MARINES READY TO ENTER MEXICO

HOOVER'S MEN IN LOS ANGELES SPENT MONEY LIKE WATER FOR VOTES SAYS JOHNSON MANAGER

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Senator Johnson of California today made public a telegram from Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles, one of his campaign managers, to Herbert Hoover, charging that Mr. Hoover's campaign in Los Angeles county in opposition to Senator Johnson in the recent California republican presidential primary was "the worst saturnalia of political extravagance that was ever exposed or conducted in southern California."

Charging excessive expenditures in behalf of Mr. Hoover, Mr. Lissner alleged that $20,000 was paid to "hired workers," that another $20,000 had been expended for postage on Hoover literature, and that the Hoover organization hired automobiles on election day at $25 each.

Hhe charged that the Hoover organization in Los Angeles county contained "most of the discredited leaders of the old Southern Pacific political machine and practically every official of the present republican state central committee's southern divisions."

Mr. Lissner informed Mr. Hoover that his telegram was prompted by Mr. Hoover's attempt 't'o explain your defeat by claiming that you had an amateur organization in California and today you say would not have supporters raise a great campaign fund for fear it might mortgage your soul."

Declaring that he had been challenged by John F. Lucey, president of the Hoover club, to make good on charges that the Hoover campaign was backed "by an immense slush fund," Mr. Lissner said:

"I immediately accepted his challenge, demonstrating with facts and figures that the day at your headquarters was like pay day at an immense industrial plant, jammed all day by a horde of hired workers, clamoring for their pay. I showed that within one hour over six hundred such had been paid in amounts ranging from four dollars to $42.50; that toward evening there were still 123 persons in line waiting for pay and there were still being paid off the next morning; that this item involved in itself an expenditure of at least $20,000, while the Johnson organization had hired no paid workers at all for election day.

"I challenged your organization to state exactly how many hired workers they had and the amount of their pay roll. I stated that about another six thousand had been consumed by you in sending literature by mail to every one of the three hundred thousand voters in Los Angeles county, that you had several hundred men and women employed in headquarters for some time in various capacities with a pay roll running up into tens of thousands and I challenged your management to tell how many were so employed and how much was involved. I showed that they paid about $2,500 for advertising in one newspaper in Los Angeles alone, in which the Johnson organization expended $168.

"I challenged them to tell how many automobiles they hired at $25 a day on election day, and finally, generally, I accepted their challenge to submit the records of the Johnson campaign in Los Angeles county along with theirs to a public audit and asserted that if they had the courage of their bluff, the record would show on your behalf in Los Angeles county the worst saturnalia of political extravagance that ever was exposed or conducted in southern California. In the same statement I gave in full the receipts and expenditures of the Johnson organization up to the day of the election. I asserted and challenged your people to deny that their expenditures in Los Angeles county amounted to many times our own.

"It may interest you to know that neither your Mr. Lucey or anyone else connected with your Los Angeles organization has peeped about campaign expenditures since my challenge was published. I trust this statement is sufficiently convincing, so that you will not again be led into the error of asserting that you had either an amateur organization or an inexpensive one in this state."

Scores Hoover's Treaty Viewpoint.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Senator Johnson of California today replied to Herbert Hoover's query of yesterday as to the senator's position on the League of Nations. He said:

"The league presented to the senate by the president, which Mr. Hoover advocated last year, neither promotes peace nor reduces armaments. During Mr. Hoover's advocacy of this league last year he never mentioned reservations; on the contrary the tenor of his speeches was in direct opposition to any reservation.

"With his candidacy his change of heart and for the first time we find him when a candidate, never before, favoring reservations. These reservations last year, it was asserted, 'broke the heart of the world,' 'cut the heart of the covenant,' made us 'scuttle and run' and the 'slackers of the world.'

"Mr. Hoover from apparent opposition to the reservations now embraces the opportunity to 'break the heart of the world' and 'cut the heart out of the covenant.' I have consistently opposed the pact as presented and with the reservations attached, I would welcome, of course, any real attempt to promote peace and prevent war.

"Mr. Hoover last year had one view; this year he has another. As time progresses and various nominations present themselves, we may look for other views as well."

G. O. P. SITUATION IS MADE DIFFICULT BY KNOX'S CANDIDACY

Senator and Herbert oHover to be Strong Factors at Convention

By HAROLD D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, May 8.—The republican presidential situation, already complicated, has been rendered even more difficult of solution by the growth of favorable reaction to the candidacy of Senator Philander C. Knox.

There is a fairly general understanding that when Senator Penrose endorsed his colleague for the republican nomination, it was intended largely as a "feeler" to learn the sentiment of the arnk and file of the party and of the candidates, regarding a possible "dark horse." Knox is a recognized conservative and Penrose, as representative of the old guard, apparently wished to learn paritcularly how Senator Hiram Johnson and the progressive wing regarded Knox as a compromise candidate in the event of a deadlock at Chicago.

Even Penrose is understood to have been amazed at the quick response of sentiment for Knox in both braches of the party. And this strength has grown daily, making the Pennsylvania senator loom up formidably among the large stable of "dark horses." Johnson has repeatedly given assurance that in the event of his defeat at Chicago he will be no party to a bolt. The conservative leaders, in view of Johnson's obvious popular strength, find considerable comfort in the thought that it would be doubly easy for the Californian to accept Knox, a close personal friend.

The possibility has thus arisen that two men who may not get a handful of votes on the first ballot may stand as good chance for the nomination as any of the present "big four" of Johnson, Major General Leonard Wood, Governor Lowden and Senator Warren Harding. These two are Knox and Herbert Hoover. For the former foo dadministrator is far from dead politically, if the word of several astute politicians may be accepted. They point out that at no time since Hoover refused to enter the general scramble for delegates in the primaries and state conventions has he been other than a "dark horse" candidate and as such he has retained a reserve strength that he not been greatly affected even by such defeats as he received in the California primary at the hands of Johnson.

With all but six of the states having chosen their republican delegates, it becomes more apparent that no candidate can hope to win on the first ballot. Instructed delegates at present are apportioned as follows:

Wood, 136; Johnson, 106; Lowden, 73; Harding, 39, and Senator Poindexter, 14.

Counting claims to uninstructed delegates, the standing would be:

Wood, 243; Johnson, 150; Lowden, 145; Nicholas Murray Butler, 88; Harding, 40; Governor Coolidge, 29; Judge J. C. Pritchard, 22; Poindexter, 14.

Democratic delegates are still widely distributed. Instructions have been made as follows:

Governor Cox, 74; Hoover, 33; Governor Edwards, 28; Senator Owen, 20; Senator Hitchcock, 16; William J. Bryan, 10; James W. Gerard, 10.

Claims to uninstructed delegates would make the standing:

William G. McAdoo, 153; Edwards, 134; Cox, 100; Attorney General Palmer, 36; Champ Clark, 36; Hoover, 33; Secretary Meredith, 36; State Senator Simmons of North Carolina, 24; Owen, 20; Bryan, 18; Hitchcock, 16; Homer Cummings, 14; Gerard, 10

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COST ON JULY 1 TO BE $1,250,000

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The expenses of the League of Nations up to July 1 will total approximately $1,250,000. The figures will be presented to the league council at its Rome meeting. This includes both direct and indirect expenditures, the latter covering preliminary costs of numerous commissions and other bodies and the total represents the complete organization period of the league machines.

Salaries represent the heaviest items in direct expenditures, totaling $485,000, while the international labor office at $290,000 ranks first among indirect costs with the commission of inquiry to Russia second at $105,000. Included in the labor office expenditure is $80,000 to pay the league's share of the expenses of the Washington labor conference.

JOHNNY EVERS WILL BE ASSISTANT TO McGRAW

TROY, N. Y., May 8.—Announcement was made here late tonight that John J. Evers had sig. ..d as assistant manager of the New York National League baseball team. Mr. Evers will leave tomorrow night to assume his position.

POST DENIES HAVING GIVEN RADICALS AID

Sought Truth in Deportation Cases He Declares at Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Denying that his sympathies were with radical elements rounded up by the department of justice, Assistant Secretary of Labor Post declared today that in handling alien deportation cases he had acted solely in accordance with the evidence.

Mr. Post, in continuing before the house rules committee as to his conduct in deportation proceedings, said he was actuated always by the single thought of trying to find out whether accused aliens were guilty.

Answering Chairman Campbell's question whether the political convictions of aliens he had freed had appealed to him, Mr. Post said:

"I am utterly out of sympathy with the attitude of the physical force or the philosophical anarchists. For thirty years I have been fighting that."

In the deportation cases, Mr. Post said, he had followed a procedure assuring a fair trial, with counsel for the accused and a full opportunity to be heard. Representative Pou, operated to make deportations more difficult, but the witness replied that any rule to protect personal liberty involved exercise of safeguards tending toward delay. At this point Mr. Pou, a member of the committee, said that while his views on deportations were different from those of Mr. Post, he believed the latter, in making decisions, was actuated by a sense of duty.

Mr. Post was put through a long cross-examination by Chairman Campbell, in which the witness said he formerly was a republican, but now was a democrat; that he regarded the constitution of the United States as a sacred document, and that he had no scheme of his own for any attempted reorganization of the government.

Mr. Campbell sought to have Mr. Post say if "highbrow" anarchists were not as dangerous as those advocating out and out violence but the assistant secretary declined to give an "abstract opinion."

Asked why Emma Goldman had addressed him as "our friend," Mr. Post said she probably followed the custom of a constituent writing a member of congress, with whose opinions the member did not agree. Mr. Post charged that the house immigration committee had garbled the record of the release of accused communists so as to make it appear that he had acted improperly.

At the conclusion of his testimony, Chairman Campbell announced the committee would meet next week to determine on a further course of action.

BENSON DECLARES NAVY DID WONDER WORK DURING WAR

"Ours Was the Greatest Naval Power the World Has Eever Seen"

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Rear Admiral Sims' charge that delays on the part of the navy department prolonged the war four months and cost 500,000 lives was characterized today by Admiral W. S. Benson, former chief of operations, as an outrage and an injustice to the navy.

"The safe transport of the American army to France and back," said Admiral Benson, "was the most wonderful feat the world has ever seen or dreamed of and it shortened the war very materially."

Admiral Benson declared that never had a navy been expanded as rapidly as was that of the United States after this country entered the war.

"Ours was the greatest naval power the world has ever seen," the admiral declared.

Replying to charges of friction between the navy department and the other allies, the witness said they were unfounded. Only one instance that could be so interpreted occurred, he declared.

"At one time the French naval attache accused me of showing partiality toward the British," the officer testified. "I put my foot on that and told him, perhaps rather emphatically, that the navy department had no favorites among the allies."

WOMEN LOOK FOR EASY VICTORY IN LOUISIANA

BATON ROUGE, LA., May 8.—Woman suffrage headquarters were established here today, leaders having moved from New Orleans to direct the final skirmishes preceding the action in the legislature which meets May 10 and which will decide whether or not Louisiana will be the thirty-sixth state to ratify the federal woman suffrage committee chairman.

Mrs. Lydia Wickliffe-Holmes, state ratification committee chairman, arrived from New Orleans late today with only a suit case. She declared she was confident the general assembly would ratify the amendment the first day. "I won't need a trunk," she said.

BILL ALLOWING BIG SUM TO RAILROADS SIGNED

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The urgent deficiency bill, carrying $300,000,000 for railroad operation deficiences, was signed today by President Wilson. It is expected that $125,000,000 of this sum will be made availablt to the roads for the purpose of purchasing new rolling stock.

D'ANNUNZIO ACTS PIRATE IN SEIZING GRAIN SHIP

TRIEST, May 8.—Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio today captured the Italian steamship Baro Fejervary bound from Triest to Catania with a cargo of grain. He sent two anti-submarine craft to make the capture, which occurred in Quarnerno Bay. The captain of the ship was ordered to proceed to Fiume.

WILSON IS TARGET OF BITTER ATTACK BEFORE SOCIALISTS

NEW YORK, May 8.—An attack on the administration of President Wilson and a prediction that the socialist party would poll more than 2,000,000 votes in the presidential campaign, were made today by Morris Hillquit, temporary chairman of the socialist national convention at its opening session here today.

He said that the party would survive the concerted attack "unparalelled in ferociousness and lawlessness" made on it in the last year by "all the powers of darkness and oppression in the country."

He declared that the last three years had furnished the most striking and abhorrent proof of the fallacy of the "good man" theory in politics.

"If there remained any large sections of workers who put their trust in old party Messiahs," he said, "Woodrow Wilson must have effectively destroyed their naive faith. For, be it remembered that in 1916 Woodrow Wilson ran as a radical.

"He promised socialism through the short cut of the democratic party and thousands of radicals throughout the country voted for him rather than to throw away their votes on the hopeless candidates of the socialist party.

"One half of the normal supporters of the socialist party ticket cast their votes for him. Woodrow Wilson was elected over Charles Evans Hughes by the vote of socialists. In California alone the defection in the normal socialist vote determined his victory in the presidential contest.

"Wilson, the pacifist, drew us into the world's most frightful war. Wilson, the anti-militarist, imposed conscription upon the country in war, and urged universal military training, a large standing army, and a huge navy in peace. Wilson, the democrat, arrogated to himself autocratic power grossly inconsistent with a republican form of government. Wilson, the liberal, revived the mediavel institutions of the inquisition of speech, thought and conscience. His administration suppressed radical publications, raided homes and assaulted their persons. Wilson, the apostle of the 'new freedom,' infested the country with stool pigeons and spies and filled the jails with political prisoners. Wilson, the champion of labor, restored involuntary servitude in the mines and on the railroads, and answered the wage demands of the workers by jailing their leaders."

WINTER WHEAT TO BE 33.8 PER CENT UNDER LAST CROP

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Winter wheat production this year was forecast at 484,647,000 bushels, or 33.8 per cent less than last year's crop by the department of agriculture today.

The condition of the crop May 1 was 79.1 per cent of a normal compared with 75.6 on April 1 this year, 100.5 on May 1 last year and 87.1 the ten year May 1 average. The area remaining to be harvested is about 34,165,000 acres, or 11.9 per cent less than planted last fall.

Production of rye is forecast at 79,789,000 bushels compared with 88,478,000 last year and 91,104,000 in 1918.

The condition of rye was 85.1 per cent of a normal compared with 86.8 on April 1, 95.4 on May 1, last year, and 90.5 the ten year average.

The condition of meadow (hay) lands was 89.4 per cent of a normal the expected hay acreage about 71,752,000 acres and the production forecast 111,831,000 tons, compared with 108,666,000 tons last year.

Stocks of hay on farms May 1 were 11,375,000 tons against 8,559,000 tons last year on May 1.

Spring plowing was 60.1 per cent completed and spring planting was 50.2 per cent completed on May 1.

Acreage of winter wheat May 1 and the forecast of production based on May 1 condition and acreage both in thousands (i. e., thousands omitted) include: Oklahoma, 2,446 and 27,310; Texas 969 and 11,813.

UNINSTRUCTED DELEGATES GO TO G. O. P. CONVENTION

TEXARKANA, TEX., May 8.—The republicans of the first Texas congressional district in session here today, elected two uninstructed delegates to the national convention in Chicago and adopted resolutions endorsing the stand on the League of Nations taken by Senator Lodge.

SUGAR RATION BADLY NEEDED THINKS HOOVER

Would Put Profiteers in Jail He States in Wire to Senator Capper

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A suggestion that the United States government employ a sugar ration for manufacturers in order that the demands be made to comply with the supply was made today by Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Hoover's suggestions were contained in a telegram to Senator, Capper, republican, Kansas, in response to one of inquiry from the senator. Mr. Hoover said the government was primarily responsible for the present situation through the failure to purchase the Cuban crop.

"The present sugar position is due simply to bad business administration," said Mr. Hoover. "Last September the administration could have bought the Cuban sugar crop at six and one-half cents a pound, for raw sugar. This would have given 12 cent sugar to our consumers. As the result of failure to act we are participating in the world shortage of sugar due to decreased European proctionu, and we are subject to unparalelled speculation and profiteering. The increase in price is imposing an additional tax on our people of about $50 a family per annum.

"The profiteering is international. The situation is as much disliked by the vast majority of our manufacturers and distributors as by the public, for they do not like even to be accused of profiteering. This situation cannot be remedied by the attorney general's conception that forces of this character can be handled by putting a few people in jail. Something could be done to remedy matters if our governments even now entered into negotiations with the large European governments, to stop bidding against one another and secure our fair share of the available supplies.

"The second thing that could be done to break this gigantic bubble of speculation would be to reduce consumption through immediate rationing of non-essential consumers. Over one-third of our sugar is used by the candy, sweet drinks and other manufacturers of non-essential. During the war these trades patriotically co-operated in such reduction and themselves found substitutes of other sweetening materials for the maintenance of their trade. They would, no doubt, co-operate again."

Exportation of sugar would be prohibited under a bill introduced today by Representative Hudspeth, democrat, Texas. The bill would also authorize the federal trade commission to investigate the manufacture, distribution and sale of sugar.

LABOR SITUATION IN PARIS NEAR CRITICAL STAGE

Both Sides Claim Other Bluffs But Traction Lines May be Tied Up

PARIS, May 8.—The labor stuation in France, and especially in Paris, is rapidly approaching a crisis. This belief became current in Paris after the announcement by the general federation of labor that it had requested all workess in the Paris subways and tramways to join the strike movement beginning Monday morning.

Late this evening the federation issued another order calling on workers in the metal and building trades and all those engaged in merchandise transport to strike Monday. The federation, however, provides that sufficient workers will be permitted to continue their labors to insure the feeding of Paris.

Official circles express the opinion that these calls "are a last bluff of the federation, which is beginning to feel that the movement is irretrievable lost." Communiques issued by the federation, on the other hand, express confidence in the ultimate success of the movement and threaten to call the other branches of labor should the strike calls issued today fail to bring the desired result.

TRANSPORTATION IN PARIS TO BE TIED UP BY STRIKE

PARIS, May 8.—A general strike order effective Monday morning on all Paris subways and metropolitan traction lines, was sent out today.

The order states that the strike is in conformity with a decision reached by the general federation of labor and that its purpose is to obtain the nationalization of transportation in Paris.

SHOOTS JAILER; ESCAPES; POSSE SURROUNDS EVADER

EUFAULA, OKLA., May 8.—Lester Clark, who escaped from the McIntosh county jail here this morning after shooting to death the jailer, Jack Hunter, this afternoon was reported surrounded by a posse of 150 men in a thickly wooded section along the Canadian River, six miles southwest of here.

Clark, an alleged draft evader, was being held for federal officers from the state of Washington. He shot Hunter through the head this morning when the jailer opened the door of his cell to give him his breakfast. Clark was armed with one or two automatic revolvers.

A fellow prisoner named Davis escaped from the jail with Clark.

OBREGON AND GONZALES ENTER CAPITAL WITH THEIR SOLDIERS; FOUR STATES ADDED TO REVOLT

WASHINGTON, May 8.—In announcing today that 1,200 marines had been ordered to proceed from League Island to Key West on the transport Henderson, Secretary Daniels explained that it was a precautionary measure for protection of Americans and that they would not be sent into Mexican territory unless actual necessity arose. Colonel P. M. Bannon will command the force.

The Henderson left Charleston, S. C., today for League Island and will arrive there tomorrow night. The marines will be taken aboard at once and the transport will proceed to Key West to join the six destroyers dispatched there for service in southern waters.

JUAREZ, Mexico, May 8.—General Obregon and Gen. Pablo Gonzales, rival candidates for the presidency of Mexico, today entered Mexico City at the head of their armies, General Jose Gonzales Escobar, commander of the Juarez military district, announced at a banquet held here tonight.

EL PASO, May 8.—Revolutionary forces under Gen. Alvare Obregon, candidate for the presidency of Mexico, are at the gates of Mexico City. An unconfirmed report received at military headquarters said that troops under Gen. Benjamin Hill had already entered the capital.

Several sweeping victories were claimed by anti-Carranza agents on the border. The state of Durango was reported to have seceded and joined the revolution. Gen. Cesaero Castro, who had been operating in that region, has sent a a part of his forces to Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, Texas, upon learning that the Carranza garrison there had fled.

President Carranza is reported to have ordered the abandonment of the northern states of Mexico, and the concentration of "the few loyal forces there," in Mexico City. Torreon, in the state of Coahuila, and Zacatecas, and Aguas Calientes, capitals of the states bearing the same names, and Saltillo, capital of Coahuil, were also claimed today by the rebels.

Rail and wire communication between these points and Chihuahua City had been restored by the insurgents, it was reported. From Torreon to Aguas Calientes only wire communication was available.

The claim to Torreon, which has frequently been reported captured by the revolutionists, was based today on a report received here from Gen Eugenio Martinez, commander of the Chihuahua City garrison, saying that a train had arrived at Conejos, about 40 miles northwest of Torreon, with the information that all towns along the railroad between Conejos and Torreon, including the latter, had fallen into rebel hands.

Louis Cabrera, minister of finance in the Carranza cabinet, has arrived in Piedras Negras, according to a dispatch to Teodula R. Beltran, commercial agent for the revolutionary government at El Paso.

Senator Beltran also announced that federal troops at Columbia, Nuevo Leon, revolted yesterday.

Eight thousand regular troops and 9,000 "defensas sociales" or home guards, are operating for the revolutionists in Chihuahua, according to Louis Montes de Oca, Mexico City business man, who returned today from Chihuahua City on a special mission to Gen. Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional commander of the defensas sociales and candidate for governor of the state.

Juarez Celebrates Again.

JUAREZ, MEXICO, May 8.—Juarez today celebrated the reported victories of the liberal constitutionalist party by band concerts and processions. The streets were crowded with people carrying the national colors; green, white and red—and shouting "Viva La Revolution!"

Francisco Villa has declared an armistice with the revolutionary forces—pending a decision by General Adolfo de la Huerta, porvisional commander-in-chief of the revolution, as to whether Villa will be allowed to join the movement, a former Carranza officer who arrived here from Chihuahua City, said today.

Helps Britons and Americans.

LAREDO, TEX., May 8.—Nuevo Laredo was quiet today with Mexican federal officials claiming the backbone of the revolt broken in that section. An advance guard of reinforcements from Monterey arrived overland during the night. The international bridge between Laredo and Nuevo Laredo remained closed today.

The revolting Mexican customs guards today were reported to be at Columbia, 25 miles up the Rio Grande from Nuevo Laredo, and it was said, had been joined by nearly a hundred Mexicans from the Texas side.

American Consul Robertson, at Nuevo Laredo, secured nine automobiles and left early today for Lampazos to bring in 16 Americans and eight British subjects, who have been isolated there on a passenger train since the bridge was burned yesterday.

METHODISTS ASK DELAWARE TO RATIFY SUFFRAGE BILL

DES MOINES, IA., May 8.—Resolutions asking the house of representatives of Delaware to ratify speedily the suffrage amendment were adopted at the Methodist general conference today.

Cordial work of the church among the Indians was asked in another work, which was referred to the committee on home missions. It proposed the organization of a conference among all Indians in the country under one district superintendent.

Use of cigarettes was condemned by other resolutions.

There was some discussion among delegates of joining the Arkansas and St. Louis conference.

SEVEN MEN DIE IN BLAST AT AETNA COMPANY PLANT

EMPORIUM, PA., May 8.—Seven men were instantly killed as a result of an explosion which occurred in the gelatin mix house of the Aetna Explosives Company at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The exact cause of the accident is not known as all the workmen in the interior and virtually of the gelatin plant were victims.

CHARGES DU PONTS IN COMBINE FOR GIANT DYE CONCERN

Senator Thomas Says British and American Firms Form Monopoly

WASHINGTON, May 8.—There was further reference in senate debate on the dye bill today to the letter from the Du Pont interests to Senator Moses of New Hampshire, one of Major General Wood's campaign managers, which was presented yesterday by Senator Kenyon, Iowa.

Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, said the letter virtually amounts to this: "That unless Senator Moses withdraws his objections to this bill, the Du Pont company will withdraw its support of Senator Moses and what that support is every senator knows as well as I."

Senator Thomas presented information which, he said, indicated that the Du Pont interests were co-operating with Levinstein, Limited, a British concern, to establish a world-wide monopoly in dye manufacture.

He read a report of a Boston suit against the Du Pont corporation in which a contract with the Levinstein corporation was offered and told the senate contract provided for mutual exchange of dye patents and processes and contained a provision by which the British concern was to have exclusive manufacture and sales rights in Europe and the Du Ponts in the western hemisphere. He added that the contract was made in 1918 and showed no fear of German dye competition.

"It indicates," he said, "a plan to dominate the entire world industry."

Senator Thomas argued that this contract and the letter to Senator Moses "were almost positive proof of the influence behind this bill of the interests which initiated this legislation, which framed the language of the measure."

"If I am correct," he declared, "then it is proof that the purpose of this bill is little short of infamous."

FIRST HUSBAND DIES, SHE GETS $9,000,000 AND WEDS NEXT DAY

CHICAGO, May 8.—Mrs. Helen Prindiville Griffin Bastedo, who married Lieutenant Commander Paul Henry Bastedo last Tuesday, the day after the death of her first husband, George Griffin, will receive Griffin's $9,000,000 estate by his will, his attorneys announced today.

Mr. Griffin died in Florida on Monday and the following day his widow married the naval officer at San Diego.

Mr. Griffin will be buried at Forest Hills, near Boston, Monday. Mrs. Bastedo's mother will represent the widow-bride at the funeral.

BOLSHEVIKI LEAVE HILLS ABOUT KIEV; OCCUPIED BY POLES

WARSAW, May 8.—Hills north and south of the city of Kiev from which the bolshevik army was expected to defend the city were occupied by the Poles late this afternoon. Artillery has been placed in positions commanding Kiev.

Polish army headquarters received word today that Polish cavalry reached Kiev this morning. The infantry then was less than six miles from Kiev, with the advance continuing virtually without resistance by the bolsheviki.

Today's Warsaw newspapers print the Moscow wireless dispatch sent out Friday afternoon saying the Poles have entered Kiev. No announcement to this effect, however, has been made in official quarters here. The latest communique states that Vasilkov, 30 miles south of Kiev, has been captured.

BORDEN IS GIVEN 50-YEAR TERM BY CLAY COUNTY JURY

John Borden, alleged murderer was given a 50-year penitentiary sentence by a jury at Henrietta late Saturday following his conviction on a charge of murder in connection with the death of D. E. Stenson, young Wacoan, according to advices received in Wichita Falls. Borden was indicted by a Clay county jury early last week following the discovery of a blood-stained meat cleaver in the shallow waters of a lake near Henrietta. Prosecution of the case was directed by District Attorney Fletcher Jones.

Stenson, a waiter employed by a Katy construction crew, was slain one cold night last January. His head was badly slashed and his body thrown beneath a "bunk" car. Borden was discovered early the following morning crouching beneath a railway bridge. He was lodged in the Clay county jail and has remained in confinement since being taken into custody.

Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the crime.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR KNIFE DISPLAY ON CAR

Lonnie Cotton, a negro man, was placed in the city lockup late Saturday night, booked with simple affray, following a disturbance with a white man on a factory car, following a refusal, according to the story told the police, accompanied with an oath and the display of a long keen bladed knife, to give a white woman a seat on the car. The car was apparently half filled with negroes, and there being no seats available, the white man asked one of the negroes about the middle of the car to give the woman a seat. The negro made his escape from the car, following the difficulty, but was knocked down and captured by one of the street car men.

BANKERS CHALLENGED TO STEER RIDING

An open challenge is issued to all banks in Wichita Falls to send some one on Monday to compete with Ross Hampton, bookkeeper of the Wichita State Bank, which claims the distinction of being the only Wichita Falls banker to ride a wild steer across the roundup arena. Hampton pulled his stunt on Saturday and if the roundup continues through Monday will repeat the ride, if he can get up any competition. He claims absolutely no previous training for this feat, his most strenuous occupation heretofore having been "balancing books."

COUNCIL WILL SUGGEST LESS LAMPS OF LOW CANDLE POWER FOR STREET LIGHTING IN THE BUSINESS DISTRICT

"Too much light" is the verdict of the city council on the ornamental street lighting plan, expressed at their Saturday meeting. The council will probably recommend the elimination of two poles to the block, and will recommend a less powerful lamp than that asked for by the business council, Chamber of Commerce. Members of the council Saturday expressed themselves as believing that the lights, as present planned, are too close together, and with the powerful lamps called for under present plans, would give more light than consistent with the demands for adequate and economical lighting.

"With the lamps as close together as planned, and with as powerful lamps as called for, concentrated in the downtown district, it would make people coming in from Henrietta over the Denver think the town was afire," was the comment of P. A. Rodgers, manager for the Wichita Falls Electric Co., in commenting on the present plans to a member of the council following the meeting.

It is believed by the council, and concurred in by representatives of the lighting people present, that eight posts to the block instead of 10, and a 400 instead of 600 candle power lamp on each post, would give all the ornamental illumination which could be desired, in addition to cutting maintenance costs practically in half.

Minimum figures for the current required to run the present system for a year, will run in the neighborhood of $10,000 per year, the council was told by P. A. Rodgers, manager of the light company, although Mr. Rodgers stated that on account of his not being able to get in communication with the Dallas office he could not submit exact figures. Councilmen figure that with maintenance figures the annual cost of the system would run about $15,000 per year, although maximum figures submitted by Mr. Rodgers for current and maintenance under contract placed this figure at almost $40,000.

After a lengthy discussion as to the relative merits of the various types of posts to be used, the council decided on a pressed steel post and against the cast iron post.

The lighting plans were submitted to the council by a committee from the business council, Chamber of Commerce, headed by W. Newton Maer.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS ENTERTAINED AT PICNIC

The annual picnic for the Confederate Veterans of Wichita Falls was given on Saturday, May 8, at the First Presbyterian church by the Daughters of the Confederacy. The picnic was attended by about fourteen veterans, several of them accompanied by their wives. A short program was given, talks being made by Mrs. J. L. Jackson, the president of the Daughters organization and by Judge P. A. Martin and Judge Edgar Scurry. A hot dinner was served at the noon hour.

Keyes, state representative in New Mexico; directors: G. C. Jenson, W. F. Ramming, L. F. Ramming, J. E. Wolf, F. G. Keyes, H. M. Larkum, E. Lee Lancaster, A. C. Parker, and F. W. Prechel.

Y. W. C. A. WILL HOLD OPENING IN NEW HOME DURING EARLY PART JUNE

Under the enthusiastic administration of Miss DuBose, Wichita Falls' new Y. W. C. A. general secretary, plans are being made for a rather elaborate christening of the new quarters, the second floor of the Anderson building, recently vacated by the Elks Club, early in June. A membership luncheon, the first affair of the sort for the entire membership, is to be the feature of the opening, and a general reception for the public, the men as well as the women will be held. Membership applications and renewal cards are being sent out this week, and the first membership files of the local society will be made up. Each woman and girl receiving a card is asked to fill it out and return it, so that an accurate list may be kept. This membership list will represent the list of those invited to attend this membership luncheon when the new quarters are opened. There are no membership dues, the association being maintained through free will offerings.

The Girls Club, organized by the Y. W. C. A. among the high school girls, has volunteered to serve the membership luncheon. Other arrangements are being made as to the details of the luncheon, and it is planned to make it quite an epoch in the Y. W. C. A. history in Wichita Falls.

The new quarters will afford a much larger cafeteria space, permitting of a broadening of the scope of service of this institution. It will also give a club room, as well as a recreation room, and a receiving hall. The quarters are being re-decorated and freshened, and simple draperies in the Y. W. C. A. colors, blue and gold will be put up, and the chairs upholstered and cushioned in harmony.

"FATTY" BOWLES LOSES IN SENSATIONAL RACE FOR "THE RING" AT SHRINE CLASS INITIATION

His campaign hindered to some extent by his arrest on a charge thought to have been inspired by rivals in the midst of a speech in the Westbrook lobby in Fort Worth, and a subsequent trip in the "hoodlum" Fatty Bowles of Wichita Falls, who sells Burroughs adding machines here, lost by a nose to Prof. Jefferson Davis Sanderfer, president of Simmons College, Abilene in the contest for the diamond ring awarded to the most popular novice in the recent Shrine class which journeyed over the sands at Moslah Temple, Fort Worth. The illustration shows the Wichita Falls entry campaigning, as well as a number of the other 30 novices from Wichita Falls who were in the class. The official platform on which Dr. Sandefer made his race was given as follows: "I am for world wide prohibition, woman suffrage, league of nations, Woodrow Wilson and Texas." A far different platform, however, was circulated in his behalf by his campaign managers, and creating somewhat of a surprise among those who knew Dr. Sandefer for a clergyman, and head of an educational institution.

The campaign managers version of the platform, which proved the winning one, follows: "I am for Joe Bailey first, Pure Democracy, Corn Whiskey, Low Necks and Knee Dresses, Jazz Music and late hours, Beautiful Women and Privates Harems, Stud Poker and Craps, Unlimited Divorce Laws."

"That the Hula-Hula and Shimmie should be taught in the public schools as well as in the colleges.

TEN ARRESTED WITHIN THREE DAYS FOR AUTO THEFTS RECORD HERE

Ten persons charged with the theft of automobiles have been arrested the past three days through the efforts of the sheriff's department, Sheriff McFall announced Saturday. Five of this number were arrested Saturday in Wichita Falls and the remainder were arrested earlier in the week at various points in Oklahoma.

Four men arrested in Wichita Falls Saturday are wanted in San Antonio in connection with the alleged theft of a Ford car. The fifth man arrested here is alleged to have stolen a car from the carnival grounds a few nights ago.

Sheriff McFall says that automobile thieves have been very active at the carnival grounds and in the vicinity of Athletic field during the past week. Several cars are reported stolen from that section since the opening of the round-up.

BLOCK ORGANIZATIONS ALREADY HELPFUL IN PRACTICAL UNDERTAKINGS

Adoption of the city's new garbage-hauling plan, and speeding-up of paving operations, are to be accomplished through use of the block organizations that have been formed throughout the city in recent weeks. While the primary purpose of these organizations is a social one, it is being found that they are useful in practical ways as well. The list of organizations now includes blocks in every part of the city, and the number is growing from day to day. A number of organization meetings are scheduled for this week.

In securing adoption of the new garbage system, the Civic League which has the matter in hand, is working through the block organizations to a large extent, and the blocks that have been organized will thus probably be the first to take advantage of the new plan that the city is urging.

With a number of paving petitions in circulation, those interested in this improvement have found the block organizations a great help in getting signatures and in hastening the beginning of work. When paving work here is put on a more systematic basis than at present, it is probable the block organizations will be found still more useful.

A number of block meetings are to be held this week, as follows:

Monday, May 10

Mr. and Mrs. John Tancred, 1717 Elizabeth for block bounded by Elizabeth, Brook, Baylor and Lucile.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smock, 704 Denver, for block bounded by Denver, Van Buren, Seventh and Eighth.

DELANO LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON TO MAKE REPORT

Frederick A. Delano, federal receiver for the Red River valley lands involved in the boundary dispute, accompanied by his counsel, J. Spalding Flannery of Washington, left Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon for Washington, where Mr. Delano will prepare and submit to the supreme court his report of investigations into the local situation and his recommendations as to the future operations of the property. During the stay of the receiver and his counsel in Wichita Falls they have accumulated a mass of information on the situation, as well as suggestions from practically all of the interested parties, which will, most of it, be embodied in the report.

The receiver will probably return during the first week in June to carry into execution the further orders of the court. Under the terms of his order of appointment he was required to submit a report with recommendations as to the operation of the properties within 30 days of his appointment. He has been here now about three weeks.

Existing operations have been left practically undisturbed, except for the cutting off of a number of the small pipe line companies running oil from the affected district and the distribution of this production among those remaining. These companies were cut off, it is explained, through failure to furnish requested information and disinclination to co-operate with him in executing the orders of the supreme court. The stronger of the small pipe lines, and all the trunk line companies, who were running oil from this district continue to do so, it is stated.

While speculation as to the course the recommendations the receiver will take is rather active, it is generally believed that the receiver and his advisers have not yet definitely tied themselves to any particular line of action. It is expected, however, that he will settle on some plan for the operation of the properties in as large units as possible—a proceeding which may eliminate some of the smaller operators until the litigation is finally decided. Action of this kind is indicated by an expressed desire to operate the properties "with as little overhead expense as possible, and with as small an organization as consistent with efficient operation of the properties." Police regulations in the affected zone probably embrace the most radical changes. "We have stopped the stealing of fuel oil in this district," it was announced Saturday at the office of the receiver. "All the fuel oil wagons in the district are now licensed. Other regulations of this nature have decreased the lawlessness of this part of the field, largely through the elimination of squatters on the properties. The leases have also been cleaned up, minimizing the fire hazard.

"While we have eliminated two members of the receivers guard on complaints of an overbearing attitude toward residents of this section, we feel that many of the complaints we hear are from people who are interfered with in doing things they have no business doing. However all complaints will be carefully investigated by the office in Wichita Falls."

In discussing his local office, located in the City National bank building, it became known that prior to the establishment of this office the receiver received a number of invitations" from nearby cities to locate his field office elsewhere.

3 MEN ARRESTED WITH STOLEN AUTO BELIEVED TO BE ESCAPED CONVICTS

Two of the three men arrested on Thursday by city detectives have been indentified as escaped convicts and all three have been turned over to federal authorities on charges of driving a stolen automobile across a state line. Police Chief Goodfellow announced Saturday. One of the trio is said by the police to be an escaped convict from the Missouri state penitentiary while another is an "escape" from the Oklahoma state penitentiary, officers say.

The identity of the third member has not been clearly established by the police but he is also believed to have a criminal record. The automobile in which the trio were riding when arrested is reported to have been stolen from a small town about fifteen miles from Tulsa. The huge supply of ammunition, together with the two revolvers is believed to have been secured from an Oklahoma hardware store which was robbed about three weeks ago. The ransacked hardware store is located in the vicinity of Tulsa. Officers are still at a loss to determine how the trio came into possession of the explosives found in a suitcase concealed beneath the automobile seat. Several dynamite caps and fuses to go with the caps were discovered in the suit case. Tools resembling those used by professional yeggmen were also taken from the car.

Police Chief Goodfellow is confident the three men are "characters" with long criminal records. Shortly after their arrest the men were taken before Police Chief Goodfellow and put through a rigid "third degree." The trio, however, remained "mum" and all attempts to secure a statement from either of them has failed. The car found in possession of the three, however, has been positively identified as being the machine stolen from near Tulsa and the men are being held in connection with the alleged theft.

JUDGE SCURRY TO MEET FORREST AT GALVESTON

Judge Edgar Scurry will leave Tuesday for Galveston, wher ehe will meet Commander N. B. Forrest, S. C. V. to confer with representatives of the city of Galveston, relative to that city extending an invitation to the Confederate organizations to hold their annual reunion in October in Galveston. This action is taken following the receipt of a wire from Commander Forrest, stating that he will leave Biloxi Monday, for the Galveston conference.

Judge Scurry will stop in Fort Worth for a conference with General Van Zandt, the commander of the United Confederate Veterans, whom he will represent at Galveston.

GALVESTON CAR COMPANY WOULD FORCE HIGH FARES

HOUSTON, May 8. — Suit was brought here today before Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson in the United States district court in which the Galveston Electric Company seeks an order restraining the city of Galveston from preventing the increase of street car fares from 5 to 7 cents. Hearing was set for May 21. The street car company states that the present 5-cent fare is confiscatory.

RECENT TREND OF SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY

RESULT OF DUST EXPLOSION.

A million bushels of grain were destroyed by fire following a dust explosion in a large plant on the Atlantic seaboard.

MOTHER'S KITCHEN MULTIPLIED BY A HUNDRED.

Making marmalade in a California establishment which makes use of orange culls from the orchards of Western growers. When the strained juice has been cooked to the proper consistency, sugar and shredded peel are added. Each batch is boiled in a separate pan over an individual gas burner until the jellying point is reached.

SHREDDING THE ORANGE PEEL.

The yellow strips are finely shredded by a special device. The shredded peel is then soaked and cooked until thoroughly tender.

Making Use of Cull Oranges and Lemons

WHENEVER we deal with perishable food supplies there is bound to be considerable waste in their handling, unless means are devised for utilizing such portions as can not be marketed in the ordinary course of business. This is particularly true in the fruit industry, for often there are considerable quantities of perfectly good fruit that do not quite measure up to the standards for size or appearance that have been established for the trade, and in the proper utilization of this food some of the large fruit associations have found it desirable to establish other enterprises to work off the surplus. The large meat-packing companies established such byproducts factories, and many of these have developed into the most remunerative part of their business.

In California, practically all the various kinds of fruit produced are marketed through co-operative associations made up of the fruit-growers. These growers pool their fruit and they are packed and marketed under certain trade names. The fruit must meet certain standards as to size and appearance, and as most of it is packed in great packing houses located in the fruit centers, the quantities of discarded fruit are large. Most of this fruit, however, is perfectly good if utilized at once, and it has become the custom to use it for canning, preserving or similar purposes.

Using Cull Lemons.

In the citrus industry, however, it was not possible to use the cull oranges or lemons for canning, and other means had to be adopted to save this waste. The Growers' Exchange therefore created a by-products organization for the purpose of making various food and other supplies from the cull oranges and lemons. The Department of Agriculture realized the importance of the subject and established a laboratory in Southern California, where the government food chemists co-operated with the growers in conducting experiments for the proper utilization of this fruit.

To take care of the cull lemons a plant was established for the making of citric acid and citrate of lime. During the season of 1918-19 there were 13,000 tons of lemons not suitable for Eastern shipment. Three thousand five hundred tons were disposed of to other users, and from the balance the plant at Corona, Calif., has manufactured 75,000 pounds of high-grade citric acid direct from the fruit and 232,000 pounds of citrate of lime during the period when the receipts of lemons were beyond the capacity of the acid part of the plant. This citrate of lime is later converted into acid during the slack month.

Established Marmalade Plants.

To handle the orange culls, the Exchange has established two marmalade plants in California and one in Canada. It also maintains a fresh fruit department and supplies the local markets with a standard grade of good eating fruit, which lacks carrying quality for Eastern shipment but gives satisfaction for quick consumption.

experimental laboratory and corps food processes and means for utilizing all of the parts of the fruit coming to the plants.

One of the principal food products made from cull oranges is marmalade. In making this the oranges are peeled and the juice and pulp cooked together and then strained, the pulp being discarded. The thin yellow peel is finely shredded so it won't form lumps, and the juice and shredded peel then cooked together, and the necessary sugar and a little lemon juice added. No preservative whatever is used, and two pounds of fruit is required to make one pound of marmalade.

Just as It Is Made at Home.

A distinct feature of this marmalade plant is the fact that instead of using large cooking vats to handle the vast quantities of fruit juice processed, the cooking is done just as it would be in the home. That is, small, individual gas stoves are used—hundreds of them, and only a few pounds of oranges are cooked at a time. Each kettle, holding less than four gallons, is cooked over an individual gas stove, and the contents watched and stirred by an attendant until it is done.

One of the by-products that can be made from cull oranges is that of sweet-orange oil, made from the fresh peel of the sweet orange. It is largely used in the manufacture of flavoring extracts, perfumes and soaps, and to a small extent in the drug trade. Although the United States imports in the neighborhood of several hundred thousand dollars' worth of this oil annually, very little effort has been made, until recently, to manufacture our own supplies. Until late years the bulk of this product was secured from Italy, Sicily and other parts of southern Europe. Now, however, a considerable industry has grown up in the West Indies, and a portion of the annual supply of the United States is now supplied from that region. Experiments are being conducted in the manufacture of this oil from California oranges, and no doubt our entire demand will be supplied from this source within a short period.

Film Calls Attention to Industrial Danger

SOMETHING decidedly new in the way of movie thrills is now being shown in a film made under the auspices of the United States Grain Corporation. It shows an actual grain-dust explosion and was staged by experts to show the tremendous explosive power of grain dust and starch dust. It proved so unexpectedly violent that it almost put the operator of the movie camera out of commission.

The purpose of this film, which is for free exhibition, is to aid in the campaign now being carried on to check carelessness, which of late has resulted in great loss of life and property due to grain dust explosions. Since last May five terrific grain blasts have occurred, in which 24 people were killed, 38 injured, and property to the value of $6,000,000, besides large stores of grain destroyed. This record is in marked contrast to that of the war period, when for 20 months no explosion occurred—evidence of the value of special carefulness.

It would seem that such a campaign as is now in progress would be unnecessary, but recent investigations have revealed the surprising fact that many of the owners and operators of large grain mills and elevators are unfamiliar with the circumstances surrounding grain-dust explosions, as a result of which dangerous conditions are permitted to exist. Aside from mills and elevators, explosions in threshing machines are frequent, the losses from this source alone in the wheat-growing section of the Pacific Northwest amounting to approximately $2,000,000 during the last two years. Allowing each man a loaf of bread a day, the grain lost in this way would have fed an army of 2,400,000 men for one month.

If you want to start a fire in a stove you do not try to set fire to a large stick of wood with a match. Nor do you stop at splitting this stick into smaller pieces. To get a good crackling fire immediately you reduce one of your big sticks to shavings, touch a match to it, and off it goes.

Now, suppose these shavings were ground to a coarse powder, spread out in a thin layer and ignited. You would find that your powder would burn very rapidly. If this powder were ground quite fine, and scattered about so that it became mixed with the air of the room, you could ignite it with a flame not even as large as that of a match. A very small electric spark, or a spark made by striking a piece of steel on a stone might cause this dust-laden air to take fire and burn so rapidly that it would produce an explosion.

True of Many Dusts.

And wood dust is not the only dust of which this is true. Almost any kind of dust containing carbon explodes under favorable conditions. Among such dusts are grain dusts, flour dusts, sugar dusts, rice dusts, feed dusts, paper dusts, cotton dusts, leather dusts, wood dusts, cork dusts and fertilizer dusts.

While an absolutely dustless mill or elevator is almost an impossibility, the danger from dust can be greatly diminished if floors, walls, beams and ledges are kept free from accumulations of dust and more especially if a complete and efficient dust-collecting system is installed. Smoking and the carrying of matches in or around mills or elevators should be prohibited at all times, and no open flames, such as gaslights, torches, lanterns and candles allowed for any purpose whatsoever. It also goes without saying that all wires for electric lighting should be placed in conduits, and only well-protected globes be used.

Explosions have been caused in a number of instances by artificial lights being lowered into bins to determine the amount of grain, flour or feed they contained. It is much safer to use a weighted tape for this purpose. Bits of iron, steel or stone often find their way into grain during handling. At the grinding plates of the mills they may create sparks which ignite the dust arising from the ground material in and around the machine. This produces a small explosion, which propagates a more violent one, finally resulting in a fire and the complete destruction of the plant. This danger may be largely overcome by employing magnates or other devices to separate such foreign material from the grain before it enters the grinding machines.

Causes of Explosions.

Static electricity often is generated around grinding, cleaning and other milling machinery, as well as by the friction of belts and pulleys. The result of this is a spark which may ignite the dusty atmosphere in and around the machine, and propagate a disastrous explosion. Static electricity and the dangerous sparks produced by it may be eliminated by properly grounding all metal and moving parts of the machinery, so that this electricity will be conducted away as fast as it is generated.

Some of the worst elevator explosions and fires on record have been caused by ordinary choke-ups, or the clogging of an elevator leg. The explanation is simple. The friction between the belt and the pulley produces intense heat, which finally causes the belt to burn, thus igniting the ever present dust in the leg, which produces a short, sharp, local explosion. This stirs up more dust; an explosion of greater volume and extent occurs; fire follows, and soon the entire plant is in flames. In the photograph may be seen what happened to one elevator and the 1,000,000 bushels of grain it contained because a choke-up occurred in an elevator leg. The danger from choke-ups may be overcome by careful examination at frequent intervals, and remedying immediately any slight rubbing, slipping or other trouble.

Grain Dust Problem.

The dangerous dusts in and around threshing machines often consist merely of dry particles of chaff and straw. But frequently wheat's old enemy, bunt, or "stinking smut," takes a hand. Not satisfied with being one of the most serious wheat diseases found in the country, causing a total loss of over 27,000,000 bushels in the whole United States in 1917, smut continually aggravates the grain dust problem. As found on heads of ripened wheat, it consists of smut "berries" or "balls," containing millions of minute spores or seeds. The healthy kernels of wheat have been replaced by these so-called smut balls. During the process of threshing many of the smut balls are broken, with the result that the very fine, dry smut dust is thrown into the air.

Of all the dust explosions in grain separators, those due to smut dust are the worst. Smut dust suspended in the air produces a highly inflammable mixture which readily takes fire upon coming into contact with a spark or flame. When it is considered how easy it is for a flame or spark to be produced in some unexpected way, it will be realized how great is the menace lurking behind the cloud of smut dust around a store of grain.

Lip-Reading Taught to Deafened Soldiers

In France alone during the Great War three thousand soldiers lost their hearing completely and other thousands became partially deaf. The French Government has established schools in which these men are being trained for restoration to active life

Back to school, these French soldiers, who are totally deaf, are learning to read again the old familiar words. As the teacher points to each word and carefully pronounces it, they read his lips intently

All of these grown-up schoolboys went through the war at its worst. Some were made deaf by the ear-splitting noise of bursting shells and mines; others are deaf because of injuries to the skull. France has several schools like this

Not totally deaf are the men of this class, and so their instructor tries to bring back their hearing. The teacher is pronouncing a word close to a deaf man's ear, keeping his voice low and enunciating clearly

The teacher at the end of the table, who has bared his teeth in seeming ferociousness, is only pronouncing a slightly exaggerated d. Watching him very carefully, his pupils will soon learn the alphabet of lip-reading

"Right arm, up!" says the instructor, and up goes the student's right arm. It is examination day, and all the students who are not totally deaf are given an oral test

The eyelid test is one of the first tests given a patient, to determine the degree of his deafness. If the organs of hearing are not completely destroyed the eyelids will flicker when a noise-producing machine is applied to the ears

SUN'S RADIANT ENERGY.

THE amount of energy that our own little planet Earth receives from the sun is one and a half horsepower per square yard, or 233,000,000,000,000 horsepower for the whole earth. The amount of the solar energy that is intercepted by the earth must be infinitesimal compared with the total amount poured forth from the surface of the sun. It has been estimated, in fact, that all the planets together receive less than one one hundred millionth (1,100,000,000) of the total radiant energy of the sun in the form of light and heat, the remainder passing on to the stars beyond at the rate of 186,000 miles per second.

SUIT AGAINST SCHOOLS CARRIED TO COUNTY COURT

The Wichita Falls school board Saturday carried the case of S. L. Hawkenson vs. the Wichita Falls school board to the county court. Hawkenson, who was formerly a music teacher in the city schools brought suit against the school board several weeks ago for debt. He was awarded $153.75 by a jury in Justice R. V. Gwinn's court.

Hawkenson charged that he is due part of a month's salary which the school board denies. Hawkenson did not teach the part of a month for which he is seeking pay, the school board claims.

FINAL MEETING FOR SHIP BY TRUCK TOUR NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

Final arrangements of details for the ship-by-truck tour May 17-21 will be made at a meeting of the truck and tractor dealers at the Overland Sales Company rooms at 8:00 o'clock Thursday night.

At the meeting last Thursday night at the Nash Auto and Truck Co.'s rooms it was decided to employ a jazz band to accompany the tour. Some slight changes were also made in the route on account of some very bad mud holes that had developed. The meeting was addressed by F. A. Snyder of the Firestone Ship-by-Truck bureau.

Refreshments were served. The meeting was marked with great interest.

ECKMAN REPORTS TRAFFIC CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Perceptible improvement in the traffic situation resulting from the switchmen's strike is reported by Carl Eckman of the Eckman-Von Allmen agency who has just returned from a trip that included Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis.

Mr. Eckman says, however, that it is likely to be some weeks before normal conditions are restored. Automobile factories are making most of their shipments in train load lots, as this makes a minimum of switching. Very few single carload shipments are leaving the factories, he says.

Many dealers are coming to the factories and are driving home cars on their own power, Mr. Eckman reports.

"The salesrooms in the factory towns are empty," he said, "as the manufacturers are giving every car possible to out of town dealers, figuring it better to get what cars they can to their dealers at a distance and knowing that the home dealers can get cars at any time."

While on this trip Mr. Eckman was fortunate in obtaining ten Peerless cars. The agency received a carload of Peerless and a carload of Hupmobile cars during the past week.

SUNDAY, MAY 9, 1920.

WE OUGHT TO SHARE BURDEN.

Sir Auckland Geddes, new British Ambassador to the United States, made his first set speech in this country to the United States Chamber of Commerce meeting at Atlantic City last week. Sir Auckland—one of the really big men of the British Empire, a Canadian, we believe, by birth and a figure that became international by his work in the war—told his 3,000 hearers with brutal candor that America must either go to Europe with help in a business way or Europe's troubles will come here to haunt the nation, and to prove that he was disinterested, he specifically exempted his own British Isles from "Europe" as he meant it. Britain had her troubles, too, he said, "but they are little troubles in comparison with those of Europe. A fraction of the people is war-shocked, a fraction is weary of effort, but broadly the swell of the great storm is dying down, output is improving, business is better," even if the burdens are colossal and liked by nobody. He told of the profound changes wrought in the British Isles by the war—the breaking down of caste, the placing of ultimate political power in the hands of the working classes, the enfranchisement of vast new classes. The great question America has to decide, he said, is this: "Are you going to stand by and wait for Europe's troubles to come after you as come they will, or are you going out to help Europe (remember I am excluding the European part of the British commonwealth of Nations) to win through to reasonable conditions. I do not mean help Europe politically, but as a long range business proposition." He told what Britain's answer was to that question, for Britain, too, had to answer it: "On a business footing we are prepared to do all we can; on a charitable basis we cannot do much more." And he said, solemnly: "I dare not presume to suggest what your answer should be, but this I believe from the bottom of my heart that all the nations of Europe, including Germany and Russia, have to be got back to work and solvency before the world is going to be safe and comfortable for democracy or business or trade or for anything that makes the life of millions worth living.

"These are difficult times for all of us. We need sanity, courage and good will, the rooting out of suspicion, the dying away of anger. I believe, how firmly I believe it, that even at the cost of heavy burdens we must try to pick up the broken, to instill new heart in the hopeless, to be ready with the hand of fellowship and the smile of friendship to greet all who raise themselves even from the dust in an effort to do something to build a saner world out of the fragments of a broken era."

Leader of the world's thought, arbiter of the world's financial policies and actual finances, controller of the world's supply of countless essential things, the determining influence really in the world's welafre, these United States of ours is ill-fitted for the role which bitter partisanship would have it play—that of unconcern, that of unwillingness to go on to help the world get back to sanity and normality. If we have learned anything from the war, it is that we are concerned deeply in the welfare of the world, not only from an altruistic but from a selfish standpoint as well—that we have not the insularity, the provincialness of which we used to boast and on which we used to count most heavily to keep us out of the necessity for entangling alliances, to render us self-sufficient in all things. We learned in 1914 that our welfare was a part of the world's well-being. We ought to profit in 1920 from that lesson to the extent of picking up our share of the world's burden and thereby doing our part toward hastening the world's return to normal conditions—not as a charity, but as the British ambassador suggests, on a business basis that means help to the world and future prosperity for us. Sir Auckland Geddes is going to play a part in the British-American relations of gratification to his country and of benefit to both his and ours.

ON AMERICAN FOOD AND FRENCH IDEAS.

Years ago there used to be an Ohio editor—Col. E. M. Wilson, of the Ohio State Journal, to be more exact—whose habit it was to write about four paragraphs every day regarding the delicacies of the table when he was younger; those days when every woman cooked wonderfully. He had unusually readable recountings of pies he had eaten, of blackberry cobblers that he and every other person had liked, of the proper way to make strawberry shortcake, and numerous other tempting very tempting passengers across his plate.

If Colonel Wilson were among the living it would be a treat to read his editorial on a book by the Duchess of Clermont-Tonnerre, recently published in Paris, on the insipidity of the cooking art in America. How he would make the welkin ring with a matchless defense of our American edibles!

The Duchess declares that Americans who eat in restaurants swallow their meal and are gone before a Frenchman gets through scanning the wine list, and then continues to say that "American butter is poor and American cheese cannot be eaten. American chickens are emaciated and scrawny and one has the feeling that it is a cruelty to put a knife into them. All American dishes have passed through cold storage and are insipid."

Her recent travels in this country brought the proud Duchess to these opinions. Some of them doubtless were secured as the result of eating in public eating places. Certainly she must never have dined with a family, else her opinions would never have been put on paper as they have been.

There are places in Paris where one can secure French butter at certain hours of the day—or were during wartime. To one who has eaten of that butter the statement of the Duchess that the American kind is poor will appear peculiar. It is yellow, all right, but the people who made it forgot to use any salt in its preparation, with the result that it tasted exactly like paste. The fact that it was almost unobtainable at a restaurant there was due entirely to the fact that milk was used for the children or for making butter to be either sold in the stores or used to feed the French officers.

French cheese is more varied in character than the American product, but how it is possible to compare a "petite swisse" with American cream cheese in favor of the former, as one instance, will startle most Americans who have eaten both of them.

Then, the Duchess shows that she has never eaten in an American home by her statements about our chickens being scrawny, but the assertion that "all American dishes have passed through cold storage" proves conclusively that her opinions are not worth more than a passing thought on this side of the Atlantic.

It is true that American business men do not spend much time at their noonday meal, and that nobody in this country believes he should take a summer's vacation every time he sits down to the table.

To watch a Frenchman at the table is to see slowness personified to its highest degree. He sits down and gazes about him gravely and solemnly, if he is alone; if not, his companion and he look about for five minutes, make comments upon others nearby, until the "garcon," or waiter, arrives and pours him a glass of water. He then picks out his wine or champagne, and after deciding that he wants another vintage, the waiter leaves for it. At the end of a ten-minute wait, the wine is brought forth, sampled, pronounced good, and the list of soups is then thoroughly gone over. It is a consomme and not a thick soup such as we have as a general rule. When this has been deposited in his stomach, he orders possibly his meat and two or three vegetables at the same time, but the meat is brought to him first, then the vegetables one at a time and slowly consumed. After that he has some salad, some desert, a demi-tasse, and another bottle of wine to top it all off and let himself know that he has eaten.

This entire meal takes from an hour and a half to two hours, because the man who eats it does so with the apparent thought that it is to be his very last one. He masticates his food, which we, as a nation, do not, and he also shows by its length that he is somewhat of a selfish person who uses his own time for his own benefit.

When there was an organization in this country up until a very few weeks ago which spent its efforts in gathering funds for milk for French babies, does it not appear a bit out-of-place for a French Duchess to write and publish a book on the instpidity of our edibles? When the United States sold to the French government a billion dollars worth of foodstuffs left over in our warerooms in that country, sold them at about 40 per cent of what they cost, doesn't it look quite odd to have a French Duchess chide us and misrepresent the true conditions surrounding which prevail at the American table? An American was asked, in all seriousness, by a French woman in Paris if it were true that Americans put their feet on the table after they had finished with their eating. She had heard and believed this story. That American did not get angry at his questioner; he only pitied her child-like brain. And that is exactly the attitude the American people should take regarding the Duchess of Clermont-Peronne, who should see a bit of American family life before trying to tell the rest of the world about our eating and what we eat.

Announcement that $70,000,000 worth of loan applications have piled up in the Federal Farm Loan banks since the suit was begun to test the constitutionality of the law creating the bank is indicative of the real value the functioning of these banks has for the betterment of the farmers and is also illuminative of the reason for the opposition to the law from concerns engaged in getting high interest rates from farm loans. Most of the $70,000,000 applications are ready for final action, the banks having stopped accepting applications when the suit was first brought, and delay in handing down the decision is upsetting the plans of a good many thousands of farmers, while thousands of others, because of the uncertainty, have been compelled to get loans otherwise and at higher rates of interest than they would have had to pay but for the interruption of the Farm Loan Banks' functioning. "In the light of this fact (the piling up of the $70,000,000 in applications)", the Dallas News notes, "one can see that it would be a public misfortune of great magnitude if the decision of the court should compel these banks to retire from business." The News, however, is of the opinion that even an adverse decision might not necessarily have that consequence, since, as it points out, the "particular question to be answered is whether that provision of the law which exempts bonds of the Farm Loan Banks from taxation is constitutional," and that even if the decision deprives the banks of that advantage, they could continue to operate. "Certainly," the News says, "it is to be hoped they will."

A woman democratic speaker in the Wisconsin democratic convention seems to have created a sensation by her frank declaration that if the masculine democrats sought to temporize with the "wets" they would lose for the party the solid feminine vote. Canvass of the delegates showed the women to be a unit on the proposition. There isn't, we think, much danger of the democrats adopting a light wine and beer plank, although it is certain that an effort will be made by wet democrats of Connecticut, New Jersey, New York and a few other states to insert such a demand in the San Francisco platform. Our guess is that, if the leaders of both parties have their way, there'll be mighty little "wet" or "dry" talk in either national platform, although we believe both will pledge themselves to law enforcement, under which the drys can get some satisfaction and the wets can enthuse that no specific pledge of enforcing the Volstead law is made.

It does not appear at this distance and at this time just what the revival of the suffrage ratification resolution by the Delaware senate means. It will be recalled that it was the Delaware House that delivered the solar plexus blow to the resolution when it was up for ratification several weeks ago, and that the Senate, even then counted as favorable to it, did not let it come to a vote. Parliamentary procedure prohibited the resolution being again introduced in the House, because of having been defeated; but, as a senate resolution, it can again be considered as new legislation. The Senate's action leads at least to the hope that the Senate has some reason to believe that the House might consider reversing its previous action.

WHY?—

IS A NAVAL GUNNERY SO ACCURATE?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The layman who realizes the difficulty of hitting a target when he is standing on solid land and the bull's eye is only a few hundred yards away, is naturally amazed when he reads of hits scored by naval guns at a distance of a dozen miles or more in a rough and treacherous sea. The secret lies in a small horizontal tube, located in the upper part of the warship's rigging and known as the "range-finder."

By looking into the center of this tube, the man whose job is to determine the range sees objects a long distance off in two separate halves. He turns the carefully adjusted screw until the two halves of the image meet and then reads the distance in yards or meters directly from a scale which is under his eye. The process is a matter of seconds. Through deflection of light rays by a movable prism, the range-finder measures angles and computes the distance mechanically, accurately, instantly.

Once the range is discovered, the rest is easy. The big guns are trained and a few seconds later tons of projectiles are hurled toward the ship or the submarine or the fort which is the objective of the attack.

Beauty.

The beauty of a lily and the beauty of a face
Make bright a gloomy corner and exalt the common place,
But there's nothing shines so brightly in this world of human need
As the beauty and glory of a kind and thoughtful deed.

There are lovely things to look at—
There's the blue sky and the sun
And the hill tops in the distance, and the works that men have done,
But the best of God's creations, in this world of joy and smart,
Are the helping hand of service and the big and generous heart.

Not on canvas or in marble, or in flowers which bloom to fade,
Or in lovely skies which vanish, are the lasting beauties made;
They make bright the dismal places,
but the kind and cheery voice,
And the heart that is unselfish, make the weary to rejoice.

There is beauty in a lily, and there's beauty in the hills,
There is beauty in the blossoms wet with dew the morning spills,
But the richest lasting beauty which this world forever needs,
Through its days of tribulation, is the beauty of our deeds.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

By WALT MASON.

Balmy Days.

When arrives the month of May, winter's gone, beyond dispute; which reflection makes us gay, and our loud bazoos we toot. It is good to go to bed, 20 minutes after 10, knowing that the storms we dread for long months won't come again. It is good to rise at morn in a balmy atmosphere, gazing on the sprouting corn, and the playful colt and steer. May's a pippin and a peach, o'er whose charms all bards enthuse; of the pebbles on the beach, she's the one the wise boys choose. Oh, a month ago we felt that the winter might return; and the sleet again might pelt, and there might be snow to burn. And it kept us in suspense, and the weather prophets all were forever on the fence, knowing not what might befall. And a month from now we'll fry in the superheated air; and no doubt the passers-by will forgive us when we swear. But May brings us no distress, in her genial smiles we bask; climate, as we go to press, is the smoothest man could ask. It's the month that hits the spot, after winter, cold and drear; every other month, I wot, should be May, throughout the year.

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

To Move Or Not to Move.

A woman I know is anxious to move because she has found a house that she thinks will suit her better than her present home. Her husband is much opposed to the idea. He says they have moved three times in the last four years, and he wants to settle down in a neighborhood and be identified with its activities.

I think that is a praiseworthy feeling, don't you?

There is a distinct satisfaction in living for a long period in one place.

You Can Gain Distinction by Living In One Place.

If you live 20 or 30 or 40 years in one place and are a good citizen and take even a humble part in the affairs of the community you will come to stand for something in the minds of your fellow citizens, even if you are not particularly brilliant and successful.

But if you move from one neighborhood to another, from one suburb to another, from one city to another, every few years, you will have to have a strong personality or be in some way an outstanding figure to impress yourself on these constantly changing associates.

Of course, it goes without saying that moving is a costly business and unnecessary moves are an almost wicked destruction of economic wealth. It isn't only the cost of the moving van (high enough, goodness knows); it's the wear and tear on furniture, and the expense of new hangings and so forth which the new home absolutely demands.

The High Cost of Moving.

Even in a vastly simpler day, Benjamin Franklin declared that two removes are as bad as a fire. (When I first read that I thought of my Methodist minister grandfather whose enforced moves netted him the equivalent of a fire every two or four years. No wonder my grandmother died young!)

Of course I do not mean to exalt the man or woman who will not move when there is some excellent reason for doing so, but cling obstinately to a locality with a cat-like devotion.

The husband of a friend of mine has to spend an hour and a half getting from his home in the suburb to his business. When they took that home, his business was near the station through which he entered the city, and it took him only three-quarters of an hour to make the trip. His business location has changed and he wants to find a home in a more convenient place. His wife is unwilling, being one of those "cat-like" people. I call that downright unreasonable.

The Wife Ought to Have the Larger Say.

Again I am proud of my other

The Educational Problem.

Editor The Times: It is important and imperative that publicity be given to the educational situation in Texas. A grave and serious lack of funds confronts our educators. The situation is so very serious Governor Hobby has recently appointed an "Advisory Committee on Constructive Policies." This committee is composed of twenty-one members drawn from three sources. 1st—From the citizenship of the state. 2nd—From the legislative body. 3rd—From the administrative heads of the educational departments of the state, including the State Superintendent of Public Schools.

I am grateful to have been selected from the senate, as a member of this committee. I say grateful, because the committee has a broad opportunity to do a much needed work, and I am grateful for having part in that opportunity. At a meeting of this committee held in Austin Monday, April 19th, a full statement of the situation was submitted.

The Public School System.

In the rural districts of 229 counties, there is an actual shortage of at least 2,000 teachers. More than 50,000 children in Texas this year have been without teachers. School teachers throughout the entire state are seeking other lines of occupation because of inadequate salaries. More than 50 per cent of the rural school teachers that did teach were mere boys and girls holding second grade certificates, and many teachers without certificates were employed. Four hundred thousand (400,000) children in Texas were taught this year by boys and girls holding second grade certificates. Many public schools were continued by private subscription to prevent early closings. This condition is caused by a want of funds and the failure of the state to pay school teachers adequate and living wages.

The average annual salary of rural school teachers is $517.00 per annum; the average annual salary of town teachers is $875.00 per annum; the average annual salary of all teachers in the state is $682.00 per annum. No argument is necessary.

If our schools are to go forward, and they must, let's adequately pay our teachers. Young men and women, because of inadequate and unattractive pay and conditions offered are no longer aspiring the profession of school teaching. Education is the foundation upon which this government and nation rests. If we fail to progress in our schools and keep up our standards, national disaster will follow. The profession of school teaching and educational work should find its personal among the best and finest of our manhood and womanhood. They are largely instrumental in the formation of the character of the people, and certainly we cannot be too careful in their selection. The institutions of higher education in Texas are in a similar plight to that of the public schools. They are rapidly losing their staff of teachers and are totally unable, with the money appropriated to take care of their normal growth.

The University of Texas is drawing heavily upon its building fund for operating expenses and thereby making it impossible to take care of the building needs of the University.

Suffice it to say that the University of Texas is now thirty-five years behind in its building needs. The present efficiency of the many schools named here cannot be maintained unless some quick relief is given.

The Agricultural & Mechanical College and its branches.

The John Tarleton College of Stephenville.

The Grubbs Vocational College of Arlington.

The Prairie View State Normal for Negroes.

The college of Industrial Arts at Denton.

This latter named college was forced to deny admission to 300 girls last year.

Similar conditions exist at five other State Normal colleges.

The Advisory Committee is undertaking to work out some definite plan of relief with reference to all these situations. It can, however, only submit its views and the people of the state must put their shoulder to the wheel and create an understanding sentiment and determination to relieve the condition.

Concerning our public schools, a special committee with our State Superintendent of Public Schools at its head, has made numerous and wise recommendations. I shall not undertake to quote all of them, but wish to submit to the people of Texas such of them as have my most earnest commendation and endorsement.

1st. Establishment of the county unit plan of administering schools, with definite provisions as to the powers of the county superintendent.

Second. Increase of state appointment to double its present amount, so as to provide schools for children, and so as to place a high school education within the reach of every child.

Third. Revision of the school laws making most of them more definite and harmonizing those in conflict. Changes especially needed are as follows:

(a)—Revision of the compulsory attendance law, raising the age of exemption to fifteen years.

(b)—Providing for one hundred and twenty consecutive school days.

(c)—Requiring completion of the seventh grade. Provision should be made for enforced attendance in extreme cases by state authority.

Fourth. Laws making women eligible for service on boards of all schools supported wholly or partly by the state.

There has already been submitted by the legislature to be voted upon in November a constitutional amendment for a "district tax" Every citizen of Texas should do their part to insure the amendment to the constitution being carried.

The "ox is in the ditch," and every citizen of this state should put his shoulder to the wheel to see that some of the ideas herein suggested, to cure the situation, are accomplished. Get right in behind your representative in the legislature and see that he answers the call.

Content yourself with nothing less than a definite promise that your children's instructors, the ones who next to the mother, influence their character perhaps more than any other thing in their lives, are paid adequate and and reasonable salaries that will permit them to live comfortably.

I have only sketched a part of the situation because it would take too much space to go into it in detail. If I felt free to take the space in which to fully picture the very distressing situation into which our entire educational system has fallen, both in the matter of public schools and the institutions of higher education, every man, woman and child in this state would rise up and demand that it be promptly and properly set right.

Sincerely Yours,
SENATOR LYNCH DAVIDSON,
Houston, Texas.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sunday, May 9, 1920.

This is not a fortunate day, according to astrology. Mars, Venus and Mercury are all adverse.

Rumors of wars and troubles that come too close to American interests again are foreshadowed by the stars.

Army officers will command attention and there will be much agitation concerning military matters, it is prophesied.

Women should be especially cautious during this sway, which seems to indicate that some sensational incident connected with their public activities will be much exploited in the newspapers.

All the signs seem to presage notoriety to matters pertaining to women in public affairs. Scandals and gossip again are foreshadowed.

This is held to be an especially unfavorable rule for women who write or speak concerning national issues, since they will be likely to arouse jealousy and sow malice.

Religious controversy will loom large at this time, if the stars are read aright.

With the ingress of the summer quarter next month, Mars rising in Libra is read as indicating a disorderly condition of public thought that will have a serious effect on the whole country.

A member of the president's cabinet will incur wide displeasure by some official act.

Foreign trade should benefit greatly from this date, but misunderstandings with foreign powers are presaged.

Diplomacy is subject to a sway that makes for anxiety and trouble.

Warning is given that it will be well to prepare for a period when financial caution will count for much. There is a sinister sign for banks and banking early in the autumn.

Fire and losses of life threaten eastern cities later in the summer.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a troublesome year, but they may protect themselves by foresight in business. Changes will not be lucky.

Children born on this day may be restless and discontented, but talented and ambitious. They should be carefully trained in practical lines.

A bank, to be of the greatest help to the community, must adapt its facilities to the needs of its patrons. The City National Bank of Commerce gives the greatest service possible under the most stringent rules and regulations necessary to safeguard the funds intrusted to its care. 344-1te

KEEN WOLF NO. 2 MUNGER REPORTED FLOWING 300 BARRELS

Drilled less than two feet into the sand, the Keen-Wolf No. 2 Munger, block 25 Kemp's Wichita Valley Farm Lands, and just west of the Kemp-Munger-Allen line, was Saturday reported flowing better than 300 barrels. The rotary rig with which the test was drilled is being moved off, and a standard erected above the hole. The sand depth was given as 1741.

The Bill Rowe Oil company test, on the five-acre lease just to the south and west of the Keen-Wolf lease, reported on the sand late in the week, is to be bailed down Sunday, according to reports received Saturday night.

Further to the west, just to the south of the Sinclair's Munger lease, another Bill Rowe Oil company test is reported on the sand, encountered at 1760. The Sinclair No. 1 Munger, just to the north, which failed to make a producer at the regular Kemp-Munger-Allen sand depth, is looking like a possible producer in the 1815 foot sand, according to late reports.

Two of the Cline Oil company tests, on the 80-acre strip purchased from the Kemp-Munger-Allen company, just to the east of the Kemp-Munger-Allen holdings, are due on the sand before Monday, it was reported at the company's local office Saturday.

Oil is still seeping over the casing into the slush pit of the Boger-Ard-Maer in block 41, a mile south of the Kemp-Munger-Allen, according to Saturday reports. The bailer, dropped into the hole about the middle of the week, has not been recovered. A steel line has been secured however, and other fishing tools necessary were expected by Sunday. It is believed that the bailer will be recovered and the test bailed down by the first of the week.

The week-end was without feature in the other districts, save for two reported completions, one in the South Burkburnett and the other in the Waggoner.

The Couch-Winfrey No. 2 Daniels was reported Saturday as having a flush production of around 500 barrels. The initial production of the No. 2 on this lease was reported 400 barrels in the Waggoner the Mulligan-Steiner No. 1 J. Siber in block 69 was reported a completion Saturday, with its production estimated from 1,000 to 2,000 barrels.

HOW ALLISON PRECINCT WISE COUNTY BECAME ATTACHED TO STARR

Last week's issue of the Decatur News contains an interesting account of the Wise county democratic convention held at Decatur last Tuesday. The convention elected delegates who were known to be loyal to the administration and adopted resolutions warmly endorsing it.

Two precincts in the county in the precinct mass conventions had elected Bailey delegates to the county convention, so after having duly elected loyal Wilson men to the state convention and adopting fervent resolutions one Jerine McQuinn offered the following resolution:

"Whereas, it is apparent that the political opinions and moral sentiments of the voters of Allison and Park Springs is not in accord with the politics and public sentiments of the people of Wise county, but is in accord with the politics and moral sentiments of the people of Starr count; Be it resolved that the voting precincts of Allison and Park Springs be attached to Starr county, for political purposes, and that hereafter all convention and primary election returns be made from said precinct to said Starr county."

Starr county, it may be explained, is a border county which cast a solid republican vote.

But Park Springs was not without its defenders. J. M. James had attended the Park Springs mass convention and had vainly attempted to register his vote in behalf of the administration. The News tells how he saved the day for Park Springs in the county convention:

After a vigorous and patriotic speech from J. M. James of Park Springs who had been outnumbered by socialists and republicans, and in which he pleaded for the democracy of Park Springs, who had been deprived of representation in said convention that Park Springs be stricken out of the list so named as being attached to Starr county.

HARRISON SECRETARY SOUTHERN SECRETARIES

Special to The Times.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., aMy 8.—An enthusiastic reception was accorded [illegible] of the open shop, or "American" idea by the Southern Commercial Secretaries in annual session here—the movement being forcefully presented by Hubert Harrison, secretary of the Wichita Falls, Texas, Chamber of Commerce. Harrison was named as one of the members of the executive committee of the association. G. T. Cross of Monroe, La., was elected president for the ensuing year. B. F. Johnson, of Wichita Falls, former president of the association, was in attendance at the convention.

THREE ARE HELD HERE FOR SAN ANTONIO OFFICERS

A piece of good detective work was put over by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Morgan and Charlie Bebout Saturday when they discovered an automobile believed stolen from San Antonio and arrested three men who are being held for investigation.

A meager description of the automobile was wired officials here from San Antonio and shortly after receipt of the message Deputy Sheriffs Bebout and Morgan located the automobile parked on Seventh street near Ohio avenue. Three men found in possession of the car were arrested and are being held in jail here pending the arrival of an officer from San Anotnio.

PLAINTIFF GIVEN VERDICT FOR OIL SALE COMMISSION

Commission on an oil transfer involving leasehold privileges to a portion of block 88, Red River Valley lands, and valued at $650,000 was given G. R. Ellis in his suit against the Waurika Oil Association No. 1, by a verdict on special issues returned in the 78th district court Saturday. The case was on trial for three days.

Y. W. C. A. CAMP WILL BE LOCATED NEAR NEWCASTLE IN YOUNG COUNTY

Details are now being worked out for the Y. W. C. A. summer camp, which will be established near Newcastle, in Young county, a short distance south of Wichita Falls, according to Miss DuBose, the general secretary, and in a short time it will be possible to announce the date of opening, the method of operation, the cost and various other details. The camp will be open to all girls and women of Wichita Falls who desire to spend an open air holiday.

All sorts of out-of-door sports will be offered for the entertainment of those attending. Swimming, fishing, campfire suppers, tennis, hikes and various other diversions will be on the program. The camp will probably be opened the latter part of June and continue through the summer months, it is stated. Some definite announcement will be made shortly.

BANK CLEARINGS LAST WEEK SHOWED DECREASE

Bank clearings for the week ending May 8 show a decrease of nearly a million dollars over the previous week. This is accounted for largely through the consolidation of two of the largest banks, City National Bank and National Bank of Commerce, which was effective Monday, and which naturally considerably affected the amount of business passing through the clearing house. The daily clearings, as announced by H. L. Hunter, follows:

Monday	$ 719,172.09
Tuesday	802,521.84
Wednesday	737,528.28
Thursday	716,637.64
Friday	798,848.31
Saturday	575,356.53
Total	$4,348,064.69
Last Week	5,257,518.46
Decrease	$ 909,453.77

SIX PRISONERS PLACED ON STREET GANG

Six city prisoners convicted on charges of vagrancy are now working on the streets of the city, Chief of Police Goodfellow announced Saturday. The present force is the first "chain gang" placed upon the streets of Wichita Falls in some time.

Police Chief Goodfellow indicated that several additional persons charged with vagrancy would be assigned to the "chain gang" shortly.

One reason for not placing more city prisoners upon the streets is the fact that guards could not be secured.

TOM MIX BOOTS ARE EXHIBITED IN THIS CITY

The Perkins-Timberlake Co., which is featuring show windows in keeping up with the round-up held in this city for the past three days now have on a window of cowboy equipment. Among the showing of the boots is a pair made special for Tom Mix, the movie actor by the Justin Shoe company of Nocona, Texas. The boots will be shipped to him as soon as the display is over.

KENT BROTHERS RECEIVE SHIPMENT GRANT CARS

Kent Brothers have just received a shipment of Grant cars. Included in the shipment were one roadster and four touring cars. Another shipment is expected this week.

Kent Brothers feel very fortunate in getting these shipments through at this time as they feel that it may be months even before they can get more cars delivered.

VERDICT FOR WICHITA SAND AND GRAVEL CO.

The Wichita Sand & Gravel company was awarded a verdict on Saturday in their proceedings against J. M. Durham and J. W. Taylor. Possession of a tract of land along the Big Wichita river was involved in the suit. The Wichita Sand & Gravel company has recently been removing sand and gravel from the bed of the river when Taylor and Durham laid claim to certain parts of the river bed. The case, which has been the source of much interest, has been pending in the courts for several weeks.

ROOTER'S CLUB WILL ACCOMPANY SPUDDERS WHILE ON THE ROAD

New Club is Organized to Whoop 'Em Up For Local Team While Away

George (Kid) Shuffield is the originator of a plan to organize a club called the "Rooter's club," the duties of said club being to follow the Spudder team to nearby towns and show fans in the other circuit towns that Wichita Falls is back of its team to a man. His plan has met with favor by all the leading business houses and banks of the city and liberal donations were given today to defray the expenses of the club. Chief of Police Robert H. Goodfellow is strong for the plan and is assisting in no small way.

It is Shuffield's plan to send a group of fans to Fort Worth, Dallas and other Texas towns, deemed within striking distance, to root hard for the Spudders. He said today that 35 would make the trip to Fort Worth to see the final Spudder-Panther contest, but 15 will be the usual number

He was very much pleased with the way the donations to defray the club expenses came in and said that he has not been turned down by anyone.

He is now looking for a hall to be used as a regular club room and will install domino and billiard tables, if he can get a hall large enough. He has plenty of athletic equipment himself to furnish it, if he can only find a suitable place.

WABASH ATHLETIC HEADS FAVOR FORMATION OF NEW COLLEGIATE ORGANIZATION

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., May 8.—A plan to form a new athletic organization which will include colleges of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio and Kentucky, has met with favor among Wabash athletic authorities. The new organization as planned would be comprised of institutions outside of the Western Conference that have shown unusual strength in sports.

De Pauw University and Wabash College are among the Indiana schools which are reported to favor such an organization. These schools have withdrawn from the Indiana Collegiate Athletic League.

Others considered as likely material for membership are James Milliken University, Knox and Monmouth college in Illinois, Marquette and Beloit in Wisconsin, and the Michigan Aggies.

ROGER HORNSBY AND JOE JACKSON LEAD RESPECTIVE LEAGUES

Roush and Cobb Not in Select Batting Circle Yet But Are Coming Along Fast

CHICAGO, May 8.—Roger Hornsby, the St. Louis star, is showing the way to the batters of the National League with an average of .460, and Lebourveau of Philadelphia with .375 is the runner-up, according to averages released today. The averages include games of Wednesday.

Hornsby has been at bat 63 times in 15 games. He drove out 29 hits for a total of 38 bases. In this collection he bagged six doubles and one home run. He has been showing much speed on the paths, having registered 12 runs.

Ed Roush of Cincinnati who held the batting honors of the league last season, gradually is getting his stride. He boosted his average to .262, forty-six points within a week.

Robertson of Chicago leads in home runs with three. Williams, Philadelphia, and Paskert, Chicago, are tied for second place with two each.

Other leading batters for ten or more games:

Groh, Cincinnati, .359; Z. Wheat, Brooklyn, .357; Daubert, Cincinnati, .336; Duncan, Cincinnati, .328; Bancroft, Philadelphia, .324; Ruth, Cincinnati, .324; Burns, New York, .319; Flack, Chicago, .309; Janvrin, St. Louis .302; Caton, Pittsburgh, 302.

"Babe" Ruth of New York celebrated his return to the game by cracking out two home runs. The home run king has a batting average of .261 for thirteen games, having made twelve hits in forty-six times at bat. His hits besides the two home runs include a triple and three doubles.

Ty Cobb, the Detroit star, who held the batting championship last season, is rounding into form and has boosted his mark from .163 to .214 within a week.

Joe Jackson, the Chicago White Sox slugger, continues to top the batters in the American League who have participated in ten or more games. There are three batters in the "four hundred" class headed by Jackson with .434; Johnston, Cleveland, is second with .408 and Weaver, Chicago, third with .404.

Other leading batters: Speaker, of Cleveland, .375; Sisler, St. Louis, .368; Dugan, Philadelphia, .366; E. Collins, Chicago, .357; Jacobson, St. Louis, .347; Scott, Boston, .328; C. Walker, .324.

WICHITA MOTOR MAKES IT 3 STRAIGHT BY DEFEATING PRESBYTERIANS 9 TO 8

A ninth inning batting rally gave the Wichita Motor Company a new lease on life yesterday and they pushed 7 runs across the pan, which total equalled the First Presbyterian's score of 8. They got another in the tenth and won out 9 to 8. They also won from the Bible class earlier in the week 3 to 1.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright 1920, New York Tribune.)

SOMEWHERE BEYOND—

Somewhere beyond the bitterness—the hate—
Beyond red wrath—where Faith and Peace despond—
Raw greed shall wane and friendship crown the state—
Some day—somewhere beyond.

The song dies out upon the far winds blown,
Where cheerless clamor of the Clans arise,
And out old ways lost Fairness walks alone
Beneath drear sunless skies.
The rose of faith across old twilight ways
Crowning the last red splendor of the west,
Shows, through the wrath of vanished yesterdays
Thorns only for Life's breast.

Yet we shall see somewhere across the years,
Lost in the shadows by a starless stream,
Old days return where Friendships conquer fears—
A dream wrought from a dream.

Weary the waiting for the new road when
The song will call once more across the night,
And side by side the clans will walk again
Through darkness turned to light.

For ten years Joe Jackson's main ambition has been to lead Ty Cobb at bat. Jackson batted over .400 one season and even then was beaten out. So far he has secured an impressive lead over his Georgia rival, but two or three things can happen between May and October.

THE GIANTS AND THE DOPE.

Figured via the dope, the Giants looked to have one of the best clubs in baseball.

The main strength of the team was a hard hitting, brilliant outfield and a strong catching staff, with Nehf, Barnes, Benton, Toney and Douglas.

The catching was good but the infield only fair.

Yet for the better part of three weeks now the New York club has been far off the trail, one of the big disappointments of the year. And the main break has been in the pitching—coupled with weak hitting—the two strongest looking sectors on the club.

With better weather and this pitching staff unkinked the Giants are sure to look better later on.

But they must look 100 per cent better to have any shot at the flag.

ONCE MORE.

It has already become extremely evident that the White Sox will again be vital actors in the American League race.

They will be Cleveland's leading competitors for the Red Sox are not strong enough to continue sparring with the peak.

The battle in 1918 and again in 1919 found Cleveland challenging the leaders, and if Cleveland has to finish second again it will be through Chicago's strength.

Any ball club that carries Eddie Collins, Buck Weaver, Ray Schalk, Eddie Cicotte and Joe Jackson isn't going to be very far behind when the autumn leaves begin to turn pink and brown again.

The alleged dissension in the White Sox camp didn't last very long with the $5,000 bonus hung out for world series athletes at the end of the summer's hike.

Not very many are going to dissent themselves out of a shot at 5,000 bucks in these distressing moments.

OUR ALIBI.

As long as the real red stuff was sold
My verses rang with a rythmic swing;
They were the real stuff I've been told,
Along the line that the masters sing.

But now that near-booze rules the way
And I hit the bowl for a proper note,
Is it any wonder that day by day
I only write like a nearly-pote?

What show do you think that Shakespeare would Have had with only a beerette dope?
What earthly chance would Burns have stood
Inhaling a lot of frothy soap?

The old red stuff rimmed the bowl they hit
And left them keen as they sat and wrote;
But, alas, in a near-booze age I'm bit
And only write like a nearly-pote.

The report that the war had wiped out all of Great Britain's athletes seems to have been a trifle exaggerated, judging from what took place at Philadelphia a week ago. A bare trifle, to break it gently.

"The Yanks and Athletics recently played a game where the New York infield, other than third base, had only three fielding chances—two for third, one for short and none for second. Isn't this a record"? So far as we can rake back it is.

"You figure that Sisler may beat out Cobb this season," writes W. W. D. "I doubt it. In fact, I have a modest little bet that Joe Jackson will beat out Sisler, as Jackson is on his way back and just about due to arrive."

THE LAST TAVERN.

He who shall be the weariest,
Who finds life's way the dreariest,
Will know in God's last sleep
A deeper peace than others will,
Far sweeter than his brothers will,
When twilight shadows creep.

He who must face the lonely way,
For him at last the only way,
Will find it leads afar
To rarer dreams than others know,
Yes, fairer than his brothers know,
Beneath the twilight star.

"Quimet, meeting Vardon and Ray at Brookline again, should win as he is now much more experienced than he was as a kid of nineteen." Yes, but the "kid of nineteen" is seven years more away from youth's confidence and unconcern.

GOODMAN AND GRIFFIN IN FAST BOUT AT THE CAMEL A. C.

CHARLEY GOODMAN WANTS CRACK AT BANTAMWEIGHT TITLE IF HE LICKS DICK GRIFFIN MONDAY

CHARLEY GOODMAN

"I'd be glad to meet Herman today," Charley Goodman said yesterday in connection with his demand that if he shows himself superior to Dick Griffin in his match at the Camel Athletic Club tomorrow night that he be substituted for the proposed Griffin-Herman match for the bantamweight championship of the world here July 4. Manager Al Edwards announced that Griffin would get the match if successful here.

"My experience has been mostly in the east and the fans down here don't know much about me," Goodman added. "But they'll know more tomorrow night after they see me box Griffin."

Undoubtedly both Griffin and Goodman have a closer call on a challenge for the world's championship of their division than any other boxers who have been seen here so far.

Griffin has met the champion and the result after 12 rounds of battling was declared a draw.

Goodman has fought in 150 bouts and has never been stopped or knocked down. He said yesterday he has been matched with Nate Jackson and Battling Barrere for early contests in Texas. Sam Jordan of Dallas, Goodman's manager, has arranged the bouts. Jackson and Barrere are in the contender class for Herman's crown.

Goodman's recent contests include decisions over Dutch Brandt of Brooklyn at the Broadway Athletic Club, Johnnie Murray at Long Branch, N. J., and Jimmie Burns at Jersey City. He fought Joe Lynch, Frankey Daley, Dutch Brandt, Jack Sharkey and Eddie Coulon to draw decisions.

Manager Edwards announced yesterday that Earl Murphy of St. Louis, negro claimant to the lightweight championship of his race, would meet Emerson Williams in the semi-final Monday night. Williams easily defeated Billie Brewer, Denver negro boxer, here last Monday night.

The new seating arrangement of the Camel Athletic Club will be completed in time for the match Monday night. Eighteen hundred persons may be seated under the new arrangement.

The downtown membership office of the club has been moved to Tipton's Drug Store, Scott and Eighth streets, for convenience of the members.

KENTUCKY DERBY IS WON BY PAUL JONES IN 2 MIN., 9 SECONDS

Horse Ridden by Jockey T. Rice Pulls Down Over $30,000 in Racing Classic

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 8.—Ral Parr's Paul Jones, ridden by Jockey T. Rice, won the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs this afternoon. Upset was second and On Watch third. The time, 2.09 flat, compares with the derby record in 1914 when Old Rosebud negotiated the distance in 2:03 2-5. Seventeen horses started.

The gross value of the stake, which carried $30,000 in added money, approximately was $36,925. The net value to the winning owner was about $30,375, with $4,000 to the second and $2,600 to the third. The fourth saved his stake.

Paul Jones, flying into the lead at the start was never headed.

THINKS $2,500 NECESSARY FOR FAMILY EACH YEAR

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A minimum of $2,500 a year is necessary for an American family of five, W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist for the railway brotherhoods, asserted today before the railway labor board. Mr. Lauck who yesterday charged corporate profiteers with being chiefly responsible for present living costs, presented today a demand on behalf of the 2,000,000 railway employes for the establishment of aminimum wage throughout the industry. He presented to the board a compilation of budgets on the cost of living based on studies made under his supervision and by federal and state agencies.

In concluding the brotherhoods spokesman requested that the board curtail its examination of wage data and proceed immediately to the determination of the question of what constitutes a living wage.

STELLAR PERFORMANCES STAGED BY CO.. BOYS AND COWGIRLS AT GRAND FINALS OF ROUND-UP

Over 6,000 people journeyed to Athletic Park today to witness the grand finals of the second annual Round-Up. Exceptionally fast time was made in all the events and the performances were far superior to those given the first two days. Those who were able to jam into the park were not disappointed. Over 2,000 people were turned away and every available inch of space within the grounds was taken.

In fact, the crowd in the grandstand was was so large that shortly before the performance was to close too of the large supporting beams cracked under the stand. Fog Horn Clancy's attention was called to the fact and he immediately called off the rest of the exhibitions. Many people in the stands could not understand the abrupt ending, but it was done to avoid a serious panic. If the crowd were allowed to remain in the stand serious results would have followed in all probability.

The stellar performances of the day were contributed by Booger Red Jr. He was not satisfied with simply riding his steer in the steer riding contest, but did a bit of fany riding as well. His bulldogging of a steer in 16 seconds was one of the best pieces of work done at the park since the Round-Up opened. Slim Caskey had just bulldogged a steer in 29 seconds and it did not seem possible to better this time, but what it took to do it, Booger had.

Rube Roberts received a bad toss in this contest and was knocked out for several minutes. It was thought that he was in bad shape for a while, but Rube was up and on his horse in a few minutes. While turning his steer, tht animal drove his horns into Rube's stomach.

The calf roping contest brought out some fast work also. The average time was much better than that made on the previous days and the majority of cowboys got their calves on the first attempt. Hugh Strickland tied his animal in 34 2-5 seconds and walked away with first honors.

The photo in the upper left shows Wonseki, the Indian Chief who carried the American flag in the Round-up parade.

Mme. Schumann-Heink enjoying her first Round-Up is shown in the upper right. The noted singer was very interested in the cowboy manoeuvers and was one of the most enthusiastic spectators. "I never saw such a display of nerve," she remarked, when Slim Caskey jumped from his horse to the steer in the bulldogging contest. Slim is standing behind his horse's head.

The lower left is a photo of the famous stage coach, owned by the late Quanah Parker. It was one of the features of the parade.

Ross Hampton, bookkeeper in the Wichita State bank, gave an exhibition of wild steer riding, and let it be said that his steer was "wild." Ross stuck, in fact, he stuck till the steer left the grounds.

Dan McAnally was slightly injured in the steer riding contest. The steer threw him just outside the chute and he fell directly in the path of the infuriated animal. His flying hoofs caught McAnally in the leg, but he was on the job again in a short time.

Bea Kirnan had a narrow escape in the cowgirls' bronc riding contest. She was on Panter Pete, an exceptionally wild horse and she gave as game an exhibition of riding as was displayed all day. The horse fell twice in an attempt to throw her but was unsuccessful. Miss Kirnan was underneath the horse on both occasions and how she escaped without a broken leg is a mystery.

Ruth Roach on Boger Red and Maud Laird on Reputation also turned in a bit of clever riding in this event.

Mrs. Lucille Mulhall Burnett was at her best and drew round after round of applause with her exhibition of fancy lariat throwing and steer roping. She roped and tied a steer in 44 seconds. While her high school horse was performing one spectator remarked, "I suppose if you put a fountain pen in his mouth, he would write a check."

The prize winners for the three days as announced by the judges last night are as follows:

Cowboy Bronc Riding—Won by Oklahoma Curley; Hugh Strickland, 2nd; Shorty Kelso, 3rd.

Steer Bulldogging—Won by Slim Caskey; Guy Schultz, 2nd; Rube Roberts, 3rd.

Calf Roping—Won by Eddy Burgess; Fred Beeson, 2nd; Chester Byers, 3rd.

Steer Riding—Won by Leonard Stroud; Luther Lee, 2nd; Hugh Strickland, 3rd.

Owing to the poor condition of the arena no decisions were given in the trick roping and riding contests.

GEORGES CARPENTIER MAY VISIT WICHITA FALLS NEXT MONTH

French Heavyweight on Tour Through Southwest With His Bride

It is expected that M. Georges Carpentier will visit Wichita Falls in June while touring Texas and Arkansas. It was stated yesterday that an effort would be made to bring him here. He will positively visit Dallas and a number of other important Texas cities, according to word received by P. K. Johnston, Dallas manager for the Robertson-Cole Distributing Corporation.

M. Georges Carpentier will positively visit Dallas and a number of other important cities in Texas and Arkansas some time in June. This advice has been received by Mr. P. K. Johnston, Dallas branch manager for the Robertson-Cole Distributing Corporation.

M. Carpentier will travel in his special car, accompanied by his bride and several prominent sport writers. Joe Stecher, heavyweight champion wrestler, will be ope of the notable members of the party.

M. Carpentier enjoys the distinction of being the most widely welcomed foreign guest to this country in recent years. His admirers are waiting with unusual interest the much hoped for announcement of his match for the world's boxing title.

During M. Carpentier's visit to the Southwest he will be feted by many prominent citizens. His hosts of admirers in the motion picture and sporting world will have the privilege of personally meeting him and sizing him up as a possible winner of Dempsey's championship belt.

The definite date of M. Carpentier's visit to this city will be announced soon.

CHESS GAME WITH PEOPLE AS PIECES TO BE PLAYED MAY 22 BY MARSHALL

NEW YORK, May 8.—A chess game in which people will serve as pieces will be played here on May 22, by Frank Marshall, chess champion of the United States, and Charles Jaffe, a New York expert, it was announced today.

A giant board will be laid out on the stage of the Manhattan opera house. The pawns will be naval boy scouts in white and blue uniforms. Kings, rooks, bishops and knights will be played by actors made up for the parts, while two stage beauties will appear as queens. The players will move their pieces by commands issued from pedestals overlooking the "field."

NICK ARIE TO MAKE ATTEMPT TO DEFEND HIS STATE TITLE

Texas Trapshooting Champion Will Compete Here at State Shoot Next Week

The first trapshooting event of more than local importance to be held in this vicinity this season will begin May 18 over the traps of the Wichita Falls Gun Club. Practically all the best gunners in this neck of the trapshooting woods, as well as those from other sections of the country, will be seen in action in the annual tournament of the Texas State Sportsman's Association May 18, 19 and 20. A preliminary round will be fired the afternoon of the 17th.

Nick Arie, who won the Texas State championship at Fort Worth last year and the U. S. championship doubles at Chicago, will be on hand to try to defend his crown. He will be opposed by a galaxy of stars and the chances are that he will find the going pretty rough.

Local trapshooters will have only two more chances to get in trim before the big shoot. The weekly practice shoot will be held at the range Tuesday and the regular weekly shoot will be held Friday. All members of the club have been urged to be present at both shoots as the time is short.

R. A. King, A. G. Deatherage and W. Daniels have signified their intentions of competing in the Clarksdale, Miss., shoot to be held next Tuesday. It is quite probable that other local celebrities will also take part.

Sport Comment
By Paul W. Larkin

'Twas a good game up to the ninth.

Brownlow's errors were costly, but you cannot get 'em all the time.

A ball game is never over until the last man is out. Ask Buck, he knows.

It was a tough one to lose, Buck; better luck next time.

Mokan did his best to sew up the game in the ninth. His home run started the fans walking out of the park.

Fort Worth fans evidently favor umpire nagging. They raised over $100 and offered it to Robertson to pay his $75 fine, imposed by President Morris for his actions in Friday's game with the Spudders. Unbiased observers of the fracas claim that Robertson was wholly unjustified for his actions, and if so, the fans certainly took the wrong stand.

REAL ESTATE

Tenth Street—New five-room home on Tenth street for $9,000, with only $1725 cash and balance less than rent.

Taylor—Something new and absolutely different, new six-room bungalow with a living room that is a "dream." The interior is unusually attractive, with pleasing effects throughout; has artistic light fixtures, beautiful brick mantel, built-in book cases, oak floors throughout, French doors to every room except the bath, garage, servant house, solid driveway. This place has been held at $18,000, but the owner wants to move back to his wife's kinfolks "down in Texas" and has instructed us to offer it at $14,000 with any kind of payment and terms. We might loan part of the cash payment on this one. Near Tenth and will be on the pavement in a few days. Might handle a good car on the deal. If you can find as attractive a home, as well located, for this money, anywhere else in town, we'll take you to the picture show.

Monroe.—Drive by the beautiful six-room home on the corner lot at 1314 Monroe and see if you think it worth $9,000, unfurnished or $12,000 furnished. It is a "dream" inside; it belongs to a non-resident that wants to sell.

Floral Heights.—Brand new five room, strictly modern home on corner lot and on the best street in town, fire place and nice mantel, lots of built-in features, French doors, etc., galore, pretty electric light fixtures. We have to sell this home this week and are offering it for $5500. If you don't have over $1 000 come on anyway, you can have it.

Southland. — A large 7-room, aeroplane bungalow, hardwood floors throughout, fire place and all the built-in features that the most fastidious would exact, garage and servant house; forgot to say, it, (the house) has portecochere. If it's not worth $11,000, it's not worth a dollar.

A good six-room bungalow on one of the best streets in the city. High east front lot, garage and driveway, all the built-in features you want and too the shades and all of the draperies go with it. The price this week only is $9,000 with $1000 cash less than rent.

Filmore Street—A dandy five-room home on an east front corner lot. It is new and has French doors, nice electric fixtures and built-in features. You can't beat it for $7500, but we will take $6650 and will take a good car as cash payment.

How's This?—New six-room California bungalow, original in design, convenient arrangement and something different. It has hardwood floors throughout, large cheerful fireplace, book cases and brick flues in every room, the longest and widest solid driveway in town, double garage, and a cozy servant house, one block of pavement now but will be on it within 60 days. We advertised it last week for $17,000, but the owner is in a tight and it goes this week at $14,000.

Close In.—The home you have been looking for; it has six large rooms, practically new, near school and car line, and within walking distance of town. Completely furnished for $8800; owner moving to San Antonio is the reason for the ridiculous low price. Good terms if desired and might take a car.

On Pavement.—This is the first opportunity you have had to buy a strictly modern five-room home, on the pavement, for $7500 and you can get good terms.

Attention.—Please don't phone us to give you the exact number and street of these homes and must sell furnishings of three-room apartment, all new and been used less than two months. The above consists of wicker chairs, bed, davenport, chifforobe, dressing table with mirrors. Priced for immediate sale.

LEAVING CITY

See owner, 1010 Sixteenth Street.

TENTH STREET LOTS

We have two vacant lots on Tenth street in 1800 block. Each 50x150 feet. The owner is leaving in a short time for California and has put a price on these lots that make them an exceptionally good proposition for any one who wants to build a home in an ideal location. For immediate sale, the price is $13,000 for the two.

A RANCH A HOME Or An INVESTMENT

Consisting of 14,500 acres. Located near a good town in the northeast part of the Panhandle. This is one of the best ranches of this size in Texas. Plenty of farm land, and enough rough land to make it an excellent winter and summer pasture. Well watered by springs, tanks, wells, and live water. Fenced and cross-fenced in pastures ranging in size from one to five sections, with water on nearly every section. Improvements consist of one 5-room house with sheds, corrals, and branding pens, located in the northeast part of the ranch. One 4-room house, barn, windmill, etc., located near the center of ranch. Headquarters camp, which is all new and modern, located in the southwest part of ranch, consists of one modern 7-room bungalow, with bath, one 2-room new bunk house, a double garage, cake houses, stock scales, and one of the very best barns that the Panhandle affords, dimensions 64x84 feet. Connecting with this barn are corrals for 1500 head of cattle, branding chutes, squeezers, all built of 2-inch lumber. This ranch will pasture 100 head of cattle to the section the year round. There are 300 acres now in cultivation.

—PRICE: $16.00 per acre, with good terms.

Oil Prospects: The above ranch is not leased for oil, but the geological report is very good, and the structure is favorable.

Flour $16.25 a Barrel

MINNEAPOLIS, May 8.—A rise in wheat prices yesterday was the principal factor in another advance today of 25 cents a barrel on standard flour, or $16.25 a barrel.

Texas Rain Affects Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—Texas weather played an important part in the trading in cotton today, reports of rain in the drouthy counties of that state causing a lower opening after which the market rallied on reports of too much rain in other sections and claims that complete relief from the drouth had not been obtained.

The deciding influence of the session were the forecast of fair weather for the entire belt and unfavorable reports from the dry goods markets. Considerable selling was based on them and the market closed at net declines of 2 to 27 points in consequence.

Possibly the forecast of fair weather for over Sunday would have had more effect against values but for the contention from the long side that it did away with the probability that the Texas drouth would be completely relieved in the near future.

Gold Reserves $1,942,580,000

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Combined resources and liabilities of the twelve federal reserve banks were as follows at the close of business May 7, according to the weekly statement of the federal reserve board:

Resources:

Total gold held by banks, $678,215,000.
Total gold reserves, $1,942,580,000.
Total reserves, $2,076,087,000.
Total bills on hand $2,914,455,000.
Total earning assets, $3,214,357,000.
Total resources, $6,026,229,000.

Liabilities:

Total gross deposits, $2,578,900,000.
Total liabilities, $6,026,229,000.

New York Cotton Irregular

NEWYORK, May 8.—The cotton market was irregular today. Crop news from the southwest was betted and an unfavorable view of the goods trade outlook was promoted by the week-end advices, reporting small business at first hands.

On the other hand there were numerous crop complaints from the eastern belt, and the attention of the trade seemed to shift from bullish to bearish. The general list closed steady at a net advance of 15 to 18 points on the old crop months but 4 to 8 points lower on new crop deliveries.

Improved weather reported in Texas and uncertainty of general business conditions figured largely in the early talk around the ring, but the offerings were not badly taken at the decline and the market soon rallied. The appearance of buying orders from eastern and central belts served to counter the unfavorable crop from east of the river based on wet weather and low temperatures.

The market met increased realising for over the week-end at the advance and there were reactions.

Sales of print cloths in the Fall River market were estimated at 40,000 pieces for the week, and some of the Fall River brokers were quoted as reporting a quieter tone than for any time in two years. Western goods distributors, however, report a continued active business.

Corn Demand Increases

CHICAGO, May 8.—Famine prices for corn have been reached this week. Despite abundance of corn on farms, acute scarcity prevailed at the leading terminal markets and sent values skyward. Compared with a week ago, corn quotations this morning were 5 to 13¾c higher, oats showed 2¼ to 5½c advance and provisions varied from 20c decline to a rise of 60c.

Urgent buying on the part of shorts forced the corn market to wild jumps and at times even the hardiest speculators hesitated to sell in view of existing railway traffic conditions, with not enough grain arriving here to meet the hand-to-mouth demand. Ordinary No. 2 yellow corn soared far above $2 a bushel, whereas not so many years ago the farmers' ideal was $1 a bushel for wheat, not to mention corn.

Oats were governed chiefly by the action of corn.

Provisions borrowed strength from grain.

Wall Street Review

NEW YORK, May 8.—Sentiment in the stock market this week favored the long account partly as a result of further stock dividends which ranged from 10 to 200 per cent. There was a visible diminution of activity, however, due to public apathy.

The credit situation seemed to engross the attention of the financial community, in that quarter being heightened by the detailed statement of the local federal reserve board reviewing conditions of the first four months of the year. This suggested that further restrictions are needed to adjust anomalous economic conditions.

Transportation shares immediately improved, not only because of the less tense railroad labor situation, but probably to a greater degree from the general belief that the railroads are almost certain to receive substantial relief in the form of higher freight rates.

General industrial conditions were somewhat obscured by the strike of the New England textile workers and signs that price schedules for steel and kindred finished products for autumn deliveries are tending downward. Reports from leading centers of merchandise distribution pointed to reduced demands, accompanied by lower quotations for various staples, but foodstuffs ruled at or near maximum levels.

BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEON FOR COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN

The second annual luncheon of the council of Jewish Women, held Thursday afternoon at the Charlotte Kemp Hall, was an unusual success, in a social way, and in the remarkable record shown by a review of the year of the council's work since the first luncheon, held in May, 1919, and was enjoyed by 40 members and two guests. The luncheon was served at one long table and four smaller ones, the president's table seating 26, while covers were laid for four at each of the smaller tables.

A beautiful floral arrangement was noted at each of the tables, a large wicker basket tied with rainbow tulle, and filled with flowers forming the centerpieces, while smaller May baskets, filled with roses and forget-me-nots, and the handles tied with ribbon, in the rainbow colors, formed the plate favors. Crystal candle sticks, tied with pink ribbon gave an additional attractiveness, and violet nut cups added their color harmony to the beautifully arranged tables. The perfection of the floral decorations which has given Mrs. C. J. Coyne, the hostess of the Charlotte Kemp Hall an enviable reputation as a decorator, as usual was matched by the delicious luncheon which was served in five courses, comprising grape fruit cocktail with marischino fruit, chicken a la king in pates, sweet pickles, olives, potato puffs, hot rolls and grape jelly, French peas, a la mayonnaise, frozen fruit cream, cake and coffee.

Mrs. Wolfson, the president of the council, presided as toastmistress, and throughout the luncheon a clever program was carried out. Mrs. Saul Lebenson offered the prayer, before the luncheon was begun. The achievements of the council as a part of the congregation of the Temple Israel were told by Mrs. Wolfson, and it was pointed out that just one year after the first luncheon, which was featured by the announcement that the men of the congregation had purchased the temple site at the corner of Eleventh and Burnett streets, the handsome temple edifice is nearing completion, and will be ready for the first confirmation of the local congregation the latter part of this month. The council's pledge to be responsible for the pipe organ for the temple was pointed to by Mrs. Wolfson as one of the real achievements of the year. The ability to accomplish much for the temple grows as the council grows, she added, and during the coming year, with the membership doubled, since the first annual luncheon, the achievements of the council should be similarly doubled.

A tribute to the past president, Mrs. Louis Pink, whose illness has taken her away from her home for a time, was paid by Mrs. Wolfson, who introduced Mrs. Kaufman to offer the tribute for the council to Mrs. Pink, to whose efforts the existence of the council in its present flourishing state was ascribed. Mrs. Kaufman's beautiful tribute was followed by a number of other tributes to Mrs. Pink, every speaker mentioning the wonderful inspiration which the much loved member had been, and the power which her inspiration still held, even from a distance.

Miss Rose Reisenberg offered a toast "To the New Temple," with peculiar fitness, since at the luncheon last year her toast had been an appeal for a temple.

Mrs. Horwitz in her toast "To Our Absent Members," read messages from Mrs. Pink, Mrs. Markowits and Mrs. Sam Kruger, all out of the city. Mrs. Kruger's message was in verse, exceedingly clever, and full of fun, with all the members remembered, and Mrs. Markowitz verse was in similar vein. Mrs. Horwitz concluded with an original toast, in verse, which was applauded as one of the most brilliant of the various interesting toasts given.

Mrs. Goldberg, wife of Dr. David Goldberg, the rabbi, in her toast, spoke of the pleasure that she and Dr. Goldberg have experienced in being in Wichiat Falls and a part of the enthusiastic congregation.

The financial side of the council was explained by Mrs. J. Cohen, the treasurer, and the report showed a very flourishing condition, as the result of the work of the year.

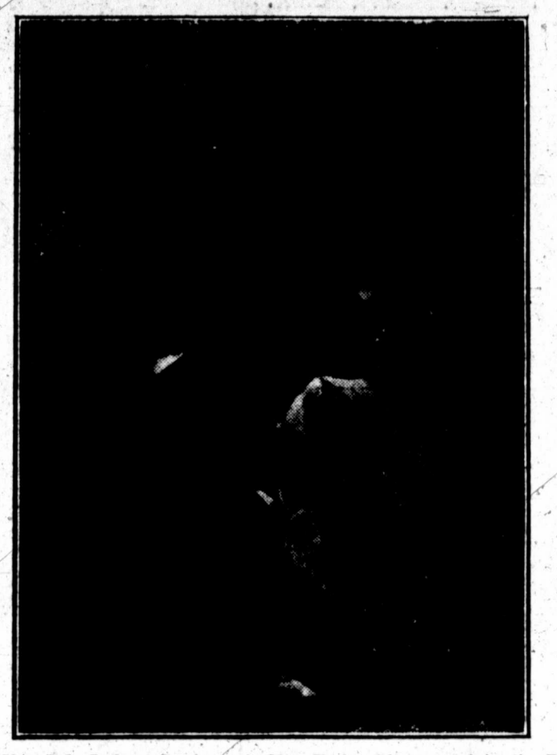
The two visitors, Mrs. J. A. Kemp and Mrs. John W. Naylor, also responded to toasts.

Following the program Mrs. Wolfson provided an amusing few minutes by presenting, with much seriousness, various mementoes to her official board which had served with her the past year. The gifts were all burlesques either on the office held or on some individual characteristics, and caused much merriment.

The opening of the mite boxes, in which the members have been collecting their pennies, showed a very good amount to be added to the treasury as a result of the penny offerings.

Those enjoying this delightful affair were: Miss Rose Reisenberg, Mesdames Friedner, Liepold, Greenberg, Lazarus, J. Cohen, Horwitz, Morris, Steighman, Wolfson, Art, Juster, Becker, Veros, Paul, Reisenberg, Pink of St. Louis, Goldberg, Dampf, Kaufman, Lebenson, Marcus, Kleinman, Charles Cohen, Zundelovitz, Goldstucker, J. C. Simmons, L. Bretler, S. Bretler, Teatch, Loevy, L. Cohen, Frankel, Rubenstein, Capland, Kemp, Naylor, B. Bretler, Colonna, Ginsberg, Bernstein and Lindy.

CHARMING YOUNG BRIDE OF J. L. JACKSON, JUNIOR



Mrs. J. L. Jackson Jr., formerly Miss Evelyn Chumney of Austin, Texas, was formally presented to Wichita Falls society on Wednesday by Mrs. Ben M. Bell, sister of Mr. Jackson, in one of the most delightful receptions of the season.

Mrs. Jackson will make an attractive addition to the ranks of younger matrons in this city, and already has numerous friends in the former students of the University of Texas, where she was a popular student and sorority girl.

ELKS PROVIDE SOCIETY FEATURES FOR WEEK

One of the numerous pleasant affairs which have made the past week one of unusual social gaiety, was the afternoon "at home," with which the new quarters of the Elks' club, in the Snider-Perkins building were formally opened to the ladies of the club members Thursday, this being the first ladies' day in a number of months. J. Wilkie Talbert, the chairman of the entertainment committee, was assisted by Mrs. H. F. Weldon in arranging the entertainment for the afternoon, and they had to offer a diversity of games to suit the individual choice of the guests. Bridge and various other games were played, and a delicious luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon.

As an extra added attraction was the act of the Naval Jazzland band "borrowed" from the Wichita theater stage for the afternoon. This part of the program proved unusually enjoyable.

On Thursday night the first dance for the new quarters was held, the old time brilliancy of Elks' dances of before the war days being recalled, and a promise made of future social functions in the club rooms with frequent occurrence. A delicious fruit beverage refreshed the dancers throughout the evening, and the music provided by the Naval Jazzland Eight proved ideal. The guests for the evening included the following:

Messrs. and Mesdames F. L. McCoy, T. P. Allen, E. E. Friend, H. H. Bray, Clarence L. Moore, W. L. Eckrote, C. H. Featherston, J. H. Massie, Bobby Burns, M. A. Marcus, O. E. Lillard, H. F. Weldon, H. DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLASS ENTERTAINS BOARD AT DINNER

One of the real events of the spring school term for the domestic science department, and for the Wichita Falls school board as well, was the dinner with which Miss Martineau, the director, and a number of her students honored the school board Thursday, April 29. The dinner was served in the domestic science rooms, the guests being arranged at small tables, covers being laid for four at each table, which was attractively decorated with sweet peas. H. T. Musselman of Dallas, editor of the Texas School Journal, C. W. Reid, president of the Wichita club, and C. H. Clark, chairman of the business men's committee assisting in financing the school deficit, and Mrs. Clark were guests in addition to the school board members.

Judge P. A. Martin and Superintendent Lee Clark, Messrs. Musselman, Reid and Clark made short talks, following the tempting dinner.

Those present were: Mrs. M. M. Adickes, Judge and Mrs. P. A. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark, C. W. Reid, H. T. Musselman, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark.

Miss Martineau was assisted by the following domestic science students: Fay Boyd, Lillian Purser, Edith Berney, Flora Netherton, Cecil McCurdy, Lydia Uhrich, Karen Yeager, Lorraine Breedlove, Josephine Buchanan, Willie Taylor, Frances Dashner, Dot Russell, Denver Russell, Charlotte Taggard and Rhoda Bates.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO CELEBRATE 31ST BIRTHDAY

The 31st anniversay of the founding of Epworth league, together with Mothers' day, will be celebrated today by the Epworth league of the First M. E. Church, South, corner of Tenth and Lamar. The regular league service will be given over to the special program, with the cutting of a monster birthday cake with 31 candles as the feature.

In the evening the pastor of the church, Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker will preach a young people's sermon, for the regular service hour. All young people of the church, and their friends are urged to attend these services.

SINCLAIR CLUB GIVES DANCE ON FRIDAY

The Hack Academy was the scene of a delightful dance on Friday evening, when the Sinclair Club, the social organization of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company personnel in the Wichita Falls district, entertained with their first annual dance. There were about 50 couples to enjoy the excellent floor and dance music. Refreshing punch was served throughout the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Long, Sinclair superintendent for the district, and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woolrych were the chaperones. Congratulations for the success of this first affair of the club are with J. B. Hughes and L. L. Stewart, the dance committee.

EPISCOPAL GUILD TO MEET WITH MRS. ECKMAN MONDAY

The Guild of the Good Shepherd will meet Monday afternoon in regular session with Mrs. Eckman, 1600 Polk, as hostess. A full attendance is desired.

TWO LOCAL STUDENTS WIN AT AUSTIN.

Mortimer Clopton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Clopton of this city, won third place, extemporaneous speaking, in the state finals at Austin, in the interscholastic meet. Dorothy Reed won second place in the junior girls' declamation contest for the state, according to young Clopton's telegram to his father on Saturday morning.

PRAISE SERVICE SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT ARMY CITADEL

Major Percy Morton, the southwestern revivalist of the Salvation Army, assisted by Captain John Westbrook, the many-sided musical man, who are conducting a special series of meetings for 15 days at the Salvation Army citadel, are jubilant over the success already attained. Large crowds have attended the outdoor and indoor meetinfs, five converts have been secured since the series began last Wednesday night, and, according to the major, a "smashing time" is expected during the week-end.

Mother's Day will be fittingly observed Sunday. Music appropriate to the day has been arranged. Open air meetings will be held as follows during the week-end at the corner of Ohio and Seventh street; tonight at 7:30, Sunday at 10:00 a. m. and 7:30 at night. Indoor services at citadel on Seventh street tonight at 8:15. Major Morton's subject, "A Sale in Jerusalem." Consecration service Sunday 11:00 a. m. Sunday school 2:30 p. m. United praise service 3:30. This will be an old-fashioned time of praise and testimony. Young people's legion service at 6:15. Special service 8:00 p. m. Subject, "Mother." We would like to have our citadel crowded in the afternoon for that praise service, said Major Morton. "We have been making a special feature of the afternoon praise meetings, where possible, as so many pastors and people of other denominations can join us without interfering with their usual services. We forget all about denominationalism and everybody has a good time singing the old time songs that mother used to sing. We look for an excellent time tomorrow afternoon."

The Formula—Myers Hays.

HEAVY DOCKET SATURDAY IN CORPORATION COURT

A heavy docket featured Saturday's session of corporation court. Forty cases were called and pleas of guilty entered in most of them. The unusually heavy docket was due to there being no session of corporation court Thursday or Friday due to Judge Ogle's sickness.

Practically all cases called Saturday charged violation of some city traffic ordinance, gambling or affrays.

Dr. Green, dentist. Easy workman. Prices reasonable. Work guaranteed. 612½ Eighth street. 318-30tc

If you ever watched a sign painter and wondered what the next word was going to be—you would have enjoyed looking over our shoulder last Tuesday afternoon while we unpacked $11,000 worth of Spring suits in as many seconds.

Talk about thrills; why even the staple stout styles would have made you wish you were forty and portly—to say nothing at all about the young men's models that have more new wrinkles than a pound of California raisins.

What a splendid opportunity this is for a good dresser to see about his summer wardrobe.

You—for instance.

And by all means don't forget your dear mother Sunday.

BERT SWOR, FAMED MINSTREL MAN WILL FEATURE BILL AT THE WICHITA FOR THE FIRST PART OF THE WEEK

Bert Swor, the famous minstrel end man, will feature the bill for the first part of the week at the Wichita theater.

Wherever the interlocutor has said, "Gentlemen be seated," Bert Swor is known, for on these magic words of the stately gentleman in the center of the "burnt cork" semi-circle, Bert Swor, to the accompaniment of bones and tambourines, has taken his place on the end. For years Swor has been a minstrel end man, and his blackface comedy vies with the best of any who has engaged in a crossfire conversation in a minstrel first part.

Al G. Fields is the perennial of minstrelsy. While Primrose & West changed to Primrose & Dockstader, and Dockstader gave way to the Honeyboy Minstrels, and the map of blackface fun was changed as rapidly as the map of Europe, Al G. Fields went on his way dispensing fun, music and dance, and most of the time, Bert Swor was the principal factor of all three factions. Now Mr. Swor, still in blackface, but funnier than ever, has left the minstrel semi-circle for the olio drop of vaudeville, and here his humor has gained momentum until it carries absolutely everything before him.

Featuring the bill with Bert Swor is Nat Nazarro Jr. and the Atlantic Fleet Jazz band and three other big-time acts.

LOUISE GLAUM IN TEX AT EMPRESS MONDAY

Of all the social problems that beset the world that of "Sex" is indubitably the greatest. The "mystery" of the sex equation has given rise to innumerable pruderies and pruriencies but Manager Harwell of the Empress theater has come out flatly with the pronouncement that he has booked "Sex," the newest J. Parker Read Jr. special production starring Louise Glaum, because of its vast social import and, released by W. W. Hodkinson, "Sex" will open Monday at the Empress.

"In the story of Adrienne Renault," says Manager Harwell, "is a lesson to thousands of frivolous creatures who fool themselves into believing that youth lasts forever, that pleasure is life's chief object and that one can violate the laws that regulate our domestic lives and get away with it.

"Adrienne, as Miss Glaum has played her, is a gorgeous creature of New York's tumultuous night-life who never steals a man's love from another woman—oh, no—she only 'finds the love the other woman has lost.' This philosophy, my patrons will agree is the sophistry that exists in this community as well as in larger or smaller cities among a certain type represented by Adrienne Renault. One of the biggest lessons in 'Sex' is the picture of a woman trying to settle down. It reminds one of the inevitable expression of the man who is going to 'marry and settle down.' It can be done, yes, but is there no retribution for the one who has lightly trodden underfoot the principles of 'Sex?'"

There is a story embodied in Miss Glaum's new vehicle that she believes is the most interesting of her career.

NATIVES DIFFERENT COUNTRIES SEEK CITIZENSHIP HERE

Seventeen applications for American citizenship has been received by J. A. Lantz, United States commissioner here, during the present year. Natives of 11 different countries have made application for first papers with Russia and Germany leading, four former citizens of those nations having filed applications for citizenship. Three former subjects of the czar gave Odessa as the city of their birth while one Berliner and three Brandenburgers compose the quota from the German republic. One former citizen of each of the following countries made application for citizenship: Ireland, Turkey, Austria, Norway, Wales, England and Denmark. Two Mexicans and two Italians also made application.

First papers issued by the United States commissioner here in 1919 numberer 11; in 1918, 14; in 1917, eight. But one Greek has made application for citizenship since the establishment of federal court here, the commissioner's records show.

NO BANKRUPTCY APPLICATIONS HAVE BEEN FILED THIS YEAR

Using the bankruptcy docket of federal court here as an index, the first half of 1920 has been a very prosperous period, no bankruptcy application having been filed during the past six months. The year 1917 leads in the number of bankruptcy proceedings, 10 applications having been filed that year. Eight petitions were filed in 1919 and five in 1918. It is also remembered that 1917, the year when 10 bankruptcy petitions were filed, was prior to the oil boom and when the population of Wichita Falls was far less than at the present. The year 1919, the most prosperous 12 months in the history of Wichita Falls saw but five petitions filed.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AT THE MAJESTIC TWO DAYS

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS in "When the Clouds Roll By"

Douglas Fairbanks heads the program at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday in his latest United Artists release, "When the Clouds Roll By." Spectacular thrills, slapstick humor, and wildly farcical, yet oddly convincing situations are said to be the combination which makes this Fairbanks release another big success.

Doug takes the part of one Daniel Boone Brown, a young New Yorker, who is made the unwitting subject of the hypnotic experiments by a Dr. Metz, a "nut" scientist, who spoils his happy disposition in his uncle's brokerage office so thoroughly that he loses his job. Daniel attributes his ill luck to an opal ring which he throws away. It is picked up by Lucette Bancroft, a young Greenwich villager and they fall in love.

After much fun and excitement in the big city the scene shifts to Oklahoma, where the big scene of the picture takes place, it being the breaking of a huge dam and the subsequent flood which sweeps down upon a village, destroying it in a most spectacular manner.

Wednesday and Thursday brings Constance Talmadge to the Majestic in her latest triumph, "In Search of a Sinner" and with it comes the answer to the "Wanted: A Sinner!" signs that have been staring Wichitans in the face at every turn.

RANGER TRYING TO INTEREST CEMENT CONCERNS IN LOCATING PLANT THERE

Special to The Times.

DALLAS, TEX., May 8.—Ten million dollars will be spent in good roads improvement in the Ranger district besides several millions in building during the next two years, writes J. E. T. Peters, of the research repartment of the Texas chamber of commerce, and an effort is being made by that town to obtain a cement plant.

Cement contracts have not been let, according to Mr. Peters, indicating that much work is being delayed by the cement shortage.

Ranger's request for a cement plant has been taken up with five Texas cement concerns, with H. R. Herndon of the Portland Cement association, headquarters in Dallas, and with a number of outside concerns with a view to interesting them in establishing a plant in the west Texas oil center.

RETURNED MISSIONARY AT FREE METHODIST CHURCH

Miss Loula Williams, a returned missionary from Japan, will be with us at the Free Methodist church Sunday night at 8:00 and will bring the message, and give us a talk on her work; also the needs of work in that field. You will miss something if you fail to hear her. So please come and be with us.

Remember the place, Free Methodist church, corner of Fifth and Adams.

J. L. MANEN, Pastor.

Floral Heights Baptist Church.

Will observe Mother's Day Sunday at 11:00 o'clock. We hope for this to be the greatest day in the history of the church. Mothers and flowers will be a feature. Let all the candidates for baptism be ready for baptism at 3:00 p. m. Sunday, as there is barely a chance for the pastor to get to attend the Southern Baptist convention which meets in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday of next week. Brother and Sister L. B. Haines of San Antonio will sing at the mother's service Sunday at 11:00 a. m.—R. W. M'CANN, Pastor. Phone 2529.

Central Southern Presbyterian Church
Corner of Eleventh and Bluff

Those who come to Sunday school at 9:45 will be tard. Each teacher and each pupil should be in their places on time. Preaching at 11:00 o'clock in the morning, and at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. Mr. P. E. Moore will sing at the morning service. Christian Endeavor at 7:00 o'clock. Every department of this church is growing very rapidly. Special attention given to the reception of new members at each service. We make visitors "feel the welcome" that we extend in words.—GUY DAVIS, Pastor.

First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Veale will sing both morning and evening and there will be a male quartet in the evening. Dr. C. A. R. Janvier will speak at both hours. There will be given an opportunity for church membership and infant baptism at the morning hour. Our evening worship and prayer meeting will be held at 8:00 o'clock.—N. F. GRAFTON, Pastor.

Church of the Nazarene.
Corner of Bluff and Fifth

The revival is still on, having a great meeting. We are expecting a great day Sunday. 10:00 a. m. Sunday school. 11:00 a. m., old fashion bread and water love feast. 3:00 p. m., white slave lecture by Mrs. Mollie Collier. 7:30 p. m. praise service, followed by preaching. We will open the door of church Sunday. We want all true Nazarene in town to line up with us, and help push the cause. Been about 37 blessed at our altars in this meeting. Come and enjoy the feast with us Sunday. Ye are welcome.—DR. W. T. GIVENS, Pastor.

Free Methodist Church
Corner Fifth and Adams

The revival at the Free Methodist church continues with interest; souls are seeking and finding the Lord. Services tonight at 8:00 o'clock. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. The meeting will continue all next week. The public is invited to attend these meetings, so come and bring your friends and let us worship the Lord. —J. L. MANEN, Pastor.

First Methodist Church.

"A Night of Dreams." What do you think of dreams? A service of mystery at the First Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar, will be Sunday evening beginning at 8 o'clock. Come and take a trip through dreamland, while you are awake. Dr. P. E. Bingman will give an address on the philosophy of dreams, telling why people dream, and whether or not dreams have any significance. He states in part: "Dreaming like sleeping is one of the mysteries of our psychic life. For centuries dreams have had peculiar fascination for man. The world of dreams, because it was so distorted and so fantastic, has been interpreted as having an entirely different significance from the waking world. The occult significance of dreams have given another coloring to literature, folklore and even religion. Those who are interested are invited to hear a thorough discussion of the theme."

First Methodist Church South.

Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker makes the following announcement concerning his services on Sunday at the First Methodist Episcopal Church South, corner Tenth and Lamar: "Perhaps no picture in all the world is dearer to our hearts than the picture of mother in the various settings that memory gives. Some times she is in the old rocking chair, whose rockers were worn away by the rythmic movement she made while she was putting us to sleep. Some times she is in the kitchen frying doughnuts or making cookies. But whatever the background is her picture is the dearest in the world. That is why on Mothers' day I am going to preach on "Little Pictures of Mother in the Bible, the Heart and History." We hope to make this Mothers' Day service as tender and inspiring as a visit to the old home, where we used to play down in the orchard."

Mrs. Fulton's splendid choir will render special music. E. C. Huckabee will sing a special solo. Professor Krumpeln will give a pipe organ number.

At 9:30 a. m. Sunday School day will be observed with the Sunday school. This is a great special annual day, and the whole membership is expected to participate. At 7:45 p. m. Professor Krumpeln on the organ and Professor Littlefield with his orchestra will give a concert as a prelude to the night service. My subject at night will be "The Three Greatest Words in Any Language." Young men and young women will be made especially welcome by a corps of 10 young men and 10 young ladies who will act as ushers and reception committee.

Christian Science Society.

I. O. O. F. hall, Swarts-Wood building, 603 Scott avenue.—Sunday school 9:45 a. m.; lesson sermon, 11 a. m., subject "Adam and Fallen Man;" testimonial meeting 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. All pupils up to the age of 20 years are welcome to the Sunday school.

CLARK STREET MATTER BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, was appointed city health officer at Saturday morning's session of the city council. It is understood that Dr. Walker will resign the office of county health officer and will take over the duties of city health officer immediately upon his appointment being passed upon by the state board of health. Dr. Walker's name was presented by Councilman McFall, seconded by Councilman Bonner and passed by unanimous vote.

Permission was granted certain petitioners headed by former Mayor J. B. Marlow, to erect a gasoline filling station at Tenth and Broad streets. The petition requesting permission to extend water connections to the new plant of the People's Ice Company, Fifth street and Indiana avenue, under private contract, was referred to Councilman Bonner with privilege to act. Similar requests for sewer Extensions on Sixth and Van Buren streets were referred to Councilman McFall with privilege to act.

Much of Saturday forenoon's session was given over to discussion of the Clark street extension problem. Judge C. B. Felder appeared before the council seeking permission to construct sidewalks and parkway on a portion of the extension of Clark street beyond Thirteenth street. He told city councilmen that when contractors started to build sidewalks on this extension they were ordered off by the police department. Council held up final action until other property owners could be heard from and until a dedication abstract said to have been delivered to Clark street residents by Judge Felder could be examined by City Attorney Mann. Judge Felder asserts that while sidewalks and a parkway are being constructed on one side of the Clark street extension the same improvements are being held up on the opposite side due to a disagreement among property owners.

Martin So Weak he Could Hardly Stand Up

"I simply cannot find words to express my appreciation for the benefits I have received from Orgatone Treatment," said C. A. Martin, Fort Worth, Texas, in relating his experience with this treatment to the Orgatone representative. Mr. Martin is one of the best known carpenters and builders in that section.

"About two years ago," continued Mr. Martin, "my entire system seemed to become disorganized and I started going down hill and there wasn't a day that I felt like myself. I suffered severely with nervousness and had many bad falls in my line of work on account of same. My stomach was badly out of order which caused me a great deal of misery and inconvenience and I suffered from constipation continually. My body felt full of pain all over and I couldn't get any rest or sound sleep at all. I would almost have to force myself to get up in the morning. I just kept getting worse until I was all run-down and sick from my head to my feet and no kind of medicine seemed to do me a single bit of good. Finally I got so weak and irritable and so nervous and sick I couldn't go at all and was down in bed part of the time unable to work.

"Honestly, since I've been taking Orgatone I feel like a new man. All that weak, run-down condition has left me and I actually feel like I could work for fourteen hours without getting tired. My stomach troubles and constipation have been relieved and all the bad feelings caused by them are gone. You can tell the world that this new medicine has done all of this for me."

Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment absolutely free from alcohol in any form and is sold in Wichita Falls by the Young and Miller Drug Stores exclusively, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—(adv.)

RED CROSS WILL AID RELATIVES WHO GO TO FRANCE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Extensive preparations for assisting Wichita Falls parents, relatives and friends of American soldiers slain in France, who are planning visits to their graves in American military cemeteries there this summer are being made by the Red Cross, according to advices received from the Paris bureau of the Red Cross by Southwestern divisional headquarters of the Red Cross, St. Louis.

A Red Cross department staff, working in close cooperation with the graves registration service of the army, is now quartered with it at 3 Avenue d'Iena, Paris. Relatives and friends making inquiry at this address are furnished by the army with the number of the grave of their loved one. When this number is presented to the Red Cross officials on duty there, the visitor will have access to an individual photograph of the grave and the cemetery in which it is located, and provided with all necessary information as to transportation by the most direct routes to the cemetery and grave. The Red Cross will also provide free bus tickets for the bus lines it operates between the railroad stations and the cemeteries in the battle area, and to cemeteries not accessible by train.

At virtually all cemeteries in the battle area, hostess houses will offer a homelike atmosphere. These are established by the Red Cross and the Y. W. C. A. To add another sympathetic touch, a French personnel, mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts of French soldiers who gave their lives, will welcome the Americans. Thus the French will show their sincere appreciation for the Americans who have given of their own.

With the great tide of visitors already setting in, France has made preparations for the reception of 300,000 from the United States and Great Britain. Paris hotels will be able to handle all incoming visitors, but more difficulty will be experienced in the out-lying towns, thus the "rest houses" established by the Red Cross where temporary accommodation will be provided for small parties of visitors will prove of great value.

In the Romagne cemetery, on the green plain of Verdun, stand 20,000 white crosses, marking the graves of slain Americans. More than 23,000 Americans are buried in the Argonne cemetery, the largest American burial ground in France.

In this cemetery, 140 men, under the direction of the best known landscape gardener in France, are at work beautifying the site. Nature has not had time to embellish this desolate stretch of land where some of the fiercest fighting of the war occurred, but the gardner, who for 30 years has been employed by the presidents of France to beautify government properties, will employ all his skill in transforming it into a scenic spot before the great influx of visitors begins.

In these cemeteries, sacred to every American, flowers will bloom through the spring, summer and autumn months: Daffodils and crocuses in the spring, yellow dahlias and asters in the summer, and chrysanthemums in the autumn.

Sunday and Monday at 2:00 p. m. at the Eldora Hotel, consult the noted character scientist, Prof. Howard R. Whiteside, Phrenologist, Physiognomist and Graphologist. He can tell you all about the characterists of yourself or your friends, from your head, face or handwriting. You will be glad you consulted him. 2:00 p. m. Sunday and Monday at Eldora Hotel. 344-1tp

MRS. SPENCER HOSTESS TO HONOR HOUSE GUEST

Honoring her house guest, Mrs. Paul Donald of Bowie, Mrs. Charles F. Spencer entertained with a delightful rose luncheon on Friday, at the Charlotte Kemp Hall. The roses and ferns supplied the color motif of pink and green which was featured in the various luncheon arrangement. The centerpiece of roses was cornered with candles in crystal holders, tied with pink and green tulle, and the place cards and nut cups were in flower effect. The delectable menu comprised: Grape fruit cocktail, chicken a la king, corn fritters, mixed pickles, hot biscuits and jelly; lobster salad and saratoga wafers; frozen charlotte russe and cake, and coffee.

Covers were laid for the following guests: Mrs. Paul Donald, the honoree; Mesdames T. P. Adams, C. R. Hartsook, O. E. Maer, W. G. Brailey, W. W. Cook, P. P. Langford, T. B. Noble, W. J. GIRLS CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS; PLANS SUMMER

Installation of officers and plans for the participation in the Y. W. C. A. summer camp, to be held during the summer months in Young county, near Newcastle, featured the meeting of the High School Girls Club of the Y. W. C. A. held Thursday night at the school. The officers installed were: Margarita Fisher, president; Helen Snider, vice president; Elizabeth Smith, secretary; Grayce D. Shamburger, treasurer.

Miss DuBose, the new Y. W. general secretary for Wichita Falls, was present for the first time, and made an interesting talk to the club members, regarding the opening of the new Y. W. quarters, in the Anderson building on Eighth street, and the membership luncheon, which the Girls Club voted to serve. She also discussed the summer camp plans, in which the girls were much interested, making enthusiastic plans for participation in the good times which the camp will offer.

Mrs. E. S. Goodner also made an interesting talk, and Miss Joe Betsy Miller provided a musical program that was much enjoyed.

MRS. DONALD RETURNS TO HOME IN BOWIE

Mrs. Paul Donald, who has been the house guest of Mrs. C. F. Spencer, 1621 Eleventh street, for the past several days, since returning from the Federation meeting at Amarillo, returned Saturday to her home in Bowie. Mrs. Donald was especially honored at Amarillo, being elected first vice president of the district, the youngest club woman to be so honored, it is said, in the history of the federation.

Mrs. Donald's stay was marked by numerous social courtesies in her honor, every day seeing it's pleasant occurrence, most of them quite informal.

CLIFFORD BELL CORP. SUIT IS TRANSFERRED TO FEDERAL COURT

The big civil proceedings filed sometime ago in the 78th district court against the Turnbow Oil Corporation by the Clifford-Bell Sales Company in which debt to the extent of $46,800 are sought and a receiver for certain holdings of the defendant is urged has been transferred to federal court and will be tried here perhaps in June, it was announced on Saturday by A. F. Kerr, district clerk. Motion for removal to the United States court was made by council for the defendant on the grounds that the Turnbow Oil Corporation is a Delaware corporation, while the plaintiff is a Texas concern. The plaintiff waived his right to contest removal and the case is now scheduled for an early trial before a federal judge.

In the original petition filed several weeks ago, the Clifford-Bell interests allege that a contract was entered into between the plaintiff and the Interstate Oil & Refining company by which the later obligated itself to supply the Clifford-Bell interests with 200 tank cars of Burkburnett crude oil at $1.45 the barrel. The plaintiff avers that but 20 cars were delivered and that the remaining 180 barrels were never delivered, according to contract. It is further alleged in the petition that the Turnbow Oil Corporation assumed control of the Interstate Oil & Refining company by the terms of an agreement entered into on January 22, 1920. The plaintiff alleges that the Turnbow Oil Corporation is therefore obligated to pay the indebtedness of the concern whose holdings were taken over. Among the properties formerly belonging to the Interstate Oil & Refining company which were taken over by the Turnbow Oil Corporation is a refinery tract, pipe line connections, loading rack and approximately 400 barrels of daily production in the northwest extension field. The plaintiff urges in their original petition that a receiver be appointed for the holdings of the Interstate Oil & Refining company which were taken over by the Turnbow Oil Corporation. The request for a receiver are made on the grounds that the former holdings of the Interstate Oil & Refining company are not being properly handled by the Turnbow Oil Corporation. The refinery site alluded to in the request for a receiver is said to be located on the E. T. Mitchell survey.

MRS. BEN BELL GIVES STUDENTS' RECITAL SATURDAY

Mrs. Ben M. Bell presented several of her piano pupils in recital on Saturday May 8, at her home, 806 Denver. The recital was of a peasant social nature, the parents and friends of the students being present.

Since the spring study season closes in a few weeks, this recital practically marks the close of Mrs. Bell's classes, and she took this occasion to present each student with a book, the life of some of the famous musicians and composers. Refreshments were served at the close of the program, and a social half hour enjoyed.

The program follows:

Shepherd's Song—Behr—Mary Delaney.

Barcolle—Bessie Petty.

Tarantelle—Heller Op. 85; Serenata—Moszkowski Op. 15 No. 1—Lucile Smith.

Etude—Friml—Willa Maye Tullis.

Duet Intermezzo—Gillet — Lucile Smith and Willa Maye Tullis.

Gypsy Dance; Dollie's Dream—Lamar Johnson.

Mazourka de Ballet—Atherton—Isabel Johnson.

Forest Brooklet—Snindler; Intermezzo—Harry Rowe Shelly — Lucile Smith.

"FRAGRANT FLOWERS."
(By Mrs. W. A. McGee).

Oh! the beautiful, beautiful flowers,
God made them for his own—
They are so pure and holy;
His likeness they have shown.

Oh! the frangrance of the flowers,
Fills the air with sweet perfume—
And earth seems more like heaven;
When the "flowers" are in bloom.

Human lives, are "sacred flowers,"
Which should bloom for God and man,
Ever frangrant with ardent devotion;
For love and kindness, is God's plan.

Do not plant your life with "thistles,"
If 'twould yield all "thornless roses"—
For their fragrance, and their beauty;
ty;
Are unrivalled by such posies.

MORNING SIDE PARK HOMES NOW BEING COMPLETED

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fenton are now in their new Morning Side Park home, the handsome colonial house at 402 Morning Side Drive. The Fenton home is the first of the handsome residences in this exclusive new district to be occupied, and the J. F. Lauck residence is rapidly nearing completion, Mr. and Mrs. Lauck being in part possession of their home, while the builders are completing the remainder. This addition, just started in the spring, has grown rapidly under the hands of its originators, Harry S. Baum and J. F. Lauck, the latter the architect of the highly distinctive and original residences now under construction. The landscaping, the miniature lake at the foot of the tiny hill on the east side of the drive, the artistic entrance and driveways, and the distinctive type of architecture make this addition a harmonious whole that is a thing of beauty, even in the practically creative stage at present, and promises much for the future.

The English house, at the entrance, is now completed and furnished, and belongs to the Morning Side Park Co., ready for sale. Harry S. Baum and Leslie Tourney have houses practically finished, and a second house belonging to the park company is under construction on the west side of the drive. Among those who will have homes in this park as soon as building conditions are more stable are: Claude Woods, C. J. Barnard, Merrill W. Blair, E. C. Dosch, Dr. J. P. Lowry and H. F. Lowry.

CITY NATIONAL BANK OF COMMERCE HAS ONE LARGEST AND STRONGEST BOARDS OF ANY BANK IN THE SOUTH

The strength and security of a financial institution is determined, more than through any other agency, by the standing, ability and financial responsibility of its officers and directors. In this respect, the City National Bank of Commerce is probably unequalled in the south, with one of the largest and strongest boards in the country, composed of prominent and eminently successful men from a great variety of business and professions. The following names on the list of directors speak for themselves:

T. P. Adams, one of the pioneer and most successful independent operators in the North Texas oil fields, a heavy investor in Wichita Falls real estate, and a public spirited citizen taking a prominent part in the civic activities of Wichita Falls. Mr. Adams is one of the prominent members of the Wichita Club, one of the leading civic organizations of the city.

Orville Bullington, senior member of the law firm of Bullington, Boone, Humphrey & Hoffman, one of the most prominent and influential law firms of North Texas. Mr. Bullington is also one of the original investors in oil properties in the Wichita county field, and the owner of valuable production in several of the principal pools of the county.

A. H. Britain, member of the law firm of Carrigan, Britain, Montgomery, Britain & Morgan, one of the leading and most successful law firms in the state. Mr. Britain, in addition to being one of the most prominent members of the local bar, has taken a leading part in the civic activities of Wichita Falls, serving four years as mayor of the city, and taking a leading part in the drafting of the present city charter. Mr. Britain is also heavily interested in Wichita Falls real estate.

N. B. Chenault, one of the prominent independent oil operators, and member of the firm of Langford, Staley & Chenault, one of the largest independent oil firms in the state and owners of the largest production in Wichita county aside from a very few of the large oil corporations.

J. W. Culbertson, a large independent oil operator and capitalist. One of the principal owners of the Wichita Motors Co. Prominent in civic activities, particularly in religious and welfare work. Elder of First Presbyterian church. Member of Rotary and Wichita Clubs.

R. A. Furlow, independent oil operator with interests in both North and South Texas fields, and drilling contractor in a large way.

W. B. Hamilton, vice president and general manager of the Texhoma Oil and Refining companies, one of the strongest and most successful independent oil companies in North Texas. Member of the Wichita Club.

C. R. Hartsook, member of firm of Hartsook & Stripling, leading specialists in this section of the state. Also interested in Wichita Falls real estate. Prominent in civic activities and one of the most influential members of the Rotary Club.

Leslie Humphrey, member of law firm of Bullington, Boone, Humphrey & Hoffman. Also interested in Wichita county oil production, and Wichita Falls real estate. Former district attorney.

Roy B. Jones, head of the Panhandle Refining Co., and its subsidiaries, one of the strongest and most successful independent oil corporations.

P. P. Langford, active vice president of the City National Bank of Commerce, and one of the officials of the City National Bank for nearly 30 years, his connection with this institution being second in point of time to only one other official. One of the pioneer independent oil operators, not only individually but as a member of the firm of Langford, Staley & Chenault. Probably the first of the local bankers to appreciate the possibilities of the oil industry in this section of the state, and probably more than any other one individual responsible for its present development.

J. L. McMahon, vice president City National Bank of Commerce. Superintendent in this district for the Texas Co.

W. Newton Maer, vice president City National Bank of Commerce. Independent oil operator and heavily interested in Wichita Falls realty.

J. J. Perkins, capitalist and oil operator. Head of the Perkins-Timberlake and associated chains of dry goods and department stores, one of the principal owners of the Belknap Coal Co. of Newcastle, and, associated with Frank Kell and R. O. Harvey, interested in large oil properties in the North and North Central Texas oil fields.

L. F. Ramming, retired farmer, independent oil operator, and interested in valuable Wichita county production.

T. T. T. Reese, retirer banker, formerly an official of the City National bank. Heavily interested in Wichita Falls realty.

W. W. Silk, prominent independent oil operator. Active in civic and religious affairs. Member of Wichita Club.

C. F. Spencer, attorney and interested in valuable oil properties in various fields throughout this district.

C. B. Woods, vice president and general manager of the Woodburn Oil Corporation, member of the firm of Holbrook & Woods, dealers in oil properties and interested in Wichita Falls business property.

O. T. Bacon, large owner of Wichita Falls business property and one of the pioneer business men of the city. Active in public affairs. Served several terms as postmaster of Wichita Falls.

C. E. Basham, active vice president City National Bank of Commerce and veteran Northwest Texas banker, having served for 20 years as cashier of the Waggoner National bank at Vernon before coming to Wichita Falls.

Fred C. Barron, assistant cashier City National Bank of Commerce, and for a number of years associated in official capacity with Wichita Falls banks.

C. H. Clark, vice president City National Bank of Commerce and one of the largest independent oil operators with large interests throughout north and south Texas, Texas Panhandle and various Oklahoma fields. President of Red River, Shamrock and Masters Oil companies.

J. A. Fisher, independent oil operator and member of firm of Fisher & Gilliland, large independent oil operators, and owners of valuable producing properties.

W. J. Grisham, investor in Wichita Falls realty, and interested in valuable oil properties. Dealer in real estate and oil properties.

J. T. Harrell, active vice president City National Bank of Commerce, the newest addition to the official family of the bank. Formerly Iowa banker and president Clarinda National bank, Clarinda, Ia.

R. O. Harvey, vice president City National Bank of Commerce, president R. O. Havrey & Co., cotton buyers, president Wichita Falls Grain and Stock Exchange and large independent oil operator, in association with Frank Kell and J. J. Perkins.

R. L. Hargrave, prominent physician and head of the Hargrave hospital, Wichita Falls.

J. A. Kemp, president City National Bank of Commerce, and for 28 years president City National bank. Capitalist, railroad builder, and oil operator. Was prime mover in organization and building of city's second railroad, and prominent in the organization and building of two others. Also one of the organizers of the Wichita Falls Water company, Wichita Falls Electric company, Wichita Motors company, Wichita Falls Traction company, Blair-Hughes Wholesale Grocer company, Wichita Falls Window Glass company and a number of other industrial enterprises. Also largely interested in the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, and a number of smaller oil companies, including Kemp-Munger-Allen Oil company. Chairman of board of directors Wichita County Irrigation District No. 1, and principally responsible for the passage of the irrigation amendment to the Texas constitution, for which he worked for 20 years, and which makes possible the projected big Wichita irrigation project. Member of the board of regents, University of Texas, of the Rotary, Wichita and Elks' clubs, a Shriner and of other Masonic bodies, and member of First Presbyterian church.

J. J. Lory, vice president City National Bank of Commerce, capitalist and owner of Wichita Falls real property. One of the organizers of the National Bank of Commerce, and chairman of the board of directors practically from its organization.

S. A. L. Morgan, member of the law firm of Carrigan, Montgomery, Britain and Morgan.

N. H. Martin, vice president Texhoma Oil and Refining company, capitalist and heavily interested in Wichita Falls and Wichita county real estate.

C. W. Reid, active vice president City National Bank of Commerce and organizer and president National Bank of Commerce. Also interested in Wichita Falls realty and industrial enterprises and of oil properties in the Wichita county pools. Active in civic, social and religious activities. President Wichita club and Senor Warden Episcopal church. Shriner and member of other Masonic bodies. Also interested in a number of other banks in this section of the state.

Hugh Reilly, pioneer ranchman of northwest Texas and New Mexico. Owner of valuable oil lands.

W. L. Robertson, active vice president City National Bank of Commerce and oldest of the officials of the bank in point of his connection with the City National bank.

R. E. Shepherd, cashier City National Bank of Commerce, and formerly cashier in turn of both the National Bank of Commerce and the City National bank. Burkburnett banker before removing to Wichita Falls, having been cashier of Farmers State bank at that place. Interested in Wichita Falls and Burkburnett realty and in oil properties in the Burkburnett pools.

C. W. Snider, active vice president City National Bank of Commerce, and active in business, social and religious activities. Exercised personal supervision over the building of the new City National Bank building and of the new hotel, the Hotel Kemp. Heavily interested in Wichita Falls real property, local industrial enterprises, and interested in some of the most valuable oil production in this part of the state. Member of the Wichita club and of the board of stewards, First M. E. Church South. In charge of the building plans for the new Methodist hospital.

L. F. Stripling, vice president City National Bank of Commerce, prominent specialist, member of the firm of Hartsook & Stripling. Was one of the organizers of the National Bank of Commerce.

F. P. Warren, farmer and owner of valuable production in Wichita county. President of the International Oil company.

R. L. PENICK IS THE J. A. KEMP OF STAMFORD—ABOUT TO SEE WATER SUPPLY DREAM REALIZED

STAMFORD, TEX., May 8.—What J. A. Kemp is to Wichita Falls, R. L. Penick is to Stamford.

Like Mr. Kemp, Mr. Penick has supported every movement for public improvement. Like Mr. Kemp he has labored and dreamed for his city.

Born in Missouri on the 18th day of August, 1862, R. L. Penick, pioneer hardware man of West Texas and builder of Stamford, moved from that state to Kentucky with his parents while only a baby.

At the age of 21, Mr. Penick started for Texas and settled in a little western town now known as Anson, just a few miles from what later became the thriving town of Stamford. This was in March, 1884. In June of that same year he opened his first hardware store in that place, and after doing business there for a few years he moved his house and store to Stamford. On the 7th of January he had his place ready for business and just two days later the Bank of Stamford was opened for business. At that time the nearest house to the bank was one mile. So far as is known, this is the first time a bank has opened for business so far from a business house.

Mr. Penick's stock of hardware was very small at that time, the business being capitalized at only $20,000. From the opening day the business has experienced a wonderful growth, and today there are branch houses in several places over the state. Recently there has just been completed a most modern warehouse in Wichita Falls. No sooner was this completed than he was confronted with the fact that something else must be done, for that one place could not take care of the business, and so it was that the contract was let for another to be built on Ohio avenue.

Mr. Penick remained active in the business only for a short time and then began his campaign of development. Eight years later he went back to the hardware business, which had only moved one door from where it was when he left it.

Mr. Penick has a particular hobby for chickens. At first he began to raise them for his own use, but like everything else he undertakes he soon found the business of raising chickens a growing and profitable one, and today he says it rivals his hardware business. He will sit for hours and talk about chickens. If the topic is Rhode Island Reds, so much the better, for they are his favorites.

From the time that the first business house opened its doors in Stamford there has been one great drawback which has not allowed it to occupy its rightful place among other cities of the state. This drawback has been the one great problem of water supply. It was at this critical time, after years of crop failures, that Mr. Penick dreamed of a large lake of water that would furnish an unlimited supply of water to the city. In a short time his dream began to be a realization and today Stamford can boast of a lake of water which ranks third in the state. This lake, now known as Lake Penick, has a water shed of over 2,000 square miles, and a capacity of three billion gallons.

This lake is connected with a settling basin one mile long and which has a capacity of 42,000,000,000 gallons. This basin is situated much higher than either Stamford or the lake, Stamford being on one side of the hill and the lake on the other. The basin was constructed higher than the city or lake because there is no natural gravity flow to the city. The water in flowing over the dam into the lake will pump itself into the basin.

The basin is built similar to the letter S. The water will go from the lake to the first compartment of the basin, where it will be allowed to settle. From there it will go to the second and so on until it is purified.

The settling process will require a period of six months, but by the time it is ready for use by the city it will be as pure as water can be made. A large pipe line will convey the water from the basin to the city. So it can easily be seen that never again shall Stamford want for water, but on the contrary they are thinking of furnishing Anson and several other nearby towns with an abundant supply.

But Mr. Penick did not stop with the building of this great lake, for no sooner were his plans completed than he saw a wonderful opportunity to make a beautiful park and pavillion on the banks of the lake. Before his plans for the park were well under way he found that the nearest public road to that place was 17 miles away. No sooner did he find this out than he began to move the road. In a short time there will be completed the most modern and up-to-date railway in this section of the state. Soon after he began the construction of this road he found that it was necessary to bridge a certain place and so he let the contract for a bridge that will cost $10,000, when completed.

Having succeeded at all of this, he again turned his attention to the making of the park. A peculiar feature about this park is that it is within a short distance of six towns, the farthest being only 22 miles away. Their respective distances are as follows: 6 miles from Anson, 22 miles from Abilene, 20 miles from Albany, 18 miles from Stamford, 6 miles from Luricles, and 10 miles from Levaca. All these may reach the park and lake by the newly constructed road.

These are only a few of the things which Mr. Penick has done toward the betterment of Stamford. To sum up Mr. Penick's various activities it may be added that he has held many important offices, a few of which have been: Organizer and manager of the first Stamford Chamber of Commerce, which had its headquarters in a tent; chairman of the board of education at the time the college was built; chairman of the building committee for the erection of the public library; chairman of the building committee for the erection of the First Baptist Church; chairman of the railroad building committee, which was largely responsible for the bringing of the roads to Stamford. He has twice been elected mayor and is now serving the third year of his second term. All this he has done for Stamford, and yet he is just in the prime of life.

Screen Siftings

Jack Pickford, having finished his second Goldwyn picture, "Double Dyed Deceiver," expects to start work within a few days on "The Man Who Had Everything," under the direction of Al Green.

Olive Thomas, Selznick star, is expected on the west coast in a few days, where her next production will be made. It will also be the reunion of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pickford, having been separated for several months by motion picture contracts, which kept Miss Thomas in New York and Jack Pickford on the coast.

Ann May has been selected by Charles Ray as leading woman for "Peaceful Valley," his first National production.

Robert Gordon, Blackton star, has been loaned to Vitagraph for the production of "Dollars and the Woman" with Alice Joyce.

Ralph Bushman, son of Farncis X. Bushman, is to make his debut soon in Goldwyn pictures in Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Empire Builders," under the direction of E. Mason Hooper. It is said young Bushman is a "chip off the old block."

Shirley Mason and her sister, Viola Dana, are planning to vacation together in Arizona, where Miss Mason has mining interests.

Gov. William D. Stephens of California spent Monday visiting the Goldwyn studios at Culver City. The governor and his party were escorted through the studio by Abraham Lehr, vice president. The governor is a great movie fan.

Bert Lytell is the recipient of a hand-made horsehair and silver belt, which was a gift to him from the convicts of the Arizona state prison.

Miss Helen Taft, youngest college president in the world and daughter of former president William H. Taft, was a recent visitor at the Metro studio in Los Angeles.

Texas Guinan, while on location last week, gathered some pretty oak leaves with which to fashion a wreath. The doctor says she'll be able to put on a makeup in about three weeks.

Maj. Bob Warwick and Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) have been enjoying a vacation ever since completing the major's last picture at Lasky's. Bob tried to induce the Kid to take up golfing, but Norman declared that it would interfere too seriously with his polo.

Grace Darmond makes her debut on the Goldwyn lot in the new Pauline Fredereck picture "Roads of Destiny," which Frank Lloyd is directing.

Mildred Harris Chaplin, who recently suffered from sea-sickness while getting marine "shots" of the California coast, believes with many others that "Pacific" is a misnomer for the western sea.

Fay Tincher, after enjoying a three months' vacation from screen work, is toiling once more in a Christie comedy directed by Bill Beaudine and called "Belinda's Bluff."

Scratching is now an art among the players of the Goldwyn picture "Scratch My Back," by Rupert Hughes. Among those who are competing for the championship are T. Roy Barnes, Helene Chadwick, one black cat, a Roman Emperor and one Scotchman.

Wanda Hawley, a full-fledged Realart star, now fully realizes her advancement, as she has been given the star's dressing room at the Realart studio in Los Angeles.

Now that the Pacific League ball season has opened, the west coast studios found it difficult to locate their male stars on the days the Los Angeles team played at home, until one of the "Big Chiefs" himself happened to visit the ball park recently, on the sly, as he thought, but to his great dismay found three of his own stars sitting in the grandstand with numerous others from the various studios. Now the cat is out of the bag.

The art department of the Goldwyn studios in Culver City, Calif., was taxed to the limit in erecting the gorgeous sets used in "The Slim Princess" starring Mabel Normand.

CROW ELKHART AGENCY IS BEING OPENED HERE

A Crow-Elkhart agency is being opened in Wichita Falls. F. W. Dilliard is the owner. The salesroom will be located at 609 Tenth street.

Mr. Dilliard is favorably known in Wichita Falls having been engaged in the automobile business here before entering military service and during the war was an instructor in aviation at Call Field.

The Crow-Elkhart is a multi-powered car equipped with a Rutenber motor. It is made in both four and six-cylinders.

Mr. Dilliard will operate a service station in connection with his agency.

Notice of Removal.

Dr. L. Coons wishes to notify his friends and the public in general of the removal of his office from 302 First National building to Room 508 Kemp & Keil building. 339-7tc.

The officers and directors of the City National Bank of Commerce are men prominent in the work of making Wichita Falls the leading city of the great southwest. The bank itself has ever taken an important part in the upbuilding of the city. 344-1tc

BUREAU ECONOMIC GEOLOGY ISSUES NEW BULLETINS

AUSTIN, TEX., May 8.—Among the several interesting reports recently issued by the bureau of economic geology of the University of Texas is the one on "Geology of East Texas." It was written by E. T. Dumble, former head of the Texas geological survey, and submitted to the bureau for publication through the courtesy of the Southern Pacific Railway company, for whom Dr. Dumble is now geologist. The report covers the larger part of East Texas, with particular reference to that portion lying directly east of the Sabina river from Navarro county on the north and Burleson county on the south. The area thus bounded is covered by a geologic map in colors. The report, which is No. 1869 of University publications, is 388 pages in length and contains numerous illustrations.

Another publication by the bureau, just from press, is bulletin No. 1945, a quarto edition, by W. S. Adkins and W. M. Winton, on the "Correlation of the Fredericksburg and Washita formations." This paper was prepared with a view to making it useful to the average reader interested in the subject. It contains a number of excellent halftone plates of the various key fossils of the two formations named.

There have also been recently issued two handy volumes, bulletins 1814 and 1839, the first being a compilation of chemical analyses of a wide variety of Texas materials, from rocks of all sorts, fuels, clays, etc., to mineral waters. Some 3,000 or more analyses are given. Bulltein 1839 is a description of available road material deposits over the greater part of the state, arranged by counties.

Dr. J. A. Udden, director of the bureau of economic geology, states that the reports on Bexar and Tarrant counties, for which many inquiries have been made, are still delayed in press on account of general labor conditions and the recent shipping strikes. The paper shortage is also to be contended with, and the lithographers have not yet been able to complete the geologic map which accompanies each report, he said. It is hoped, however, that both of these reports will be available by July 1.

A detailed geologic map of the North Central Texas oil field region, to be accompanied by a geologic report and a paleontologic paper covering that area are ready for publication.

SHORTAGE OF CAMELS PREVENTS U. S. FROM EATING CAMEL STEAKS

NEW YORK, May 8.—Camel steaks, now on the market in Paris, will never help meet the food shortage in the United States. Reason—Shortage of camels.

Dr. W. T. Hornaday, director of the New York zoological gardens, said today that double humped Bactrian camels aren't to be had for love or money, although the dromedary is more plentiful.

No samples of animals have reached this country from Asia since 1914 on account of the war. Dr. Hornaday stated that there was also a shortage of African elephants, hippos, giraffes and antelopes.

The first load of animals sent to this country in four years will sail from Pretoria, South Africa, the latter part of June. Thirty-five large African animals and a large number of smaller animals will be included. The entire collection will go to the zoological societies of New York and Philadelphia.

One giraffe, a 10-footer—is in the group. However, there are no camels and the prohibition enforcement societies who have not obtained their mascots will have to go without the Bactrian another six months at least.

Convenience should not be the only determining factor when selecting your bank. However, in addition to its location, the City National Bank of Commerce has a record for safety due to large capital and surplus, a good management and the character of its depositors. 344-1tc

BUSINESS COUNCIL WOULD POSTPONE ROAD BUILDING

Sentiment strongly favoring the postponement of road building in Wichita county until bonds voted could be sold at better advantage and until road building becomes less costly developed at the meeting of the business council of the chamber of commerce Friday night.

Following a discussion that took up nearly the entire session of the council, a committee comprised of A. H. Britain, P. B. Cox and C. E. McCutchen was named to confer with similar committees from other organizations for the purpose of securing modifications of the contract between the county and Potts and Prentice, the road building contractors, and preferably a postponement of road building altogether until conditions improve.

The road contract was brought to the attention of the council by F. W. Weeks, who appeared before it upon invitation. Mr. Weeks called attention to clauses in the contract, which he explained were highly advantageous to the contractors and gave the county no protection.

He expressed the opinion that the contrart was unenforcable.

A. H. Britain, R. E. Shepherd and P. B. Cox discussed the road building question. It developed in the discussion that the market for bonds was considerably below par and that it would not be possible to market the county's bonds at anything like par. The opinion was expressed that the bonds could not be sold now for more than 91 cents on the dollar.

All the speakers expressed the opinion that it would be best to defer building the roads until better results could be gotten for the expenditure of the money. P. B. Cox and R. E. Shepherd told of the pressure that had been exerted upon the commissioners to get the road building under way. None of the speakers placed any blame upon the commissioners in the matter.

VERNON CHAMBER COMMERCE PLANS MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Special to The Times.

VERNON, TEX., May 8.—A definite program of work for the Vernon Chamber of Commerce was adopted by the directors last night. This program calls for eight concrete projects to which the chamber has pledged itself to put over.

Building a modern sanitarium, naming streets and numbering houses, improving Vernon's postoffice facilities, bridging Red River, encouraging Vernon merchants to put on a special sales day on one day in each month, monthly smoker-meetings for the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, organizing a Rotary Club, and encouraging the county authorities to drag the county roads after rains—these things compose the program of the Chamber of Commerce. Each proposition is to be in the hands of a committee who have been selected by the directors for their ability to do things. Each committee will have at its call the aid of the office force in getting information and data.

The directors unanimously invited the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce to visit Vernon with a trade excursion. The directors also decided to have weekly meetings on Thursday evenings. These meetings will begin at 6:30 o'clock at which time lunch will be served. The meeting place is the directors' room of the Chamber of Commerce.

Vernon has long needed a sanitarium, the physicians and surgeons say. It is the plan of the Chamber of Commerce to build a fire-proof brick structure which will be a unit in a larger sanitarium to be built up a unit at a time as Vernon grows. Present plans call for a total expenditure of $60,000, location, building and equipment all included. J. L. Showers is chairman of the committee to see that this sanitarium is built. His colleagues are Dr. T. A. King, Dr. M. J. Moore, A. C. Rayzor and R. H. Coffee. Almost $37,500 has been pledged and of this amount practically one-fourth has been paid down.

DRILLING ACTIVITY VICINITY OF DEVOL BEING INCREASED

DEVOL, OKLA., May 8.—Since the bona fide offering of $10,000 from the chamber of commerce, oil activity has increased within the Devol district. Recently the chamber of commerce made up the above purse for a commercial well within a certain radius of Devol. At that time the Riverdale Oil and Gas company, with its rig erected on the northeast quarter of Section 4, 4-13 west, were at a standstill. So sure of production it stimulated the company to raise the proper funds to commence drilling. Machinery is now being placed and the company expects to spud in within the next three or four days. Acreage is selling for $100 in this neighborhood.

The Martha Jane Oil company, which has been shut down at 1,000 are preparing to commence operations at once. This company is composed of Joplin, Mo., capitalists, and they report a fine showing, and are making an effort to capture the $10,000 bonus offered by the Devol chamber of commerce for the first paying well within a certain radius of this place. They are located on the northeast of Section 13, 4-13.

A location has been made by a company to drill on the southeast quarter of Section 14, 4-13. Some local parties are interested and have procured a charter for the organization. This is said to be a very favorable location and is looked forward to with much interest.

The Devol Oil and Gas company has been granted a charter to drill on the northeast of Section 13, 4-13, which is only about one mile northeast of the Devol townsite. The location is on what is favorably known as the Cook dome, which is claimed by geologists to be a continuation of the Burkburnett dome. This location was made by Munn and has been looked upon by all oil experts as the logical place to drill in this section. A contract is to be let at once and operation is to begin within 30 days. Already many leases in this section are bringing fancy figures and interest increases as the days go by. The effect of the move is already being felt in business circles of this place.

The City National Bank of Commerce is called the "oil men's bank" because it has played such an important part in the rapid development of the Wichita Falls oil industry. Its record is one of rapid progress limited only by restrictions insuring the safety of money intrusted to its care.

12,413 SCHOLASTICS IN WICHITA COUNTY ENUMERATION SHOWS

Complete scholastic census of Wichita county announced on Saturday by E. C. Hill, county school superintendent, show 12,413 scholastics which is an increase of 4,012 over that of 1919. Scholastic census in 1919 totaled 8,401.

Scholastic census by independent districts follow: Wichita Falls, 5,894; Electra, 1,405; Burkburnett, 2,328; Iowa Park, 467; rural school districts, 2,319. Scholastic census for the same districts last year follows: Wichita Falls, 4,200; Iowa Park, 299; Electra, 1,142; Burkburnett, 975; common school districts, 1,738. Increases over last year are: Wichita Falls, 1,694; Burkburnett, 1,333; Iowa Park, 168; Electra, 263; common school districts, 581.

Scholastic increases for Wichita Falls and Burkburnett are among the largest percentages of increase reported in the state, Superintendent Hall said.

AMERICAN CARS WILL NOT FLOOD BRITISH MARKET

Much of the talk of an American invasion in England—the flooding of English markets with a large quantity of cheap motor cars has really no basis of fact. This is the opinion of Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company, Inc., who recently completed a careful investigation abroad of the sales possibilities of American cars in England, France and other European countries.

English manufacturers now know of the tremendous demand of motor cars in America and the inability of American manufacturers to satisfy this demand much before the spring of 1921. On the other hand, the light car about which he have heard a great deal as being developed in England and France, will not offer serious competition in the American market.

Such cars as have been produced are much too small, with too limited clearance to satisfy the requirements of American roads.

Those small cars which have been produced by a few of the high-grade makers for competition in the markets of the world, are very nicely built, but if the present prices are in any way indicative of the cost of production, they will not offer serious competition for some time to come.

Instead of worrying about foreign competition or the invasion of French markets, the demand for motor cars throughout New England and other parts of the country has been so great that this circumstance for the time being at least can be readily dismissed from our minds.

SHIP-BY-TRUCK ADDS NEW WORD TO LANGUAGE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—How the Ship by Truck movement is adding new words to the language is one of the evidences of the remarkable hold which the latest method of transportation has taken upon the imagination of the country.

In certain sections where arrangements for tours are being made to be held in connection with the Ship by Truck, Good Roads Week, May 17-22, the word "motorcade" has been put forth to convey the idea of a train or caravan of motor trucks in line, the new word presumably being taken or derived from "cavalcade." The word "truckportation" also has come into being in order to shorten the phrase "motor truck transportation."

Whether these new words which have been coined by enthusiastic advocates of the Ship by Truck movement ever will become respectable and take their place among the elite components of the dictionary may be questioned, but having been created they must now take their place, it is said, either in the language or "slanguage" of the American people. Certain authorities are inclined to be doubtful whether they ever will come into general usage.

A combination of electric dish washer and sink is a new device which will facilitate the kitchen work by enabling the housewife to side-step some of the drudgery of that part of the domestic establishment.

The new Hermes of the British navy is equipped to carry several airplanes and has a landing stage from which the planes may take off and alight. This is England's first craft of this kind.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

It is very important to drain the carburetor at least every two or three days. Open the drain cock at the bottom of the carburetor and let the sediment which collects in the bowl pass out.

Failure of the circulation in the water system will probably be due to the lack of water, a sheared impeller key, broken pump shaft, leaky pump, sediment, old hose lining or a frozen water line.

In case the lights fail because of trouble in the system, it is possible to operate them directly from the generator by disconnecting and tapping the battery leads separately to prevent possible shorts.

Spring clips that are kept too tight will likely cause the springs to break and to avoid such troubles, it is well to apply the wrench occasionally to these parts.

A rattle in the spring clip may be remedied by wrapping the lower part with tire tape, just enough to prevent the movement that causes the rattle. The tape may be painted over to match the color of the spring so as not to make an unsightly mark on the vehicle.

When valves are badly pitted the operation of facing is best carried out in a lathe. Chuck the valve stem and clean the center in the valve end and support it by the dead center of the tail stock. If the valves are so hard that facing with a tool is impossible they may be ground with a wheel while in the lathe.

Every self-starter should be inspected every month, also the steering wheel and steering knuckles should be given a test at the same time so as to make sure that they are working in true form.

To ascertain the positive and negative terminals of a battery by neabe of a glass of water, the water should have some salt or electrolyte in it to make it a better conductor. The wires are placed in the solution and care should be taken not to let the ends touch. Hydrogen bubbles will form on the negative wire.

A break in the fuel line may be temporarily mended by a number of simple expedients. A bit of rubber tubing slipped over the broken section will do the trick. Other emergency repairs may be made with a raw potato, a cork, a generous application of soap or shellacked cloth and splints.

When using graphite in the crankcase, care should be taken to get a special brand of graphite which will not settle at the bottom of the oil reservoir. Graphite may be used in any part of the car, using a tablespoonful in a quart of oil.

Backfiring may be traced to any of the following causes: Spark too late, short circuit on primary wire, wires in wrong plugs, weak mixture, leaky or stuck intake valve, red-hot carbon deposits, leaking manifold or carburetor gasket.

A simple but efficient spark plug tester which a car owner may always have about his person when he wants to use it is an ordinary lead pencil which has a metal point protector. A small hole is cut or bored through the pencil and this hole acts as the gap for the spark to jump. Tinfoil is stuffed into the protector to make contact with the lead in the unsharpened end of the pencil.

If the fuel in the carburetor is set at the proper level it will cause various reactions. If the level is too high, it will flood the carburetor; if it is too low, it will result in a lean mixture and difficult starting. For satisfactory operation it is important that the float be adjusted so that the gasoline level will be about a thirty-second of an inch below the outlet of the nozzle.

It frequently happens that a car will lean too much to one side due to th efact that one spring is weak. It is difficult to set one spring exactly to match the other, so if you want to obtain exact results it is best to have both springs set at the one time. The slight increase in cost is worth while when you have a good car.

This is the time of the year when it is well to remember the good old method of loosening scale that has formed in the cooling system. Six pounds of washing soda dissolved in five gallons of boiling water is the correct formula. Pour this solution in the cooling system and allow it to remain for a day, then drain and flush the system out with clean water and refill.

When inspecting springs the motorist should give close attention to the hangers and other subsidiary parts. Much lost motion, usually side play, will develop in the spring hangers and shacyles. Quite frequently the bolts which pass through the spring eye will be worn nearly through in the course of a season's active running. Many cars have no lubricating equipment for these small parts, and they wear out rapidly under the stress of travel.

An ice boat driven by an air-propeller has been found capable of making a mile a minute.

In New York city there is a hospital for sick and injured birds which makes a good livelihood for the two female experts who operate the institution. They are experts in the ills of the feathered family.

Many American women are taking up the making of lace as a fad, having acquired the preliminary instruction from some Belgian women who came to this country recently.

Dolls made of plaited straw are a new German invention and are said to be almost indestructible.

I. C. C. RULES AGAINST PROPOSAL TO PREVENT WASTE IN SHIPPING

BOSTON, MASS., May 8. — Paper manufacturers who have been interested in an application before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a favorable rate on metal shipping cases which would result in the conservation of wood for pulp purposes, have learned that the commission has refused the freight rate asked for, thus making the use of metal containers impracticable. The decision followed by only a few days the introduction in Congress of the Underwood resolution calling attention to the fact that more than double the amount of wood used in paper manufacture is wasted annually in wooden boxes and paper containers.

Paper men have been hoping that the hearing on containers would be reopened to give them opportunity to show how greatly a favorable decision would affect the paper industry, and Arthur C. Hastings, formerly president of the American Paper and Pulp Association, recently made a trip to Washington to urge this action upon the commission. Mr. Hastings will testify before the Senate Committee investigating the print paper shortage.

The petition before the commission asked that on shipments contained in metal cases freight charges be based on the net weight of contents, and that when the container is knocked down flat for return to the shipper it might be shipped at the sheet steel rate. It was estimated that this would result in a gain rather than a loss to the railroads

The metal container on which the rate was asked had been approved by the American Railway Association as preventing loss, damage, and possessing the advantage that it can be used again and again, the latter a feature not offered by wooden containers.

Dosens of letters from manufacturers and railroad and freight men were produced endorsing the container, and it was shown that it had been used to advantage by one of the largest sugar refineries in the country, the only drawback being the prohibitive freight rates. The granting of a favorable rate was, however, opposed by the wooden and fibre box manufacturers.

In its decision the Interstate Commerce Commission said:

"We have had occasion to comment in other proceedings upon the waste brought about by loss and damage in transit, and the seriousness of this problem is increasing rather than diminishing. Anything that can be done to reduce such loss and damage is manifestly in the interest of carriers and public alike. Concessions in freight charges based upon the manner in which goods are packed or the containers which are used are not unlawful, provided they are reasonably related to the advantages accruing to the carriers from the improved packing or loading.

"In the present instance, however, the evidence offered to show the character and extent of the advantages which the carriers would derive from the use of complainant's container is largely speculative. This is necessarily so, since there has been little actual experience upon which to predicate more definite information, but it results in a record which offers no adequate foundation for the action upon our part which complainant seeks. Defendants (the carrier) do not concede that the benefits claimed would be realized in practice. It appears, also, that such reduction of loss and damage as might result from the use of the container would differ widely in the case of various commodities. Under the circumstances we are not justified in requiring the carriers to grant the concessions which are sought, or in undertaking to prescribe modified concessions."

It has been estimated that the use of metal containers would save $50,000,000 in damage and theft of goods in transit, $240,000,000 in wasted lumber now used in one strip containers, and from ten to twenty-five per cent of the cost of food stuffs which now goes to pay for crates which are thrown away.

BUICK PLANT CAUSES BIG INCREASE FLINT POPULATION

Back in the earlier days when Flint was a village of 1,500, with an area of sixty acres, it was merely an Indian trading point, and the inhabitants those days "trapped", swapped horses and bargained with the Big Chiefs and their squaws.

In 1905 whe nthe Buick factory built its first building here, Flint grew rapidly to what was considered a wonderful population of some 12,000. During the next five years Buick business expanded to such a degree, that when the census of 1910 was recorded it showed a population of 38,550.

Under the new census returns Flint advances from the sixth city in Michigan with a population of 38,550 in 1910 to third place with a population of 91,599.

Added to these figures during the past few days are the recent annexations to this city which will give Flint a present population exceeding 100,000 or nearly 145 per cent increase.

Such a remarkable growth so far, is one of the highest records of the 1920 U. S. census returns. It has been largely brought about through the location and expansion of the [illegible] mouth Buick Motor Car plant which institution nearly 20,000 sons are daily employed, thereby giving a livelihood to more than [illegible] of Flint's population.

There are few cities in America that enjoys the distinction of having such a world wide reputation, for upon both hemispheres it has become known as the home of the famous Valve-In-Head Buick car.

From a sixty-acre garden spot to the vast area of over 15,000 acres, illustrates Flint's wonderful growth and size.

Detroit is the first city of the state, Grand Rapids second, with Flint a close competitor. Just how long this one time little Indian village will remain in third position, has the population of its state guessing, for the millions of dollars now being spent by the Buick factory in new additional buildings and factory plants, means still further additions to Flint in increased population. Future months might possibly find Flint again changing its standing in advancing to the position of the big sister of Miss Dynamic Detroit.

Truffles are perhaps the most expensive of foods, costing, when prepared for consumption, about $10 per pound.

Two American missionary organizations have united in making some moving pictures of the interior and more inaccessible parts of China, India, Burma and North Africa, and it is expected in this manner to be able to call attention to the work being done among the benighted tribes of these sections.

Demand for Change.

The total number of coins of America mmoney produced in 1919 was 738,642,000 and their value was $30,777,000. They included 3,676,000 half dollars, 15,104,000 quarters, $4,529,000 dimes, 76,896,000 five cent pieces and 583,935,000 pennies.

Patagonia's Meat for England.

It is stated that the entire meat product of Patagonia has been acquired by Great Britain for the year, 1920. This amounts to a million and a quarter carcasses and they are put down in England at a cost about the same as the Australian meat.

GRANT SIX

Few new models have ever evoked such enthusiastic appreciation as the Grant Touring Roadster.

The Grant Roadster instantly appeals to those who enjoy the thrills of motoring and the open road. The long wheel-base and low hung frame, the extra long spring and the wide, deep seat give utmost riding comfort under all conditions.

The Grant Roadster is upholstered in genuine leather, French pleated, and like all Grant models is beautifully finished and exceptionally equipped including a Boyce Motor-Meter.

Back of these cars is a history of five years of successful motor car building and a splendid record of thousands of Grants in use.

It Adds a Wealth of Joy to Family Life

The Cleveland Six adds joy and recreation to the family life in a most unusal degree. It is such a comfortable car, so easy to drive, so distinguished in its refined appearance, that the mother and the children find real delight in it.

And the Man of the House, no matter how critically inclined he may be in mechanical matters, finds in the Cleveland Six a triumph in motor car construction, a car which he will drive with enthusiasm.

The Cleveland Six touring car seats five in comfort. The soft cushioning and the low, under-slung spring suspension, wipe out the road-bumps. The car is handsomely finished and the upholstering is of genuine hand-buffed leather.

And the motor! If you want to know what a motor it is come in and see the car. Ride in it. Drive it yourself. Then you will know. There are few motors indeed that can compare with it in actual performance.

The Republican Platform

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syn. Inc)

One fact is very clear—and it should be made prominent—namely, that the republican party is making its fight over "men" and not over "platforms." The platform seems to be lost sight of notwithstanding the very radical differences in the candidates. This, in itself, should put republicans on guard if they feel an interest in the policies for which the party is to stand. If any candidate secures a dominating following before the convention meets, that candidate, of course, will dictate the platform unless he is the candidate of some powerful group, in which case the group will dictate the platform for him.

The platform is more important than the man, and it is disappointing, in a chaotic time like this that a party like the republican party which is in control of congress, and apparently confident of success, does not put principle first and men afterwards. When a party takes up the practical work of conducting government, it turns naturally and necessarily to policies of government, and policies are merely surface manifestations of underlying principles. Principles ought to control; policies ought to decide elections. It is easy enough to find men with the intelligence necessary to carry out the policies to which a party is pledged, and it ought not to be difficult to find men with the moral courage to announce in advance the principles which they regard as fundamental and the policies which should be pursued at the time—that is, the policies which embody the principles believed in.

It is easier to understand a principle than a man; easier to form an opinion in regard to a policy than in regard to an individual. First: Reasonable people follow reasons and understand reasons, and a principle is simply a reason upon which policies are built. Second: Principles do not change after the election; men sometimes do. A man's political program may be the embodiment of many policies, differing in their relative influence upon him, and subject to change. Circumstances may induce him to surrender one policy in the hope of securing another which he considers more important. And, influences may operate upon him after the election to make him change his point of view. The popular election of senators by the people became necessary because so many legislators either suppressed their purpose during the campaign or changed their purpose afterward, to the disappointment—not to say betrayal—of their constituents.

So with presidential candidates, if a man runs upon his personality, that personality must be more or less of a mystery to the multitude. One voter may like him for one thing, another voter may be influenced by an entirely different sentence in a speech or by what he is believed to stand for. If there is no definite program to which he is pledged, many of the voters are likely to be disappointed. For this reason I made the following suggestion in a speech before the Constitutional Convention of Nebraska last January:

"Candidates for offices in which they can influence public policies should be compelled to file a statement of their position on issues before the public and to answer written inquiries (filed with designated officials) or give written refusal with reasons. Statements on public issues cannot be regarded as a contract between the candidate and his constituents, and violations should be defined as embezzlement of power and punishment with imprisonment."

Great Questions.

The Republican party will have to deal with certain great questions, and it would seem important for the voters to align themselves according to the program to be carried out rather than make their support depend entirely on their attachment to individuals. I venture to suggest a few questions on which the public should be enlightened:

First—It may be taken for granted that with thirty-five states ratifying the suffrage amendment, the party will call for the completion of ratification if the one state now needed is not forthcoming before the conventions.

The prohibition amendment is a part of the constitution and cannot be repealed without concurrence of two-thirds of both houses in the submission of a repealing amendment and ratification by three-fourths of the states. This of course would seem impossible in view of the almost unanimous endorsement of the amendment and the improved conditions under it. But a constitutional provision is valueless except as it is interpreted by law and enforced.

Congress having the power to interpret the constitution and, in this case, having authority to fix the alcoholic content of permitted beverages, may so change the Volstead law as to permit the use of a larger percentage of alcohol. As the per cent of alcohol is the whole question—that is, the percentage decides whether or not the beverage is intoxicating a wet congress might nullify the action of the country and reopen the question.

It is well known that the opponents of prohibition are activeiy at work in the Republican party. They are not likely to be strong enough at the Republican convention to propose a wet plank but they may be strong enough to suppress a pledge of enforcement, or they may so dilute the enforcement plank that it will have less than one-half of one per cent of certainty in it.

Why is it that the drys, who are doubtless in a large majority in the party, have not called upon the candidates for an expression of opinion or put out a platform pledge for conventions to use? Can drys afford to be indifferent while the wets are at work?

Bonus Question.

And what is the Republican party going to do about the bonus to the service men? It does not seem likely that it will be able to reach a decision in regard to the method of raising the money necessary. Everybody is in favor of the bonus, but so far no one has been able to find a satisfactory source from which to draw the money. I am reminded of a successful merchant, who, upon turning his business over to his son, advised him how to be successful without expense to himself:

"Subscribe liberally to any church proposed," said the father, "no matter what the denomination; that will make you popular. Then fight the location and you will not have to pay the subscription."

The plan is quite familiar and is applied in many ways. Just now the advocates of a bonus seem to be very much divided as to where to locate the tax. The first suggestion was that the money be raised by general taxation but objection was made that it would be difficult to find new forms of taxation. Then it was suggested that the bonus be paid in bonds but objection was made that a new issue of bonds would still further depress the price of outstanding bonds, and would, in effect, be a tax upon the patriotism of those who furnished money to carry on the war.

More recently it has been suggested that a fund be raised for the bonus tax on retail sales but that would be found still more objectionable because a tax on consumption makes the poor man pay more than his share and the rich man less than his share. Congressman Rainey, of Illinois, has proposed that a tax be levied upon the fortunes made out of the war. It is alleged that more fortunes were created out of war profits during the period of the war—August 1, 1914 to November 11, 1918, than were created in all the previous history of the country from the discovery of America to the beginning of the war in Europe. Congressman Rainey proposes that one-half of these war fortunes be set apart for the payment of a bonus to the soldiers who risked their lives while the fortunes were being mad. This plan would seem to be more just than any other proposed. How will the Republican party deal with this question? It cannot well refuse to do justice to the service men. Will it also be careful to avoid doing injustice to the taxpayers?

The profiteer will be at the Republican National convention either as a delegate or as a lobbyist, just as he has been at state capitals and at Washington. Why is it that the victims of profiteering are not in evidence? Why have they not demanded pledges from the candidates or formulated some specific declaration which can be embodied in the platform? Profiteering is on the increase; it is spreading like a contagious disease with the difference that the middle men are trying to catch it instead of quarantining against it. Is it possible that the unrest, due to high prices, can be ignored, and exploitation continued without protest?

Private Monopoly.

But while profiteering is the acute economic issue, the fiercest struggle is between beneficiaries of private monopoly and the public who seek to protect themselves by government ownership. The champions of monopoly are in full swing; their newspaper champions have been deriding public ownership as a principle and misrepresenting it where it is in practice. Knowing the tendency of the human mind to be consistent and to extend the application of a principle when once vindicated, these newspapers are afraid to admit the success of any public-owned enterprise.

HUPMOBILE

Have just unloaded two car loads Hupp Touring Cars.

Probably most people in buying automobiles think first of economy, durability and performance.

It is natural that they should, for an automobile is first of all, an investment, the soundness of which depends upon the car's ability to deliver service at a minimum cost.

It is natural, too, that such people should find in the Hupmobile the answer to their problem.

For in the Hupmobile the qualities of economy, durability, and performance exists to a degree so remarkable that the possession of them has long ceased to be a matter of argument.

But there are other automobile buyers—men and women—who, while they appreciate the demand the substantial qualities in their car, also insist on still another quality.

That quality is beauty—beauty of design, finish and appointments.

These people, too, are buying Hupmobiles.

DORT

Quality Goes Clear Through

There is, we believe, in simply case after case, a deeper reason for the selection of the Dort than the merit of the car.

True, the well-known excellence of the Dort in performance and the fact that it is known to operate at a measurably lower cost per mile are unquestionably strong influences in the purchase.

But we like to think that aside and apart from these reasons the determining factor in the decision is a profound faith in the Dort Company.

The truth of the matter is that the name Dort has become inseparably associated in the minds of people with deep-seated integrity and careful skill in manufacture.

Each added Dort that goes into use serves not only to provide fresh evidence as to the quality of the car but also to emphasize anew the high ideals of the company that builds it.

trol of the operation of the railroads, every delayed train and every impairment of equipment was made the pretext for complaint. A delay in a telephone call or a mistake in connection brought forth a denunciation of governmental incapacity, although antewar officials and operators of railroads, telegraphs and telephones were in charge during the war and are now in charge under private ownership. A New York editor recently contrasted the operation of telephones since the lines went back with operation during the war and showed that the efficiency had been decreased. Pullman rates are to be raised, and the railroads are clamoring for higher rates. What is the Republican party going to do? Is it going to take any position on this issue, and if so, what position? Why is the line not being drawn between the principle of government ownership and the principle of private monopoly?

And so, with the various labor problems. The industrial situation is anything but satisfactory. Have the Republicans any plan for restoring harmony? The willing worker is the only wage earner who can meet the present demand in production. It is impossible for us to carry on a wage system under compulsion. Next to the farmers, the toilers in factory and in shop are our largest group of citizens, and it goes without saying that their labor lies at the very foundation of our nation's welfare and progress. What platform pledge will the Republican convention give? What guarantees are its leaders making to this very important element?

People Have the Power.

I have mentioned some of the questions which will necessarily come before the Republican convention—questions where difference of opinion is widest and most positive—with a view of encouraging the candor and frankness which the present situation requires. Conventions are quite representative, if the people speak when they choose their representative; they are often quite misrepresentative, if the people deposit arbitary and unrestrained power in the hands of politicians with interests opposed to the interests of the masses. If there ever was a time for honesty in politics, that time has come. The masses in all parties are patriotic and anxious for the best things to be done, but the voice of the masses must be expressed to be controlling.

There is no danger of revolution in this country, because the people always act before abuses reach a point where the thought of force will be tolerated; but the sooner abuses are remedied, the more easily can remedies be applied. The re-adjustments made necessary by the war must be made and should be made immediately.

I shall speak later of these same problems, as they must be dealt with in the San Francisco convention. It would be a very encouraging thing if the leaders of both parties would plainly state the positions of the parties and frankly lay the issues before the voters in order that they may be calmly considered and wisely decided. No convention action can be satisfactory if it does not represent the real sentiment of the members of the party for which the convention speaks. There is enough virtue in the country to protect the nation from harm—enough salt to save the country from any threatened trouble, but the salt must not be allowed to lose its savor. The virtue of the people should express itself now through the various parties in order that the rivalry may be an open and honorable rivalry with victory to the most deserving.

PRESBYTERIANS TO DECIDE WHETHER WOMEN WILL PREACH AND BE ELDERS

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Whether women shall be allowed to fill the pulpits of Presbyterian churches or to act as elders will be one of the important questions considered at the 132nd annual meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, beginning here May 20.

At the last general assembly a special committee was appointed to determine the views of the constituency on whether women should hold official position in the church organization. Dr. S. Hall Young, chairman, is withholding all information on the report. A serious discussion is anticipated on the measure of the continued participation of the church in the interchurch World movement.

The New Era Movement, the Interchurch World Movement, an organized union of Christianity, the relation of church to industry and the killing of Christians by the Turks are the most important subjects to be discussed.

The 100th anniversary of the Presbyterian Board of Education, which now is combined with the college board in the general board of education, and the 15th anniversary of the women's boards of foreign missions will be observed in connection with the meeting.

Dr. James Gray Bolton, chairman of the publicity committee, points out in connection with the new era and interchurch movements that from 1690 to 1919 the Presbyterian church has grown from 10 ministers, 18 churches and 1,000 communicants, to 9,918 ministers, 9,805 churches and 1,603,033 members. The communicants, who are those on the roll in good standing, represent a Presbyterian constituency of 6,000,000, including baptized children and adherents who are not members.

In 1789, the year in which appears the first record of benevolence for work outside the Presbytery or the individual church, there was $553 devoted to this purpose. In 1919 the amount contributed for benevolence was $11,485,327.

Dr. John McDowell, secretary of the board of home missions, and director of the department of social service in the New Era Movement, will submit an exhaustive report on the relation of the church to industry. This is in accord with directions given at the preceding general assembly.

Dr. McDowell has conferred with employers and employes. His effort has been to reconcile differences along Christian lines. Establishment of schools for foremen is one suggestion he makes, in the belief that foremen are frequently the cause of clashes.

MOST OF AMERICAN DEAD ARE TO BE BROUGHT TO U. S.

War Department to Return Only Those Whose Relatives Make Application

PARIS, May 8—Representatives of the American war department here estimate that about 60 per cent of the American soldiers buried in France will be exhumed and taken back to their native land. A little more than 77,000 American burials have been registered by the graves registration service and about 71,000 of these are in France.

Not all of these soldiers will be returned to American soil, as the United States war department proposes to carry back to America only those requested by their next of kin. This policy will result in leaving in France those whose next of kin ask that they be left here and those whose removal is not requested. It is understood also that the unidentified American dead will be left in France.

Decision by the Franco-American commission that bodies of American soldiers buried in the zone of military operations may be exhumed any time after Sept. 15 next ends a long period of negotiations between French and American authorities. The French government desired to meet the wishes of the American nation, but entertained serious doubts as to the advisability of removing the American dead from the zone of operations this year, owing to labor and transportation difficulties involving the passing of the bodies over the railways and highways at a time when the French population was in the first stage of its recovery from the economic and sentimental strain of five years of war. The French government feared that the granting of such permission to America would bring on clamorous agitation from other nations for similar permission and that this would hamper the rehabilitation of French industrial conditions.

American officers, however, have vigorously urged that the number of Americans in the zone of operations was relatively small; that the traditional policy of the United States was to return its dead from foreign soil and that the American government could do no less than heed the pleas of those next of kin who insisted that the bodies of their relatives be returned to their homes.

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP TO BE ESSAY AWARDED

WASHINGTON, May 8.—One million essays on the subject "Ship by Truck and Good Roads" are anticipated as the result of a four year's university scholarship offered for the best essay on this subject to be submitted before the end of National Ship by Truck-Good Roads Week, May 17-22, according to an announcement made here today at headquarters of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the week.

According to plans already outlined, the judges to be appointed by the Federal Bureau of Education will make the award, and many local prizes will be given in several thousand communities throughout the country. It is planned to have competitive essay contests among the high school pupils in each of the large cities, in the counties and in each state. Local prizes will be offered in each instance. Winners of the city honors will be eligible to compete for the county honors and those winning county honors in each state will be eligible for consideration in the award of the state prize. By this method of elimination, it is said, there will be forty-eight essays to be considered for the national prize, which is offered by H. S. Firestone, Akron, Ohio, originator of the Ship by Truck movement.

School superintendents and high school principals have been requested to assume charge of the contest in their respective districts, although many newspapers will sponsor the contest in the smaller cities of the country.

According to conditions of the contest all high school pupils are eligible to compete, but if the national prize is won by any pupil other than a senior the award will be deferred until the winner is ready to matriculate at the institution of his choice.

The contest is designed to widen the scope of discussion expected to be created by National Ship by Truck-Good Roads Week, during which caravans of motor trucks will tour rural sections of the country, endeavoring to demonstrate the practical utility of the motor truck.

Conditions under which the contest will be conducted have been approved by the Federal Bureau of Education. Judges to be appointed by the Bureau of Education, which also is notifying the principals and superintendents of the contest, will be appointed by P. P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education.

Ship by Truck Week In Statement Issued at Capitol.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(Special.)—Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, in a statement issued here lends his support to Ship by Truck-Good Roads Week, May 17-22, in which he also speaks of the coming influence of the motor truck on the farm.

"One of the greatest developments of the next twenty-five years will be the motor truck on the farm," says Senator Capper. "I am interested in it because it relates to the development of the great west and the great western industry, agriculture. The day of the power farmer is at hand. The motor truck because of its adaptability, flexibility and its endurance is one of the chief requisites in the theme of power farming."

Declaring the national week will serve to arouse interest in the feasibility of motor transportation, the senator continues:

"I cannot too strongly advocate participation in Ship by Truck-Good Roads Week and the subsequent use of the motor truck, particularly as an aid to the agriculturist wherever it is possible and economically feasible."

The cream may be easily taken from the top of the milk bottle by means of a syphoning device which has been recently devised for the purpose.

Telephoto pictures have been successfully made by mounting a pair of field glasses in front of the camera with one of the pair of tubes directly in front of the lens of the camera.

The highest chimney in the world is said to be that recently erected at Anaconda, Mont., on the plant of the Washoe Smelting Co. It is 601 feet high and it is part of a recovery plant by which a great deal of valuable material is taken from the gases which formerly went up the chimney.

SOLID TRUCK TIRES CAUSE MUCH GREATER DAMAGE THAN PNEUMATICS

"Slow" moving pictures, recently used as unique feature of pictorial news weeklies to show every motion of a person in varied sports, have found a field in many lines of industrial experiments that will prove invaluable to future development.

By the use of a new type of camera, whereby exposures are made at the rate of 160 instead of 16 a second, and then projected at one-tenth normal speed, Chief Engineer A. F. Masury of the International Motor Co., has been able to record photographically the comparative road impact and chassis shock of motor trucks shod with pneumatic or solid tires.

Two trucks of similar design were used—one shod with the pneumatics on front and solids on the rear, the other equipped with pneumatics all around. Both were run at a speed of from 15 to 18 miles an hour along a straight stretch and over a sharp incline that caused them to spring into the air and strike ground as from a vertical drop of from two to three feet.

Newly-invented timing and impact registering devices attached to the camera lens and operated simultaneously, substantiated the results of similar tests recently conducted by experts of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. The solid tired truck, although 620 pounds lighter, struck ground with a force of 14,236 pounds as compared to the impact of 4,634 pounds for the heavier pneumatic-tired vehicle. The lighter impact of the pneumatically-shod truck was found due to the extra cushioning of the pneumatic tires. The solid tires showed a deflection of but one inch as compared to four and one quarter inches deflection shown by the pneumatics.

The photographic record showed that the pneumatic tires absorbed most of the shock of the vertical drop, the truck leaving the ground only slightly, while the solid-tired truck bounded high after the impact. The recording device showed that the pneumatically equipped truck hit the ground less than two-thirds as hard as the other, greatly lessening strain on the chassis.

Results from these unique "movie" tests indicate that a seven and one-half ton truck on pneumatic tires would do less damage to roads than a five ton truck operating at the same speed and under the same rough road conditions.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

Do You Know the Secret of Essex Leadership?

It is the New Light Type With Big Car Ability. Can Any Light Car Rival Its Speed, Power or Endurance?

Lightness today is an overwhelming advantage in a motor car, provided it means no forfeit of fine performance, endurance or distinctive appearance.

Yet, prior to the Essex, what car combined all these qualities? There were light cars to be sure. But none to meet the requirements of those who exact the highest standards of ability, comfort and good looks.

Had such a type existed, Essex could not have won such swift dominance. It could have set no world's selling record as it did with a greater total paid for Essex than for any car ever brought out in its first year.

The very suddeness of its success shows how its qualities commandeered attention. For men are not quick to buy a car that time has not proved.

And the Essex came unknown. Merit was its only advocate for recognition. Its quality was instantly obvious. In looks, in action, its appeal was dynamic. And it drew immediate response from all classes of motor users.

Almost Doubles Light Car Endurance

They found ability, speed and power before believed impossible in a light car.

Now see how Essex has justified all the fine things that have been said in its praise. An Essex stock chassis set the official world's 50-hour endurance record of 3,037 miles. In three tests it traveled 5,870 miles averaging above a mile a minute. An Essex stock touring car also holds the world's 24-hour road record of 1,061 miles.

To those who had owned light cars, the Essex was a revelation. It gave them a new sensation of stability and power. They found charm of appearance, riding ease, and pride of ownership that comes from possession of a car they know none can surpass in performance.

The Dominant Light Car By Official Proof

People accustomed to fine car qualities recognize in the light Essex, all the performance, comfort and good looks that formerly were regarded exclusive to large, costly cars.

And with it Essex brings every advantage of the light type. These compel consideration. They consist not only of important economics, but of greater handling ease, safety and convenience. Parking for large cars is becoming an increasingly difficult problem. So, too, is their manipulation in heavy traffic. The light car clearly shows its value in greater nimbleness. The common sense facts prove it from every angle, the type for all-round usefulness.

When you know the appeal of the Essex you will scarcely be content to drive another car.

GULF'S MICHNA NO. 2 EXTENDS PRODUCTION WESTWARD—OTHER DEVELOPMENTS WAGGONER POOL

Extending the line of production slightly westward from the first Emerich and Danciger producers on the south part of the Michna tract, the Gulf Production's No. 2 Michna, between the Emerick and Danciger tract and the Southern states lease, where a hole was abandoned as dry some months ago, is showing up for a good producer being drilled into the oil sand on Thursday. Two other Gulf wells are on the sand, both being north of No. 2 and No. 3 being about 800 feet west of the Prescott Phoenix's No. 1, completed about two weeks ago.

Other tests outside the present line of production in this newly opened up section of the Waggoner, which has been producing wells of sensational size, promise a completion in a short time with the results of much importance.

The su[illegible]essional Oil Company's [illegible] Block 69, on the southwest [illegible] of the pool, has attracted attention to this section, considered for some time as highly unfavorable. Two new locations are reported on the Snoddy, both by G. Clint Wood, prominent independent operator. The derricks are up for both No. 1 and No. 2. There is also considerable new drilling under way in Blocks 69 and 70.

The Cooper Switzer Oil company's test in Block 821, the R. S. Allen land, and south of the producers on the river in this block, is reported to have an oil sand at 2180 feet which is to be tested. This testhas encountered several sands with oil showings in the last few hundred feet, and the testing of the present sand may prove interesting.

A drilling summary from the Waggoner, and a few of the wells in the South Burkburnett follows: to secure 10 per cent Preferred Dividend-Paying Shares in Consumers Belt Factory. A clean, high-grade Investment. Some of the leading business men and women of Fort Worth are among our Shareholders, including many who had "sworn off" from Investments. We welcome the "never again will I invest" as well as the successful investors to become our Shareholders and grasp the ONE OPPORTUNITY of retrieving losses and securing a substantial income. REMEMBER, THE TIME IS LIMITED AND THIS OFFER WILL NEVER BE MADE AGAIN!

Last Chance

New Permanent Home Consumers Belt Factory

The entire property shown above was purchased by Consumers Belt Factory April 24th, 1920, for its permanent machinery belt factory and belting by-product plant.

This magnificent brick structure, built some two years ago, is 65 by 100 feet in dimensions, will accommodate our Factory of TWELVE UNITS, storage rooms, sales rooms, and offices; adjoins the right-of-way of the M. K. & T. Railway Company of Texas, and has trackage and docks complete. Being located on Elizabeth street, in the heart of the manufacturing district of Fort Worth, and known as some of the choicest property in the city.

The investment means a saving of more than $50,000.00 to the Factory Shareholders, and will put our plant in full operation at least six months earlier than heretofore contemplated. This Factory completed will have a business capacity of about TWELVE TIMES AS GREAT as our PRESENT Factory Unit, which has a capacity of $2,000.00 worth of products per day, $50,000.00 a month, or $600,000.00 a year, at an average profit of about 160 per cent.

Belting products are continually in use to operate Cotton Oil Mills, Cotton Gins, Lumber Mills, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Grist Mills, Compresses, Factories of all kinds, Refineries, Automobiles, Trucks, Grain Threshers, Power Plants and all other machinery. For this reason the demand is greater than we can supply and we have standing orders for our products.

The men in charge of our Manufacturing Division have an experience of 18 to 25 years, and the officers of the Factory are composed of eight of the leading business men of Fort Worth. Any bank or business man in Fort Worth will be glad to tell you about them. The Factory also bonds its officers for the faithful expenditure of moneys.

The entire organization is covered by our small capital of $250,000.00, divided into shares of $1.00 each, par value. The profits to the Shareholders are therefore enormous, and the institution now ranks as one of the HIGHEST-GRADE BUSINESS INVESTMENTS IN THE SOUTH!

ALL SHARES IN THE FACTORY ARE PREFERRED to the extent of a 100 per cent dividend out of the net profits as against expansion of the Factory beyond the original plan of TWELVE UNITS, and each Share bears a PERMANENT INTEREST in the entire assets, moneys, profits, and every Unit of the Factory.

A 10 Per Cent Cash Dividend Payable May 15, 1920 has been declared and will be paid on all outstanding shares on that date. All Shares subscribed for at $1.00 each, par value, before our books close will PARTICIPATE FULLY in this 10 Per Cent Cash Profit Dividend. All shares NOW OFFERED will also have earned a 110 per cent dividend at the time all other Shares in the Factory will have earned the 100 per cent preference above stated. We expect to pay our second DIVIDEND next July.

OUR BOOKS CLOSE AGAINST FURTHER SUBSCRIPTION TO THESE SPECIAL 10 Per Cent Dividend Preferred Shares on May 14th, 1920, at 12 o'clock noon. All orders must be in the mail or telegraph office on or before that hour in order to participate in our 10 per cent cash dividend on May 15th, 1920. All shares are subject to prior sale, and your money will be returned if received too late.

Send check, bonds or reservation now for no less than 10 nor more than 1,000 Shares, at $1.00 each, par value. There is only a small block left and all Shares will be raised to $2.00 each soon after our books close, because they fully cover all our valuable properties and assets which we now have and are accumulating daily. YOUR TIME IS LIMITED AND THIS HIGH-CLASS INVESTMENT WILL NOT BE OFFERED YOU AGAIN! The time to grasp these GILT-EDGE DIVIDEND-BEARING SHARES at $1.00 each IS TODAY. RIGHT NOW!
