MEXICAN CONGRESS MEMBERS ON WAY TO HERMOSILLO FOR CONFERENCE TO STOP REVOLT

AGUA PRIETA, SONORA, APRIL 24.—Eighteen members of the Mexican national congress were at Nogales, Sonora, today on their way to Hermosillo for a conference with Sonora revolutionary leaders who have proclaimed their intention is the overthrow of President Carranza, in an effort to settle differences between the state and the national government.

General Calles, commander of the Sonora army, said that after conferences at Hermosillo, the delegation probably would continue to the Governor de la Huerta becomes head of a new provisional Mexican government under the plan of Agua Prieta, proclaimed yesterday by the revolutionaries. He will act until a provisional president is appointed after the plan has been accepted by the other states joining the revolutionary movement.

Mr. and Mrs. Yaqui Indians who have joined the Sonora army marched eastward today to reinforce troops concentrated to guard the mountain passes between Chihuahua and this state against approaching Carranza forces.

Sonora troops, under Gen. Angel Flores, continued the invasion of Sinaloa toward Mazatlan and at last reports had progressed beyond Culiacan.

U. S. Keeping Hands Off. WASHINGTON, April 24.—While American cruisers were sailing toward rebel Mexico today, there was lacking any indication of an altered attitude toward the United States government. Officials of the state and war departments continued to watch developments in the new Mexican situation with apparent equanimity.

The dispatch of war craft to Mazatlan, Topolobampo and Frontera was taken to mean nothing more than a guarantee so far as possible of American safety. It was not believed the commanders of those vessels would be ordered to go further than to afford refuge to such Americans as chose to go aboard.

RYAN ACCEPTS PAYMENT OF $500 FOR STUTZ STOCK. NEW YORK, April 24.—An agreement was reached today between Allen A. Ryan, chairman of the Stutz Motor Car Company, and the protective committee organized by the state to guard interests of stock exchange houses under contract to deliver Stutz stock by which settlement with Mr. Ryan for $500 a share was arranged.

MEAT CLEAVER FOUND IN TANK NEAR SCENE OF STENSON'S MURDER

A meat cleaver was found in a lake near Henrietta, which was used as evidence against John Borden, construction gang water, accused of the murder of D. E. Stenson, young Wacoan, whose body, horribly mutilated, was found several months ago in the lake. The cleaver was found in a tank near Henrietta. Fletcher S. Jones, district attorney, and members of the Clay county grand jury, discovered the meat cleaver. Borden was buried in the lake bottom. The district attorney says that fragments of human blood are still to be found upon the instrument. Shallow water at the lake's edge was dredged. John Borden was found crouching under a bridge near the scene of the tragedy the morning following Stenson's death. A complaint charging murder was filed against him and he was remanded to jail at Henrietta without bond pending action by the grand jury.

The mayor was authorized and instructed to call a mass-meeting of the citizens to meet next Monday night at 8:00 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium for the purpose of considering the question of adopting a commission form of government for Burk Burnett. And to appoint a committee of 15 to draft a charter to be voted by the people.

CONGRESS RECEIVES MANY APPEALS FOR BONUS TO SOLDIERS

Demands That Not Be Passed Run Close Second in List of Petitions Received. (By HERBERT W. WALKER United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, April 24.—Congress today was receiving more appeals for the passage of soldier aid legislation than for any other measure.

During that time 38 petitions, mostly from soldier organizations, were filed urging immediate enactment of legislation to aid the service men in the same period protests against the soldier bill and an increase in taxes totaled 27. Of this number, eight were denunciations of the bonus, 14 were demands for general reduction in taxes, and five asked the repeal of the excess profits law.

There were 14 petitions for amnesty toward political radicals and 11 for the "freedom of Ireland" or the recognition of a republic in that country.

Disapproval of universal military training ran third in the summary of petitions.

There were 14 petitions for amnesty toward political radicals and 11 for the "freedom of Ireland" or the recognition of a republic in that country.

The record shows one petition asking for an amendment to the Volstead law allowing sale of light wines and beer.

THOUSANDS IN DENIM PARADE; PRICES DROP

NEW YORK, April 24.—Father Knickerbocker girded up his loins in denim and patches today to take his first serious punch at the high cost of goods dressing.

The day of the big parade—the economy parade, launched half jealously by an organization of dramatic writers and press agents known as the Chinese grub—found thousands of earnest citizens ready to line up and trudge over miles of cobblestone and asphalt in a warning protest against profiteering in the necessities of life.

Long before the hour set for the parade to move steady streams of men, women and children were moving toward the starting point at Columbus Circle, clad in any old thing—and the older the better.

Every class was represented. The well-to-do business man marched shoulder to shoulder with the "white collar boy" of static salary envelope.

High set boys and girls, municipal employees, humble citizens of the lower east side and a Chinese delegation from Mott street, had places in the line not to mention scores of theatrical stars of both sexes and all magnitudes.

More than a score of large stores have advertised price reductions in the newspapers and A. W. Riley, head of the department of justice "flying squadron," which has been doing missionary work among dealers here, predicted that the number will increase rapidly.

Cards were passed out to the marchers pledging them to inventory their shoe possessions and plan their use so that only a minimum of new garments would have to be bought in 1920.

NEW YORK, April 24.—It was a long time between baths but only a short time between drinks for Frank J. Gould, former show girl, charged in her suit for divorce on file here today.

Mrs. Gould named two other women who, she said, her husband was associated with in Paris.

SAN REMO, APRIL 24.—A complete agreement with respect to the attitude the allies shall adopt toward Germany in connection with the carrying out of the peace treaty, it was reached by Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand, it was stated here today.

The agreement was reached in a conference lasting three and a half hours between the two premiers. The French premier was delighted with the outcome. Premier Lloyd George said:

German Army Held to 100,000. (United Press Staff Correspondent) BERLIN, April 23.—(Dobayev)—Allied military observers in Germany have decided that the German government should not be allowed a single man in its armies more than the 100,000 permitted by the treaty of Versailles, it was learned today.

The decision became known shortly after the Berlin authorities had dispatched a note to the council of premiers meeting in San Remo, asking permission to increase Germany's armaments.

The military observers' decision also included the following: Reichwehr should be withdrawn completely from the Ruhr district.

The Ruhr would be left in the allies, delivering their weapons to the presence of representatives of the workmen.

Discontinuation of the German civil guards. Permission to Germany to maintain the same number of police as before the war, provided they are men in which the people have confidence.

This number might be increased where local conditions require.

BITTEREST PARTY SCRAP IN JERSEY G. O. P. PRIMARIES

By HAROLD D. JACOBS United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, April 24.—The hardest fought and most bitter pre-convention battle in the presidential campaign to date will be wound up in New Jersey tonight.

The contest between Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and Senator Hiram Johnson in that state's primary tomorrow began several weeks ago and has daily gathered momentum, resulting in the most intensive political maneuvering that has yet developed.

Johnson's friends regard New Jersey as the really "pivotal state" for him. They point out that if he wins he will have gained an important foothold in the east.

Supporters of General Wood, who held a similar view on the effect of the New Jersey vote on Johnson's candidacy and have waged their battle in the state accordingly.

The democratic primary held simultaneously, is expected to result in an endorsement of Governor Edwards.

The other important republican primaries are those in Ohio and Massachusetts. In Ohio he will oppose Senator Harding and in Massachusetts Governor Coakley. Johnson and Hoover are "second choice" candidates in Ohio.

The democrats also will hold primaries in Ohio and Massachusetts Tuesday with the probability of an instructed delegation from the latter and endorsement of Gov. James Cox by the former. The same day will see republican state conventions in Idaho and Washington.

Johnson and Wood will stump Indiana next week, where they are entered against Harding and Governor Lowden of Illinois in the primary May 4.

Nearly 200 precincts of the 1,500 in Montana gave the Californian 6,233 votes on returns compiled up to an early hour today. Major General Leonard Wood 1,694; Herbert Hoover 1,259; Governor Lowden of Illinois 1,139; and Senator Warren G. Harding few than 500.

He was accompanied by his wife and several friends. He refused to make a statement, saying only that he would not be in Paris May 1.

JOHNSON HAS LEAD OVER ALL OTHERS IN MONTANA VOTING for Hiram Johnson of California had a wide margin over his opponents for the republican presidential nomination in Montana's primary held yesterday, according to incomplete but widely scattered returns available this morning.

Returns for delegates to the national convention came in so slowly that "political posters" said it would "be a week before the outcome of those contests would be known definitely." United States Senator T. J. Walsh, however, was leading in the race for delegate to the democratic national convention. Returns were too few to show that either the regular republican delegate candidates or the eight men put forward by O. H. R. Shelley of Helena and re-pudged by the republican state convention, had a distinct advantage.

GOMPERS IS CRITIC OF LABOR LEADERS FOR POLITICAL MOVE

Believes They Should Not Ally Themselves With the Non-Partisan League. BOSTON, April 24.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, criticized the workers' non-partisan league political movement in Colorado in a letter received by John Listerman, secretary of the Pueblo branch of the league, made public today.

The labor leader took the local leaders to task for furthering a movement which he said bids fair to split labor's ranks in the presidential campaign.

"Does this mean the soviet idea?" the letter asks in regard to a plank in the league platform, declaring the purpose "is taking control of the law making and administrative power of Colorado and administering that power in the interest of the heretofore neglected workmen and working women."

The workers non-partisan league will hold a state convention May 1 at Denver. Gompers will attempt to thwart any effort to put a third party in the field.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BANS BOUT PLANNED AT BASEBALL PARK

District Attorney Fletcher Jones Saturday sounded the death knell to the proposed boxing exhibition Monday night at Athletic park, when he announced that both the boxers and the manager would be arrested for violation of the state prize-fighting statute.

The proposed fight is to be a 12-round go-between Freddie Hill and Solly Burns.

"As long as boxing exhibitions are conducted in the confines of the Athletic club rooms and conducted for the amusement of club members I cannot interfere, under the present state law, but I certainly cannot permit a general boxing bout scheduled to be staged for the general public at the baseball park," the district attorney said.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES ON FIRE ESCAPE STATUTE

ATLANTA, April 24.—That clause of the fire escape law exempting buildings in which no sleeping quarters are provided and where no public meetings are permitted, applies only to buildings erected by state, county or municipal authorities, according to an opinion by the attorney general, but the opinion suggests that where there are few employees this act should be enforced with discretion against this class of buildings.

THE AMERICAN PARTY.

Since the "American" party as it is constituted in Texas has no known organization outside of the state, one's explanation of the purpose behind former Governor Ferguson's announcement as a candidate for the presidency is limited only by one's imagination.

MADE WRONG CHOICE.

Herbert Hoover's candidacy for the presidency on the republican ticket doesn't seem to be making much headway. He faces utter elimination unless he can beat Hiram Johnson for the California vote next month.

It Can't Be Done

We rather look for some good out of the Banker-Farmers' conference at College Station; certainly there will be if practical application is made of the practicable suggestions given John Gorham of Waco.

that builds up the city at the expense of the farm production is both artificial and dangerous. The first concern in Texas communities outside of the oil belt is agriculture, and even the oil communities are vitally concerned if they but stop to think over the matter.

SPUDDERS BOW TO GASSERS IN THE FINAL GAME 5 TO 2; RUTH SHOWS HE'S A COMER

Did you ever sit on the deck of an ocean-going vessel and watch the men in a dory being tossed about on the waves? If you have, you will have noticed that they always appear to be having their gayest time when they are on the top of a wave, rather than in the gulleys of the sea.

But as you sit there calmly, all wrapped around with a blanket and your steamer cap pulled down over your ears, you are seeing the men in the elongated skiff ride the regular high waves than you do to watch them in the lower gulleys.

All of which would be a bit out of the way did it not apply to the members of the Wichita Falls baseball club during the past several days and what happened to them yesterday afternoon when they tried to go roughshod over Billy Smith's brave port club for the fourth time.

For the seven days before yesterday afternoon, with a single exception during the presence of the Dallas Marines, the Spudders have been having a great time on the crest of the billows. They have ridden proudly to the applause of their crowds, taking their hats off when it appeared to the lookers on that they would be split out on their necks.

Manager Salm gave his kid pitcher, "Babe" Ruth, the latter's first trial as a twister in the Texas League. The youngster, who looks about as if he will show some of the old-timers that he's a real pitcher before this season is over.

He does not take his time in the box, with thousands of people looking on, but after a while he will, and they will come this youngster's chances. He has a beautiful curve ball, as good a "float" as one can see in a season's journey, while his speed is sufficient.

Opposing Ruth was Pitcher Black, who twirled a wonderfully good game for the Spudders. He was in the box for three innings, but when he was called out by the Gassers, he was replaced by the regular pitcher, Whitcraft.

Coming up to the fifth, Kitchens walked after Storey and given five runs. Baseman Hungling an unassisted hit out. Ruth swatted safely to third.

Just as a night-cap, and not because they especially needed them, the Louisiana troops took off their entertainment with two runs in the ninth. Gleason singled to center and Vann came through which a double that scored him. Black moved Vann to third on a bunt. Knaupp fouled to Catcher Kitchens.

BOB MEUSEL A RECRUIT WHO STEPS INTO FRANK BAKER'S SHOES AT 3rd FOR THE N.Y. YANKEES... BOB IS ONE OF THE BIGGEST MEN THAT EVER PLAYED 3rd BASE - STANDING SIX FOOT THREE... HE HAS A LOT TO LEARN ABOUT PLAYING 3rd BASE...

In filling the shoes of the great "Home Run" Baker at third, Bob Meusel, the recruit third baseman of the New York "Yankees," has some little job cut out for him.

At first appearance he is likely to strike one as slow and cumbersome, but he has a tremendous long stride, which enables him to cover a surprising lot of ground.

And how he can hit! He's a right hander with a long, free swing, and when he lays against the ball it is likely to bust into the next state.

Meusel has a lot to learn about the fine points of covering the hot corner, having never played a third except in a makeshift capacity. But once he gets his stride, it will not be long before he will pick up the finer points of the position.

GEORGETTE—NOT GEORGES RULES THE ROOST IN THE CARPENTIER HOME

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, April 24.—"George—CHARGE!"

"Oul, oul, unmnoot, m'cher." "Ua minoot, no no, toot sweep." Thus cracks the domestic wif over Georges Carpentier.

Maybe the handsome Georges is the heavyweight champion of Europe, maybe he did give Joe Beckett passports to the Land of Nod in one punch, maybe he has enough to rock the throne of Dempsey—nevertheless, he's second in his own house.

"George, he used to be his own boss but the madame—she even tells him what to wear." Leon Wilson, his trainer, masseur, valet and interpreter, was saying as he selected the outfit for the day from the closet containing 15 suits of clothes, 12 pairs of shoes, 10 dozen hats, 25 silk shirts and a few other things.

"It is not the proper wear for afternoon, but since the madame—" in a sort of soliloquy he mused. "What does Georges do with all those clothes?" asked one of the two newspapermen decorating the upholstery in the elaborately appointed hotel apartment of the French gods of Fisticuffs.

"He wears them," a perfectly oblivious answer that caused a slight chuckle at the London joke. "You see it is like this," unmindful of the interruption, "George he makes at least three changes a day, sometimes more so it takes a big wardrobe."

"I used to lay out Georges's clothes but since he's married—" The door opened and in walked Georges himself forcing his attendant to come unbending himself of the "bitter fruit" that Hyman had dished out for him.

Deschamps then bowed suavely in from another door and began an illustrated lecture in frenchy English, a dainty French and doughboy slang why Willie Meehan, twice the victor over Jack Dempsey, would not two weeks of a double-time watch against Georges.

Georges seconded every motion and corrected the technique of the illustrations several times, otherwise enjoying the performance immensely. "When it comes to 'talking shop,' Georges and his astute manager can 'compare American' verve, gude. They were all attention while one of the scribes was countering with an argument that Willie Meehan against Dempsey was the best exemplification of the old tradition that 'accidents will happen.'"

"The door on the other side of the room opened and in front of a gust of the most effectual perfume, in swept the young madame, a woman of 25, and a coy smile. Georges didn't register interest.

"George—George—GEORGE," she went on with an increasing crescendo that ended in a bang of vocal thunder and a staccato of tiny feet pounded on the floor. "Oh yes, yes, my dear, in a minute," merely smiling at her.

"One minute nothing," she must have been saying. "How do you get that way? When I call you, hop to it!" And Georges hopped and trilled her into the room.

The witnesses exchanged significant glances. Deschamps stopped with his arm upraised where it was about to instruct a bunch that would knock 50 pounds off Willie Meehan. Wilson shrugged his shoulders with an air of "ohhh!" and the scribes tried to figure it out.

"He may pull off that lamb stuff in public, but when he gets her in there I bet he tells her a few things, one of the pen pushers reasoned. "Don't you ever think it?" Wilson said, flicking a speck of dust off a new derby.

"The taxi's waitin' for Mr. and Mrs. Carpentier, the bell boy announced from the hall. "I was sorry that would have given Wilson another chance. "The madame doesn't like boxing," he said as he smoothed a hint of a wrinkle in a heavy silk cravat. "By the way, they're saying a lot of things about the madame that aren't so."

"What's that?" both scribes at once. "Well, it wasn't a childhood romance and it wasn't a war romance and it wasn't a cabare romance. George met the madame about 18 months ago. She was a nice girl. She never sang or danced in a show. George never hung around that kind of girls. He could have if he wanted to. Lots of the girls in Paris would go to him, they tried to kiss him and lots of 'em wanted to marry him. But he wasn't after that kind."

"Isn't the madame more than 17 years old, Wilson?" "I don't know. Someone told her the American girls keep their age a secret. But, at 17, I was saying the madame won't go to see him box. She doesn't like the game."

"But she said coming up on the boat that she didn't object to her husband's profession and that he could fight if he wanted to," one of the scribes interrupted. "Yes, oh yes, that's all right. You heard Georges say he would retire after the Dempsey fight." Wilson said with emphasis. "That doesn't mean either that he doesn't want to fight any more. If the madame doesn't want him to fight he won't want to himself, see? That's why she said he could fight if he wanted to."

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

"FAR AWAY AND LONG AGO" Far away and long ago. Somewhere in another age. No one cared to work for dough. Out beyond a simple age; And amid the glowing hue Of that epoch's tinted frame, No one saw a golfer who Ever spoke about his game.

Far away and long ago. Somewhere in a distant year. One could have his dairy flow From a keg of wine or beer; Somewhere in that age now dimmed By the new styles of the ring, Fighters who were badly trimmed Had no allits to spring.

Far away and long ago. In a gray and vanished time, When the price of rents was low And a beefsteak cost a dime, After rugged rounds of strife Fighters, who had won the crown Did not enter circus life In the role of clown.

THE CROWD AND THE CHAMPION "Why," writes Harry Gordon, "should the crowd always be pulling against the champion, desiring his defeat?" The great English golfer is wrong. The crowd doesn't take any such habitual stand. When John L. Sullivan was beaten the country went into mourning. Who, outside of Corbett himself and his few backers, wanted to see the Old Gladiator conquered?

The crowd at large wanted to see both Johnson and Willard beaten because neither was popular. But few were pulling for the contenders against Bob Fitzsimmons and Terry McGovern when Jeffries and Young Corbett battered them down. Only a few nights ago we watched a tremendous crowd rise repeatedly to its collective hind legs and lift the roof for Joe Stetcher in his match with Stranger Lewis. The majority of that crowd didn't want to see Stetcher, the champion, beaten.

When McLoughlin was tennis champion he had the spectators with him almost to the ultimate goal. They were for the Comet all nineteen ways. His defeat was taken as a matter of personal sorrow. There have been popular and unpopular champions, each type directing the feelings of the crowd. The most popular included, or still include, John L. Sullivan and Terry McGovern among the boxers; King Kelly and Hans Wagner among the ball players; Francis Outmet and Walter Hagen among the golfers; McLoughlin leading the tennis players.

In their respective pastimes, Sullivan and McLoughlin, a Bostonian and a Californian, stand supreme. They were the two most idolized of all the championship caravanserie—which means their defeats were taken more to heart by the multitude. Ty Cobb, as the champion batsman of all time, is held in admiration rather than in affection. He has worked his way so far beyond all rivalry at bat that even many who are not inclined to cheer his personality must yield him his due as a star. There are countless fans who would like to see George Sisler or Eddie Collins or Tris Speaker or Babe Ruth supplant Cobb, but he also has his supporters who are pulling for him to add another year of triumph to his remarkable collection.

Ruth is sure to be a popular type. When he had the good nature or the good judgment to accept the Brown Derby demonstration with a grin, he won the immediate favor of the crowd. Babe has the name, the wallop and the personality that make up a popular mixture. THE BURNS TYPE There are less vivid personalities hooked to rare ability that also have larger followings than certain indications might show. George Burns of the Giants belongs to this class. If Burns had only been a temperamental cuss his fame would have been doubled. As it is he has merely played great baseball and ducked the spotlight at every chance. Yet there are thousands of fans who would rather watch Burns play than many more talked of stars. Many things are needed to catch the fancy of the crowd, but always the one great factor is outstanding ability along some certain line. It is around this feature that greatness is built. Temperament alone never put the matter over.

GAME NOT FASTER BECAUSE OF NEW PITCHING RULES

Hurlers of Both Big Leagues Keeping Close to Them With Few Kicks

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, April 24.—No riots, bloodshed or fatal trimmings have attended the enforcement of the new pitching rules.

Hurlers of both leagues are keeping so close to the law that very few complaints have been made. The Red Sox in a game a few days ago with the Yanks, accused Bob Shawkey of doctoring the ball, but the umpires could find no evidence of malpractice.

What effect the ban on freak deliveries has had in increasing batting is impossible to estimate so early in the season. However, one result is apparent—the game has not been speeded up. The games so far this season have averaged two hours and ten minutes. Benton and Rixey went through the fastest game of the season in 1 hour and 25 minutes. The longest was played by the Cleveland Indians and the Tigers, a nine-inning game in three hours and four minutes.

Some pitchers such as Jack Quinn of the Yankees, are naturally slow workers in the box. They take just as much time massaging the ball with their bare hands and rubbing their hands on their uniforms as they used to take in doctoring the ball for a freak delivery.

ELEPHANT IS TRIED FOUND GUILTY AND KILLED AS UNRULY

WEST BADEN, IND., April 23.—Failing in a last chance to redeem himself, "Big Ben," said to be one of the largest elephants ever brought to America, was tried, found guilty of incorrigibility and shot at the winter quarters of a circus here.

THREE WICHITA STUDENTS ON UNIVERSITY HONOR ROLL

AUSTIN, April 24.—The honor roll for the academic, educational and engineering departments of the University of Texas for the winter term contains the name of three students from Wichita Falls.

This honor roll takes into consideration both the quantity and the quality of the work of the students. In computing the scores of the students, an A is counted 12, a B as 9, a C as 6 and a D as 3. Fractional courses which run in thirds are counted proportionately; for example, a B made in chemistry 411, which is a four-thirds course, counts four-thirds of 9, that is, 12, in the computation.

Upperclassmen making a score of 65 and above are among the best one per cent of students; freshmen making 61 and above, as among the best one per cent; upperclassmen, 61, best two per cent; freshmen, 60, best three per cent; freshmen, 55-59, best four per cent; freshmen, 54, best four per cent; upperclassmen, 54-56, best

LAYS ON LIVE WIRES
FOR 14 HOURS; THEN
DESCENDS TO POLICE

MOBILE, April 24.—After spending the night on electric, telephone and telegraph wires at the intersection of two downtown streets, Charles Sanders, a lineman, descended safely early today into the arms of waiting policemen who had pleaded with him for 14 hours to forsake his perilous perch.

The officers said Sanders was crazed with narcotics, of which he had partaken while in the air. He told the police he believed the spectators had gathered to lynch him and he consented to come down only after he had been promised protection by patrolmen who went to the tops of nearby buildings to talk to him.

Electric current was cut off in that section of the city so the lineman would not be electrocuted. While in the air the man performed many thrilling "stunts," including standing on his head on an electric sign.

It's the condition of the eyes that determines whether glasses are needed or not. Thousands of children wear glasses, because they need them. Thousands of other people don't wear them because they don't need them. Weak eyes should be assisted—made strong. Glasses will do it if they are the right kind.
