News Today Follows Reports of Rioting--Troops Join New Government

By Associated Press. Stockholm, Wednesday, March 14, via Berlin and wireless to the Associated Press, March 15.—Reports of serious disturbances in Russia are published in Swedish newspapers. The Tidningen of Sunveall publishes the statement that a railroad bridge over the Neva river in Petrograd has been dynamited by revolutionists.

The Nyheter of Hafarenda prints an interview with a Swedish business man who arrived in Petrograd Saturday from Moscow. This man is quoted as saying there had been revolutions in many cities of Russia since Thursday of last week.

Especially violent riots are reported to have occurred in Petrograd on Saturday, shops being stormed by mobs. According to this information, publication of newspapers has been suspended and the authorities posted placards warning people to remain indoors to avoid trouble.

The Nyheter says that other travelers from Petrograd reported that similar disturbances occurred there on Friday, that the police were compelled to use their sabers and that many were wounded.

Messages from Stockholm usually are sent by cable via London; the telegraph to Berlin and the wireless evidently were employed to avoid the British censor.

The question of dynasty is unsettled. It is reported upon responsible authority that Emperor Nicholas will abdicate the throne and that he will be succeeded by the youthful crown prince, with Grand Duke Nicholas acting as regent.

It is realized here that Germany's greatest diplomatic efforts have been concentrated on cutting Russia from the rest of the allies.

NO INDICATION STRIKE ORDER THAT BERLIN IS RECEIVED WILL CHANGE FOR MONDAY

By Associated Press. Washington, March 15.—Information which former Ambassador Gerard has filed before the state department reflects various views that Germany might be contemplating altering her campaign of ruthlessness to avoid war with the United States.

President Wilson and state department officials are convinced Germany is firmly decided to continue submarine warfare in violation of laws, in the face of the fact that such a policy would lead to war with the United States.

It became known today that the tentative strike order, which has been issued by the railroad brotherhoods, calling for a strike at six o'clock Monday morning, might be postponed.

Members of the Katy brotherhoods in New York report favorably for the brotherhoods, has been received by local railroad men.

Members of the Katy brotherhoods are said to have received such instructions, but if they have reached the Denver employees also, this could not be definitely ascertained today.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NOW THREATENING TURK'S RETREAT

By Associated Press. Constantinople, March 15.—The Russian troops are now threatening the Turkish retreat.

ADVANCE ON MOSUL

This is believed to be objective of retreating forces—Germans continue their evacuation of positions before Bagdad.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: With the exception of the notable German retirement on the French Belgian front, which, whether voluntary or forced, is still continuing most interesting military movements in progress are those in eastern Persia and Mesopotamia.

Disorganized by their defeat at Kut-el-Amara and before Bagdad, the Turkish forces in that section of Mesopotamia are retreating up the Tigris and at least reports were more than 20 miles north of Bagdad.

Forward across the Mesopotamian border, the British forces are advancing toward the line of the Turkish retreat, driving the Turkish forces before them. One of these columns has captured Keraman, about 20 miles from the Mesopotamian border, after defeating the Turks in a two day battle.

To the northwest another column is pressing southwest and has advanced from Sakiz to near Bani, only ten miles from the Mesopotamian front.

Both these Russian armies are threatening the main Turkish forces in Mesopotamia, retreating under British pressure from Bagdad with Mosul probably their objective. To reach that since these forces have some 120 miles to travel up the Tigris from the positions at which they were last reported, about 10 miles south of Samarra.

From Bani the Russians are with their main army and has advanced up in the Turkish rear while the fast moving Russian forces at Kermanshah, while still 125 miles from Samarra, are threatening a serious menace to the Turkish flank in the field of long distances and rapid troop movement.

The only other way of retreat for the apparently out numbered and out maneuvered Turkish armies lies to the westward where communications are lacking and the country difficult.

New Congressman Back From Capitol Gives His Views on Men and Affairs

Marvin Jones, new congressman from this district, is back in Amarillo from Washington, where he succeeded John H. Stephens in the lower house on March 4. Mr. Jones was interviewed by the Amarillo News upon his return. The News says: "My, it seems good to be in North Texas again," exclaimed Hon. Marvin Jones, Congressman from the Thirteenth District, yesterday morning upon his return from Washington. "I used to think that because we of the Plains Country of Texas drew our inspiration to some extent from the East, when we said that we had the greatest country and the greatest people on earth, but now I know we are telling the whole truth—it is inescapably true," continued Mr. Jones. "With all the enthusiasm of a boy returning from a long term away from school, Mr. Jones returns to his Amarillo home. He really confessed to 'just being hungry for a sight of the people and the country out here where the citizens are friendly and hearty and where the air wholesome and free.' "You ask me about the war situation," said Mr. Jones to a representative of the News, "and I would have been disappointed if you had not done so." He continued, "I am hoping with the patriotic millions of American citizens in every part of this nation that our country will not be brought into this horrible struggle. Already the earth is reeking with the blood of uncountable thousands of brave men, with without real cause and to add that of our brothers to the list now for too great should and will be averted if possible. It is my judgment that we will be able to avoid any further bloodshed and to do so, but if the war comes, to do so, the worst will be found that President Wilson with the almost unanimous backing of his people regardless of party affiliations will take whatever steps he deems necessary to protect our rights on the high seas as well as at home. "The attitude of the citizens of Washington and the members of Congress is much like that of a similar number of people in any other city in the United States. That this country should stay out of needless war, but if the necessity arises that it should not and will not withhold itself from the conflict, as is well known among my friends here and elsewhere, I have always been favorable to a reasonable preparedness. Preparations ought to protect our homes and our commerce and to stand in my opinion we will only be warranted in going

THOROUGHBREDS OF AUTO FAMILY ARE ON DISPLAY

EXHIBIT OF MOTOR CARS, HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SPRING STYLE SHOW, PROVES POPULAR AND WINNING FEATURE

FOR ANNUAL AFFAIR

Dealers Want Show Held Every Year—Many Models and Makes are Exhibited and Are Viewed by Thousands of Visitors.

It has been said that a city is known by its automobiles; while there are many criteria by which a community is judged, it is certain that the number and appearance of the motor cars owned by its citizens figure very materially in the impressions which is given the stranger within the gates. And Wichita Falls is no exception from any other Texas city, if judging is to be based upon her progress and growth according to the display she makes of her automobiles. For that reason, the Automobile Show, being held in connection with the annual Spring Style Show, is of double significance; planned and executed to furnish a display of all that is new and splendid and serviceable in motor cars, it does not stop with accomplishing that, but stamps Wichita Falls as a city of distinction and up-to-date-ness, unranked by no other Texas community, population considered.

The best evidence of the success that is attending this Wichita Falls Automobile Show, is that the exhibitors are unanimous in the desire to make it an annual affair. The thoroughbred of the motor family are on exhibition at the show, power, brilliance, comfort, speed, service, luxury—all these are attributes of the specimens on display, from the tiny roadster to the big, overwhelming eight cylinder touring car. It is appropriate, perhaps, to speak of them as thoroughbreds, for a thoroughbred horse implies making more of its strength than the average horse, and the automobiles that one encounters at every turn in Wichita Falls today are the products of concerns that have survived where scores of others have failed. The display has yet another significance, in that it demonstrates how big a part the automobile plays in the commerce of thousands of square miles, with population running well into the hundreds of thousands, are served by the agencies of this city. Wichita Falls, Texas, with the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma are supplied through local dealers, whose constantly increasing business has added mightily to the prosperity of the city of Wichita Falls. The best demand for automobiles alone would be sufficient to attract a big selling force here, but to that demand is added the demand from the automobile purchasing activities of scores upon scores of prosperous communities throughout this city's trade territory.

It is a matter of much pride with those who have labored so faithfully on the plans for the Style Show and Automobile Show that the attractions were visited in the city of Wichita Falls, the best demand for automobiles alone would be sufficient to attract a big selling force here, but to that demand is added the demand from the automobile purchasing activities of scores upon scores of prosperous communities throughout this city's trade territory. To those in charge of the exhibits every visitor was a potential customer. From the man who has owned many cars that he has not been able to use, to the youth who could not finance an automobile, all were given full opportunity to view and learn. No one realizes any more thoroughly than the automobile dealer that the day is past when the motor car is classed as a luxury, and that the man who looks at cars long enough will be a certain purchaser in the end.

The building was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the festive air was enhanced by the orchestra which dispensed music throughout the display. There was just enough room for all the cars to be easily displayed without crowding and without blocking passage for the crowds that milled in and out during the exhibition hours. Pictures of factories and sketches had been fastened to the display of the automobiles themselves and added to the interest of the exhibit. The first exhibit to greet the visitor's eye is that of McCall Brothers & Co., agents for the Dodge Brothers car. T. R. T. Osh is in charge of this display, which includes a touring car, a roadster and one of the new closed cars. Lloyd Weaver's agency display in charge of Henry Smith, includes the Buick sedan and the regular model six of the Hudson make, and a Chevrolet touring car and roadster. Specimens of the Mitchell-Kissel and Gray cars are displayed by the Chennault & Wheat Automobile Company. The Maxey Auto company, a new owner, has the Buick touring cars on display. C. A. Sabath is in charge of the exhibit. The Overland Sales company has a series of displays with W. J. Daugherty in charge. Their exhibit includes specimens of the Willys Knight 88 G, Willys Knight eight, and of the 85 G, the 90 touring and the Country Club models of the Cleveland car. The Ashmore-Sales company, with Mr. Ashmore himself in charge, is displaying new models of the Geo and Ford machines. The Buick agency is represented by two handsome Buick models and an Oakland six. The Chevrolet agency is exhibited by the new agent, J. E. Dunagan; J. Angley is in charge of the display. Touring cars and roadsters are made up of the Mitchell-Kissel and Gray cars of the McCall Auto company. The Elgin Auto Sales company, one of the newest agencies here, is displaying models of the Davis, Elgin and Scripps Buick machines, with H. F. Walling in charge. The Franklin has a handsome big model on display with K. E. Kuhlman as exhibitor. Chalmers models are exhibited by the local agency with H. F. Schomont, sales manager, in charge of the display. A big Wichita truck, of powerful frame is also a part of the exhibit. The Firestone tire agency has a big variegated display, and Hand & Zihl

We've loved many a beautiful maiden. From the blonde to the queenly brunette. There was Phyllis with lashes so shady. And Flo, the vivacious sourette. There were innocent schoolgirls and widows. With the latter love making's an art. But you ask for a toast, and I give you a toast to your baby sweetheart.

It was long, long ago that you met her. In the blur of the pink cherry trees. But somehow you can not forget her. Little girl of the bramble-scratched knees. China has been regarded as the sloth among nations. Every other nation has imposed upon China and every other people impose on the Chinese. But there are signs that China is awakening. China has not only severed diplomatic relations with Germany, but has gone a step further than the United States, and has seized German ships in Chinese harbors. China hasn't let grass grow under her feet and has acted with a decision and promptness that forms a striking contrast with some other neutrals. If China is prepared to go as far as she can in this matter with Germany, she will win respect among the civilized nations.

It has been only a few years since most residence grounds in Wichita Falls were conspicuous for their bareness and ugliness. Wichita Falls women—the women ought to have the credit—with aesthetic aspiration, and industry, have, with the aid of very efficient water service, irrefragated this ugliness into places of delight and beauty. Wichita Falls is becoming known as a city of roses and flowers and beautiful lawns, surpassing many cities in this respect whose natural advantages are immeasurably greater. After the first good rain, Nature will have a Style Show in Wichita Falls that will be one of surpassing beauty.

Wooden ships are again to be built in large numbers in this country. The submarine menace is responsible for the revival of the wooden ship. The situation calls for the immediate building of a big fleet of small merchantmen in this country. The need cannot be supplied by steel shipbuilders alone. Steel also is needed for many other things. The builders of wooden ships have been called upon in the emergency. Their yards are capable of expansion and they can soon be turning out stout and seaworthy vessels in large numbers. In the days before the supremacy of the steel ships, the shipyards along the New England coast were the busiest places in the world. The American merchant marine swarmed the seven seas and the American sailor was without an equal in the world. The revival of the wooden ship, let us hope, means the revival of the American merchant marine.

The display of beautiful garments, and the large and varied stocks of Wichita Falls merchants which are opened to the view of the public this Style Show Week, will suggest to many the contrast of a few years back. Wichita Falls merchants then were abreast of the town, but their stocks were meager and poor, indeed, in comparison with the showing of today. Then there was fog of Fort Worth or Dallas capturing the retail trade of Wichita Falls. Now, nobody must go to these larger cities for the latest and best in clothing. They can find it right here in Wichita Falls. Wichita Falls has progressed wonderfully as a retail trade center within the past few years. Instead of Wichita Falls folks going out of town to buy their clothing, we now find people for miles around, who formerly went to Dallas and Fort Worth, coming to Wichita Falls. Merchants of Wichita Falls have lived up to their opportunities. They have enlarged their stocks and added new lines, even before customers were in sight. They are making Wichita Falls a great retail center, just as others are making it a wholesale and manufacturing center. In rendering praises for good work for Wichita Falls, we should not forget Wichita Falls merchants.

Revelations of the past few days show that the German influence in Mexico is much stronger than had been suspected. While the United States has been busy on the border and England has been engrossed across the Atlantic, German diplomacy has been busy and has about grabbed possession of the Mexican government. There are more Germans than other nationals in Mexico, and the number is being constantly added to by those who are leaving the United States. These Germans have backing, financial and otherwise, of the Imperial government, and at a time when Mexico is so desperately in need of money the lure of financial assistance is hard to resist. The Germans, too, no doubt, are making capital out of the enmity that the Mexicans feel toward the United States. German agents can be depended upon to take advantage of every recourse to further the interests of the Imperial government. The disclosure of the Zimmerman note was a shock to Americans. Instead of the beginning of efforts to alienate Mexico and get her into active warfare with the United States, the Zimmerman note now appears to have been the final instructions for blinding a pact that, while it had not been given definite form, had been brought to a point where the Imperial government was satisfied, from the reports of its agents, that what was a feeling and understanding was ready to be put into words and deeds.

GLADYS BROCKWELL AT THE EMPRESS TODAY
 The consequences of a trust falsely placed, the trust of an innocent girl in the nobility of a gambler and man of the world, make the background of the story of East and West which Gladys Brockwell's latest starring vehicle for William Fox. The picture is "One Touch of Sin," a vigorous story of a woman who pays the price in shame and sorrow, showing at the Empress today.
 Miss Brockwell portrays Mary Livingston, who is deeply in love with the gambler, Richard Mallaby, (Jack Standing). When he decides to go West in an effort to conquer his evil ways, he leaves Mary and her baby in the East. His letter of explanation to her is lost in the mails.
 Later Mary, broken-hearted by what she thinks is Richard's desertion, goes West herself. She accepts the place of dancer in a saloon, only to meet Mallaby and find that, far from overcoming his evil habits, he is worse than ever.
 One man in the rough frontier village has been kind to Mary. When she dies and leaves his little boy, in the woman's care, she sees but one way to provide for him. She steals money and is caught. When Matt Tabor (Willard Louis) hears her story, shoulders the blame himself, carries her and her baby from the danger of a term in jail.
 Then begins a series of encounters between Mallaby and Tabor, in which the first lover tries to recover the girl whom he considers his own property.

This Story's Title Is "Pardons Is Pardons"

It all happened down at Graham at the present acting as judge, which are being managed and promoted by a youthful district judge and a vocal head of district attorney. The story is presented by the actor, is to the following general effect:
 Somebody set fire to and burned a perfectly good barber shop in the Brazos town. About a year since there were several indictments. One man was sent to Huntsville. There was an strong desire on the part of the officials to convict another. Testimony was lacking and the officials first described in this history, although they of this man who was languishing in the pen.
 They got into communication with him. He was willing to testify, in fact, wanted to get the whole matter off his chest and would tell the complete

THE LOSING WINNER "THE GEM TODAY"
 Carter De Haven, surrounded by a boy of pretty gifts, as if he were a magical comedy hero, has produced an amusing Victor comedy from a story by H. C. Warnack, which was adapted for his use by C. J. Wilson Jr., which is being shown at the Gem today.
 At the head of the charming ladies who help him put this story over, is his wife, Flora Barker De Haven, who has been the star of several "Ed" Feather features, both with her husband and by herself. The combination of both these stars in a two-reel program picture is very unusual. Starring them are Edith Sedgwick, who is used to being her name at the head of a cast under the direction of Allen Curtis, Jessie Arnold, who has had many important roles, and M. K. Wilson, a producer in his own right, who has played the lead in many films. This remarkable cast works together in perfect harmony in an excellent story of the fluctuating fortunes of a young gambler.

Unique Method of Presenting New Fashion Designs Wins Much Favor With Spectators—Tonight is Home Folks Show

"All that could have been desired," was the unanimous verdict of the merchants who entertained at the opening night of the Spring Style Show and Society Vaudeville last night at the Wichita Theater. The Automobile Show was thronged with visitors throughout the afternoon and evening, the majority of them being from out of town, and last night the theater was packed with out-of-town guests of the Merchants' Association.

This opening night being designed especially for the out-of-town folks, the response to the invitation was very gratifying and sufficient to make this show, the first joint style revue attempted by local merchants, very much of a success. Seat sales indicate that the Merchants' Association, which is to benefit by the Wichita Falls Night tonight, will have a considerable sum in the treasury as a result of the show.

A lively program from the very start, with a pantomime story of a week end party, brought in the model parade very cleverly, and the society girls who wore the frocks of the various stores, proved themselves adepts at the art of wearing clothes and the audience was quick to show their appreciation. A number of young men, though not modeling for any store, were continually on the scene.

ing with the action and giving the proper "conventional black" background.

The style show parade proper was interspersed with vaudeville selections. Miss Villa Jacoby, George Hodgins and Lake Avis appeared in a clever sketch, "Who's a Coward?" and Hugh Carso, in blackface, contributed laughs all through the acts and gave a brief sketch, working in a couple of songs in the imitable Carso style. Mrs. Ed Sanders, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh, sang "Poor Butterfly" in her usual charming manner. The interpretative dances were given by Miss Ruth Simpson and little Miss Berenice Martin, pupils of Mrs. E. L. Fulton, who has given her services in directing the staging of the entire spectacle to the Library Association and the Style Show committee.

The initial public appearance of the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra also added eclat to the Style Show. Organizations and individuals have given cheerfully of their time and talents, with the result that its success was assured.

The program was not entirely local talent, Billy DeYoung, comedy songster, Ophium player, having been secured for the Style Show's two night's engagement. His work is exceptionally good.

The actual Style Show opened when the "guests," eighteen young ladies and a number of young gentlemen, began arriving at Craamoor, where they were greeted by Miss Villa Jacoby, as hostess, assisted by Miss Ruth Simpson, Berenice Martin, Halie Adams and Helen Snider. Miss Frances Gillon made a very fetching maid, and Hugh Carso was the porter.

The guests arriving were the newest in travelling togs and the stores displayed the many little dainty accessories that add so much charm and chic to feminine apparel for the street, for traveling or for general wear.

The two exclusive millinery stores, the Jona Dickson Millinery and the Olive A. Child Millinery, supplied the hats for the McClurkan store, Perkins-Fincher and Jones-Kennedy stores for afternoon, morning, sport and night wear were displayed. Some particularly fetching sport hats were noticed on the heads of models which came from the Child shop. A large white hat, wide brimmed and of mesh, was shown by the Dickson Millinery for afternoon wear. Evening hats, in grey lace and ribbon, with flower trimmings, were especially lovely and the street hats were no less smart and chic.

The model displays were by number, each store having two models, each girl wearing four separate costumes, with the exception of some of the store who do not make a specialty of formal summer evening wear. R. J. Martin acted as "scene shifter" in the model parade.

Especially dainty and alluring were the evening frocks worn by a McClurkan model, in the last act. Both frocks were built on cloth of gold with silk tulle overdraped. French hand-made tulle of white and blue, with bands of metallic ribbon and the other dress was banded with wide satin ribbon in gold shades, the bodice hand-carved over with rose and gold. A sport suit of green Pointe twill, with parasol and bag was much admired, as was an extremely dainty afternoon frock of white Georgette crepe and chiffon taffeta. Tailored suits from the McClurkan line of Bishop suits were worn in the first act.

The uses to which a parasol may be put, in addition to its strictly utilitarian purposes, was demonstrated by the sports maiden in a rose and natural striped pongee suit from the Jones-Kennedy store. The parasol and gown would have been a temptation had the girl in question been less attractive, which she wasn't, and when there is a young man going to the tennis court with one a parasol might come in handy. Sports skirts, and their lining also in the Jones-Kennedy showing, an exceptionally striking one of black taffeta, embroidered in large circles of silver being worn with the finest of Georgette blouses. The travelling suits and afternoon gowns were attractive and the very daintiest mid-summer dance and party frocks were worn. The models were shod with Cousin's foot wear, one of the store's specialties.

The Toggery in its toggery show, forgot not the importance of a hat in the makeup of a lady's costume, and the two models wore hats that drew gasps of admiration from the feminine portion of the audience. One hat, worn with an afternoon frock of white and mustard crepe de chine, was trimmed in a wealth of intricate detail of tulle and feathers, another striking chapeau worn with a black lace evening gown. No less attractive than the hats were the frocks, typical of the new in suits and dresses, emphasizing the demand for sport clothes in the vivid colorings and luxurious fabrics.

Row after row of gold thread stitching on a navy blue cloth suit outlined the deep collar of a tailored suit shown by P. H. Pennington as of the moment's mode. The contrast in color was accentuated by the rich mustard lining of the coat. The same model showed the newest in sport frocks, a white and blue of turquoise blue. Another sport dress of original lines was of rose and tan stripes. Hats to correspond with each suit or dress shown. Gaze models in most instances, came from the Pennington millinery department.

Sports clothes, outing frocks, and then more sport clothes of the sort which are becoming to the majority of types were given a place of prominence in the Perkins-Fincher model parade. A white jersey, with full pleated skirt in which a tennisee Paisley stripe was noted, was worn with a white sailor hat with a navy blue to complete the bewitching array for a summer maid on conquest bent. In contrast to the pastel of this sport suit was a sport but distinctly pleated rose silk jersey, distinguished by novelty of cut rather than an excess of trimming. Evening frocks in which tulle, metallic shades and silver were constituted one of the gildouse favored motifs. Jet beads in intricate embroideries formed the trimmings of the frock which suggested in its evening wear, in sport suits an unusual model is found in a dainty purple in the new rough silk, with tulle and collar trim of white. The hats which added no little to the attractiveness of the models were from the gildouse patterns.

The patriotic petticoat is the latest in this creation designed to make the public stand at attention which displayed was worn by a Baum & Gardner model last night. The petticoat, ornamented with the Stars and Stripes and patriotism may in a large measure offer an excuse for the Panhandle breezes. Woven jersey suits, hand embroidered, one a grey, the other a green, were displayed as suitable for either summer traveling or sports wear. The newer shaped sport frocks, with hats with hemmed points were featured. The barrel silhouette received honorable mention in the Baum and Gardner display, the frock with the barrel skirt being a drab taffeta and Georgette combination. Dresden taffeta, tulle and gold lace made up an evening dress which possessed long sherees of tulle.

Khaki cool in "heart of roses" shade, formed an attractive sport suit shown on one Bell Clothing company model. Collars and cuffs were of white and long slash had tassled ends, which hung almost to the skirt hem. A white hat provided a pleasing contrast. Khaki green and a rose, the latter combination were noted in sport costumes, and an afternoon frock more than usually good looking was of London smoke blue Georgette crepe, with beaded trimmings. With each frock or suit, harmonizing hats were worn.

"These are not what they seem" of the sport and a dainty P. H. M. model demonstrated how to perform. There is a spring suit in the new gold, with corresponding hat and other accessories. The model slips off the coat and presto, no suit at all but an afternoon dress, all ready for the matinee, a shopping tour or a call. This suit dress is as charming as it is practical. Another feature of the P. H. M. model show was a changeable silk motor coat, shot with the colors of a spring sunset and beautiful enough for use in any capacity a coat might be desired. The sports craze was also catered to by the frocks worn, the newest tennis togs as well as those for those only lookers on New colors, new fabrics and the new mode in sport frocks in making the P. H. M. garments things of beauty and certainly "joy forever."

The models for the different stores were: W. B. McClurkan & Co., Miss Mary Orth, Miss Audrey Adickes, Jones-Kennedy Co., Mrs. D. A. Burk, etc., M. Georgette Carter, Colonna Toggery Shop, Miss Agnes Reid, Miss Mary Matt Wilkes, P. H. Pennington Co., Mrs. C. E. McCutchen, Miss Hazel Hunter, Perkins-Fincher Co., Mrs. Harry Weeks, Mrs. W. M. Priddy, Gildouse Fashion Store, Miss Cora Lee Waggener, Miss Bertha Mae Kemp, Baum & Gardner, Miss Annette Walsh, Miss Mabel Simson, Bell Clothing Co., Miss Pauline Richard, Miss Flora Reisenberg, P. B. M. Co., Miss Alice Frazier, Mrs. Fritch, Mrs. Joza Dickson, Mrs. Harry Weeks, Mrs. W. M. Priddy, Olive A. Child, Miss Mary Orth, Miss Audrey Adickes.

IS STRUCK BY AUTO AND ALSO LOSES MONEY

A severe shaking up and minor bruises were sustained by F. D. Standridge, a young laborer living across the river, when run down by an automobile yesterday afternoon. Officers investigating the case find that neither Standridge nor the driver of the car could be held responsible for the accident, the responsibility being pretty evenly divided between them. At the time of the accident Standridge had a $5 bill in his hand, which he had just borrowed for food for himself and family, while he was out of work. The bill was shaken from his hand and had blown away before it could be recovered. If the finder will return the bill to Ensign H. G. Robb of the Salvation Army, it will be turned over to the owner, who reports himself to be desperately in need of the money.

MIKE LEVINE SENTENCED; WOOL DENIED NEW TRIAL

Mike Levine, convicted on pleas of guilty in two cases of having received and concealed stolen property, in connection with store robberies at Burnett and Kirkland, was sentenced today by Judge Scurry in the Eleventh, eighth district court, who made the two sentences concurrent. It was shown that Levine was 36 years old, and had been used extensively as a state's witness in the cases against J. Wool. Wool's motions for new trials were argued before Judge Scurry by Bernard Martin for the defendant, and John Tavenport, assistant county attorney, for the state. The motions were overruled in both cases. The main point in the defendant's motion was on the inadmissibility of certain testimony in regard to other similar offenses happening near the same time, which were contended to be not sufficiently connected up with the defendant, and highly prejudicial to his receiving a fair trial.

F. H. Harper, city marshal of Gould, Oklahoma, and J. H. Moran, stock man from near Gould, were in the city today on their way home from Fort Worth where they had been attending the Fat Stock Show.

EVEN ASHFORD SUCCUMBS TO WOMEN SPEEDERS

Police officers who have been rated for their gallantry on account of failure to file proceedings against women speeders have one on Traffic Officer Mack Ashford, who frequently made the boast that a woman speeder looked like any other kind to him. On receiving a summons on the owner of a car caught exceeding the limit yesterday, a woman's voice answered the telephone and explained how it happened, with the result that no prosecution was filed. "She was the only speeder I ever caught that didn't call me a liar when I told them their rate of speed, so I dropped the case," said Ashford. "Anyway, she said she wouldn't do it any more."

OFFERS TO PLEAD GUILTY, BUT STATE DELAYS CASE

After the defendant had entered a plea of guilty to burglary of a box car and had asked for a suspended sentence, the state withdrew its announcement of ready in the J. B. Hoover case yesterday afternoon in the Sixty-eighth district court, and the case will go over. John Davenport, assistant county attorney, explained that the state had announced ready under the impression that the defendant planned to plead guilty and accept sentence, but that in testifying that the door of the car was open, he was not making good on the plea. The state's witnesses had not been summoned for the trial, under the impression that the plea of guilty would be made.

Clothes for Teas and Tees By Corinne Sy Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Clothes may be divided into two classes, those that every woman wears and those that the occasional woman wears. The latter are fascinating for every woman to look at. We may peer at them through the windows—those tactful and sumptuous creations—as we hurry down town on mornings to Ogdon Typewriter or we may read about them in the evening while we consider whether we ought to stop Mary's music lessons in order to get a new rug for the dining room.

But we don't wear them, you see. They really don't affect our own lives any more than the paper dolls of our childhood. Just nice to look at and play with, but of absolute, no-practical benefit.

Yet every year the occasional woman's clothes grow more elaborate and bewildering.

The fact of it is, indeed, that we need to be taking a perpetual correspondence course in new fabrics and colors, and even then we should never read without the aid of a fashion glossary.

In these days of harassing technicalities there are, however, a few straightforward garments, clothes of simple materials and simple cut, in which poor Everywoman may pursue a serene and yet fashionable path. To this fact some of the frocks gotten out by our own American designers bear witness. It is four of these costumes which are illustrated today.

The one to the extreme left is a coat dress of an armure silk which illustrates the resources of these heavy striped materials of this spring. The ground of the silk is chartreuse, that shade of green which we experience on the second day out. Chartreuse is more becoming to the average woman's shoes than it is to her face, and the chief concern of the designer seems to be to get some other shade near the facial contour line. Herein this frock the stripe of dark—almost black—blue forms a sailor collar which takes the unbecoming sting from the chartreuse green.

Stripes are otherwise utilized in the girdle, sleeves, and hem, and they form side panels of

Coat frock of armure silk in chartreuse shade striped in dark blue.
One piece frock of oyster colored tussah embroidered in sea green motifs and with sleeves and top collar of white chiffon.
Soutache trimmed shantung blouse with accordion plaited, two flounce skirt of silk jersey set off by bands of satin.
Pongee frock in natural color trimmed with bright embroidery of green and red and brown.

The skirt. The buttons are covered with the blue silk of the stripe. No other trimming, you see! The same straight up and down lines with the lowered waist are observed in the next frock, one of oyster colored tussah with lovely sea green embroidered motifs. In this frock one observes a telling combination favored this spring. The sleeve are of white chiffon, and only the great cavalier cuffs are permitted to bear tidings of the embroidered tussah. This same chiffon forms a top collar lying over the suspender collar of the dress material. For the rest, there is a charming girdle formed of sea green enamel joined by silver chains.

Brown as a muffin is the next girl, whose attire embraces, by the way, some of the newest of style features. First of all, there is her peplum blouse of natural colored shantung trimmed with brown soutache braid. Now, if there is one thing these days more popular than the ukulele, it is soutache braid; and if there is something else even more popular than that, shantung is the logical answer. This material has been achieving, in fact, some of the loveliest blouses and frocks that have come to us from the other side. For sports wear it is the material par excellence.

An effective way of breaking blouse monotony is found here in the simple trick of slipping brown satin ribbon through the soutache braiding. This brown satin is repeated on the skirt, a copy of one sent us by a famous French designer. Silk jersey is one of the fabrics which does not "barrel" successfully, and so here we find the accordion plaited, two flounce skirt which is so becoming to the slim figure. Of light brown jersey, each flounce is trimmed with bands of dark brown satin.

The complete "brownness" of this maiden is brought to a climax in the hat of plaited crepe de chine with figures of red and green and with straw underbrim. A novel feature of this hat is that it sets up in the back on a bandeau.

The last of the group is one of those serviceable pongee one piece frocks which form the background of every woman's summer wardrobe. As a rule these frocks are trimmed with either soutache in some harmonizing tint or with the bright colored embroideries which go so effectively with this neutral shade. Here the embroidery is introduced in great pockets, and a bright tassel of silk hangs from the girdle. The collar buttons down, with silk covered buttons of red, and the back is formed by a long, shield shaped piece of the pongee which extends below the natural waist line.

BE READY FOR THE COLLECTOR

Receiving Want Ads by telephone is the final detail in making the Times Want Column promptly and perfectly useful to the readers. Telephone Ads cost no more, in money—and less in time—but the Times must employ collectors to follow the phone. The extra accommodation of receiving by phone should be encouraged by always being ready for the collector. DON'T LET HIM CALL THE SECOND TIME. If you have a room to rent, a house to rent, a farm for sale, or if you want to buy an article, whether new or second hand, you should use the Times Want Ad Column daily. RATES—Want ads are one cent a word for the first insertion and half a cent a word for subsequent successive insertions. No want ad taken for less than fifteen cents and no ad taken to run three times for less than 25 cents. In giving in Want Ads PHONE 157.

RANGE IS BROAD IN MEN'S STYLES

VARY FROM STAID CONSERVATIVE TO NOVEL AND UNUSUAL DESIGNS

NO MIDDLE GROUND

Two Tone Stripes Favored in Suit Models—Few Changes in Haberdashery Fashions

No half-way measures seem to have been provided for in men's fashions this spring, judging by the models on display in the local shops. The styles are either sedately conservative or spiritedly unique, the two fashion thoughts being more sharply designed in this spring's styles than probably has ever been the case before. Absolutely no compromise is offered, no easy gradation from the conservative to the novelty styles is shown. The pin-back and belted suit styles on display show minor details of attractiveness that are fragments indicative of a trend toward distinctive ornamentation. The pin-back styles are shown with shirred treatments in inverted plait arrangements, box plaits, yoke backs, mock belts, half belts, detachable and all-round belt effects. These define the novelty styles in a general way, but the variety in pattern details are carried to a point bounded only by the inventive resources of the designers. A riotous employment of button effects and extreme pocket designs and arrangements are also to be had. Cut treatments are noticeable for conspicuous button arrangements and novelty schemes.

What this season may be called conservative styles are by no means lacking in distinctiveness, but are dominated as such in a comparative sense, based on the extreme aspect of the novelty styles. The dominating notes are of English characteristics. Natural shoulders, soft roll lapels and high waist lines are distinguishing features of these styles in which grace of modeling rather than high lights of detailed originality, is striven for.

Quite a few double-breasted styles are shown for early spring wear. Slight changes are to be noted for the trousers and vests, the former being slightly wider than heretofore and the latter mostly collarless and buttoning high. In the patterns noted in local emporiums the two-tone stripes apparently have the call, and next to these the flannel mixtures and small checks. Wide stripes are shown to some degree, but plaid effects are not noticeable. Pattern effects in the light weight midsummer clothes will make their appearance this season, many really attractive weaves and color combinations being shown. Last summer the mid-summer clothes were largely solid colors. The textures are for the most part patented weaves of cotton and linen mixtures under trade names. Silk suits will also be popular for midsummer wear again this year, and are shown in a number of attractive designs and patterns. In spite of the widely-reported famine of dyes and repeated warnings that colors would have to be used sparingly, bright stripes, and electric color combinations are the distinguishing features in most shirt and neckties this season. Every shade in the spectrum is used in practically every conceivable combination. In a general way it may be said that lavender, purple, helio, blue, greens, red, and burgundy are shown to a considerable extent in combination with almost every color known. Nearly all the patterns seem to run to perpendicular stripes of varying widths. Crossings are not as prominent as last season. The French-cut seams still very popular, white indications are that sport shirts will not be as popular as was the case last season except for the uses which they were originally intended, boating and fishing. Soft collars will be more in vogue than ever this season, and the designers have striven for new effects in the designs. Even colored patterns are shown to some extent. Except in the most costly of the neckties, hose, gloves and shoes, as much as the regular four-in-hand shapes, bow ties and hat winks are promised increasing popularity as the season develops.

In hose the solid color effects continue to be the most favored and where patterned designs are shown, the novelty effects are very much in vogue. The stripes of close action effects. Cross stripes and unbordered effects seem to be in the discard for the coming season. Very little change in the styles for men's headwear is to be noted in this season's showings. In the soft hat styles, the bowler and the straw hat, these in pearls, chocolates and tan, steel, gun metal, pearl, putty and wine color are the popular shades. Colors, derbies are shown, but sport hats, these in pearls, chocolates and tan, with bands of black or a darker design that the foundation color. The popularity for caps seems to be still in a broad plain and mixture of checked designs.

As is the case of headwear, no radical departures are to be observed in this year's showings of men's footwear. Both in the high shoes and oxfords the two-tone effects will be popular with the more extreme dresser, while the conservative dresser will continue to confine himself to the one-tone leather. In the two-tone effects, both in leather and cloth uppers, gun metal, dark blue, oxblood and champagne are shown in the uppers. A strong showing of fine button effects is also shown strongly. Embroidered details are the keynote, embodying a long forepart and flat tread. Toes are either medium narrow or high and are shown with a few examples of the long-drawn out toe.

Styles in boys' clothing are a mirror of the men's styles for the season, the novelty effects being the predominant feature. The pin-back and belted effects noted in the men's styles are really a heritage from the styles of the juniors for several seasons past, thus reversing the usual fashion trend. The Norfolk of the past few seasons will retain their popularity, while the belt all-round models will also be popular. Trousers will be cut full and will come well below the knee. Caps will be worn by the boys much more than hats, but telescope hats with drooping brims promise to be fashionable.

BROCHURE ISSUED ON LIBRARY PLANS

Published to Aid Library Committee in its Work of Properly Equipping Building.

An attractive brochure, describing the library building to be erected in Lamar Park, as the gift of J. A. Kemp to Wichita Falls, has been issued by Madorie & Field, the architects for the structure. Sketches showing the plan of the front elevation and the two floors are included in the booklet, which is published with a view to assisting the library committee, the Civic League, and those who are co-operating in the effort to suitably equip the building upon its completion.

Suggestions for donations of books, pictures, and the like, to aid in completing the equipment of the library, are included in the booklet, which makes an appeal on behalf of the committee, as follows:

"The committee will thankfully receive cash donations from those citizens who desire to adopt this method of expressing their interest in the success of the library. Funds so received will be applied as suggested by the donor, or, if given unconditionally, will be used to purchase books, magazine subscriptions, paintings, stationary or other equipment for the institution. The committee invited the donation of books and in each case the name of the donor will appear in the printed record applied inside the front cover. All books received subject to approval by the committee censor. "Paintings accepted will be carefully placed and given proper lighting. Paintings and other art objects loaned will be insured by the directors. Clippings that desire to help will be given suggestions by the committee. The co-operation of the citizenship is cordially invited."

American Ambassador Is Asked for Details

Washington, March 15.—There is no exact knowledge of the Russian situation here. The state department recently sent a message to Ambassador Francis at Petrograd to keep the department more fully informed.

For some time these rumors of revolution and demands for separate peace with Germany have reached here, mainly through German soldiers. On every occasion Russia officials have denied them.

It is realized here that Germany's greatest diplomatic efforts have been concentrated on cutting Russia from the rest of the allies.

London, March 15.—A successful revolution has taken place in Russia. The reactionary party has been overthrown.

Reports from Petrograd state that the Duma, backed by the army, has succeeded in overthrowing the government completely. The revolution centered in Petrograd and Moscow.

NO INDICATION THAT BERLIN WILL CHANGE STRIKE ORDER IS RECEIVED FOR MONDAY

It became known today that the tentative strike order, which has been issued by the railroad brotherhoods, calling for a strike at six o'clock Monday morning, unless the conference now being held in New York result favorably for the brotherhoods, has been received by local railroad men. Members of the Katy brotherhoods are said to have received such instructions, but if they have reached the Denver employees also, this could not be definitely ascertained today.

The details of Heth's alleged statement made before he died have not been made public.

STRIKE MONDAY IF SETTLEMENT IS NOT REACHED SOUTHERN PACIFIC NOTIFIES SHIPPERS

Memphis, Tenn., March 15.—Members of the railroad brotherhoods employed by the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad stated today that orders had been received declaring a strike on that road effective at 6 o'clock next Monday morning if a settlement of the controversy on the eight hour day demands is not reached before that time. It also was reported that employees of the St. Louis Southwestern and the St. Louis Iron Mountain and Southern Pacific railroad today go on strike early in the week.

RUSSIAN TROOPS NOW THREATENING TURK'S RETREAT ADVANCE ON MOSUL

It is believed to be objective of retreating forces—Germans. Continue their evacuation of positions before Baghdad.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: Since the cessation of the notable German retreat on the Franco-Belgian front, which whether voluntary or forced is still continuing most interesting military movements in progress are the only western Persia and Mesopotamia.

Disastrous by their defeat at Kut el Amara and by the Turkish advance in that section of Mesopotamia are retreating up the Tigris and at last reports were more than 30 miles north of Bagdad.

Eastward across the Mesopotamian border of Persia two columns of Russians are advancing toward the line of the Turkish retreat, driving other Turkish forces before them. One of these columns has captured German positions about 30 miles from the Mesopotamian border, after defeating the Turkish in a two day battle.

To the northwest another column is moving southeast and has advanced from Samkiz to near Baniak, only 100 miles from the Mesopotamian front.

Both these Russian armies are threatening the main Turkish forces in Mesopotamia, retreating under British pressure from Bagdad with Mosul probably their objective. To reach that place these forces have some 180 miles to travel up the Tigris from the positions at which they were last reported about 100 miles south of Samarra.

From Baniak the Russians are within 150 miles across country from Mosul in the Turkish rear while the fast moving Russian forces at Kerminkhab, still 150 miles from Samarra, constitute a serious menace to the Turkish flank in this field of long distances and rapid troop movement.

The only other way of retreat for the apparently cut numbered and out maneuvered Turkish armies lies to the westward where communications are lacking and the country difficult.

CUBAN TROOPS TO OCCUPY SANTIAGO

Are Disembarking Today While American Marines Get Ready to Withdraw

Havana, Cuba, March 15.—Government troops under Colonel Sangulity are expected to disembark here this afternoon and disembark at Santiago to take possession of the city. The American blue jackets and marines at 11 o'clock were concentrating their supplies on the wharves preparatory to embarking on their war vessels.

CONFIRMATION OF GRAYSON IS VOTED

Washington, March 15.—Dr. Cary T. Grayson, President Wilson's friend and naval aid was confirmed by the Senate today as medical director and rear admiral in the navy after a long fight against him by Republican senators.

By Associated Press. New York, March 15.—Representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods announced at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, after rejecting counter proposals by the railroad managers, that a general railroad strike would begin at six o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The brotherhoods presented to the conference of railroad managers a demand that the provisions of the Adamson law be put into effect at once.

The railroad managers refused to do this, and submitted a counter proposal.

This counter proposal was that the entire controversy be submitted to the Goethals eight hour commission. The proposition was rejected by the brotherhoods and the announcement was made that the strike order would go into effect Saturday night.

The announcement was immediately reported to President Wilson who is considering steps to avert the strike. He is preparing to appeal to the patriotism of the men not to tie up transportation at this critical hour.

REACTIONARIES OUSTED BY SUCCESSFUL UPRISING

News Today Follows Reports of Rioting--Troops Join New Government

The Nyheter says that other travelers from Petrograd reported that similar disturbances occurred there on Friday, that the police were compelled to use their sabers and that many were wounded.

Messages from Stockholm usually are sent by cable via London; the telegraph to Berlin and the wireless evidently were employed to avoid the British censor.

The question of dynasty is unsettled. It is reported upon responsible authority that Emperor Nicholas will abdicate the throne and that he will be succeeded by the youthful crown prince, with Grand Duke Nicholas acting as regent.

New Congressman Back From Capitol Gives His Views on Men and Affairs

Marvin Jones, now congressman from this district, is back in Amarillo from Washington, where he succeeded John H. Stephens in the lower House on March 4. Mr. Jones was introduced to the citizens of Amarillo upon his return. The News says: "My it seems soon to be in North-West Texas again," exclaimed Marvin Jones, congressman for the Thirtieth District, yesterday morning upon his return from Washington. "I used to think that perhaps we of the Plains country of Texas were on our own here, but now I am glad when we said that we had the greatest country and the greatest people on earth, but now I know we are telling the whole truth—it is indisputably true," continued Mr. Jones.

With all the enthusiasm of a boy returning from a long term away from school, Mr. Jones returns to his Amarillo home. He readily confessed to "just being hungry for a sight of the people and the country that here where the citizens are friendly and hearty and where the air is wholesome and free."

"You ask me about the war situation," said Mr. Jones to a representative of The News, and I would have been disappointed if you had not done so," he continued. "I am hoping with the patriotic millions of American citizens in every part of this nation, that our country will not be brought into this horrible struggle. Alas, the earth is teeming with the blood of uncountable thousands of brave men, still without real cause and to add that of our brothers to the land now for too great a number will be averted if possible. It is my judgment that we will be able to avoid war, but if the worst comes to the worst it will be found that President Wilson with the almost unanimous support of the people here and in every part of this nation, has taken whatever steps he deems necessary to protect our rights on the high seas as well as on land."

"The attitude of the officers of Congress is much like that of a similar number of people in any other city in the United States. I think this country should stay out of this war, but if the necessity arises that it should not and not withdraw itself from the conflict. As I well know among my friends here and elsewhere I have always been favorable to a reasonable peace. Preparations sought to prevent our commercial commerce and beyond that in my opinion we will only be warranted in going

THROUGHBREDS OF AUTO FAMILY ARE ON DISPLAY

EXHIBIT OF MOTOR CARS, HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SPRING STYLE SHOW, PROVES POPULAR AND WINNING FEATURE

FOR ANNUAL AFFAIR

Dealers Want Show Held Every Year—Many Models and Makes Are Exhibited and Are Viewed by Thousands of Visitors.

It has been said that a city is known by its automobiles, while there are many criteria by which a community is judged, it is certain that the number and appearance of the motor cars owned by its citizens figure very materially in the impressions which is given the stranger within the gates. And Wichita Falls asks nothing from any other Texas city, in judging it to be passed upon her progress and growth according to the display she makes of her automobiles.

For that reason, the Automobile Show, being held in connection with the annual Spring Style Show, is of double significance, planned and executed to furnish a display of all that is new and splendid in the automobile in motor cars, it does not stop with accomplishing that, but stamps Wichita Falls as a city of distinction and up-to-dateness, out-ranked by no other Texas community, population considered.

The best evidence of the success that is attending this, Wichita Falls' first Automobile Show, is that the exhibitors are unanimous in the desire to make it an annual affair.

The thoroughbreds of the motor family are on exhibition at the Show; power, brilliancy, comfort, speed, service, luxury—all these are attributes of the specimens on display, from the tiny roadster to the big, overwhelming eight cylinder touring car. It is appropriate, perhaps, to speak of them as thoroughbreds, for a thoroughbred horse typifies nothing more or less than the survival of the fittest, and the automobiles that one encounters at every turn in Wichita Falls today are the products of concerns that have survived where scores have succumbed. The display set another significance, in that it demonstrates how big a part the automobile plays in the commerce of this city. In 1916, the Texas West Texas, the Panhandle and Western Oklahoma are supplied through local dealers, whose constantly increasing business has added mightily to the prestige and importance of Wichita Falls. The local demand for automobiles alone would be sufficient to attract a big selling force here, but that demand is being met, in part, from the automobile purchasing privileges of scores upon scores of prosperous communities throughout this territory.

To those in charge of the exhibits every visitor was a potential customer. From the man who had owned so many cars that he has lost count to the youth who could not finance an hour's supply of gasoline, all are to learn. No one realizes any more thoroughly than the automobile dealer that the day is past when the motor car is classed as a luxury and that the man who looks at cars long enough will be a certain purchaser in the end.

The building was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and the festive air was enhanced by the orchestra which dispensed music throughout the display. There was just enough room for all the cars to be effectively displayed without crowding and without blocking passage for the crowds of admiring motorists. Pictures of factories, charts and sketches lent force to the display of the automobiles themselves and added to the interest of the exhibit.

The first exhibit to greet the visitor's eye is that of McCall Brothers and Orth, agents for the Dodge Brothers cars. T. E. Orth is in charge of the display which includes a touring car, a roadster and one of the new closed cars.

Lloyd Weaver's agency display in charge of Harry L. Smith, includes the touring Sedan and the regular sporter of the Hudson make, and a new sport touring car of the Mitchell, Kissel and Grant Six cars are displayed by the Chenault & Wheat, Automobile Company.

The Mackey Auto company, a new center, had Humobile touring cars on display. C. A. Sabath is in charge of the exhibit.

The Overland Sales company has a varied display, with W. J. Daugherty in charge. Their exhibit includes specimens of the Willlys, Knight, and the Buick touring and the Country Club models of the Overland car.

The Ashmore Sales company, in charge of the Buick models of the Buick and the Buick models of the Buick and the Buick models of the Buick.

The Buick agency is represented by two handsome Buick models and an Oakland Six.

A big Studebaker car is exhibited by the new agent, J. E. Dunbar, J. Ansley is in charge of the display. The touring car and roadsters make up the Maxwell display of which J. W. Clasper is in charge. The Maxwell company is in charge of the display.

The Elgin Auto Sales company, one of the newer agencies here, is displaying models of the Dats, Klein and Scripps-Booth machines, with B. W. Walling in charge.

The Franklin has a handsome big model on display, with K. C. Kuhlman as exhibitor.

Chalmers models are exhibited by the local agency with H. F. Solomon, sales manager in charge of the display.

A big, Wichita truck of powerful frame is also a part of the exhibit.

The Firestone tire agency has a big variegated display, and Hund & Zihl-

GLADYS BROCKWELL AT THE EMPRESS TODAY

The consequences of a trust falsely placed, the trust of an innocent girl in the nobility of a gambler and man of the world, make the background of the story of East and West which Gladys Brockwell's latest starring vehicle for William Fox.

This Story's Title Is "Pardons Is Pardons"

It all happened down at Graham and the present spring season, which are being managed and promoted by a southern district judge and a red-hot district attorney. The story as passed by the censor, is to the following general effect: Somebody set fire to and burned a perfectly good barber shop in the Brazos town. About a year since there were several indictments. One man was sent to Huntsville. There was a strong desire on the part of the official to convict another. Testimony was lacking and the officials first described in this history, although they got into communication with him, he was willing to testify, in fact, wanted to get the whole matter off his chest and would tell the complete story of the first with names and dates.

Folks Show

"All that could have been desired," was the unanimous verdict of the merchants who entertained at the opening night of the Spring Style Show and Society Vaudeville last night at the Wichita Theater. The Automobile Show was thronged with visitors throughout the afternoon and evening, the majority of them being from out of town, and last night the theater was packed with out-of-town guests of the Merchants' Association. This opening night being designed especially for the out-of-town folks, the response to the invitation was very gratifying and sufficient to make this show, the first joint style reveal attempted by local merchants, very much of a success. Seat sales indicate that the Library Association, which is to benefit by the Wichita Falls Night tonight, will have a considerable sum in the treasury as a result of the show. A lively program from the very start, with a pantomime story of a week-end party, brought in the model parade very cleverly, and the society girls who wore the frocks of the various stores, proved themselves adepts at the art of wearing clothes and the audience was quick to show its appreciation. A number of young men, though not modeling for any store, were continually on the scene helping with the action and giving the proper "conventional" back-ground. The Style Show parade proper was interspersed with vaudeville selections. Miss Villa Jacoby, George Hodgins and Jake Avis appeared in a clever sketch, "Who's a Coward?" and Hugh Carzo, in blackface, contributed laughs all through the acts and gave a brief sketch, working in a couple of songs in the imitable Cargo style. Mrs. Ed Sanders, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh, sang "Four Butterflies" in her usual charming manner. The interpretative dances were given by Miss Ruth Simpson and Miss Berenice Martin, pupils of Mrs. E. L. Fulton, who has given her services in directing the staging of the entire spectacle to the Library Association and the Style Show committee.

The initial public appearance of the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra also added eclat to the Style Show. Organizations and individuals have given cheerfully of their time and talents, with the result that its success was assured.

The program was not entirely local talent, Billy DeYoung, comedy singer, Orpheum player, having been secured for the Style Show's two night's engagement. His work is exceptionally good.

The actual Style Show opened when the "guests," eighteen young ladies and a number of young gentlemen, began arriving at Cragmoor, where they were greeted by Miss Villa Jacoby, as hostess, assisted by Miss Ruth Simpson, Berenice Martin, Hal Adams and Helen Snider. Miss Francis Gillan made a very fetching maid, and Hugh Carzo was the porter. The guests arriving wore the newest in travelling togs and the stores displayed the many little dainty accessories that add so much charm and chic to feminine apparel for the street, for travelling or for general wear.

The two exclusive millinery stores, the Joza Dickson Millinery and the Olive A. Child Millinery, supplied the hats for the McCurkran store. Perkins-Timberlake and Jones-Kennedy hats for all occasions, morning, noon and night, were displayed. Some particularly fetching sport hats were noticed on the heads of models which came from the Child show. A large white hat, with a wide ribbon and a black tilt, was shown by the Dickson Millinery for afternoon wear. Evening hats in a variety of styles, with flowers, ribbons and feathers, were especially lovely and the street hats were no less smart and chic. The model displays were by number, each store having two models, each girl wearing four separate costumes, with the exception of some of the store who do not make a specialty of formal summer evening wear. R. J. Martin acted as "scene shifter" in the model parade. Especially dainty and alluring were the evening gowns worn by the McCurkran models. In the last act, both frocks were of gold and gold with silk tulle overdrape. French hand-made flowers trimmed the one with bands of metallic ribbon and the other dress was hand-dyed with wide satin ribbon in gold shades, the bodice hand-embroidered in rose and gold. A sport suit of green Poiret with wide parasol and big white hat, admired, as was an extremely dainty afternoon frock of white Georgette crepe and chiffon taffeta. Tailored suits, like the black and white of Bishop suits were worn in the first act.

The uses to which a parasol may be put, in addition to its strictly utilitarian purposes, was demonstrated by the sports maiden in a rose and natural striped poncee suit from the Jones-Kennedy store. The parasol and gown would have been a combination had the girl in question been less attractive, which she wasn't, and when there is a young man going to the tennis court with one a parasol might come in handy. Sports skirts had their lining also in the Jones-Kennedy showing, an exceptional striking one of black taffeta, embroidered in large circles of silver being worn with the finest of Georgette blouses. The travelling suits and afternoon gowns were attractive and the very daintiest mid-summer dance and party frocks were worn. The models were shod with Combs' foot-wear, one of the store's specialties.

The Toggery in its toggery show forgot not the importance of a hat in the makeup of Miss-Jade's costume and the two models wore hats that drew gasps of admiration from the feminine portion of the audience. One hat, worn with an afternoon frock of white and mustard crepe de chine, was trimmed in a wealth of aigrettes. Bird of paradise trimmed another striking chapeau worn with a black lace evening gown. No less attractive than the hats were the frocks, typical of the new in suits and dresses, emphasizing the demand for sport clothes in the vivid colorings and luxurious fabrics.

Row after row of gold thread which in a navy blue, cloth suit outlined the new jacket and marked the deep collar of a tailored suit shown by P. H. Pennington as of the moment's mode. The contrast in color was accentuated by the rich mustard lining of the coat. The same model showed the newest in sport frocks, a silk jersey with skirt of white and blouse of turquoise blue. Another sport dress of original lines was of rose and tan stripe. Hats to correspond with each suit or dress shown. Gage models in most instances, came from the Pennington millinery department.

Sports clothes, outing frocks, and then more sport clothes of the sort which are becoming the majority of types were given a place of prominence in the Perkins-Timberlake model parade. A white jersey, with full pleated skirt in which a delicate blue and grey stripe was noted, was worn with a white sailor hat with a novelty bag to complete the bewitching array for a summer maid on a quiet beach. In contrast to the pastel of this sport suit was a vivid but distinctly pleasing rose silk jersey, distinguished by novelty of cut, rather than an excess of trimming. Evening frocks in which tulle, metallic ribbons, flowers, laces and other "stuff" of which dreams are made, were worn in the last act.

French to a fault degree is a black and white Georgette and satin which constituted one of the Gishouse favored models. Jet beads in intricate embroideries formed a necklace. A black frock which suggested many possibilities for afternoon and informal evening wear, in sport suits an unusual model is found in a dainty and chic in the new rough silk, with tulle and collar trim of white. The hats which added no little to the attractiveness of the models were from the Gishouse party.

The patriotic petticoat is the latest in this creation designed to make the public stand at attention when displayed was worn by a Baum & Gardner model last night. The petticoat is ornamented with the Stars and Stripes and patriotism may in a large measure offer an excuse for the fashion breezes. Woolen jersey suits, hand embroidered, one a grey, the other a green, were displayed as suitable for either summer traveling or evening wear. The newer shaped high crown of hats with hemmed ribbons were featured. The barrel silhouette, received honorable mention in the Baum and Gardner display, the frock with the barrel skirt being a drab taffeta and Georgette combination. Dresden taffeta, tulle and gold lace made up an evening dress which possessed long sleeves of tulle.

Khaki kool in "heart of roses" shade, formed an attractive sport suit on one Bell Clothing company girl for "collars and cuffs were of white and long sash had tasseled ends which hung almost to the skirt hem. A white hat provided a pleasing contrast. A large jersey green and a rose and white combination were noted in sport costumes and an afternoon frock more than usually good in being made of the London made blue Georgette crepe, with beaded trimmings. With each frock or suit harmonizing hats were worn.

"Things are never so good" the poet sings and reality P. B. M. model demonstrated this in perfection. There is a spring suit in the new gold, with corresponding hat and other accessories. The model slips off the hat and presto, no suit at all but an afternoon dress, all ready for the matinee, a shopping tour or a call. This suit dress is as charming as it is practical. Another feature of the P. B. M. model show was a changeable silk motor coat, shot with the colors of a spring sunset and beautiful enough for use in any capacity a ray might be desired. The sports craze was also catered to by the frocks worn, the newest tennis-toes as well as those for those only lookers on New colors, new fabrics and the new models have a share in making the P. B. M. garments things of beauty and certainly "joys forever."

A severe shaking up and minor bruises were sustained by F. D. Standridge, a young laborer living across the river, when run down by an automobile yesterday afternoon. Officers investigating the case find that neither Standridge nor the driver of the car was to blame, the responsibility being pretty evenly divided between them. At the time of the accident Standridge had a $5 bill in his hand, which he had just borrowed for food for himself and family, while he was out of work. The bill was shaken from his hand and had blown away before it could be recovered. If the finder will return the bill to Ensign H. G. Robb of the Salvation Army, it will be turned over to the owner, who reports himself to be desperately in need of the money.

MIKE LEVINE SENTENCED; WOOL DENIED NEW TRIAL

Mike Levine, convicted on pleas of guilty in two cases of having received and concealed stolen property, in connection with store robberies at Burk Burnett and Kirkland, was sentenced today by Judge Scurry in the Seventy-eighth district court, who made the two sentences concurrent. It was shown that Levine was 56 years old, and had been used extensively as a state witness in the cases against J. Wool. Wool's motions for new trials were argued before Judge Scurry by Bernard Martin for the defendant, and John Davenport, assistant county attorney, for the state. The motions were overruled in both cases. The main point in the defendant's motion was on the inadmissibility of certain testimony in regard to other similar offenses happening near the same time, which were contended to be not sufficiently connected up with the defendant, and highly prejudicial to his receiving a fair trial.

H. H. Harper, city marshal of Gould, Oklahoma, and J. H. Morrison, stock man from near Gould, were in the city today on their way home from Fort Worth where they had been attending the Fat Stock Show.

EVEN ASHFORD SUCCUMBS TO WOMEN SPEEDERS

Police officers who have been rated for their gallantry on account of failure to file proceedings against women speeders have one on Traffic Officer Mack Ashford, who frequently made the boast that a woman speeder looked like any other kind to him. On service a summons on the owner of a car caught exceeding the limit yesterday, a woman's voice answered the telephone and explained how it happened, with the result that no prosecution was filed. "She was the only speeder I ever caught that didn't call me a liar when I told them their rate of speed, so I dropped the case," said Ashford. "Anyway, she said she wouldn't do it any more."

OFFERS TO PLEAD GUILTY, BUT STATE DELAYS CASE

After the defendant had offered a plea of guilty to burglary of a box car and had asked for a suspended sentence, the state withdrew its announcement of ready in the J. B. Hoover case yesterday afternoon in the Seventy-eighth district court, and the case will go over. John Davenport, assistant county attorney, explained that the state had announced ready under the impression that the defendant planned to plead guilty and accept sentence, but that in testifying that the door of the car was open, he was not making good on the plea. The state's witnesses had not been summoned for the trial, under the impression that the plea of guilty would be made.

THOROUGHBREDS OF AUTO FAMILY ARE ON DISPLAY

EXHIBIT OF MOTOR CARS, HELD IN CONNECTION WITH SPRING STYLE SHOW, PROVES POPULAR AND WINNING FEATURE

FOR ANNUAL AFFAIR

Dealers Want Show Held Every Year—Many Models and Makes are Exhibited and Are Viewed by Thousands of Visitors.

It has been said that a city is known by its automobiles, while there are many criteria by which a community is judged, it is certain that the number and appearance of the motor cars owned by its citizens figure very materially in the impressions which is given the stranger within the gates. And Wichita Falls, looking north from any other Texas city, if judging is to be passed upon her progress and growth according to the display she makes of her automobiles.

The best evidence of the success that is attending the Wichita Falls first automobile show is that the exhibitors are unanimous in the desire to make it an annual affair.

The thoroughbreds of the motor family are on exhibition at the show, and their display is a thing to be proud of. The display has yet another significance in that it demonstrates how big a part the automobile plays in the commerce of this city. The exhibitors cover the tops of thousands of square miles with population running well into the hundreds of thousands, are served by the agencies of this city. The Panhandle and Western Oklahoma are supplied through local dealers, whose constantly increasing business has a right to the prestige and importance of Wichita Falls. The local demand for automobiles alone would be sufficient to attract a big selling force here.

The decision to hold the show at this time is a matter of much pride with those who have labored so faithfully in the plans for the style show and automobile show that the attractions are so extensive that the exhibitors have opened Wednesday afternoon until late at night, and again today.

The building was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and the festive air was enhanced by the orchestra which was in attendance throughout the display. There was just enough room for all the cars to be effectively displayed without crowding and without blocking passage for the crowds that milled in front during the exhibition hours. Pictures of factories, charts and sketches lent force to the display of the automobiles themselves and added to the interest of the exhibit.

The first exhibit to greet the visitor's eye is that of McCall Brothers & Co., agents for the Dodge Brothers car. It is a touring car, which includes a touring car, a roadster and one of the new closed cars.

The Buick agency is represented by two handsome Buick models and an Oakland six.

A big Studebaker car is exhibited by the new agent, J. E. Dunham. It is a touring car and roadster make up the Maxwell display of which J. W. Chesley is in charge.

The Elgin Auto Sales company, of the power agencies here, is displaying models of the Daye, Elgin and Scripps-Booth machines, with P. E. Trone in charge.

The Franklin has a handsome big model on display, with K. C. Kuhlman as exhibitor.

Chalmers models are exhibited by the local agency with H. F. Solomon as manager in charge of the display.

A big Wichita truck of powerful frame is also a part of the exhibit.

The Firestone tire agency has a big variegated display, and Hund & Zihl-

THAT FIRST SWEETHEART.
We've loved many a beautiful maiden, From the blonde to the queenly brunette; There was Phyllis with lashes so shady, And Elo, the staccato singer; There were innocent schoolgirls and widows— With the latter love making's an art, But you ask for a toast, and I give you a toast to your baby sweetheart.

There was Sadie, whose lips were so saucy, And Marie, whom you met on the beach, And the parasol girl dearest Flossie, And Irene, who liked to sit and teach; There were some who liked moonlight and dancing— What a madness a kiss could impart! But you ask for a toast, and I give you The first kiss of your baby sweetheart.

It was long, long ago that you met her, In the blur of the pink cherry trees; But somehow you can't forget her— Little girl of the bramble-scratched knees; Sometimes now in your dreams and your fancies, She comes stealing with red lips apart; Down the long lane, o'er Memory's byways— Your 6-year-old baby sweetheart, Paul T. Gilbert.

NEW IDEA CLUB MEETS WEDNESDAY
With Mrs. G. E. Friberg as hostess, the New Idea Club spent Wednesday afternoon in pleasant meeting. This club meeting also took on the nature of the first birthday party of little Miss Marie Dillard, who was delighted with the attention paid by the grown-ups. A brief business session was held and Miss Emily Winkler elected to membership to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. C. P. Schubert's resignation. The hostess, assisted by her daughters, Misses Estelle, Nettie and Edmonette, served a tempting two course luncheon. Irish effect was the menu, with green as the favored color. The sandwiches were tied with green ribbon and ornamented with shamrocks, with pickles, potato chips, green and white salad, hot coffee, peaches and whipped cream and wafers. Mrs. Roscoe Kendrick, Mrs. J. B. Dillard and daughter, and Miss J. B.

ST. PATRICK'S MEETING OF ART LITERATURE CLUB

Irish literature formed the subject of the Art Literature Club program Wednesday, a typically St. Patrick's Day observance being held with Mrs. H. C. Dakan as hostess. The meeting also possessed another interest, that of a gift shower to honor Mrs. Bert St. Clair, a club bride of a few weeks. Roll call was responded to with Irish stories and under leadership of Mrs. Dakan the Bayview course on Irish literature was taken up. Mrs. Beatty gave a paper on the Danish West Indies, and Mrs. Blankenship told of "Texas Under Six Flags." Miss Phillips read an interesting paper on Lady Randolph Churchill and the program was supplemented by Irish musical numbers on the Sonora. With the social hour came the shower presentation to the bride honoree, Miss Phillips making the presentation in original manner, suggesting that it was time to "honor St. Clair after having said so much about St. Patrick." The gifts were numerous and very dainty. In the refreshment course the hostess employed an effective color motif of green and gold. Mrs. G. W. Eagle, mother of the hostess, was club guest, members present being: Misses Davis, Phillips, Moore, and Kerr; Mesdames Gebhart, Pressley, St. Clair, Rountree, Beatty, Wingo, Hall, DeBerry, Blankenship, Womack and Dekan.

FRONTIER—Business Office 1071 Editorial Room 1071

Wichita Falls, Texas, March 15, 1917

China has been regarded as the gloom among nations. Every other nation has imposed upon China and every other people impose on the Chinese. But there are signs that China is awakening. China has not only severed diplomatic relations with Germany, but has gone a step further even than the United States, and has seized German ships in Chinese harbors. China hasn't let grass grow under her feet and has acted with a decision and promptness that forms a striking contrast with some other neutrals. If China is prepared to go as far as she can in this matter with Germany, she will win respect among the civilized nations.

It has been only a few years since most residence grounds in Wichita Falls were conspicuous for their bareness and ugliness. Wichita Falls women—the women ought to have the credit—with aesthetic aspiration, and industry, have, with the aid of very efficient water service, transformed this ugliness into places of delight and beauty. Wichita Falls is becoming known as a city of roses and flowers and beautiful lawns, surpassing many cities in this respect whose natural advantages are immeasurably greater. After the first good rains, Nature will have a Style Show in Wichita Falls that will be one of surpassing beauty.

Wooden ships are again to be built in large numbers in this country. The submarine menace is responsible for the revival of the wooden ship. The situation calls for the immediate building of a big fleet of small merchantmen in this country. The need cannot be supplied by steel shipbuilders alone. Steel also is needed for many other things. The builders of wooden ships have been called upon in the emergency. Their yards are capable of expansion and they can soon be turning out stout and seaworthy vessels in large numbers. In the days before the supremacy of the steel ships, the shipyards along the New England coast were the busiest places in the world. The American merchant marine swarmed the seven seas and the American sailor was without an equal in the world. The revival of the wooden ship, let us hope, means the revival of the American merchant marine.

The display of beautiful garments, and the large and varied stocks of Wichita Falls merchants which are opened to the view of the public this Style Show Week, will suggest to many the contrast of a few years back. Wichita Falls merchants then were abreast of the town, but their stocks were meager and poor, indeed, in comparison with the showing of today. Then there was fear of Fort Worth or Dallas capturing the retail trade of Wichita Falls. Now, nobody must go to these larger cities for the latest and best in clothing. They can find it right here in Wichita Falls. Wichita Falls has progressed wonderfully as a retail trade center within the past few years. Instead of Wichita Falls folks going out of town to buy their clothes, we now find people for miles around, who formerly went to Dallas and Fort Worth, coming to Wichita Falls. Merchants of Wichita Falls have lived up to their opportunities. They have enlarged their stocks and added new lines, even before customers were in sight. They are making Wichita Falls a great retail center, just as others are making it a wholesale and manufacturing center. In rendering praises for good work for Wichita Falls, we should not forget Wichita Falls merchants.

Revelations of the past few days show that the German influence in Mexico is much stronger than had been suspected. While the United States has been busy on the border and England has been engrossed across the Atlantic, German diplomacy has been busy and has about grabbed possession of the Mexican government. There are more Germans than other nationals in Mexico, and the number is being constantly added to by those who are leaving the United States. These Germans have backing, financial and otherwise, of the Imperial government, and at a time when Mexico is so desperately in need of money the lure of financial assistance is hard to resist. The Germans, too, no doubt, are making capital out of the enemy that the Mexicans feel toward the United States. German agents can be depended upon to take advantage of every recourse to further the interests of the Imperial government. The disclosure of the Zimmerman note was a shock to Americans. Instead of the beginning of efforts to alienate Mexico and get her into active warfare with the United States, the Zimmerman note now appears to have been the final instructions for binding a pact that, while it had not been given definite form, had been brought to a point where the Imperial government was satisfied, from the reports of its agents, that what was a feeling and understanding was ready to be put into words and deeds.

GLADYS BROCKWELL AT THE EMPRESS TODAY.

The consequences of a trust falsely placed, the trust of an innocent girl in the nobility of a gambler and man of the world, make the background of the story of East and West which forms Gladys Brockwell's latest starring vehicle for William Fox. The picture is "One Touch of Sin," a vigorous story of a woman who pays the price in shame and sorrow, showing at the Empress today.

Miss Brockwell portrays Mary Livingston, who is deeply in love with the gambler, Richard Mallaby, (Jack Standing) When he decides to go West, in an effort to conquer his evil ways, he leaves Mary and her baby in the East. His detestable explanation to her is lost in the mails.

Later, Mary, broken-hearted by what she thinks is Richard's desertion, goes West herself, she accepts the place of dancer in a saloon, only to meet Mallaby and find that, far from overcoming his evil habits, he is worse than ever.

One man in the rough frontier village has been kind to Mary. When he dies and leaves his little boy in the woman's care, she sees but one way to provide for him. She steals money and is caught. When Watt Tabor, (Willard Louis) hears her story, shoulders the blame himself, marries her and free her from the danker of a term in jail.

The beginning a series of encounters between Mallaby and Tabor, in which the first lover tries to recover the girl whom he considers his own property.

At the head of the charming ladies who help to make this story over, is his wife, Flora Parker de Haven, who has been the star of several Fed Feather features, both with her husband and by herself. The combination of both these stars in a two-reel program picture is very unusual. Supporting them are Eileen Sedgwick, who is used to seeing her name at the head of a cast under the direction of Allen Curtis, Jessie Arnold, who has had many important roles, and M. K. Wilson, a producer by his own right, who has played the lead in many films. This remarkable cast works together in perfect harmony in an excellent story of the fluctuating fortunes of a young gambler.

The well of Smith & Chapman, not far from the Gulf test, had a showing at about 29 feet, but did not test it.

Water continues to hamper Archer operations very materially. The Archer Oil company, north of the Panther, has started its well, but lack of water has caused it to go very slowly, and Panther No. now about 500 feet down, has been delayed for the same reason.

"All that could have been desired" was the unanimous verdict of the merchants who entertained at the opening night of the Spring Style Show and Society Vaudeville last night at the Wichita Theater. The Automobile Show was thronged with visitors throughout the afternoon and evening, the majority of them being from out of town, and last night the theater was packed with out-of-town guests of the Merchants' Association.

This opening night being designed especially for the out-of-town folks, the response to the invitation was very gratifying and sufficient to make this show, the first joint style revue attempted by local merchants, very much of a success. Seat sales indicate that the Wichita Association, which is to benefit by the Wichita Falls Night tonight, will have a considerable sum in the treasury as a result of the show.

A lively program from the very start, with a pantomime story of a week-end party, brought in the model parade very cleverly, and the society girls who wore the frocks of the various stores, proved themselves adept at the art of wearing clothes and the audience was quick to show their appreciation. A number of young men, though not modeling for any store, were continually on the scene helping with the action and giving the proper "conventional black" background. The Style Show parade proper was interspersed with vaudeville selections. Miss Villa Jacoby, George Hodgins and Jake Avis appeared in a clever sketch, "Who's a Coward?" and Hugh Carzo, in blackface, contributed laughs all through the acts and gave a brief sketch, working in a couple of songs in the inimitable Cargo style. Mrs. Ed Sanders, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh, sang "Poor Butterfly" in her usual charming manner. The interpretative dances were given by Miss Ruth Simpson and Little Miss Berenice Martin, pupils of Mrs. E. L. Fulton, who has given her services in directing the staging of the entire spectacle to the Library Association and the Style Show committee.

The initial public appearance of the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra also added to the Style Show organizations and individuals have given cheerfully of their time and talents, with the result that its success was assured.

The program was not entirely local talent. Billy DeYoung, comedy singer, Orpheum player, having been secured for the Style Show's two night's engagement. His work is exceptionally good.

The actual Style Show opened when the "guests," eighteen young ladies and a number of young gentlemen, began arriving at Crankmoor, where they were greeted by Miss Villa Jacoby, as hostess, assisted by Misses Ruth Simpson, Berenice Martin, Hal-he Adams and Helen Snider. Miss Frances Shon made a very fetching maid, and Hugh Carzo was the porter. The guests arriving wore the newest in traveling togs and the stores displayed the many little dainty accessories that add so much charm and chic to feminine apparel for the street, for traveling or for general wear.

The two exclusive millinery stores, the Joza Jackson Millinery and the Olive A. Child Millinery, supplied the hats for the McClurken store, Perkins-Timberlake and Jones-Kennedy. Hats for all occasions, morning, noon and night were displayed. Some particularly fetching sport hats were placed on the heads of models which came from the Child shop. A large white hat, wine-trimmed and of model hat ilk, was shown by the Dickson Millinery for afternoon wear. Evening hats in airy lace and ribbon effects, flower-trimmed, were especially lovely and the street hats were no less smart and chic.

The model displays were, by number, each store having two models, each girl wearing four separate costumes, with the exception of some of the store who do not make a specialty of formal summer evening wear. R. J. Martin acted as "scene shifter" in the model parade.

Especially dainty and alluring were the evening gowns worn by the McClurken models, in the last act. The frocks were built on cloth of gold with silk tulle overdrapes. French hand-made flowers trimmed the one with bands of metallic ribbon and the other dress was banded with wide satin ribbon in gold shades, the bodice hand-embroidered in rose and gold. A sport suit of green tulle, twill, with parasol and bag was much admired, as was an extremely dainty afternoon frock of white Georgette crepe and chiffon taffeta. Tailored suits from the McClurken line of Bishop suits were worn in the first act.

The uses to which a parasol may be put, in addition to its strictly utilitarian purposes, was demonstrated by the sports maiden in a rose and natural striped long-sleeved suit from the Jones-Kennedy store. The parasol and gown would have been a temptation had the girl in question been less attractive, which she wasn't, and when there is a young man going to the tennis court with one a parasol might come in handy. Sports skirts had their lining also in the Jones-Kennedy showing, an exceptionally striking one of black taffeta, embroidered in large circles of silver being worn with the finest of Georgette houses. The traveling suits and afternoon gowns were attractive and the very daintiest mid-summer dance and party frocks were worn. The models were accompanied by the foot wear, one of the store's specialties.

The Toggery in its toggery show forgot not the importance of a hat in the making of a lady's costume and the two models wore hats that drew gasps of admiration from the feminine portion of the audience. One hat, worn with an afternoon frock, was white and mustard crepe de chine, was trimmed in a wealth of aigrettes. The other, a sport dress, was a striking chapeau worn with a black lace evening gown. No less attractive than the hats were the frocks. A call of the new in suits and dresses, emphasizing the demand for sport clothes in the vivid colorings and luxurious fabrics.

Row after row of gold thread stitching on a navy blue cloth suit outlined the new jackets, which marked the deep collar of a tailored suit shown by P. H. Pennington as of the moment's mode. The contrast in color was accentuated by the rich mustard lining of the coat. The same model showed the newest in sport frocks, a silk jersey with skirt of white and blue and a white blouse. Another sport dress of original lines was of rose and tan stripe. Hats corresponded with each suit or dress shown. The models in most instances came from the Pennington millinery department.

Sports clothes, outing frocks, and then more sport clothes of the sort which are becoming a place of prominence in the Perkins-Timberlake model parade. A white jersey with full pleated skirt in which a delicate Paisley stripe was noted, was worn with a white sailor hat with a novelty hat to complete the bewitching array for a summer maid on conquest bent. In contrast to the pastel of this sport suit was a vivid but distinctly pleasing rose silk jersey, distinguished by a touch of red, rather than an excess of trimming. Evening frocks in which tulle, metallic ribbons, flowers, laces and other "stuff of which dreams are made" were worn in the last act.

French to a final decree is a black and white Georgette applique which constituted one of the Gibsonian favor-cord models. The dress, with intricate broderies formed the trimmings of the frock which suggested many possibilities for afternoon and informal evening wear. In the last act a white model is found in a dainty purple in the new rough silk, with facings and collar trim of white. The hat, which added no little to the attractiveness of the models were from the Gibsonian patterns.

The patriotic petticoat is the latest in dress creation designed to make the public stand at attention when displayed was worn by a Baum & Gardner model last night. The petticoat is ornamented with the Stars and Stripes and patriotism may in a large measure offer an excuse for the Panhandle breezes. Woolen jersey suits, hand embroidered, one a grey, the other a green, were displayed as suitable for either summer traveling or sports wear. The newer shaped high crowned hats with hemmipointed motifs were featured. The barrel silhouettes of the Baum and Gardner display, the frock with the barrel skirt being a drab taffeta and Georgette combination. Dresden taffeta, tulle and gold lace made up an evening dress which possessed long sleeves of tulle.

Khaki kool in "heart of roses" shade, formed an attractive sport dress, shown on one Bell Clothing company model. Collars and cuffs were of white and long sash had tasseled ends which hung almost to the skirt hem. A white hat provided a pleasing contrast. Khaki green and a rose and white combination were noted in sport costumes, and an afternoon frock of Dresden taffeta, tulle and gold lace was of London smoke blue/Georgette crepe, with beaded trimmings. With each frock or suit, harmonizing hats were worn.

"Things are not what they seem" the poet sings and a dainty P. B. M. model demonstrated this to perfection. There is a spring suit in the new gold, with corresponding hat and other accessories. The model slips off the coat and presto, no suit at all but an afternoon dress, all ready for the market, a shopping tour or a call. This suit dress is as charming as it is practical. Another feature of the P. B. M. model show was a changeable silk morning coat, shot with the colors of a spring sunset and beautiful enough for use in any capacity a coat might be desired. The sports craze was also evidenced by the frocks worn, the newest tennis togs as well as those for those only lookers on New colors, new fabrics and the new models have a share in making the P. B. M. garments things of beauty and certainly "joy forever."

The models for the different stores were: W. B. McClurken & Co., Miss Mary Orth, Miss Annette Addickses, Jones-Kennedy Co., Mrs. D. A. Burkett, Miss Genevieve Carver, Colonna Toggery Show, Miss Agnes Reid, Miss Mary M. M. Priddy, P. H. Pennington Co., Mrs. C. E. IS STRUCK BY AUTO AND ALSO LOSES MONEY A severe shaking up and minor bruises were sustained by F. D. Standridge, a young laborer living across the river, when run down by an auto mobile yesterday afternoon. Officers investigating the case find that neither Standridge nor the driver of the car was to blame, the responsibility being pretty evenly divided between them. At the time of the accident Standridge had a $5 bill in his hand, which he had just borrowed for food for himself and family, while he was out of work. The bill was shaken from his hand and had blown away before it could be recovered. If the finder will return the bill to Ensign H. G. Robb of the Salvation Army, it will be turned over to the owner, who reports himself to be desperately in need of the money.

MIKE LEVINE SENTENCED; WOOL DENIED NEW TRIAL

Mike Levine, convicted on pleas of guilty in two cases of having received and concealed stolen property, in connection with store robberies at Burk Burnett and Kirkland, was sentenced today by Judge Scoury in the Seventy-eighth district court, who made the two sentences concurrent. It was shown that Levine was 55 years old, and had been used extensively as a state's witness in the cases against J. Wool. Wool's motions for new trials were argued before Judge Scoury by Bernard Martin for the defendant, and John Davenport, assistant county attorney, for the state. The motions were overruled in both cases. The main point in the defendant's motion was on the inadmissibility of certain testimony in regard to other similar offenses happening near the same time, which were contended to be not sufficiently connected with the defendant, and highly prejudicial to his receiving a fair trial.

L. H. Harper, city marshal of Gould, Oklahoma, and J. H. Mortan, stock man from near Gould, were in the city today on their way home from Fort Worth where they had been attending the Fat Stock Show.

EVEN ASHFORD SUCCUMBS TO WOMEN SPEEDERS

Police officers who have been rated for their gallantry on account of failure to file proceedings against women speeders have one on Traffic Officer Mack Ashford, who frequently made the boast that a woman speeder looked like any other kind to him. On serving a summons on the owner of a car caught exceeding the limit yesterday, a woman's voice answered the telephone and explained how it happened, with the result that no prosecution was filed. "She was the only speeder I ever caught that didn't call me a liar when I told them their rate of speed, so I dropped the case," said Ashford. "Anyway, she said she wouldn't do it any more."

OFFERS TO PLEAD GUILTY, BUT STATE DELAYS CASE

After the defendant had entered a plea of guilty to burglary of a box car and had asked for a suspended sentence, the state withdrew its announcement of ready in the J. B. Hoover case yesterday afternoon in the Seventy-eighth district court, and the case will go over. John Davenport, assistant county attorney, explained that the state had announced ready under the impression that the defendant planned to plead guilty and accept sentence, but that in testifying that the door of the car was open, he was not making good on the plea. The state's witnesses had not been summoned for the trial, under the impression that the plea of guilty would be made.
