TWO MINUTES WITH THE TRAVELERS AID AT THE UNION STATION

THE NEW CRUSADEERS. By MARY CAROLYN DAVIES. I stood beneath our cherry-trees. My face against their blossom snow.

And I had dreamed of love. One hour love came, and brought me floors to sweep. And food to cook, and pans to scour.

GERALD POND TAKES MAGGIE MAY PELL AS BRIDE. The marriage of Gerald W. Pond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pond, and Miss Maggie May Pell, daughter of Mrs. L. B. Cummins, took place at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning at the First Christian church.

"Where will we get the babies?" said Mrs. Oswley. "Why, we are having babies taken care of now, in Wichita Falls families, that will be right in the middle of the Day Nursery opening."

Mrs. Oswley, of the welfare council, was discussing the opening of the Day Nursery next Monday, and some of its attendant problems. I asked her she expected very many babies present for the "opening" day, or if it would be some days or weeks before Wichita Falls working mothers learned of the nursery, and that it was for the benefit.

Mrs. Oswley said, "but we have 15 on hand right now that we will be glad to put into the care of our Day Nursery. There are five under 11 years of age in one family, the widowed mother of whom works at the Call road hospital. She has to leave at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, and works until evening. The little oldest daughter takes care—tries to take care—of the whole bunch."

"Has my wife come in yet?" asked a tired looking old man. "The Travelers Aid at the Union station, who was explaining to Station Master Frost just how he could go about getting the National Geographic magazine, and discussing the merits of Colorado as a summer resort with another person, informed the man that the station had been paged after every train for three days, but Mrs. K— had not come in."

"I wish you'd tell me," insisted a talkative welfare council nurse, who interrupted herself again, to say, "indicating the mother, 'The 6 or 8-month-old baby had been clutching at its mother's shoe heel from a vantage point on the floor, and the mother calmly removed the slipper, wind of the heel with her handkerchief, and handed it to show. 'He's teething,' she explained to her neighbor. 'The baby was clean and sweet, but the station floor, where the heel had been for some hours, was not clean. 'With you'd tell me,'" insisted a white-haired old man with trembling hands, stopping in front of the desk. 'I wish I can go to 'Chilli-cooty and Quarant, and Chilli-ora and Amarilli, and here they want to send me

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old-fashioned, gray hair restorer, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and so evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

SEATTLE

By W. C. EDWARDS

SEATTLE, WASH., July 11.—Seattle is more attractive, on close inspection, than first sight indicates. It is really a city, covering a large amount of territory between and on top of the "seven hills," and with many attractive residential districts. At that, however, it is not comparable to Portland in civic attractiveness nor to San Francisco as a business center. Seattle has grown much since 1910; its present population is 315,000. But labor troubles have militated seriously against the city's prosperity during the past two years and the cessation of war activities threw many of the thousands employed in government ship building out of work and many of them have gone elsewhere.

The government spent tremendous sums here. At a cost of $20,000,000 it built the canal between Lake Union and Lake Washington with the docks leading from the sound with fresh water. It would have been of material advantage by reason of the fresh water cleaning off the hull of salt water vessels and affording a land locked harbor at all times. The ending of the war left the government apparently for one did not see even one ocean-going vessel in the upper lake. Millions of dollars were spent on the building of wooden ships. Lake Union were pointed out a number of such vessels, from 25 to 30 per cent completed, that have been abandoned as useless. Green lumber was used in their construction and the warping of the timbers has rendered the ships quite unseaworthy.

Labor Troubles Costly.
Seattle people say the reports of I. W. W. troubles here were exaggerated and that Mayor Ole Hansen—he is an ex-mayor now and apparently not at all popular—is largely responsible for the currency of such reports. They admit, however, that Seattle has suffered from labor disputes and that the end is not yet indicated by the fact that there are several small strikes in progress and some of the theaters are advertising for non-union employees. Talk of the "open shop" fight in Texas cities is of interest among both labor and employers out here.

Seattle's greatest asset unquestionably is its Alaskan trade, of which it has a natural monopoly that is almost complete. Alaska is growing and its growth and prosperity continues to contribute to the advancement of Seattle. Its nearest American port. They are talking now of oil prospects along the Copper river and Northwestern railroad, which leaves tide water at Valdez, and that the real mineral wealth of that great American territory has not really been touched yet. Alaskan conditions are of real import in Seattle. One hears here more talk about Alaska than in all the other coast cities combined.

Talking Politics.
Washington is talking politics, too. Its primary election is to be held in September, but the candidates for state office are numerous. There are five candidates for the republican nomination for governor with Governor Hart, who succeeded to the post from the lieutenant-governorship through death of the governor, apparently regarded as having the best chance. Washington want democratic four years ago, but that was unusual and both democrats and republicans believe it will return to its old allegiance nationally next November.

The independent vote really controls in most of these western states. Everything being equal, they are apt to vote straight tickets. But if there are important differences, they don't hesitate to vote for whatever candidate or party that suits them best. Herein is the explanation of California's giving Johnson a 300,000 republican majority for the senate and the Wilson electors a 1300 democratic majority nationally. Woman suffrage has increased the independent vote tremendously and contributed largely toward making this entire section doubtful politically, especially in national elections. Oregon is the most rock-ribbed republican state in the west. But one of its senators is a democrat and Dr. Morrow, Oregon national committeeman, believes McAdoo "would have carried it this year for McAdoo's strength certainly was in the country west of the Mississippi. California democrats believe, however, that Cox will carry that state this year.

En route—One who believed that the northwest on the east side of the Cascades was arid and unwatered is compelled to change his conceptions. The plains are arid except where irrigation is used; but eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana have some real rivers—they being the source of the irrigation water. Ponderay—the spelling is problematic—is a lake high up in the Idaho mountains that covers many square miles of territory and gives rise to the river of the same name. Clark's Fork, the Missoula and the Yellowstone are all streams carrying a volume of water that seems great to one accustomed to the sluggish muddy rivers of north and west Texas. Possibilities in the way of hydro-electric plants opened up by the new federal law are infinite and the new law is preparing to benefit from it.

RESTAURANT MEN FINED FOR UNSANITARY CONDITIONS

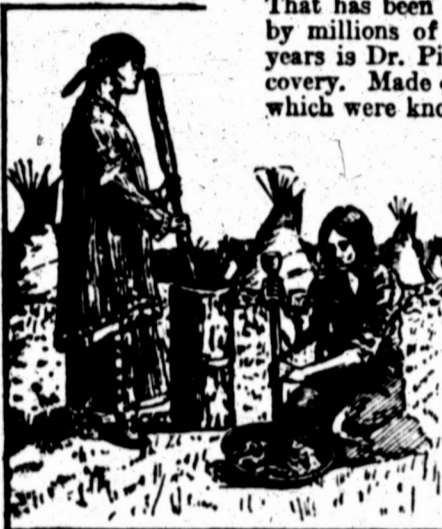

After acting as arbiter for the warlike factions of various neighborhoods throughout the city the police court settled down to the usual round of cases Thursday morning. Traffic violators were much in evidence at the morning call and the city treasury was substantially enriched by fines collected from these offenders. The police department has joined hands with the local health department in a determined campaign to eliminate insanitary conditions that have prevailed around a few restaurants in this city. Several proprietors have been ordered to clean up their places of business and those who have not seen fit to comply have been brought into court and given a more definite understanding in the form of fines. According to the health and sanitary officers the majority of cafes and restaurants of the city are complying with sanitary laws and conditions are very satisfactory, but there are a few who must be watched constantly. These, the officials intend to eliminate.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS TO DEMAND SUPPORT

Don Will Face Barrage of Feminism, Over Tennessee and North Carolina Ratification.

By HERBERT W. WALKER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., July 15.—Suffrage leaders in their conference with Governor Cox tomorrow will demand that the first work of his campaign be to force democratic legislatures in Tennessee and North Carolina to ratify the Nineteenth amendment and thus give women the vote next November.

Miss Alice Paul, head of the national women's party, who arrived here today, stated the delegation would be satisfied with nothing less. The same delegation will make a similar demand on Senator Harding next Thursday.

"The outcome of this conference will be one of the most important events of Governor Cox's campaign," said Miss Paul. "It is the opportunity to accomplish more than can be obtained on any other issue, for to give freedom to half a country is a chance that has never come to a party before."

Cox today conferred with former Congressman George White, of Ohio, his first lieutenant at San Francisco, and was assured that he will have the whole-hearted support of the federal forces. White quoted Francis J. Heney as saying that Cox was a "real progressive democrat."

W. J. Bryan soon will fall in line to support the party ticket, White believes.

The democratic nominee in his campaign tours plans to direct a strong appeal toward the progressive elements of both sides.

Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt will have an early conference with Bainbridge Colby, now secretary of state, and Victor Murruck, of the federal trade commission, former bull mooser, to discuss plans to bring remnants of the old progressive party into the democratic fold.

Colby, Murruck and other bull moosers, now lined up with the democrats will be asked to take a prominent part in the campaign, it was said.

Another feature of the Cox progressive campaign will be an attempt to paint Senator Harding as a reactionary as indicated in the democratic nominee's statement yesterday.

Just as Senator Harding apparently is trying to split the democrats on the league issue, Cox seems to be bent on causing a row in the republican ranks over the senator's proposed "front porch campaign" by denouncing it as non-progressive.

PORT ARTHUR TUG OWNERS DECLARE FOR OPEN SHOP

PORT ARTHUR, TEX., July 15.—Four firms operating eight Port Arthur tug boats have declared for an open shop and today began resuming service after a 24 hour strike of firemen and deckhands. Three tugs started operation with non-union crews and the other five were assembling crews.

At a conference last night between the tug owners and licensed master, pilots and engineers the latter expressed disapproval of the strike and offered to work with any firemen and deckhands the owners would furnish.

GONZALEZ REPULSED IN POLES WRECK CITY OF BOBRUISK TODAY

A detachment of the 37th infantry was deployed last night and this morning along the Rio Grande river near the pontoon bridge in use since destruction of the international bridge by fire. A machine gun battalion has been ordered to Laredo from here, according to orders of the southern department. Airmen leave tonight.

Conflicting reports come from the scene of action as to the number of revolutionists engaged in the skirmish. It is believed, however, that this skirmish was just a forerunner of the real attack on Nuevo Laredo. Only about 50 rebels went against the garrisoned city this morning.

Ricardo Gonzalez is preparing for a bigger fight tonight or in the morning, dispatches say. He is camped with 700 men about eight miles south of Nuevo Laredo at Sanchez. It is undetermined. He sent the small detachment to learn its strength. It is believed. The first report said one man was killed but later reports said eight Yaqui Indians, defenders of the town, were killed and it is known several of the rebels were seriously wounded.

Boleshevik Drive Poles In Continued Advances on the Polish Frontier.

By United Press. LONDON, July 15.—Polish troops wrecked and destroyed the city of Bobruisk, southeast of Minsk, when bolshevik forces drove them from the city, according to an official wireless dispatch from Moscow today. The dispatch stated the red advance was continuing successfully.

A message from Kovno, said Poles are "evacuating Lithuania. Trouble was feared when the Poles began the evacuation of the city of Vilna, as the Lithuanians will immediately occupy the place.

Boleshevik troops landed on the south shore of the Caspian sea and have been reinforced and are marching southward according to advices to the British war office. The reds were reported threatening Teheran. Persia has appealed to Great Britain for arms and ammunition to combat the advance of the bolsheviks.

An official Warsaw dispatch declared the Poles had withdrawn to the Vistula river, northeast of Vilna, as a result of strong bolshevik pressure.

"After desperate fighting, the enemy reached Smolensk and Lithuanians evacuated Dabno after a heroic defense. East of Slutsk our withdrawal is proceeding."

Prior to 1913 Christensen was ranked as a Republican, but allied himself with the Bull Moose in that year. The death of that party set him adrift, and he said, "he sidled into the stall and voted for Wilson in 1916."

RAILROAD COM. ORDERS SANTA FE TO BETTER SERVICE

AUSTIN, TEX., July 15.—The railroad commission today issued an order directing the Beaumont division of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway to install and operate an additional "adequately equipped passenger train, daily, between Beaumont and Longview for the accommodation of the traveling public."

This order becomes effective Sunday, September 12. This is the result of a hearing held on the subject in which it was complained that the present passenger service was insufficient and inadequate.

FIVE RAILROAD MEN FINED $1,000 VIOLATION LEVER ACT

LOS ANGELES, CAL., July 15.—Five railroad men, convicted of having violated the Lever act by participating in the switchmen's strike last April, were sentenced to pay fines of $1,000 each by Judge B. F. Bledsoe in the United States district court here today.

TEXAN ESCAPES FROM TRIESTE HOTEL FIRE

TRIESTE, July 12.—Francis Flynn of San Antonio, Texas, who escaped from a burning hotel during the anti-Slav demonstration here Tuesday, is an American sailor, in the uniform of a chief electrician and is head of the United States navy communication service in Trieste.

Flynn was trapped on the fifth floor of the burning building and made his escape by finding his way to another building and jumping twenty feet to the street. He then tried to get to his office to report events to Rear Admiral Andrews, commander of the American warships in the Adriatic, but failed.

Several American families who were caught in the burning hotel had just arrived from America and were awaiting trains to Jugoslavia. Some presented themselves at the American consulate, quite destitute, having lost their belongings in the fire. Among them was Rufus Ryman of Nashville, Tenn. Ryman was decorated by the Italian government for bravery in the Durazzo fighting during the war.

The Pennsylvania railroad is now forced to employ 127 men to do the work done by 166 men in 1917.

15,100 MEXICANS MIGRATE TO TEXAS LAST YEAR

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—Last year 15,100 families emigrated from Mexico to Texas alone, the secretary of commerce and labor announces, according to El Universal today. The newspaper quotes Francisco Bustos as saying that lack of work in Mexico and better pay in the United States were the reasons for the exodus, which was aggravated by recent strikes in Mexico.

The government, however, the president declared, could not prevent emigration, which would be limiting personal freedom.

HANOVER, KANSAS, STICKS BY JAEDECKE IN BANK TROUBLE

HANOVER, Kan., July 15.—August Jaedecke, defaulting bank president today is out on $50,000 bond, furnished by loyal friends. Hanover took a holiday to welcome its fugitive banker, who was brought back by the sheriff from Louisiana. Jaedecke's return fulfilled a gypsy's prophecy.

So sure are Jaedecke's friends that he will be able to straighten out the affairs of his bank that 25 of them qualified for $18,000 bond if necessary.

MALLORY CO. TO RESUME N. Y. GALVESTON SERVICE

AUSTIN, TEX., July 15.—Resumption of the New York-Galveston service by the Mallory Steamship Line will commence next week, Governor W. F. Hobby was advised today in a telegram from officials of that company, "with as frequent sailings as conditions will permit."

"We earnestly desire continued service, and will do so, so long as we can secure sufficient traffic either from Boston or New York and northbound traffic and via Galveston that we can dispose of upon arrival at either New York or Boston," stated the telegram.

This message was in answer to the telegram sent by the governor to the Mallory Line protesting against suspension of the New York-Galveston service.

AUSTIN, TEX., July 15.—The state tax board is in session today for the purpose of fixing the state ad valorem and school tax rate for the next fiscal year. The present tax rate is .75 cents on the $100 property valuation, being 35 cents ad valorem, 35 cents school and five cents Confederate pension. State Treasurer J. W. McKnight, mother of Evans McKnight, 10, who was accidentally shot and killed by his brother Roland, 12, at their home here last night, is prostrated with grief and physicians say her condition is critical. The older boy picked up an automatic revolver to put it away when it was discharged, the bullet striking his brother, killing him instantly.

The boys were alone in the house at the time. Neighbors rushed in and notified a physician. The gun was discharged a second time when one of the physicians picked it up from the floor. No one was hurt.

Who Wrote Your Favorite Photoplay?

Something About Scenario Writers and Their Work

Ouida Bergere

Jeanie Macpherson in her studio office

Walter Woods

WHO is your favorite author? Is he the man responsible for one of "the six best sellers"? Is he one of the school which goes in for deep studies of character or the teller of some tale of gay romance? Do you follow his stories in the current magazines or between the pages of a well-bound volume?

Perhaps you will find his work in neither place. Are you sure that your favorite story-teller is not the man who writes the adventurous romances of the screen, the plays in which your best-loved motion picture stars fascinate you night after night? Of course—and you are one with the general public—you probably have never noticed who is the author of the picture story. It will not be long, however, before the author's name, in many cases, will mean more to the film-goer than will the name of the playwright in his drama. The scenario writer's field is a comparatively new one, but it is growing so rapidly and the screen is becoming such a powerful factor in the dissemination of thought that, in a few years, it will vie with, if not supersede, the printed page as a medium for the distribution of an author's work. Even now the leading writers of the world, realizing this, are turning their eyes to the screen and are writing directly for it. The day of the original screen story is at hand.

Varied Experience Helpful. Writing for the screen involves the knowledge of a technique widely differing from that of the novel, short story or stage play. The form of the story is different; its limitations are few, as compared with the stage; a surprisingly wealth of character detail and human experience may be presented. Therefore scenario writers—the successful ones—are, for the most part, persons whose life experiences have been widely varied. Often they have come from the field of the theater or of fiction writing, but invariably they have a variety of interests and are, without exception, close students of all phases of life.

Take, for example, Jeanie Macpherson, author of the scenarios for Cecil B. De Mille's productions for Paramount, among them "For Better, For Worse," "Something to Think About," "Joan, the Woman," and "Don't Change Your Husband." Miss Macpherson's mother is a French woman and the daughter was educated at the school of Mlle. Defacques in Paris. After her graduation she turned to the stage for her career, appearing with Forbes-Robertson and later under Henry B. Harris in "Strongheart," "As Tita with James T. Powers in "Havana," she played on Broadway for a year.

Prefers to Write. From the beginning motion pictures attracted the young actress so it was not surprising that she turned to the cinema at the earliest opportunity. She appeared in a number of early Biograph productions, deserting this organization to play leads with Universal. Here she secured an opportunity to write and direct as well as play in her own productions. Miss Macpherson has appeared in a number of productions but it is as a scenario writer that she has won her greatest fame. She is an enthusiastic aviator, owning and flying her own airplane.

Elmer Harris

College life and college dramatics formed the background for the debut of Elmer Harris for it was during his undergraduate days at the University of California that he first became interested in the stage. This interest persisted after graduation, and Harris joined Robert Edison's "Soldiers of Fortune" company. Soon after he went to Europe where he spent five years. Playing minor roles and studying the drama, Harris toured England, France, Italy and Germany and his first stage writing—a one-act play called "Tempesta"—was written and produced abroad.

Upon his return to the United States he spent a year touring the country and then returned to the stage for a brief period, leaving it again to accept the dramatic editorship of the New York Globe.

Dramatic Director. Harris' first American-made play was a dramatization of a story by Geraldine Bonner which reached the stage as "Sham" with Henrietta Crossman playing the leading role. "The Offenders," "Trial Marriage," and several musical pieces in collaboration with Oliver Morosco followed. Although primarily interested in the stage at this time, Harris found time to write for the screen and made a picture version of "Sappho" in which Florence Roberts appeared. During the war he served as dramatic director at Camp Bowie, Fort Worth, Texas, and following his discharge, joined the scenario staff of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, since which time he has written the scenarios for "The Lottery Man," "Why Smith Left Home," "It Pays to Advertise," and "The Six Best Cellars." Most of these photoplays have been of the farce-comedy type and Harris plans to specialize in this type of writing in the future.

maurice) was born in Madrid, Spain, her father was French and Spanish; her mother an English woman. At the age of eight she came to America, mastered English and, almost as a child, went on the stage, remaining there seven years, playing leads with Robert Edson and Wilton Lackaye. After appearing in "The Brute" she left the stage for the screen under the direction of Frank Powell. Six years ago, while working with Pathe, she submitted a story, which was accepted; and her days as a screen actress were over. George Fitzmaurice, today one of Paramount's featured directors, was working in the Pathe scenario department at the time, and the romance, which was to end in their marriage, began. They worked together, turning out free lance stuff for Famous Players, Biograph and Vitagraph. Their first screen play, for which she supplied the scenario and which he directed, was an adaptation of "Via Wireless," in the stage version of which she had played.

Keeps Her Busy. Later Miss Bergere became associated with the American Play Com-

Dance," "The Right to Love," and "Lumberlands" and "Graft" are the "Idols of Clay," featuring Mae Murray and David Powell and directed by Mr. Fitzmaurice; "The Broken Melody" for Eugene O'Brien, and "Our Better Selves," for Fanny Ward.

Walter Woods, author of the scenarios for Bryant Washburn's "A Very Good Young Man," Wallace Reid's "Love Burglar," and "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," Houdini's "The Grim Game," and George Melford's special production, "The Round Up," was a power in the legitimate stage producing field a few years ago. Managing a group of stock companies in several Massachusetts cities, among them Boston, New Bedford, Holyoke, Lowell and Walham. Still another of his companies held the stage of the principal theater in St. Johns, New Brunswick. While managing these companies Woods also wrote several successful stage plays, two of them being used by Joseph Santley in the early days of his career.

Traveled Then Wrote. Then came the sudden popularity of the motion picture with the result that Woods' stock companies seemed doomed. Recognizing the handwriting on the wall he turned to the very thing that was ruining his business and, with the idea of ultimately directing, he joined the scenario staff of Universal. His original stories of this period include "Even as You and I" and several serials of which "The Lass of the

Started as Artist. Olga Printzlau started her career as an artist, but about nine years ago a motion picture company built a studio in the neighborhood of her art workshop at Long Beach, Cal., and she became interested in the literary possibilities of this newer art. After writing many stories she finally acquired screen technique and forged rapidly to the front rank of screen writers. She joined the scenario staff of the old Biograph Company, writing two of Mary Pickford's early screen successes. Then followed periods with the Majestic Motion Picture Co., the American, the Universal and Thomas H. Ince, among the celebrated figures of the screen for whom she has written stories are Hobart Bosworth, Charles Ray, Frank Keenan, Enid Bennett and Bessie Barriscale.

Two years ago Miss Printzlau joined the literary staff of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, working in close association with William De Mille. Her most recent efforts have been "The Prince Chap," in which Thomas Meighan is starred, and "Why Change Your Wife?" Cecil B. De Mille's production, on which she collaborated with Sada Cowan. Miss Printzlau is one of the most prolific writers of the motion picture field, the grand total of her stories which have been produced to date, totalling three hundred and fifty-eight. This number includes a host of one and two reel productions. She is also the author of two one-act sketches, "Dream Doors" and "Conception."

The first literary efforts of Sada Cowan, who collaborated with Olga Printzlau on "Why Change Your Wife?" were romantically poetical in nature, but a discerning editor nipped her career as a poet while it was yet in the bud. Undaunted by this initial rebuff, Miss Cowan turned to prose and speedily established herself as a writer of short stories for such magazines as Collier's, Smart Set, and the Forum.

Among the Best. Educated abroad, Miss Cowan spent many of her impressionistic years in the capitals of the continent. Her first interest in the drama dates back to her first years in Paris. With the achievement of success in the short story field, she turned to the stage and more particularly the one-act play. In the five years during which she has written for the theater, Miss Cowan has produced fourteen one-act plays, all of which have been presented. Three of this number have been published and several are now entertaining vaudeville audiences.

The stories of other writers for the screen are the same in many general characteristics. All of them are filled with a genuine love of the theater and a feeling for drama; most of them are records of wide travel and a great variety of environment and experience. Hard work, patience and a belief in themselves and their work have made these writers the most popular, if not, as yet, the best known authors in the world.

Motion pictures will form a permanent amusement for passengers on liners between San Francisco and Hawaii of the Matson Navigation Company which has just concluded a contract to use Paramount pictures exclusively on their four ships. Performances will be given every evening between 7:30 and 9 p. m. during the voyage.

Roscoe (Patty) Arbuckle is dieting on milk to keep up his weight, essential for the part he takes in the screen version of Irvin S. Cobb's story, "The Life of the Party," now under production.

Intermission for 'Refreshments'

A CHINAMAN, they say, will buy a rosary of rice or a clean collar—but he won't pay real money for something he can not see. So he never buys a ticket upon entering one of his native cinema theaters. He goes in, takes a seat, and watches the picture up to a certain point. If he is, as we say in our vulgar Occidental fashion, "sold" on the proposition, he purchases his ticket and stays to see the rest of the performance. If it happens to be hot in the theater, during the course of the entertainment ushers will pass through the aisles with wet towels. They fling these towels into the audience when a spectator signifies a desire for temporary relief from the heat; and, as this towel-throwing contest naturally interferes with a vision of the screen, the picture is stopped at regular intervals to allow for it! But if these customs are or seem to be clumsy, consider the up-to-date higher-class houses, where a Chinese lady of good standing may meet her escort in the lobby and dine in the supper room, which is a feature of all the best cinemas.

Then came the sudden popularity of the motion picture with the result that Woods' stock companies seemed doomed. Recognizing the handwriting on the wall he turned to the very thing that was ruining his business and, with the idea of ultimately directing, he joined the scenario staff of Universal. His original stories of this period include "Even as You and I" and several serials of which "The Lass of the

OLYMPIC ASPIRANTS GATHER AT HARVARD FOR FINAL WEEDING-OUT FOR TRIP TO ANTWERP CLASSICS

CAMBRIDGE, July 15.—The soil of Harvard stadium, which has been pounded by some of the most famous feet in the world, will be perforated today and tomorrow by the spiked shoes of the greatest army of athletes ever assembled in the United States.

The Olympic games of 1920 in St. Louis will have nothing in quantity and quality to compare with the cream of the east, west, north, south, the army and the navy that will fight for the honor of wearing Uncle Sam's shield in the Antwerp classics.

At least 300 star track and field performers, who have already gone through one weeding-out process in the sectional trials, will make their supreme bid for a place on the team in the final trials that will be held in conjunction with the national A. U. outdoor championships.

One hundred and seventy-four officially certified Olympic candidates—43 from the Pacific coast, 43 from the middle-west, 15 from the south and 75 from the east have been submitted for the finals by the sectional committees. Almost an equal number will come from the divisional trials of the army and the navy and the number will be augmented by aspirants for the national championships which are unrestricted.

The members of the team will be picked here by the American committee tomorrow night, after the close of the two-day meet.

In addition to keen individual battles, a spectacular fight is bound to be staged between the university and club men and between the various clubs for the distinction of placing the most number of members on the team.

The club fight will be between the New York Athletic Club, the Meadowbrook Club of Philadelphia, the Boston Athletic Club, the Olympic Club of San Francisco, the Spokane Athletic Club, the Chicago Athletic Association, the Illinois Athletic Club and the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Most of the college stars will carry club colors with the big organizations, but individual entries will compete for Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Notre Dame, Dartmouth, California, Southern California, Redlands, Michigan, Iowa, Drake University, Pennsylvania, Washington State, Syracuse, Kansas Aggies and Missouri.

Three events particularly promise a most thrilling show—the 100-yard dash, the 440-yard hurdles and the high jump.

The "whales of the New York police department," McDonald, Ryan and McGrath will be the big noises in the weight division assisted by the New York University star, Howard Cann; Mueks, Chicago A. A.; Richards of the Ogden A. A. and others.

From such a field of capable performers, the American committee not only hopes to pick the best team that has ever represented Uncle Sam in the Olympic games, but the team will report immediately to the coaches after being picked and probably will be taken to the country home of the New York Athletic Club, Princeton University and other environs of the metropolis to await the transport that will take them to Antwerp on July 20 or 23.

Nine sprinters, all capable of from 9.4 to 10 seconds, will crouch on the line for the century dash. Heading the list are the sensational California pair, Faddock of the University of Southern California and Kirksey of the Olympic Club and the fleet-footed Missourian, Jack Scholtz, all 9.4-5 men. Howard Drew, holder of the world's record will try to come back against other fliers, including Murchison of the New York A. C.; Williams of Spokane A. C.; Lever of Meadowbrook Club; Billy Hayes of Boston A. A.; and Leomis, of Chicago A. A.

Another new world's record may result in the 440-yard hurdles from the fight between Norton of the Olympic Club who set a new mark of 54.1-2 in the trials and Delch of Notre Dame who equalled the old mark of 54.5 the same day.

The high jump also promises spectacular work when six who can clear the bar around 6 ft. 4 in. get together including the inter-collegiate Yale champion, London of the New York A. C.; Walter Whalen, the national champion of Boston A. A.; Johnny Murphy, of Notre Dame; Muller, of the University of California; Templeton, of the San Francisco Olympic Club and Logan Erickson, the New York cop.

The mile run likewise may have a new record hung up before Jole Ray, the record holder of the Illinois Club; Bill Curtiss, of the navy; Harold Curry, of the Boston A. A. and Larry Shields of the Meadowbrook club get through with each other.

The running broad jump has the makings of an interesting battle between Sol Butler, of Dubuque; Carl Johnson, of Michigan; Jack Merchant, of the University of California and Young of Redlands.

Five pole vaulters who can go over around 13 ft. will also be worthy of watching. They are Foss, of Chicago A. A.; Gardner, Yale; Meyers, Dartmouth; Landers of Penn. and Knourek of Illinois A. C.

Yesterday's hero: Penneck, Red Sox hurler. He rushed in in the ninth inning of the first game and stopped a Tiger rally, winning six to five and went back in the second game and shut them out 4 to 0.

Sam Rice's homer with two on in the fifth and a pass and three triples in a row in the eighth enabled Washington to beat the White Sox 6 to 4.

Mann's homer, the first out of the park in Pittsburgh this season, was wasted as the Pirates won from the Braves 4 to 3.

Babe Ruth hit his 24th homer and was passed three times by Dixie Davis. The Yanks lost to the Browns 7 to 3.

The Indians overcame a three run lead and beat the Athletics 5 to 2.

The Giants hit three pitchers hard and beat the Cards 7 to 1.

The champion Reds had to go ten innings to win from the Phils 3 to 2.

The Dodgers strengthened their hold on first place by taking a double header from the Cubs 3 to 2 and 4 to 1.

Because of the disturbed labor conditions in the United States orders for tin and steel plate lately poured into South Wales all over the world, buyers being willing to pay almost any price for early shipments. One order for tin plate amounted to 1,000,000 boxes. Some workmen were getting $100 per week.

During the past four years the cost of producing copper has more than doubled. Statistics show that the cost per pound in 1915 varied from 6 to 10 cents, while in 1919 this cost varied from 12 to 22 cents.

CITY LEAGUE MOGULS DECIDE TO GET DOWN TO REAL BUSINESS

At a meeting of the City League moguls last night in the Southern Electric store, the protest of the First Presbyterian Bible class over a game played by them with the Wichita Motors was upheld and the game will be played eight consecutive dates. The game in question was played June 12 and it was alleged by the Presbyterians that the Motor trucks refused to allow a pinch hitter to bat.

J. W. Bristol was elected vice president, secretary and treasurer of the league to fill the vacancies created by resignations. An official standing of the league was done out for the first time and the meeting was by far the most enthusiastic of the year.

Up to date things have been running in a rather slipshod manner and the executives got down to business last night and will see to it that the league affairs will be handled as they should be in the future. Among those present at the meeting were Stanley Hill of the Wichita Motors, R. D. Mauldin of the First National, K. Bonner of the American National, M. Potts of the Texoma company and Harry Hauser of the First Presbyterians.

The official standing of the league to date is:

City National	W. L. Pct.
Wichita Motors	12 6 .667
American Nat'l	10 5 .667
1st Gardner, Yale	8 8 .500
City National	13 8 .619
First National	6 10 .375
Texoma	1 18 .052

LANGHAM WILL TRY TO STOP BOBBY JONES TODAY

MEMPHIS, TENN., July 15.—Play for the championship of the western golf association has narrowed down today to eight candidates when the third round was begun on the Memphis Country Club course.

Today's card called for the meeting of Bobby Jones, the Atlanta south, and C. W. Hibbs, Jr. of Dallas. "Chick" Evans, the Chicago veteran and James Ward of Kansas City, Henry Wenzler of Memphis and Bart Wilford, of Indianapolis, and Polack Boyd of Chattanooga and Clarence Wolf of St. Louis.

WINDY CITY QUARTET IS SHOWING GREAT FORM IN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

CHICAGO, July 15.—Four Chicago players and four visiting players held places in four of the eight corners of the sixth round in the men's singles of the national clay court tennis championship at the start of play this afternoon. One fifth round match remained to be played.

The pairing for sixth round competition today arranged Roland Robert of San Francisco, against Ralph Burdick, Chicago; E. Lindley Murray of Niagara Falls against the winner of the fifth round contest between Joseph Armstrong of St. Paul and Alex Squaw of Chicago; Jerry Walter, Chicago, against Lucien Williams, Chicago, and Walter Hayes, Chicago, against Vincent Richards, New York.

TRAPP DEMANDS OPPONENT TO PROVE "SLUSH FUND"

TOPEKA, KANS., July 15.—C. H. Trapp, Topeka printer who is managing the campaign of Ed Rooney, Topeka lawyer who is opposing Attorney General R. J. Hopkins for a re-nomination at the republican primary today challenged the attorney general to prosecute him if the state believes an illegal slush fund is being used to promote Rooney's candidacy.

The attorney general had previously given out a statement in which he said he had been informed $15,000 was being used in his opponent's behalf and that the wholesale grocers, cement manufacturers and ice plant operators were contributors. Kansas has a corrupt practice law that forbids a candidate spending more than 10 percent of the salary of an office in campaigning for election.

Trapp emphatically denied any of the organizations mentioned by Hopkins and his friends were contributing to the Rooney campaign, but admitted 20,000 letters were being sent out by him.

HART PILOTS FIRST NATIONAL OUTFIT TO 4 TO 2 VICTORY

Hart was working in top form yesterday and the result was a 4 to 2 victory for the First National over the American Nationals. Only 2 hits were gleaned off his delivery, two of which were very scratchy. Carter McGregor's batting was a feature of the game.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES FEATURE SPEAKING AT BURKBURNETT WEDNESDAY

Four candidates for the democratic nomination as representative from the 101st legislative district divided time at the Airdome theater in Burkburnett last night. The legislative candidates were followed by Fletcher S. Jones and Elmer Graham, candidates for district attorney of the 30th judicial district; Ed Napier and Judge Edgar Scurry, candidates for judge of the 78th judicial districts, and by various candidates for county offices. City Attorney McBride of Burkburnett introduced the various speakers.

F. G. Swanson, legislative candidate, denied in emphatic terms that he made at Electra the remark that the "open shop is nurtured in iniquity and born in the slums of the Kemp & Kell building."

"I did say that the open shop was conceived in iniquity and I tonight repeat my former assertions that the open shop was created in star chamber proceedings characterized by gag rule and application of the unit rule, decidedly contrary to the exercise of the individual liberty of action it is alleged the open shop was created to protect and guarantee presumably to its own membership as well as others."

"There may be technical distinctions, but it seems strange and paradoxical that the unit rule so entirely out of place in a labor organization can be ethically used by an organization alleging that it was brought into existence to eliminate organized control and protect individual freedom of action. This would indicate that it all depends upon whose ox is gored."

"I therefore repeat that without defending unlawful strikes and granting that they were mistakes and in error, that the open shop is but a horse of another color with no inherent or essentially higher morals or ethics in practice than labor."

Mr. Swanson declared that he was born in Pennsylvania, began life among the oil derricks of the Pennsylvania oil field as a day laborer, later studied law and was a magistrate in the Canal zone during the construction of that water highway. The speaker said that he came to Texas several years ago and has recently been engaged in the practice of law. He endorsed better schools and a state highway system "second to none in the United States."

B. F. Johnson, also a candidate for the legislature, voiced the side of the open shop declaring that if he was sent to Austin he would be a representative of "all the people and not a mere group." Johnson reviewed his past career, declaring that he "was born in south Texas, educated in west Texas, married in east Texas and now running for office for the first time in north Texas." Mr. Johnson emphasized the services of a competent business man in the state legislature and promised that if he was elected that "no unjust tax legislation would be enacted with his consent."

H. Wyatt, Burkburnett attorney, went on record as being in favor of better schools and more of them, good roads and "not so much legislation." Wyatt said he came to Wichita county two years ago and had engaged in the practice of law since coming to this section. The speaker endorsed organized labor but declared that the union shop question was not an essential issue in the legislative campaign.

Col. H. P. George, also of Burkburnett, declared that he is making the race for the state legislature on a platform of better schools and better state highways, fewer laws and better laws.

Fletcher S. Jones, candidate for a second term as district attorney, reviewed his record while in office. "There has been 104 felony cases tried in Wichita county during my administration and I have secured 84 convictions while 21 were acquitted; 15 felony cases have been tried in Clay county in which eight convictions and seven acquittals were returned; convictions were secured in all cases tried in Archer and in Young counties there being six tried in Young and two tried in Archer county." The district attorney told of the hardships of his early life when he worked as an oil field "roughneck" in the Beaumont field and later became a locomotive fireman on the Southern Pacific route. He praised very highly the war record of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, a labor organization to which Mr. Jones has belonged for a long number of years.

Elmer Graham, candidate for district attorney in opposition to Mr. Jones, assailed the record of his opponent during the past two years declaring that "if I am elected district attorney I will 'put a kick' in the office that will send terror in the hearts of the highway robbers and bandits who have recently terrorized this section."

"I believe that a 'necktie party' would have a good effect in Wichita county," Mr. Graham declared.

E. D. Martin, candidate for county judge, again championed the cause of better county roads. Ed Napier and Judge Edgar Scurry, candidates for judge of the 78th district court, divided time and their remarks were similar to those made at Electra and Iowa Park. Sheriff Bob McFall, a candidate for second term, made a short talk as did Judge Gus Rogers of the county court-at-law. E. S. Whitelaw and Irvan Deaton, candidates for county tax assessor, were in the audience, but did not make addresses.
