OFFICIAL VOTE MAKES CHANGE IN RESULT IN LEGISLATIVE CONTESTS

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—Due to differences between the official reports and reports received by the Texas Election Bureau, the following results in legislative races have been changed from reports as published last Sunday:

In Representative District 96 there will be a run-off between T. H. King of Stephenville and H. Grady Perry of Dublin. It was first reported that Mr. Perry had been nominated.

Boy Scout News

The regular weekly meeting of troops 1, 2, 4, 6, 7 and 9 were held Friday night. All scoutmasters who were in the city were present and in charge of their troops.

Troop 7 met early Friday night and had a ball game before the regular meeting. The "regulars" and "scrubs" clashed in a lovely five-inning battle.

Chuff Hearn, the naval recruiting officer now in this city, attended the meeting of troop 1 Friday night, about 8 o'clock, and addressed the boys on seamanship.

A good start was made in the reorganization of troop 9 at the meeting held Friday night. Scoutmaster Merrill after discussing the reorganization project with the boys and reviewing the scout plans, took all those present to a watermelon garden and told them to "dig in and fill up."

A Boy Scout band is to be organized in the future and plans are now under way in regard to the organization and policy of the band. Professor Fred Littlefield has been secured as director of the boys and he requests that all scouts in the city who play wind instruments turn their name and that of the instrument they play into Scout Executive H. E. Taylor.

A troop library was started by the boys of troop 1 Friday night, about 8 o'clock. A dozen books being contributed as a starter. It is the plan now to increase this with books on scouting and popular fiction which are very popular with the scouts. This is the first scout library to be started in Wichita Falls.

The patrol leaders meeting which was scheduled for last Wednesday night was rained out and has been postponed until a later date.

The scout examination board will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday of this week at the First Methodist Church, South. At this time all scouts wishing to take examinations for merit badges will be given opportunity to do so. The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30.

Scoutmaster S. M. White of troop 6 is expected to return from Camp Mabry the latter part of this week. His troop being handled by the assistant scoutmaster.

Scouts wishing to go on the camping trip to the Wichita Mountains are reminded that their applications must be in the hands of Mr. Taylor within the next few days. No boys will be considered that have not handed in written application to be included on the trip.

A scoutmasters conference for this territory is to be held at the camp of the Oklahoma City Boy Scouts from August 27 to 29 inclusive. This camp is located in the Wichita mountains a short distance from Lawton. Several local scoutmasters are expected to attend.

The annual scout executives conference of America will be held in New York city, beginning September 13. It will last about 10 days. This convention will be attended by scout executives and high scout officials from all over the country and a number of important speakers have been secured to appear on the program. Scout Executive Taylor of this city is expected to attend the convention.

AWARD BIG SUM FOR MALICIOUS INJURIES

DUBLIN, Aug. 14.—The sums awarded by the courts to the victims of "malicious injuries" in Ireland now aggregate nearly £1,000,000. They are payable out of local taxes and it is the duty of the new local Sinn Fein councils to levy and collect the money.

White of troop 6 were the only ones absent. These two troops were in charge of the assistant scoutmasters.

The largest taxpayers are Unionists who do not relish the prospect of having to pay for the outrages of men with whom they have not the smallest sympathy. There has, therefore, been started an agitation for relieving citizens of the burden of these charges.

The argument is that these outrages were undoubted acts of war. They were of the same class and motivated by the same purpose as the rebellion of Easter week. Some of the judges who made the awards have endorsed this view from the bench.

The British government paid out of the Imperial Exchequer for the damage done in Easter week. They appropriated £15,000,000 out of which the ruined portions of the city of Dublin are being rebuilt. They are now being asked by resolutions of the Grand Juries of Irish counties, which consist almost entirely of Unionists, to follow the same precedent and to pay out Imperial funds for the damage now frequently being done to life and property.

The government has been quite willing to pay for the damage done by the soldiers and police in the cases of retaliation that have occurred in Thurles and Fermoy but they are unwilling, it is reported, to pay for the damage done by their opponents. Meanwhile, the victims are left without compensation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—In the effort to obtain a permanent record of the officers who died in the war, the Army and Navy Club of America with present club quarters at 13 Gramercy Park, New York City, has sent questionnaires to more than 3,000 relatives and friends of the heroic dead. When returned, the story of each man's life will be transferred from the questionnaire to imperishable vellum and preserved in a permanent memorial library of records which will be a part of Officers' Memorial Hall in the new Army and Navy Club house to be erected in New York City.

The questionnaires when filled out will contain the complete data of the civil and naval or military history of each of the nation's leaders who made the supreme sacrifice. The record will include all the important events in relation to the officers' life that will be of interest to future generations.

With the information blanks the club also appealed for photographs, documentary records, letters and citations. These will be copied and returned.

According to Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, president of the club, the records, when compiled, can be examined by members of an officers' family and personal friends upon identification and by historians and others having a legitimate right to examine them. But they are not to be open to curiosity seekers, as they will be a sacred and precious session of the Army and Navy Club of America.

SALINA, Kan., August 14.—A score of men of Salina are "minus" $1,000 and they are not saying a word. Three strangers blew into town, incidentally announced that they had three kegs of perfectly good " booze" and they would sell the 15 gallons.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 14.—Information received here today by authoritative sources said that Dr. Paul Altendorff, recently ordered to leave Mexico as an undesirable foreigner, had been taken from a train at Monterey, N. L., while on his way to Nuevo Laredo, and returned to Mexico City, where he has been placed in prison.

Altendorff's wife, who was Mrs. Wallace McIver Woody of Louisville, Ky., has been in San Antonio several weeks and has been without word of her husband since August 7, when she received a telegram from the American embassy at Mexico, saying her husband had been arrested.

ENCOUNTER VEIN OF COAL IN OIL WELL IN ARCHER COUNTY

PENETRATED TO A DISTANCE OF EIGHTEEN INCHES WHEN DRILL IS STOPPED.

COAL ON EXHIBIT AT CHAMBER COMMERCE

Said to Be First Anthracite That Has Been Found in This Section.

The Wichita Petroleum Company, drilling a test well about seven miles south and a little west of Wichita Falls on the Seymour road, on the Denton county school lands, encountered a stratum of hard coal or anthracite yesterday at a depth of 1767 feet. When the drill was stopped last night it had penetrated the rock coal to a distance of 18 inches. For the last 100 feet before striking this coal-bed the drill went through numerous "little stringers" of hard coal and released gas in sufficient quantities to keep up a continuous bubbling in the slush pit. So far as is known at this time this is the first anthracite found in this part of the country, though soft coal has been found in abundance.

N. P. Girard, who came in from the well last night, says that the cap-rock of the Pennsylvania wells is usually a stratum of anthracite and he confidently expects to find oil sand below this coal. He is a native of the Keystone state, and says that he was reared in the oil business, as his father was engaged in it at the time of his birth.

Compared with Pennsylvania, he says that in that region, when a well is drilled down to a stratum of anthracite its owners congratulate each other and consider the bringing in of a good well as being practically accomplished, and that there an oil man would stake his all upon such a prospect as the present one. He says that the little stringers of coal are encountered along with gas before the cap-rock of coal is reached. In fact, every feature of this well corresponds to the features of the Pennsylvania wells.

He has no doubt about being in the cap-rock of an oil sand, but the cap-rock may be many feet in thickness or it may be that the drill will penetrate the sand as soon as it starts to turn tomorrow morning. If it proves that this layer of coal is a thick one, the discovery will mean vastly more to Wichita Falls and the state of Texas than the mere bringing in of a new oil pool, however large and productive it may be, for anthracite mines will mean permanent industries of the most substantial and remunerative kind, such as cotton and woolen mills, glass, factories and farmhouses, and will place Wichita Falls at the head of Texas cities in importance and population.

This well is in an untried region, the nearest wells being the Temple-White well two miles to the northwest and the wells of the Panther Pool, three and one-fourth miles to the southwest.

Anthracite is not formed, like soft or bituminous coal, of vegetable matter under pressure, but is thought to be formed from gas which has risen from oil under peculiar conditions. It is found above oil, usually as a cap rock to the oil sand, and is homogeneous in nature and appearance. No fossils have ever been found in anthracite, though bituminous coals contain them. Some lumps of the coal brought out of Wichita Petroleum Co.'s well were placed in the tool furnace today as a test, and were found to have all the characteristics of the anthracite of Pennsylvania. Some specimens brought in by Mr. Girard have every resemblance to the well known hard coal of the east, and may be seen at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

WASHINGTON CONCERNED OVER POLISH SITUATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14.—Officials in Washington seem to be in a mental fog concerning the Polish-Russian situation. About the only thing they know is that the soviet armies are nearly on the point of crushing Poland; that the allies will not give military assistance, and that President Wilson intends to preserve a strict policy of neutrality, even if the whole of Europe goes to war again.

Decision of the president not to take part in the European embroglio meets with general approval in Washington, where the sympathies of officials and congressmen are equally divided for the unfortunate Poles and the Russian people who have always been friendly to the United States.

What is not clear in Washington is the forces that are behind the soviet drive on Warsaw. Is the drive now at the gates of the Polish capital the red wave preparing to flood all Europe and the remainder of the world if possible, or is it only a demonstration of the military factions in Russia trying to gain prestige in defeating the Poles so that Russia will be safe from invasion later from any coalition of the European powers, and particularly safe from a revived and avenging Germany?

Officials believe it is a waste of time to negotiate with Lenin and Trotsky if these anarchists are howling in the hands of the military leaders like Kuropatkin, Broussiloff and others of the celebrated generals who flourished during the czar's regime and who now seem to be in absolute control of the soviet armies, cable reports stating that these commanders render very little allegiance to Moscow.

Only when Europe and this country know for certain what are the real main springs back of the Polish drive will the government and the diplomats be able to formulate a policy to militarily combat the menace.

There is some opinion here that the military leaders of the soviet armies, once Poland is crushed, will turn the Moscow soviet, rend it to pieces and re-establish a monarchy in Russia.

BOLSHEVIK WITHIN SIGHT OF WARSAW

Flash of Big Guns Can Be Seen From the Capitol.

By Associated Press. WARSAW, Aug. 14.—The front is being gradually brought nearer Warsaw. Before Saturday's dawn, artillery flashes were visible against the clouds to the north and northeast, and at times cannon could be heard. People on the roofs of the highest buildings watched the gun flashes until the early hours.

Today's communique concedes that the Poles withdrew further in the center of the Warsaw front, asserting it was for the purpose of regrouping soldiers who have fallen back on the defense line less than 19 kilometers out in the center of Warsaw, where some two thousand red cavalrymen are making rapid progress toward the Vistula. The cavalry's right flank, which follows the right wing of the Russian frontier, has been reinforced by red infantry soldiers who have requisitioned the peasants' horses and are close on the heels of the cavalry division.

The Poles say that there is no chance of the Bolshevik crossing the vistula either below or above Warsaw, as the Russians have the west, and that all precautions in these sections have been taken.

It is estimated it will require several days before the reds from the northwest reach the river. Meanwhile, the newspapers continue to report that a counter stroke will bring the results desired to free Warsaw from immediate danger. The reds, however, are making a little progress daily at various points, particularly directly in front of the city and through the cavalry thrust on the northwest.

Prince Eugene Sapieha, Polish foreign minister, last night sent a wireless message to M. Tchitcherin, the Bolshevik foreign minister, announcing the Polish peace delegation's intention to cross the front Saturday at the time and place which had been arranged.

He said the party would be composed of some thirty technical experts. M. Tchitcherin sent a wireless reply early this morning as follows: "Your delegation will be met at the time and place indicated. Every facility for communicating by wireless and courier will be granted."

EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF WATER IS DEMANDED

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Aug. 14.—Proposed institution in a suit by the state of Texas against the state of New Mexico for an equitable distribution of the water of the Pecos river as authorized by the Texas legislature may be avoided, if plans now in progress are carried out, said Assistant Attorney General W. W. Caves, who has charge of the matter and who has just returned from Carlsbad, New Mexico where he has been in conference with the New Mexico authorities.

ference with the New Mexico authorities. Judge Caves said he found the state engineer and other officials of New Mexico more than willing to reach an amicable agreement on the proposition without having to resort to extended litigation. There are approximately 200,000 acres of fertile land situated in the Pecos Valley, Judge Caves said, and of this acreage, there are an additional 30,000 unirrigated and 100,000 more in which irrigation ditches have been constructed and the owners of the land are ready for reception of the water.

The construction of a dam by the federal government at Carlsbad is one of the contributing causes of the failure of sufficient water to flow into Texas. It was also found that there is not a suitable reservoir site in Texas wherein a sufficient amount of water could be stored for irrigating 200,000 acres, but just across the state line into New Mexico, there is what is known as the Red Bluff reservoir site which is said to be suited for an adequate reservoir and the only stumbling block is that a man named Thorp has filed an application for a reservoir at Red Bluff, and this is being resisted by the state of Texas. In the event the Thorp application is refused, then it will be possible to carry out the plans for the establishment of a reservoir at Red Bluff which will store a sufficient amount of water to irrigate the Texas lands.

VILLA AND MEXICAN OFFICIALS AT HALT ON SURRENDER PLANS

By RALPH TURNER United Press Staff Correspondent.

TORREON, CHIHUAHUA, August 14. Rumors of a hitch in the plans for complete surrender of Francisco Villa and demobilization of his army were circulated here today. The disarmament and disbanding of Villa's force at Tlahualilo, Durango, has been postponed for a week. General Eugenio Martinez and the government representatives in the surrender negotiations suddenly returned to Mexico City.

The reports of a break were denied by Martinez's chief of staff and by Villa. According to the chief of staff, Martinez found it necessary to go to Mexico City to confer with President De La Huerta on the details of the final surrender and also to get money to pay each of the 200 Villistas a year's wage, amounting to about $60,000 pesos. It was learned, however, that Martinez disagreed with the proposal that in addition to the armed guard of 50 men which the government allows Villa to retain, he should also take 150 more reformed bandits to his ranch as farm laborers. Martinez pointed out that under such an arrangement Villa would always have 200 retainers at his disposal and could go on the warpath whenever he felt like it. The government has already consented to the Villista officers, totaling 250, keeping their weapons and ammunition.

Final Surrender. At Villa's request the tiny village of Tlahualilo Durango, was chosen for the final surrender and it will be staged there unless hostilities are resumed during the coming week, or unless Pancho changes his mind again. The place selected is a tiny village at the end of a railroad line in the extreme northern corner of Durango. Villa evidently desired the final ceremonies to be held in some isolated place, vetoing the suggestions that his men lay down their arms at Torreon or Gomez Palacio where crowds could see the famous Villistas surrender. Villa is believed to fear that if his men are disarmed in the presence of a big crowd they may be attacked. The whole district has suffered from his raids and many of the people would like to see him dead.

Villa also favored Tlahualilo Durango, because it is a "dry" town. It is controlled by an American cotton-growing concern, which enforces virtual prohibition. Villa said he did not want to take any chances on his men being usually if they were suddenly burdened with wealth in a wet town.

The Villistas are all at Tlahualilo now. They have been pouring in during the last two days from San Pedro, where their leader personally surrendered. It is like a big excursion and the bandits are having as much fun as school boys on a holiday. They rode on top of the freight cars and put their horses inside. It looked like the wild west as the reformed outlaws swarmed down from the roofs of the cars and led their horses, slipping and sliding down the runways. Then they mounted their steeds and milled around the town, swinging lariats and clicking six-shooters, filling the air with wild cries.

McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, today told the district attorney's office his mind was "blank" as to how John C. CIVIC LEAGUE MARKET TO BE OPENED TO THE PUBLIC MONDAY; MISS GAFFNEY TO BE MANAGER

The Wichita Falls Civic League Market, an institution looked forward to for the past several months by local producers and consumers, will open for business Monday morning, August 15, according to an announcement made Saturday morning by Miss Florence Jackson, chairman of the market commission.

The market will be housed at 705 Tenth street, in the building formerly occupied by the Pure Milk Products company. It is the building in its process of re-modeling, only the milk and ice cream departments of the market will be ready for operation Monday morning. The other departments will be open in ten days or two weeks, however, it was stated, and will include a market kitchen and home delicatessen, in addition to the regular produce and poultry market. The whole market will be under the efficient management of Mrs. Minnie Gaffney, well known business woman and home management expert of this city, who has conducted many successful ventures of various natures in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Gaffney has made a study of the operation of markets of this kind throughout the state, and the Civic League Market committee feels very fortunate to have secured her services. Mrs. Gaffney will have as assistant Mrs. Manis, who was with the Pure Milk Products company.

Want Farm Produce.
Farmers and truck growers in this vicinity are urged to make their plans immediately to use the Civic League market in disposing of their garden truck, and their poultry and poultry products. The market proper will be opened on September 1, or before if possible and the league hopes to have a large amount of produce of all sorts to open with, as they know in advance that the demand will be heavy.

A home delicatessen will also be conducted in connection with the market, where salads, bread, cakes and pies and other home-made edibles may be placed on sale, as in a woman's exchange. It is planned to have a pastry and salad cook, and operate a market kitchen, but in addition any one wishing to make such articles for sale may do so. The market will have all articles which it offers for sale, both in the market and delicatessen departments, instead of handling on commission, making a more satisfactory arrangement for the farmer, or housewife, who has supplies for sale.

Market to Specialize.
The Civic League will specialize on well dressed poultry and cottage cheese. It will also endeavor to offer only the best in every line. With the co-operation of the truck growers and the raisers of poultry in the vicinity of this city, Miss Jackson, the chairman of the committee states, the Wichita Falls Civic League market can be made of immense value, both to the consumer and the producer.

Wherever markets of this sort have been established by the women of this community there have been specialties for which the market has become noted. Some housekeeper may have a pet cake recipe for which she is famed in her circle of friends, and it may be noted for her baked beans, salad dressing, salt rising bread, or various other articles. All of these have proven means of success in such ventures and the Civic League hopes, through its members and the other women of the city who are interested, to make the home delicatessen department a success from the start, and also make it fill a real need in the city.

Superior Garden Stuff.
The present irrigation district close to Wichita Falls is yielding a large amount of superior garden stuff, not all of which has a sale outlet, it is said, and despite this fact vegetables have remained just about as high this summer as they were during the winter. The Civic League in making its plans for this market over a year ago had in mind the high prices, and also the scarcity of green vegetables even in this section where the results from intensive truck farming have proven that Wichita county can raise superior garden truck. They hope to encourage growing of more vegetables, even before the Wichita valley irrigation project makes this entire section a garden spot, and to open up a market for all green stuff, in large or small quantities, and also to keep the prices within reason at all times. Not all of the land under the irrigation ditch at present is under cultivation, with the result that only a small amount of home grown fruits, melons and vegetables are offered for sale, and the shipped in products are of very high price. There is sufficient demand in the city of Wichita Falls for all garden products that could be grown in the irrigation area at present, the Civic League believes, and it is confident that if the farmers and truck gardeners will bring their products to their market they can find a ready sale.

Weekly Demonstration.
Other plans for the Civic League market call for a weekly demonstration by domestic science experts, of various articles of food, plain and fancy. Home canned fruits and vegetables, and home-made jellies and preserves will also be offered for sale, and there will also be a department for plain and fancy sewing, where aprons, bonnets and fancy work may be bought and sold. The market will in reality prove a kind of domestic economy center, as well as a place to buy food stuffs, if the housekeepers of the city take advantage of the opportunities which will be offered.

This market represents the realization of an ideal, and the culmination of more than a year's work by the women of the Civic League. Its financing was made possible by the efforts of the women who have been serving the Rotary Club's weekly luncheons, and until recently performing a similar service for the Wichita Club. This has meant work for the luncheon committees, but all were so vitally interested in the market that the work was always cheerfully and faithfully done. If the market, now that it is an actuality, serves the purposes of the Wichita Falls householders, and the producers, as the Civic League hopes, and has reason to believe it will, then this work has been fully justified.

All members of the market committee will continue to be actively interested in the operation of the market, as they were in its beginning. Miss Florence Jackson, who was for several seasons the Wichita County Home Demonstration Agent, is chairman of the committee, the other members including: Mrs. Frank Kell, Mrs. Charles Popenohl, Mrs. W. H. Doak, Mrs. Thos. P. Strong, Mrs. W. H. Richardson and Mrs. W. A. Patterson. J. W. Culbertson is an advisory member.

Anyone desiring any further information with regard to the market is invited to call on the manager, Mrs. Gaffney, at the market, 705 Tenth street. Arrangements for the sale or purchase of any products should be made with Mrs. Gaffney.

The success which has been attained by the City National Bank of Commerce has been due to the fact that courtesy has not been sacrificed in maintaining service featured by promptness and efficiency.

TWO EXAMINATIONS IN CIVIL SERVICE SCHEDULE

Two civil service examinations are to be held at Wichita Falls in the near future, one being scheduled for August 28 and the other for September 4. The examination of August 28 will be for applications for the positions of clerk and carrier. The entrance salary for both these positions is $1490 per year, and there are several vacancies to be filled in the local post-office.

The examination of September 4 will be for applicants for clerical positions in the customs service and the positions of clerk, gauger, storekeeper, storekeeper-gauger and deputy collector in the internal revenue service, also other positions in the United States classified service in or about Wichita Falls.

Applicants will be examined in spelling, arithmetic, penmanship, letter-writing and copying and correcting manuscript. Five hours will be allowed for the test.

There are physical requirements but these may be waived in certain cases where applicant has had honorable military or naval service. The minimum age limit is placed at 18. Each applicant will be required to furnish a photograph of himself taken within two years. Proofs and group pictures will not be accepted. Preference will be given to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines and to their widows, or to their wives in instances where the military man is injured and incapable of holding the position but the wife is qualified. Those entitled to this preference should attach to their applicants their discharges or photographic or certified copies thereof, or their official records, which will be returned after the examination. Application blanks can be procured by applying to the secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the Wichita Falls post-office.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States. This examination is of especial interest to ex-service men.

Convenience of customers was given the first consideration in designing the City National Bank of Commerce building and every detail that could be employed to save time and facilitate the handling of accounts was incorporated into the banking equipment.

Burkburnett News

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 14.—At 4:00 a. m. Friday two men, masked with red handkerchiefs, entered the Modern Cafe through the alley door and covering the employes for the places with pistols, forced the cashier, H. Vincent, to deliver to them the contents of the cash drawer and safe. The safe was closed but the combination had not been thrown. The employes present consisted of the cashier, a cook and two dishwashers.

A robbery is reported to have occurred at Bradley's Corners Thursday night in which two unmasked men entered a restaurant and began firing their revolvers. They relieved the proprietors and patrons of their valuables and departed without being identified.

Two Boys Arrested. Two boys were arrested here about noon yesterday by Constable Thompson for the theft of an automobile, the property of L. E. Bond, of Oklahoma. They had come from Oklahoma in the car.

Thirty-two Arraigned. Thirty-two culprits, all charged with vagrancy, were arraigned before Justice Throne Tuesday, all of whom were arrested in the oil fields. All entered pleas of guilty, some to the charge of gambling, some to street-walking and some to disorderly conduct in conducting a low entertainment at Bradley's Corners.

After negotiating this great Justice Throne departed for Atlantic City to "treat up." He is expected to resume his duties about September 1.

New Store Is Opened. Anderson's new store was opened informally at 2:00 o'clock Friday morning, with a new stock of goods and is the most complete and commodious mercantile establishment in Burkburnett.

H. Sampson, who comes here from Mangrove, Texas, is opening a new goods store in the building recently vacated by the Anderson store.

Balley Meeting Held. Thursday night an open air Balley meeting was held here, at which Judge C. F. Spencer and Judge H. F. Weldon, of Wichita Falls, were the principal speakers.

Friday night there was a Neff rally at the same place, addressed by Bert King of Wichita Falls. Both these gatherings were large and enthusiastic.

Harry Miller of Dallas is to speak here in behalf of Neff's candidacy on August 25.

Will Pave Highway. The city council has decided to pave three-quarters of a mile of the Meridian highway, in addition to the five blocks on Third street originally planned. The bids that had been received for the Third street paving have been returned to the bidders, with the request that bids be submitted for the entire paving project, including both Third street and Meridian highway.

Engineer E. S. Campbell, who has the work in charge, expects to have the specifications for the paving on Meridian highway ready for the bidders about September 1. There will be no change in the specifications for the Third street paving.

CHILICOTHE MAKES A CONTRIBUTION TO FUND FOR ALBANY ORPHANAGE

Special to The Times. CHILICOTHE, TENN., Aug. 11.—Citizens of Chillicothe have forwarded a cash donation of $115 to the Reynolds Presbyterian Orphanage at Albany to relieve conditions resulting from the fire Monday night. A box of clothing is also being collected for the orphanage.

B. F. Judd, local scoutmaster, is on a hike into Oklahoma with 25 members of the troop. The boys are all in good condition and are expecting an enjoyable time.

TO BEGIN ENFORCING ON MONDAY City sanitary inspector, T. B. Taylor, requests The Times to again remind the public that the ordinance prohibiting the placing of cans, barrels, boxes and rubbish on the sidewalks or in the alleys will be enforced to the letter, beginning Monday morning. Mr. Taylor expresses the hope that he will not have to file a single complaint and believes that the people should have enough pride in the appearance of the city to keep it clean without having to be forced by legal measures. "However," says Mr. Taylor, "if it becomes necessary to drag people into court, I shall certainly do so, as such are my orders in connection with the plan of the department to clean up the city and keep it clean."

Mr. Taylor also calls attention to the fact that in sweeping the sidewalks in the morning, trash should not be swept into the gutter, but should be removed and deposited for hauling away.

TWO WATER COMPANIES HERE ARE CONSOLIDATED

The Electrified Water Company of Wichita Falls has taken over the equipment of the J. H. Hall Water Company, whose product was a mineral water known as "Spiaz." The company will discontinue the sale of the mineral water altogether and will offer to the public a product known as electrical water.

The Electrified Water Co. is a new concern in this city, having been in actual operation only three weeks. Their product, however, is known the world over and is said to have the distinction of being the only water to receive the gold medal and highest award at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

The new company with its fleet of trucks expect to give the citizens of Wichita Falls the very best service.

DIRECTS ATTENTION TO GAME LAW PROVISIONS The open season for killing doves will begin on September 1, with a limit of 15 in any one day, the season to close December 15. Love, local deputy state game warden, as a warning against violations by careless hunters.

Mr. Love states that it is not his desire to give anyone trouble, but that he will be compelled to enforce the law, and he trusts that the public will bear in mind the provisions referred to herein.

INDIAN GOES TO ELECTRIC CHAIR WITH A SMILE

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., August 12.—With a firm step and a smile on his lips, Victor Tobey, full-blooded Choctaw Indian of Ardmore, Okla., walked to his death in the electric chair in the state penitentiary at 7 o'clock this morning.

Tobey, one of the most indifferent and stolid prisoners ever confined in the state prison, was convicted for the murder of Charles C. Smith of West Virginia on May 12, 1920.

He bent Smith on the head with an iron bolt and rubbed him—of $250. When the sentence was read to him at Fayetteville, Ark., Tobey nonchalantly winked at the sheriff, taking the whole proceedings as a joke.

Subscription of $25 for Orphanage Fund. The Times is in receipt of a check for $25 from T. F. Hunter, local attorney, to be forwarded to the proper authorities as a contribution to the relief fund for the Reynolds Presbyterian Orphanage at Albany, Texas, which was destroyed by fire Monday night. The check has gone forward to Mayor S. C. Coffee of that place, who has, with County Judge Richard Dyess, been designated to receive contributions. It is possible that other contributions will go forward from this city, as the cause is a most worthy one, and clothing and provisions, as well as money, are needed to replace the goods destroyed by the flames.

METEORIC CAREER ENDS.

The meteoric financial career of Charles Ponzi apparently is at an end. A bank, whose connection with Ponzi is not perfectly clear except that he was a director, is closed and has had its entire capital completely wiped out. Hundreds of holders of Ponzi's 50 per cent dividend notes, who were too slow in suspecting him are out of their money. Ponzi himself is in jail under a Federal charge and his creditors are petitioning for an order of involuntary bankruptcy against him.

Ponzi told many stories about his "scheme" whereby he was expected to guarantee 50 per cent dividends in forty-five days' time. His wild-eyed statements about swapping postage stamps between nations of the international postal union deceived few, for only a cursory scrutiny of his declarations proved how humanly impossible it would be to swap enough postage stamps even under the best exchange conditions to run into the millions he claimed to have made.

Ponzi did more than most of the similar financial "meteor" have done in the past, however. He did stand up in the face of his creditors and pay and pay as long as he could and until, indeed, he seemed to have made his bluff good and was "out of the woods." Ponzi claimed to have repaid several millions dollars to his "investors," allowing for expropriation. It is undoubted that he did repay a good many hundreds of thousands of dollars that a lot of grafters would have kept and made off with if possible.

But his final fall did not come until someone uncovered the fact that a man like Ponzi had served a penitentiary sentence and, confronted by the accusation, Ponzi confessed to having served two prison terms, one in Canada and the other in the Federal prison in Atlanta.

From "The Mississippi Bubble" in the eighteenth century to the "Ponzi bubble" in the twentieth, there have been many similar instances of get-rich-quick promoters hoodwinking the unsophisticated with wild promises of huge returns from small investments. There have been gold mines, copper mines, rubber plantations, oil wells, horse races, stock market "tips," automobile "factories"—the list is too long to attempt to enumerate. And the bitter tragedy outstanding in virtually every last one of them is that it has been those least able to lose who have lost in such schemes—the widows, the professional people, especially preachers and teachers, old couples with slender nest-eggs against a rainy day—people who have rubbed up but little against the world, and who, being honest themselves, are taken in by the glib promises of the plausible promoter, to whom they are "fruit waiting to be plucked."

MESSAGE FROM THE HEART.

What seems to us to have been one of the most telling speeches of this campaign was delivered at Wauka hachie the other night by an untrained, inexperienced speaker—an old man of seventy-odd years, a Confederate veteran, and who hesitated when asked to introduce the speaker of the evening. It was his sincerity so evident, that impressed the crowd. A staff correspondent of the Dallas News tells the story of Col. R. F. Marchbanks, who was presented to the crowd to introduce Pat Neff, candidate for governor.

Colonel Marchbanks is over 70 years old. He is a Confederate veteran. His only son was killed in action fighting under the American flag in France. He was presented as a man with not only this war record, but in addition, as a man who made Liberty bond speeches during the war.

The old man, white haired, white bearded, hands clasped behind his back, made a fine figure as he stood with erect shoulders and quavering voice, addressing his fellow townsmen. "I represent the American people," he said. "When they asked me to speak tonight, I did not want to do it, but a voice told me not to decline when duty calls. Thoughts went over the ocean. I saw the wounded and the dead there. I saw my boy and I knew it was my duty to speak tonight. Not in a personal partisan way but for a great cause."

"When I came out of Appomattox I said I did not ever want any more war. But in all these years I have always been for my country, right or wrong (much applause) and I have not criticized our presidents, either democratic or republican. Much less did I criticize our great president, Woodrow Wilson, who led my boy to war. My wife and I bought a $50 Liberty bond and the bank carried it, and we paid it out on the installment plan. It never occurred to me whether I would get a dollar out of it or not, and I never cared (Applause). The man who was too scrupulous about that ought to have told his fellow countrymen that they might go down. But to buy them so we could win the war. and he never asked how much they would be worth, and whether they would carry a premium. And he did not shut his mouth, but went on, willing to give his life for his country. I am not willing to trust a man who was not willing to trust his country during the war. I am not willing to trust a man who was silent when death and danger swept over his country. "The only criticism they make of Mr. Neff is that he is too good to be governor of Texas." (Applause.)

QUESTION OF REPRESENTATION.

Reapportionment of the membership of the house of representatives is a subject of discussion that is always timely in census years, and some of the Texas brethren already are calculating just how many more congressmen Texas will have under the 1920 census. Some figure that the state will have at least six more congressmen and, if the basis of representation should remain at 211,000, as it now stands, the probability is that there would be twenty-two members of the lower house. But not only is there a very strong probability that the basis of representation will be raised, but there is certain to be at least an effort on the part of some republican congressmen to reduce the Southern states' congressional representation to what it accord with the voting strength of the states, under which it is proposed to make the South suffer for its disfranchisement of the negro.

On the 211,000 basis, the house would be increased by at least fifty members, which would make the membership an unwieldy 460. But, on the other hand, if a larger number is selected it would mean an actual reduction in the congressional representation of several states, and these states can be counted on to unite against any plan that would leave some of their congressmen out in the cold without a district to run from. The natural consequence would be, therefore, if the republicans have control, to resort to some artificial or arbitrary method under which their representation at the expense of democratic states, and the South would be kept out of the count.

Representative Isaac Stiegel of New York, chairman of the committee on reapportionment, who is from New York, believes that there is another problem about to become an issue—the fact that states like New York, which pay the largest amount of taxes, have the smallest proportionate representation in the senate, and he thinks it unjust that eleven Western and Southern states have twenty-two senators against New York's two, while New York has forty-three congressmen against thirty-five for the whole galaxy of states.

Reapportionment is one of the most hotly debated of all political issues. If Texas gets six more representatives, it will be because the democrats will have control of the next house and give democratic states their dues or, if the republicans have control, it will be because the arrangement upon which the additional representation is based, helps the republican party elsewhere more than enough to offset the democratic gain.

SAYS MUCH IN FEW WORDS.

The statement of J. A. Kemp is unequivocal. No man in Texas has played a more admirable part in the business affairs of the state than he; no man in Texas is more concerned in the advancement of not only his home but the whole state, and especially in the welfare of the state which is known as West Texas.

"It is my honest and sincere belief," says Mr. Kemp, "that Senator Bailey has introduced the open shop in the Texas gubernatorial race solely for the purpose of acquiring votes. I am opposed to Mr. Bailey because he is a traitor to the democratic party, a principle defined by the National Democratic party." Mr. Bailey has repudiated every act of the national administration; he has defiantly declared that our President has done no good thing during the past seven years; he has stood out in the open against every principle of democracy advocated by the democratic party at its San Francisco convention and incorporated as the platform of our party."

Himself a director in and one of the organizers of the Wichita Falls Open Shop association, Mr. Kemp says that "the things are greater than the single issue of the open shop" and the fact must be recognized by the good citizens and loyal democrats of Texas. "To elect Senator Bailey governor of Texas would be a direct affront to the National Democratic party. Such an action would seriously cripple the election chances of Mr. Cox in the greatest democratic state in the Union."

Mr. Kemp has said very much in very few words. It's a way he has of doing it.

The Things You Can't Forget. Used to lose my temper an' git mad an' the fit of rage had passed. An' I would tremble at the sound: You'd recall the time you struck him 'till the very day you die; He'll forget it an' forgive you an' tomorrow see the same man; An' you'll keep the hateful picture of your sorrow an' your shame. An' it's bound to rise to taunt you, though you long have squandered the debt.

Lord, I sometimes sit an' shudder when some scenes come back to me, Which shows me big an' brutal in some act of tyranny. When some trifling thing upset me an' I let my temper fly, An' I'm sorry for it after—but it's vain to sit an' sigh. But I let my temper old man now my sun begins to set. If it wasn't for the meanness which I've done an' can't forget.

Now I think I've learned my lesson an' I'm treadin' gentler ways. An' I'm tryin' to build my mornings into happy yesterday. I don't let my temper spoil 'em in the way I used to do. An' let some splash of anger smear the record when it's through; I want my memories pleasant, free from shame or vain regret. Without any deeds of anger which I never can forget.

Side Talks

By RUTH CAMERON

To Chaperone or Not to Chaperone. I notice that the old discussion as to whether young girls ought to be allowed to go about unchaperoned as much as they are, is raging in one of our daily papers.

A letter friend wants to know what I think about it. That is one of those things I hate to offer an opinion on because circumstances alter cases so much, and one hates to take the responsibility of having a general opinion applied in a case in which it might be a terrible misfit. But I have so often had this put up to me that I'll try to explain the general principle in which I believe.

And that is that the best safeguard a girl can have, is the right sort of a background. If a girl is brought up in a home where the right standards are made part of her character because they are taken for granted in the whole tone of the home life, she will be able to stand up fully than the most rigid chaperonage would be.

True, conditions might come to pass—such as an infatuation for the wrong sort of man—that would break down this defense. But is even the most rigid chaperonage—which, of course, is absolutely impossible anyway for girls cut out one hundred—impracticable? Of course not. You remember all the talk in the newspapers of the way the McLean baby, adored by her parents and the grandfathers, was guarded by hundreds of millions, was guarded by trained nurses and doctors. And yet the same event befell him that befell the unchaperoned child in the slums. He ran into the street and was killed by an automobile. If it had been possible—mind you, I do not say it was—to have unlimited carelessness into this child, would that have been a better defense than all the guardians?

Give a girl the right standards, make them part of the fibre of her character by instilling it into her childhood, that the right sort of people just don't do the wrong sort of things, give her some intelligent sex instruction, and I think you're giving her the best chance a girl can have.

Of course the weak point in this defense comes if she gets interested in the wrong kind of a man. Every mother ought to know all she can about the young people her daughter goes with, and about their parents and home life. And when a girl is between 16 and 21, I think a mother ought to know as nearly as possible the character of her amusements.

HOROSCOPE

The stars indicate that do not compete. (Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) Sunday, August 15, 1920. Two sinister stars rule today, according to astrology. Saturn and Venus are both in malefic aspect. Again warning is given that women must conduct all public affairs with wisdom and discretion. There is a sign that seems to fore-shadow for women in politics some attainment of real power and they should beware of deception. Saturn is in a place today most trying to the aged since it may be held to depress the spirits and to

are British soldiers called "Tommy Atkins"?

Although immortalized by Rudyard Kipling in his "Barrack Room Ballads" and other poems dealing with the British army, the term "Tommy Atkins" originated long before Kipling used it and is traceable to a bit of official red tape in connection with the operation of the War Office. This office desired a number of years ago to obtain authentic information about all the men in the service of Her Majesty and a pamphlet was accordingly printed, with spaces in which were to be entered the name, age, term of service, place of birth and religious belief of each soldier, together with other information which would be of value in the official records. In order that there might be no mistakes in filling in the blanks, a specimen form—already filled out—was sent out to the same time and the sample name filled in on it was Tommy Atkins.

disappoint hope. It is peculiarly unfortunate for old women. While many menacing aspects may be discovered there, the balance of good which will not be strong to work out the destiny of humanity. Race troubles again are prognosticated and in at least two places there will be cause for wise action. Changes in congress will be numerous, if the seers were to be believed. These will be most sweeping in the west.

At this time the independent spirit will be strong in men and women who will be inclined to rebel against old customs and will be manifested in the result of the national political campaign. The spoken word should be guarded at this time, especially women should be especially careful about communications, for the stars give them the impulse to criticize their fellow beings severely. Church affairs will probably reflect the dissatisfaction that disturb world thought and there may be many serious difficulties among the followers of various creeds. Diseases of the nerves may be more than usually prevalent at this time and there is a possibility of a period of planetary influences difficult to withstand.

Secret crimes of various sorts seem to be foreshadowed. Plots and intrigues may flourish during this government of the stars. A sensational incident in which the owner of many newspapers is concerned appears to be foreshadowed by the stars. Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of a busy and exacting year. They should spend money and should beware of beryls by trusted friends.

Children born on this day may be too fond of pleasure for their own good. These subjects of Virgo should be carefully guided, for they usually have talents that require careful development.

CHIROPRACTIC

Relieves Acute Bright's Disease

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 7, 1915. Dear Doctor: I want to write and thank you for the wonderful relief I received from you as a Chiropractor. On December 22d last I was taken down with an acute attack of nephritis, or Bright's disease. The exudation of serum, fibrin, blood cells and albumin was so thick that it would coagulate or clot in the ureter and my blood pressure was 210. My abdomen was so distended that my appendix could be palpated and seemed as large as an egg. I also had neurasthenia so severe that I could not sleep or eat anything for twelve days. I would have failed my spells. At times my wife thought I would die. The doctors gave me up to die and went home, stating that there was nothing else that could be done for me; that I could not live more than three or six days. In my desperation, not knowing what else to do, some of our friends suggested that we try Chiropractic. So on the 6th of last January we called you, and in three days after you gave me my first adjustment all the inflammation was out of my bowels and inside of ten days my urine had cleared up and I was able to sleep and eat, and in nineteen days after I took my first adjustment I was able to go to your office and take my adjustment. And just one month from the time we called you I reported for duty, and the next day—February 6th—I took my pain out as passenger conductor on the A. G. S. R. R.

ACCIDENTS REPORTED BUT NOT CONFIRMED

Automobile accidents within the city limits have been numerous within the past 48 hours, according to rumors. In a few cases the rumors were substantiated but the owners and drivers of the machines had gone and no trace could be found. No reports were made at police headquarters.

From a witness it was learned that an automobile, driven by a lady, and a milk wagon collided at Tenth and Bluff streets Saturday morning at 7:00 o'clock. It was said that the boy driver of the milk wagon was cut about the face by flying glass. The autos were slightly damaged but both were in fit condition to be driven away.

Friday evening it was reported that two automobiles figured in a head-on collision on Tenth street near the loop and that a lady and a man were injured.

A rumor had it Saturday night that a large touring car was overturned at Tenth and Van Huren streets but details were not available.

JAPAN'S REPLY TO U. S. RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, August 11.—Japan's reply to the American note protesting against Japanese occupation of the northern part of the island of Saghalien was received today at the state department.

The note was described as a lengthy one and it was understood that it went thoroughly into the whole question of the Japanese policy in Siberia. The document, together with the original American note, may be made public next week.

TECHAU TAVERN CAFE TO BE OPENED MONDAY

The Techau Tavern Cafe will open Monday forenoon at 11:00 o'clock at 124 Ohio avenue. This is the old location of the Saratoga Cafe and has been remodeled and repainted and will present a new appearance on the opening date. The owners are James Ziegler, well known restaurant man of this city and one of the present owners of the Victory Cafe and the Miller brothers from California, who have been connected with some of the leading cafes and hotels on the Pacific coast. The public will be given a treat in the way of barbecue meats and the management will make a specialty of social and political entertainments. With the motto of service, quality and cooperation and music furnished by a five-piece orchestra the Techau Tavern promises to be one of the leading cafes of the city.

BAND CONCERT WILL BE HELD THIS EVENING

The regular Sunday night municipal band concert will be held this evening on the Kemp library park lawn between the hours of 7:00 and 8:15 o'clock. A program of more than ordinary variety has been arranged, and it is expected a big crowd will attend.

Thursday night's concert was postponed because of the rain and as a result of the postponement a number of new selections have been rehearsed by the band members for the program tonight.

The concerts are meeting with even greater popularity than the Chamber of Commerce had hoped, and it is apparent they have filled a big vacancy in the city recreational life.

ANDERSON'S OPEN NEW STORE AT BURKBURNETT

Anderson's of this city held the opening of their new department store in Burk Burnett Saturday. It was a big success and was far above the expectations of the owners. This gives Burk Burnett its first real department store as Anderson's have carried out the ideas of their Wichita Falls store in this new institution.

Located on one of the principal street corners of the city, the building is a modern structure just completed by R. E. Shepherd, cashier of the City National Bank of Commerce, and W. W. Anderson, president of the Anderson store. The first floor is store rooms while the second floor is a modern hotel of 22 rooms, modern in every respect with hot and cold water, electric lights and baths. Every room is so constructed that they have outside exposure.

AMERICAN PETROLEUM CO. FAIL RATIFY AGREEMENT

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—General Jacinto Trevino, secretary of commerce and labor, declared tonight in discussing the petroleum controversy, which has been raging here, that he considered his duty consisted in "complying with the fundamental law and forcing others to observe it." He added it was not his fault if the house offices of oil companies had not ratified the recent agreement reached between the Mexican officials and representatives of foreign oil interests.

A semi-official declaration has been issued, according to El Universal, that "enemy companies" are willing to comply with the provisions of the petroleum law requiring denunciation of oil claims and permits to drill. It was said, however, that they refused to pay the accompanying taxes and the charges were made that they were actively opposing "friendly companies."

Jake Miller's over-anxiety cost the Spudders a perfectly good ball game with the Exporters at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon.

The visitors got men on second and third in the opening session but could not tally. After Rader had popped to McElwee, Monroe stepped one of Wetzel's shots with his back and went around to third when Miller misjudged Breaux's fly to center and it went for two bags.

Both sides were retired in order in the third and there was no excitement of any kind. Buzza passed a couple of Exporters in the fourth, but they could not score. Josephson led off with a single again in the Spudders' portion of the fourth, but was doubled out.

After the visitors had been retired in order in the sixth, the Spudders broke into the run column. Wetzel and Josephson fanned with their bats on their shoulders and seemed to take exception to Breaux's raling, but Breaux was cutting in right. Tanner walked and then the Exporter defense crumbled.

The Exporters got the run back in the next round when Rader popped a clean single to center. Rader popped a fly to Rader, but Joe had his head down his knees and face for third, being a easy victim for a double killing.

ANNUAL TEXAS TOURNAMENT WILL BEGIN SEPTEMBER 8. HOUSTON, TEXAS, August 11.—The annual south Texas open tennis tournament will be held at the Houston Country club beginning September 8. The tournament will be staged under the auspices of the Houston Lawn Tennis associations. Singles, doubles, consolation-singles and consolation doubles make up the program.

VICTORIOUS TRAPSHOOTERS RETURNS FROM ANTWERP. NEW YORK, August 14.—The American trapshooting team which won the team and individual honors in the Olympic contests arrived today from Antwerp on the steamer Lapland. The team was entertained at luncheon by the New York Athletic club, after which the members left here for their homes in various parts of the country.

T. C. U. CAPTAIN RECOVERS FROM INJURIES AND WILL RETURN TO GRIDIRON. FORT WORTH, August 14.—News was received here today that News Prentiss of Waco, captain of the Texas Christian university football team, whose death from injuries received on the athletic field was expected early in the summer, has recovered entirely and will return to the gridiron this fall. He was hurt in a baseball game and was unconscious for weeks.

ATHLETES, REPRESENTING ABOUT 30 NATIONS, STAGE MONSTER PARADE AT OPENING OF OLYMPIC GAMES

ANTWERP, Aug. 14.—The Olympic stadium was opened today. It was a formal ceremony, staged with a setting of flags, banners and fluttering pennants against background of white stone, cement and wood, with royalty, officialdom, diplomacy, fame and fashion participating in the program of representation in the boxes. But the thousands of spectators packed about the huge oval centered their interest in the actual contestants—athletes from nearly 30 nations—who paraded the arena and tomorrow will begin their tests of strength and skill.

The spectators were as cosmopolitan as the mass of contestants and in the ranks of the athletes were citizens of all the countries whose flags, flying from official, diplomatic or consular boxes, made the scene a colorful holiday. Like a warship decked out with all her pennants.

Two flags, the German and Austrian, which flew over the stadium in the sixth Olympiad at Stockholm, were missing and these countries, barred from participating in the meet, as were all enemies of the entente powers in the way of representation, including Belgium, whose athletes, though listed separately, had to march just behind the Austrians at Stockholm.

The cheering was continuous as the athletes, filing in from the open space back of the stadium, were met by the formal, nation, waving into the arena headed by the members of the International Olympic committee. The athletes, in alphabetical order, though the Belgians, alphabetically first in the list, took last place, courteously, as hosts. This brought the Austria first in line behind the official committee.

Each group was preceded by its flag, and generally speaking, each group of nationals, was of uniform dress—not in athletic togs, but in suits of uniform cut and color. Some, however, were in army or navy uniforms. As they swung in the royal box, where King Albert, Prince Leopold and a group of government officials were standing, they saluted the king. Some of the athletes paid similar courtesy to the ambassadors or ministers of their nations, who had boxes all around the arena.

While the fans will not be able to hear the resounding whack of the ash against the horsehide when Babe bats the dish, they will get the thrill that goes with the blow as the batting series between the two teams is by far the most crucial of the season. All records for attendance at the Polo Grounds will undoubtedly be broken as the Yankees will have a golden opportunity to pass the Indians.

Another tussel starts today at 6 o'clock. The Exporters had better change their tactics during the rest of their stay here or they will not get off as light as they did yesterday. If there's one thing the Spudder management will not stand for it is the use of foul language on the field. Several Exporters cut loose with a bunch of oaths and epithets yesterday around their bench that were plainly audible to the fans, so audible, in fact, that the management received several complaints.

Secretary Will Gray stated after the game that he will have a list of the law stationed near the bench today and a repetition of yesterday's cursing will have a disastrous result on the offender. They can get away with their "cuckoo" but they'd better let it stop at that. Remember, ye clan of Maties, you're in Wichita Falls not Beaumont.

Frank Kitchens was quite peeved when the winning talk came in and well he might be. When Kelly came to bat he halted hostilities long enough to tell the outfielder to play close—but no attention was paid to him. Kelly dumped a short foul fly in right that would have been an easy out had Josefson taken his tip and followed it up with a mealy grounder; over second that would have been pie for Miller had he taken Frank's advice. As it was he had to come in on the dead run and the result is now history.

Notice to the Public and Our Patrons. We have just received notice from the United States District Attorney, R. E. Taylor, that we are to lower our price of ice, beginning Monday, August 16th, to 65c per 100 lbs. In view of the fact that the cost of production and distribution of ice in Wichita Falls is such that we could not operate our delivery system without doing so at a loss, and rather than to have any controversy with Mr. Taylor over this matter, we have decided it will be better to discontinue the delivery of ice under the circumstances. We regret very much that we are forced to do this, but we do not feel that the public would want us to do business and deliver our product to them at a price that would make us lose money. Anyone desiring to have their coupon books redeemed can do so by bringing them to our office at any time.

FRONTIER STORIES TO FIGURE IN HEARING OVER OKLAHOMA AND TEXAS BOUNDARY DISPUTE

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Aug. 14.—Mayor C. P. Haggard of Kingston, Okla., a veteran of the early days of some of the experiences of that time which will be brought up later before the supreme court in connection with the hearings now being held in the boundary controversy. Episodes of the days of 40 years ago, when a sand bar on the river between Indian Territory and Texas was considered the "dead line" by sheriffs and marshals, were related before Attorney General C. M. Cretchet of Texas, while he was here last week, and will be introduced as evidence in the pending dispute of the boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma.

Mayor Haggard was on the witness stand before Commissioner Frederick S. Fisher of Washington, D. C., named by the United States Supreme Court to take testimony in the controversy over the river boundary between Texas and Oklahoma. He was relating experiences of nearly 40 years ago, on the rough border between the states. His story was a choice bit of reminiscence. It was full of humor and the plain talk of the plainsman.

"I have been full to the brim many times," said the mayor, while telling of an experience with the city marshal of Denison, "but I never was drunk in my life."

The statement was in answer to a question by the Texas Attorney-General as to what time of day events began that Haggard could not remember. The implication that he had drunk was more than the Mayor would stand for, and the Attorney-General hastily squared himself with the mayor.

Tells of Days of '82.

"It was just before Christmas in '82," said the Kingston man, "that five of us fellows from the Territory went over to Denison to get some liquor for us in celebrating the holidays. It was customary for men of the Territory to do that, because it was unlawful for liquor to be sold in the Territory, and besides, that in Denison was better than the piddlers carried."

"I was just a young fellow, but I was determined to go the routes with the older ones. I guess I'd have done all that they did, regardless of consequences. Some of them got pretty full, and I guess they got a little blundered. At any rate, the marshal of Denison—for the life of me I can't remember his name, but all the old-timers will remember him—fold us we'd have to be peaceable or leave town. It appears that his orders were not heeded to the letter, for when we rode away toward the river late in the afternoon, he followed us. The chase was not a stiff one, however, and we galloped over the river bluff, across the channel of the south side, and halted on a sandbar."

The Denison marshal stopped at the bluff and called to us to surrender. Now it was a saying in those days that if you got on the sandbar of the river you were paid for, which is to say you were out of the jurisdiction of Texas officers, so we yelled back to the marshal to stay on his own side. I can see him now mounted on his yellow horse up there on the bluff.

"Come over and get us, if you dare," yelled one of our men. Most of us were pretty tight about that time. But the Denison marshal didn't budge. He just sat on his horse and talked back. He said he didn't care to arrest the whole out-

CONN. GOVERNOR REFUSES TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

HARTFORD, CONN., Aug. 14.—Governor Marcus H. Holcomb has formally notified Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, that he would not call a special session of the Connecticut general assembly to act upon the suffrage amendment.

The letter dated August 14, follows, in part:

"I answered your letter of October 31, 1919, relating to a special session, November 4, stating that there would be no special session to act upon the woman suffrage question. I presume you overlooked or had forgotten my reply to your former letter."

"I have given at least four hearings upon applications to call a special session and have stated my reasons for refusing. It is unnecessary to repeat them. I have not changed my conclusions. You say a special legislative session a small price to pay for clearing the political atmosphere. The financial cost is unimportant but violating the provisions of our constitution which I have sworn to support is too great a price to pay."

PROHIBITION CAUSES INCREASED DEMAND FOR RAISINS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Increased consumption of raisins in the United States since the advent of prohibition is believed to account for the 1,400 per cent increase in imports of that commodity from Spain during the first six months of 1920. Nearly 8,000,000 pounds were exported from Malaga to the United States up to June 30, according to the department of agriculture's bureau of markets.

SAM LANGFORD WINS OVER SAM MEVEY

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Sam Langford won a newspaper decision over Sam Mevey today at East Chicago, Ind., in a slow and uninteresting 10-round fight. The crowd of 7,000 spectators booed Mevey repeatedly because of his stalling tactics.

Langford, constant aggressor, was credited with seven of the 10 rounds.

FORMER WICHITA FALLS WOMAN A WELL-KNOWN POET, WRITES OF A POPULAR SOUTHERN POETESS

In the August Holland's Magazine, just out, is an article which will probably be of unusual interest to the women of Wichita Falls. It is a sketch of Karle (Charlotte) Wilson Baker, noted Southern poetess, by Grace Noll Crowell of Dallas, Tex., but formerly of Wichita Falls, Tex.

Mrs. Crowell, who is herself a poet and known to the readers of the best American magazines, is the wife of Norman H. Crowell, who lived with his family in this city for about two years, sometime prior to his removal to Dallas. The article is exceptionally interesting in that it is the splendidly generous and lovely tribute of one artist to another artist of the same section—Mrs. Baker being a resident of Nacogdoches, Tex.—and in that it concerns a woman who is not only considered one of the most gifted poetesses of America, but who bids fair, because of the exquisite beauty of her thought and style, to become the best-loved poetess in America.

Mrs. Baker was in Dallas some weeks ago on business, having just returned from an interview with her publishers and editors in the east, and on the occasion of her visit was the guest of honor at a gathering of other Dallas poets and writers at Mrs. Crowell's home. The inspiration for the Holland article was no doubt given Mrs. Crowell at this time, although she and the other members of the Informal Poets' club of Dallas, have long been sincere admirers of Karle Wilson Baker.

Mrs. Crowell discusses Mrs. Baker's collection of verses published recently by the Yale Press under the interesting title, "Blue Smoke," and mentions other poems, giving them in full: "One tired night," Mrs. Crowell tells in the beginning, "I had a brief interval between my hazy bedtime hour and my own. I opened the covers of a book, and came to a sudden pause above a sonnet that had been given honor in an anthology of American magazine verse. The author's name was Charlotte Wilson. From that moment the little poem sang itself into my heart."

Personal Mention

Miss Lydia Cook and Billy G. Manigault of Henrietta are in the city spending the week-end as guests of Miss Alice Downing, of 312 Brook street. Mrs. Fannie Harvey, special district deputy of the W. B. A. of Macarbaes, of Fort Worth, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dellis. L. R. Buchanan left Friday afternoon for Maine, where Mrs. Buchanan and children have been spending the summer with relatives. Mrs. H. B. Ringler of 1213 Eighth street, has returned from Fort Worth, where she visited friends. Miss Mabel Davis of the Y. W. C. A. is spending the week-end at home in Farmersville. Miss Claribel Bolt of Wilson, Kansas, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. T. Westwood, of 1306 Lucile street. Mrs. J. S. Krueger of Dallas, Texas, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dellis. Mostly Concerning Women

"Nearly 25,000,000 women will have the right to vote in all elections in the United States when the 26th state necessary to effect a majority has ratified the suffrage amendment." A literary digest summary of the present suffrage situation states. Further on the summary quotes from the Jersey City (N. J.) Journal, "There is certainly no such thing as independence in the women's vote as in the men's, and when occasion requires it, issues will be determined irrespective of party affiliations."

"The high forehead affords evidence of storage capacity for brains, but does not always indicate that the grooves are occupied," says Robert Quillen in Small Town Stuff, in the Post.

Betty Earle, who holds up now and then in the magazines with an interesting thought in verse, must have learned something, in a very pretty half-witted tribute to a friend, she philosophizes that "One should not love a friend so much."

L. O. T. M. MACCABEES TO MEET AT MRS. L. H. HOWARD'S MONDAY

An interesting program is being planned for the meeting at the home of Mrs. L. H. Howard, 1405 Elmwood street at 8 o'clock, Monday afternoon of the Ladies of the Modern Maccabees.

All local members are invited to the meeting and visiting members are extended a cordial invitation. It was stated a special gift on this occasion will be Mrs. Fannie Howard, special district deputy of the lodge from Fort Worth.

"Women have only begun to learn the far vision of world problems," Mary Roberts Rinehart says in an interesting article in the August Ladies' Home Journal. "And as a result, they are nationalist, instead of internationalist. This is as it should be, but neither as individuals or as a nation can we live alone. We must have neighbors, and if these neighbors are poor, or in trouble, we must care for them. If they are noisy and disruptive, and disturb our peace—if they poison the dog and throw mud on our washing—we have the right to call a policeman."

FRENCH CHILDREN TOWARDS WHOSE SUPPORT WICHITANS CONTRIBUTE

ANTOINETTE AND EDOUARD THERSE, children of France, are the happier and healthier and after today because a group of young women in Wichita Falls do not forget.

The group comprises the members of the Young Women's Business Class of the First Methodist Church, South, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles B. Hartsock, and Edouard and Antoinette are the children of Pabelle M. Therese of Bellegarde, France, whose husband fell during the second advance on the Marne.

"I do not know how it is that you never forget," the grateful French mother writes, "of a quarterly installment of the fund which the young women's class maintains for the support of her children. Her letter, which is as quaint and as touching as the photo of the little kiddies which she sends, follows, in full:

"My dear benefactors: I received yesterday your kind letter enclosing a check for $25 francs. I do not know how it is that you never forget. I must say to you, my friends, that I truly have helped me. My children are growing healthy, large and strong. I have had them photographed together, but the photos are not yet ready. As soon as they are ready, I will send them to Miss Annette Griffith.

"I shall perhaps soon be translated, but evidently 'translated' or 'translated' referring to my pension. This will be for an advantage as I shall have 150 francs per month beginning in January. I wanted to tell you of this while waiting for this I am working at a house before the hours of service, in a kitchen. For the present it seems rather hard, but one thing consoles me, and that is, my children are growing healthy, large and strong. I have had them photographed together, but the photos are not yet ready. As soon as they are ready, I will send them to Miss Annette Griffith.

"Will you thank and remember me to all my dear friends, and you may be assured of my death gratitude. My children send you and each of my friends a large kiss. Will you forgive me if it seems that I have been egoistic in only speaking of myself?

"For you, I wish you the best of health and happiness, and that God will send you the many kind wishes you have shown to me, and I want you to know that I have used them to the best possible advantage. In quitting, will you offer my respects to the union of the College which has interested itself in my two children? My best affection, PABELLE M. THERESE, Rue de Commerce, Bellegarde sur Valserine, France. Postscript, later I have received the photographs, and they are not very good. I want to send you one of mine. I am going to return to France in August or September. I send my best regards, PABELLE.

WOMEN ALL OVER WORLD AWAIT ANNOUNCEMENT FROM TENNESSEE ON RATIFICATION

Women all over the civilized world are eagerly awaiting the announcement from Tennessee's capitol as to whether or not that state will be the first to ratify the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States.

What it will mean to the women of other nations which have not yet accepted suffrage could hardly be told in one paragraph. The only saving clause for rejection would be that one or another of the other states of the United States which have not yet acted on the amendment would probably act favorably at some future date, but the effect of prompt action by this country in time for the November elections would be lost, as the North Carolina legislature now in session is almost sure to defeat the measure.

The United States is an acknowledged leader in progressive governmental measures, and while the most important nations of the civilized world have already accepted suffrage, a great many of the smaller countries are simply "standing by" to see what the United States is going to do; not consciously, perhaps, but with unmistakable interest.

States Already Favoring. The 23 states which have already acted on the federal amendment, or the Susan B. Anthony clause, as it is generally known, include in order of their action, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Kansas, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Texas, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Rhode Island, Vermont, Tennessee, Utah, California, Maine, North Dakota, South Dakota, Colorado, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Oregon, Indiana, Wyoming, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Nevada, Idaho, Jersey, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico and Washington.

States Having Suffrage. States which already have either full or partial suffrage by state constitutional amendment include the following: Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Montana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, North Dakota, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Vermont, Tennessee, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Ohio, Arkansas and Texas.

Tennessee now has presidential suffrage and some form of municipal suffrage. The status of the woman vote in the state would not be very much changed by the federal acceptance of suffrage.

Nations Having Equal Suffrage. Most of the important nations and a number of the smaller ones in the civilized world already enjoy equal suffrage. In several of the countries suffrage was granted as a war measure, or an after-war measure, when there was a great reaction against a partial representation in national governments.

Nations at present having equal suffrage include Great Britain, including Scotland, Ireland and Wales, (England has had equal suffrage for thirty years), Germany, Russia, Italy, Holland, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Austria, Canada, Hungary, East African Protectorate, Rhodesia, Serbia, Sweden, New Zealand, Australia, Finland, Iceland, Isle of Man, Portugal and Romania.

The suffrage question is being seriously considered in the Orient and in Switzerland, and the amendment is pending action now in France. It passed the French house of representatives almost unanimously and is up to the senate.

The amendment is worded simply: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex." The amendment was first submitted by Colonel A. A. Sargent of California in 1848 and has since acted upon both favorably and unfavorably by house

AMERICAN SPORT SHOE BIDS FAIR TO BE AS POPULAR WITH FRENCH AS AMERICAN WOMEN

(By Anne Rittenhouse, Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) It would be a dreadful mistake to think that French women had never taken an interest in athletics until their recent craze for tennis and golf that undoubtedly came as a result of the close contact with Americans during and since the war. Don't imagine that they have neglected outdoor exercises until we taught them a few things about "le bogey" and "le lawn-tennis." It is simply the new pose that French women with an addition to athletics have assumed. It is quite the rage to play like Americans. They affect the American lingo of the game. They have even gone in quite heavily for American sport clothes—always with modifications, of course. For can you imagine a French woman ever borrowing any style in dress without adding numerous modifications?

The American Sport Shoe. So while we are still wondering whether we really like the French short vamp and the majority of shoe dealers are trying to convince us that American women never will give up the long narrow toe, the French women fond of athletics have gone in rather intensely for American sport shoes. And there is no substitute for the sort of shoe that has been evolved here in our own country for this purpose. It is a modification and elaboration of the oldtime sneaker that we wear for gymnastics and tennis. We never wore it very far from the court though, you may be sure, for at best it was a dull, uninteresting affair. We certainly never looked upon it as a promising shoe for general morning wear in the country, mountain or seashore.

Now it has a merit all its own. We no longer look with distaste on the flat-heeled, laced tie. For the foot that is young and graceful, it is far from unpleasant and it may be that this type of shoe will have the way for a revolution in shoe styles, and will usher in an era of heelless-footgear that will give us great freedom to one's foot as the classic sandal.

At any rate, it is the last that the smart American woman nowadays wears half the time or more. It is the last that shapes her bathing shoe, her boating shoe, the shoe she wears for tennis and the shoe she wears for golf, for we no longer affect those heavy leather golf shoes that we once thought suitable.

The Barefoot Craze. There is some disposition among French women to wear sandals for boating, and one or two well-known yachting devotees consider no boating costume complete when they are not positively bare as to feet. For some reason or other there are some of the new French tennis devotees who prefer to wear a real bathing shoe—an "espartille de bain" as they say—to the regulation tennis-shoe with its rubber or rubber-like sole. However, in the majority of instances it is the American type of sports shoe that finds greatest favor.

And as far as we are concerned there has been little modification in the regulation tennis tie. To be sure, there is a tendency to combine white and tan or white and black, and the contrasting leather is often placed across the instep so as to produce a certain shortness of foot that seems to be in line with the French foot styles. There are many black canvas or buckskin sport shoes with black trimming of some sort and one is allowed quite a little diversity in this matter of lacing, tan oxfords and even black oxfords being laced with white laces for sports wear.

Mrs. Louise Salm Brings Authentic Style News From Fashion's Center

WITH the coming of each season every woman is wondering what the styles will be. With this in mind I have decided to tell the public what I found in the show rooms of New York upon my recent trip there and to outline what the prevailing styles are in the various pieces of ready-to-wear.

There is every reason to believe the coming season is to be a tailor-made season both in suits and dresses. And brown predominates as the color of the hour. It holds the lead in suits and coat fabrics this season and is found in many new tones, ranging from seal to a light golden shade.

For both suits and coats Veldyne is sharing honors with Duvetyne and Peachbloom. And then there is a new material with a cashmere surface effect that is new and good looking.

Wrap coats are strongly featured and the variety shown in the effects is strikingly original. All of the coats are handsomely lined in self-color and contrasting shades of soft satin which gives a quiet elegance to these smartly cut garments.

Many of the suits are embroidered lavishly, using black and self-colored silk and Chenille. Buttons are a feature of both wraps and coats. They are quite large and are made in many shapes.

Most of the better types of suits display fur-trimmed convertible collars, but plain tailored tight sleeves buttoned snugly about the lower part of the arm.

In furs, fashion leans toward moe, beaver and Australian O'possum, as well as mink and sable.

Next week I shall tell you what I found to be the vogue in dresses and millinery.

Cordially yours,
LOUISE SALM.

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR COMING WEEK

MOTION PICTURES

IMPORTANT THEATER DEAL IS CONSUMMATED

Dye, Ford and Rodgers Interests Merged With the Southern Enterprises.

One of the biggest theatrical deals ever closed in the southwest was consummated in Dallas last week when the Dye, Ford and Rodgers interests of Northwest Texas were merged with the Southern Enterprises, a theatrical syndicate that controls amusement houses throughout the entire southwest. The new combine will be known as Dye, Ford and Rodgers, Incorporated, and the merger will bring the Olympic, Majestic, Empress and the new Palace theater now being erected on Scott street in this city, as well as the Dye, Ford and Rodgers theaters in Amarillo, Canyon and Plainview, under one management. The bookkeeping power will be under the personal direction of H. S. Ford, present manager of the Olympic and Majestic.

The Dye, Ford and Rodgers circuit is the second largest in the state and they, together with the state and other theaters have won an enviable reputation in the amusement field. The Southern Enterprises was originally made up of two syndicates, the S. A. Lynch circuit of Georgia and the E. H. Husey theaters of Texas, these two being merged late in 1918. The combining of this company with the Dye, Ford and Rodgers interests will assure the people of this section the cream of the entire output of the photographic industry. The bookkeeping power of the two concerns is sufficient to bring the products of the motion picture world into their theaters at a moment's notice, and they will enable Wichitans to see the new releases of the producing companies at as early a date as any city in the country.

The company is planning to erect theaters in many of the larger cities of North Texas and already the contracts have been let for the erection of a new $200,000 house in Amarillo. The construction of this will start in the very near future. The new Palace theater which is being erected on Scott street in this city is expected to be completed by Thanksgiving and with its opening, local movie patrons will have another high class house to visit. In the matter of seating capacity and appointments the new Palace will be the largest in the city and will be in the class of the state's best theaters.

The new merger is considered in film circles as among the most important theatrical deals ever made in the southwest and it is one that should open much to the thousands of Texas patrons of the photoplay art.

STRONG BILL TO FEATURE VAUDEVILLE AT WICHITA

The Wichita Theater has provided another strong bill for the coming week and are offering five high class acts of vaudeville. The opening performance Tuesday night will present Madame Adelaide Herrmann as the headliner and will support this with four other strong acts. Madame Herrmann in her present program, has surpassed all previous efforts in the way of slight of hand and magical illusions and the success which she has attained is proof that her act is more than that of the ordinary magician. In addition to the feats which she performs with her hands, Madame Herrmann has elaborated her program with stage displays that are called "magi-novelties," being spectacular illusions which she herself has designed and which possess an amount of dramatic interest that fascinates and at the same time commands thought for their skill and ingenuity.

Following Madame Herrmann come Raymond and Schram in a clever singing act entitled "A Syncopated Cocktail." Both of these men have excellent voices and show them to advantage in songs other than of the rag variety.

"The Magleys" present an oriental revue act that has been scoring heavily around the big time circuits. The dexterity and liveliness of their dances combined with the fitting melodies and staccato harmonies cannot but create a respectful following.

Hobson and Beatty are two girls who give a musical recital that is as entertaining as it is difficult and they have found the best way of doing this by means of the vaudeville stage. One of their acts will complete the program.

USUALLY STRONG BILL AT EMPRESS THIS WEEK

The Empress is offering an unusually strong bill for the coming week, having listed films of comedy, tragedy, drama and romance. The opening presentation will feature Lew

Friday and Saturday: Hobart Bosworth in "Below the Surface"; Rolin comedy and Fox News.

Cody in "Are You Legally Married?" This is another of Cody's "butterfly pictures" that have won for him his great reputation. Mr. Cody is supported by a strong cast in this picture and gives a masterful presentation.

On Wednesday two big attractions are offered, Dorothy Gish in one of her laughable comedies entitled, "Remodeling Her Husband," being the feature picture, while Fatty Arbuckle in "He Did and He Didn't" will be presented as a special comedy. Neither of these artists need introduction to movie patrons, for both have been in the lime light for years. Miss Gish has gained steadily in public favor and the delightful comedies which she has produced are heralded as pictures par excellence in theatrical circles. Fatty Arbuckle however, after a long absence and presents one of his best laugh producers.

On Thursday the big picture of the week will be shown, the attraction of this time being the film version of the world famous novel, "Treasure Island," by Robert Stephenson. This picture is a special Maurice Tourneur production and is an accurate portrayal of "Jim Hawkins," "Long John Silver," "The Hispaniola," "The Pirate Crew," and lastly "Treasure Island" itself. All of the characters which Stephenson has introduced into millions of homes throughout the world are shown in living animated scenes, and the most thrilling adventures, acted out by the strongest cast that could be assembled give a film that no one can afford to miss. In addition with this picture a Mack Sennett comedy will be shown.

The weeks bill will be closed with the presentation on Friday and Saturday of "Below the Surface," starring Hobart Bosworth.

"Are You Legally Married?" With Lew Cody and Rosemary Theobald

star, is announced as the feature attraction at the Majestic theater for Monday and Tuesday of this week. The plot of this celebrated old play is the absorbing unfolding of a series of events in the lives of a family of New England farmer folk, and the consequences of a father's wrath at his daughter when she insists on marrying a man that is not to her father's liking. Desirous of having his daughter make a prosperous match, the stern old father endeavors to force her into matrimony with the village sharper, an unscrupulous villain who had induced the old farmer to invest all of his savings in bad mining stock. Retribution swiftly follows, however, and finds the old man broken with contrition at the very end seeking the forgiveness of the woman he had wronged.

This strange dramatic story constituted the stage play that won world-wide popularity and has now been made into a screen play with Alice Lake in the role of the farmer's daughter. In the supporting cast are included Edward Connelly, who plays the part of Uncle Nat, the village sharper, James A. Hearn in the stage production, and Joseph Kilgour, who will be seen in the part of Josiah Blake, the village sharper.

The screen adaptation of "Shore Acres" was directed by Rex Ingram from the scenario by Arthur J. Zellner. The scenic effects have all been attained in the most realistic manner and the production sets a new record for sensational climax, when the "Jeddy Ann" goes on the rocks in the storm, after the light in the lighthouse had fallen because the old farmer had wished his eloping daughter to meet death in the wreck of the vessel.

CHANGES ARE NECESSARY IN THEATRE PROGRAMS

Because of the fact that three of the leading picture houses of the city were forced to change their programs at the last moment it was impossible to procure press notices of the pictures which are to be shown on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Telegrams were received by the manager of the Olympic early Saturday morning to the effect that the film which was scheduled to appear on Monday and Tuesday would not be available on those dates. This picture, "Farior, Bedroom and Bath," will be shown in the near future and the Mary Roberts Rinehart picture, "Dangerous Days" has been substituted for the opening presentation Monday and Tuesday.

The Empress was also compelled to alter its program at a late hour and

SUIT FOR DAMAGES FOR ALLEGED INJURY

Damages to the extent of $2,000 are asked for in a suit filed in the 78th district court against the Paul Drilling Company by Jack Baugh, the plaintiff. The damages are for alleged injuries suffered while in the employ of the defendant. Negligence on the part of the defendant is charged. The complaint states that the alleged injuries were sustained on April 4, 1920, while the defendant was at the steering wheel of a drilling machine which was being moved. It is alleged that while the machine was being moved a bolt flew back and struck the plaintiff causing a fracture of both bones in the forearm.

MORE INDICTMENTS MAY BE RETURNED

The 30th district court grand jury which has been in session the entire week will reconvene Monday morning at which time it is believed it will return indictments on cases which have been investigated the latter part of the week. The length of time that they will be in session is not known.

GROWING WEARY AND DESPERATE OVER CALLS FOR SANITARY OFFICER

Within a short time every man and woman whose name and telephone number is in the telephone book will receive a card carrying the politely but firmly worded information that the telephone number of the city sanitary department is 5015 and not 4909. The cards will be multigraphed at the order of City Clerk Thorburn, who is growing weary and desperate over a telephone error that causes endless waste of time in his department. The city clerk's telephone number is 4909, and this number also is given erroneously as the number of the sanitary department—the result being that employees in the clerk's office are repeatedly answering calls from men and women seeking information from the sanitary department.

It may cost a few dollars to send cards to every telephone subscriber in the city. Thorburn said Saturday, "but if I can convince every one that this office is not the sanitary department I can save enough time in the future to offset what the cards may cost."

BOWDEN LEAVES THE REVENUE DEPARTMENT

A. F. Bowden formally severed connection with the local office of the United States internal revenue department at noon. He had been for a year and a half chief of the Wichita Falls division of the revenue department. Bowden left this city late Saturday for Dallas to make his final official report to Collector Scott Reed. From Dallas he will go to El Paso to open a branch office of A. E. Walker & Co., the new tax service, auditing and accounting firm with which he will be connected. He will return to Wichita Falls the end of the month to take charge of the branch office he and his associates will maintain here.

Advance Fall Fashions

They have come. Not in great numbers to be sure, but evidencing the master designing that is a feature of all our Ready-to-Wear interpretations. And they should prove most helpful and inspiring to you for they will serve as a reliable guide to tasteful correct fall wardrobes.

One Encounters So Much That Is New In This Suit Showing

That to linger and inspect each new feature and to try on every single suit becomes a real temptation. Embroideries of Oriental splendor, tasteful fur trimmings, gay linings are radical style departures which catch the eye, but we are sure that when you review these advanced modes, their faultless tailoring and the individuality that characterizes each garment will make the most lasting impression.

Tailored Frocks Assume Embroidery to Avoid an Appearance of Severity

While it is apparent that the majority of arrivals among the Fall frocks lean toward the straight silhouette, beautiful embroideries, braiding, panels and tunics will not permit your interest in them to lag for a second.

As Always at the Beginning of a Season, Fashion Gives Prominence to the Smaller Type of Hat

A most bewitching forerunner of the Millinery Modes of Autumn is a velvet Turban, black as night and wreathed about with a fringe of uncurled ostrich iridescent in color. Other turbans frankly Oriental in inspiration are developed of richly embroidered fabrics and exquisitely soft duvetyns.

Blouses and Skirts Show an Autumnal Influence In Styles and Colors

In the wardrobes of society leaders, business women, young girls who are going away to college, the beautiful new plaid skirts of Autumn have a definite place. They are very snappy and chic whether you wear them with sweaters or with tailored and sport blouses. And since one also thinks about the other when either is mentioned it is well for us to announce that a fresh shipment of very comely Fall Blouses have just been unpacked.

LOOKING FOR THE MAN WHO BROKE GLASS DOOR
Much mystery surrounds the breaking of a glass in the door between the offices of the county and district attorneys. The entire district attorney's force disclaims any responsibility from the breaking of said window and the county attorney's force state positively that they had nothing to do whatsoever with the shattering of the glass.
The county auditor lent his efforts Saturday morning in securing evidence as to who was to blame but late in the day he had not succeeded in solving the mystery.
One of the parties on whom suspicion rests confided in a friend, stating that a prominent lawyer who had given some dictation to a stenographer leaned heavily against the glass pane causing the break. Now the discussion lies as to the feasibility of an alleged alibi.

FEZZES HAVE ARRIVED TO DECORATE SHRINERS

Fezzes to decorate the dignified "beams" of nobles of Maskat Temple have arrived in Wichita Falls, and have been placed on sale at Harry Baum's, Perkins-Timberlake, Anderson's and Loeb-Leipold's. They may also be obtained from S. O. Fritz, recorder of Maskat Temple.
Only the Shriners who signed the petition seeking a dispensation for Maskat Temple will be entitled to wear the Maskat fezzes. Visiting Shriners, who will be here by the thousands for the ceremonial exercises, August 21, will, of course, wear the fezzes emblematic of their own temple.

A telegram was received by Recorder Fritz this morning from Potentate Walter Cline, urging all committees of Maskat Temple to "hump themselves" and leave nothing undone that may add to the success of the ceremonial exercises and the pleasure of the visitors. A letter also was received from Amarillo stating that city will send a big delegation to attend the "doings" here.

ARE TO INVESTIGATE NEW SUPPLY OF GAS

Committee is Named to Look Into Matter of Adding Wells to Present Capacity.

A committee was appointed by the business council of the chamber of commerce Friday night to investigate the feasibility of "harnessing" the two new gas wells 12 miles northwest of Wichita Falls, and thereby obtaining an additional supply of natural gas for winter use here. The story of the bringing in of the two wells and the possibility of a new gas field being opened, was told exclusively in Friday evening's Times.
J. R. Loggie of the Teshoma Oil & Refining Co., stated to the members of the council that in his opinion not less than 3,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily can be obtained from the two wells for the use of Wichita Falls citizens.

A statement from the Lone Star gas company was read to the council in which the contention was advanced that it would cost the company $250,000 to build a line from this city to the new wells.
"We could not construct the line," the statement added, "unless 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day were available for our use. That means that the field would have to be making 100,000,000 cubic feet daily because the state railroad commission insists upon the maintenance of a pressure of 50 per cent."
The business council also interested itself in discussion of the city plan proposed by George Kessler, landscape architect, whose representative, A. T. Noxes, attended the Friday evening session. The plan provides for diversion of the city into zones—retail store, office and filling station, business section proper, warehouse and "light" factors, "dark" factors and residence zones. It also provides a system of parks and boulevards that would add much to the beauty of the city.

Dependability

Oil drilling costs today demand the same quality in men and tools alike—dependability. Delays due to inexperience or defective equipment cannot be risked. Wages and material prices are such that each crew must know to a certainty that top efficiency can be kept up until the bit strikes pay.

Maximum results in drilling depend on one most important factor—the greatest possible flow of power from engine to hand wheel. It is in the certain delivery of such power that O & G Inner-Locked Belts have become so favorably known throughout the Oil country, as well as in serving as a guarantee against all commonly known belting troubles.

O & G Inner-Locked Belts are free from troublesome “come and go” and keep everlastingly on the job. By reason of their trouble-proof construction, O & G Inner-Locked Belts cannot separate as some belts do. The inner plies are locked both with and to the outer casing which completely covers them. It is this inner and inter-locking which holds the fabric firm in every inch of belt. This, together with the formula of Mineral Compound which impregnates every particle of the belt, is the main reason for the rugged strength and long life which have made O & G Inner-Locked Belts famous.

The rough and ready business of oil drilling gives no chance to “nurse” equipment. Unlike the clean, dry engine and machine rooms of modern factories, Oil drilling is practically out of doors. Belts must run under blistering sun, cold winds, hard rains, sleet, snow and mud. In plain words, they have to stand the “gaff.”

Throughout the Oil country, wherever drilling records are known, the belts that have never failed to deliver the greatest horsepower, the longest service, carry the heaviest loads easiest and always run uniform, regardless of hard condition, are O & G Inner-Locked Belts—the standard of dependability.

AUDITOR APPEALS TO TEXAS COMMISSION

Asks for Relief From Increased Cost of Roads as Result of Freight Increase.

In the interest of the tax payers of Wichita county, County Auditor W. M. Murphy appeared before the railroad commission at Galveston during the past week. He returned to his office Saturday morning after being absent since last Tuesday and reports that the commission listened to his appeal regarding the freight rate increase and its direct effect on the building of roads in this county.

Mr. Murphy appeared before the commission upon invitation of the board of county commissioners, who met in session shortly after the increase in freight rates was ratified by the interstate commerce commission. At that time they determined the approximate figures just what the rate increase of 25 per cent would mean in respect to the transporting of stone for the roads.

While before the commission in Galveston, Mr. Murphy raised the question and objection on the rate increase relative to contracts already let on road building. He explained the bond issues by the county and the assistance given by the state highway department and recited that the county was in reality under obligations to the tax payers, the state highway department and the federal government in putting down all the roads contracted for.

At the present time the rate for transporting a ton of stone within the limit of 100 miles is 90 cents. With the increase this would bring the cost to $1.21 per ton. Such a rate means an additional expenditure of $100,000 alone in getting the stone to the county. Then with the added cost of hauling the concrete and gravel it is clearly evident just what the additional cost would be in paving all the roads contracted for in this county.

Wichita county was the only county in the state represented at the meeting of the railroad commission and in view of the fact that the objections were presented personally a brief will be prepared here setting forth all the facts and sent to the commission for due consideration.

Just what action will be received from the railroad commission is of course merely speculative but it is hoped that some relief will be given.

THORBURN INSTALLS LABOR SAVING PLAN FOR CITY BUSINESS

It takes an energetic man to keep track of the various labor-saving money-saving and time-saving innovations being inserted into city affairs these days by George Thorburn, city clerk. Thorburn's latest "trick" is the opening of a pay-roll account for the city, has cut down the work of the city treasurer 50 per cent, the work of the city clerk's office in part and has relieved the mayor of a heavy burden.

In the future Mayor Cline will have to sign only a voucher for the total amount represented by the city's pay-roll, and what stray checks may be recorded after the voucher is made up. The individual pay checks then will be signed by City Clerk Thorburn and drawn against the pay-roll.

In the past the mayor had to sign not less than 1,000 pay checks monthly. In addition to the regular checks, it was even necessary to obtain the mayor's signature on the innumerable occasions when men completed work for the city or quit the city's employ and, as a result, required to be paid in full for their services.

Under the new system put into operation by Thorburn the "mayor" will have to sign barely 20 checks a month. The system affects merely the pay-rolls. Warrants will continue to be issued for the city's monthly bills.

Modern equipment and policies are necessary if a bank is to give its patrons the best service possible. The City National Bank of Commerce has one of the finest banking homes in the south, complete in every respect and is therefore able to adequately handle the financial business of its customers.

FURTHER DELAY IN ROAD IMPROVEMENT

Inability to Secure Shipments of Rock Handicap Work—Report on Progress.

With only 16 carloads of stone on hand and 12 in transit, County Road Superintendent J. M. Isbell states that the work on the paving of the lake road is being delayed. He states that it will require 250 carloads of stone to complete the paving but that he can easily secure a sufficient amount of gravel and cement should the stone arrive.

Grading of the road between Wichita Falls and Iowa Park is nearing completion. This work is being done by Potts & Prentice. The work of putting down the culverts and concrete bridges on this road is practically all completed.

The Charlie road, upon which work has been done for the past few weeks has been graveled as far as the Frierling school house.

The county concrete gang composed of 20 men will finish the work of putting in the bridges and culverts of the Electric road west of Iowa Park by the first of next month, after which they will begin work on the Iowa Park-Calgary road.

ASSESSED VALUATION GAINS TEN MILLION

Estimated 1920 Rendition Will Run Close to Thirty Millions.

During the past year Wichita Falls has gained more than $10,000,000 in the assessed valuation of the property owned by her citizens.

City Tax Assessor H. J. Anderson estimated this morning that the 1920 rendition will run close to $30,000,000, as compared to a fraction less than $20,000,000 last year.

While the rendition is not yet completed, figures already have been compiled showing that the assessed value of city property that has been rendered will be $27,422,000. Anderson expressed the opinion today that by the time his office has assembled the figures covering all property not rendered for assessment by the owners this amount will approach the thirty million mark.

Last year the rendered rolls showed $18,167,200, and the non-rendered assessments $1,785,340, a total of $19,952,540.

Result Building Boom.
The cause of the steady gain in total values over 1919 lies in the building boom that covered the period between January, 1919, and January of this year.

It is Anderson's intention this year to do away if possible with the former custom here of forcing a citizen to pay taxes on all properties rendered regardless of whether a part of the properties has been sold between the time of the rendition and the date on which the taxes are due. In the past if a man owned two or three properties, rendered an assessment on them and later sold, for example, all but one, he had to pay taxes on all. The tax assessor-collector's office would refuse to accept taxes from the purchaser of the properties, even when one of the terms of the purchase was that the buyer should assume the tax payments.

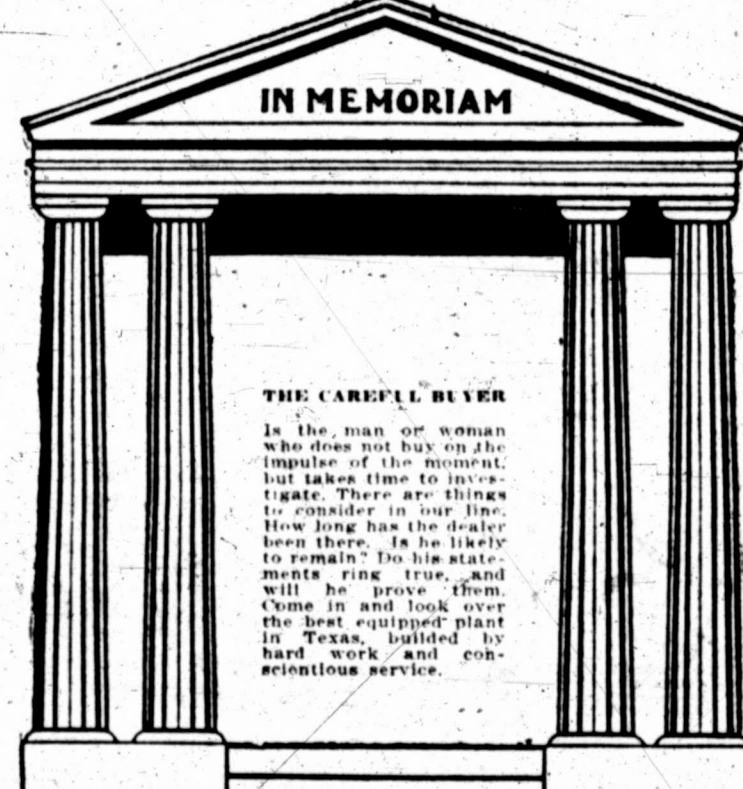

Anderson has compiled the present rolls, however, in such a manner that if it meets the approval of the city council and the city attorney, any citizen will be required to pay taxes in the future on his entire rendition less what property he may have sold.

The success which has been attained by the City National Bank of Commerce has been due to the fact that courtesy has not been sacrificed in maintaining service—featured by promptness and efficiency.

"BOOST" GOOD ROADS ON MOTOR TRUCK TRIP IN NORTHERN ONTARIO

The good roads movement has been given tremendous impetus in northern Ontario by the recently completed 1,400-mile tour of boosters held under the auspices of the Michigan Pikes association.

Starting from Detroit with a total of 60 cars, including three kitchen trucks, motorized lighting plant and shower bath truck, the motorcade traveled for 15 days, meeting with an even more enthusiastic reception than on five previous trips that had resulted in boosting construction of modern roads.

SUGGESTS BASIS FOR TAXING MOTOR CARS

There are two reasons why any motor car wears out highways: first because of its weight; and second, because of the number of miles it runs.

MANY BATTERIES ARE BOILED TO DEATH BY IMPROPER CHARGING

"Many a good storage battery has been literally boiled to death by garage men having little respect for the rules of charging," declared Casey Divney, 1905 Scott street, Friday building, U.S. service station representative for this district.

"Conditions are gradually bettering themselves, however," he continued, "and garage men are waking up to the fact that a battery should not be charged in a hurry with batteries several times larger. The service station, having come by more experience, sticks by the set rule of the game and seldom, if ever, is guilty of battery boiling."

EXAMPLE OF EXPORT VISION IS RECALLED IN THE SUCCESS OF LOCAL MANUFACTURING PLANT

The following account of the success of the Wichita Motors company of this city, is from the pen of Franklin Johnston, editor of the American Exporter, written after a recent visit to the local plant:

AN EXAMPLE OF EXPORT VISION BY FRANKLIN JOHNSTON

Among all the stories of great business success against early odds, none quite duplicates that of a plucky manufacturer who encountered the heaviest blind prejudice against his location, because it happened to be off the beaten path and far from the centers of his industry, that he found it impossible to get enough orders in his country to keep his plant going.

Whereupon, shrewdly judging that foreign merchants were not sufficiently familiar with American railroad distances to share his prejudice, he started a campaign for export trade. Within a few years he had built up a world-wide business embracing three foreign countries and amounting to millions of dollars annually.

When his original prospect right at home found that his product was being sold all over the world their prejudice dissolved and now his domestic business also amounts to millions of dollars annually and is 25 per cent of his total business.

It is the only instance I know where an American manufacturer has a successful, but to go abroad to get a reputation before being accepted at home.

The manufacturer is J. G. Culbertson, president of the Wichita Motors company, which is an agricultural and oil center, 344 miles from Galveston, the nearest port, 512 miles from San Francisco, and 2,669 miles from San Francisco, and the product is not one which either draws its raw materials from the neighborhood or can be shipped in small enough packages to make nothing but long distances a hindrance.

The circumstances under which this export business was built up contains so many lessons of American business men that I recently journeyed to Wichita Falls to gather the facts at first hand.

To begin at the beginning of this story, it is necessary to introduce Joseph A. Kemp and Frank Kell, two men who deliberately started out early in life to visit Wichita Falls, then a very small town on the map.

There is no Woodworth building at Wichita Falls, but a Kemp & Kell Building. It is only one of perhaps a dozen thorough, modern and substantial office buildings which would not be out of place in New York, but rather gathered in the heart of Wichita Falls, where Kemp and Kell buildings, though bearing other names to avoid confusion.

Wichita Falls does not have a Carnegie library. It has a Kemp Library. It does not have a Statler hotel. It has a Kemp hotel and a very fine one it is, by the way, one of the Statler hotels which is over and it can be opened.

Fifteen years ago the three neighboring towns of Henrietta, Vernon and Wichita Falls were all of about the same size and importance and faced about the same future. Two took the world as they found it, but the last reached out and created its own destiny, Kemp and Kell being the instrumentalities.

Falls when natural gas was discovered nearby, and was associated with Kemp and Kell in one of these manufacturing enterprises. This one was the passenger car, and was not making progress. J. G. Culbertson, who was an engineer and who had invested some money in Wichita Falls, was sent for to see if he could straighten it out and was put in charge.

J. G. Culbertson—as he is known in New York and in eighty-three foreign countries, or Jack Culbertson, as he is known in Texas—persuaded them to abandon the passenger car and showed them the possibilities of manufacturing motor trucks in Wichita Falls—whose population was then some 2,000—for distribution throughout the West and Southwest.

A company was incorporated in 1911, with $2,000 capital paid in, and operations began. It was a perfectly good idea. The only trouble was that people in Texas would not buy a truck made there. Culbertson felt that he had a good truck and a sound proposition, but he couldn't sell enough trucks to make things go. The first year they made only two trucks. Maybe they sold that many.

People in Texas and other parts of the Southwest said that when they wanted trucks they would go to headquarters for them—Detroit, Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland or other automobile centers. They weren't going to buy a home-made truck when they could get one from the places where automobiles come from. A good many didn't hesitate to leave the matter to the big cities.

But no sooner had Savell returned than, as a result of one of those very letters that he had laboriously typed at the Brevoort, along came an initial order from the Ateliers Atlas in Paris for the shipment of ten trucks to the French army. Order after order came from the same source all through the war.

A single draft from them ran to half a million dollars. O. Henry or George M. Cohan could hardly improve on the track which they could get out of Wichita Falls there hangs a large map, with a pin for every Wichita truck that is being exported to any of the world.

He said to himself, "I don't believe they know in Milan, Italy, or Buenos Aires, Argentina, how far Wichita Falls is from Detroit. I'll sell these trucks abroad." And Kemp and Kell stuck.

So in 1913 he began advertising for export business. He didn't wait to be personally visited by the chief foreign markets and investigated conditions. He simply told Culbertson that he had a truck and that he would sell it for him. He didn't wait to be personally visited by the chief foreign markets and investigated conditions.

When the war began in 1914 one of the earliest demands on this country was for motor trucks. Savell promptly went to New York, took a room at the Hotel Brevoort, where most of the guests at the time were representatives of the Italian, French, Belgian and British armies or foreign war contractors, and prepared to take orders. But he encountered the same sort of blind prejudice that Texas had shown

Wichita Falls was not generally regarded as an automobile center, that they couldn't wait it and dine in town the same evening, and that it could be scarcely described as a suburb of Cincinnati, Detroit or Philadelphia. As for New York concerns who were acting as war order brokers, they simply laughed at the idea of Texas trucks. Savell, like his chief, didn't lose his courage, but he says he did occasionally lose his proposition seriously but were sometimes actually discourteous. He pleads his Latin temperament as an excuse, though he needs none.

area of the Atlantic, so many trucks went to Great Britain. Not all for army purposes, either, for many have been sent for commercial work. Trucks were shipped for the use of the Belgian and Russian armies also. The Italian army, of which Savell was once a part, was the only one of the Allied forces that he did not sell Wichita trucks—again the irony of fate.

But war orders have been by no means the chief element in building up export houses for the company in question and this business grew faster after the armistice than it did before. How an export business grows like a snowball is shown by these figures: By 1916 the company had its truck in thirty foreign countries. By 1917 they were in sixty-eight foreign countries. In 1920 they were in eighty-three foreign countries, and the company's annual business runs into millions of dollars.

Culbertson and his associates claim that while some other companies have sold more trucks abroad, no other company has such wide distribution as his. The annual export business of this company at the present time is several times greater than the total export of trucks from the United States for any year prior to the time that Culbertson began to make a campaign for export business.

And, curiously enough, the domestic business of the company, although only 25 per cent of the whole, is also several times greater than the total exports of trucks from the United States for any year prior to Culbertson's turning to export trade when he found the domestic trade temporarily closed by prejudice.

This growth illustrates a very important point about the export trade, which is the value of sensing the future rather than being limited by the past. The domestic business has been trebled in the past year alone. This domestic business is based on two points—first, the world-wide reputation of the trucks; second, service stations throughout the Southwest.

So much has the business increased that the company's capital has been increased to $1,500,000, and an additional factory has been purchased at Oklahoma City, which has more than doubled its output. In addition to trucks, the company is now manufacturing tractors, and is exporting them as well as selling them in this country.

At the Seventh National Foreign Trade Convention recently held at San Francisco, J. G. Culbertson was very appropriately selected to speak on the subject of export advertising, for the amazing success of his company has been built up entirely by advertising and following up advertising.

Conditions made this company peculiarly dependent upon advertising and salesmanship by mail. On only one occasion has Mr. Culbertson gone abroad—to England in 1915—and on only two occasions has he been to Cuba. No factory salesman has been sent abroad—only one instance has New York been given a territory and sent his own salesman abroad, and that instance is of quite recent occurrence.

In all other cases this business, amounting to millions of dollars annually, has been secured entirely through export paper advertising, and is the result of intelligent handling of inquiries and follow-ups, supplied by

Hear in mind too, that this business was built up on common sense and application to business not on experience in exporting. Knowledge of the details of the company had no previous experience in export trade and the export manager had practically no previous business experience. But these things are here is one example of how business was built up. In 1914 a man in Antofagasta, Chile, wrote the American Exporter (this name will keep getting in to this story) that he contemplated operating a passenger motor bus line there and wanted the names of manufacturers who could quote him.

This foreign trade opportunity was referred to a number of truck manufacturers, among them the Wichita concern.

Captain Savell answered this inquiry by giving an exhaustive description of how to operate the system and entering into every possible detail of the proposed plan and its cost, and then, and only then, he began to quote the claims for his own company.

The result was an order for six buses. This was followed a little later by an order for four trucks for freight transportation.

In another case a Peruvian operating a transportation service with six trucks in Lima wrote for a catalogue as a result of the Wichita advertising. A follow-up letter was sent and elicited a reply to the effect that he wanted to know the relative cost of operating trucks and the saving that could be effected. This brought a catalogue to him. When he started to sell trucks in China, Savell was laughed at on account of the low wages paid to the coolies in China. But he demonstrated that despite the cheapness of coolie labor motor trucks were more economical, and has made several large sales there, as in all other Oriental countries.

Perhaps the most extraordinary instance of what opportunity and salesmanship have done in this connection is in the case of a shipment of thirty railroad cars loaded with trucks sent to Tientsin, China, via Seattle. These trucks form a fleet that will operate a caravan across the Gobi desert between Kuldja, Turkestan, and Tientsin, China. Equipment for two complete service stations, one at each terminus, went with this shipment.

These trucks will display 1,000 miles which are now used for this year's route. It took a camel a full year to make the round trip from Kuldja to Tientsin and return, carrying about 300 pounds of pay load. The trucks are expected to make it in less than 30 days, and each truck, with trailer, will carry six tons.

Another recent railroad shipment was thirty-one trucks to India via New Orleans. Another trainload, also for India, was being made up while I was in Wichita Falls. In fact trucks marked "Bombay" were the most conspicuous sight in the freight yards. This will consist of forty-one trucks and will go via San Francisco.

These shipments are by special trains from Wichita Falls to port of shipment, and are made on through bill of lading from Wichita Falls to final destination. Bills are attached to bill of lading, and discounted with local banks, so that the financing turnover on these export shipments is as quick, if not quicker, than on domestic business. The company's traffic manager, C. J. Arnold, who also had no previous experience in exporting, is making the company's first export sale of trucks to India.

When, in 1918, the railroads on the Atlantic became so congested with export freight as to seriously interfere with truck shipments from the Middle West, Wichita Falls was shipping trucks on cotton stamps from California.

An example of how a good distributor connection holds an export trade is shown by the case of shipping from the Dutch East Indies. This first order was for twenty-two trucks, with a credit limit of $10,000. Before this order was shipped they called for six more. In over six months this firm has written letters, but would not place a further order. There are 200 motor trucks in Java, and of these Wichita claims 120 as its tally, or 60 per cent.

Here are some of the interesting uses which their trucks are being put to nearly every one of which is a miniature lesson in commercial geography.

Hauling wine for Spanish troops in Spanish Morocco.

Hauling lumber in Portuguese West Africa.

Passenger buses in Cuba, New Zealand, Dutch East Indies, British India, Santo Domingo, Italy, French Indo-China, Mexico City.

General work for the plantations of the British Guiana, Portuguese Guinea, Nigeria, Africa. (The Portuguese name does not appear in the Almagro Gedra, which is rather in his favor.)

When I visited the factory I saw all trucks being made with reinforced bodies for carrying mud in the mud holes from the packing plants to the meat dealers.

In addition to having models in all the large and better known markets in Europe, Asia, Africa, Latin America and Oceania, they have made to scores of out-of-the-way markets. Including Algeria, Angola, Arabia, Ceylon, Danzig, Fiji Islands, French Guinea, French West Africa, Gold Coast, Guadeloupe, Liberia, Malta, Martinique, Mesopotamia, Persia, Portuguese East Africa, Portuguese West Africa, Samoa, Sierra Leone, Spanish possessions, Tunis, Turkey and the island of Madagascar.

The methods used in securing these remarkable results have been of the simplest.

In the first place, Captain Savell is chiefly what his title is, president in charge of exports—indirectly. In some organizations the export manager is devoted to an inferior work by sales manager, credit manager, traffic manager, production manager and four or five other officials. Not so here.

In the second place, inquiries are treated with the utmost thoroughness. No pains are too great to give the foreign inquirer all the information he needs either as to the trucks, as to general or Wichita, in particular. Every prospect is treated as an individual case requiring individual treatment. No stereotyped replies are given. (The ineffectiveness of such stereotyped replies is something which our organization has been trying to persuade manufacturers to do better than we have done.)

In the third place, the replies are very interesting in this regard. Captain Savell does not even write the letters. He has a staff of men who do it first in long hand, then a brief, and finally in type. This is a very effective work, and a result has abundantly shown that this kind of salesmanship produces extraordinary results.

In the third place, each prospect is made to realize that his interest is applied, and that there is a sincere desire to serve him and to meet his views. For example, when references are asked, those of the Wichita Motor Co. are invariably volunteered first. A little thing, but it has different atmosphere that creates a want, and a demand.

In the fourth place, the company knows that it is always in a receptive mood for individual specifications. The importance of this attitude in the case of truck users needs no enlargement.

In the fifth place, the fact that a distributor has been secured in any given market does not lessen the factory's intensive work there.

Quite the reverse, circulating is kept up, and direct mail work on local names, whether sent in by the distributor or secured elsewhere, is kept going constantly. Furthermore, advertising in the local papers is often done.

This helpful attitude towards foreign distributors would hardly need to be mentioned were it not for the short-sighted attitude on the part of some manufacturers on this very point. Too many of them have a tendency, once a distributor has been secured in a local market, to consider that there is no further need of their advertising for that market, that the distributor having been secured, the factory need give that particular territory no further thought.

Where orders are received from truck users in a territory where no distributor has been appointed, the is made on a basis that will fully protect the distributor when and if appointed. In other words, the all too common error of having a single export price which is quoted to any foreign inquiry, whether wholesale, retail or consumer, is avoided—another angle of treating an inquiry intelligently, as an individual problem, and not blindly, as a stereotyped "Form No. 242."

For follow-up work there are export house organs in English and Spanish. These are gotten up exceptionally well, are attractive, readable and very interesting. Great stress is laid on reproductions of photographs of Wichita trucks in use in various parts of the world and under various conditions.

In addition, follow-up letters are run off on a battery of six automatic typewriters. These are necessarily form letters as regards text, but they are actually typewritten, and hence avoid the circular appearance of imitations. Their use has been very effective, and the sight of these machines at work in Texas was very gratifying, as our organization very long urged their use for foreign work.

A typical mailing list of over 12,000 names is maintained and is constantly circulated.

In connection with the domestic business which has been built up as a result of their export success, the company has recently begun to advertise in local papers in the South West.

This domestic advertising campaign also involves a little touch of human interest. Captain J. C. McCall, for 20 years a Texas editor, was a captain in the army during the war, and September 26, 1918, at St. Mihiel, he was surprised and delighted to see a French supply train of 29 Wichita trucks (bought through Ateliers Atlas) from his native state. He threw out his chest, and decided there and then that he had met his professional fate. So as soon as he was discharged he headed for Wichita Falls and went to work as domestic advertising man to get the "southwest" about Wichita trucks.

The moral of this story is that export success on the part of the manufacturer does not depend upon location near seaboard, on previous success in domestic trade, nor on an elaborate, world-wide organization. It depends only upon the suitability of his product to the foreign buyer, and the ability to go demonstrate to that foreign buyer.

It does not demand a special type of mind, nor a departure from sound methods of conducting business.

It does demand, however, vision, persistence and a plentiful supply of common sense.

Finally, it would be more than humane for any one engaged in developing foreign trade through the export business press not to feel an immediate degree of pride in the part which this type of export marketing has played in the export career of the Wichita Motor Co.—only one example, although in several respects entirely unique, of its value in developing foreign markets for American manufacturers.

No Drop in Haynes Prices
Is Statement from Haynes Factory

By ALTON G. SEIBERLING, Vice Pres. and Gen'l Manager
The Haynes Automobile Company, Kokomo, Indiana, U. S. A.

MANY people have delayed purchasing automobiles this Summer because they have been led to believe that the prices of cars would drop in the not far distant future.

can see no possibility of any reduction in the price of automobiles.

On several occasions we have voiced ourselves that this conclusion was incorrect and that the prices of automobiles could not possibly be lowered. On the contrary, there is some likelihood that the price will go higher.

"Today, as always, material and labor are the controlling factors in the cost of automobile production. Of the materials, steel and iron form the basic metals for the manufacture of the automobile. Experts in the steel and iron industries state that the price of these two commodities cannot fall for a long time to come. The inability of our transportation system to function properly in moving the nation's steel and iron output is the basis of this prediction. Labor, the other determining factor in the cost of automobile production, will not accept any reduction in wages, and it is useless to look for a decrease in cost in this direction.

To back up our statements we quote you the following message which we have just received from Mr. Alton G. Seiberling, Vice President and General Manager of The Haynes Automobile Company. Mr. Seiberling is one of the leading automobile men of the nation, and his judgment can be relied upon. Here is what he says:

"These broad economic conditions, coupled with the fact that practically all automobile companies have on hand large inventories of stock that enter into the manufacture of cars, make it mandatory that the price of the fair-priced automobile remain fixed for some time to come."

"In recent weeks there has been some agitation in certain trade circles, relative to a drop in automobile prices. To such agitation, my straightforward reply is that the prices of automobiles will not come down for some time. In other words, as far as it is possible for us to look into the future for the making of price predictions, we

Mr. Seiberling's message is frank, logical and to the point. If you have delayed purchasing your new series Haynes car in the hope that the prices would fall, we would suggest that you place your order with us immediately so as to insure prompt delivery on the date you specify.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motoring Dept.—What effect will the new gasoline tank will produce when put in the gas tank of your car, and what is the mixture?

E.—In the gasoline tank will produce more power by way of increasing the explosive properties of the fuel. It is not designed to withstand high explosives and more or less injury will result. It is a chemical action on the internal working parts is very much questioned.

Motoring Dept.—Please give me your advice on the following trouble: My No. 2 cylinder reaches the spark plug from the magnet. By listening closely I notice a slight click in the magnet, but am unable to locate it. No spark across the face of the distributor as I keep that cleaned. Is there any connection between this click and the fact that No. 2 cylinder misses each time?

E.—The click in the magnet is probably due to the spark jumping there. It is out of the magnet and clean out any dirt and oil. Replace and run engine. If clicking noise in the magnet is still heard it is in the safety spark gap showing that the wire to No. 2 spark is defective and the current must jump the safety spark gap as it cannot ground in the wire way through the spark plug. Replace the defective wire.

Motoring Dept.—I have a dual ignition system on my car. I can start the engine by spinning on magnet, but I cannot start on battery. However, after engine is warmed up I can keep it running on battery, but it stops when I stop. How can I locate the trouble and is it anything serious?

E.—The trouble is probably in the battery circuit breaker. Remove cover and inspect carefully to see if the parts are loose. Draw a piece of fine sandpaper through the breaker points several times to clean them. See if breaker moves freely. If not sitting in breaker, broken or a drop of oil on the contact, which breaker tips. Also test size of gap by means of gauge or the wrench supplied by the manufacturer.

Motoring Dept.—I have a 1918 car. While charging the storage battery I took off a wire which the car was running and the engine stopped. It cannot be started again. The starter runs and cranks the engine and the battery shows good condition. Everything else seems all right. What do you think is the trouble here?

E.—Probably some connection has come loose. Go over the wires carefully, tightening the contacts and check the terminals. Clean spark plugs and remove carbon from the rings and stop the trouble. Is in carburetor. Make sure that current is reaching the distributor and plugs. An open circuit caused by a burned-out resistance would kill ignition.

Motoring Department.—It is possible to put on a piston rings on piston No. 4 (third car) without taking the engine out of the frame? Is it a good idea to coat the cylinder with oil with shellac before putting on? About how much graphite should be put in the differential case? Must it be in or use it at all? Thanking you, I am,

W.—Remove the bottom plate on crank case, and you will be able to loosen the connecting rod bearings. The one next to flywheel is rather mean to reach, but the proper wrench will serve the purpose. Then by removing the cylinder head you can get down the "complex" piston and rod out through the side of the crank case. When rings can be fitted and the parts reassembled without taking motor out of frame. Shellac will make a tight joint. It is used a great deal to prevent leakage. A small quantity of graphite will prevent wear. Do not use too much. Mix it with the lubricant.

Motoring Department.—The valve action of my Buick car has become sluggish. The valves sticking, with the result that the motor does not respond quickly on fire as well as when new. Kindly advise how I may overcome this trouble.

J. M.—The defective valve action is due either to carbon, lodging in the valve guides or from warping due to heat. If the fault is carbon, remove the carbon into the engine while hot will loosen the deposit and improve the condition of the engine. But if the valves are warped it may necessitate the fitting of new valves.

Motoring Department.—What is the cause of vapor rising from oil breather pipe after a short run? My engine will misfire stop entirely at such times, and to keep it going I pull the choke to give richer mixture. Oil crank case was cleaned and oil changed. Water cooling system was thoroughly cleaned, yet the trouble persists.

OWNER.—This is due to smoke and gas working down into the crank case, caused by defective piston rings or scored cylinders. The cylinders must be removed and reground or the defects in the rings attended to. They may be ground by hand, scored, slots in line, broken or worn.

Motoring Department.—My car has given me considerable trouble by overheating this summer. I have cleaned the radiator and water jacket and installed a new pump and hose connections. The fan works properly and the mixture, oil the engine, oil crank case, rich. The lubrication of my motor is perfect. I believe the trouble is due to faulty design. Can you suggest anything that will help me?

READER.—Would suggest that you cut larger air vents in the sides of the hood which covers the engine. These vents should open toward the rear, so as to let the hot air out. This will improve the cooling facilities of your engine. Also check up on the valve timing and the spark timing. A late spark will cause the trouble.

Motoring Dept.—My carburetor is dripping gasoline all the time. I am told that the float is too heavy. It is a cork float. Must I buy a new one, or can I get the gasoline out of the old one and make it serviceable again? Please answer as soon as possible.

E. S.—A new float would be better, but the old one can be repaired in an emergency. Soak it in kerosene alcohol several hours to remove the gasoline, rub it off with a piece of waste. Dry out very thoroughly. Then pack with twenty-four hours in a fairly hot place. Being careful not to char the cork. Then paint with two coats of shellac, drying carefully each time. Replace and readjust. Remember that gasoline level moves with float. Raising float by means of adjustment raises gasoline level and makes it drip at spray nozzle. Lowering float lowers gasoline level and stops drip. Also inspect float valve and be sure that this does not leak.

Motoring Dept.—My car has an electric self starter and lighting system. Not having used the car for a month or more I attempted to start it. The other day and not only found that the starter would not crank the motor but none of the lamps would light. As I live out in the country, I am at a loss to know what to do about it.

READER.—The storage battery is undoubtedly run down, or discharged to such an extent that it will not light the lamps, much less operate the starter. Would suggest that you recharge the battery and have it charged, being careful to mark the wires in replacing. Take care not to confuse with the charging of a storage battery you had better have it done at some garage by those familiar with the procedure. If the battery recharged a full charge no further difficulty should be experienced. Note—also test all the wire connections are tight and none corroded.

Helpful Hints.—Occasionally a spring will break in the starting motor mounted with the flywheel. If the starter fails to turn over the engine, you can hear the starting motor working. This can be reasonably suspect a broken spring.

Without a year's service it is difficult to test the compression of each cylinder. Sometimes a spark plug will leak, and it is simply because the plug is too tight. To test for this, remove the plug and test the compression. If the compression in each cylinder is as high as in the standard there is likely to be more or

INTERESTING FIGURES REGARDING WORLD'S SUPPLY OF GASOLINE CONTAINED IN LATE BULLETIN

A bulletin issued by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, with headquarters in New York, has been received by the Dixon Motor company, local agents for the Buick automobile, and gives some interesting facts and figures relating to the world's supply of gasoline. Contrary to the general belief, this states that there is no immediate danger of a shortage of gas and that trouble which some auto centers have had in securing an adequate supply has been due chiefly to lack of transportation facilities. The bulletin is quoted and condensed below:

New Process Will Increase Supply.—Refiners can get twice the amount of gasoline from oil by using the new "cracking" process, and the big mid-west refineries are getting a 35 per cent from crude oil by using the modern methods, while refineries elsewhere are getting only 12 to 22 per cent. The cost of installing the new process will make the change slow, but if an absolute shortage should confront the market, oil men say this means can be taken to meet it. This would mean an increase of 50 per cent in our present supply.

Mexico an Oil Empire.—Mexico is another source of future supply that has almost been doubling its shipments to the American market every year. In 1919 the Mexican market shipped 52,682,000 barrels of oil to the United States, most of it going to Atlantic ports. David White of the United States geological survey sees infinite possibilities in the oil obtained from shale, although this supply will not be tapped until more machinery is developed. Mr. White says: "The oil shale deposits of the United States are a possible source of oil in amounts far greater than all the available natural petroleum in this hemisphere. They form an enduring asset, sufficient to sustain an enormous ultimate need for an indefinite period."

The fact that there is now a large supply of surplus gasoline in the country does not mean that it can be wasted, for the use of seven and a half million cars in the country means that the action of the separate units may have a great influence on the total consumption. In 1909 the total amount of gasoline consumed in the United States was 2,808,296,513 gallons, and of this amount automobiles accounted for 2,167,651,169 gallons. The remainder was distributed throughout the airplane, motor boat, tractor, paint and varnish, cleaning and rubber industries.

The average passenger car consumption of gasoline is 200 gallons per year. The annual motor truck consumption for the same time is 1,500 gallons.

In 1919 the average cost to the car owner of a 5-cent increase on a gallon of gas was $15.

The total consumption of gasoline in 1918 exceeded production by 114,929,550 gallons, while in 1919 the relation was reversed and production exceeded consumption by 145,146,448 gallons.

The exports of gasoline in 1918 amounted to about 15 per cent. In 1919 exports represented about 10 per cent of the total consumption.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS.

It is essential that every owner should keep a careful watch on the lubrication.

When the battery is fully charged the electricity should test between 1.25 and 1.300.

Pre-ignition means ignition before lead center and is one of the causes of engine knocking.

Skidding on wet streets may be avoided by a careful watch on the lubrication.

By keeping your mixture in the cleanest possible condition it will be found that there is less chance of your engine becoming overheated.

The accelerator pedal, the starting motor, generator and all other devices held down away beneath the hood and floor boards should be given attention at frequent intervals and lubricated.

A short circuit always generates heat and in heating one without instruments can burn the fingers along the lines until you feel the heat. Once it is located the system can be again put in first-class running order by insulating with rubber tubing or tape.

If you have wooden wheels and there is a squeaking sound coming from them it may be that you have loose spokes, which may be either at the rim or around the hub. Once these spokes become loose there is a likelihood of them breaking down when the car slides or is being driven in fast around a curve.

When the upper portion of your radiator does not become thoroughly hot soon after starting the engine, the circulation is probably obstructed by the rubber connection to the cylinders being spread out and largely shut off the flow.

When grease cups are turned down the grease in the passage becomes caked and hardened, preventing the passage of fresh grease to the surface needing it. If at any time difficulty is noticed in turning down these cups they should be carefully cleaned-out and then they should be filled with fresh grease.

Very often all leaks through the axle tubes from the differential housing and gets on the brake bands, making it impossible for the friction surface to grip the metal drums when the brake pedal is depressed. To remedy the trouble temporarily pour a little kerosene on the bands, as this cuts the grease. To cure the trouble install new felt washers to prevent the oil getting through the axle tubes.
