WAR RESOLUTION MEETS DELAY IN BOTH HOUSES; COMES UP TOMORROW

4 BLOCKS SWEEP BY FLAMES TODAY CAUSING PROBABLY $140,000 LOSS

Senate Committee Acts Promptly But La Follette Blocks Consideration— House Committee Waits

By Associated Press—

Washington, April 3—Consideration of the war resolution in the Senate was forced over until tomorrow by objections of Senator La Follette, and in the house it was delayed by lack of organization of the foreign affairs committee. It is expected to come up for action in both houses tomorrow.

Meantime, President Wilson and the cabinet discussed all phases of preparations for the entrance of the United States into the war, and administration leaders in Congress began laying plans for raising money, most of it as the president suggested by a system of taxation on the present generation.

The universal military service bill was formally launched in the Senate. Soon after the Senate adjourned as the climax of a stormy scene which arose over the LaFollette's objection. The House also adjourned. Both the House and the Senate meet tomorrow, the House at noon and the Senate at 10 a. m.

The Senate foreign relations committee today approved the administration resolution declaring a state of war exists with Germany in practically the same form as it was introduced last night in both Houses. Changes were made in the wording but the effect remains the same.

The vote was unanimous except for Chairman Stone and Senator Borah of Idaho, who were absent.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who will handle the resolution on the floor went immediately to the House foreign affairs committee to show it the changes the Senate committee had made in order to have it put before both Houses in the same form. He will report the resolution to the Senate today and an effort will be made to put it through as soon as possible.

Senators of the committee at once began to round up support of the plan from their own party and also the republicans. Leaders declared they did not expect to use the cloture rule adopted by the Senate at the last session to prevent a filibuster and were hopeful that by holding continuous sessions beginning tomorrow they could reach a vote on the resolution Friday.

Senator Hitchcock for the Senate foreign relations committee asked unanimous consent in the Senate for its immediate consideration. Senator LaFollette objected, and it went over for consideration under the rules, for one day.

The resolution as approved by the Senate committee is as follows:

"Whereas, the imperial German government has committed repeated acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America, therefore be it

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the state of war between the United States and the Imperial German government, which has just been thrust upon the United States is hereby formally declared, and that the president be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government to carry on war against the imperial German government, and to bring the conflict to a successful termination, all of the resources of the country are hereby pledged by the Congress of the United States."

Chairman Stone, who voted against the resolution, said he would not make a minority report but expected to speak on the resolution.

Wilson's Request. Specifically, the president, in his address last night, asked Congress to declare the recent course of the German government to have been one of war against the United States of America, and the people of the United States and that this nation accept the status of belligerent which had been forced upon it.

Congress acting for the American people, today took steps toward enabling the nation, as the president expressed it, "to exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the government of the German empire to terms and end the war."

Indefinite As to Army. The president in his address did not make it clear exactly how he expected an army of 500,000 men, which he proposes, is to be raised, except to say it should be "upon the principal of universal liability to service." Two general staff and the other by Senator Chamberlain. Whether either will be used as the grade work for the conscription is a big question is unknown. It is assumed that the president will authorize an increase in both the Nation of December 12, but that he had added to that offer the provision of a conference during hostilities, provided a new angle.

Officials felt, however, that the time for such a conference absolutely had passed. The view is being adopted here that no negotiations can be begun until Germany has laid down a general statement of good faith.

The president spoke last night as follows: "I have called the Congress into extraordinary session because there are serious choices before us. Policy to be made and made immediately which it was neither right nor constitutionally permissible that I should assume the responsibility of making."

"On the third of February last I officially laid before you the extraordinary announcement of the imperial German government that on and after the first day of February it was its purpose to put aside all restraints of law or of humanity and use its submarines to sink without warning any merchant ships of Great Britain or Ireland or the western coasts of Europe or any ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean."

"That had seemed to be the object of the German submarine warfare earlier in the war, but now every last year the imperial government had somewhat restricted the command of its submarines and in conformity with its promise that it would not sink without warning any merchant ships of Great Britain or Ireland or the western coasts of Europe or any ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean."

"The precautions taken were meager and haphazard enough, as was proved in distressing instances after instances, that the lives of men and unmanly business, but a certain degree of restraint was observed."

Extent of German Ruthlessness. "The new policy has swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been sunk, and the crews without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents, carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct passes, and the merchant ships of the German government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or principle."

"I was for a little while unable to believe that such things would, in fact, be done by any government that had hitherto subscribed to the humane practices of civilized nations. International law had its origin in the attempt to set up some law which would be respected and observed upon the seas where no nation had right of dominion and where lay the free highways of the world. By painful steps, stage after stage, that law has been built up with meager enough results, indeed after all was accomplished that could be accomplished but at ways with a clear view at least of what the heart and conscience of mankind demanded."

"The minimum of right, the German government has swept aside under the plea of retaliation and necessity, and because it had no weapons which it could use as a sea except those which it is impossible to employ as it is employing them, without throwing to the winds all scruples of humanity or of respect for the understandings that were supposed to underlie the intercourse of the world."

"I am not now thinking of the loss of the property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women and children engaged in pursuits which have always even in the darkest

TOTAL FIGHTING FORCE OF 1,200,000 PLANNED

Regulars, Guardsmen and Volunteers To That Number May be Asked

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 3.—The definite plans of the war department are waiting to go forward to Congress when it is ready to receive them. President Wilson gave a clear view of the immediate steps to be urged in his address but until the department's plan has been submitted details are regarded as confidential.

The first element of the plan, the president has already disclosed.

It is the assemblage of 500,000 men under a universal service system, and in addition to the regular army and National Guard, which would prove a total war strength of 1,200,000 men.

Army officers believe that 500,000 is the maximum number they can undertake to train at once. When the work has proceeded for a few months, however, an additional 500,000 would be called out to be followed at intervals of a few months by other similar increments.

General staff officials have consistently urged that a minimum of 3,000,000 trained and equipped men should be provided for national defense.

periods of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for the lives of peaceful and innocent cannot be.

Armed Neutrality Impracticable. "The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind. It is a warfare against all nations. American ships have been sunk; American lives taken in ways which it has stirred us very right to learn of, but the ships and people of other neutral and friendly nations have been sunk and overwhelmed in the waters in the same way. There has been no discrimination."

"The challenge is to all mankind. Each nation must decide for itself how it will meet it. The choice we make for ourselves must be made with a moderation of counsel and a temperateness of judgment befitting our position as a free people. We must put away our motive will not be revenge or the victorious assertion of the physical might of the nation, but only the vindication of right of human rights which we are only a single champion."

"When I addressed the Congress on the 26th of February last, I thought it would suffice to assert our neutral right with arms, our right to use the seas against unlawful interference, and our right to defend ourselves against unlawful violence. But armed neutrality, it now appears, is impracticable. Submarines are by effective means when used as the German submarines have been used against merchant shipping, it is impossible to defend ships against their attacks, as the light of our own intention. They themselves against privateers or cruisers, visible craft giving chase on the open sea."

"It is common prudence in such circumstances, grim necessity indeed, to endeavor to destroy them before they treat us as they would treat us. We must deal with them as they deal with us. The German nation denies the right of neutrals to use arms at all, and has proscribed, even in the defense of rights which no modern publicist has ever before questioned their right to defend."

Favors Taking Active Part. "The intimation is conveyed that the armed guards which we have placed on our merchant ships will be treated as belligerents. The committee subject to be dealt with as pirates would be. Armed neutrality is impracticable enough at best; in such circumstances and in the face of such pretensions it is worse than ineffective. It is likely once to produce what it was meant to prevent; it is practically certain to draw us into the war without either the rights or the effectiveness of belligerents."

"There is one choice we cannot make, we are incapable of making. We will not choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored or violated. The wrongs against which we now array ourselves are not common wrongs; they cut to the very roots of human life."

"With a profound sense of the solemn and historic character of the step I am taking and of the grave responsibilities which it involves, but with unhesitating obedience to what I deem my constitutional duty, and with the assurance that Congress on the 3rd of February and on the 26th of February."

Recalls Peace Efforts. "While we do these things, these deeply momentous things, let us be very clear and make very clear to all the world what our motives and our objects are. My own thought has not been driven from its habitual and normal course by the unhappy events of the last two months, and I do not believe that the thought of the nation has been altered or clouded by them. I have exactly the same things in mind now that I had in mind when I addressed the senate on the 22nd of January last; the same that I had in mind when I addressed the Congress on the 3rd of February and on the 26th of February."

DELAYED BY FIRE

This afternoon's fire, which necessitated cutting off of electric current, caused a delay in the issuance of this edition of The Times, and also entailed the omission of several items.

FIRE BURNS ITSELF OUT

VAIN EFFORTS TO CHECK LOSS PROBABLY HEAVIEST IN CITY'S HISTORY—STIFF BREEZE IS FACTOR.

ESTIMATE OF THE LOSSES

Cameron Lumber Yard	$ 35,000
Kemp-Kell-Huff Bldg	20,000
K-K-H Bldg. Contents	20,000
Candy Factory Bldg.	20,000
Overland Warehouse	7,500
Mayfield Lumber Yard	7,500
Other Bldgs. and Contents	25,000
Total Estimate	$140,000
Unofficial figures indicate $50,000 to $60,000 insurance.

Two lumber yards, three warehouses, five wagon-yards, six dwellings and a half a dozen other structures in the portion of the city between Seventh and Indiana across four blocks to the corner of Third and Ohio, were destroyed by fire, which, starting at two o'clock this afternoon in the alley between Scott and Indiana, near Seventh, swept furiously north before a stiff southerly wind, until the railroad embankment and yards barred its further progress.

Estimates of the damage range from $125,000 to $175,000, the wide range being due to lack of complete information as to the contents of the buildings destroyed.

The Mayfield Lumber Yard, the Cameron Lumber Yard, the new Kemp-Kell-Huff building at Sixth and Indiana, the Overland warehouse at Fourth and Ohio, make up the principal items in the list of losses.

In the Kemp-Kell-Huff building, it is reported that a large amount of dry goods was stored, also that half a dozen automobiles which could not be gotten out of the Wichita Garage, had been destroyed.

The flames started in a small shed back of 609 Scott and are said to have been caused by small boys smoking cigarettes. Soon after they had been ordered away by J. H. Patton, who kept his car in the shed, the flames were noticed. Almost instantly the shed of the Mayfield Lumber yard, just across the alley, were ablaze, and the wind fanned the flames until the center of that block was a seething furnace, difficult of access to the firemen, and feeding upon the dry timbers that formed the sheds until the warehouse and garage building on the corner was reached. This building, replacing one destroyed last summer, had only recently been completed, and some of the prospective tenants had not yet started business there. The Wichita Garage had a number of cars, belonging both to agencies and individuals, and while hurried efforts to get these out resulted in the saving of many, it is understood that a number of machines were destroyed.

It seemed at first that the new row of brick buildings fronting on Seventh street, directly back of which the fire was raging, would catch, but the stiff wind carried the flames away from these, after occupants had begun to remove contents. They were not damaged.

Before it was realized that the first block was entirely doomed, the Cameron lumber yard, a block and a half away, had caught fire from the sparks of burning lumber that the wind drove upon it. The huge piles of lumber there were soon ablaze and the firemen were forced to transfer their activities to the next square. Curiously enough, some of the structures directly on a line between the Cameron yard and the start of the fire, were not ignited.

That portion of the city was the site of seven wagon yards, and five of these were destroyed. A large amount of feed was lost, but all animals and vehicles were removed to safety in time.

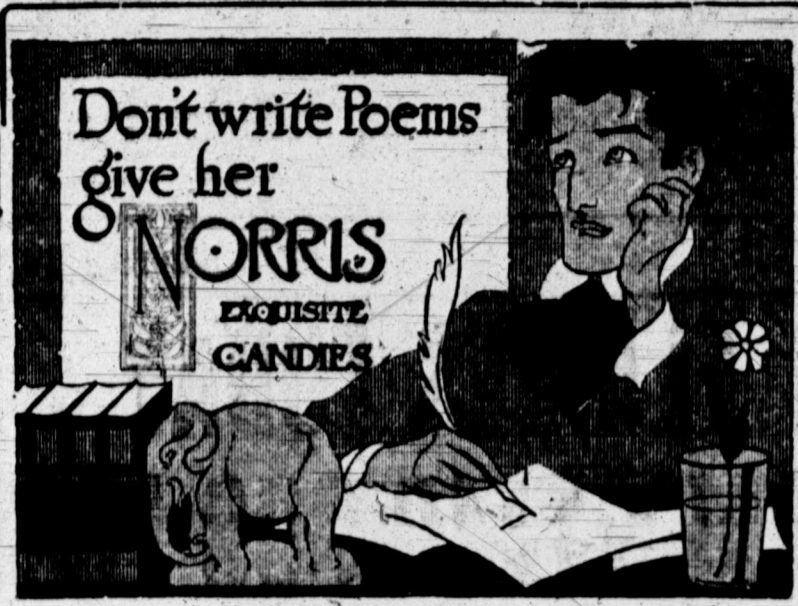

From the Cameron yard, the flames continued northward, and sparks and embers soon ignited the Overland warehouse and the old Crescent building, the latter used now as a warehouse. Both structures were gutted by the flames, and a row of six small cottages just north of the Overland warehouse was swept, clean by the flames. The occupants had taken advantage of their hour's warning to remove all the contents, and their individual losses were small.

The wind carried sparks across the railroad yards and soon trash piles and refuse were in flames, but all such places were extinguished and no residences were permitted to ignite. By four o'clock the fire had literally burned itself out, though there was still plenty for the firemen to do at that hour.

No cars were lost in the Overland warehouse, the machines being removed when it was seen that the building was threatened. The Coca-Cola bottling plant, directly in the path of the flames, was spared; it is of stone, with fire-proof roofing, and that saved it.

No one was injured, and so far as could be learned, there were no accidents. While insurance figures were not available this afternoon, it is believed that not more than half of the loss is covered by policies. If the higher estimates of the loss are verified, it has been the most disastrous fire in the city's history. It is believed that $100,000 will cover all the losses. Fanned by a breeze at times mounting to a velocity sufficient to blow a man off his feet, the fire quickly swept north until stopped by the railroad across Ohio, burning itself out at the intersection with Fourth street. Everything in the fire was laid waste, the flames reaching out here and there to lick up a building which was apparently out of the track. The change of the wind from the west to the southwest and east can be traced in the changed direction of the fire from time to time. The flames quickly leaped across the alley from the point of origin and ignited the yard of the Mayfield Lumber Company despite desperate efforts to bring it under control. Sweeping burning on Indiana, from Seventh, it took the new buildings just erected by Kemp, Kell and C. Huff, on the site of the McFall Garage and Storage Company, which burned last July. Crossing Sixth street, the McFall Transfer Company's barn was taken by the flames, and the block cleared to Fifth street. The conflagration did not cross Indiana until it had passed the middle of the block, when it reached across and took the Wichita Falls Horse and Mule Barn and the wagon yard in connection. In the meantime the blaze had leaped a block and a half to the Cameron Lumber Yard, burning on through from there to Ohio in one direction, and to Third in the other. The old Crescent Candy Company building, after being apparently passed up by the fire, went up in a back fire, which for a time threatened to reach back to the business district. It was at this place that an effort was made to check the fire by use of dynamite, a charge of three sticks being placed in the Palace blacksmith shop by T. R. T. Orth. The explosion of the charge did not check the building, as anticipated, and another attempt was made, three sticks being thrown in at a window, but falling back and exploding on the sidewalk. The flames taking the candy factory, made a nearer approach impossible. The fire was checked here by a party of firemen and volunteers passing a stream from the roof of the building occupied by the Hall Produce Company, adjoining the blacksmith shop. Through it all the building on the Coca-Cola bottling plant stood up, not being damaged. This building was of stone construction and roofed with incombustible materials, graphically demonstrating the value of non-combustible roof. The storage warehouse of the Overland Sales Company, standing at the corner of Fifth and Ohio, from which the automobiles had been removed in a cloud of dense smoke from the rapidly approaching fire, stood for more than an hour without getting, although surrounded by blazing structures. The fire at one time leaped this building and took the row of houses on the other side to Fourth street, and although one of these houses was almost against the building, it escaped the fire. The warehouse had a wooden frame, but was roofed and weatherboarded with galvanized iron. Flying sparks finally entered by one of the open doors and ignited the wooden interior, taking the building in spite of determined opposition from the fire fighters.

From the very outbreak of the fire until it had or the most part burned itself out more than two hours later, the firemen, aided by the police and scores of volunteer hands, their faces scorched by heat and blackened and blinded by the smoke, put up a desperate fight against hopeless odds. Every foot of hose and every piece of apparatus was put in use in an effort to check the flames, but the fire, foot by foot, the fighters hung on until the fire had burned out from lack of further material in its path.

Although the railroad company moved the cars from the yards across Ohio from the burned area, the fire did not seriously threaten to cross that street but once, when the grass across the yards was ignited and for a time it was thought would spread to the gasoline storage station of the Pierce-Purdice Oil Company. Several thousand people, men, women and children, watched the progress of the fire, joining the fight here and there and lending a hand to the firemen, others simply watching the progress of the fire with expressions varying from the tragic to the ridiculous. To the direction of the wind can Wichita Falls or its being saved. Had the wind been from the north or east, or from the northeast, it is probable that this city would have suffered a repetition of the Paris conflagration of last April.

TRAINING-CAMP FOR HIGH SCHOOL BOYS PLANNED

By Associated Press. Culver, Ind., April 3.—Special courses for boys who have attended high schools which have adopted military training will be offered in the camp of military instruction for high school boys to be conducted at Culver, Indiana, May 7 to 21. Plans are being made to accommodate 500 young men and it is expected the majority will come from high schools which have military training.

The first of the Culver Camps was held in 1915. It was attended by about 200 persons from various parts of the state. Last year 500 boys from eight states of the middle west received military instruction at the camp. One battalion came from Illinois, one company being composed of Chicago boys, two companies were from Indiana, one from Ohio, and another company was called the "All States" company. It is planned this year to give special instruction to boys who will be company or squad leaders in their home high schools. The routine work will cover ordinary drill in closed and extended order and will carry these to practical exercises in the field. Camp selection, sanitation, rifle shooting, first aid, and trench digging are included in the course. In general the work will cover that prescribed for junior units of the Reserve Officers training corps.

OVER 3000 SEE DETROIT TAKE MONDAY'S GAME

TIGERS LAND HARD ON GIANT PITCHERS AND WIN EASILY. MANY FIELDING FEATURES HOLD INTEREST OF CROWD.

EX-DRILLER IN GAME

Nicholson, Once in Local Line-Up, With Tigers—Ty Cobb Falls to Take Part, Despite Crowd's Insistence, Giants' Rally Comes Too Late.

Shivering from the chill of a breeze off the lake, more than 3,000 Wichitans, Oklahomans and Northwest Texans at Lake Jettie yesterday afternoon saw the Cobles Tigers bat Benton's cypress almost at will—and win from the New York Giants 8 to 6. This win evened the series for Detroit, the tally now standing two games all. The wildness and ineffectiveness of Benton, who allowed eight hits, issued four passes and hit one batsman in five innings enabling the Bengals to pile up a lead of seven tallies, prevented the game from assuming more than a mildly interesting aspect at any time, even in the ninth canto when a rally on the part of the McGrawians, lead by a smashing triple to left by Thorpe, netted the New York club three tallies and threatened to tie the count.

Aside from the game however, the individual work of the players on each club maintained the crowd's interest throughout. Hardly an infielder or an outfielder on either club who did not contribute his quota to the number of spectacular plays with which the game abounded. Thrills aplenty were furnished by such plays as Burns' left of home in the fifth, Thorpe's dive for Hellman's drive to right in the second, when although turning a complete somersault he held his gloved hand clasping the ball off the ground and robbed the Detroit man of an apparently safe two base hit, or the jump made by Burns for Bush's wild heave in the second, cutting Benton down at first. The failure of Cobb to appear in the lineup carried a sore disappointment for the crowd, but the Georgian was kept on the sideline again, cheerless on account of his mixup with Herzig in last Saturday's game. Cobb however did his part toward gratifying the desire of the crowd to see him, warming up in front of the grandstand, posing for snapshots, talking to the curious and appearing a few lazy flies in the outfield while Detroit was warming up. An injured knee kept Dave Robertson from appearing in the McGraw lineup, but gave an opportunity for the appearance of Jim Thorpe, probably as famous as Cobb himself.

Both McGraw and Jennings were on the firing line during the afternoon, each appearing on one of the coaching lines when their club was at bat. Appearing with McGraw was the famous Germany Schaeffer, whose antics on the coaching line with the Washington American made him one of the unique figures of the game. Jennings got into action on a number of occasions with his famed yell, as well as pulling the grass chewing stunt which has grown to be characteristic of him.

Bush was the hitting hero for the Tigers, getting a brace of triples out of twice as many times at bat. Zimmerman lead the offensive for the tribe of McGraw, hitting into safe territory four times out of his five trips to the rubber, and stealing a couple of cushions.

Both Kauff of Detroit, who trained here three years ago with the Indianapolis Federals, and Nicholson of Detroit, who played here at the outset of his career with the Wichita Falls Drillers were received by hearty applause on their initial appearances at the plate.

For four innings Big Bill James for Detroit had everything a pitcher could want, but loosened up in the next inning and allowed three hits and two runs for the Giants from Gotham. Mitchell was not as effective as James, but his support kept him out of trouble until the ninth, and then nipped a promising rally on the part of the New York club.

Detroit fell onto Benton in the initial round, Young tripping to left and scoring on Nicholson's Texas leaguer over the shortfield in that round. Benton's wildness contributed two additional falls in the second, after two were down. The New York pitcher planted one in Jones ribs, and passed Stange. Jones, pushed a scratch hit past Zimmerman, filling the bases. Benton then walked in two runs, passing Bush and Young and forcing in Jones and Stange. Another run was made by Detroit in the third. Veach doubled down the left field foul line and advanced on Hellman's suicide tag, scoring a minute later on Burns' aerial sacrifice to Thorpe. Detroit made it five runs to the good in the fourth, with two men down. Bush tripped to deep center, and scored on Young's safety down the third base line. The Tigers boasted their lead to 7 to 0 in the fifth stanza. Veach promanaded and stole second; Hellman laid one down and beat it out, advancing Veach to third. Veach registered on Burns' two sack or down the third base line, Hellman being held on third, but scoring a moment later on Jones' grounder to Herzig.

Detroit's final run came in the sixth. Bush hit his second three sacker, this time down the first base line. Young grounded out to second base, Veach holding third. Nicholson hit to Smith, who had replaced Benton in this inning, who caught Bush off third and with the aid of Zimmerman and Gibson ran Bush down. Nicholson taking second on the run down. Veach's clean hit to right scored Nicholson with Detroit's eighth tally.

New York's first run came in the fifth, the occasion being celebrated by Burns' stealing home. Burns lead off with a double to center, and advanced to third when Herzig singled to the same quarter. Thorpe grounded weakly to James, who endeavored to run down Burns between third and Zimmerman. Herzig, Fletcher and Kauff, milled the bases. Burns stole home, Kauff, milled the bases. Burns stole home, Kauff, milled the bases. Burns stole home, Kauff, milled the bases.

second run from second on Fletcher's single to center field. New York scored again in the sixth, Smith walking, and scoring on Burns' triple to left. New York's remaining runs came in the ninth, when Thorpe, first up, hit to deep left for three bases. Zimmerman hit safely to the middle garden, scoring Thorpe. Zimmerman was advanced when Mitchell pitched one against Fletcher for free transportation to first. Kauff went out to left field, Zimmerman scored on Herzig's single to left. Kiduff was sent in to bat for Smith, working Mitchell for a pass and again in this inning filling the bases. Krueger, hitting for Gibson, hit a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Fletcher, but the relay throw from Hellman caught Holke at the plate and ended the game with a double play.

The slight of how a ball game should be handled, as demonstrated by Bill Brennan, veteran major league umpire who held the reins in yesterday's game, was worth a trip to the lake in itself. The crowd was probably the largest ever assembled in Wichita Falls. The cars were parked all around the playing field, in places more than two ranks deep. Cars were parked by scores outside of the park. The crowd filled seats, grandstand and overhanging into the grounds. The crowd on the whole was a well behaved one, the only indications given of being in the least out of humor on several occasions when vicious howls to put Cobb into the game were voiced by some in attendance.

MUCH INTEREST IN COMING OF HOBSON

Naval Hero's Visit at This Time Considered Appropriate, in View of Crisis.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the coming visit of Richmond Pearson Hobson, who will speak at the M. E. Church, South on Thursday night on "Destroying the Great Destroyer, by reason of the fact that the speaker's prominence in naval circles, and his notable record as a naval commander, make a visit from him in this particular time of national stress much more timely than it might otherwise be.

Lieut. Hobson will speak on the interest of national prohibition, the address here being one of a large number which he and other prominent Americans are delivering in Texas this spring in an effort to win support to the cause of a "dry" America. Judge John K. Kay will introduce the speaker, and the public is invited, no admission fee being charged. An announcement of his visit says:

"The name of Hobson has become a household word throughout the American nation. His dare-devil heroism at Santiago in the Spanish-American war, when with a few like-minded comrades, he sank the Merrimac under fire and lead-vomiting guns of both the Spanish fort and fleet, first brought him to the attention of the American people.

"With no less patriotic self-abandon he served his country as Congressman from Alabama, his native state. From his first entrance upon the halls of Congress, he has heavily and persistently pressed the question of prohibition upon the attention of Congress and also the entire country. Hobson is an orator of extraordinary ability and has frequently addressed Congress upon the urgent importance of prohibiting the liquor traffic nationwide. Upon the same theme he has spoken from almost every noted chautauque platform in America, and his published temperance addresses have been scattered over the nation by tons.

"No man has made a more exhaustive, scientific study of alcohol and the appalling effects of the drink habit on the human race, as traced through the pages of history, than has Richmond Pearson Hobson.

"His masterly address has been delivered in every quarter of the United States, and printed form has been scattered from coast to coast. It is one of the most terrific arraignment of the curse of strong drink ever delivered on the American platform."

Wichita Falls, Texas, April 3, 1917

Governor Ferguson is to be commended for his veto of the amendment to the anti-pass law, which would permit members of the legislature and certain others to accept passes from the railroads for free transportation. The amendment is wrong in principle and the governor has said so in plain terms. Governor Ferguson, doubtless, would be glad to avoid any act that might incur enmity of members of the legislature. A good many members of that body who voted against the amendment, no doubt, would have been pleased to have seen Governor Ferguson sign it, and many will be displeased at the veto. In his veto the governor has placed principle above personal advantage. While he does not say so specifically, it can be inferred from what Governor Ferguson has said that he is opposed to certain amendments to the anti-pass law that went into effect before he became governor.

Criticizing the proposal that the United States advance credit to the French government on favorable terms, some critics cannot understand why the American people are under any obligations to do so when France is the ally of England and America was once the oppressor of the American Colonies. They argue that America ought not to discharge its obligation to France for its advances during the American Revolution, when by doing so Great Britain, the oppressor, when France came to our aid, will benefit as much or maybe more from the advances to France now as France herself. To those critics it is proper to point out that the oppression of the American Colonies was never popular with the English people; that it was an autocratic usurpation of English authority that was resented almost as much in England as it was in the Colonies, and was, in fact, what is now described as Prussianism. What was practiced by the government of a British king in the days of the Revolution is what millions of people today believe they are fighting against. France and England and even Russia, today profess to be fighting for those very principles which governed the American Revolution and which are today the basis of the American government. In this view it will be a proud moment for our country when it joins these allies, and an opportunity is offered to repay our ancient and honorable obligation to France.

PETITIONS FOR BOND ELECTION STARTED TODAY

B. F. JOHNSON NAMED AS CAMPAIGN MANAGER—MEMBERS OF MOTOR CLUB AFFIX FIRST SIGNATURES TO DOCUMENT.

TOURIST COMPLAINS

Club Takes Steps for Vigorous Action When Serious Charges Against Local Garage Are Filed by Visiting Autoist.

With the starting of the petitions for the good roads election and their signing by those in attendance, the beginning of what is indicated will be an active campaign in favor of the good roads bond issue was made at today's luncheon of the motor club. The recommendation of the committee that B. F. Johnson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, be appointed campaign manager was on motion of Judge Edgar Scurry, unanimously adopted.

Mr. Johnson was then called for, and outlined plans for a thorough campaign. "There will, of course, be opposition to be met with," said Mr. Johnson, "and we must make up our minds to work long and hard if we are to be successful. The more we minimize the power of the opposition, the more we cut down our chances of success."

A letter from a Denver, Colorado, tourist, complaining of ill-treatment at a local garage, his car being alleged to have been taken out in the night for a joy ride, littered with matches and broken glass and otherwise soiled, and his failure to secure satisfaction from either the garage owner or the police, was read. A committee, composed of Judge Edgar Scurry, Wade Walker and I. H. Roberts, was appointed a complaint committee to investigate and secure redress for this and future complaints.

Notification that Mrs. Phil H. Levere and Miss Margaret Bernard, of Las Vegas, New Mexico, will arrive here next Monday afternoon on a social gathering, in which they will convey the greetings of the mayor, commercial club and women's organizations of Las Vegas, to similar organizations in Dallas and towns along the line, was read, and the request that arrangements for their reception and a car furnished to carry them from here to Fort Worth. The car will be furnished by A. Cotton, a Ross, C. W. Reid and John W. Thomas were appointed the reception committee, with Judge Edgar Scurry as chaperone, although the latter pleaded his disqualification on account of his youth. This committee will be charged with securing the necessary lady chaperones. I. H. Roberts drew the prize a strap bag, donated by E. B. M. Co. H. W. Peters and Dr. F. E. Thornburg of Wichita Falls, and Dr. F. R. Colliard of Iowa Park, were secured as new members.

New York Cotton. By Associated Press. New York, April 3.—The news from Washington was followed by an active market early today, which carried old crop positions up to the highest prices reached since the break last February. The opening was firm with an advance of 5 to 25 points, and the active months sold from 33 to 45 points net higher before the end of the first half hour, with May selling at 19.65, July, 19.32 and October at 18.45. Cotton closed steady, May, 19.54; July, 19.27; October, 18.38; December, 18.45, January, 18.48.

EFFORT TO LAND INSANE ASYLUM

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENTERS CONTEST FOR NEW STATE INSTITUTION.

DELAY FAIR ACTION

Is Deferred Until May 15—Secretary Johnson Named to Lead Good Roads Fight.

Plans for an active campaign to have the Northwest Texas Insane Asylum, an institution to be established under a recent act of the legislature, located in Wichita Falls, were set on foot at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday morning, after the matter had been brought to the attention of the board by Dr. J. E. Daniel and Dr. Q. B. Lee, of the Wichita County Medical Society. The physicians pointed out the great value of such an institution. The effort to land the asylum will not affect, for the present, at least, the campaign to secure the West Texas A. & M. University. Further action on the fair proposition was deferred to May 15, after W. S. Curlee reported that he and C. E. Rodgers had secured about $25,000 in subscriptions.

Upon motion of C. W. Reid, Secretary Johnson was authorized to lead the fight for the road bond issue. The directors took action on several minor matters.

GAME NETS OVER $500 TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Profits to the local Chamber of Commerce on yesterday's game between the Giants and Tigers amounted to $507.45, the number of admissions having been 3,036. The number in attendance was much larger than this, taking into consideration the number of children admitted at half price, the complimentary tickets issued by each club, and the attendance of the railroads. The Chamber of Commerce announced that effective Thursday all share of the profits made on the exhibition games played here by Milwaukee swelled the baseball earnings to about $310. Expenses guaranteed by the Chamber of Commerce for the Milwaukee club's training will probably run under $100, making it necessary to call for only half of the subscription to the training expenses of the club.

"SMUGGLEMAN" IS AGAIN PRESENTED

Second Performance By School Children Delights Large Audience Monday Night. Playing the second time to a full house, the primary and intermediate grades of the public schools, Monday night repeated their successful musical extravaganza, "The Smugglerman" at the Wichita Theatre. The audience was just as appreciative as the first nighters and the actors were even more thoroughly at home on the stage. There wasn't a dull moment from the announcement by the herald, Paul Smith, telling about the Smugglerman and his characteristics until the finale after the boys had been rescued by the fairy queen and the Smugglerman reformed. Fred Smith and Elton Felder as the ringleaders of the gang, who went on a strike for more jam made a distinct hit as did Percy Langford as commander of the soldiers putting them through the manual. Other principal parts were taken by Alfred Harris, the Smugglerman, Dottie Mae Willard, the old woman who lived in a shoe, Elsie Orr, the fairy queen and Verda Mae Shaw, Old Mother Goose. For the entertainment of the boys all the characters from Mother Goose from the pages of the story books and played on the stage. The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe came out of a great big shoe with all her brood and collected a bit with Misses Kelly and her sisters, Little Tommy Tucker, Tom, the Piper's son, with a sure enough little red pig, little Jack Hornor, Jack and Jill, Humpty Dumpty and all the rest, the nursery children were quite so pretty as well in eye colors and the picture they formed was most effective. The nursery ymes belonging to each character were sung by the large chorus. The second act showed the home of the Smugglerman with frisky little knogges capering about fighting each other and acting in the manner one would naturally expect of a gnome. The Smugglerman brings his captives to this place from whence they are finally rescued by the fairy queen and her band. At times there were more than 100 children on the stage all well trained and at ease handling themselves with professional grace. The chorus and ensemble work as well as the individual parts all spoke the maximum of preparation and of interest on the part of the children. There were in all about 200 in the cast, none of them even the girls playing the parts of grand mothers, more than 12 or 13 years old and the average far younger than this. To train this large number of children within the length of time which Miss Agnew, public school musical director, has accomplished "The Smugglerman" so that they can go through the entire two hours performance without an older person appearing once on the stage is no small thing. But this and other similar achievements has been the record of Miss Agnew and the public school for several years and the parents and school patrons have come to expect something entirely worth while when a school entertainment of what ever nature it may be, is announced and not once have they been disappointed. A feature of both Friday and Monday presentations of "The Smugglerman" was the large attendance, denoting the support and interest of the public, and this has been the source of much gratification to the teachers and the public as well. The school and its activities is coming to play a more and more vital part in the community and through the children particularly the younger such a stock part in this extravaganza the school officials hope the fathers and mothers can be more deeply interested in school affairs.

VETO AXE FALLS UPON FOUR BILLS

FREE PASS MEASURE AMONG THOSE DISAPPROVED BY GOVERNOR.

"BONE DRY" BILL HIT

Educational Commission Measure is Also Voted by Chief Executive Today.

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, April 3.—Governor Ferguson today vetoed four bills, being the free pass bill the county "bone dry" bill, the bill appropriating $10,000 for the educational survey of the state, and the bill creating the Hamilton independent school district, and filed his reasons in the state department for his disapproval.

The pass bill is the measure which would have permitted the governor, other state officials, and legislators, to ride on free railroad passes.

The "bone dry" bill would further restrict transportation of intoxicating liquor into dry territory.

The governor vetoed the pass bill because he believed the free pass is wrong in principle, where there may be some reason on the broad ground of public policy for making exception in cases of railroad employees and their families no such reason exists for state officials and legislators to get such privileges.

Says Pass Same as Money. "But let us be frank with each other," continues the governor; "would the people of the state elect any man governor, lieutenant governor, or a member of the Legislature if it was known that at the beginning of their terms, the president of a railroad company called him into his office and said, 'Here, Mr. Governor, Lieutenant Governor, or Legislator, I want to make you a present of $300, and said money was accepted by any of said officers? A free pass means free money, and people do not give away money for nothing. A governor or a legislator could not accept such money because it would be additional compensation, which is prohibited by the constitution of the state, which fixes salaries at so much, and no more; and if a governor or legislator should accept such money it would be a misapplication or misappropriation of public money, and everybody would agree that receipt of such money would cause for seriously condemning such official and yet this is the effect of a pass.

As to the bone dry bill, the governor points out that it is liquor legislation, and says: "It does not affect the territory where sale of liquor is prohibited by law, because the territory is already free from the evils of the open saloon. It can only affect and prohibit the possession of intoxicating liquor by a great number of our good citizens in dry territory who might desire to have intoxicating liquor for personal use."

The governor also doubts the constitutionality of the law, because it would permit a man to take half a gallon of whiskey into dry territory for his own use, and denies that man the right to delegate an agent to do so.

The governor objects to the bill providing an educational survey, because the commission to make the survey consists of heads of institutions of higher learning.

Educational Commission. "This work," says the governor, "if done at all, should be done by a disinterested body and not by the heads of state institutions who most likely would be partisans of their institutions, in outlining the work to be done by such. My impression is that this commission would not learn more than is known now."

The Hamilton school bill was vetoed at the request of Representative Blackmon of the district affected.

Later, four additional bills were vetoed today by Governor Ferguson and his reasons filed. The bills disapproved are: Senate bill, changing the present law so as to give city councils of towns and villages the right to pledge the credit of the city and to issue city warrants to bear interest not exceeding 8 per cent without submitting the question of issue to the vote of the people.

Senate bill extending the area and jurisdiction of local business associations.

Senate bill providing for incorporation of towns and villages where they contain more than 200 and less than 5,000 inhabitants; the governor thinks the bill should remain as it is.

House bill establishing the Ferguson state farm in Madison county, a school for the education and training of incorrigible negro boys.

24 MISSING FROM BRITISH FREIGHTER

Vessel is Torpedoed Without Warning and Several of Crew Probably Lost.

By Associated Press. New York, April 3.—The British freight steamer Trevose, reported by Germany as having been sunk, was torpedoed on March 18, and 24 members of her crew are unaccounted for, according to officers of the Barber Line Steamship Denigra which arrived here today with five of the crew of the Trevose.

ROOSEVELT AT WASHINGTON TO SEE PRESIDENT

By Associated Press. Washington, April 3.—Colonel Roosevelt went to the main door of the executive mansion where he learned that the president had gone over to his office. He told the chief usher he was only in town between trains and wished to congratulate the president in "his great state paper." The colonel left his card and departed without seeing the president.

INTERNED GERMAN SAILORS TAKEN FROM PHILADELPHIA NAVY YARD TO GEORGIA CAMPS

GERMAN SAILORS BOUND FOR "BONE DRY" GEORGIA.

The 700 members of the crews of the German auxiliary cruisers Kroprinz Wilhelm and Prinz Eitel Friedrich, interned at the Philadelphia navy yard since last October, were sent under a heavy guard of marines to Fort Department of the sailors from Philadelphia, where they will be kept until further orders from Washington.

11 LIVES ARE LOST ON AZTEC; SAVE GUNNERS

By Associated Press. New York, April 3.—Eleven men of the crew of the American steamer Aztec probably were lost when the vessel was sunk by a submarine near Brest, France. The crew numbered 39, of whom 17 were Americans.

Twelve American blue-jackets detached from the crew of the gunboat Dolphin and, placed on the Aztec as an armed guard, were saved, according to French admiralty dispatches. The Aztec was the first American merchant vessel to fall victim to German submarines. She left New York March 18 for Havre with a cargo of foodstuffs and supplies.

No information as to whether the vessel was able to use her guns against the submarine which reached the owners.

The fact that she was sunk at night with a heavy sea running leads to the belief that like the Cunard liner, Laconia, she did not even catch sight of her assailant.

ENGLAND HAILS AMERICAN ALLY WITH MUCH JOY

By Associated Press. London, April 3.—Under the heading, "Brothers at Arms," the Pall Mall Gazette says today of President Wilson's speech:

"The president frames the issue in a setting calculated to stir the deepest emotions of the American people. The Russian resolution enables him to commend it to them as a conflict between the virtues of democracy and the crimes of autocracy.

"America enters the war without reservation. Full action will be welcomed both for the substantial aid which she will bring and the community of spirit which she will further among the free nations of the world. It is a great satisfaction to be joined thus with a nation carrying so much of our blood in a crusade worthy of its best traditions, and ours."

The Globe says: "German statesmen have solemnly affected to regard the entrance of the United States as a neutral one—can satisfy leave them to find out their mistake. In the meantime, we are content to stand shoulder to shoulder with the land of the free in the greatest battle of freedom the world has ever seen."

Frank Jenne who is now growing his thirtieth consecutive wheat crop in Wichita county, today sold the remainder of his 1916 crop at $2.00 per bushel. Mr. Jenne believes he is the first Wichita county man to sell wheat at that figure. Mr. Jenne says he had "a leak right about the matter and requests The Times to express his apology to every man, woman and child in Wichita Falls who eats about made from 'wo'ldly wheat."

KANSAS TOWN ELECTS WOMEN TO GOVERN IT

WAR RESOLUTION HELD UP TODAY (Continued from page one) Our object now as then is to vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world as against selfish and autocratic power and to set up against the really self-governed peoples of the world such a concert of purpose and of action as will henceforth insure freedom and the observance of these principles. "Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances. We are at the beginning of the age in which it will be insisted that the same standards of conduct and of responsibility for wrong doing shall be observed among nations and their governments that are observed among the individual citizens of civilized states. "We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling toward them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in governing this war. Their previous knowledge or approval; it was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unappy days when people were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of the groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow men as pawns and tools. "In Interest of Democracy. "Self government nations do not fill their neighbor states with their spies or set the course of intrigue to bring about some critical power of affairs which will give them an opportunity to strike and make conquest. Such designs can be successfully worked only under cover and where no one has the right to ask questions. Cunningly contrived plans of deception or aggression to generation, can be worked out and kept from the light only within the privacy of courts or behind the carefully guarded concealment of narrow and privileged class. They are happily impossible where public opinion commands and insists upon full information concerning all the nation's affairs. "A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honor, a partnership of opinion. In trigue would eat its vitals away; the plottings of inner circles who could plan what they would and render account to no one, would be a corruption seated at its very heart. Only free peoples can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common interest and prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their own. MITCHELL EXPLAINS RECENT REMARKS

Secret of Happiness.

Are you almost disgusted with life, little man? I will tell you a wonderful trick that will bring you contentment, if anything can.

Do something for somebody quick!

Are you awfully tired with play little girl?

Wearily discouraged and sick?

I'll tell you the loveliest game in the world—

Do something for somebody quick!

Though it rains like the rain of the flood, little man.

And the clouds are forbidding and thick.

You can make the sun shine in your soul, little man—

Do something for somebody quick!

Though the skies are like brass overhead, little girl.

And the road like a well heated brick.

And all the earthly affairs in a terrible whirl—

Do something for somebody quick!

MAJESTIC THEATRE TODAY. CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN "CAMILLE". From the famous novel by Alexander Dumas. Directed by Albert Capellani. Impersonations that are vivid and vital, scenic effects that are startling in their realism, a story that thrills and throbs with passion and adventure—all these are found in this superior offering.

EMPRESS THEATRE TODAY. MARIE DRESSLER IN "TILLIE WAKES-UP". Those who saw "Tillie's Punctured Romance" will, no doubt, want to see Marie Dressler in this new World Comedy. This play is one of the most pretentious comedies ever produced.

EMPRESS THEATRE TOMORROW. BLANCHE SWEET IN "THE EVIL EYE". A Picturization of Hector Thurnbull's Thrilling Story. In this unusual production Miss Sweet, graduated from the characters of nursemaids, servants, ragmuffins and anarchists, in which she has been playing for some time and is now seen as an enterprising young physician, laboring among some superstitious Mexicans in the vineyard districts of California.

leader of the employees, traps the doctor in her cabin and is prepared to burn out the evil eye with a hot poker, when a number of things occur which save the physician from losing her sight, and eventually restore her to the arms of the man who was at first her enemy but who now has learned to love her.

EXPECT TO GET POSSESSION OF ALLIED SECRETS

By Associated Press Washington, April 3.—All the closely guarded secrets of submarine technique developed by the entente navies are expected to come into the possession of the American navy now that the United States is ready to enter war. In a general way, it is known that by means of nets and mines, swimmers and swift submarine chasers, the British navy has gathered in many German submarines the estimates in some cases having been placed as high as three hundred.
