ARRIVAL OF THE AZUMA

AZUMA'S FLAG AT HALF MAST

The accompanying illustrations show the Japanese warship Azuma arriving in New York harbor with the body of the late ambassador on board and the removal of the body from the warship to the revenue cutter Golden Gate. The sudden death of Mr. Guthrie was reported officially to the state department at Washington in a dispatch from Tokyo on March 8. He died of apoplexy. Mr. Guthrie was appointed ambassador to Japan on May 29, 1912. He was credited as special ambassador also to represent the president and the people of the United States at the funeral of the dowager empress of Japan on April 7, 1914, and was personal representative of President Wilson at the coronation of the emperor of Japan on September 29, 1915.

MASTER ROBERT BONNER, 'LITTLE SERGEANT' OF THE MARINES

SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF FT. WORTH GIRL

Suspected Admirer of Zella Faulk Has Escaped Here, Police Learn Today.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 4.—Police began a search in other cities and other states today for the man they think killed Miss Zella Faulk Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The body of the eighteen-year-old girl was found yesterday morning in a field near West Oakwood cemetery.

The girl, who was a member of the Fort Worth Y. W. C. A., had been reported missing by her father, Mr. J. J. Faulk, on Friday night.

The girl's admirer, a young man whose name is being withheld by police, is believed to have fled from the city after the girl's death.

The Fort Worth record of a account of the murder this morning said:

Encouraging the point where the body lay when found by Horne, Barney Finn who, with Chief, Inspector John Connelley, is conducting an investigation of the case, said that the ground was marked and patrolled down it.

The body of the girl had been found in a field near West Oakwood cemetery, and it was believed that the assassin had hidden her unconscious.

The girl with which the girl's skill was crushed was taken in charge by detectives. Finn declared that the girl was broken from a dead tree at the scene of the tragedy. He said that he saw the perpetrator of the crime had in a frenzy, pushed to the tree and using his foot as a lever, broke off the limb and then struck the girl.

Shannon declared that it was his belief that Miss Faulk was first murdered by the blow of the club and then her throat was cut.

The body was identified Sunday by Miss Mary Barrett, 1117 North Main street, a friend of Miss Faulk for several years. Miss Barrett declared that Miss Faulk had made the statement on several occasions that her life had been threatened by a man who was identified by Mrs. J. J. Faulk as West Fort Worth street.

Both women said that they did not know whom Miss Faulk meant, but that they felt that the jealousy of a suitor had occasioned various threats.

A necklace and locket and a brace worn by Miss Faulk when last seen on Saturday afternoon were still on the body when it was taken in charge by Shannon.

Miss Faulk spent Friday night with her sister, Mrs. Key, and leaving there shortly after noon, went to the home of Miss Barrett, according to the statement of the women. She was last seen by Miss Barrett at about five o'clock.

Seen Late Saturday, Miss Minnie Coleman, who lives at the Brown Hotel, Fort Worth, said that she and her mother saw Miss Faulk walking down the street past the hotel Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

R. E. Eubanks, 2317 Pennsylvania avenue, who was just leaving the inn at that time, according to his statement, saw her walking down the street.

Eubanks and Miss Coleman said that they saw her with a man, but that they did not know who he was.

GRAND JURY STILL AT WORK ON PLOTS

Believed Examination of Witnesses Will Continue For Many Days.

Austin, Texas, June 4.—The Federal grand jury today resumed its investigation into the alleged anti-conscription activities of the Farmers and Laborers Protective Association of America. Indications are that many days will pass before the examination of witnesses is concluded.

The jury will be prepared to act on any cases that may arise out of registration tomorrow. Few are anticipated, according to officials. They think that the speed with which the government has acted has stopped the anti-conscription propaganda in the land and has forestalled any important disturbances.

The finding of circulars in letter boxes the last few days that bitterly attacked conscription has aroused much vigilance on the part of government officials. The circulars apparently originated at Cincinnati, Ohio. They are headed, 'Jason With Conscription, Be True to Register.'

WILL RAISE 625,000 MEN IN FIRST DRAFT

Because of Exemptions It Will Probably Be Necessary to Draft 1,500,000.

Washington, June 4.—While the war department had originally planned to first select 400,000 men, Gen. Crowder told the committee the plan has been revised and now is proposed to require 625,000. To secure this number he said it probably will be necessary to draft at least 900,000 and possibly 1,500,000 because of expected exemptions.

To secure this number he said it probably will be necessary to draft at least 900,000 and possibly 1,500,000 because of expected exemptions.

Stockholm, June 4.—The delegates of the German minority Socialists to the Socialist conference have arrived here, headed by Philip Schiedmann. The Germans here hope for the best, but with no great optimism, to judge from the words of Herr Molkenbuhr, member of the executive committee.

In an interview with a correspondent of the Associated Press, Herr Molkenbuhr said: 'I fear that peace will not result from the Stockholm conference, but the whole world wants peace, and we come to see whether there is any chance of securing it here. Even if we do not succeed, we shall at least have kept the peace movement alive.'

Chicago, June 4.—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade met this afternoon to consider the establishment of maximum prices for corn futures as was done with wheat several weeks ago. There is little corn in Chicago and prices have advanced 12 to 15 cents since last Thursday. The directors met at 1:30 and adjourned until 4 o'clock without taking definite action.

AN APPEAL TO DUTY FOR THE LIBERTY LOAN

Special to The Times. Dallas, Texas, June 4.—The following bulletin was issued today by the Federal Reserve Bank of the Eleventh United States district:

'The Liberty loan situation in this district is serious. This is a farming section and the farmer and dweller in the country town must respond to the call of the loan or it will fail.

'National and state pride should be enough to secure an over-subscription. There is, however, another aspect of this matter which the farmer and dweller in the smaller towns should take note of, namely, that if this loan is not subscribed we shall have to suffer the heaviest taxation. The men who will not lend their money on good security and reasonable interest will be forced to give it up without return of either principal or interest. If the call of patriotism is not sufficient, business should secure subscriptions.

'The people on the farms and in the smaller cities and towns dependent on the farming interests, must realize that it is through them that a large proportion of the loan must come. They have the greatest resources in land and real wealth. Although their ready money may be tied up to an extent, means must be found to raise funds according to their share in the wealth of the country.

'It is to protect their lands, their rights, their privileges of good prices for food stuffs that the government is striving today. Our large business centers are few and far between, it is to you that the country is calling, the country that educated you, protected you, and has made you what you are.

'Do not shift the responsibility onto the city dweller, but meet your responsibility as Texans, Southerners and true Americans.'

ALLEGED GERMAN SPIES BEING HELD AT ANY COST IS GERMAN POLICY

OTHER ARRESTS EXPECTED IN INFORMATION TO ENEMY.

DETAILS WITHHELD

Federal Authorities Hope to Uncover German Spy System in This Country.

New York, June 4.—With four men under arrest, who are alleged to be only minor figures in a conspiracy to transmit information of military value from the United States to Germany through regular mail channels, the Federal authorities and city detectives today indicated further arrests which they said might result in disclosure of a German spy system.

Apparently the government officials hoped they could uncover an explanation of the approach of American destroyers to the British coast so that an Irish port could be mined.

Where and when the four defendants were arrested and their identity was withheld pending their arraignment today before a United States commissioner.

Two of them are said to be American born. The fourth was arrested in Germany. He was quoted as saying he was in Germany in August 1914 and was released when he tried to enlist.

In February 1915 he said he went to Spain and shipped on a vessel which landed in Mexico. He was taken by a British cruiser to Halifax where he was interned for seven months.

Released from the Canadian detention camp the man came to the United States and the police say he divided this time between this country and Mexico. Eleven bags and suitcases filled with documents and letters are under investigation.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK NEAR SPANISH COAST

New York, June 4.—The British freight steamship Katsuma was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine April 27 near the Spanish coast, according to Chris Thornton, an American seaman a survivor of the ship who arrived here. He said the ship was attacked without warning.

The Russian barque, Embergren, from Mobile Ala., March 18 for Greenock, Scotland, was sunk by a German submarine on May 1 off the coast of Ireland, according to American members of the crew who arrived here today. The crew escaped.

COMMITTEE FAVORS TAX ON ADVERTISING

Votes Against Increasing Second Class Postage Rates and In Favor of Flat Advertising Tax.

Washington, June 4.—After several hours' discussion of how newspapers, magazines and other publications shall be taxed for war purposes, the senate finance committee today adopted a resolution against increasing second-class postage rates and in favor of levying a direct flat two per cent tax upon advertising receipts. The decision is tentative, but is expected to be final.

The House of Representatives is in recess until Wednesday, in honor of the veterans and in observance of Registration Day, and the senate will probably recess today until Wednesday to permit members to extend a welcome.

In voting on the advertising tax question the committee considered, but postponed, a decision upon exempting newspapers and other publications whose annual advertising receipts were less than $2000.

SUPREME SACRIFICES BEING MADE BY GERMAN ON WEST FRONT IN EFFORT TO STEM ADVANCE OF ALLIED TROOPS.

NEWGERMAN THRUST

Crown Prince's Troops Last Night Forced Way Into Advanced French Positions—Germans Yesterday Suffered Bloody Repulse on Plateau Chemin Des Dames.

The Associated Press War summary today says:

There seems ample evidence that the Germans are prepared to make almost any sacrifice of men to hold the situation on the western front.

Along the line held by the French, the Germans are making almost ceaseless counter attacks in the Aisne region and the Champagne. Although suffering a bloody repulse Sunday in repeated attacks on the Vanier and California plateaus, they made a new thrust last night near Froimont farm, along the Chemin des Dames plateau.

The Paris report shows this had some success, the crown prince's troops forcing their way into advanced French positions.

The British on their front have not been so frequently counter attacked, but whenever they have tried to advance they have found dense masses of Germans opposing them. Today's British official statement does not mention any further fight in the vicinity of Lens.

Near Cherbourg the British last night recaptured the post taken from them by the Germans Saturday night.

Everywhere under the sun— wherever roofs are laid— Certain-teed stands for these two things:

Efficiency Economy

CERTAIN-TEED roofing is the most efficient and economical type of roof for factories, office buildings, farm buildings, garages, etc., because the first cost is less than that of metal, wood shingles, or tar and gravel.

Certain-teed Roofing

Is the best quality of prepared roofing. It pays to get the best. The only difference between the first cost of a good roof and a poor one is in the materials—the labor, freight, etc., costs the same in both.

For residences, Slate Surfaced Asphalt Shingles have all the advantages of CERTAIN-TEED Roofing, plus artistic beauty, not bulky, and are uniform in weight, quality and appearance.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes

Are good, reliable products made by experienced paint men, who have at their command all the modern equipment, materials and resources necessary to manufacture good paints and varnishes.

The Chalmers For Economy

In 24-hour high-gear, non-motor stop tests in Chicago, Detroit and Boston, the Chalmers has made a wonderful showing for economy.

The Chalmers six-cylinder motor is small and light. We believe its fuel consumption is very much less than that of any other high grade car.

In Chicago on a high-gear 24-hour test it averaged 14 miles to the gallon.

In Detroit on a slow speed on high-gear, 24-hour test the average was 10 miles to the gallon.

In Boston a Sedan with practically 350 full stops of the car averaged 12 miles to the gallon.

These tests demonstrate conclusively that in average running such as owners have every day Chalmers economy is unequalled.

DECLARES THEIR HOUR HAS STRUCK

NEW SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ORDER IS EMERGING IN EVERY HAND MRS. ROBINS SAYS.

TEST OF PRINCIPLES

Speaker at National Woman's Trades Union Pleads For Loyal Support For Federal Government.

Kansas City, June 4.—Pleading for loyal support of the federal government and declaring that a new social and economic order is emerging in every land and that a new internationalism is coming through the suffering of our world here today.

"Democracy is a truth for which we have labored and suffered; the right of individual freedom and self-government is said to be the whole purpose of our armies and all those fighting in the Allied cause.

"As to the worth of labor it is everywhere acknowledged that the issues of this great struggle will be determined by the producers of the world. The days of supermen—the Napoleons and Caesars—have gone, never to return.

"But wonderful as this hour is for democracy and labor it is the greatest hour in history for the women of the world. After centuries of discrimination women are coming into the labor and festival of life on equal terms with the soldiers on the firing line.

"Canada, Russia, America and even England should have an enfranchisement when this war is over.

"The most far-reaching transformation in the conditions of our world is said to be permanent, from unskilled and unimportant to trained and essential factors in the economic life of the world.

"When we remember that even in times of peace women were working in 250 trades and occupations out of the 907 listed by the census, that women were the war they were serving as chauffeurs, engineers, Marconi operators and aviators, we can well imagine the what further development of woman's work and woman's power will be brought about by the withdrawal of two million men from American industry.

"Trade and technical training for women is of the importance of England recognized this by providing such training to her women after the first months of the war. We must demand that in the new development of public school education girls be given the same chance as their brothers for training in knowledge and mastery of their respective trades.

"We are fighting for democracy in a larger sense than our forefathers in any political term. There are many forms of democratic governments and we are not fighting for any particular form. But we are fighting for the essential part of it all, namely, that we are all equally interested in our social and political life and all have a right to a voice in the government under which we live.

Trenton, Ga.—Mrs. Elsie Gifford, of his place, writes: "I have always suffered... but was worse after marriage, would have... pains and misery in my stomach and hips. I would have a bad headache every time, which would generally last two days. I had always heard that a good medicine Cardui was, so I thought I would try it. I used two bottles and it helped me.

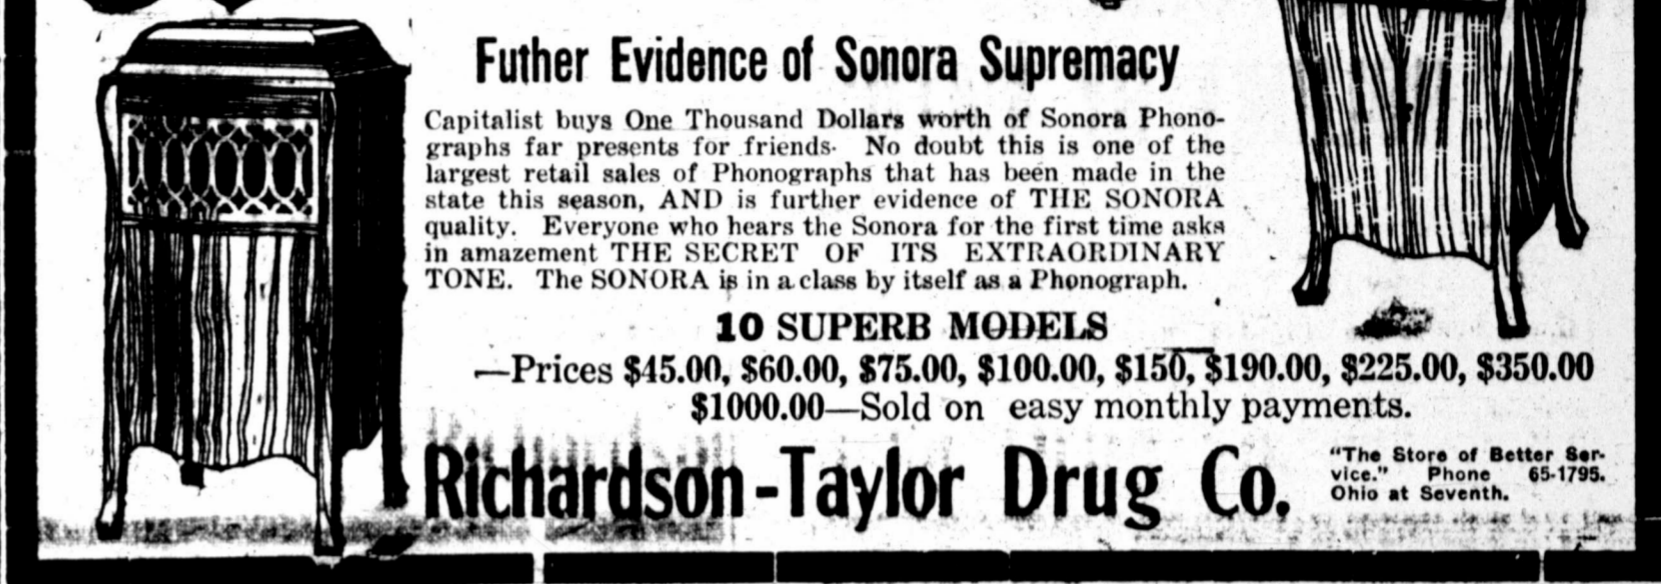

Fifteen months later I began to be nervous and was worse at my... But at these times I did not have any pain and do not now suffer any pain. But I was very nervous, so nervous that my hands would shake. Any noise would make me jump. So I took two more bottles of Cardui. I have never been nervous since... and do not have any pain. Think this is all due to Cardui and Stack-Draught."

MANY CHANGES IN ATTITUDE OF CHINESE

Foreign Innovations No Longer Under Ban and Foreign Ideas Are Now Fashionable.

Peking.—Striking changes which have been wrought in China's attitude toward foreign innovations were emphasized by Dr. Wu Ting-fang, the Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs, in an address which he delivered at the semi-annual dinner of the American College Club, composed of Chinese students who had returned after obtaining an education in American colleges. The dinner was held in the Foreign Office.

In his address to the collegians who had studied in America, Dr. Wu Ting-fang said that the dinner, bringing together Chinese men and women, was indicative of the changes which have swept over China, since the first Chinese students were sent abroad to be educated.

"A dinner like this could not then have taken place," said the Minister. "It was the outgrowth of the question referred in China to foreign things. There was a distrust of foreigners."

"When I first learned the English language, I did not dare to speak it in China. I often had to conceal my knowledge. Everything foreign was feared and despised. But what a great change has taken place. We now see Chinese youths in foreign dress, wearing patent leather shoes and tall hats. Everything foreign is a fashion today. It is most fashionable of all who have foreign wives.

"Forty years ago a Chinese gentleman who was educated in Yale learned many good things during his sojourn there. Then he returned to China and had a hard struggle. By perseverance and indomitable patience he succeeded in persuading Li Hung-chang and Tseng Kuo-fan to send students to America for education. Finally 129 students were dispatched to the states in educators, both in the United States and China.

The American Minister, Dr. Reisch, Admiral Tsai Ting-kan and many other prominent Chinese officials, were among the guests of honor seated at the speakers' table. C. C. Wang, a graduate of Yale, acted as toastmaster, and presented the new president of the club, Mr. Wang, who is also a Yale man, and vice-speaker of the Chinese Senate.

WARNS COUNTRYMEN OF GERMAN IDEALS

Tokio.—A warning against the spread of pro-German sentiment among the Japanese people has been uttered by Dr. Inazo Nitobe, a famous scholar. Through the columns of a popular business organ he has declared that two dangers confront his people during the present war. The first is the pro-German illusion and the second the tendency to luxurious living.

"If the German ambitions should be realized, Japan herself, unless she were conquered by Germany would have to become ultra-military, and sacrifice all other aims of civilization for the sake of accumulation of warlike weapons and military preparedness. With a country like Germany roaming about at large in the world there could never be a guarantee of peace without powerful military strength."

Dr. Nitobe condemns the extravagance of those who have become rich through the war, and says they are exercising a demoralizing influence on the morality of the masses of the people.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE UNIVERSITY.

The closing of the University of Texas for two years will be a serious blow to educational progress in the State, but this loss will be nothing compared to the humiliation and loss that would have followed a surrender by the University authorities to the tyrannical demands of the maddened autocrat who sits in the Governor's chair. The dignity and fine spirit in which President Vinson met the situation brought on by the Governor's autocratic demands will inspire all lovers of independence and democracy and will recall glorious names in Texas history. Governor Ferguson is trying to conceal the issue by an appeal to prejudice in disparaging talk about "highbrows," "pampered sons of rich men," and a people some "how wild about higher education," but those who have been observing the product of the University of Texas know that it is a very practical and useful sort of high-brow education that is given there, and whatever roughness the University is able to take off of the "roughnecked" sons of Texas farmers who comprise the great body of students at the University is so much good done, and that even a little polish is a good thing. That there is an enthusiasm about education in Texas, and all education is higher—is a cause for congratulation rather than to be deprecated. The great good that is going to come out of the mess created by the Governor's veto is that it is going to be made clear, once for all that the University is removed from political or personal control. Governor Ferguson has all along been imbued with the idea that his will must be imposed on the University. If anything was needed to make this plainer than his actions, he has done this in his statement vetoing the appropriation, when he says:

Regardless of consequences, I am not going to sit idly by and appropriate $1,600,000 appropriation and have my friends whom I have appointed to assist me in carrying on the affairs of the government permanently restrained from having a voice to say how this vast sum of money shall be spent and being required to keep my official against their will."
Discussing this phase of the matter, the Waco Times-Herald makes these thoughtful observations:
"Judging him by his acts, Mr. Ferguson went into the Governor's office in the full belief that all State institutions should reflect the will and purpose of the Governor. For example, the Constitution provides that as to certain boards a member should be appointed for six years, two of the six members serving every two years. The clear intent here is to provide a clean sweep and thus to place the institution as far as practicable beyond partisan control and political exigency. In the case of the University, this is all the more pronounced, the government of the institution being committed to a board of regents, and holding office for eight years, two going out of office every two years. Mr. Ferguson has not hesitated to remove members of boards, doing so under a provision on the law that is in direct conflict with the Constitution, the law as we understand it, antedating this provision of the Constitution. The removal of Dr. S. J. Jones from the University Board of Regents throws a flood of light on the workings of Mr. Ferguson's mind to wit:
"The said S. J. Jones, since his appointment in office, has openly manifested an utter antagonism with the views and purposes of the present administration.
"it is there made quite evident that Mr. Ferguson considers each and every State institution as a part of the administration in such a way as to rob it of any purpose of its own. There is, we are free to say, some merit in this contention; all the parts of a machine should work in harmony. But the Constitution has made it otherwise, and, in the case of the University, Mr. Ferguson is a transgressor by reason of the fact that his institution could not by any possibility be construed to be a part of the political machinery of the State. The University may be said to have its own organization, being a creature of the Constitution, its foundations having been laid in the year 1890, and only in Texas. The purpose of the University, as declared by the Constitution, is the promotion of literature, and the arts and sciences. On the contrary, it is an institution of universal recognition, and therefore is entitled to public respect and public confidence. Simply because the president and members of the faculty are persons non grata with the State's chief executive is no warrant for a sudden and swift change in the personnel of the Board of Regents, a Board wholly removed from control by the chief executive or any other authority. In Thrall's History of Texas is the statement that "the whole government of the institution is committed to a Board of eight Regents, to be nominated by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, and to hold office for eight years, two going out of office every two years." The "whole government" is correct, and to hold office for eight years means that length of time, provided that neither death nor resignation bring a vacancy. As we see it, Governor Ferguson has transcended his powers and by reason thereof has created a situation that is distracting to the people and hurtful to the University.

PATRIOTISM AND PLUNDER.

(By Lee J. Rountree, in Houston Post.)
Wheat that sold for $1 per bushel a year ago is now held at $2.20 per bushel. The United States will be crippled in the war with Germany if such conditions are allowed to continue. The government is confronted with danger to its material welfare if it does not take drastic steps to stop the plunder of the people by those who profit from the war. Criminal indictments should be returned against those who attempt the restraint of prices and the government should place the offenders in the penitentiary.
The news print trust has been indicted by a United States grand jury in New York. News paper that cost $22 per ton is now sold for $175 per ton and was marked up ultimately to $200 per ton. The avariciousness of the trust and the very vitals of the newspaper industry and all profits were wiped out. Since the indictments secured through the department of justice and the Federal trade commission at Washington, the advance in news paper was abated, but the prices are still 100 per cent too high.
The coal barons have been indicted in New York and Chicago for violations of the Sherman anti-trust law and about eighteen of the most prominent industrialists face criminal charges. Leading the European war taken from the earth in the United States was advanced to enormous prices in the cities of the United States. It is time for the strong arm of the righteous law to speak to the criminals in no uncertain terms. "So far as that goes and no further."
The meat packers have advanced prices to make enormous and unjust profits and when they saw the hand writing on the wall they hurried to Washington and declared they would stop the looting and plundering of the people and do business with clean hands. Their exploitation had become notorious and disastrous. With prosecutions staring them in the face and the sight of prison bars before them they declared, "We will rob no more."
What does all this mean in the war crisis? Where is our patriotism and what will save us from financial disaster, bread and food riots and starvation if these things continue? Only the strong voice of the government which will declare: "Thou shalt not steal!" Only the strong arm of the law will save the women and children from starvation.
Even the onion price manipulators, eighteen of them, including a Texan, have been indicted when onions advanced from 2 1/2 cents per pound to the raiser to 15 cents per pound to the consumer. The same toll and the same men raised the same onions and why this time?
Will the people stand for these crimes against justice and right? How long, O how long, will a horde of desperadoes of the Sam Ross, Jesse James, and Wild Bill and Cole Younger class be allowed to violate the laws? In olden times criminals of this class were beaten and driven from the marketplace, shall the efficiency of the war be jeopardized by the grafters and price fixers who are sapping the life blood of the people?
Even the middlemen are holding immense stocks of goods and food stuffs and advancing the price to enormous profit in the name of war. Shall we continue to pay tribute to these traitors and plunderers? Will the American people pay taxes and submit meekly to the reign of the profiteers and the strong arm of the plotters and the strong arm of the righteous law should be invoked against all offenders, rich and poor.
It is a plain duty of every patriotic American citizen to do more than his duty in this crisis hour to keep business going and bring about victory at home and abroad. The man who does not meet the issues as a patriot is a traitor to his country. The man who attempts by unfair means to curtail the food products and necessities of life and advance prices, without justification is a traitor to their country. There is public service to be rendered and the time for universal patriotic service has come. Those who do not carry increased burdens are shirking their plain duty. Those who would lay burdens on the people should be thrown out of the country.
Shall we as a nation "choose life or death—will we stand with the United States to answer. If the speculators and gamblers by combination raise prices and take all the money there is from the people who will buy the bonds to keep the expenses of the war going. Over $2,000,000,000 must be raised at once in bonds and taxes amounting to $1,500,000,000 must be raised this year in addition to taxes already assessed. Next year $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 additional must be raised. We are raising billions and we have raised billions heretofore. Let the speculator and the gambler be curbed. They will have all the money and the people will have none to pay with. This is a far greater question than the average citizen or official realizes and there must be protection of individual rights and the rights of the poor and poverty will follow the exploitation which is unjust and unrighteous.
The hour for universal patriotism has come and the gambler must be driven from power and punished. As Christ in ancient days with the whip of scourges drove the money changers from the Temple.

PURSUIITS OF PEACE UPON HEELS OF WAR

French Peasants Reclaiming Battle Trenches Won Back From Germans For Food Growing.

Staff Correspondence of the Associated Press, British Army Headquarters in France. While the grip of the German blockade on the continent they think from Switzerland to sea slowly but steadily is being broken, each backward step means added misery for the millions of French. The coming of spring has emphasized anew how closely the pursuists of peace tread upon the heels of war. Fully French farms, geometrically precise, reach up to the domain of the guns and it is possible for many parts of the line to see old French men and women following the plow or harrow almost to the very edge of the heavy battery positions. Shells are tossed near them now and then but they never seem to mind. The war is nearly three years old now and shows no signs of abating. It is the abnormal ones. It is even possible along older bits of the line in the north to see farmers plowing both sides of the war zone. At the front the Germans were driven this spring, and the trenches already have been filled and the remainder of the newly sown fields, however, recently have been ripped up by long ranged German guns.
Fighting men who are relieved every little while from front line duty come for a brief rest to the springlike beauty of the back country and the charge of surroundings from the confusion of war to the peace of blossoms and birds is no greater than the transformation of these English Tommies, themselves, and their brothers overseas. These men who, under the red spell of battle, shoot, bayonet and bomb to death "ill who stand before them, become gentle as little children again. One can see these soldiers with the battle fatigue still heavy upon their standing for hours in long lines under divisional canteens waiting their turn to go to the front and others stream out laden with cakes and candy.
Grim and resolute in battle, Tommy seems to have a certain simplicity and kindness of heart which makes him react quickly to the normal laws of manhood as soon as the fighting is over. If he has to make a journey by train, he sits in the open doors of box cars with his feet and legs swinging outside. If there is a "movie show" anywhere near, he gladly pays fifty cents to go always, especially when war scenes happen to be shown, laughing heartily when a shell bursts nearby, apparently to have as yet no realization of the man working the camera.
Today, while resting, a squadron of cavalry was having a water carnival and a pretty little "Fussell" river, their hands playing gray and red, all the women, children and old men of the countryside came to see the swimming races, diving contests and attempts to walk a greasy pole across a swift running stream. There was a soldier down, too, and a great deal of merriment all about. A German prisoner taken some time ago said he could always tell when the British were going to attack by the fact that the Tommies could be heard singing, especially rattling.
There are no longer any songs about how long it is from Tiberias, but at work or play or swine along the roads to battle, nowadays, the Tommies sing about getting back to their home in Tennessee and about having a Kentucky jubilee, without the slightest idea just where Tennessee or Kentucky are.
If the American expeditionary force comes into the British zone, the Americans will find the bands playing and the men singing many old familiar tunes.

DIVIDES EXPORTS TO BELLIGERENTS

HOLLAND APPOINTMENTS SUCCESSFULLY BETWEEN ENGLAND AND GERMANY.

Holland was long since absolutely closed to the world as a gateway into Germany. Associated Press Mail Correspondence. The Hague, Netherlands. Every consignment of Dutch cattle exported to Germany costs the lives of sons of France, recently declared a French writer. "The British blockade of Germany is still being evaded by the despatch of the foreign office policy, constantly reiterate certain London journals.
The correspondent of the Associated Press is informed by a Dutch authority that, while the trade of Holland over Holland into Germany has long since been absolutely cut off by the blockade, the only exception at quite insignificant quantities of goods smuggled across the frontiers, Germany is still obtaining considerable supplies of badly needed commodities from Holland, the produce of Dutch farms and market gardens, butter, cheese, eggs, milk, vegetables, meat, bacon and other foodstuffs.
A radical alternation has been brought about in the division of the country's surplus products. The week of last year, the high prices offered by Germany and Austria were drawing the great bulk of Holland's surplus agricultural produce to the north. The normal trade with Britain had fallen almost to the vanishing point.
Holland was thus not only running a blockade of Germany, but also a blockade of the world. The result was a resolve to divide the country's surplus food produce between the Entente Allies and the Central Powers in the same proportion as before the war, and the agricultural export bureau was established to control that task.
Under an agreement with the semi-official British and General Trading Company, which now monopolizes the export bureau, the remainder of exported food stuff to the British market, to France or the Belgian relief commission, while the remainder all goes to the German trade trust by the medium of the Central Purchasing Company, which now monopolizes the rest to Germany, bacon, pork and other meat, half to either, vegetables a quarter to Great Britain and three-quarters to Germany; milk three-quarters to Britain and a quarter to Germany; potatoes and potato flour, half to each; eggs, up to a quarter to Britain and the rest to Germany. No arrangement has yet been come to in regard to the exportable sugar crop, but probably half will go either way.
Under a separate agreement with the Netherlands, which has been made, Germany receives virtually all of the Dutch sugar exports.
Despite ruthless submarineing the export of British goods to Germany is usual. The Great Eastern line in the Atlantic has five vessels in the service, and various Dutch vessels still run to British ports.
Incidentally, the Dutch hit upon a neat way of discouraging the taking in of their boats to Zebrugghe by Germany, by charging a heavy duty on food exports so captured were reckoned as if they had been exported over Holland's eastern frontier, and the duty would contain more than three ounces of protein, the chief material for body building. It is also a valuable source of energy, though not so high as foods with more fat. It follows that its value in this respect can be greatly increased by serving it with cream, or so commonly done.
Cottage cheese alone is an appetizing and nutritious dish. It may also be served with sweet or sour cream, and some people add a little sugar, or chives, chopped onion, or caraway seed.

The following recipes illustrate a number of ways in which cottage cheese may be served:

With Preserves and Jellies.
Pour over cottage cheese any fruit preserves, such as strawberries, figs or cherries. Serve with bread or crackers. If preferred, cottage cheese balls may be served separately and eaten with the preserves. A very dainty dish may be made by dropping a bit of jelly into a nest of the cottage cheese.

Cottage Cheese Salad.
Mix thoroughly one pound of cheese, one and one-half tablespoons of cream, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and salt to taste. First, fill a rectangular tin mold with cold water to chill and set the surface, line the bottom with waxed paper, then pack in three layers, putting two or three parallel strips of pimento between layers. Cover with waxed paper and set in a cool place until ready to serve; then run a knife around the sides and invert on a platter. Cut in slices and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing and waters. Minced olives may be used instead of the parsley, and chopped nuts also may be added.

Cottage Cheese Rolls.
(To be used the most rolls.)
A large variety of rolls, suitable for serving as the main dish at dinner, may be made by combining legumes (beans of various kinds, cowpeas, lentils or peas), with cottage cheese, and adding bread crumbs to make the mixture thick enough to form into rolls. Beans are usually mashed, but peas or small lima beans may be combined whole with bread crumbs and cottage cheese, and enough of the liquor in which the vegetables have been cooked may be added to get the right consistency, or instead of beans or peas, chopped potato, carrot tops, or head lettuce may be added.

Boston Roast.
One potato can of kidney beans, or equivalent quantity of cooked beans. Bread crumbs. Salt.
Mash the beans or put them through a meat grinder. Add the cheese and bread crumbs enough to make the mixture sufficiently stiff to be formed into a roll. Bake in a moderate oven, basting occasionally with butter or other fat, and water. Serve with tomato sauce. This dish may be flavored with chopped onions, cooked in butter or other fat, and a very little water added.

Pimento and Cottage Cheese Roast.
2 cups of cottage cheese, 5 can-ners salt.
Put the first three ingredients through a meat chopper. Mix thoroughly and add bread crumbs until it is stiff enough to form into a roll. Brown in oven, basting occasionally with butter or other fat, and water.

Cottage Cheese and Nut Roast.
1 cup of cottage cheese, 1 cup of salt and pepper to taste. Fluctuate the flour and just before serving add the cheese, stirring until it is melted.
This sauce may be used in preparing creamed eggs or for ordinary meat. The quantity of cheese in the recipe may be increased, making a more suitable for use with macaroni or rice.

FRANCE STILL HAS GOOD SUPPLY OF LIVE STOCK
Paris. A census of live stock taken at the end of the year and just published in the Journal Officiel shows that in spite of the requirements of the army amounting to 20,000 head of cattle a month, France had lost only 2,500,000 head from a total of 14,757,700 head existing at the end of 1915. This loss of 15 per cent in the total includes oxen and calves as well as beef cattle.
The recently decreed restriction of beef consumption to one meal a day, at once since it has been accepted, has very good effect by the public generally, has already shown its effect. Pottchers say their sales have diminished more than 15 per cent. If this rate of economy is maintained, a further 20 per cent decrease in beef consumption is anticipated and a brief prohibition of the slaughter of calves for veal would restore it to the figures of 1915.
A six per cent decrease in the whole sale price of meat at the Central Markets is attributed in part to the new restriction. Retail prices, however, have not declined in anything like the same ratio.
The census shows that the number of sheep in France decreased during the war from 16,191,200 to 10,845,900 and horses from 7,035,850 to 4,961,900. 78,000 swine remained, as made with 1,019,000, a record year for live stock in France.

THE NUMBER OF HORSES IN THE UNITED STATES IN 1917 WAS COMPUTED AT 7,222,000 AT THE END OF JULY. MILLION HORSES WERE LOST IN THE FIRST YEAR OF THE WAR.

PATRIOTIC PARADE TO FORM AT 10:30

BOY SCOUTS, RED CROSS CHAPTERS, VETERANS AND OTHERS WILL BE LED BY BAND.

MEETING AT NIGHT

At Theater Addresses Will Be Made By Mayor Britain and Other Citizens.

Tomorrow will be given over to a patriotic demonstration by Wichita Falls citizens, the holiday proclamation by the mayor making it possible that all take part in the parade arranged to honor the young men who will perform the patriotic duty of registering for service in the new national army.

Under the auspices of the Red Cross Society of Wichita county, a parade for the morning and a great public patriotic meeting has been arranged to be held at 8 o'clock at the Wichita Theater.

In the morning at 10:30 the parade will form at the court house, with J. B. Marlow acting as grand marshal. Taylor's band, which has volunteered its services for the demonstration, will lead the parade and will be followed in the order named by the Boy Scouts, the Wichita Falls chapter of the Red Cross, the Electra chapter, the Burk Burnett chapter, the Iowa Park chapter and the Petrolia chapter; the fire department; the Civil War veterans, and the young men who are subject to registration, or who have already registered, and finally other patriotic citizens in automobiles.

All owners of automobiles are requested to be with their cars at the court house at 10 o'clock and the marshal may have ample time to get the parade properly formed before 11 o'clock. The Motor Club will take part in the parade as a body, and will lead from the parade to the regular bi-weekly luncheon at the St. James hotel.

For the program in the evening at the Wichita Theater, special attention has been paid to the young men who registered during the day. Sections of the lower floor have been reserved for them, and they will be permitted to have their wives or parents with them. All the young men between the ages of 21 and 30 are urged to attend this meeting as the Red Cross is anxious that the program accomplish its object, that of showing the young men that they are appreciated and giving some recognition of the patriotic duty they perform in registering.

Taylor's band will furnish the music for this occasion, also. The opera house will be open at 7:30 and the public is urged to come early, so that the program can commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

LOAN SHARK TEST CASE SOON TO BE SUBMITTED

Austin, Texas, June 4.—On June 23 there will be submitted in the court of criminal appeals the case of C. O. Juhn, appealed from Ellis County, which involves the constitutionality of the so-called Loan Shark Act of the 24th legislature. Practically every provision of this law is assailed as being not only contrary to the state constitution, but violative of the federal constitution. It is contended that even the caption is invalid, in that it contains more than one subject matter and does not fairly express the main provisions of the law. In a case originating from Texas county, this court held the act valid, but only one or two provisions are involved. Now "a new act" is involved.

TEXAS' PURCHASING PLAN HAS MANY MERITS

Austin, Texas, June 4.—The Texas plan of purchasing annually approximately $1,750,000 of supplies for educational and institutional purposes is far superior to that of California, Oregon and Washington, according to Charles K. Osburn, member of the board of control of Arizona, who has just completed an investigation here of the Texas method. Mr. Osburn said before leaving that his investigation had convinced him of the merits of the Texas system, and said he will recommend to the Arizona legislature that it pass a law similar to the one in operation here. He said that the State of California paid $75,000 annually for the operation of its purchasing department, while the Texas department is maintained on $7,730 annually.

Opening prices ranged from 1 1/2 to 2 cents higher with July at $2.07 to $2.08 and September at $1.92. The close was firm, 4 to 8 cents net higher, with July at $2.15, and September at $1.95.

MAY FILL UP GUARD AND ARMY BY DRAFT MANY "ABSENTEES" FILLING OUT CARDS

Shortage of Regulars and Militia May Force Conscription to Fill Ranks.

While there has been no official announcement, it is believed that the selective draft will be applied before the summer is over to enable the government to bring the regular army to its full war strength of 233,000 men, and also to complete the expansion of the National Guard to 409,000 men.

Since April 1 there have been 83,949 men recruited for the army out of a total of 183,898 needed on that date to bring the army to full war strength. Approximately 100,000 men are still needed. It has taken nearly two months to obtain 83,949 men, and unless recruiting, which has shown a decline during the last week, takes a spurt, it may be necessary to resort to the draft.

Colorado Shows the Best Gain The biggest gain in national guard recruiting in any state during the past ten days was in Colorado, where 23 officers and 623 men were added.

is believed, will be necessary, for they are charged with a conspiracy on May 1st to resist the conscription law, when in fact the army law was not finally enacted until about ten days later.

The Times has received a statement from J. J. Manley, declaring his innocence of the charges set forth in the complaint published in Sunday's Times. Mr. Manley has never been placed under arrest, and says he has never been served with a warrant. His statement follows:

"I wish a little space in The Times relative to the movement now being made by government officials against the Farmers and Laborers' Protective Association of America. I have no carriages to bring against the faithful performances of the duties of the officers, for we all know that the best of men, as well as officers, sometimes make mistakes. While I attended but three meetings of this organization, yet I feel fully confident that it is a victim of unjust suspicion. I met the first organizer that came here; I was favorably impressed that he is a farmer and Christian gentleman—an American, whose sympathies go out to the common laborer. "Having the same feeling myself, I went into the organization for the purpose of assisting this class of labor to get better wages and in cooperative buying of the necessities of life. If it was the purpose of the order to resist conscription, it entirely recanted my attention, while I recognized the fact that the organizer himself and some others expressed themselves as opposed to war and wholesale human slaughter, as well as conscription; yet no obligation nor advantage was dispensed in the business routine that even hinted at resistance to registration or conscription.

"At neither of the other meetings I attended was there anything said or done in the routine of the business of the organization, nor any direct speaker that indicated armed resistance to registration or conscription."

"I have heard that other meetings that the young members drilled. This, however, if true, did not impress me that the leaders intended armed resistance to the U. S. government any more than the W. O. W. drills indicated it. The object emphasized in every feature of the meetings I attended was to assist each other financially and otherwise when in our power to do so. "I have for years realized the faulty nature of the wrong, social, or common people to undertake to resist the organized authorities of the state or nation by physical force or direct action. But I feel it my duty and privilege to fight against oppression, tyranny and injustice with my pen, vote and vote at every opportunity. "Therefore, I would emphasize the fact that armed resistance to the U. S. had been incorporated in the purposes of the organization of the P. and I. P. A. of A. I would have never attended a second meeting, nor contributed to its financial needs. "True, I cannot speak for all the members, but I am quite sure that the secretary and vice-president are intelligent, clean and hard working men, and beg to say that I believe their arrest was not well-founded. Again, let me say that the constitution of the order evidently is the same everywhere in every state that it is here. I therefore quote Art. 2nd: "Sec. 1. The purpose of the organization is to organize the workers into a compact body that they may more intelligently study these subjects that touch their economic condition and to engage in all such financial business as the judgment of the membership shall dictate, that is not in conflict with the law of the country.

"The organization is wholly democratic and a majority of the membership, unless their rule conflicts with the laws of the country.

"I feel glad that the spirit of democracy for which our fathers bled and died still courses in the veins and boils up in the breast of the loyal Americans. When this noble spirit is slaughtered, then monarchs, with all its attendant evils, will take its place. "J. J. MANLEY."

Peking—Gilbert Reid, the American editor placed under arrest by consular authorities on a charge of slandering President Wilson, came to China from America many years ago, as a missionary. Recently he has conducted the International Institute at Shanghai, an organization designed to harmonize the various religions of the Orient.

Two months ago he came to Peking from Shanghai and became editor of the Peking Post, an afternoon daily said to be financed by German interests. Reid published daily editorials in this paper over his own signature in which he criticized the attitude of the United States towards Germany, and it is charged, conveyed the impression that President Wilson's views were not representative of the American people.

His utterances were very objectionable to Americans and the representatives of the Entente powers. The news columns of his paper were filled with items, likely, it is alleged, to put the American government and the President in the wrong light before the Chinese. The consulate at Tientsin, gave Reid a preliminary hearing, at which he pleaded not guilty of the charge of seditious utterance preferred against him. He was remanded to the United States Court for China, and released under $2,500 bail.
