MASONS TO MEET AT BURKBURNETT

Get-Together Gathering. With a Big Banquet. Planned There For Tonight

The Masonic lodge at Burkburnett is planning for one of the most largely attended meetings in the history of that organization there. If not in the entire history of the town, for tonight and a large attendance is expected. The occasion is in the nature of a get-together meeting and the members, their families and Masons from other parts of the county are expected to partake of the good things that have been prepared. A special invitation has been extended to members of the Wichita Falls lodge and it is thought that quite a number will attend.

A feature of the meeting will be a spread which it is estimated will cost $300. Twelve turkeys have been secured for the occasion, together with a thousand oysters and other good things that go to make up a tempting feast. A splendid program has been provided, it is announced, and a number of interesting talks are expected to be made.

ALLENDALE FARMER IS NOT WORRYING

Wheat, Cotton, Calves and Hogs Ready to Set at Democratic Prosperity Prices

"With my wheat crop all in and up, September oats ready for marketing, cotton 15 cents a pound, wheat $1.35 a bushel—and I've got a carload ready to ship—a bunch of fat calves ready for the market, and a pen of fat hogs ready to be butchered, why shouldn't I feel good!" exclaimed A. E. Gwinn who was in town today from the Allendale community. "If President Wilson is re-elected we'll have four more years of prosperity and all of us farmers in the Allendale community will have big red barns and slow and will ride to town in chug wagons," he added.

MAN-ARRESTED HERE NOW ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

C. C. Houser, who was indicted here on a charge of robbery committed about the first of July and who was released on bond, is now on trial here on a charge of murder. It seems that after leaving here Houser was picked up by the city officers at Fort Worth on a charge of carrying a gun and later with another party was accused of murder.

It has been figured out that it does not cost fathers as much money, for mother to attend political meetings as it did for her to patronize the bridge whist parties.—Los Angeles Times.

GREEKS ASKING PROTECTION OF UNITED STATES

By Associated Press. Athens, Oct. 17.—(delayed) After a demonstration here against the entrance of the United States army into Greece during which a procession of several thousand persons marched to the American legation and protested against the landing of French marines, a delegation of six persons called at the American legation and presented resolutions asking the sympathy and protection of the United States against the encroachments of the entire powers. The American minister promised to forward the petition to Washington.

DUKE OF ORLEANS ASKS ANNULMENT

Frenchman With Austrian Wife Seeks to Have Marriage Set Aside in Rome

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 18.—The Duke of Orleans is about to apply to the court of Rome for the annulment of his marriage to Archduchess Marie Dorothea of Austria, according to the Figaro. The duke contends that the marriage was not concluded on the Austrian side in accordance with all the requirements of ecclesiastical law. The Duchess of Orleans won a suit for separation in January, 1914. It was reported that she charged the duke with neglect, owing to the fact that she was childless.—At the outbreak of the war, the duke fled back to the Insensia of the Golden Fleece to the Austrian emperor, wrote that his marriage had been the curse of his life.

BEN HUR TRIBESMEN ENJOY SOCIAL MEETING

The local tribe of the Ben Hur inaugurated a series of social evenings at their hall on the second floor of the Masonic Temple last night which was enjoyed by 150 or 200 members of the lodge and their friends. Music by the City Quartette, composed of Messrs. Harry Wright, Joe Smith, Dell Brashear and C. J. Van Vay, songs by Baby Orr and Mike Lorenz, Walcott, headed by Harry Wright and C. Broyles and comedy sketches and catches by George Hodgson featured the evening. Music was furnished by Taylor's orchestra and dancing till a late hour was indulged in. The serving of refreshments rounded out an extremely pleasant evening. This is the first of a series of social entertainments to be given by the lodge throughout the winter.

Only Temporary. A man whose married life had not been of the happiest lay dying. Calling his wife to his bedside, he promised to leave all his worldly possessions to her on one condition, that being that she would erect a tombstone and inscribe on it, "At rest." This she faithfully promised, but, finding nothing had been left her, she added to the above epitaph, "Till I come."

EX-LEGISLATOR AIDS IN REVIVAL

REV. W. B. FITZHUGH OF FORT WORTH HELPS IN PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES

MANY ATTEND TODAY

Down Town Service Is Held in Robertson Furniture Store "Anchors" Is Subject.

There were 60 present at the downtown meeting, conducted by the Presbyterian revival party this morning at the Robertson Furniture Store on Indiana avenue, and a brief, inspiring service was held. Attendance was considering the bad weather, marked both the service last night, when Dr. Hendrick spoke on "The Old Fashioned Home" and the ten o'clock service this morning.

Rev. W. B. Fitzhugh of Fort Worth has arrived and will assist Dr. Hendrick in the services here for a while. Mr. Fitzhugh was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian church at Arlington, but resigned and gave up the ministry, entering the practice of law. He was elected to the legislature, where he was a power of strength for the anti-prohibition forces. Last May, when Dr. Hendrick conducted a meeting in Fort Worth, Mr. Fitzhugh reconsecrated his life to the cause, and since then has been assisting Dr. Hendrick in several meetings. In addition to holding the services in his own name, Mr. Fitzhugh was reordained in the ministry by the Fort Worth Presbytery Tuesday.

It is said that when he again took up church work following his reconsecration, the associates of the days when he was out of touch with the church came to him and praised him for the stand he had taken. Mr. Fitzhugh led in prayer at the service this morning.

"Anchors" was the subject of this morning's talk downtown by Dr. Hendrick, the text being from Hebrews 6:19. The speaker said that the purpose of the anchor was to prevent the vessel drifting with the tide or crashing upon the rocks. It was an important adjunct of navigation, he said, and every sailor knew that if it was to go out without an anchor, there is no sadder spectacle, the evangelist declared, than that of a life adrift without hope and without God and without hope for a future existence.

SEES URGENT NEED OF DISTRICT FAIR

Agricultural Commission's Report Recommends Fair

Enthusiasm by the success of the exhibition from Northwest Texas, A. Short, who has been judging the boys club work at the Dallas Fair, has returned an ardent booster for a district fair here. County exhibits from Northwest Texas captured five of the seven cash premiums and Mr. Short believes that with the aid of a district fair that this section of the state would be invincible in the exhibition field.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT OF Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mrs. Chappell, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell. I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together. My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling? If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. LOCAL MAN'S DOPE GOOD FOR WILSON

Wichitan Who Called 'Turn' Four Years Ago Submits His Estimates

Wilson will carry New York, Ohio, California, Kentucky and Missouri, all claimed by the Hughes faction and especially the last three, according to the estimate of Jack W. Ringenback whose accurate election forecasts in other elections has given him wide celebrity in this line. Among the doubtful states that are assigned to Hughes are Illinois and Indiana; in the first of which especially republican camp newspapers who are taking a straw vote are nearly on the point of conceding to Wilson. In the case of Illinois it is pointed out that the women voters are strongly for Wilson on account of his peace policy.

Mr. Ringenback sent his estimate to the democratic national committee and is in receipt of a letter from Daniel C. Roper, chairman of organization democratic national committee who says that the returns being gathered in by that committee by a strong field organization predicts an overwhelming Wilson victory.

"I gave Hughes the benefit of the doubt in the variety event, but when Wilson comes out ahead," said Mr. Ringenback, in speaking of his compilation in the presidential race, Mr. Ringenback worked for nine months on the figures given here, scientifically figuring from the voting population, their normal party affiliation, taking into consideration the classes of voters in the population the various states are engaged in, the results of elections for years back, also recent elections and the size of the illiterate vote in each state. He was also helped by reports of the sentiment in various states gleaned from a voluminous correspondence with political observers.

The popular vote is figured 7,587,710 for Wilson as against 7,145,710 giving the Wilson plurality as 442,000. In the electoral college the figures give Wilson 352 to Hughes 178.

The first move to be taken, it is understood, will be an effort to have the new rates suspended before they become effective November 1, as defined in the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling in favor of Shreveport in the rate controversy. The rates are attacked as "unusual, excessive and abnormal."

The case involved a claim for $2538.75 for milk make that the mill alleged had been bought for them but had not been delivered. The plaintiffs were represented by Attorney-traveller-billington of the firm of Huff, Martin & Bullington, while Judge J. T. Montgomery was the local attorney for the defendants.

By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, Oct. 18.—To consider the new rate situation growing out of new tariffs as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision in the so-called Shreveport rate case, which has abolished the division of Texas known in some tariffs as "East Texas," a meeting of a large number of commercial and industrial organizations is being held here today, under the auspices of the Texas Industrial Traffic League.

The call for the meeting was issued last week, in telegrams sent to practically every large commercial organization in the state. The summons declared "the control of Texas railroad rates by the state railroad commission is seriously menaced."

Counsel has been retained by the league in conjunction with the legal fight to be made by the state's Attorney General's office against the railroads from enforcing the new rates.

The rains that have fallen during the past few days will bring up the wheat and give it a splendid start. These rains will provide fall pasturage on wheat fields which will be a most timely provision coming as it does after a season of short feed crops.

Reduction in the size of the Sunday newspapers has been suggested by the Federal Trade Commission as a means of conserving the news print paper supply. This suggestion ought to appeal to the readers of the Sunday papers, at least, as a great many of them would lose nothing worth while if they were to be reduced about one half in volume.

Cotton sold on the streets of Wichita Falls today at 17 1/2 cents a pound, the highest price ever paid here. Nearly two months ago Clarence Ousley, head of the extension department of the A. and M. College predicted that cotton of this season's crop would sell at eighteen cents a pound. Mr. Ousley could not of course, forecast the storm which is sweeping in from the Gulf and which was the direct cause of today's sharp advance. What Mr. Ousley did see was that there was a short crop and a wide demand, and the ability and inclination of farmers not to rush their crop onto the market. These factors have caused cotton to advance steadily in price, the storm news of today serving to accentuate this movement.

Betting odds which have been as high as 10 to 5 in favor of Hughes have shortened greatly within the past ten days and are now around 10 to 8, according to New York dispatches. The New York World of Sunday tells of one broker who is offering $100,000 on Wilson provided he can get odds of 10 to 7. He has not been able to place the bet although some bets were being made Saturday at 10 to 8. An Ohio man is offering $10,000 even money that Wilson carries Ohio. At the time the dispatch was sent his bet had not been called. Betting odds are probably not the safest index of the political situation. The shortening of the odds, however, does indicate that Wall Street betters are not now so certain that Hughes will be elected.

The lumberman of the country are taking a forward view. They have stopped grumbling about the removal of the high tariff on lumber and are organizing an association for the marketing of lumber in foreign countries. Already American lumbermen individually are doing a thriving export business. Working together they can doubtless greatly expand this trade. If President Wilson is re-elected they know they can count on the cooperation of the government in this enterprise. The lumber industry is not the only one which is looking forward to new conditions and new opportunities in trade both at home and abroad, instead of looking backward regretfully to days of a protective tariff that raised a wall about American trade and confined it to our own country. If the State of Texas expects to share in the good roads appropriation made by Congress it must provide a state highway commission. This commission ought to be provided for at the next session of the state legislature. It is not too early to begin to discuss means for raising money for the support of this commission. The most feasible method that has been suggested so far is the state registration of automobiles, the fees from which would provide more than enough money for the support of the commission, in many other states automobiles must be registered with the state. The county registration that we have in Texas is all right so far as it goes and ought to be continued, even if state registration is required.

SOME STRAW POLLS

President Wilson is leading by a safe margin in the straw vote being taken by the Cincinnati Enquirer in conjunction with the New York Herald in the states of Kentucky, West Virginia and Tennessee while Hughes has a large margin in the Indiana vote so far as it has been polled. Concerning the straw ballot in Ohio, the Enquirer in its Sunday issue says: Ohio shifted from Hughes to Wilson during the last week, although the count is so close the state still must be reckoned as doubtful. The President made a total gain of 593 votes during the week, reversing a Hughes majority of 110 one week ago to a Wilson majority of 483 today. He outdistanced his running mate on the state tickets, many of the districts in which he led giving substantial majorities for the Republican candidates for Governor and United States Senator. The trend toward the President was general, and, if continued during the coming weeks of the canvass, would justify a prediction Ohio will give its electoral vote to the President.

The poll was carried into various localities and included all classes of voters. Almost without exception, Wilson developed strength in excess of that of his party.

Of the ballot in other states the ballot says: It was nip and tuck between Hughes and Wilson in Indiana this week, the President leading by four votes. However, Hughes has a majority of 487 in a table of 4,287 votes, with the chances favoring his candidacy at this writing. Returns during the week continue to indicate Hughes is receiving the bulk of the Progressive vote in 1912, with the additional advantage of a large gain in the exchange of Taft and Wilson ballots in 1912. Despite the general showing, the President was unable to cut down the ratio maintained by Hughes in previous polls.

Scant returns from Tennessee are favorable to Wilson, although the vote is so small as to be of no value in making a general forecast of the result in the state. Ballots taken in a limited section of the state give the President a majority of almost two to one over Hughes. Hughes received almost 10 times as many Progressive votes as Wilson while it is a stand-off between the two in the exchange of Taft and Wilson ballots in 1912. Today's table includes a six day's poll. Decisive gains were made by President Wilson in Kentucky during the week, his majority increasing to 767 in a grand total of 3,625 votes. In none of the districts canvassed did Hughes make any serious inroads into the normal Democratic strength. Previous predictions of a Democratic victory in Kentucky are strengthened by the latest returns.

Another week of straw-vote ballots from West Virginia support former forecasts of Democratic victory for the national and state tickets in the Panhandle State. Wilson has increased his majority from 111 last week to 54 this week, leading every day of the poll.

VICTIMS OF OUR OWN FOLLY

Texas needs right now ten thousand additional miles of railroad. But Texas will not get these needed miles of railroad in a quarter of a century, probably longer, as matters now stand. The Texas laws and the Texas rail-gage make it out of the question for new and independent lines to spring up. If a piece of new road shows up anywhere, to whom belongs the credit? Why, bless you, it's either a Santa Fe branch or a "Katy" branch or some other established road's branch. How did Waco finally get railroad connection with Houston? Why, "Cotton Belt" came to the rescue. What became of the "Middle West" that our Belton friends were wont to talk about? It was strangled to death by the stock and bond law. We have created here in Texas a railroad trust both as to building and as to freight rates, being the victims of our own folly. The ten thousand additional miles of railroad so much needed will not be forthcoming any time soon under present arrangements—that much is certain.—Waco Times Herald.

New High Record Made in Local Market—Wheat Remains at $1.55 Bushel
The record breaking price of yesterday for cotton and wheat were either maintained or exceeded in the local markets today. Sales of cotton at as high as 17 1/2 cents were made here this morning. The market generally ruled from 17 to 17 1/4 cents for middling, but some bales of middling reached the half-cent mark. A bale of seed cotton was today worth from $10 to $11.50, as cotton seed is bringing $44 per ton in the local market. The price of wheat remained unchanged at $1.55 per bushel in the local market.

SAYS WALL STREET RULES REPUBLICANS

McAdoo Points to Danger to Nation's Prosperity if Hughes is Elected
Chicago, Oct. 18.—Praise for President Wilson's diplomatic and legislative achievements and charges that "Wall street has always dominated the republican party" and that victory for that party next month would endanger the country's prosperity were voiced here in an address by William McAdoo, secretary of the treasury. "The American people are being asked to put in peril the peace and prosperity of the country now in enjoyment under President Wilson, by turning their government over to the inexperienced Mr. Hughes and the organized band of incompatible elements which are supporting him," Mr. McAdoo said. "For two months they have condemned every act of the democratic administration in the most unfair and untruthful manner, but the American people are still without a definite answer from Mr. Hughes as to what they will do with the government if they get possession of it."

A weak President would have plunged the United States into war.
It is easy to hate, easy to strike. To do so requires neither bravery nor intelligence—and these are the very attributes which must characterize our Chief Executive if he is to guide the nation aright.
The courage, the devotion and the statesmanship of Woodrow Wilson have saved the nation from a horror and a crime. He played for the verdict of mankind and he has won the verdict.
He has stood firm against the lying clamor of concessionaires basely willing to guarantee their dividends with the blood of American youth.
It is not alone that the United States is at peace, that the land is not filled with a vast crying, that homes are not darkened, that our eyes are not scarred by the sight of the blind, the mangled and the wrecked.

International law has been upheld, the rights of neutral nations secured, and civilization itself saved from the world ruin that would have followed America's leap into madness.
It has been shown that greed does not dominate us, that we square our practices with our professions, and that weaker peoples need not fear our friendship.
Even while feeding the hungry of the world, relieving wretchedness, and championing humanity, we stand ready to conduct those negotiations by which peace will come again to the world.
Woodrow Wilson has given you peace and prosperity without sacrifice of principle, without loss of honor.
Are these blessings nothing to you?
Do you want to serve notice upon mankind that the United States favors a policy of war and conquest?
Do you stand for the proposition that no President may expect re-election who offends High Finance or who refuses to take his foreign policies from concessionaires and alien conspirators?
If not, then show it.
Woodrow Wilson's campaign fund must come from the people, for it is the people alone that he has served and that he will serve.
What will you give?

J. N. Green Trading Stamps
In accordance with our original plans we have decided to issue S. & H. Green Trading Stamps on all cash sales and on all accounts paid within six days of date of invoice. These stamps have a very considerable value to our customers and are appreciated by all who have been keeping them. They are exchangeable for a large list of handsome articles carried in stock here by the Sperry & Hutchinson Co., which articles cost our customers absolutely nothing, thus making the stamps a real discount in the purchase price of goods. On account of the cost of these stamps to us it is impossible for us to give them on charge accounts that are not paid promptly, yet wishing to give our customers who carry an account with us the very best prices and service possible, we have determined hereafter to give them to all customers whose bills are paid within six days of the date of invoice. When you get our invoice you can readily compute the time for yourself, and if it is paid within six days of the date we shall be glad to give the trading stamps, but positively no stamps will be given on accounts not paid within the six days.

TEXARKANA TO HAVE TWO UNITED STATES SENATORS

By Associated Press. Ark., Oct. 18.—After December first, Texarkana, situated on the state line of Texas and Arkansas, will have distinction of being the residence of two United States senators, each one being from a different state. The persons making this unusual condition are Morris Sheppard, junior senator from Texas, who has lived in Texarkana all his life, and the newly-appointed Senator Kirby, who was named by Governor Hays to succeed the late Senator James P. Clarke of Arkansas.

AT THE THEATRES

The Gem.

"He Almost Lands an Angel," today's feature, is the title of the sixth episode of the series that portrays the adventures of the incomparable Timothy Dobs. Included in the bill are a Nestor comedy, "A Silly Sultan" and a Laemmle production, "A Wife's Innocence." Timothy Dobs film opens with hero blissfully enjoying his beauty sleep. Timothy sets out for the studio. Nellie Richman, whose father has so much money it hurts him to carry it, is trying to learn to drive a new car. The chauffeur gets out for something, and Nellie, feeling with the levers, starts the car. She yells for help, and the car careens down the road. Timothy is crossing the street and the car hits him. It is not a case of heroics, but necessity, that causes him to cling to the machine, and trying to get away, he pulls the emergency brake and stops the car. He is hailed by the crowd as a hero and Nellie insists on taking him home to meet papa. Papa is much interested in movies and is almost begging some one to take his money. Timothy interests him, and wanting to show his appreciation, Richman offers to give him work at five thousand per week and let him manage the concern. Timothy airily tells him to postpone the discussion until the morrow as he wants to think it over. He makes a strong impression upon his new friends. By strategy, Timothy gets in the gate and his usual luck attending him, secures a part in a picture. It is a "hoop part" and he is splendid in it. Then the Director decides to use him in a hero part and Timothy makes a failure of the whole thing. Nellie and her father have called at the studio to look around and see him. At first his nonchalant air charms them, but finally they see what a sorry actor he really is, and give him the "go-by." Richman has brought the contract and tried to get Timothy to sign it when he first came, but Timothy, wishing to show off, declined. Richman now tears the contract into bits and Timothy, thrown off the stage, lands where the bits are scattered.

The Majestic.

William Russell takes the part of Oliver Strong in the Mutual drama, "The Highest Bid," showing today at the Majestic. A story follows: Elsie Burleigh, a charming society girl, is the daughter of a designing mother, who plans to marry her off to a wealthy husband. Oliver Strong is a stockbroker who has fought his way up the ladder of success by pure grit. At her coming out party Elsie meets Strong, resulting in love at first sight on both sides. They quickly become engaged, much to Mrs. Burleigh's satisfaction. A short time later Strong is completely wiped out in a financial conspiracy headed by an unscrupulous operator, Addison Grey. To add to Strong's troubles, Mrs. Burleigh induces Elsie to cancel her engagement to Strong and return him his ring because of his changed financial fortunes. Strong, broken in spirit and seeking to get away from civilization for a period, goes into the Sierras. There he meets an old Uncle Jerry, an eccentric character, who has reason to believe there is a thick vein of virgin gold in old Eagle canyon. About this time Addison Grey becomes the matrimonial target of Mrs. Burleigh, and she soon contrives an engagement between Grey and her daughter, Elsie. Grey invites Mrs. Burleigh and Elsie to accompany him on a trip to his hunting lodge in the Sierras and while there Elsie again meets Strong through a picturesque and romantic incident. She bids him an affectionate farewell and goes back to her intended husband, Grey. In the meantime Strong has discovered the wonderful ledge of virgin gold and is destined to fabulous wealth, a fact which he withholds from Elsie to test her love for him. A forest fire in which Grey shows, as Elsie and Strong, is absolutely fearless and in which Elsie plainly tells Grey, she is fighting for Strong's home, and her own, too, results in a swiftness reunion and the entire discomfiture of Grey.

The Empress.

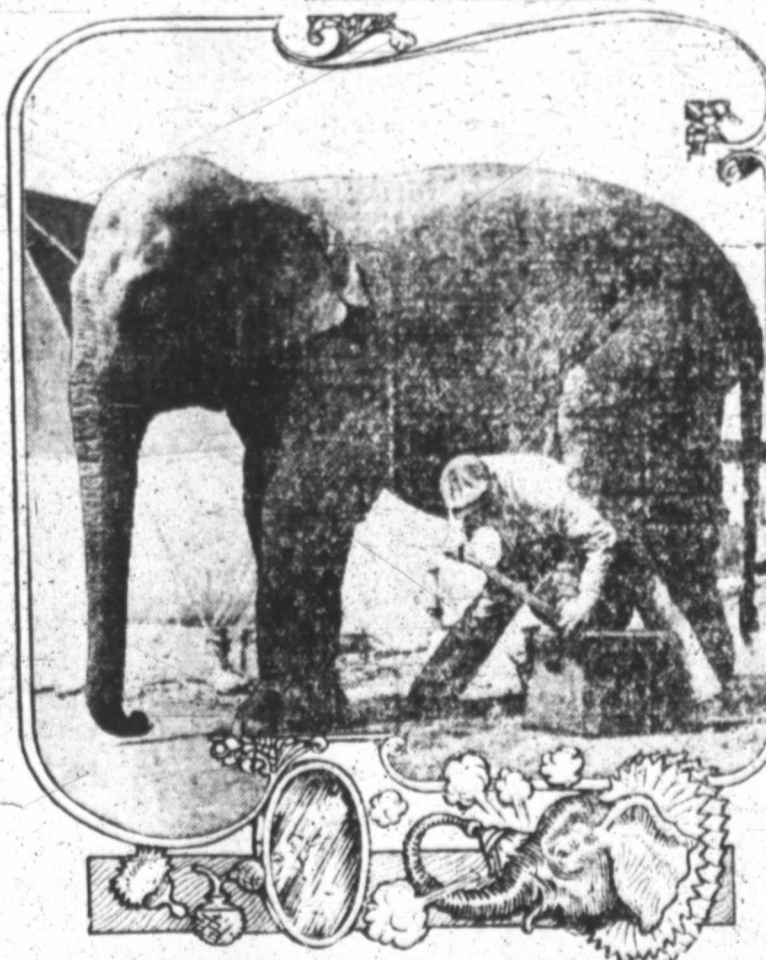

"Under Cover" the great drama which scored an unprecedented success at the Fort Theatre, New York, has been chosen by the Famous Players Film Company as an ideal vehicle for the first appearance of Hazel Dawn and Owen Moore, as co-stars in its production. This remarkable drama, by Rod Cooper Megre, will appear on the Empress program at the Empress today. Though this is the first time that Miss Dawn and Mr. Moore have ever starred together, it is not, of course, their initial appearance in Famous Players pictures. Miss Dawn last starred in "The Foul Girl" and it will be remembered that Mr. Moore appeared in support of Mary Pickford in several of her first photoplays after she became a great star in the production of the pioneer feature concern.

EXTREMES MEET IN VAUDEVILLE BILL

Grand Opera, Wild West and Other Things Make Up Pleasing Performance

It is a far cry from grand opera to a wild west show, but vaudeville thrives on incongruity, and the two were agreeably combined in Tuesday night's Orpheum bill at the Wichita Theatre. The meeting of the two extremes served to make up an excellent bill, with these two acts alone worth the money. The wild west part of the program was provided by Be Ho Gray & Company with the assistance of "Onion" the same being a white cow pony of considerable intelligence. Be Ho Gray showed himself wonderfully clever with a rope, sometimes throwing as many as three at one time, and performing several stunts that were thoroughly creditable. A cowgirl, mounted on "Onion," also figured in the performance. Be Ho Gray's rapid fire conversation took well and won as many laughs as his rope stunts did handclaps. "A grand opera cocktail" was the entitlement of the high brow musical end of the program. A company of seven rendered such selections as the sextette from Lucia, the foredoer song from Carmen and other well known operatic numbers. All of the voices were excellent and the performance was a noteworthy one, taking quite well with the audience. A dainty dance, who perhaps might be called the lemon peel in the afternoon cocktail, also performed quite niftily. Charles Irwin and Kitty Henry starred a very agreeable little comedy act, in which laughs abounded quite numerous. The male end of the sketch depicted drunkenness in a realistic and amusing way. Frank Mullane, a tenor, sang very pleasingly indeed, and pulled some jokes that got by without much trouble. However, he ought to practice wearing a dress suit until he looks more natural in one. Some high speed dancing was done by the Carr Brothers, models of sartorial respectability, who mixed their footwork up with some comical stuff that was largely productive of laughs. The way they manipulated their feet was remarkable to put it mildly. Miss Paula staged a gymnastic act consisting of tumbling and trapeze stunts that required much strength and skill and which were well received. "The Fire Escape" was the title of a one act play of considerable merit. In spite of the fact that it depended largely for its effect upon the negligible attire adopted by the male performer. The attendance was excellent, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather kept away the folks who usually drive in from the country in their cars.

MANICURING ELEPHANTS FAR FROM EASY TASK

Manicuring an elephant doesn't sound like an especially useful or important occupation for a full grown man, but there are two men with the Barnum & Bailey circus, visiting to Wichita Falls on October 25 that are employed for no other purpose but to care for the feet of the 41 elephants and a few other animals in the big menagerie. Every elephant in the Barnum & Bailey herd, from old "Baba" who claims to have lived 100 years, to little "Sammy" who boasts of only five birthdays, must submit to a thorough manicuring every day while the circus is on the road. This prevents any of the animals from becoming lame, as would be the case if proper attention were not given to the feet, as this is the tenderest part of an elephant's anatomy. The manicuring parlors in the Barnum & Bailey menagerie have not the daintiness of a boudoir, but they are well equipped with all necessary tools and appliances. Manicuring wild animals is like carrying civilization into the jungle, and it is almost as exciting for the men who do the work as hunting big game. It is not the work for a nervous person. Animals prefer to keep clean in their own way and even a sedate, old elephant resents the artificial clouding processes of civilization occasionally. There are frequently some exciting moments during the hours when the manicuring parlor is being operated which is generally in the late afternoon, between the afternoon and evening shows, when there is a crowd of spectators around. Occasionally an elephant will become so obstreperous that it will require several men to hold him while his feet are being cared for. Other animals in the big box cage menagerie that must submit to the indignities of manicuring are the tigers, the pumas and the leopards. Their nails must be trimmed at least twice a month, otherwise they become long and dangerous, and they are apt to do harm to each other in the various cages. The trimming of a tiger's toenails generally requires the assistance of at least five men, and the job is accomplished with great difficulty. "Hokus—Does your wife ever have any spasms of economy?" "Pokus—Well she's always talking about how much carfare we could save if we only had an automobile."—New York Times.

DAMAGE SUIT FOR $10,000 ON TRIAL

Case of Arthur Bell vs. Fort Worth & Denver is Called This Morning

In the 78th district court this morning the case of Arthur P. Bell vs. his next friend, J. B. Bell against the Fort Worth & Denver railway for damages in the sum of $10,000 was called for trial. Following the selection of a jury the taking of testimony was begun about 10 o'clock and it is possible that the case will be concluded today.

The plaintiff of the plaintiff alleges that Arthur P. Bell, who is a minor, was employed on the road of defendant as a member of a section gang and that he was injured as a result of the condition of the hand car on which the crew was riding, resulting in his being thrown off while the car was going at a fast rate of speed over rough track. It is further alleged that notwithstanding the age of the young man, he was instructed to take a position at the front of the hand car, which it is charged is much the more dangerous place in its operation.

The plaintiff is represented by Fitzgerald & Cox, while J. T. Montgomery and F. S. Jones of the firm of Carrigan, Montgomery & British are attorneys for the defendant company.

MUTUAL STAR PRODUCTION

William Russell, whose popularity is steadily growing among picturegoers, has created a new character in the second Russell release of the Mutual Star Production, "The Highest Bid," a stirring five act human interest drama replete with tense scenes and which is marked by exceptional acting by a specially selected cast of well known screen players. Never has this versatile star appeared to such excellent advantage as he does in this strong feature. In this drama Mr. Russell plays with his usual vigor and keen appreciation of the limitations of the silent drama.

RETIRING FROM

TO THE PUBLIC:

The decision to close out this high grade stock of merchandise has come after due deliberation. There have been a number of flattering offers made for the business as a whole, but we have determined to be loyal to our customers, as they have been to us, and therefore we shall offer the entire stock in one gigantic price-cutting sale, that will give our customers the benefit of the lowest prices ever made on this class of merchandise, notwithstanding, that goods are higher in price than for years.

We believe that we can say, without fear of contradiction, that it is the finest stock of Ladies' Ready to Wear and Millinery, and Men's Clothing, Furnishings and Shoes, and Boy's Apparel in Wichita Falls. The highest grade lines in the United States are represented and the goods are new and right up to the minute in style.

The fixtures are also for sale, and the building will be leased and remodeled to suit tenant.

Kindly bear in mind, that we will close our books permanently Thursday night, and no new accounts will be opened nor no goods sold on credit to anyone.

We would also appreciate an early settlement of all accounts now on our books, so that the business may be entirely closed up as soon as the stock is sold.

This is not hurrah, but a genuine retiring from business sale where every article in the house must be sold. Come and see the merchandise and the prices and you will be convinced.

Vigilance for Good Service

EVERY Bell Telephone exchange has its wire chief. He is unknown to the subscriber, but his important task is to see that the wires, both inside and outside the exchange, are kept constantly in good working order.

The wire chief's constant vigilance keeps the telephone system in readiness for instant service.

Every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

Shall I, I wonder!
I often sit and wonder
Why the grass is never blue;
And why the cows have four legs
While hens, and me, have two.
