THE HAGUE, Feb. 15.—The latest allied note to Holland with regard to extradition of the former German emperor reverses the original demand for his surrender and only asks his internment with the suggestion that the former monarch be sent, perhaps, to one of the Dutch islands in the East Indies, it became known today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Bidding in millions, Gen. George E. Goethals and Mr. A. S. Franklin entered a spirited contest for five of the ex-German liners, auction of which started at the shipping board here today.

While the auction was in progress the senate adopted the McKellar resolution, directing the shipping board to hold up temporarily the proposed sale.

Another move in the ship sale and the effort to halt them today was by Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia supreme court, who, after hearing arguments for an injunction to restrain the sale announced he would hand down his decision next Friday.

NO BASIS FOR REPORT PRESIDENT DECLARES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—President Wilson will inform the Senate emphatically that there is "no basis" for the report of a secret agreement between the shipping board and the British interests for the sale of the 30 former German passenger liners.

The president's message will be in reply to the resolution of Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut, asking for information regarding the report.

Just before the White House announcement was made the public auction at which bids for the ships were received began at the shipping board with representatives of more than a score of shipping companies present.

"BIG THREE" ANNOUNCES THAT THEY WILL CONTINUE WITH THE ADRIATIC COMPROMISE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—President Wilson, it was learned today at the White House, did not say in his note to the entente premiers regarding the Fiume question that the United States would no longer be able to concern itself in European affairs if a Fiume settlement were made without consulting America.

Officials said the interpretation of the president's note by the Paris Temps was "too sweeping." They said the United States would not withdraw from participation in the peace treaty and the league of nations, if the treaty were ratified by the senate, but that it would withdraw from any participation in the Fiume settlement, including the policing of the Adriatic.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Prompt rejection of President Wilson's objections to the compromise agreement by which England, France and Italy hoped to settle with Jugo-Slavia questions relative to the Adriatic coast of the Adriatic is reported in the Echo de Paris.

At the same time the premier's reply was sent to Washington, the foreign minister of Jugo-Slavia was notified the viewpoint of the British and French governments had not been altered by the seemingly unexpected action of Mr. Wilson.

FRENCH PRESS AROUSED OVER NEWS OF PRESIDENT

La Liberté is particularly bitter in its criticism, declaring that Wilson, from his "proud isolation" in the White House, is again attempting to direct affairs of the continent, of which he has no conception.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE USING WEATHER TO ADVANTAGE

Reported to Be Improving Their Positions Along the Polish Battlefront

PARIS, Sunday, Feb. 15.—Bolshevik military leaders are taking advantage of the cold weather to improve their positions along the Polish battlefront, according to advices received here.

The principal point of concentration on the northern front is near Smolensk, where a crack division arrived recently in two other districts—near Gomel, in the center of the line, and not far from Kiev, further south—th-Soviet troops are utilizing main line railroads extending to the interior of Russia.

Direct communication between Smolensk, Gomel and Kiev is impossible as no railroad parallels the present Bolshevik front, and Polish military authorities here are unable to say whether the reds will remain at their concentration points or be distributed for the early spring drive which has been predicted in the event of failure of the peace negotiations with Poland.

Armistice plans call for a strategic line protecting Poland in the event peace negotiations are unsuccessful. The allies demanded the left bank of the Rhine from Germany, the Poles plan to demand bridge heads at Vitebsk and Orsha, on the Dvina, and the possible occupation of Smolensk will be the Bolsheviks will fulfill the conditions.

MENTION BAKER AS DARK HORSE FOR SECRETARY

Nomination of Man to Succeed Lansing Is Awaited With Interest at Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Nomination of a new secretary of state was awaited with intense interest here today as the next development in the virtually forced resignation of Secretary Lansing.

Among those mentioned are: John W. Davis, United States ambassador to Great Britain.

Frank B. Rowland, under secretary of state, now acting secretary.

Newton B. Baker, secretary of war. Disposition at both the White House and state department today was to leave the Wilson-Lansing break a closed incident.

Former Secretary of Commerce Redfield's statement that at the first of the "unauthorized" cabinet meetings last October, Admiral Grayson, President Wilson's personal physician, brought an inquiry from the president to the cabinet, was confirmed by the White House attaches.

Differences between Wilson and Lansing are understood to date back to just before the entrance of the United States into the war when Lansing issued his statement that the country was on the verge of war and the president unsuccessfully tried to recall it.

Nomination of John W. Davis to succeed Lansing has been predicted in an unusually well-informed quarter. Davis, formerly solicitor general of the United States has shown much ability, especially in his work in connection with the peace negotiations. Polk has become familiar with the duties of secretary of state during his services as acting secretary, and while he was head of the American peace delegation in Paris. Polk also served as counselor of the state department. It is believed Polk would accept the nomination.

Baker is the "dark horse" in the speculation. The Secretary of War is said to be in a bitter harmony with the policies of President Wilson. In the event Wilson selects Baker, Assistant Secretary of War Crowell probably would be made head of the war department.

Young Man Frozen to Death in Storm; Friend Recovers

DUBLIN, N. H., Feb. 16.—Charlton Reynolds of New York, Harvard senior, whose attempts to save the life of Charles McVeagh Jr. of New York were unavailing when they were caught in a blizzard while being taken to Monday today, was rapidly recovering from exposure.

McVeagh, graduate student at Princeton and son of the counsel for the United States Steel corporation, and Reynolds left the McVeagh estate here Saturday for a jaunt up the mountain. Misty by the warm weather, they were overtaken by a blizzard and turned back. It became colder and they were lost in the darkness of the early evening.

When Fred Nettleton, caretaker on the McVeagh estate found them, after finding his revolver and the mountain side all being answered by Reynolds, McVeagh was dead of exposure and exhaustion. He had collapsed during the storm and when the search party had done everything to protect him from the cold, without success.

Wallace handed the foreign office Saturday a memorandum from President Wilson in which the president said he could not approve of Premier Lloyd-George's proposed settlement of the Adriatic question which has been handed the Jugo-Slavs. A similar note was delivered to the London foreign office, the paper said.

MRS. GATT SAYS THAT THE FIGHT IS JUST BEGUN

Delivers Message From the Women of New League to the Political Powers

By CARRIE CHAPMAN GATT. (Writes for the United Press)

CHICAGO, ILL., Feb. 16.—Joint political parties, make your ideas and ideals felt in selecting party platforms and party candidates. The fight has just begun.

That is the message for the women of the United States from the new League of Women Voters, whose permanent organization is to be completed here today. For half a century the suffragists of the nation have been trying to persuade men to have confidence in us. We have won enfranchisement, but we have not converted every single man to the belief that women can do things as well as men.

And today we have men blocking our way into the center of the political parties where "the wheels go round." And we have women hesitating, timid, doubting themselves—not using the brain, the conscience, the power they have.

The men of the nation are now admitting that women are worthy of the vote. But we women have still to prove that we are qualified for administrative work in the parties.

It is all right to go to political dinners and hear the party platforms discussed; but we must persist in going where we are not so welcome—right into the innermost circles where the candidates are being chosen.

There is a kind of standpat partisanship which blocks progress. Women must show the partisanship which chooses a party because its platform appears to have the most progressive ideas and because it seems to be the party with more capability to put those ideas in operation. That is the partisanship which leads the world onward.

We cannot expect the millennium in one election. We have a task which stretches far into the future. We have just started and therefore it is of the greatest importance that during the campaign of the National American Woman Suffrage association and first annual convention of the League of Women Voters we effect an organization of new women voters which shall have vision and power to execute.

GERMANY RAPIDLY REGAINING BUSINESS IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Though a technical state of war exists between the United States and Germany, trade with that country is reviving rapidly and Germany, at least in one line of exports to this country has passed pre-war levels, according to reports of the department of commerce today.

Before the war Germany exported to this country undecorated china and porcelain worth amounting annually to approximately half a million dollars. During the war Japan and France gained control of this trade, but since the armistice Germany has made rapid strides to recapture it and has already surpassed pre-war figures.

During 1919 Germany exported to the United States undecorated china and porcelain valued at $271,754, an increase of more than 30 per cent over pre-war years. Imports in this commodity from Japan and France totaled $1,827,435 and $731,036 respectively.

Total exports to Germany from the United States for the first eleven months of last year totaled $75,464,237, while imports for the same period amount to $8,143,706. Practically one-third of our trade with Germany for this period was in November, when the total imports and exports amounted to more than $26,000,000.

ENGINEER KILLED IN WRECK ON KATY AT MUSKOGEE, OKLA.

MUSKOGEE, OKLA., Feb. 16.—Joe Lambert, of Muskogee, Okla., engineer on Missouri, Kansas and Texas south bound passenger train No. 7, was instantly killed when his train crashed into the rear of a southbound freight which was forced to halt when it struck a company motor truck in a heavy fog, on a quarter mile south of Muskogee, at 8 o'clock this morning. Lambert stayed with his engine when he saw the caboose of the freight lurch up out of the fog, and was crushed between the tender and dock of his engine, as the cab crashed into the impact. The three men jumped and was uninjured. No one else was injured, but passengers on the train, a fast through train from Kansas City to Dallas, were severely jolted.

ALLIES DEFY WILSON ON ADRIATIC ISSUE

By President Wilson's reported note to the allies follows a long controversy in the efforts to settle the territorial dispute in the Adriatic between Jugo-Slavia and Italy. When Italy entered the war on the side of the Allies she obtained the secret pact of London granting her extensive concessions in the Adriatic in return for her military assistance. The peace conference, however, President Wilson insisted the United States could not recognize this agreement and secured a tentative agreement securing greater concessions to the new Jugo-Slavia nation.

Italy bitterly resented the president's interference and at the recent conference of allied leaders in Paris brought about a so-called "compromise" agreement which was sent to Belgrade. The Jugo-Slavs rejected and virtually defied the allied effort to enforce the London pact. In her reply to the allied note Jugo-Slavia accepted the proposition that Fiume become a free city under the League of Nations but refused to consent to change the so-called "Wilson line" as boundary between Italian and Jugo-Slavia.

The whole affair was scheduled to have been threshed out at the present conference of premiers in London.

SUBSTANTIALLY RIGHT, SAYS LONDON TIMES

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Times comments at some length on Mr. Wilson's note on the Adriatic question. It believes the American position is substantially right, and thinks the note should have caused some perturbation among members of the supreme allied council, whose recent proceedings have not always appeared inspired by right and fidelity to principle.

Remarking, however, upon the implication in the note that unless the allies meet President Wilson's views he may be unable to seek ratification of the peace treaty or to assist himself in the European settlement, the Times adds:

"We do not consider participation by the United States in the settlement of problems of peace as the absolute sine qua non of the restoration of order in the Old World, but are persuaded that in the highest interests of Europe and of the world and humanity, continued co-operation by America is desirable."

"LARGE PAVING STONE IN CONFERENCE POND"

PARIS, Monday, Feb. 16.—Commenting on President Wilson's note to the supreme allied council relative to the compromise agreement on the Adriatic question, the Journal says it was a "large paving stone in the conference pond." This aptly sums up the trend of French opinion. There is no attempt to disguise the fact that the incident is a serious matter between the newspapers here, are "placed between the devil and the deep sea."

Although Mr. Wilson's attitude is viewed as excessive by the Journal, the "discredit thrown upon his policy by the resistance of the senate, yet the fact remains, Mr. Wilson is master until the spring of 1921, and the allies are obliged to take him into account," says the Journal.

"President Wilson's abrupt intervention," the newspaper continues, "was less to be expected than the president himself has been exporting the nations of Europe to put an end at the earliest possible moment to political stagnation which has been the principal cause of economic stagnation."

"President Wilson," remarks the Petit Parisien, "does not seem to have taken account of what he has done during the past two months, as if that period were negligible. He harks back brusquely by publishing a document which is the object of which is to do everything in question at moment when the goal appeared to be in sight."

PUZLED OVER CAUSE OF LANSING INCIDENT

LONDON, Feb. 16.—"Lawyers follow stiff legal conceptions of right which often have threatened the world with calamity," the Daily News said in commenting on the virtual dismissal of Secretary Lansing from President Wilson's cabinet.

London newspapers generally were inclined to refrain from extensive comment, apparently feeling it would be a matter of the United States' own business. Editors also were somewhat puzzled over the causes underlying the resignation.

Wilson's fatal weakness is the fact he will not listen to advice, the Daily Herald asserted. Reviewing the events which led up to Lansing's resignation, the newspaper said, Wilson had a "high sense of his mission in Paris, but felt that it was a personal mission and refused to heed anybody who questioned the wisdom of the four dictators and thus alienated liberal opinion."

"He has paid tragically for that error," the newspaper continued. "It is a hard matter to criticize a man broken in health, but it must be made clear Wilson failed, however high his ideals, because he had no sense of the essentials of democracy. He tried to do as a dictator that which could be done only by the collaboration of peoples. His political fall is a final warning against the tragic perils of secret and autocratic diplomacy."

Carter Glass Is Not Entirely Unknown On London Streets

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass' manifesto against granting any further credits to Europe, besides filling columns in the newspapers, shares with the latest developments in the "crime wave" the attention of the man in the street.

This is a scrap of conversation overheard between two London cockneys:

"'Dot d'ye think of this 'ere fellow Glass—a bloomin' hingerate I call 'im.'"

"'Wot feller Glass?'"

"'Why, the American chancellor of the exchequer—the chap 'oo says 'e won't lend us no more money.'"

"'Oh, 'im, wot 'aboot 'im? Ain't they caught 'im yet?'"

INCREASED ACREAGE OUT OF THE QUESTION STATES DR. KNAPP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—An increased acreage in cotton this year is out of the question, according to Dr. Bradford Knapp, who recently resigned as chief of the office of extension work in the department of agriculture to become dean of the college of agriculture, University of Arkansas.

"The experience of 1919 ought to teach southern cotton farmers that they cannot handle, with their present supply of labor, an increased acreage in cotton; the labor is not there," writes Dr. Knapp in a circular to farmers before leaving the department of agriculture, entitled "Safe Farming in the Southern States in 1920."

"By safe farming," says Dr. Knapp, "is meant a system which maintains soil fertility, produces the food and feed for the people and livestock in sufficient quantities to insure a comfortable surplus and produces cotton as a strictly cash crop."

"Safe farming" as thus defined, needed in the south in 1920," asks the department of agriculture. "There are probably those who think that cotton is so high, so much higher than it ever was before. The supply is apparently so short, the cotton mills of the world so greatly in need of cotton. It is not a time, the once in a life time, when the farmer can turn his whole energy to cotton and 'make his killing.'" Without specifically asking the question, Dr. Knapp answers it.

His word to the farmers of the south is that the plan followed the past few years is still good. The only safe plan for farmers and bankers is to insist upon safe farming program. "Cotton," Dr. Knapp says, "is not actually very high. It is high as compared with prices in former years, not as compared with other commodities. Before the farmer decides that the high price of cotton will warrant his planting the entire acreage to that crop he should consider all else, he says, he had better make a pretty thorough examination of the retail prices of the necessities of life at the place where he must purchase his living. The farmer who fails to produce them on his own farm."

forals, leader of the "Bitter Enders," was unable to swing the district against the league. The "Bitter Enders" today, however, declared they were prepared to cut in half the usual Democratic majority in the district.

M'CORMICK BITTERLY OPPOSES COMPROMISE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—In the opening speech of the new senate debate on the treaty today, Senator McCormick (Illinois) a republican bitterly assailed those trying for a compromise reservation.

"We are invited solemnly to witness the reduction of an irreducible minimum," said McCormick. "We are summoned to share in the transubstantiation of a reservation which cut the heart of the covenant into one so superbly interpretative that to Americans it seems to assure their peace and security, while to Europe it will appear to guarantee their participation in every future war, even against the American conscience and judgment."

"At the moment when Democrats at the other end of the avenue and at the other end of the capitol have broken the leash which bound them to the White House, Republicans here, or some of them, seem to be coming to heel."

"Senators proposed to ratify the treaty and at the very moment when the horrid and spectral truth has appeared in Europe to compel the frightened people to cry out revision. In the very hour when the majority leader, and the majority in the senate are about to be justified by events, it is proposed that we shall yield the safeguards to American peace and honor."

He quoted the statements of Earl Curoson and others in parliament to show the need for revision of the treaty.

His subject was "The Faith of Abraham," and he drew parallels between Abraham's call to sacrifice and the present day sacrifices that may be required of individuals.

Mr. Weeks' lecture will be given at a later date, it is stated.

More Graceful Than Ever

The sports note dominates the style—the easy comfort from which smartness is never missing.

There is sufficient length for full protection. There is height to the collars that will laugh at March winds, but there is a lightness of effect that is most charming.

The styles show delightful originality with becomingness for every figure.

We will be pleased to show you.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT AT GIRLS BRIDGE CLUB

Valentine Day was chosen as the time for the interesting announcement that on March 2 Miss Ellen Adele Robertson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Robertson, will become the bride of Louis McGinley, formerly of Wichita Falls, now in Mineral Wells. This announcement like several others of social importance this season, was made to the Girls Bridge Club, of which the bride is a member, and to a number of friends, Miss Robertson entertaining the club for its regular weekly game. There were six tables arranged for the game, in rooms attractively decorated with ferns and cut flowers, commencing with the accepted Valentine symbols. The favor for scoring high in the game, a hand embroidered towel, went to Miss Agnes Reid. While the refreshment table, daintily arranged with the heart motif featured, was being served the postman's whistle was heard, and Miss Virginia Robertson, young cousin of the bride-elect, appeared as the pseudo postman, passing out Valentines to the guests. On the quill vice for some interesting revelation the Valentines were eagerly searched, but it was not until Miss Adele Adams, who is to be one of the bridesmaids, opened her Valentine that the announcement was forthcoming.

The refreshment course consisted of fruit salad, waters, olives, almonds in Valentine baskets, individual heart cakes, cream, and individual white cakes, topped with hearts. The club members and guests included Miss Letta Beall Anderson, Adele Adams, Marjorie Dunlap, Sibby Kell, Agnes Reid, Lucille Scappia of Dallas, Grace and Lucille Abbott of Tulsa, Dorothy and Susan Moore, Madam's Clarence Moore, Harold Hanes, William P. Erwin, Ivan Erwin, E. Everett Jones, Burton Stetson, Lester T. Burns, Taylor Hudson, James Barnard, Jack Barnard, Ben Bell and Wood of Chicago.

A junior and senior musical contest was engaged in, the prizes being won by Miss Adeline Carter and Cissy Jetter. Plans were then discussed for the spring recital, for both the junior and senior students.

Amusements

TOM MIX IN "THE CYCLONE" AT EMPRESS THEATRE TODAY

A tensely dramatic story, executed with powerful effect by William Fox's cowpuncher star, Tom Mix, and flawlessly staged—such is "The Cyclone" shown for the first time today at the Empress theatre.

The tale, from the pen of Colonel Todhunter Marigold, is admirably suited to the peculiar talents of Tom Mix. It brings into play those characteristics which have made him a hero in the motion picture world—his peerless horsemanship, his invigorating manliness, his iron courage. The new photodrama is brimful of thrills, culminating in a triumph of daring in which Mix surpasses even his extraordinary past performances.

Tom Mix won for himself an enthusiastic horde of admirers by former screen successes, such as "The Speed Maniac," "Hell Roarin' Reform," "Rough Riding Romance," and "The Feud." The present production will undoubtedly add thousands more to that adventure-loving army of screen fans.

"The Cyclone" is a wifely tale of the pioneer Northwest, depicting a struggle between the Canadian Mounted Police and a gang of smugglers. Tom Mix as Sergeant Tim Ryerson, is detailed to hunt down the outlaws, who are headed by the shrewd Ferdinand Baird. The smugglers have their rendezvous on the Sturgis ranch, the home of Tim's sweetheart, Sylvia.

The dauntless Sergeant, after a series of raising exploits and miraculous escapes, succeeds in cornering the gang. The charming Sylvia who falls into the hands of the smugglers is delivered to the victorious Tim by the military boys.

Colleen Moore, who makes an exquisite Sylvia, is a screen favorite. Henry J. Herbert, and William Elmer Ford, also are in the cast. The staging under direction of Cliff Smith, is unusually fine.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1920. MUST SHOW A REASON.

The Lone Star Gas company, notes the Dallas Times-Herald, "demands more money for more gas without even committing itself definitely to what will be done to secure gas."

It (the Lone Star) shall only be bound to furnish natural gas to the full extent that it may be able to exercise of reasonable care and diligence in the acquisition of gas territory, the drilling of gas wells, and the transportation of natural gas through lines to said point of delivery.

Has the Lone Star Gas Company used "reasonable diligence in drilling wells and producing gas?" If it has not it is not living up to its contract.

Perhaps the investigation of its books will answer this question. Perhaps it will be found that the Lone Star has used so much diligence in trying for oil that it hasn't had much diligence left for the exploitation of gas.

VALUE OF FARM CROPS.

The farm crops of the southern states last year were worth $7,022,900,000, according to statistics compiled by the Manufacturers Record.

Forecasting the charge that the South's great showing has been possible only because of the high price of cotton, the compilation shows that the total value of the cotton crop, seed included, was only $2,300,000,000, leaving nearly $5,000,000,000 for its diversified products.

About-benadham like among the states, Texas led all the rest with a total of $1,076,000,000, while the next state, according to the Record, is Iowa with $881,000,000, and Illinois with $813,000,000.

Other Southern states made similar phenomenal productions. The value of North Carolina crops last year was $681,000,000, compared with the five-year average, 1913-1917, of $255,000,000.

The three Pacific Coast States, Washington, Oregon and California, had aggregate values for crops last year of $200,000,000, which was $200,000,000 less than the crop value of the state of Texas. North Carolina was fourth on the list, being exceeded only by Texas, Iowa and Illinois, and was $50,000,000 ahead of Kansas. Georgia followed very close behind Carolina.

Admiral Sims seems to have been so very, very fearful that Americans might get an idea that the American land and sea forces were cutting some figure in the world war that he had to go out of his way every time the subject came up to minimize and depreciate American effort. It is not well that we should be boastful and it is not well that we should exaggerate the importance of what we were doing and of what we did not. But, Admiral Sims to the contrary notwithstanding, we know over here and they know over there, on both sides of what was the Hindenburg line, that it was the American forces which furnished the final punch and that is true without any effort to take a jot or tittle from the credit that is due Britain and France and Italy and Belgium for what they did before we got there. Even those who would like to see Secnavy and the American land forces retary Daniels discredited cannot go so far as to believe that the American performed so inconspicuous and unimportant a part in the world war as Admiral Sims would have the world believe.

The Census director says that more charges of inefficiency in enumeration are coming from four Texas cities—Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston—than from any other section of the country. He explains it by saying that commercial rivalry between the four cities and the very strong desire of each to be "the town ahead" when the returns are in make it very difficult for the enumerators to do work that satisfies the organizations interested in seeing that the town makes a good showing. Here in Wichita Falls we aren't taking as much interest as we probably should, and we have a lot of people who, in the nature of things, will not be enumerated as citizens of Wichita and who should be. But, at that, we are willing to wager a month's subscription to The Times that Wichita's population will show the greatest percentage of gain of any city in Texas that had as many as 5,000 people in 1910 and that the total, even with omissions, will convince the doubters that not only are we building here a great city, but that we have the foundations laid and some of the sidewalks up. If you haven't been enumerated, there probably is still time to get in.

Prediction that J. W. B. will run for Governor will occasion little surprise. The former senator has been putting himself in the way of being "forced" to make the race for the past several months. His formal announcement will at any rate end the suspense, if there has really been any such.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel." (Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) Monday, February 16, 1920.

This is not an important day in planetary direction, according to astrology. While Neptune is slightly adverse in influence, Saturn is in a mildly benefic aspect.

During this way routine matters should be pursued and whatever action is of supreme importance to the future should be delayed.

There may be a tendency less positive than usual toward suspicion and criticism, but this abatement of influence toward an analytical and fault-finding attitude of mind will not be prolonged. There will be an increased desire, especially on the part of the public, to arraign government affairs.

It is a threatening way for travel on the seas, and shipwrecks are fore-shadowed. While this configuration prevails acceptance of old leaders may be more general than it will be later in the year. For this reason the seers deprecate political indications pointing toward surprises and uncertainties.

Reactionary tendencies continue to be indicated by the stars. Aspects interpreted as presaging a return to old-time ideals of life will be especially potent in influencing women who will begin to work toward redressments in domestic as well as commercial life.

Danger of epidemics is again fore-shadowed and intestinal complications appear to be indicated. More than six months ago astrologers prophesied that food would be much discussed at this time, and that poisonings would be more common than usual. The aspect from which this was foretold is also said to presage agitation toward scientific diet.

Hotels and restaurants now come much into public consideration. Changes that will not be welcomed by the public seem to be forecast. Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of strange events. They should avoid new enterprises. Girls should be slow in making acquaintances.

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

The Symptom Monger. How people adore symptoms. Did you ever know anyone who had had a long illness or an operation or a breakdown, who didn't when the proper mood was on, like to talk about his symptoms with a sympathetic listener?

Even the strongest minded people cannot seem to rise wholly above the temptation. And as for that well known person, the average man or woman, well, I don't know as he ever regards it as a temptation, but rather as an opportunity.

How They Feel. When people have told me exactly how they felt just at the moment when their breakdown came, "I was standing in the middle of the room," runs one tale, "and—but no I won't go on else I shall put myself under my own condemnation."

For my objection to this habit is that symptoms have such a terrible effect upon a vivid imagination. Many years ago a woman who had been through nervous prostration gave me a full description of her symptoms (I wouldn't repeat them here for $100—and I mean just that) and the sufferings she had passed through, and I can't tell you how many times I have had an idea that I was in for nervous prostration.

Which Was It? A woman said to me the other day in discussing the matter (I without knowing) had taken a dislike to, but whom she considered very fine.

One hardly blames people who have been through operations or painful sorts of examinations, for thinking the world owes them at least the excitement of being the center of the stage while they tell of their adventures in the land of disease. But is it not kinder to discuss these adventures with other travelers rather than with the stay at home?

Surely You Don't Want to Encourage Traveling. Surely the traveler would hate to be excited so much that he would start away the moment danger signs, but traveling—along the way of pain.

Prominent surgeons admit that they actually have women come to them who, without any serious need really seem to want to be operated on. They are doubtless actuated by the subconscious desire to have the excitement of being the center of the stage and of having symptoms of their own to discuss.

Of course, one cannot properly guard one's health unless one knows some of other kinds, for thinking that it is morbid and undesirable to think or talk too much about ill health.

It Can't Be Done

I tell you lets wait so, lets kid him about Teddys tricks and make him mad, sed Leroy.

Which we started to do when he came up. Leroy Shooster saying, Hello Sid, how you get today any new tricks, can be stand on the end of his tail and wiggle his ears yet.

AT WHAT AGE ARE WOMEN MOST INTERESTING?

By JANE DIXON.
A woman is most interesting when she is doing something useful.—ROBERT W. CHAMBERS.

You never can tell! Who would have thought for instance, that our prolific and extremely popular American novelist, Mr. Robert W. Chambers, might select the useful woman for the target of his interest? Mr. Chambers, who writes so vividly of the society woman, the accented creature on the chaise-longue, though it must be admitted he delights to clip the wings of his butterflies in a way to show up their silly pretences and affectations—he does not care for her at all—this gay moth. He holds her in contempt.

And so we have the weaver of romance choosing for his ideal the woman of work. A strange world and a strange sex—the stronger. In his town house, New York city, where, as he puts it, he "stomps over now and then," Mr. Chambers pronounced his verdict with a decisiveness of word and tone which left no slightest doubt as to the sincerity of his opinion. He is for the useful woman all the way through and he does not care who knows it.

"Useful in what way?" I asked, conscious of the keen gray eyes and glint of decision behind them. "Useful in the home or in the world of work?" "Useful anywhere, everywhere," was the answer. "A real woman finds something worth while to occupy her in whatever position of life she happens to find herself."

Purposeless Women. "I have no patience with the other kind—the dawdlers. A listless, purposeless woman is the greatest nuisance on the face of the earth. It would be best to have her in the wood or lotted about and placed herself in the way of more worthy folk. But she is more than an annoyance. She is a positive hindrance to the honest, earnest man who is trying to do such a woman. She neither inspires nor achieves. She takes all and gives nothing. She clutters up society, makes up energy and material that might be apportioned to the persons who have their shoulders to the wheel of progress and are straining every muscle to give the lumbering vehicle a boost.

It makes no vast difference whether a woman busies herself doing things in her home or out in the field of worldly effort so long as what she does is useful.

A good housewife may be the cornerstone of a happy home, and the four walls and roof tree and interiors as well. She is the home.

A good woman lawyer may save the future, the very life of a fine young American citizen.

A good mother may make headgear a joy and an art.

In any of these positions she is being useful. She is adding her bit to the sum total of organized effort. If she accepts her portion of the world's work in the right spirit she is sure to be a delightful and valuable factor."

The novelist was looking through the window the December dampness. A frown of disapproval replaced the eager light in his alert eyes.

"You know," he said, "lots of women are busy as they can get. There are women who wear themselves out on the most trivial, the most futile fads and fancies. Rainbow chasers, you might call them."

"I do not know but what this type is even more of a nuisance than the woman who is too lazy to do anything but enter to her own selfish desires. The fritters her time away doing nothing at all. The other fritters her time away doing the wrong thing. The wrong thing is likely to be much more dangerous than nothing at all."

"The busybody type is familiar to all of us. Bussing here and there, lighting for a moment, dash—off again in mad pursuit that lands her nowhere, for the reason there is no where to land—once she gets to what even place it is she imagines she is going. Such a woman is riding on a merry-go-round. Sooner or later she rides to a fall."

The Busybody Type. I interrupted Mr. Chambers' arraignment of the "useless sort" to ask if there was any particular age with which he might answer my question.

He absolutely denied any favoritism whatsoever in the matter of years and the feminine equation.

"You see," he explained, "my interest for the useful woman, so it is impossible to fix a definite period of her life as being especially attractive. Utility in a woman is not so much a question of age as it is of will and the right instincts."

A young girl can be of invaluable service to her mother by lending a hand about the house, or if this is not necessary, by offering to her mother that companionship and confidence which is the veritable fountain of youth for the maternal heart and mind. She can help her father, too, by cultivating his interest in her affairs, making a pal of him, doing her share to keep the home atmosphere bright and cheery that he may relax and enjoy his hearth after the daily grind.

"If you have seen a grandmother with a brood of wide-eyed, open-mouthed youngsters around her knee, you know whether or not she fits into the scheme of usefulness.

"Idle, aimless youth is no more attractive than idle, aimless old age. That a woman is possessed of the beauty and grace of youth is no excuse for her being a slacker. Tomorrow these possessions will pass—out of her keeping and she will become a whining, complaining, mono-maniac, the object of her particular mania being her own useless self."

Placing an Age Limit. "I believe the majority of men today, sensible men, find women most interesting when she is at the flood tide of her mental and physical development. Here, again, it is difficult to place an age limit. So much depends on the individual, her temperament, her environment, her opportunities for observing and experiencing. The girl who lives in the midst of modern city life and lives it must, of necessity, develop earlier than the girl who stays far back in the country and knows only rural work and pleasure.

"The girl who marries in her youth develops faster than her single sister. I am sure many of the revolutionary women must have been intensely interested at the age of twenty. The officers of our Colonial army were mere lads. Lafayette was sixteen or thereabouts when he came to this country to be a soldier. Alexander Hamilton was eighteen when he married Betsy Schuyler a lovely 'bud' of sixteen. These women came to the fullness of their bloom at an age when the modern girl is wearing hair ribbons and frolicking through her school days. Development of a woman is governed to a great extent by the era and environment in which she lives, so that any age we fix as the crest of her womanhood must be relative."

There was only one avenue left through which Mr. Chambers might be lured to a more definite admiration of "the restless sex." I took my stand and tried to steer him gently past the entrance into the avenue of admission.

"Which," I asked, "of all your heroines, do you like best?"

Back came the report like the explosion of a rapid firing gun in the hands of an expert gunner—

"None of them. I have never been interested in woman as a separate individual."

If the weather continues good the Rock Island railroad will finish its trackage from Chattanooga to Grandfield in thirty days. The last mile of grading is almost completed. The Rock Island people have acquired enough ground here in the eastern part of town for five miles of trackage, a round-house, machine shops, and passenger and freight depots.

The forest rangers on Mount Rainer have a house on top of the mountain built of stone, whereas under usual conditions it is the custom to construct these buildings of wood. The proximity of the stone and the scarcity of wood and the difficulty of securing it from the lower levels, is responsible for this departure.

AD SUGGESTED THAT MARSHALL ASSUME DUTIES

Given As Direct Cause of Attitude of President Toward Secretary Lansing.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—An intimation by Robert Lansing that Vice-President Marshall should take over President Wilson's duties during his illness was the direct cause of Lansing's resignation, according to information from a source usually well informed. The suggestion was made months ago, but came to Wilson's ears only recently. A few hours later, it was stated, he acted to force Lansing out of the cabinet.

The president, it was said, regarded Lansing's suggestion as a personal affront, and as "the last straw." It climaxed a long series of irritations. The president, it is believed, felt he could not resume his active work in co-operation with the man who had suggested that the presidential duties should be delegated to another. Therefore, he virtually demanded Lansing's resignation.

With regard to the reason given—calling cabinet meetings—it is pointed out that Wilson knew of these meetings, had known of them for weeks, and that therefore they could not have precipitated his sudden demand upon Lansing for information concerning them. Dr. Grayson, Wilson's personal physician and adviser, was at some of the meetings. Attorney General Palmer, at the time of the coal strike crisis, told the president the conclusions of the cabinet in regard to it and laid them before him.

Colonel House, it was learned, intervened to preserve relations between Wilson and Lansing while they were in Paris, but after their return to the United States when House no longer saw the president, this information was removed and bitterness between the two men increased.

The suggestion that other cabinet members, who were as much involved as Lansing, in the cabinet meetings would also offer to resign, is waved aside at the White House. Lansing was the one who intimated the president might temporarily retire and the discipline, it is believed, will not extend to other officials.

Differences over international matters, the Bulletin testimony before the Senate committee quoting Lansing as against the peace treaty, Lansing's conduct of the Jenkins crisis in Mexico, the president's sanction, all entered into the situation, but they were merely contributory factors, it was stated. The real reason for the final collision was personal rather than political, it was said. Wilson's opposition to the allied proposals for settlement of the Rhine problem, and his reiteration of his original stand on Fiume, were seen here today as indications that he will not be bound by the cabinet understanding that Lansing has entered into without his authorization.

THOUSAND OF TEXAS PASTORS AND WOMEN MEETING IN DALLAS

DALLAS, TEX., Feb. 16.—History of an important character will be made here Tuesday afternoon when almost 1,000 Texas pastors and women religious workers will assemble for conference under the auspices of the Interchurch World movement. Pastors from some 23 different denominations and representing 175 cities, fully four-fifths of the state, will assemble at the First Presbyterian church for three days' sessions to discuss interdenominational co-operation in all branches of church work. Several hundred women church workers, philanthropists, clubwomen, leaders of social reform and professional life will assemble concurrently at the city temple under the same auspices. Both conferences have more than a religious significance as important matters will be discussed looking toward an exhaustive rural and city survey of the entire state of economic as well as manhood and physical resources of the state. Speakers at the pastors' conference will include Dr. Ralph E. Diefenderfer, New York; F. A. Azar, national church efficiency secretary, Northern Baptist convention; Dr. Phil C. Baird, pastor First Presbyterian, Oklahoma City; Dr. L. N. McCash, president Phillips university, Enid, Oklahoma; Dr. Alexander Paul, Chinese missionary; Dr. H. S. Vincent, missionary, Elm; Dr. Murphy, India, and Dr. Alfred E. Isaacs, New York. The speaker for the women's training conference is Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgromery, New York president National American Baptist Women's Mission society. COUNTY ENGINEER MAKES STATEMENT ON ROAD BUILDING

J. M. Isbell, county engineer, has given out the following statement: "At the meeting of the Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, February 13th, certain statements were made with reference to the expenditure of money voted for highway construction in Wichita County with unjust criticism regarding the building of concrete highways as planned. "For the information of the Business Council and also the information of the general public, I wish to submit a report on the road work as handled in this county February 1st, 1920.

"As you perhaps remember in the summer of 1919, immediately after the voting of the road bonds for concrete highways, plans were made by the county commissioner's court and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce to build immediately the Burk Burnett road, the County to do the work, employing a superintendent of construction to work under the County Engineer and the Commissioner's Court. Mr. Orth and other gentlemen comprising the representatives from the Chamber of Commerce recommended the employment of Mr. J. P. Nelson of San Antonio to handle this construction. A construction camp was organized and material assembled for the handling of the construction as rapidly as possible, the county purchasing equipment which was augmented by four trucks furnished by the Federal Government to be used in this work.

"Most of you know that every effort was put forth to secure material for this construction work at that time and knew also that even if the material could have been obtained in the quantities needed that owing to the conditions of transportation in this territory, same could not have been handled. The County officials aided by the Chamber of Commerce through its traffic department, did everything possible to facilitate the handling of the material, but it was found that it could not be done at this time. The equipment and organization assembled by the County was used one month by the Oil Road Committee in putting the Burk Burnett road in a passable condition, expenses and salaries for the time used paid by the Oil Road Committee. "The construction camp and equipment was then moved to the Charlie road, which according to the original plan was to be gravel surfaced and arched. Plans were made to start construction on this road with local material until such a time as material was available for concrete highways. "In the meantime the Commissioner's Court made arrangements with the Lost Star Stone Company to furnish all necessary crushed rock from their crusher being equipped at Chico, such rock to be available in the spring of 1920. "The road construction camp was moved to the Charlie road in the month of September, 1919, and is on this road at present. "In spite of the rain, cold and general adverse conditions of the weather, the labor conditions at this point and other disadvantages under which we have contended, we have constructed two and one-half miles of gravel road. (The total cost up to February 1, 1920, was $11,630.08, which is $2.94 1/2 per cubic yard of gravel in place. This cost includes preparation of subgrade, stripping of gravel pit, loading, hauling, spreading and grading gravel; also cost of gravel and all expenses connected with the work except the depreciation of equipment.

"The total cost for the month of January, 1920, was $1,932.49 or $2.47 1/2 per cubic yard of gravel in place, with adverse conditions as listed above. "The statement made before the council that the county road money was being wasted and that it probably cost the county $1000 per cubic yard for work done in January is the widest of gasworks which was misdirected and a great injustice to the men who are trying to handle the work. "The figures compiled above are made from records in my office, including all bills for supplies and material and payroll, all expenses in fact incurred. Cases records are open to inspection by the general public who may easily verify the figures as shown. "As county engineer to handle the road construction of your highway system, I have nothing to conceal in regard to the handling of the money or the work. Any citizen who is interested in the progress of the work is entitled to the facts and I am at all times glad to give information concerning the handling of the work. "Every man acquainted with the condition that has existed here for the past two years knows just what we are up against, but we have every reason to believe that traffic conditions will soon be better and hope to start construction on concrete highways within the next sixty days. "The question was raised as to whether concrete is the best system of highways for the first-class roads of this county. The citizens of this county are progressive and we all know in many respects are seeing and building for the future more than in many other locations in this country. Our travel roads are being replaced in many of the most progressive states and communities by either brick or concrete as they have been tried and found wanting. The maintenance cost is too heavy and the life too short to justify the building of this class of roads for heavy traffic in this county with the climatic conditions, the heavy traffic and the extremely poor quality of local gravel the life of a gravel road would be about three years, unless maintained at an extremely heavy cost. The bids recently received by the commissioner's court were high and were not accepted by them. There is a reason for these high figures. Contractors are hauled down with construction work, sluggish railroad transportation and the increasing prices of material and labor. The county officials advertised for new bids and it is expected that better figures may be received. If a reasonable bid is not made it is the intention of the commissioner's court that the county do the construction work and arrangements have been perfected for crushing rock to be shipped to this county beginning in April, 1920. "The delay is regretted by all com-

cerned, but it has been unavoidable and the men interested in building the road system are just as anxious to build some creditable roads as the citizenship is to have them built. They welcome co-operation and stand ready at all times to give a complete account of the work and money spent. "The proposition of using the material from Fasset ranch is not practicable and should not be experimented with for several reasons: "1. A road constructed of the best gravel will not stand up under the climatic conditions here with the traffic we have on our principal highways. It is poor reasoning to believe that a gravel road will stand under traffic that will destroy a first class concrete road. In nearly all states old gravel roads are being replaced with concrete or brick. "2. The material on the Fasset ranch is not gravel, but a conglomerate mass of siliceous, bituminous and calcite and will not make a first class gravel road. It would be necessary to treat this material with clay before it would make even a second class gravel road and a tonnage of this material was submitted to the laboratory of the University of Texas by the writer and an adverse report received on same. "3. It would be necessary to install a crusher at this pit, which would cost at least $150,000 and would also delay road construction for at least one year. The industry would cost $40,000. The total plant would cost at least $225,000, which would make the overhead expense prohibitive. "4. The cost of an 18-foot road constructed out of this material, not including plant or overhead charges, would be as follows: Roads three to eight miles from pit would cost from $16,000 to $18,000 per mile, roads near road and a distance of 10 miles or less from Iowa Park would cost between $18,000 and $22,000 per mile, roads four miles from railroad or on roads within four miles of railroad, a distance of 10 miles from Iowa Park would cost $22,000 to $32,000 per mile. In other words the Burk Burnett road, directly east of Fasset would cost approximately $20,000 per mile. "5. What have we when the roads are constructed out of this material? Nothing. "6. As to the interest on the county road fund, the county is receiving at the present time 5.51 per cent interest on daily balances."

COUNTY TO UNDERTAKE ROAD CONSTRUCTION; BIDS ARE EXCESSIVE

After opening bids Monday afternoon for the Lake road, the Henriette road, seven miles of the Burk Burnett road and all of the Charlie road from Wichita Falls to the Wilbarger county line, the county commissioners voted that the county undertake the building of these roads itself. This action was taken because it was considered that the bids offered were excessive. The lowest bid submitted was a total of 900 miles, a number of other bids were submitted on a cost plus basis. County Engineer Isbell estimates that the county can build the roads at a cost of about $45,000 per mile. Work will be started with vigor as soon as the Lone Star Stone company, which has quarries at Chico can begin the movement of crushed rock in necessary quantity. The company estimated that it will be April 1 before much stone can be moved. Mr. Isbell believes that the county can be making appreciable progress in its road building work early in the year. No change was made in the specifications as adopted more than a year ago. The roads are to be built of concrete. Mr. Isbell submitted a report to the commissioners showing that the cost of running the county's construction camp on the Charlie road in January was $122.69 and that a total of 900 yards had been laid at a cost of $2,475 per yard.

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSINATE AN OIL FIELD OFFICER

An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Deputy Sheriff Jim Allen, special deputy in the Northwest Burk Burnett oil fields, early Sunday morning.

Mr. Allen was driving in his Ford car south of Newtown at about one o'clock Sunday morning when he was fired upon from the roadside. Four shots were fired. One passed through the front door of the car, the bullet passing about an inch above Mr. Allen's knees and going out through the opposite door. Another bullet passed through the rear door of the car and a third through the rear seat. A fourth bullet passed back of Mr. Allen's head, he believes, but did not leave its mark on the car.

Mr. Allen was driving at about twenty miles an hour. At the first flash of the gun he saw two men and two horses at the side of the road. The man who was doing the shooting was standing on the ground at the side of his horse. The other was on his horse. The shots were probably fired before Mr. Allen could bring it to a stop. By that time the men were galloping their horses up the road.

Mr. Allen said that he has no command to halt and that neither of the men spoke. It appears, therefore, that the affair was not an attempt to hold him up but an attempt to assassinate him. A clue is being investigated.

The Advantage of Electric Massage

Beauty of face and figure depends essentially on proper circulation of the blood. The effect of electric vibration on the body causes the blood to flow to the places where it should normally circulate and thus relieves congestions, assists the elimination of poisons and stimulates the whole system.

The Star Electric Vibrator should be in the home of every woman who is desirable of having beauty, and beauty is impossible without health. Beauty cannot exist in either man or woman without a clear complexion which is the result of a healthy circulation of the blood free from poisonous matter.

"A PROPHET IS NOT WITHOUT HONOR SAVE IN HIS OWN COUNTRY"

This is often so but we don't feel that it applies in our case, as our coffees are widely used and highly praised in Wichita Falls—However there are some people who seem to think that their home town cannot produce a first-class article. Some merchants are included in this class. We know of nothing in the climate or environment of Wichita Falls that would be any handicap to industry and intelligence applied to the production of a good article. We do know that we have devoted as many years in a careful, painstaking effort to develop superior cup quality in our coffees as most any one in America. Our coffees are roasted fresh daily. If your grocer don't handle them ask him why. If he tries to sell you something else ask him why again. I thank you.
