of Marmora, where the animals solved the problem of their future by jumping overboard. The Turks were thinking out the problem of the Armenians last Spring, they did not forget this successful precedent.

The Armenians, in fact, (or such of them as survived the process of deportation), were provided for in the same fashion as the Stamboul dog.

During the recent deportations of Armenians by Turks, which led President Wilson to name October 22 as a day on which contributions for the victims should be received, the victims were not allowed to receive food or ministrations of any sort. The sick and the aged and the wee children were by the roadside, and did not rise again. Women in childbirth were urged along by bayonets and whips until the moment of deliverance came, and were left to bleed to death. The likely girls were seized for harems, unless death came as a merciful release. Those who could committed suicide. Mothers went crazy and threw their children into the river to end their sufferings. Hundreds of thousands of women and children died of hunger, of thirst, of exposure, of shame.

During the recent massacres of Armenians, which moved President Wilson to proclaim October 22 a day on which contributions for the victims should be received in churches here, a woman who had seen her child burnt alive, answered her would-be comforters: "Don't you see what has happened? God has gone mad."

NO OTHER LAUNDRY SOAP LIKE THIS FOR HARD WATER

Ordinary soaps are not calculated for the hard Gyp water of the Southwest. That's why they get slick and slippery in hard water and fail to lather readily. Cotton-Boll is the result of two years' effort by expert chemists in our laboratory, to solve the Southwest hard water problem.

Without a particle of free caustic or any other harsh ingredient, Cotton-Boll lathers freely in hard or cold water; cleanses beautifully and works better than many soaps do in rainwater.

COTTON BOLL

LATHERS QUICK—LATHERS THICK AND DOESN'T HURT THE HANDS

Though hard and firm from perfect seasoning and drying, Cotton-Boll lathers up in a jiffy. Absence of caustic ordinarily used in hard water soaps keeps it from making hands rough or injuring delicate fabrics. Makes the laundry clean and sweet smelling, because the soap is sweet itself.

Arrested and put in jail three times in the past two days is the record of one man who makes the city jail his home when in this city. Coming back after a long absence he promptly filled up and was arrested. Pretending he was sick he was taken from the court room and soon seeing an opportunity of escaping he made a getaway, only to be taken up drunk again within a few hours. Yesterday he made another dash, and was soon full again and recaptured. He was sent to jail with a $15 fine to work out; he has been released on promise to leave nearly a dozen times, according to the city attorney's count and the police officials declare that they will not show him any more leniency.

COMPULSORY LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE URGED

By Associated Press. Atlantic City, Oct. 12.—In a report submitted to the convention of the American Electrical Railway association in session here a special investigation committee strongly recommended compulsory life and health insurance for all wage earners. The committee which consists of A. L. Rice, president of the General Electric company, H. D. Bradley, a Boston banker, and James D. Mortimer, president of a New York bank, has undertaken to cover the same ground as that covered by the Federal industrial relations commission and to investigate the economic value of the wage earner and his relation to the employers.

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment. Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15 mile hike foot sore and leg-weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after effects of marching. Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I arose the next morning feeling fine; in fact I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four hour drill in the sun as sorry as ever." Private Jones passed the experience along and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment. Easily applied without rubbing. At drug stores 25c, 50c and $1.

DEVELOPERS' WELL FINDS SALT WATER

Little Oil in Sand Encountered in Archer County Test Near Panther Well

Salt water, with a bare showing of oil was found in the well of the Developers Oil & Gas Company in Archer county on the Wilson ranch about a mile from the well of the Panther Oil Company, which opened up development in that section. The sand was struck at 133 feet, and at first a small amount of oil was bailed out, but it soon became evident that salt water was largely present. Plans to drill the hole deeper have been made, and efforts will be made to find some deeper sands. The well is northwest of the discovery well in oil in this section. Quantities there would have indicated that the sand extended in that direction.

Candidate Hughes is making the Adamson law his chief point of attack against the administration. He charges that it is a measure to increase wages and not to provide an eight hour day, he lays great stress on the fact that congress did not provide for punitive overtime for more than eight hours work, therefore concluding that the bill was merely one to increase wages and not to shorten hours of work.

ter of marine has indicated that this will be done. We would like to know from Col. Roosevelt whether he would protest against this violation of the sovereignty of a neutral state, if he were president. The Colonel professes great indignation toward the administration for not protesting against the invasion of Belgium. Probably the only reason that Greece has not been shot and torn to pieces has been because she has not resisted with force of arms, the violation of her sovereignty by the allies. We haven't heard anything from the Colonel to indicate that he was melting with humiliation and indignation because the administration has done nothing to save Greece.

Investigators of the Federal Bureau of Weights and Measures, who have made a survey of gasoline pumps at filler stations in Illinois have found that eighty-two per cent of the pumps give short measure. Municipal investigations that have been made in Dallas show that short measure pumps are not confined to Illinois. The general use of pumps and the great value in the aggregate of the gasoline they dispense and the great number of consumers suggests that there ought to be some regulation of these pumps. In the absence of state or federal regulation this might well be done by the municipality in a town like Wichita Falls.

DELAY ORDERED ON COTTON MILL

DIRECTORS POSTPONE ACTION AFTER HEARING REPORT FROM FRANK KELL

FOR $375,000 PLANT

Railroad Rate Situation and High Cost of Machinery Are Reasons For Action

At a special meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce held this morning, further negotiations looking to the establishment of a cotton mill here were postponed for sixty days on recommendation of Frank Kell, who has just returned from a conference with Mr. Holt at Wilmington, N. C. Mr. Kell made an extended report of his investigation and of the report being of a very encouraging nature as far as the ability of Mr. Holt to carry out his part of the proposed plan, which provided for an investment of $375,000 on his part, the city to subscribe the remainder of the stock. Mr. Kell stated that he had found Mr. Holt to be a very successful operator, one who had had fifteen years experience in the business and who was at present conducting a business which had proven a profitable investment by having dividends annually since established. He gave it as his opinion that Mr. Holt would be a very valuable man in charge of such an institution, if located here and that there was no question but that he would give the business his very best efforts. In view of the fact that he would have his entire capital tied up in the proposition.

Washington, Grete, the "half-way" house between three continents, whose citizens are reported to have revolted against the pacific course of King Constantine, has given the clue to the Greek nation that her native son Venizelos, the former premier who for nearly two years has been receding the way of the remarkable sea king, antedated by several hundred years the culture of the commercial nation which flourished on the shores of the Aegean, never has the story of this island, the home of Minos, of Ariadne and of the horror-inspiring Minotaur of Homer's legend, have disclosed evidences of a civilization which reached its apogee fourteen hundred years before the birth of Christ and more than six centuries before the First Olympiad. The ruins of the palace of Knossos, near the site of the modern resort of Candaria, these ruins reveal the most complete evidence of a civilization which reached its apogee fourteen hundred years before the birth of Christ and more than six centuries before the First Olympiad.

ings of Dr. J. A. Evans and other excavators, has given this vivid supposition picture.
"Of course there are no records, and if there were we could not read them (no key having been discovered as yet to the Cretan writings,) but it is easy to imagine the disastrous sea fight off the coast; this wreck of the once invincible Minoan fleet driven ashore in hopeless ruin in the shallow bay, like the Athenian fleet at Syracuse. The swift march of the mainland conquerors up the valley; the brief, desperate resistance of the palace guards, and the horrors of the sack, and the long column of flushed victors, winding down to their ships laden with booty, and driving with them crowds of captured women. Similar scenes must have been enacted at Phaestus, and Hagia Triada, either by other forces of invaders or by the same host sweeping around the island.
"From this overwhelming master the Minoan Empire never recovered. The invaders possibly departed, as quickly as they had come, or if as it seems more probable they established themselves as a ruling caste among the subject Minoans, they showed for their dwellings other sites than those of the old palaces. The broken fragments of the Minoan race crept back after the sack to the blackened ruins of their holy and beautiful houses, not to rebuild it, but to divide its stately rooms and those of its dependencies by rude walls into poor dwelling-houses, where they lived on a very different life from that of the golden days before the sack.

GOING TO PUT A NEW FENDER ON YOUR AUTO? NEW YORKERS MAY SOON HAVE TO DO SO

TESTING OUT "SAFETY FIRST" FENDER FOR AUTOMOBILES USING A DUMMY

All New Yorkers who have autos lost by automobile accidents. Tests were made before the commission with three dummies in standing and prostrate positions. The truck was operated at speeds of from six to twelve miles an hour, and the action of the fender in picking up the dummies was satisfactory in every particular. While the demonstration was made on an auto truck instead of a passenger car, conditions, it is said, would be at least as favorable for its operation on any kind of auto and that its adoption for use on street cars as well as buses and trucks would be a distinct advance in existing means for safeguarding the lives and limbs of persons who are struck or who come in contact with such vehicles.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! Our Salesman is in Wichita Falls today, proving by actual burning test the purity of Sovereign Cigarettes. Watch him burn the paper and BE CONVINCED

The pure Flavor of Southern-grown Old Belt tobacco — and nothing else — that's what you get in SOVEREIGN cigarettes. Because SOVEREIGN is rolled in the highest-grade paper imported from France, tasteless and odorless. There are many grades of cigarette paper — the lower grades approaching ordinary paper in the way they burn — with heavy odor, and a lot of black, soot-like ash. Light a piece of SOVEREIGN paper and watch how evenly and completely it burns, with a pure white ash — proof of its purity. SOVEREIGN is Entirely Different — stays lit, and does not char nor smoulder — can be smoked all day long, and will leave your throat feeling cool and pleasant — "Quality Tells!"

WICHITANS GET SUMMONS TO APPEAR AS WITNESSES

A number of Wichitans have been summoned as witnesses in the case of Sanders vs. Sanders which will be presented at the Wichita Theatre tonight in the film play "The Law Decides." The summons which was sent out by Sol Dan, the manager of the theatre, is, in legal form and looks exactly like a legal summons. Those who received copies were puzzled at first to know just what it was and read rather anxiously until they discovered its nature.

RADIUM INDUSTRY IS NOT AFFECTED BY WAR

Vienna.—The "radium industry" of Austria has not suffered in the slightest by reason of the war, according to Prof. Meyer, head of the Institute for Austrian Radium Production. Rather, he says, the war has proved that Austria stands at the head of the world in this respect, and will always be a big factor in the market, despite the planned commercial war after the war. The radium coming from Colorado and Pittsburg, says Prof. Meyer, is partly sufficient in quantity to suffice for scientific purposes throughout the world. The Pittsburg works have in fact produced but 10 grams since the beginning of the war, and now have ceased almost altogether. The industry at Joachimthal, Austria, however, has gone on undisturbed. Nor has the war resulted in any appreciable rise in the cost of radium production, so that the advanced prices now quoted are purely the result of speculation.

ROTARIANS DISCUSS B. I. M. I. T. MOVE

Recent Attempts at Arson Also Discussed But no Action is Taken

Discussion of the movement to "buy it made in Texas" featured today's session of the Rotary Club at the St. James. The scheduled speaker was not present, but several interesting talks were heard.

The recent attempt to burn two houses in this city came in for some attention by the Rotarians, but a motion to take some action in the premises was voted down. W. M. Priddy, who resides in the neighborhood where the attempts were made, said that since the woman who was charged with making the attempts had been released incident there had been much uneasiness among the residents of that part of the city, who thought that too low a bond had been

HOUSE NEAR LIGHT PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The fire department was twice called beyond the light plant today to a fire at the home of William Newman. The blaze was thought to have been extinguished before the department first reached the scene, but fire broke out again and this time the building was practically destroyed, while most of the furniture was saved. The property is located beyond the city limits and about 3,000 feet from a fire plug but water was pumped from the reservoir at the water station with splendid success. Insurance in the amount of $1,000 was carried on the dwelling with $700 on the household goods.
