

News of Baird PEOPLE & THINGS By E. M.

HEARD A STORY this week of three fishermen, one from Moran and two from Sweetwater, who caught over 300 fish with regular tackle in about four hours. Floyd Midkiff of Moran was in the group. They were fishing at Port Mansfield, Marker 17, on Sunday evening, July 28. About 8 p.m. the water turned black with fish, and when the party quit from exhaustion at 12:30 a.m. Monday, they had 300 trout and four other of different varieties. Understand they threw back everything that weighed more or less than a pound and a half to two pounds. This is one fish story that stood up — they brought home the evidence.

BAIRD'S THREE ARMY reservists, R. L. Smedley, Robert Barnhill and Paul Jones, have returned from the wars. The three, members of the 490th Civil Affairs Co., spent two weeks at Fort Wolters at Mineral Wells in the reserve training program. Reports are that it was a strenuous two weeks. Imagine it is pretty tough on men who are accustomed to air conditioned offices and homes to hit the field in mid-summer for a couple of weeks of hard work. It's a good program, and everyone is indebted to men who have a part in that phase of our preparedness program.

FROM THE LOOKS of things, it won't be long before the Ray Blacks will be moving into their attractive brick home in the north part of town. Looks like workmen are putting the finishing touches on the interior. When the Blacks move into their new home, the Ed Cottons will move into the present Black home on Ross Drive.

MR. R. L. SMEDLEY, Sr., brought in a very tasty peach Monday. It was a vast variety of the Frank peach and was about as big as a coffee cup. The meat was red and sweet. Understand this was the first year for the tree to put on peaches, and that the neighborhood kids didn't let many of them stay on after they started turning.

RECEIVED WORD THIS week from the publishers of Who's Who in the South and Southwest that Randall C. Jackson of Baird and Abilene was one of those honored by being included in the publication. The book included the names of outstanding people of the south and southwest along with a sketch of the activities which make the person outstanding. It is an honor to be included in the book. Congratulations.

WE'VE LONG suspected it, but a sign we saw not long ago in Snyder proved it. Above a snow cone stand along the highway in Snyder is the sign which reads: "5c Snow Cones 10c". Guess things are about ready for the beginning of work on Interstate Highway 20 just west of Baird. The contractor was putting up signs Monday. A number of construction people have moved to Baird and are getting ready to be Baird citizens for at least a year. It is up to us to make them feel at home. One family moved in about the biggest trailer we ever saw. It is located on the lot just west of the Baptist Church and it is about as long as the lot. The contractors are opening offices and shops in Baird for the duration of the contract.

MICKEY BROWN, who is just about Baird's biggest sports fan, was named president of the Baird Quarterback Club at a meeting Monday night. He'll need your support and encouragement. Lloyd Jones, the retiring president, and his workers are to be congratulated on a fine job last year. They took over the reins of the club when it was rather deeply in debt and during the year the club purchased an

People of Baird started the Debbie Alexander Fund to help defray the expense of the surgery and hospital care. Mrs. China Alphin, Mrs. Fay Smith and James Eubanks are in charge of the fund and of its disbursements. Other donations will be welcomed, it was announced.

In business, the local post voted to donate $25.00 to the Debbie Alexander Fund.

hed sheets to colored signal flags King Neptune and the Royal Court (composed of Shellbacks) passed judgement on the renegades. All Shellbacks were equipped with paddles; some manned fire hoses to "assist" the Pollywogs in getting through the initiation.

Everyone... all Pollywogs... appearing before the Royal Judge was pronounced guilty... of being a Pollywog.

By the time the trials were over, every Pollywog had visited the Royal Barber for a haircut, kissed the Royal Baby, been treated by the Royal Doctor (a dose of bad-tasting concoction) and bathed in the Royal Bath of Salt water.

USS RADFORD (FHTNC) — James W. Nance, firman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Nance of Route 1, Clyde, Texas, serving aboard the destroyer USS RADFORD, recently saw a number of Pollywogs become Shellbacks in shipboard ceremonies conducted by King Neptune and his Royal Court.

Although the Pollywogs outnumbered the Shellbacks by considerable odds, by sunset all Pollywogs aboard the RADFORD had been forced to join the Shellbacks in accordance with the tradition of the U. S. Navy and the laws of King Neptune.

The memorable ceremonies were conducted July 14 when the RADFORD, in company with two other units of Destroyer Division 252, crossed the equator. For the uninitiated, in the ways of the sea, "Pollywogs" are seamen crossing the line for the first time; "Shellbacks", on the other hand, are "old salts" who have crossed it before.

The nine week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, military law, ordinance and gunnery, seamanship and shipboard routine, damage control, sentry duty and military drill, physical fitness, swimming, first aid and survival.

During the training period recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical instruction or to ships or shore stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Naval training commands produce the power behind seapower by supplying trained personnel for the technical duties of today's Navy.

SAN DIEGO, CALIF. (FHTNC) — Raymond Allman, son of J. L. Allman of 528 Chestnut, Ernest L. Gleghorn, son of Odie Gleghorn of 810 Peyton, both of Baird, Texas, recently completed basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

The nine week training includes naval orientation, history and organization, military law, ordinance and gunnery, seamanship and shipboard routine, damage control, sentry duty and military drill, physical fitness, swimming, first aid and survival.

During the training period recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical instruction or to ships or shore stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Naval training commands produce the power behind seapower by supplying trained personnel for the technical duties of today's Navy.

We express our heartfelt thanks to all who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and death of our loved one. Your every act of love and expression of sympathy will always be a cherished memory.
