When Mrs. Millionaire Cooks

She May Not Have to Keep on Cooking, But It Will Give Her a Better Understanding, Says Mrs. Robert A. Franks, Who Believes in Modern Kitchen Comforts for the Household Worker of Today.

"An effort has been made to have domestic servants live outside the home and work eight hours with extra pay for overtime."
"I am happy to say that I can now boast of being an excellent cook."
"I wish that every woman might share the feeling of independence which I now enjoy."

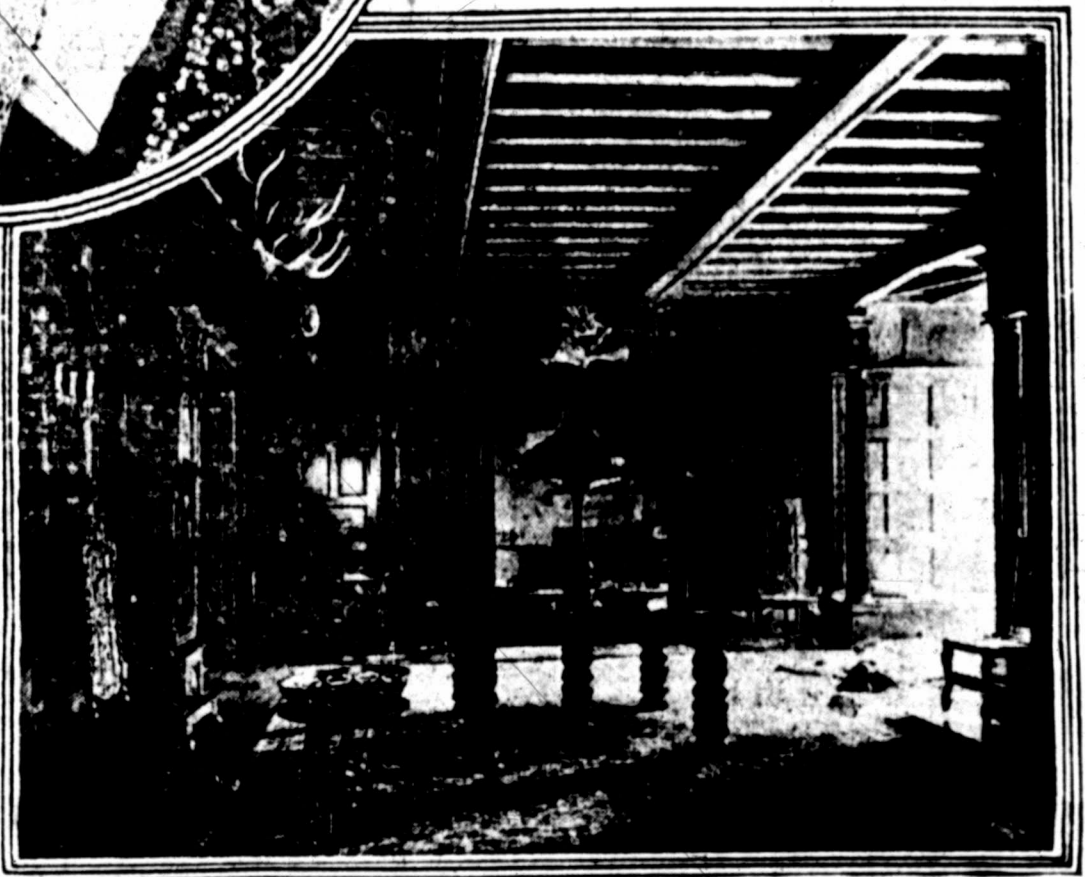

Mrs. Robert A. Franks, Who Discusses the Problem of Domestic Help.

Where inefficiency is encountered, the worker always feels she is drudging and calls her work menial, but an intelligent worker is proud of her ability and respects herself accordingly.
"There is urgent need for well trained, well intentioned workers in the home. Children need them. Invalids need them. They are needed by the busy women who are doing such fine things in social service—in the hospitals, in the schools, in the social settlements, in all the opportunities women of means find to employ their time, their money and their helpful intelligence for the public good. These need not only willing hands, but intelligence, kindness, sympathetic interest—all these go to make that kindly atmosphere which we feel is home.
"What do we offer to the domestic worker which would attract the type of personality to make a home environment?"

Education to Solve Problems

"Do we assure them a comfortable room, and the sympathy and interest which would make the home atmosphere a reality for them? This is something every housekeeper ought to ask herself," said Mrs. Franks.
"I believe the establishment of schools for the training of efficient household workers will do more than anything else to change the present attitude of mind of the employe in the home.
"The slovenly person who gets indifferent results, who realizes full well that she is not pleasing her employer because she is demanding a high wage which she cannot meet in efficiency, is the dissatisfied person.
"Training schools such as I have favored for years—domestic science courses in every school, public or private, for rich and poor—will raise the standard of the worker and the standard of household service.
"Until this is done quite generally," said Mrs.

In Mrs. Franks's Home at Llewellyn Park Where She First Felt the Pinch of the Servant Problem.

By Helen Hoffman

SINCE the wives of millionaires have taken to doing their own cooking, mistresses and maids both are beginning to ask for a new interpretation of the phrase, "menial work."
As a result of the dearth of servants following the busy days of war, wives of well known men in the financial, business and professional work have been making a success of housework.
Having even excelled their former servants in the culinary art and in other phases of housework, they are now asking the question: "Just what does a servant imply when she writes in answer to an advertisement, 'Of course I do not want to be considered a menial,' or 'I do not wish to do any kind of work that would be considered menial!'"
Wives of wealthy men, who declare their experimentation with household work was a great satisfaction to them because they got excellent results, are not willing to admit the servant's point of view, that is to say, the point of view held by many of them, that domestic work is menial.
On the contrary, they assert that housekeeping duties, well performed, represent labor as dignified as any other kind, and that the same intelligence is required to cook a perfect dinner as to paint a picture, play a musical instrument or write a book.
The Gospel of "Happier Homes"
One of the many women, wives of wealthy men, who has made a decided success of cooking, is Mrs. Robert A. Franks of Llewellyn Park, New Jersey.
Mrs. Franks for years has done much to try to make the housewife's lot a happier one, and she has endeavored to effect a happy compromise between mistress and maid. Particularly through the several books she has written on the subject, she has been able to carry the gospel of "Happier Homes," through a better understanding of this problem to thousands of housewives. Indeed, she is regarded a national authority on the subject of simplifying housework, and carefully thought-out menus, which when put into practise meant better nourished families at reduced expense.

The Franks's home in Llewellyn Park, New Jersey, boasted before the war a large staff of contented servants.
But the demands of war, which absorbed everything to their ends, made a heavy draft on the healthy young men and women employed in domestic work.
Out of their remoulded life in munitions and kindred war activities, there has come a new spirit of unrest or dissatisfaction with their lot.
Servants Seek New Fields
Many women who formerly did housework are seeking new fields. Others are returning to it reluctantly, because they consider it "menial," and when they do go back they insist upon specializing.
"Household workers," said Mrs. Franks, whose husband is one of the former wealthy associates of the late Andrew Carnegie in the steel business, "represent one class of workers that has been affected less by the increased cost of living than many another class.
"They receive their board and lodging, and their quarters are often much more comfortable, and their food much better than they could afford to have under different circumstances. Then, too, where uniforms are worn, it is the custom to provide these also. Rent has gone up, but their employer pays it. Food is much more expensive, but the employer buys it.
"With the exception of an increase in the price of clothing, one can readily see that household workers are not so much affected by the high cost of living. At the same time," said Mrs. Franks, "they are demanding great increases in wages, and shorter hours and many privileges.
"But the greatest change that has been noted in the household employe is her attitude toward her work and toward her employer. Everybody today wants to be rich with little or nothing to do.
"The constant changing from one place to another in the hope of getting higher wages eliminates the old feeling of interest and affection between employer and employe in the home, which was once a warm bond of human sympathy and enriched life for both.

"What do modern conditions offer in place of the old community of interest?
"A company has been formed," said Mrs. Franks, "to deliver hot, well cooked meals at one's door at any hour designated. An effort is being made to have domestic workers live outside the home and work eight hours per day with extra pay for overtime.
"Electric stoves, cooking utensils, sweepers, etc., have been invented, so that for comparatively small cost one can cook and keep one's house in order with the utmost ease, and eliminate the domestic worker altogether."
It was here that I visualized Mrs. Millionaire at work among the saucepans—an image repeated in hundreds of kitchens throughout the country.
Because of the problems presented on every hand in engaging satisfactory help, Mrs. Franks, as well as many other women of wealth, last year decided to do her own cooking.
This work was facilitated by an electric stove, an electric dish washer, an electric egg beater, and similar labor saving devices.
"This question of the distaste for domestic employment," said Mrs. Franks, "has interested me deeply, and I have been experimenting in an effort to make household labors easy and enjoyable for women.
"I installed an electric kitchen, and then learned to make practical use of it. I had had cooking lessons, but had never cooked a dinner in my life. I am happy to say that I can now boast of being an excellent cook, and it was so easy and pleasant to know this art in the midst of the equipment modern science has evolved to make cooking easy, that I wish every woman might share the feeling of independence which I now enjoy.
Changing the Cook's Attitude
"I happen to be a very busy woman with many interests, so my culinary experiment had to give way recently to the usual household employe, but in the future my attitude toward my cook will be very different. I shall look upon a perfect ice or jelly or patty as a work of art and honor the man or woman who can create these.
"The cook's attitude toward me will, I hope, be quite changed. She will enjoy practicing her gentle art in an electrical kitchen where most of the disagreeable accompaniments of cooking—blackened pots and pans and the use of a greasy dish cloth—are entirely eliminated; that she will feel a pride in doing her best with a pleasant certainty that every intelligent effort will be appreciated by one who knows her problems from personal experience.

"I do not feel that my dignity or self-respect has been lessened a particle by cooking for my family. Why should I feel that way? Isn't any form of labor self-respecting if it is done well?"

Franks, "I think many women will learn that the growing scarcity of household workers is not an unalloyed misfortune. Their feeling of independence and a certain self-respect in having conquered a new and useful art will largely compensate them for their efforts in practical cooking."

Spontaneous Combustion in Hay

THE creation of extensive hay dumps for Army requirements brought into great prominence the question, which is ever-recurrent in agricultural practice, as to the extent to which spontaneous ignition may take place and the conditions that are favorable to it. The commonest cases of spontaneous heat production are, of course, those in which living material, seeds, leaves, etc., undergo a "sweating" process when placed in heaps, and this change, which is associated with respiratory and enzymic changes, also proceeds to a certain extent in stacks of green or fresh hay.
A much more potent effect, according to a writer in Nature, is, however, exerted by the growth of micro-organisms, bacteria and moulds, some of which have been shown to be capable of raising the temperature to upwards of 70 degrees C. Beyond this temperature it is doubtful whether even these organisms can continue growth, and this view is supported by the fact that only carbon dioxide, and not inflammable gas, is produced, but the high temperature already attained, and possibly the products of microbial action, serve to initiate purely chemical oxidation changes, which eventually raise the temperature to the region of 90-95 degrees.

During this phase the hay assumes a dark brown or black color, small quantities of formic acid are produced and there is a loss of pentosans and other nitrogen-free constituents. The latter temperature is, of course, unable to give rise to firing, but in view of the fact that substances such as bran become pyrophorous on exposure to temperatures of 145-175 degrees, and that energetic changes take place as low as 130 degrees, it has been assumed that a prolonged action at the temperature occurring in the haystack may also result in the formation of similar pyrophorous substances. The presence of moisture and of easily decomposable compounds and a free air supply are predisposing conditions to excessive heating.

UP TO THE MANAGERS.

Herbert Hoover, declaring government operation of railroads and steamships fundamentally unsound, except as necessitated by the vicissitudes of war...

The bulk of the people went into the government operation of railroads with open minds—open those who were fundamentally opposed to the idea...

Those of us who believed beforehand in government ownership were quite sure that government operation would do that and more...

It's only truth to say also that service deteriorated, expenses mounted and that hundreds of communities which under private operation of roads had received far first-class railroad service...

We in the West have a clearer appreciation of this condition than any other part of Texas. But with the roads going back to private control in a few more days under conditions insuring them of adequate financial support to pay dividends on their stocks...

The first prerequisite to the railroads making good under private operation is a square deal. Citizens concerned in their making good should seek to assure them at least that much.

Guarantees against any reduction in rail workers wages before next September 1 is given in the revised draft of the railroad reorganization bill...

Mr. Henry avers that the 'Ferguson forces' will be found supporting the Bailey faction in the May primaries. What business have the Ferguson forces in democratic primaries, anyway?

The Fort Worth Ad club takes the attitude that every line of business operating in violation of the Sunday law should be closed. A rising vote is being made in favor of the proposal, which is an aftermath of the Ministers' Association demanding closing of the shops.

olidations under plans and approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be permitted and a revolving fund of $500,000,000 for loans and to complete payments for Federal control is provided. Some of the best features of operation under government control—common terminals, zoning, etc., are retained, and the Interstate Commerce Commission's powers are greatly extended and strengthened to insure the protection of the public and of the roads.

New Mexico becomes No. 32 to ratify the suffrage amendment as Mississippi becomes No. 6 to reject it. With Louisiana and North Carolina considered impossible from a suffrage standpoint and with ratification in two other states, Florida and Tennessee, esopped by reason of their inhibition on ratification until a new Legislature has been elected after an amendment has been submitted, there remain six states from among which the amendment must secure four if it is to be put into effect in time to enfranchise women of all the states for the November election.

There is very considerable merit to the suggestion that instead of compulsory military training for the youth of the land we offer the option of voluntary military training. That would, of course, lack the universality that the compulsory law would insure; but we believe there are mighty few boys of the country, especially while the lessons of war remain as fresh as they are now, but would take advantage of the opportunity if it were offered without too great inconvenience and red tape.

A New York editor has discovered that building costs have increased 240 per cent since 1913. There's nothing about that statement to arouse any comment except to wonder, is that all? But the New York editor has discovered—more important—a new cause. It is due to the automobile and other luxuries which have drawn labor from the building industry and raised the cost of labor to such an extent that rentals have gone up in sympathy. We wish as much effort could be devoted to finding a remedy for the condition as has been devoted to enumerating the causes. And if there were as many remedies put forward as there have been 'causes,' we doubt not we would be getting something in the way of results. And most of us are only remotely concerned with causes or remedies because we are too busy getting over the effects.

Mr. Henry avers that the 'Ferguson forces' will be found supporting the Bailey faction in the May primaries. What business have the Ferguson forces in democratic primaries, anyway? Didn't they decide to go off and organize a party of their own? Are the 'Americans' getting lonesome already or do they purpose leaving Governor Jim as the sole member of the party while they are trying to break into democratic party elections.

The Fort Worth Ad club takes the attitude that every line of business operating in violation of the Sunday law should be closed. A rising vote is being made in favor of the proposal, which is an aftermath of the Ministers' Association demanding closing of the shops. And it seems to us that the attitude of the Fort Worth Ad club is correct—that the law should be enforced all around instead of only partially. That's what laws are for.

Mr. Henry avers that the 'Ferguson forces' will be found supporting the Bailey faction in the May primaries. What business have the Ferguson forces in democratic primaries, anyway? Didn't they decide to go off and organize a party of their own? Are the 'Americans' getting lonesome already or do they purpose leaving Governor Jim as the sole member of the party while they are trying to break into democratic party elections.

AMERICAN LEGION PLANS TO ORGANIZE A BASEBALL TEAM

REV. BINGHAM, FORMER LEAGUE PLAYER TO DIRECT THE RECRUITING

TAKES A STAND ON BONUSES

Oppose Payment of Such to Uninjured Ex-Servicemen—To Notify Congressman.

Plans for the organization of a baseball club by the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion were discussed at the meeting of the post held in their new quarters in the basement of the First Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar, and the organization of the club placed under the direction of Rev. P. E. Bingham, who at one time pastimed with the Detroit American League club as a first baseman.

Rev. Bingham, who has also agreed to serve as temporary secretary of the employment bureau, with headquarters in the club rooms, is planning to get in touch with the ex-service men with former baseball service, several of whom have played on major and minor league clubs, and expects the local post to have an entry which will be well to the front in the argument on the circuit being organized among the legion posts of West and Northwest Texas.

The post went on record at the Monday night meeting as being opposed to the giving of bonuses to uninjured service men, saying that it is a plan to keep the character of service men rendered in France. E. C. de Montel, post adjutant, was instructed to write Lucian Parrish, member of Congress from this district, advising him of the stand taken by the local post.

Arrangements for the distribution of the memorials from the French government to relatives of soldiers who lost their lives in France was turned over to a committee composed of J. B. Hainault and Rev. P. E. Bingham. All churches in the city will probably be asked to arrange for a joint memorial service on one of the next Sundays.

Discussions of universal military training and the peace treaty will feature the next meeting of the post. The club quarters are rapidly being fitted up at Seventh and Lamar, in the basement of the church, and will soon be open at all hours, where former soldiers, sailors and marines, whether members of the legion or not, will be welcome at any time.

IS AMERICA'S WORK IN FRANCE COMPLETED?

"Is America's work in France completed?" This is the question Mrs. Kadrick Banks will answer in her illustrated lectures in Wichita Falls, Thursday, February 25 and 27.

Mrs. Banks is the wife of the great American humorist and lecturer, John Kendrick Bangs. She recently returned with Mr. Bangs from Europe. During the war Mrs. Bangs was prominently identified first with the Fatherless Children of France organization, for which she operated a tea room in her summer home at Ogungrad, Maine; then with the American Committee for Devastated France, having had charge of its work-room in New York City.

Mrs. Bangs is a very facile, interesting and dramatic speaker.

DICKSON JUBILEE SINGERS TO GIVE ANOTHER PROGRAM

Those who have heard these children sing have been highly enthusiastic in their praise, and will be glad to hear them again, while those who have not heard them will be afforded another opportunity. The public is invited.

This is the regular prayer service of the First Baptist church and the Senior B. Y. P. U. will have charge of the program. The subject will be "Texas As a Mission Field," and several of the young people will take part.

NO IDLE MEN AMONG BUILDING CRAFTS OF CITY

"There is not an idle man among the building crafts of Wichita Falls. All are getting good wages and the working conditions are gradually improving. Wichita Falls is today the best town for the working man in the state of Texas." Mr. Prather reports that sufficient work is now in view to keep all local building tradesmen busy during the spring and summer.

STONE QUARRY TO BE READY FOR OPERATION WITHIN THIRTY DAYS

The Lone Star Stone company, financed by Wichita Falls capital, expects to have its quarry at Chico in full operation within 30 days, according to G. D. Anderson, an officer of the company, who has just returned from Chico.

The company now has 125 men at work finishing up the opening of the quarry and placing the machinery. Holes are also being drilled into the huge rock ledges for the powder charges that will break it into pieces so that it can be handled by the crusher. A huge crusher weighing 144,000 pounds has been placed in position and the boiler and engine are now being connected up.

It is expected the quarry will have an output at the start of from 50 to 75 cars of crushed stone a day. The larger part of the produce for some time will be used by Wichita county in building its highway system.

BANQUET TO BANKERS IS LARGELY ATTENDED NUMBER OF SPEECHES

JUDGE RAMSEY DEFENDS RECORD OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK SYSTEM. WALTER CLINE TOASTMASTER

Five hundred persons attended the banquet given in the basement of the Christian church Monday night to members of the seventh district group of the Texas Bankers' Association. The banquet was attended by a representative gathering of Texas bankers, practically all parts of the state being represented.

Walter Cline was toastmaster. In his opening address the toastmaster paid a high tribute to American grit and declared that the American people are fully competent to solve their own problems and that there was no serious menace presented by the wave of unrest which he declared would pass away with return of normal conditions.

Judge John C. Kay made a very interesting speech upon "Bankers' Philanthropy." His address was well received, especially those dealing with the federal reserve bank system.

Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker spoke on "The Three Biggest Worries in the World—Grit, Grace and Gold." The pastor's address took the course of a humorous speech and was well received by his hearers.

O. L. Cox, of the National Bank of Commerce, New York City, expressed the appreciation of the visiting bankers for Wichita Falls' hospitality.

Other speakers included Clint Wood, Fred Hoopes, vice president of the South Texas Commercial Bank, Houston, and C. W. Reid, president of the seventh district association.

R. E. Shephard sang two selections and the Flying Squadron gave several songs.

MANY ENTRIES ARE BEING MADE FOR STOCK SHOW

FORT WORTH, Feb. 24.—Virgil P. Keel of Gainesville, veteran exhibitor in the horse show classes of the Southwestern Exposition and the Fat Stock Show, is the first to make extensive entries for the spring event this year.

Keel's stable is headed by "Kismet," the auto-jumping horse, and contains "Bourbon King," "Eagle," "Thornton Rex," "T. L.," "Spottie" and "Gallant King." The last-named horse is the five-gaited saddle stallion that swept the classes of the show here for several years.

Keel has brought "Gallant King" out of retirement in anticipation of the spring event. He is confident that the splendid animal that once took the blue ribbon from Miss Lula Long's "My Major Dark" can still cope with the best in the land.

Splendid entries in the harness class have been made by three Dallas horsemen—J. H. Armstrong, R. H. Lewis and Shad Selman. Lewis will exhibit "Joe Bailey."

W. H. Furse, manager of the horse show, expects the entries of several large northern stables during the next week. He is confident that the horse show classes will have more and better entries than for a number of years.

Northern sheep exhibitors will bring large consignments to the spring event, owing to the unprecedented demand for purebred sheep in Texas. A telegram from J. M. Jones of Littleton, Colo., department manager for sheep, announces that A. W. Arnold, owner of the Arctic farms, Gainesville, Wis., will bring 123 head of Shropshire, Hampshire, Merino and Rambouillet to the show for sale purposes.

Of especial significance also is the entry of John H. Seely of Mt. Pleasant, Utah, who will have 20 head of his fine Rambouillet. Seely was the man who was called "insane" by several breeders because he paid $1,000 for a Rambouillet ram at the first ram sale held at Salt Lake, under the aus-

URGE THAT INCOME TAX RETURNS BE FILED NOW TO AVOID CLOSING RUSH

Wichitans are urged not to wait until the last few days to fill out their income tax returns, and thereby flood the local revenue office to the point where the applicants can not be cared for. There are six men here at present, and the people are laying out in coming to fill out their returns, that there is not really business enough for more than one, L. Skelton, of the office states. He urges that all who have to make returns and who will need the office's assistance, call immediately.

Manager Jones predicts the best and most comprehensive sheep show ever held here. The poultry building on the show grounds is nearly completed and it offers greatly increased show space for exhibitors. Walter Burton, superintendent of the poultry show, anticipates the best exhibition that ever has been made here.

A large part of the J. George Loos carnival already has been pitched on the grounds. The carnival space has been divided, due to the large increase in the number of attractions.

M. Sanson Jr., manager of the show, desires the exhibitors to remember that next Saturday is closing day for entries and that none will be accepted later. He urges exhibitors to rush in their entries to avoid confusion.

EIGHT CASES CHARGING ROBBERY BY FIREARMS SCHEDULED FOR WEEK

The cases of eight men charged by indictment with robbery by firearms are scheduled for trial during the present week. The sheriff's department has met with encouraging success in the apprehension of alleged highway robbers and arrests have been made following practically each report of highway robbery. An interesting feature of recent highway robberies is that most of those arrested are young men, many of them under 21 years of age. Special venues have been summoned for the trial of those indicted on charges of banditry.

MANY COUNTIES ARE ORGANIZING RELIEF FOR THE NEAR EAST

DALLAS, Feb. 24.—One hundred and seventeen counties in north and west Texas have been reported as organized to the headquarters of the Near East Relief Committee within the short time following the announcement of State Chairman Charles L. Sanger that a campaign would be necessary to relieve the suffering from hunger in Near East countries.

The necessity of the call has been set out so often in Associated Press dispatches, in the request of President Wilson before congress, in articles in the Saturday Evening Post and Literary Digest, that state headquarters found an unexpected response to its efforts to organize.

It is the belief of those closely in touch with the situation that no additional assistance after this year will be needed for the sufferers in Near East countries. Reports from eastern representatives are that in devastated sections of Armenia, Syria and other Near East countries it will be possible to raise a harvest in the fall that will stave off the hunger of the people, and with the co-operation of agencies of the world in adjusting sanitation and health measures that the people of those countries will be able to care for themselves.

The Near East relief committee is organized under an act of congress which provides that every cent contributed will go directly to the sections of the Near East in greatest need of assistance. Already thousands of dollars worth of food, medicine, and old clothes have been sent overseas and this supply is augmented as rapidly as funds will permit.

Relief work in the Near East is administered under the direction of an officer of the United States army specially detailed for that purpose. State headquarters are located at 311 Southwestern Life building, Dallas.

C. BABCOCK VISITING THE PACIFIC COAST

A report from Los Angeles states that C. Babcock from Wichita Falls was a visitor Feb. 17 at the big exhibit of Southern California products maintained free to the public in the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. He also attended the lectures and moving pictures that are a part of the daily program. The exhibit is the largest of any in the country maintained by a commercial organization. Before returning home, Mr. Babcock expects to visit several of the many other places of interest in the Southland.

LETTER FROM BROTHER IN BELGIUM RECEIVED BY DESK SERGEANT

That Germany will never restore the many millions stolen from Belgium and that the factory operators of that nation will never have their property restored that was stolen by the invaders, is the bitter belief of Rudolph Ehlers, a native Belgian, formerly a millionaire rolling mill owner of Antwerp, expressed in a letter written from Antwerp to his brother, Jules Ehlers, desk sergeant at the city hall. The indomitable spirit of that small people who, though trodden under foot by the ruthless Teutons refused to recognize the enemy, is forcibly shown in the tone of the letter, especially when the old man (for he is past 70 years) remarks how his business, which took a lifetime to accumulate, was swept away with a single blow and he now must start "again at his beginnings." Enclosed in the letter is an old photograph of the desk sergeant taken in Antwerp when he was 21 years old, which Mr. Ehlers had written for in order to obtain a copy. The picture occasioned a good deal of comment among the force on account of the fact that it is a likeness of a handsome young "dandy" of that time, with high top hat, wing collar and all of the "Beau Brummel" regalia of a time when the young men spent a goodly portion of their time before the mirror. Some of the boys at the hall seemed rather skeptical about the picture and would not admit it was the sergeant, but as Mr. Ehlers said, 30 years make a good deal of change possible.

A request was made in the letter for some of the latest postage stamps of this country and several rare Belgium stamps were enclosed. Mr. Ehlers said his brother is a great stamp collector and an art connoisseur of distinction.

This is often so but we don't feel that it applies in our case, as our coffees are widely used and highly praised in Wichita Falls—However there are some people who seem to think that their home town cannot produce a first-class article. Some merchants are included in this class. We know of nothing in the climate or environment of Wichita Falls that would be any handicap to industry and intelligence applied to the production of a good article. We do know that we have devoted as many years in a careful, painstaking effort to develop superior cup quality in our coffees as most any one in America. Our coffees are roasted fresh daily.
