

OFFICERS ENROUTE TO SUPPRESS WHISKY REVOLT IN MICHIGAN

CHICAGO, ILLS., Feb. 23.—Federal prohibition officers from the Chicago district were en route today to Iron county of the Upper Michigan peninsula to quell a reported whiskey revolt.

Major A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition chief of the central division, headed the squad of federal agents who left Chicago for Iron River, Mich., late last night. Before leaving, Major Dalrymple declared the county was in "open revolt" against prohibition enforcement.

The force with which the prohibition officers will attempt to clean up the county will consist of approximately 40 federal agents and an equal number of state constabulary. Major Dalrymple, previous to leaving, was in touch with federal prohibition officers at Washington by long distance telephone and requested issuance of warrants for the arrest of the prosecuting attorney of Iron county, two police officers, five deputy sheriffs and three other men.

Word of the alleged revolt was brought to Chicago by Leo J. Grove, supervising prohibition agent for the Michigan Upper Peninsula. Grove and he and members of the state constabulary had raided the store about five miles from Iron River operated by the Scaletti Brothers—Steve, Joseph and John—and seized 11 barrels of wine. The brothers were arrested. While en route back to Iron River, Grove declared he and his assistants were stopped by M. S. McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron county. Police Chief S. H. Seniba, Police Captain Claud Brown and Deputy Sheriff Jesse Allen of Iron River, Grove said he presented his credentials as a federal agent to McDonough.

"That's not worth the paper it's written on," stated McDonough, according to Grove.

Orders to Turn Back. McDonough ordered the driver of the sleigh carrying the wine barrels to turn around, according to Grove, while the federal agent ordered him to go ahead.

Grove claimed he was overpowered and his credentials taken away. McDonough, he said, arrested him for transporting liquor, but later released him. The wine was taken away and ordered restored to the owners and the three men released.

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer was in Chicago last night, en route to Topeka, Kans. Upon being informed of the conditions in Iron county, he said that Major Dalrymple was in full charge and could take whatever steps he thought necessary to see that the law was enforced. However, at first glance, this would appear to be a matter for the state department or the war department to decide," Palmer said.

"The department of justice could act only after a full investigation of the facts had been made by the prohibition agents."

ROPER WILL ASK ATTORNEY GENERAL TO INVESTIGATE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Commissioner Raniel C. Roper of the internal revenue bureau today announced he would make a formal request of Attorney General Palmer that he investigate the whiskey revolt in Iron county, Michigan, where Prosecuting Attorney McDonough arrested prohibition officials who seized home made wine.

"This is plainly a case in which Attorney General Palmer must act," said Roper.

Roper spent the morning in his office conferring with Federal Prohibition Commissioner Cramer, and getting reports on the "revolt" from prohibition agents in Iron county.

Prohibition officials said they would insist that the entire matter be investigated and punishment meted out to officials at fault.

of Iron county, declared today he "assumed responsibility" for his action in connection with the enforcement of the federal prohibition law. According to the explanation of the incident by officials here, the state constabulary and the federal agents were informed by McDonough that they had exceeded their authority in seizing wine owned by the Scaletti brothers. McDonough held the wine was in a private home and no evidence had been procured that it was being sold.

The Scaletti made out affidavits, admitting they had wine in their possession, but claimed they did not hold it for sale. They stated the wine was made from a carload of grapes which was in their possession last summer and which otherwise would have spoiled.

At a hearing given the three men, Prosecutor McDonough recommended dismissal of the case.

The report shows that the Frisco and Denver lines handled a total of 1678 carloads, while the Q. A. & P. line handled 1157 cars, or a grand total of 2835 cars for the month, which figures a total of 91 cars per day, while the September record shows a total of 83 cars per day. Figured in pounds and including the broken car shipments, all lines received 49,180,954 pounds and forwarded 22,549,793 pounds, making a grand total of 71,729,887 pounds handled, or an average per day of 1,158,7 tons.

LITTLE ENTHUSIASM OVER CANDIDATES; PEOPLE APATHETIC

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—To date the presidential contest has failed to crystallize with definiteness in either big party. Presidential managers and politicians generally are complaining of a lack of popular interest on the part of the public, either in candidates or policies, and particularly in the candidates. All have failed so far to arouse any enthusiasm. The public refuses to enthuse. In fact, the people are actually in a jeering mood toward certain candidates, where they are not apathetic. There are plenty of "knockers" and mighty few "boosters." Regarding most, if not all of the presidential candidates, the question most frequently heard is: "Is he really president here, together with the mills are responsible for the unusual showing of freight handled."

INVEST YOUR MONEY IN SOUL, ATTORNEY TELLS AUDIENCE

"Invest your money in a soul. This is the best investment that can be made. Help make men and women of those who otherwise would not have a chance and you will be rewarded richly."

"When I have sufficient means, regardless of when that time comes, I will build an orphan's asylum in Wichita Falls. If one has not already been built here, to give the little motherless and fatherless boys and girls a chance in life."

Mr. Weeks spoke of the big responsibility that rests with the Christian people of a city, both in making their own homes a place where good citizens are being moulded, and in seeing that those less fortunately situated are given a chance.

Sunday night Walter S. Curlee, city councilman, spoke on "The Relation of the Church to City Building."

Mr. Curlee as a member of the city administrative department bespoke the co-operation of the ministers and the Christian people of the city in the affairs of the city.

"It is the duty of Christianity to assist in making a good government, national, state and local, and it is the duty of all Christian people to assist in every way possible in helping the city government solve the many problems that confront it," said Mr. Curlee.

"There are many problems facing us of which the general public knows nothing, and many of which can not discuss at present. We will have some of these problems to bring before the Pastors' Association and we will be able to make better progress with the co-operation of this body, and with the people of the churches which they represent."

Proprietors meet demands of waiters at Vernon

All demands of union cooks, waiters and waitresses at Vernon were granted early Monday and the walk-out called Sunday by Whitey Hoffing was ended at 8:30 o'clock Monday morning, according to a long distance telephone message received Monday from Vernon.

The cooks and waiters of Vernon were organized about two weeks ago by Whitey Hoffing, business agent of the cooks, waiters and waitresses union of Wichita Falls.

According to Hoffing, prior to organization, restaurant employees at Vernon were working an extra long hour and at a scale far below that of other Texas cities.

One of the first demands of the organized cooks and waiters are shorter hours and better pay. These demands were refused by the restaurant proprietors and the walk-out was staged Sunday afternoon.

The proprietors signed the new contract early Monday and the strike was called off at 9:00 o'clock, according to information received from Vernon.

When asked about the reported "lid" that was clamped on the stockyard city Sunday by Sheriff Sterling Clark, Mr. Marlow declared that the most extravagant story of the reality of the "lid" could not do justice to the enforcement. Every "blue law" on the statute books was rigidly enforced.

Mr. Marlow says, and one could not buy a glass of milk or mineral water at a drug store and as far as cigars and cigarettes, it was a smokeless day. The metropolitan Dallas could not accommodate the crowds, it was said.

COMPLAINT FILED AGAINST TWO BARBERS FOR OVERCHARGING

Two barbers who operate a shop on Indiana avenue were arrested Monday on a complaint alleging overcharging. It is asserted in the complaint that the barbers charged Albert Forgesberg, one of their customers, $2.75 for a shave, tonic and shampoo.

Assistant County Attorney John M. Martin, who took Forgesberg's complaint declared that the price charged by the Indiana avenue barbers are clearly an exorbitant price and that the barbers would be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

Overcharges under Texas state laws is a fineable offense and those found guilty can be assessed fines from $25 to $100. It was announced at the office of the county attorney that all cases where overcharging is being conducted will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

Complaints should be made to the county attorney and not to federal officials where prosecution for overcharging is desired.

Your Conception of Your Good Measure of Life Pastor Says

Drawing his lesson from the story of Elijah on Mount Carmel, Rev. J. Lem Keevil, pastor of the First Christian church, Sunday morning declared that Israel's choice on that occasion, between Jehovah and Baal, is the same choice that has confronted practically every nation in the world's history.

"A study of a nation's god or gods is a study of that nation," Mr. Keevil said, "and what is true of the nation is true of the individual. A man's god is the measure of that man."

Declaring that neither a man nor a nation can serve both Baal and Jehovah, the minister said that Israel's choice of a god and the worship of that god had fixed their social, political and religious conditions.

"The difference between the worship of Baal and the worship of God is the measure of a nation's distance from true happiness and freedom," Mr. Keevil said, "a nation must finally choose its status in the god it serves. No man or nation can rise higher than the god it worships."

The speaker closed with a personal application of the theme.

"Your own conception of your god is the measure of your life," he said, "how do you view His word, His admonitions and instructions?"

"Saul of Tarsus" was the subject of the Sunday evening sermon. Excellent musical numbers featured both services Sunday.

The census will be accomplished in two days' time, the city to be divided into districts with 50 teams of two each to work them. The time of this census will be announced later.

Fire damages home of J. B. Maples Sunday

About $600 damage was done to the one-story frame house at Twelfth and Marshall streets occupied by J. B. Maples, by a fire Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The fire department responded to the alarm promptly and with three hose lines playing on the flames soon had the fire extinguished.

The origin of the conflagration is thought to have been due to defective wiring. A good deal of the damage estimated is figured an account of the smoke and water and not so much the fire.

DIG LEAGUERS GET READY FOR TRAVEL TO TRAINING CAMPS

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Nothing more than a flicker remains in the baseball "stove." The winter league with its hard fought games and disputed policies around the stove, ends today.

The battery men of the Athletics start today in Lake Charles, La. Jack Coombs and the pitchers of the Detroit Tigers are to join Eddie Ansmit in Columbus, Ga., before the middle of the week.

The whole Jennings clan is to be on hand next Monday. Tris Speaker's hurlers are to leave Wednesday for New Orleans. They are to be joined by the regulars March 12.

Charles Ebbets and his Dodgers will start the National League movement Thursday when Manager Robinson and his flock of pitchers leave for Jacksonville, Fla. The following day Clark Griffith's slabmen and a few catchers leave for Tampa, Fla.

Seven clubs leave next Sunday. The Giants to San Antonio, Texas; the Yankees to Jacksonville, Fla.; the Cubs to Pasadena; the Browns to Little Taylor, Texas; the Cardinals to Brownsville; the Red Sox and the Pirates to Hot Springs, Ark.

Next Sunday the Braves leave for Columbia, Ga.; the Reds head for Miami, Fla., and the Phillies to Birmingham. Then, the last of the van, the White Sox leave March 12 for Waco, Texas.

Between now and April 14, the tongues of the North may still wag between lines of training camps. They're wagging now overtime. Retirement of John McGraw as manager of the Giants is one of the new rumors. It is reported that McGraw and Charles Stenheim, president of the club, had a fist fight some time ago in Havana after which McGraw said:

"Either you go, or I go." Colonel Innes, part owner of the Yanks, took occasion today to deny the reports that he had disagreed with his partner, Col. Ruppert, over the policies of the club and would dispose of his interests. It was reported that he was against any settlement of the row with the Johnson faction of the American League and that he had an open row with Ruppert when the peace pact was signed.

EVERYTHING READY FOR WALLACE-HILL BOUT HERE TONIGHT

There's going to be some tough, fast milling tonight, when Otto Wallace, lightweight monarch of the southwest, and Freddie Hill climb through the ropes. Hill is out after Otto's scalp. He doesn't admit it—he says so right out.

He's been trailing Otto for a match for some time now, and it's up to him to knock Wallace loose from his reputation tonight or not at all. Hill has had one match with Otto at Fort Worth during the past month. A performance like that is enough to claim a rep.

Al Edwards was working like sixty all day today putting the finishing touches to his showroom at the C. A. A. Everything is in shape now, the checking stand, etc., having been finished Saturday.

There's one thing about the game Al doesn't like, however. That's the endless work connected with it. For instance, Al went to sleep kind of late Sunday night, and figured on getting a sleep-over. About 7 o'clock this morning, however, he was awakened by a bang on the door, and in walks Battling Dog Face, the negro cotton-pickin', who is to appear in one of the preliminaries. "We all has to eat this mawin', Mistah Edwards," says Dog Face.

Mr. Edwards has been up ever since. The bout scheduled for the semi-weekend is almost as good as that set for the main event. Tommy Fisher and Pete McCarthy are the boys that will mix it in this part of the program, and anybody that's seen either of them so will tell you they're some scrapers.

These boys have another draw to fight off tonight. They went at it hammer and tongs in Fort Worth last Friday evening, neither of them showing anything better than the other. Result: They're both out for the belt tonight, and neither one will back up.

Besides these blue ribbon scraps, Edwards has secured the services of the above mentioned Dog Face, cotton-pickin', vaudeville artist, etc., also a lightweight performer with the padded dukes. Mr. Dog Face is scheduled to perform in a six-round go with one Kid Thompson. This pair have fought in several shows at Fort Worth and Dallas, and they've always proved a real drawing card.

The first prelim will be a six-round battle between two local negroes. Both of them have had experience in the squared circle, and they've shown con-

TWO CHARGED WITH MURDER FOR KILLING OF KENNETH GOODWIN

Sheriff Bob McFall is convinced that there was no "third party" to the murder of Kenneth Goodwin, refinery worker, which occurred Friday night in North Wichita. Two suspects held in the county jail under charges of murder steadfastly assert that a third man whom they persist in calling "our old pal Jack" fired the shot that killed the refinery worker and then ran down a dark alley thereby escaping arrest by Mounted Patrolman Butler.

A charge of murder was filed in Justice R. V. Gwin's court Monday morning against John Burnesides and Charles Burnesides, two cousins. The two men were first charged with robbery by firearm but this complaint was changed when Goodwin died following his assault by the highwaymen.

"That third party referred to by the two Burnesides is a 'mystery man' who never existed," Sheriff McFall said Monday. "We got a partial state ment from John and Charles Burnesides but they persist in alleging that the fatal shot was fired by a pal of theirs who they refer to as 'Jack.' Now this fellow 'Jack' is a popular member of underworld games inasmuch as he never exists only as a make-believe person upon whom the sins of the gangsters can be thrown."

Charles Burnesides and his first cousin, John, are perhaps both less than 25 years old. They told Police Commissioner Goodfellow that they came to Wichita Falls late Friday from Fort Worth, "beating" their way here upon a freight train.

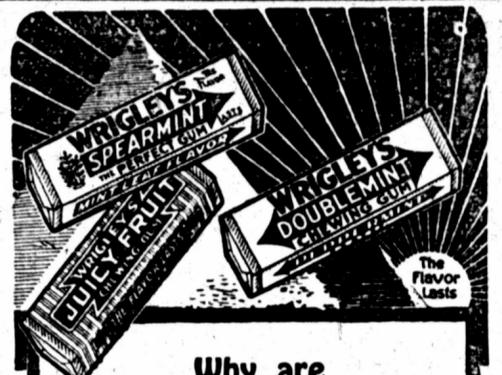

Kenneth Goodwin formerly lived at Delphos, Kansas, where his body has been forwarded. His father was killed by highwaymen at Pueblo, Colo., more than two years ago under circumstances almost identical to the son's death.

"G. WASHINGTON'S THROWING ARM."

The Father of His Country not only was a soldier and a statesman. He was an athlete and a sportsman and when he entered contests either in sports or in national affairs he believed in being in condition to win.

It is well authenticated that George once covered over 23 feet in the running broad jump and he did not have to climb into the track re-galia and the spiked shoes to do it either.

It is also recorded that he once won a wager from some of his sporting friends by throwing a silver dollar across the Potomac River at a point where the distance between banks is about the same as that required to relay one of Babe Ruth's clouts from the right field fence to the plate.

The chance George took on that occasion did not belie his well known habits of carelessness and thrift. He knew he could throw the dollar across the river, but you can lay a safe bet that he didn't use dollars to practice with, and it is highly probable that he had a black boy on the other bank to pick up the coin after he had collected his bets.

What the First President thought on the subjects of thrift, economy, carelessness and frugality are clearly shown by the following maxims from his pen:

"I am no more disposed to squander than to stint." "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Instill it deep."

"It is not the lowest-priced goods that are always the cheapest." "I cannot enjoin too strongly upon you a due observance of economy and frugality."

"Keep an account book and enter therein every farthing of your receipts and expenditures." "Promote frugality and industry by example, encouraging manufacturer, and avoid dissipation."

"Reason, too late perhaps, may convince you of the folly of mispending time." "There is no proverb in the whole catalogue of them more true than a penny saved is a penny got."

"Nothing but harmony, honesty, industry and frugality are necessary to make us a great and happy nation." "What he wrote over a hundred years ago is just as true today even if his secretary of the treasury had not evolved an issue of savings securities such as War Savings Stamps and Registered Treasury Savings Certificates to help put those maxims into active operation."

RAYBURN HAS RIGHT IDEA. It seems to us that Mr. Rayburn's attitude on the railroad reorganization bill is the correct one. He objects to the proposed guaranty of returns by the government, but, having nothing better to offer, is willing to accept that plan as the best under consideration.

"It appears at this distance," notes the esteemed Wise County Messenger (Declarer) "that the contest will be between Ewing Thomason and Joseph Bailey." There is no necessity to talk elimination this year or to try to pick "the strong man," because the second primary renders that unnecessary.

There may be five or six in the race, but the first primary will thin them to "two in the hill" and the second primary will determine who will be a winner. Oscar Branch Colquitt was the leader in the senatorial primary four years ago, but in the second he was a mighty poor second.

rol. These men know that if the situation goes on and the railroads are held for two years longer it means what they are after, which is government ownership and that only."

The railroad reorganization bill will need some amendments; they will be dictated by conditions as they arise. But the bill is needed, we think, for the return of the roads to private control on anything like a satisfactory basis, and an overwhelming majority of the American people, disagreeing as to details, are yet of one mind toward taking the roads out from under government operation and putting them into the hands of their owners with the most favorable start possible to give them.

Hundreds of new trees, to be planted here this week—tree planting week—will be a memorial during coming years to Wichita Falls boys who served in the late war. That is the plan of the Civic League's city beautiful commission. The trees can be planted on church grounds, at private homes or in parks. "This," remarks Mr. Curlee, the chairman, "will be a splendid way in which to get our parks completed," with the suggestion that any Sunday school or other organization desiring to put out a tree for its own members may plant them in the city parks. The committee has secured the information on the varieties of trees best adapted to local conditions and on the best methods of planting, and the committee hopes to be able to assist materially in the actual planting of the trees. The task of civic beautification in Wichita can be accomplished if all of us will help. There isn't a home-owner or householder in Wichita Falls but should help and could help. The Civic League has taken the lead; the least any of us can do is to help the move along.

"Let no one be deceived," says Judge P. A. Martin's ringing warning to democrats, "or lulled into quiescent indifference in the belief that this is not a dangerous combination, and he enumerates the forces that will fall in behind the Bailey campaign—the old-time whisky element, still chafing under the sting of prohibitory laws; the Jim Ferguson element, chafing under recent defeat; the German vote, chafing under the victory of American arms . . . ; the Wilson haters and baiters . . . ; the anti-woman suffrage people . . . ; the opponents of the income tax . . . and, last, but not least, by any means, the old-time lovers and worshippers of Mr. Bailey"

"Quite a formidable array, isn't it? But they are fewer now, in all the 'classes' enumerated, than they were in 1912, especially the last. And there are a hundred thousand newly enfranchised voters this year that couldn't vote eight years ago."

Over in Georgia former Senator Hardwick and Tom Watson—bosom enemies for years—have buried the hatchet and made common cause in their opposition to President Wilson. They have linked hands in support of Senator Reed of Missouri. The Vandaman influence in Missouri, the Bailey-Ferguson influence in Texas and many of those behind Senator Underwood in Alabama, all of it is joined in the fight on the democratic administration, the appeal to reactionism, the Bourboning "which learns nothing and forgets nothing" and which can see only backward and not very well in that direction if hatred of the President can obscure. Ellihu Root's criticisms of the President at the New York State Republican convention the other day were no more bitter than those uttered by J. W. Bailey before a democratic audience at Gainesville a few days earlier. Condemnation of alleged democratic extravagance by the New York s. o. p. convention was no stronger than that by a man running for office on the democratic ticket in Texas.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey evidently has tempered his interpretation of the Colorado mothers' pension law with common sense rather than strict adherence to the letter of the law, and, as is usually the case where common sense is paramount, it seems to answer a good purpose and establish a good precedent. The Juvenile Court judge held that where a father is compelled to take active charge of the care of his children, he is eligible to a pension under the Colorado mothers' pension act. A Denver man, father of five motherless children, sought aid because he was having a difficult time making a living and taking care of the children. Judge Lindsey's ruling is in line with humanity if not with law.

Condemnation of alleged democratic extravagance by the New York s. o. p. convention was no stronger than that by a man running for office on the democratic ticket in Texas.

Judge Ben B. Lindsey evidently has tempered his interpretation of the Colorado mothers' pension law with common sense rather than strict adherence to the letter of the law, and, as is usually the case where common sense is paramount, it seems to answer a good purpose and establish a good precedent. The Juvenile Court judge held that where a father is compelled to take active charge of the care of his children, he is eligible to a pension under the Colorado mothers' pension act. A Denver man, father of five motherless children, sought aid because he was having a difficult time making a living and taking care of the children. Judge Lindsey's ruling is in line with humanity if not with law.

"It appears at this distance," notes the esteemed Wise County Messenger (Declarer) "that the contest will be between Ewing Thomason and Joseph Bailey." There is no necessity to talk elimination this year or to try to pick "the strong man," because the second primary renders that unnecessary.

There may be five or six in the race, but the first primary will thin them to "two in the hill" and the second primary will determine who will be a winner. Oscar Branch Colquitt was the leader in the senatorial primary four years ago, but in the second he was a mighty poor second.

Over in Georgia former Senator Hardwick and Tom Watson—bosom enemies for years—have buried the hatchet and made common cause in their opposition to President Wilson. They have linked hands in support of Senator Reed of Missouri. The Vandaman influence in Missouri, the Bailey-Ferguson influence in Texas and many of those behind Senator Underwood in Alabama, all of it is joined in the fight on the democratic administration, the appeal to reactionism, the Bourboning "which learns nothing and forgets nothing" and which can see only backward and not very well in that direction if hatred of the President can obscure. Ellihu Root's criticisms of the President at the New York State Republican convention the other day were no more bitter than those uttered by J. W. Bailey before a democratic audience at Gainesville a few days earlier. Condemnation of alleged democratic extravagance by the New York s. o. p. convention was no stronger than that by a man running for office on the democratic ticket in Texas.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Away From the World. It's good for a fellow to get away from the busy world and the busy day; It's good for him now and then to turn.

From the crowded streets, where there's gold to earn, And spend some time in a quiet zone. And be for a little while alone.

It's good for a man to take his ease in the shade of the wise and ancient trees; To lie in a stream that has danced along.

Since the world began with its right and wrong, And spend some time with the constant things That have outlived empires and crowns and kings.

It is good for a man when the spring comes back, To get away from the beaten track, To quit the hurry and fret and grind Of the daily tasks and rest his mind In the fields and woods, where the air is clean.

And ponder awhile on what has been, So when spring returns and the trees awake And the streams the shackles of winter break.

It is good for a man to leave the crowd And turn from the eager and rich and proud, To walk alone where the skies are fair— For he shall strengthen his faith out there.

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

Do You Think This a Heresy? I have a heresy to propound today. At least I know many people will consider it a heresy. See what you think.

At a hotel where I once stayed, was a very crusty, crotchety old man. He was most impatient, spoke out in his mind about everything, and in general showed that he had never learned to put any check upon his natural irritability and self-will.

This man's wife, on the other hand, was an exceptionally sweet, gentle woman. A companion who had lived with her for years, said "I never heard Mrs. S. speak a cross word."

A people often said "Lucky for Mr. S. he has such a sweet, patient wife. Most women wouldn't put up with him."

Now, my heresy is this: I don't feel sure that it was lucky for Mr. S. that he had such a sweet, patient wife.

By the way, I think he might have been a less disagreeable man if he had had a wife who did speak a cross word now and then to him. I am a course, I am not sure, but I can't help feeling that one of the main reasons why he has never learned to put a check on his irritability, is that he never had a wife who would do so sweetly; and that if there had been a penalty of resentment or rebuke from her, he might have been more careful of his temper.

Why does a child learn respect for the rights of others in school? Because if he doesn't learn it to a certain extent, he is pretty sure to be made uncomfortable by the other children.

What Made the Kaiser What He Did you all by chance see in one of our recent magazines a most interesting set of pictures of the Kaiser from his youth until the fatal day when he decided to conquer the world.

The first pictures are not so unamiable, but the haughtiness, the look of self-conceit and self-will grows in each picture, and finally, when he looks like the spirit of pride and selfishness come to life. What caused the change? Simply the atmosphere in which he lived. He never met anybody who never said the truth about himself and the result was that all his worst qualities strengthened and developed.

Suppose he had had a totally different atmosphere, would he not have been a totally different man? Suppose the old man at the hotel had been vigorously opposed in his youth when he vented his irritability on his wife, might he not have learned that this kind of self-indulgence did not bring him happiness and have learned to control himself?

"Firmly" is Better Than Crossly. Perhaps in suggesting that it would have been a good thing if his wife spoke a cross word now and then to him, I am using the wrong word. "Firmly" I think, would be better.

Most of us get cross when we are fighting against crossness, but of course that isn't necessary or helpful.

Nor does fretful nagging do any good. Help to do think it does sometimes help to offer a firm and vigorous re-ment for your sake, for the offender's sake, and for the sake of the world.

Justified pleas do not conflict with that caused by ill health or worry) indulgence in irritability.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK By LEE PAPE We were having joggrity in school today, and I had rolled down my joggrity book and catching them when they got to the bottom, and suddenly all of a sudden they slipped out of my hand and bounded on the floor, making such a fearful noise you would think of that 2 marbles could do it.

Now, G. gosh, I thawt, and Miss Kitty stopped talking about joggrity and sed. Who did that, who dropped marbles? Proving she knew the different sounds of different things, she used the word to locate me and I quick raised my hand to get the credit for telling on myself before she asked me, and she sed.

Which I did, and Miss Kitty sed. How do you ever expect to learn anything when you drop marbles instead of paying attention? And I sed, I sed down again, and she rolled them, they dropped themselves, and she sed, You will remain an hour after school.

Now, gosh, G. I thawt. And I had down again, and had a good idea, thinking, G. I know wat, maybe if I give her a present or something she will change her mind and leave me go. And I felt in all my pockets without feeling anything, but string and empty pill boxes and different things ladies wouldnt consider very good present, and I thawt, Oh I know wat, I'll promise her something, I'll promise her my egg from Atlantic City.

Which I did, going up to her desk after the class was dismissed, and saying, Miss Kitty, I got a artificial egg home and anybody looks in it can see a picture of the ocean, if you want it I'll bring it to you to-morrow mornin'.

My Benny, how perfectly sweet of you to offer me a bewtiffil present, I appreciate it and I hope your artificial egg will make your punishment seem easier for you, now go and take your seat, sed Miss Kitty.

Which I did, thinking, Darn it, Benny, I stand to do, going up to her desk first and saying, Miss Kitty, I dont know if I'm sure I know if I remember wat that egg is.

O well, that all rite, if you cant find it I'll know you'll be as sorry as I am, sed Miss Kitty.

Which she only thawt she did.

AGREEING WITH JUDGE MARTIN ATTORNEY NEVERTHELESS SAYS TEXAS NEEDS POLITICAL CHANGE

To the Times: I have read, and re-read, with much interest the article appearing in your issue of Feb. 20, under the heading Judge Martin Sounds Note of Warning to Democrats. I agree with Judge Martin in practically all that he says concerning the object and purpose of ex-Senator Bailey's candidacy for the governorship, and I heartily endorse all he says in appreciation of President Wilson, yet an honest conviction forces me to admit that I must be classed with "the disappointed, discordant and disgruntled elements in the Texas democracy."

I have always opposed the reactionary policy of Mr. Bailey, while a senator, and it would be a bitter pill for me to have to vote for him in the democratic primary, however, I am inclined to believe, on account of conditions in this state at the present time, that it would be to the best interest of the state to call a halt on the extremists and fanatics who now control the party machinery, by electing Mr. Bailey governor.

I am a strong believer in woman suffrage, but do not approve of the action of the Texas legislature in ratifying the suffrage amendment in the face of a majority of 25,000 against it in the election on that question by the people, neither do I approve of the action of the legislature in permitting women to vote at the primaries, when they can't vote in the general election, when such action was for no other purpose than to defeat a single individual and to secure control of the party machinery made up by a faction of extremists, intolerant and bigots, controlled and dictated to and dominated by an organization incorporated under the laws of the state of Ohio, whose real object and purpose is to dictate the policies of all political parties in every state and the nation, and to that end, are consciously or unconsciously, bringing about a union of church and state which is violative of a fundamental principle of democratic government.

I believe in President Wilson and endorse all that Judge Martin says concerning him. I believe in the league of nations and adopting the peace treaty without reservations. I believe in woman suffrage and would like to see the amendment adopted before the present election. I have no fear but what the San Francisco convention will heartily endorse the President and his administration and approve his position on the peace treaty and league of nations covenant, but I do not believe that convention will be controlled by Mr. Bryan and other extremists who would rather see the party go down in defeat on a platform of their vagaries than to see it succeed on a platform that recognizes neither the reactionaries nor radicals of either extreme.

If leading democrats of the south, both in congress and out continue their efforts to foist upon the people of this country, as democratic principles, the policies of government advocated by such men as now control the democratic organization in Texas, they will find when they reach San Francisco that the east, north and west will combine against them and they will have little voice in making the platform or choosing the candidate.

It would not surprise me to see a combination, such as I have above referred to, in the San Francisco convention, which will nominate Mr. Hoover and, while I have heretofore been a great admirer of Mr. McAdoo and believed that he stood the best chance for the nomination, and was the strongest man for the place, I am forced to the conviction that if the republicans do not nominate Mr. Hoover democrats will be forced to nominate him at San Francisco, on account of the great pressure of public opinion in the country at this time, as the most available man to free the people from the domination of the politicians, and to give the country a constructive policy of government independent of the radicals and extremists from either end of the situation. Respectfully, W. D. CARDWELL.

GOMPERS NOT IN FAVOR OF A LABOR PARTY

Declares Such Would Be Detrimental to the Interests of Labor Movement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Formation of a political labor party would be "detrimental to the interests of labor and exactly in line with that which is most ardently desired by those who seek to oppress labor," Samuel Gompers declared in a letter to William Mitchell of Indianapolis, leader of the Indiana state labor party made public here Sunday.

Mr. Gompers in reply to a telegram from Mitchell and his associates supporting the political declaration of the American Federation of Labor, effecting an organized workingmen to elect their friends and defeat their enemies, Mitchell's telegram declared in favor of making the fight solely through the labor party.

"By what right," wrote Mr. Gompers, "do you assume to declare the work and the policy of the American Federation of Labor to be impractical solely the result of the interests of the workers demonstrate the utter fallacy of your assumption.

"By your declaration you assert the practicability of your declaration you will pursue. What experience have you had with your political party upon which you base so much of your argument and not only what is being charged but the virtue which is proclaimed of political financial people. The voters of political and financial virtue may be a proper subject of inquiry after a political party shall have been in existence more than a day.

Day of Reckoning.

"Of this one thing you may rest assured, that the day of reckoning is at hand for all of those who are in opposition to the cause of labor, and for those who are subtle and equally guilty even though they clothe their wrongs in the robes of pretended friendship.

"When you shall have learned the lesson of the real struggle of labor and the cause for which we are in the front, you may become penitent for the gross injustice you have done by your pretension and your course.

"The effort to create a separate political labor party can only be disastrous to the wage earners of our country and to the interests of all forward-looking people. The voters who go to a labor candidate would, in the absence of such candidate, go to the best man in the field. In no case, would they go to an enemy of labor.

"There can be no hope for success of a labor party candidate. The effect, therefore, of a political labor party will be to defeat our friends and to elect our enemies.

"Labor can look upon the formation of a political labor party only as an act detrimental to the interests of labor exactly in line with that which is most ardently desired by those who seek to oppress labor.

No Time for Experiments.

"The welfare of American humanity demands in this hour of national crisis that there be success at the polls. This is no time for experimenting with political theories which are proven false at the outset, the workers of America must use the tactics of success. They must have results that are permanent. Results will not be obtained by instituting a labor party so-called into the struggle.

"Those who are determined to be blind to the facts of the present and past, will, of course, rush on to disaster and calamity. This the American labor movement will not do. It rejects and repudiates the fallacies of blind theories and will have nothing to do with those treacherous follies that are suited only to the purposes of labor's enemies.

"Your telegram is an affront to the labor movement and an assault upon the interests of that great body of Americans who are determined that the present campaign shall result, not in the destruction of our liberties but in the opening of the way to national progress and the enlargement of opportunities for human welfare, safety and happiness."

CULBERSON COUNTY HAS PEAK WITH THE HIGHEST ALTITUDE IN THE SOUTH

KENT, TEX., Feb. 23.—Culberson county claims the distinction of having a peak with the highest altitude in the South. It is Guadalupe Peak, in the northwestern part of the county. It is 5,500 feet high. Very few people in Texas knew that there was such high elevation in the state, declared the Research Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. A number of other peaks in the county range from 5,000 feet down.

Prospects of impounding large bodies of water in the county are being investigated by the state engineers who made surveys there feasible. Lack of transportation facilities at present hamper consummating this purpose.

Was There Ever Crazier Dance Than "Scissors"?

By Barbara Craydon

FASHIONABLE society has a new problem. Shall, or shall it not accept the "Scissors," the latest extravagant development of the prevailing craze for the syncopated dance?

For the real scissors dance, be it known, has been described as erratic and unusual and by far the craziest form of original terpsichorean art, of which the tango, the grizzly bear, jazz and even the shimmy are striking modifications.

When the tango first presented itself for adoption in America's dance-loving social sets it gained almost instantaneous favor. Everybody tangoed. Society opened its doors and welcomed it in. Then, later, when the jazz was introduced to the weird accompaniment of sobbing saxophone and tremendous trombone the same thing happened again.

Even his royal highness, the Prince of Wales, learned to jazz. Miss Margaret Symonds, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, of Washington and Princeton, taught the young prince all about jazzing during his visit to Washington.

But even before receiving the stamp of royalty's approval the status of the jazz had been established. Jazzing already was a society accomplishment. It is worthy of note, too that Lloyd

Here Is the Newest Importation from Madrid, via Paris, and Fashionable Society Is Now Wondering Whether to Acknowledge Its Existence or Ignore It.

This Shows the Finish of the "Scissors." Somewhat Reminiscent of the Cake Walk but More Graceful in Appearance.

George, Great Britain's otherwise dignified prime minister, is very fond of jazz music, and also of the jazz. During one of his numerous official visits to Paris in company with Bonar Law in the interests of peace conference work, Lloyd George stopped at the Hotel Claridge. The hotel ballroom is a gathering place of the pick of Parisian society almost every evening, and the orchestra is said to be one of the highest-paid organizations in the world. The orchestra was playing jazz music when the sedate British statesman entered the ballroom and about 50 couples were jazzing.

"This reminds me of the good old days," Lloyd George was heard to remark to his companion, Bonar Law. "I don't believe I can resist the appeal of that music."

It is a matter of record, as noted in the cable dispatches from Paris, that Lloyd George made no attempt to resist. He jazzed and his partner was a noted Paris beauty, a member of the diplomatic set. Later in the evening he danced again and as he passed out of the ballroom loungers heard him say:

"I don't see why they all denounce the shimmy. It looks like great sport to me. I wish I knew it. I must learn it if ever I get the time."

The Steps of the "Scissors"

So much for jazz and the shimmy. But the scissors is different. It has no resemblance to the fox trot or the bunny hug or even the grizzly bear. It is neither a one-step nor a waltz and by no possible stretch of the imagination could it be classified under the same heading as the old-fashioned polka or the stately minuet.

The scissors is simply the scissors and some there are who have been unkind enough to say that of all-crazy dances the scissors is the craziest.

Here are the directions for dancing it. In order to understand them clearly a study of the photographs reproduced herewith will be quite necessary. And having mastered the intricacies of the dance the reader must be left to judge whether anything more crazy than the scissors ever was contrived for the dancing floor.

To begin with you must grasp your partner by both hands, holding your arms crossed in front of you. Then the man takes position slightly to the left of the lady so that she stands exactly in front of his right foot. He rests his weight on his left foot and his right leg is slightly bent and advanced.

The music starts, two-four time, three-four time or ordinary common time, it really doesn't seem to matter which. On the beat of the measure the dancing couple dip but only very slightly in order to avoid sitting on each other's knees. After the dip the man slides his right foot forward and his partner passes behind him. He then turns on his left heel, takes two steps forward, turns half right and both repeat the dip as before, and so on.

The dance lasts only once around the hall and then the music stops. And there in a nutshell is the scissors from start to finish.

The dance has been described as very difficult for the beginner but much less strenuous than the tango when once the steps have been learned. The scissors originated in Madrid where it is known as the "Juanita." It reached this country via Paris where some of the army and navy officers picked up the steps and brought them home as curiosities. And now it threatens to become as popular as the tango was a few years ago.

Somebody once inquired who was responsible for the radical departure from the good old-fashioned round and square dances of our fathers to the modern craze for jazz. The officers of the American Professors' Association of Dancing and the American National Association of Masters of Dancing undertook to explain. They blamed it on the saxophone and one or two musical instruments which lend themselves to a moaning, swaying and tantalizing rhythm quite different from the older and more strictly-timed dance music arranged for the waltz, the polka or the gavotte.

"It is impossible," declared Prof. Bott, of Dayton, O., "to do away with dances that are not learned, but rather compelled, by the suggestions of musicians who go through monkey shins as they grind out their noise. If the jazz bands keep on, the profession of dancing will die a natural death."

A remarkable incident bearing on the dance situation is related by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, U. S. Navy, in his new book, "From Midshipman to Rear Admiral."

Wars Preceded by Dance crazes

One evening in August, 1913, while Admiral Fiske was assigned to the war college, he and his wife attended a dance at the Casino in Newport. The young folks were dancing a turkey trot. Admiral Fiske made a light remark about the ungalantness of the dance to Rear Admiral Charles H. Davis. The latter replied very seriously:

"You know that this dance is not new and it is all over Europe. This special step may be new but dancing crazes are old, and this is part of a dancing craze. I am quite sure that it portends evil. Whenever a savage tribe hears that the men of another tribe are dancing it gets ready for war. There have been several dancing crazes recorded in history. One dancing craze preceded the Crusade; another preceded the Reign of Terror. Every dancing craze has been followed in about a year by an awful war."

Admiral Davis made the above statement in August, 1913, after watching the comparatively sane turkey trot. One year later all Europe was plunging headlong into the war he had predicted.

Section 9. The Board of Aldermen and executive powers of the city shall be vested in a Board of Aldermen and shall be exercised in the manner provided in this Charter. The Board of Aldermen shall consist of a mayor and five aldermen elected by the City at large to the office of three years, and until their successors are chosen and have qualified. A general city election for the choice of aldermen shall be held at the first regular municipal election of each year. At such election held in 1920 and in each even numbered year thereafter, a mayor and two aldermen shall be elected. At each election held in 1921, and in each odd numbered year thereafter, three aldermen shall be elected. Nominations and Elections.

Section 12. Any person eligible to the Board of Aldermen may be placed in nomination for mayor or alderman by a petition in writing filed with the city clerk, and signed by a majority of the electors of the city, equal to one per cent (1 per cent) of those who voted at the last preceding regular municipal election, but not less than one hundred electors. The signatures to a nominating petition need not be on one paper, but may be on two or more separate papers, there shall be attached an affidavit of the circulator thereof stating that each signature appended thereto was made in his presence and is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be. Each signer of a nominating petition shall sign his name in ink or indelible pencil and shall place after his name the date when his signature was made and his place of residence by street and number, or other description sufficient to identify the place. Nominating petitions shall state whether the persons named therein are candidates for mayor or alderman, and the nominating petition paper for aldermen shall indicate by number the position on the Board of Aldermen for which the person named in the petition is a candidate. The lowest numbers shall indicate positions on the Board of Aldermen to be filled for a full term of two years or less, and the highest numbers shall indicate positions to be filled for an unexpired term.

Section 13. Electors shall indicate their preference for mayor or alderman by striking out the names of all candidates for each position except that of the candidate for whom they wish to elect, and the name of the candidate for more than one candidate for the same position shall not be counted for any of the candidates for that position.

Section 14. All elections held under this Charter, whether for the choice of candidates or for the submission of questions to the electors, shall be conducted in accordance with the general election laws of the state; and except as otherwise provided in this Charter such general election laws shall apply to the regular municipal elections. The election judges and other necessary election officials for conducting all such elections shall be appointed by the Board of Aldermen. The election judges shall conduct the elections, open the ballot boxes, take therefrom and count the ballots, whether the election is by ballot or by ballot and ballot, and shall seal the tally sheet up with their certificate, and return it at once to the City Clerk. At their next regular election, canvas and officially declare the result of the election as to candidates for mayor or aldermen, and as to questions and propositions submitted to the electors.

Section 15. If a vacancy occurs in the Board of Aldermen, except as a result of a recall election, some eligible person shall be chosen to fill the vacancy. Any person chosen by the Board of Aldermen to fill a vacancy therein shall continue to hold office until the next regular municipal election, at which time some person shall be elected to fill the office in which the vacancy occurred. If the unexpired term of the person chosen to fill the vacancy shall be longer than the unexpired term of the person who was elected to fill the office, the election shall be held as hereinafter provided.

LONE STAR GAS CO.
NET EARNINGS 1919
WAS 7.27 PER CENT

Gas operations of the Lone Star Gas company netted a return equivalent to 7.27 per cent per annum on its property value of $6,723,287.53, according to the report Saturday, made after an audit of the company's books, by Grover C. Bland, chief accountant to the supervisor of public utilities at Dallas, published by the Dallas News. The report covers a period of operation for 12 months ending Nov. 30, 1919.

The News says: The Lone Star Gas company opened its books for this audit only under the condition that the gas operations alone be made public. The figures refer only to gas operations, although an idea of the returns for that 12-month period could be drawn from a supplementary report made by Ed C. Connor, chief engineer to the supervisor, showing the return for the 12 months ending Dec. 31, 1918, was 8.20 per cent on all operations of the company.

The average rate of return from all operations of the company, as shown by the report, for the period from June, 1909, to December, 1918, would be approximately the same as shown by the report of Edward W. Benite of Chicago in 1916. At that time the company's dividend over a period of six years amounted to $25.50 per cent in cash on the property value and 25.39 per cent in stocks, making an average of something like 9.50 per cent per annum, when an addition of the $401,222.99 surplus and undivided profits was made.

Report Covers Twelve Months. Mr. Bland said that while the report does not cover operations for a fiscal year, it does cover a complete 12-month period. He said that for all practical purposes it would serve as well as if the fiscal year had been considered. This was impossible, because of the immediate need for the report and the fact that when the work was started on the books of the company had not been closed for December.

Mr. Connor arrived at the statement of property values by following the methods employed by the company in former years. He declared also that if the method for depreciation deductions the government allows in income tax matters had been employed the depreciation amounts would have been greater and the profit rate of 7.27 per cent per annum would have been reduced materially, possibly altogether. "The company proposes during the current year to increase its per cent of depreciation to conform with that allowed by the government," Mr. Connor said, "but I did not feel justified in allowing this deduction from earnings, in view of the established practice of the company, consistency in the matter demanding that the same methods used in the past apply for the current year. This fact, however, should be taken into consideration, owing to the fact that this privilege is recognized and permitted by the United States government, in the matter of income tax returns."

Municipal officials refused to comment on the report yesterday. A complete digest of the facts in efforts to establish their relationships is being worked out by the mayor, who will have a statement for the public after he and the city commissioners, with the supervisor of public utilities, agree on the issues involved.

"A PROPHET IS NOT WITHOUT HONOR SAVE IN HIS OWN COUNTRY"

This is often so but we don't feel that it applies in our case, as our coffees are widely used and highly praised in Wichita Falls—However there are some people who seem to think that their home town cannot produce a first-class article. Some merchants are included in this class. We know of nothing in the climate or environment of Wichita Falls that would be any handicap to industry and intelligence applied to the production of a good article. We do know that we have devoted as many years in a careful, painstaking effort to develop superior cup quality in our coffees as most any one in America. Our coffees are roasted fresh daily. If your grocer don't handle them ask him why. If he tries to sell you something else ask him why again. I thank you.
