N. Y. BANKS LOSE IN SUIT AGAINST GERMAN STEAMER

SUPREME COURT HOLDS CLAIM FOR DAMAGES ON ACCOUNT OF FAILURE TO DELIVER GOODS NOT VALID.

BIG DAMAGES ASKED

Decision Against Vessel Would Have Involved Sale at Auction or Giving of Bond by Owners or U. S. Government.

By Associated Press. Washington, May 7.—New York banks today lost their litigation in the supreme court against the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie at Boston in which they claimed $1,240,000 damages for failure of the vessel to deliver to them goods valued at $11,000,000 shipped to England and France just at the outbreak of the war. Claims of the Guaranty Trust Company and the National City Bank of New York against the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie for $1,240,000 damages for failure to carry gold bullion to Europe when the war began, presented to the supreme court several new and intricate questions growing out of the hostilities. Because the Cecilie, known as the "gold ship," sailed with $13,000,000 in gold for England, when war appeared imminent, was warned in mid-Atlantic by wireless and raced back to New York Harbor, the banks claimed that the vessel was wrecked in mid-Atlantic, leaving for losses resulting from non-delivery of the gold.

SHOULD HOSTILE WARSHIPS APPEAR, OUR COAST DEFENSES ARE READY

LEARNING HOW TO DEFEND OUR COASTS

With every effort being made to strengthen the coastal defenses of the United States, it is believed that the navy is in a position to meet any emergency that may arise. The navy is not only well equipped for the defense of our coast, but it is also well prepared to meet any emergency that may arise.

BRITISH AND FRENCH TROOPS IN MIGHTY DRIVE UPON LAON

British Enter Position Directly Upon Hindenburg Line--Breach Widens

The Associated Press war summary says: Bullecourt, directly on the Hindenburg line, has been entered by the British troops. At this moment were fighting the Germans with the intention of its possession. Giving the Germans no time to bring up reserves from the front, the British drove the French army driving through the Sambre line for Laon by the back way to that strong hold. General Haig's troops began today to widen the breach they have made in the Hindenburg line in the Bullecourt region. Counter attacks of extreme violence rapidly repeated have failed to check the British drive. On the French front, northeast of Soissons, and along the Chemin des Dames the German have been forced to employ fresh troops in an effort to stem the French advance. Last night they threw numbers of men against the line, all along the front but were unable to check the French hold on the plateau overlooking the Aisne river. In the bulge between Laon and Cambrai, the French guns have battered down the back door in Laon and the forces of General Nibel are now within 6 miles of the German stronghold. One formidable barrier lies between them and their goal, the Adette river, but from the captured heights along the Chemin des Dames, the French guns overlook the stream. Like the tributary stream, the Adette runs east and west, paralleling the French line. It is hardly worthy the name of a river but its bed is in a deep gully which makes it a grave obstacle.

The developments in the battlefield are chiefly important for the possibilities they open up and the same may be said to be true of events behind the front line. In Germany there has been much talk of political reform and several proposals have been put forward in the Reichstag to curtail the power of the Emperor and make the ministry responsible to parliament. Apparently the pressure forward of the mooted reforms has served to check the rising tide of popular discontent, but the extraordinary measures adopted by the government to prevent the outside world learning of the true situation makes adequate judgment impossible. Starting reports come from Austria in regard to condition of the dual monarchy, but apparently Count Tizy and his followers have the upper hand and are determined to treat the party of democracy with the same ruthlessness as heretofore.

NEARLY AN INCH OF RAIN SUNDAY

SLOW STEADY PRECIPITATION OVER NORTHWEST TEXAS AND SOUTHWESTERN OKLAHOMA.

SNOW IN PANHANDLE

Precipitation Amounted to 0.95 of an Inch Here—Puts Ground in Fine Shape For Planting.

A slow rain amounting to .95 of an inch, fell here Sunday. The rainfall was general over Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma as far north as Elk City, but reports indicate only a scant rainfall northward from that place. In the upper Panhandle a heavy snow fell Saturday night and Sunday, amounting to as much as eight inches at Amarillo and other points. Rain was reported from all Fort Worth & Denver points between Fort Worth and Goodnight, and from Goodnight northward there was snow. The rainfall extended southward beyond Ardmore and Brownwood. The rain fell very slowly here and every drop was absorbed into the earth, resulting in the maximum benefit to crops, but furnishing no stock water or water for oil operations. Considerable wheat has been saved by the timely precipitation. It is already in the ground will now germinate rapidly and the ground has been put in excellent shape for planting. A large acreage of sorghum, sorghum and other feed crops is assured by the rain.

When Wichitans went to bed Saturday night there were no indications of rain visible. Even as late as two o'clock Sunday morning there were only a few light clouds to be seen, but shortly after three o'clock the precipitation began, the rain falling gently until Sunday afternoon.

RISK IN PLANTING NEW VARIETIES

Farmers Warned Not to Discard Standard Varieties of Sorghum Without Testing.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Farmers on the Great Plains who are interested in new varieties of sorghum are being advised by the specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to test out the novelty on a small experimental acreage before they discard a standard variety. Cross-pollination takes place readily between different varieties, and as a result new strains are constantly being formed. Some of these doubtless are promising, but the average farmer can scarcely afford to conduct extensive experiments at his own risk. The State experiment stations and the U. S. Department of Agriculture are conducting this work on a large scale and individuals who are tempted to plant new varieties should communicate with the specialists before investing largely in sorghum novelties at high prices.

Recently a number of inquiries have been received by the department in Washington in regard to Shrock kafir, which was discovered at and Oklahoma in 1915. This plant is believed to be a hybrid between some kafir and a sweet sorghum. It was at one time believed that it might be found valuable for both grain and fodder. The tests show that the tannin in the seedless variety is a grain crop. As a silage sorghum, future tests may show that the Shrock kafir has considerable merit, but this quality alone will not warrant its general adoption. It has also been asserted that Shrock kafir is remarkably early and has great drought resistance. In a matter of fact, however, it requires from 100 to 120 days to mature fully and this alone will prevent the successful production of the variety north of southern Kansas. Furthermore, the time required to reach full maturity means that it will suffer more from drought than earlier varieties. Tests of the comparative yields of a number of varieties of sorghum, carried on by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Hays, Kansas, and at Chillicothe and Amarillo, Texas, do not furnish any very strong argument for the general adoption of Shrock kafir. As has been said, its long growing season prevents it from being a success under the conditions that prevail at and north of Hays, Kansas. Farther south in Oklahoma and Texas it has made good yields and in 1915 it was the highest yielding sorghum at Woodward, Okla. The presence of the tannin in the seed, however, lowers the feeding value to an extent that is not offset by the yields even in those places where the variety does well.

JUDGE CARRIGAN DELEGATE OF CAMP

Chosen By Sons of Confederate Veterans as Representative at Washington Reunion.

Despite the rain there was a large attendance at the meeting at the amphitheatre Sunday afternoon, called by the Sons of Confederate Veterans for the purpose of electing a delegate to the reunion at Washington and to pay tribute to the veterans and to the young men who are about to go to war.

Judge A. H. Carrigan was elected as the delegate from Camp W. R. Scurry of the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Judge Carrigan announced that he will attend the reunion. Among officers who will attend from Wichita Falls, are Judge Scurry, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Anderson and Miss Mabel Simpson.

J. B. Anderson, commander of the local camp of the Sons, presided at the meeting, but turned the talking over to Judge Scurry who made a pleasing and patriotic talk. He called for membership to stand about 250 pointed to the call Judge Scurry stressed the fact that there

LITTLE DISTURBANCE IN BUSINESS IS INDICATED

R. G. Dun & Company's review for the past week says that there has been little disturbance in business as the result of America's entrance into the war, and only in relatively few instances are signs of special hesitation apparent. In part the review says: "Lessening of ordinary demands has continued in some important branches largely because of the extreme prices and backward weather has retarded retail distribution of seasonal merchandise in most sections of the country. Yet the growing crops reflect appreciable improvement in the wheat promising a more abundant harvest than recently seemed likely, and the betterment in the agricultural outlook means much in a year when big yields are more than ever needed. Conservation is still a dominant note in reports from some of the principal centers, especially in the East, while regular transactions fall below the previous maximum, the extensive government requirements have a stimulating effect in many directions and manufacturing continues under high pressure. It remains the fact that business is being offered than can be accepted, for most of the works are in an oversold position and are confronted with a growing shortage of both materials and labor. Yet plentiful fuel supplies have aided operations and with more furnaces in blast, the daily rate of production in April was greater than in any other month, excepting last October. Complaints of transportation congestion continue and shipments with difficulties alike are affected, but credit conditions are favorable and commercial failures are comparatively few in number and involve a moderate indebtedness. Aside from railway earnings, which disclose declines in net revenues, the general statistical exhibit is gratifying and bank clearings outside New York during April were 33.4 per cent larger than last year's, though a considerable part of the increase may be properly attributed to the steadily rising commodity prices.

Further Mortality Still Diminishing.—If further proof were needed of the stability of trade and industry it is found in the latest insolvency statistics. While the new insolvency conditions have made conservatism a more conspicuous feature in business, there is no loss of confidence or weakening of the economic structure, and the country's commercial mortality reflects continued reduction. The number of failures in April, 1915, is the smallest of any month in nearly five years, or back to June, 1912, and the defaulted indebtedness, about $12,500,000, is the lightest since last October. When compared with the previous three earlier years, the exhibit is the best in almost a decade, and from the high point for the period—April, 1915—the percentage increase is 38 per cent, and the contraction in amount over 70 per cent. The decline from the preceding months is seasonal. Fifteen of the previous twenty-three years having shown more or less fall off in number during April, yet the present returns are especially gratifying when the steady increase in firms in business is considered.

Spectacular Movements in Wheat.—Whether or not wheat has reached its top position remains to be determined, and in the light of recent events predictions as to what wheat prices will do mean little. No one has supposed when the great rise

Market Report

Chicago Grain Futures.

Chicago, May 7.—New high record prices for wheat resulted today from scantiness of offering and because of official announcement that the winter crop in Missouri had not failed to show a hoped for improvement. But instead had undergone further improvement. Opening prices ranged from the same as Saturday's finish to 1 cent higher, with May at 2.79 and July at 2.24 1/2 to 2.25. The close was nervous, 3/4 cent to 4 1/2 cents net higher, with May at 2.83 and July at 2.25 3/4 to 2.26 1/4. Corn closed unsettled at 5 cents off, as compared with Saturday's finish.

New York Cotton Futures.

New York, May 7.—The cotton market opened at a decline of 1/2 to 1/2 points today, in response to lower Liverpool cables, with July selling at 18.35 and October at 18.66 on the call. July sold to 18.35 and October to 18.50 before the end of the first hour, or about 7 to 9 points net higher. The close was steady, with May at 18.33, July 18.55, October 18.54, December 18.58, January, 18.61.

Fort Worth Live Stock.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 7.—Hours, receipts, 4,999; ten to fifteen cents higher; sales heavy, at $15.15 to $17.29. Cattle, receipts 8,000, heaves sold $2.50 to $10.00. Sheep, receipts, 7,000, lambs selling $14.00 to $15.75.

DR. SCHARFF RETURNS FROM OSTEOPATHIC CONVENTION

Dr. A. O. Scharff has returned from Houston, where he attended the seventeenth annual meeting of the Osteopathic Association of Texas, the sessions being held at the Rice Hotel and attended by a large number of the leading osteopaths of the state. Dr. John Deason of the Osteopathic Research Institute of Chicago, gave lectures and demonstrations with clinics on the treatment of ear, nose and throat diseases and special features of the program were discussions and demonstrations of the management and treatment of acute diseases, club foot and deformities resulting from infantile paralysis.

San Antonio was chosen as the 1918 meeting place and officers elected were: Dr. E. M. Harris of Dallas, president; Dr. E. M. Mitchell of Texarkana, first vice-president; Dr. H. J. Deason of Temple, secretary and treasurer. The Houston Osteopathic Association provided an abundance of entertainment in the way of banquets, rides about the city and a boat trip down the ship canal to the San Jacinto battle ground.

During the stay of the cruiser her officers and men will be entertained by French societies.

PLAN OF LORD BRYCE FOR WORLD PEACE LEAGUE ANTEDATES WILSON'S

Associated Press Staff Correspondent. (Byron, former American ambassador in London. The British plan for a league to enforce peace, as drawn up though it was proposed two years ago by a committee headed by Viscount the Duke of Aberdeen.

Enduring! Certain-teed is a name which has come thru the storm of business competition stronger than ever. It stands for quality, dependability, satisfaction and fair dealing. On the reputation of this name there has been built the world's largest manufacturer of roofing and building papers.

Certain-teed Roofing is the most efficient type of roof for factories, office buildings, farm buildings, garages, etc. It costs less to buy, less to lay and less per year of life than other types of roofing. It does not rust, is proof against acids, coal smoke, salt, fumes, etc. It is a non-conductor of heat and cold, a fire retardant and weather-proof. The cost of laying prepared roofing is the same whether you use good materials or poor. Therefore, it pays to get CERTAIN-TEED, which is the best. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply), and it will remain efficient longer after the time when poor quality roof would have had to be relaid.

Certain-teed Products Corporation of Texas can League. It goes further than the American plan in providing a means to enforce decisions upon aggressive and recalcitrant nations.

In a preliminary note to the outline of the British scheme Lord Bryce says: "The frightful catastrophe of the present war, involving millions of human lives and bringing grave evils on neutral nations, also has driven the human mind to reflect on the possibility of finding methods which the future may see may be devised so as to at least largely reduce the only objective and necessary remedy would be to guarantee the several peoples of the world from strife and bloodshed by a permanent international organization which would be empowered to settle all disputes between nations and to see that the machinery which it sets up is maintained and which it sees fit to do at all times to provide machinery to do through which the voluntary consent of all nations which favors peace may be made to express itself.

First, the machinery needed to meet these conditions would seem to be: First, the prescribing of a certain number of the machinery required to settle a dispute amicably before a resort to arms.

Second, means for settling the disputes and determining the forming of an impartial opinion upon the merits of the case.

Third, arrangements between practically all nations for mutual protection against sudden attack by force, which would allow time for investigation and trying to secure an amicable adjustment of the dispute. It may reasonably be hoped that if some scheme calculated to attain these objects were adopted by a considerable number of states, the only best method of settling disputes amicably and having a vehicle for its expression would become a more effective force than it has hitherto been in the hands of despotic governments.

states, and is intended to suggest, not a remote ideal, but something that may be immediately practicable when the war is over. It proposes not to make war impossible, but to make it less probable, by the creation of new international machinery whereby what is hoped will be the general will to peace may be put into effect. The treaty would constitute if adopted, not a league of some states against others, but a union of as many as possible in the common interest of all.

The states included in the union would bind themselves by treaty. To refer all disputes that might arise to an impartial tribunal by a method of adjustment had failed, either to an arbitral tribunal for judicial decision or to a council of conciliation for investigation and report.

Coercive action by the members of the union would be a treaty obligation and in the case where a state had resorted to force before submitting its dispute to a peaceable settlement, for the purposes of such action it is not proposed to abolish national armaments, but to substitute a force under international control. The force employed should be the national forces of the members of the union.

The first class of disputes are called "Justiciable." Such disputes are to be referred to the Hague Court, as it may be, or may be referred to some other or to some other arbitral court.

The other class of disputes, being of course, the class most likely to result in war, comprises those which are not justiciable, such as for instance, those which arise out of general economic and political rivalry of states, or it may be from the discontent of nations with a state, before such discontent commands the sympathy of a kindred people.

For The Boys In Training Or In Active Service

Fathers and Mothers and Patriotic citizens can be of great service to the boys by sending them things that will add to their comfort and health. We suggest such articles as:

Safety Razors, Razor Blades, Tooth Paste, Tooth Brushes, Shaving Brushes, Hair Brushes, Combs, Shaving Soap, Talcum Powder, Writing Materials, Tobacco, Etc.

Young men who are going away this week should supply themselves with many needed things before leaving. Parties sending parcels away will find this store a good place to buy the things needed by the boys while in camp or on the march.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE—OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
Washington, D. C.

To the Cannerymen of the United States:

Gentlemen:—Our study of the tin plate situation indicates that it will not be possible to manufacture all of the tin plate and tin containers that will be necessary to fill the demands of every kind which will arise within the next few months.

It is of vital importance that as much food as possible shall be conserved, not only to avoid waste and provide an economical food supply next winter, but to provide the necessary rations for our army and navy in the event of war. We believe that this can be accomplished by co-operation between our departments and the manufacturers of tin plate and of tin containers, as well as the cannerymen of the country, and it may not be necessary to resort to any form of embargo or other drastic form of legislation to accomplish the result which we have in mind.

We ask you therefore to co-operate with us and to limit the canning of non-perishable food products, such as beans, spaghetti, hominy, etc., as much as possible and to concentrate on the canning of perishable food products. We think that this can be accomplished informally by arrangements which you can make.

We are writing letters of a similar nature to the manufacturers of tin plate and of tin containers urging their co-operation in this important matter—

(Signed) WILLIAM C. REDFIELD, Secretary of Commerce.
(Signed) D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.
