thing for a night sign of distress. One of the commissioned officers volunteered to dash into the chlorine filled torpedo compartment and get one of the batteries there. He was permitted to do so, but in his quest got hold of one that was useless.

PROGRESS PLAYS HAVOC WITH OLD-FASHIONED COURTHSHIP IN BUGGY

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Progress has played havoc with the old-fashioned lively stable, horsehoes smith and courtship.

The horse and buggy in which our forefathers used to ride to church and in which their children went courting, is so obsolete now that it is only the rich who can afford to maintain one.

The automobile has driven the horse and buggy off the road. According to manufacturers of buggies here, they only make them to special order.

The big firms which made a specialty of turning them out quit making them two years ago. They make automobiles now.

C. D. Wilman, manager of the Chicago branch of the Hildebaker Company, which was the leading buggy manufacturing plant in the world, said they quit making them several years ago.

"The automobile eliminated it," he said. "The horse and buggy in the hands of young blood who go courting is a rarity, Wilman said. 'The only people who ride in buggies nowadays are grandpa and grandma and conservative folk,' he said.

Scenes Taken During "Shriners Day" in Wichita Falls Instituting Maskat Temple

Picture at top includes a majority of the novices introduced in connection with the institution of Maskat Temple in this city on last Tuesday of which there were more than 200 in number. Scene first following and to the left is the Ben Hur band from Austin, Texas, which came as a part of the membership of Ben Hur Temple, the trip being made in a special train. Next below, the celebrated Hella Temple Band from Dallas, an organization nationally known on account of its participation in important Shrine events. At the bottom Novices are taking a ride in connection with the big parade staged Tuesday afternoon. The chain of wagons was drawn by a tractor and blocks were tied on the wheels to add to the impressiveness of the journey around the city. Again above, first under top picture, are other Novices astride a telephone pole during the voyage through the streets of the city. Below that a section of the parade showing a few of the several hundred Shriners here for the ceremonial instituting Maskat Temple.

...than cotton. I tell you that the possibilities of this valley are beyond our dreams and we will have one of the best spots of the continent right here at our door. "There need be no fear that the money from the sale of irrigation bonds will be wasted or misapplied. The directors of the irrigation district who have been already elected are conservative, successful business men. It will be their policy to go slowly and safely." Committees have been appointed from the Rotary club, the Wichita club, the Business council of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to assist in the effort to get out a good vote. Voting boxes will be opened at the city hall and at the court house. Statement of Officers. Several officials of the irrigation district organization have joined in a statement regarding the election which follows: The following issues are to be voted upon: First—An issue of $4,500,000 or 45-year bonds to furnish the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, with a permanent and abundant supply of pure water; also to irrigate some 110,000 acres of rich Wichita valley land. Vote yes on this issue. Second—For Conservation and Reclamation. It is necessary to adopt this proposition in order to be able to use the water to be impounded in the reservoir for a city water supply. By the adoption of this proposition you elect to change the present district into a conservation district authorized by section 12a of article 18 of the state constitution. Such district then has the broad powers of using its credit to provide water for any and all uses including a city water supply. Vote yes. Third—For the levy and collection of taxes at a rate of 10 cents on each $100 valuation of property. This is to pay the running expenses of the district that cannot be paid out of the proceeds of the bond issue. Only so much of this tax will be collected as may be required and same will be a small amount. Vote yes on this issue. Fourth—For the levy of tax upon a benefit basis instead of an ad valorem basis. It is vital that you vote no on this issue. The last requirement of the submission of this proposition was passed at the request of federal reclamation projects to meet a condition existing in those projects. The law was so worded as to apply to all projects while the purpose was to provide a method of taxation suitable only to such federal projects composed only of farm-lands and where the projects applied solely to furnishing water for irrigation. It contemplates the appraisal of each tract of land and the levy of taxes on that appraisal which is based upon the benefit to the land. Such a scheme could not be adapted to a district including a town or city. Another vital reason is that our bond issue could not be sold. There are two reasons for this: 1st. The law providing for such schemes of taxation is crude and defective. 2nd. Bond buyers are afraid of new schemes of taxation. When you vote against this proposition you simply vote to continue the present plan of ad valorem taxes, and to pay these water improvement bonds by the same method of taxation that all other city and county bonds are paid. The old and tried method. You may ask why we submit this proposition if it should be defeated. Simply because the law above referred to is defective and will be submitted. To those favoring the project we repeat, be careful in preparing your ballot. Vote for the first three propositions and against the fourth. Where to Vote. Election Precinct No. 1 shall embrace all that part of the district lying east of the following described line and election Precinct No. 2 shall embrace all that part of the district lying west of the following described line. Beginning at a point on the north boundary line of the Wichita county water improvement district No. 1, which is the intersection of a fine drawn in the center of Mississippi avenue, Scotland addition, Thence south following said line through the center of said Mississippi avenue, extending across the Big Wichita river to the center of Scott avenue. Thence along the center line of Scott Avenue to Tenth street. Thence following the center line of Tenth street to Brook avenue. Thence following the center line of Brook avenue south to the right of way of the Wichita Valley railroad. Thence along the right of way of the Wichita Valley railroad to the center line of Archer City road. Thence south along the center line of Archer City road to the south boundary line of the district. The polling place in election district No. 1 shall be at the city hall, Wichita Falls, Texas, and the polling place in election district No. 2 shall be in the basement of the Wichita county court house. (Signed) J. A. Kemp, president; T. B. Noble, vice-president; N. H. Martin, secretary; G. C. Wood, director; J. S. Bridwell, director. Payment by check is the most convenient method of bill settlement, the cancelled check being a form of receipt recognized by law. J. A. KEMP URGES IMPORTANCE OF A BIG VOTE TUESDAY water right will probably be less than $2.50 per acre and will not exceed $3 per acre to take care of the interest and sinking fund and to defray the cost of operation. When this is compared with the farm at Sacramento, Cal., which will cost $11,000,000 and will irrigate 80,000 acres representing a cost of $112 per acre, it will be seen how comparatively the Wichita Falls proposition is. "Texas has voted $2,000,000 bonds to provide a water supply for the city alone. "That is highly attractive as our proposition is it will be difficult to interest the federal government or anybody else in the bonds, unless our own people show an interest in the matter by getting out and voting for it. When we go to dispose of the bonds we want to be able to point to the fact of the interest of the people in it. This can be done if a full vote is cast. I feel that this is the most important matter that has ever come before the people of Wichita Falls. I have confidence that we will not fail. Beyond Our Dreams. Mr. Kemp again discussed the possibilities of agricultural development under irrigation. "There is cotton in Wichita county this season that will make a bale to the acre. This large yield will be due to the abundant moisture. A bale to the acre could easily be raised every year if there were sufficient moisture. I am confident that it will be possible to grow two bales to the acre when Wichita valley land is irrigated. You can see what big returns could be had from cotton alone, but there will be other crops that will be more profitable than cotton.

Confident in his belief that the best avenue for marketing the irrigation bonds will be through the reclamation department of the federal government, J. A. Kemp Saturday declared that this was all the more reason why a full vote should be polled in Tuesday's election to vote $4,500,000 irrigation bonds to provide a permanent and abundant water supply for Wichita Falls and to irrigate 110,000 acres of land in the big Wichita valley. Mr. Kemp reiterated and emphasized his statement that the reclamation plans in the platform of both political parties were all that could be asked and that both Harding and Cox were in hearty sympathy with these plans. "If any aid is extended, and I am certain that the federal government will extend aid, our project here should receive such aid" he said "for it will be the least expensive irrigation project that there is in the United States to my knowledge and back of the bonds will be nearly forty million of dollars of assessed values in the district which, I believe, will be enhanced to nearly a hundred million dollars with the plant in operation. The cost to the land owner who will have a perpetual

NEWS FROM THE COURTS

THEFT OF AUTOMOBILES OF FREQUENT OCCURRENCE AND NUMBER INCREASING

Many thefts of automobiles in Wichita Falls and in Wichita county, as well as surrounding counties, are brought to the attention of the local authorities.

It appears from facts that can be gathered that not only are the number of thefts increasing but in each successive case it appears that the thieves are becoming more proficient in the so-called "business."

From several cases of recent date, where owners have identified the car stolen, it has been found that the thieves are turning their attention to cars that are practically new. It appears that the thieves "spot" a car and take down the engine number and then apply for registration, changing two or more numbers of the serial number.

Their next step is to make out a bill of sale for the car, using fictitious names. After these steps have been completed the car is then stolen and put up for sale at a reduced price which finds a ready buyer.

Are Investigating Case.

A case of this nature is in the course of investigation at the present time. A car disappeared from the residence of a man residing in a town in Haskell county about a month ago. Several days ago a neighbor of the man who had lost the car purchased a car and brought it home. The purchase was made in Wichita Falls. The man who had lost the car saw his neighbor with the new car and some time he suspected his neighbor of stealing his car.

The neighbor, however, produced his bill of sale which showed that the last five numbers of the engine number corresponded with that of the car that had been stolen but that the first two numbers were different. Examination showed that the first two numbers had been altered. The man from whom the car had been stolen gave marks of identification which proved his ownership and consequently the man who had paid out $700 was forced to give over the car.

Saturday afternoon a telegram from the Haskell county authorities sent a local automobile dealer flying to the county seat of that county to make bond and it is rumored that a local attorney will be forced to make a trip to the same city. It is said that the attorney had something to do with the making out of the bill of sale and also with the transaction, as the dealer states that the attorney gave him the privilege of disposing of the car and that he gave the attorney a check for the selling price of the car less the dealer's commission.

CONCLUDE INVESTIGATIONS OF AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Further investigation surrounding the accidental death of Miss Clara Covey of Bowie has been brought to a close. None of the relatives of the deceased, who were in the city Friday, were taken any action against the driver of the automobile, stating that they believed it was purely accidental.

Investigations were conducted by Assistant County Attorneys John M. Martin and Wayne Somerville and it is stated that no court action will be taken in the matter unless the grand jury, which will meet in December, should feel it a duty to conduct a further inquiry.

CONCLUDE JUNE TERM OF THE THIRTIETH COURT

The June term of the 30th district court came to a close Saturday and District Attorney Fletcher Jones announced that some of the cases which remained untried will be transferred to one of the other district courts.

Judge Weidon of the 30th district court and District Attorney Jones will both leave for Graham, Young county, where court will begin next Monday morning. A large number of cases it is said await trial in that county.

BANK ROBBERS SEEN TO HAVE MADE A GETAWAY

Although it appears that the bank robbers who got away with money and Liberty bonds at Graham several days ago, have made their complete getaway, officers of all contiguous counties are still at work following out all possible clues.

Late Saturday Sheriff Bob McFall had heard of no further developments anywhere which might be partially substantiated that the men when last heard of were well on their way across Red river.

JUVENILE OFFICER TAKES THREE BOYS TO GATESVILLE

Juvenile Officer R. W. Morgan took three juveniles to Gatesville Saturday. Two were white boys and the other was a 10-year-old negro boy.

The case of the negro boy is one of peculiar circumstances. A week ago the mother of the negro lad applied at the office of the juvenile officer and asked that her boy be sent to the reformatory because she was absolutely unable to handle him and make him behave.

The case was thoroughly investigated and it was found that the boy's father was dead. It was further found by officials that the boy was beyond control and that every minute of the day he was in the motor car, driving his mother and neighbors to distraction.

SUIT ON TRIAL INVOLVES VALUE OF TWO DIAMONDS

A damage suit involving the story of a large diamond ring and a diamond stud was begun in the 19th district court Saturday in the filing of a complaint entitled T. J. Balhorn vs. H. I. Johnson.

The plaintiff seeks damages to the extent of $4,200 less $1,500 which he states he owes the defendant. In his complaint the plaintiff avers that on or about August 1, 1920, that he executed and delivered a mortgage on the above named property to the defendant to secure a promissory note of $1,500 which was due on that date and at which time he said the accused interest.

The complaint further sets forth that since that time the plaintiff has been ready and willing to pay off the note but that the defendant will not deliver to him the goods in question. The plaintiff values the diamonds at $2,700 and asks for this amount in addition to $500 damages and an additional $500 for exemplary damages.

Interior Views Perkins-Timberlake Store Formally Opened On Friday Evening

Upstairs Ladies' Department, Second Floor.

First floor, showing hosiery, glove, toilet goods, piece goods departments, and a portion of men's clothing department.

A crowd which taxed the capacity of the big building thronged Perkins-Timberlake's new store on Ninth and Indiana, Friday evening and enjoyed the formal opening of the handsome quarters.

A gracious and beautiful feature of the decorations was the dozens of great baskets of flowers which conveyed the compliments and good wishes of other local mercantile concerns and foreign houses with which the company does business. These baskets were most advantageously displayed and the exquisite flowers, big bows of tulle and graceful receptacles added most charmingly to the interior decorative effect.

The crowd was so large at times that many could not get to the upper floor by way of either staircase or the elevator, but the occasion seemed a very enjoyable one, anyway. The store's compliments to the guests were lovely corsages and other flowers for the ladies and cigars for the men. An orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

Many complimentary comments were made on every department, all of which were presided over by the heads and assistants who are in charge during business hours.

The new store opened for regular business Saturday morning.

BROWNING RANCH WELL BEING BALED FOR TEST

The Staley Oil and Gas Company well on the Browning ranch, 10 miles southeast of the city, is being baled out to make a test of a very likely looking sand. Five and three-sixteenths inch casing was set Thursday, and the baler ran a few times, when the gas pressure showed through the mud. It is the intention to put the tools in to stir up the mud and to bale out the hole today.

BUSY WEEK AHEAD IN PREPARATION FOR THE OPENING OF SCHOOLS

NUMBER OF IMPORTANT CONFERENCES ARE SCHEDULED AS PRELIMINARY.

REGISTRATION OF STUDENTS WILL START ON THURSDAY

High School Students Requested To Fill Out Their "Subjects Desired" Card.

The coming week will be a busy one in school circles in this city and although the official opening of the winter term is not scheduled to take place until Monday, September 13, a number of important conferences and meetings will be held relative to the official opening.

On Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock a conference of the principals of the various schools of the city will be held in the auditorium of the high school building. At this time discussions will be had in regard to the work for the coming year. On Wednesday morning a similar meeting of all of the ward and high school teachers will be held at the high school and on Thursday the registration of students expected to be in their places in the school rooms at 8:00 o'clock Thursday.

Lee Clark, superintendent of schools, has stated that at the Thursday morning session students will be expected to present the book cards, signed by their last year's instructors, which state that all books and supplies issued by the state last year were returned by the students in good order. No texts or supplies of any kind will be given to students who do not have these cards. In the matter of registering students, those who attended school in this city last year are to return to the school which they last attended, while those entering the system for the first time are requested to go to the school nearest their home, and if any changes are necessary they will be made at this time.

An announcement concerning only high school pupils was also made by Principal Rieder in connection with the opening of that institution. He states that there are still a few sophomores, juniors and seniors who have not as yet filled out their "subjects desired" cards. He urgently requests that this matter be attended to at once since the final assignments of students to classes cannot be made until it is known how many students will require certain subjects. The class assignment cards of all those who have indicated their elective subjects for the coming term have been completed and it is Mr. Rieder's wish to finish up the task of student assignments before the class sessions are opened. He has been at the high school for the past 10 days attending to the matter of student registrations and will be in his office again Monday.

SERIES OF MEETINGS AT MEXICAN MISSION
Rev. Walter S. Scott will conduct a series of meetings at the Mexican Mission of the Central Presbyterian church, beginning Sunday evening and continuing one week. The meetings will be held at 8:00 p. m. daily. Both preaching and singing will be in the Spanish language.

Bon-Ton Store will close Monday noon for Labor day.

WICHITA FALLS YOUTH ON SUBMARINE U-97 MENTIONED IN DISPATCH

Of the American naval crew that manned the former German submarine vessel U-97 from Europe to Chicago, as described in these columns last Tuesday, one member was a former Wichita Falls boy, Robert J. Schafer, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schafer, live at 1118 Ninth street.

The young man was chief machinist on the voyage over, and after arriving he paid a visit to his parents, as mentioned of which visit Mr. Schafer now has 18 name-plates of metal with German printing on them, taken from the various parts of the engine of the Hun craft, as well as several photographs of the vessel.

Robert Schafer has recently completed his second four-year enlistment and has entered upon his third, declaring that his life work shall be in the navy.

NO MORE BAND CONCERTS FOR PRESENT AT LEAST

There will be no more band concerts for the present. This announcement was made at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Saturday afternoon. No reason was given for discontinuing these programs. These concerts have proven very popular, throngs of appreciative music lovers having gathered on each occasion of the bands' appearance at Kemp park, and the many expressions of appreciation which have been heard on all sides have given ample proof of the fact that the efforts of the musicians were being gratefully received.

CHICAGO REPORTERS CALLED; INVESTIGATE GAMBLING IN CHICAGO

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 4.—Four Detroiters whom William Veck, president of the Chicago Cubs team, said sent him telegrams that large sums of money were being wagered that Philadelphia would win the game with the Cubs in Chicago last Tuesday, had not been identified here today.

Charges that players on the Chicago Cubs baseball team were "fixed" to let Philadelphia win here last Tuesday, have been under investigation by officials of the Chicago club since the reports were first received, Veck announced today.

Veck said he received several telegrams and long-distance telephone calls before Tuesday's game, and started that gamblers were wagering sums of money that Philadelphia would win and that he had put Grover Alexander, star Cub hurler, in the box to thwart the alleged plan. Alexander pitched a great game but lost through poor support, 3 to 5.

Veck exhibited several telegrams received from various cities the day of the game and said on receipt of them he immediately got in touch with Manager Fred Mitchell and Alexander.

A $500 bonus was offered Alexander by Veck, the latter said, if he beat the Phillies. Veck said he had four private detectives to sit in the stand and watch the game for any untoward incident which might throw light on any plot to win the game.

He has called a meeting of the baseball reporters on Chicago newspapers to select a committee of three to investigate the charges, which he said, he said, would defray all their expenses.

The charges, Veck said, as published in the press, are untrue. "If I have any regret at this time it is merely that investigations which were being made might be hampered through the publicity," he said.

Veck said that at 5:00 p. m. last Tuesday he began to receive telegrams containing reports of gamblers who were betting on the Phillies to beat the Cubs.

"In the same report I received two long distance telephone calls, one from a man who said his name was G. H. Allen, Detroit, and J. H. Clinton, also of Detroit," said Veck.

"The two parties who phoned me in substance said that vast sums were being wagered in Detroit and other cities on the Cubs losing the game that day, and that they had information before me, they looked to me, as president of the club to see that the alleged occurrence was thwarted."

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—I. E. Sanborn, president of the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association, tonight said he had no intention of immediately appointing a committee to investigate charges that the Philadelphia and Chicago National League game here last Tuesday had been "fixed" for Philadelphia and Chicago gamblers in different cities had made thousands of dollars betting on it.

Mr. Sanborn said there was nothing in the statement of President William Veck of the Chicago club, issued today, requesting him to appoint an investigating committee, although such a suggestion was made in the statement.

"If any committee is appointed, it will be a committee of all the baseball writers in the city," said Mr. Sanborn tonight. "Mr. Veck has not definitely requested me to appoint a committee and unless he does, it will be up to the association itself to decide what, if any, action it desires to take."

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 4.—A former Cincinnati actor, who, it is said, frequently places small wagers on baseball, is authority for the statement that a commission firm has instructed him to handle money on the Chicago-Philadelphia game in which the "killing" was reported by professional gamblers, as reported from Chicago.

According to the actor's statement, the men tried to bet the money in Cincinnati were not the men who originated the scheme, but officials of a company engaged on a commission basis to get the money in 25 leading cities in the United States.

It is his belief if there is any "organization" that Detroit is the base of operations.

Reports from other sources indicate that "agents" were sent to Columbus, Dayton, Ohio, and Lexington, Ky., to place bets, according to one statement a local citizen bet $1,000 on the Cubs, saying he picked the Chicago team as the better team.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—When Babe Ruth today knocked his 48th home run of the season, he broke all known world's records for circuit drives in a single season.

Ruth last season broke "Buck" Freeman's major league record of 25 home runs in a season by driving out 33. This, however, was not a world's record, for Terry Woodson, playing with Minneapolis, then in the Western League, made 48 four base hits in 1895.

Warden was a first baseman, and like Ruth, was unusually large physically. Most of his home runs were made in the Minneapolis park, however, which had a very close right and left field fence. He seldom drove the ball over the fence on foreign fields.

In 1901, Catcher Roth of the Evansville Central League club made 26 home runs.

Ruth this year has made at least one home run in every ball park in the American League, although he has, of course, made more in New York than in any other city.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Jack Johnson is receiving no liberty in Kane county jail at Galesburg. Sheriff Claude Foele declared this morning in denial of charges made by a Chicago afternoon paper that the former heavyweight champion pugilist was having too much freedom.

The report which declared Johnson was out automobile riding are false, said Foele. "He is not allowed outside the jail. He boxes a little in his cell but he put on no fights for galleries or spectators.

"If they think Jack is having it too easy in Geneva, I would not object to his being taken somewhere else. The numbers of people trying to see and talk with him keeps us busy."

Foele said tales of Johnson's automobile rides are fictitious and originated by some one who finds he cannot see the pugilist at the jail.

DEMPESEY GETS INTO ACTION AGAIN

In taking on Billy Miske as his first opponent, after an absence from the ring of over a year, Dempsey, to our notion, has picked a pretty tough nut to crack.

Miske is not "set-up." Billy has taken on weight and there is more than a possible chance of his pulling the trick; for he has a punch that is always dangerous. He has fought Dempsey three times and must know a great deal about his style of boxing and ringcraft.

Miske is a fact that Jack nursed a very sore jaw for a week after their St. Paul fight.

"I am not going to let Dempsey back me around, letting loose those terrible hooks of his. He is a hook puncher, hitting his body with his punches in either hand. He has his body, from the toes up, behind his blows.

"I will box him at times, block off some of his hooks and high down; he shoots over me; I come up in close and batter at him. It worked before; now that I am punching better I expect to shake him up when I hit him.

"Although I have never been knocked off my feet Jack Dillon hit me as hard as did Dempsey and when he was right I think that Dillon was nearly as hard a puncher as the champion."

Miske will put up a valiant good fight and should last the ten rounds.

JOHNSON NOT HAVING TOO MUCH FREEDOM DECLARES SHERIFF

ELGIN, ILLS., Sept. 4.—Jack Johnson is receiving no liberty in Kane county jail at Galesburg. Sheriff Claude Foele declared this morning in denial of charges made by a Chicago afternoon paper that the former heavyweight champion pugilist was having too much freedom.

The report which declared Johnson was out automobile riding are false, said Foele. "He is not allowed outside the jail. He boxes a little in his cell but he put on no fights for galleries or spectators.

"If they think Jack is having it too easy in Geneva, I would not object to his being taken somewhere else. The numbers of people trying to see and talk with him keeps us busy."

Foele said tales of Johnson's automobile rides are fictitious and originated by some one who finds he cannot see the pugilist at the jail.

The Americans made a clean sweep in the broad jump. J. B. Merchant, California, won in 36 feet 10 inches. The Americans sprung a surprise by winning the four mile relay in 15 minutes 34.8 seconds. L. M. Shiple, Philadelphia, was first across the line.

Skinner Salm has evidently picked a couple of winners from the West Texas circuit. Hudspeth has already proved his worth and Darrough showed yesterday that he was no slouch.

The Spudders got a slightly firmer hold on the second rung while the Bears were battling to a tie. The more games the Panthers take from the Geassers, the better off we'll be.

Ohes again it was Danny Clark's big bat that proved to be the deciding factor in the spudders' win. Danny had a hard time showing the fans he was worth $4,000, but the big majority are satisfied now.

The Spudders are wearing their home uniforms white on the road. Salm claims that the rats ate up the road outfits.

The Dodgers put in a bid for Danny the other day but they were about 26 minutes late in making their bid to it. It has also been rumored on very good authority that Gibson has goofed up Josephson and Miller.

Jo not only leads the circuit in hitting but he has crossed the platter more times than any other Texas leaguer. He is also one of the few who is in a position to pass the 300 mark in base hits.

Unless Jo suffers a terrible slump he should be paving the way at the close of the season. Both Nixon and Brown are several points behind.

The Yankees can come nearer to first place without touching it than any baseball club that ever played the game. Every time the lead is within their grasp they stumble, and just when it looks as if they were going to be kicked out of the league they wake up and play championship ball. You've never seen a great game.

The British arranged a track meet with the Americans to suit themselves, picking the events in which they were strongest, but the best they could do was tie them. We'll take off our hats to them in golf, but athletic honors rest there.

BABE RUTH BREAKS ALL KNOWN RECORDS FOR CIRCUIT DRIVES

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—When Babe Ruth today knocked his 48th home run of the season, he broke all known world's records for circuit drives in a single season.

Ruth last season broke "Buck" Freeman's major league record of 25 home runs in a season by driving out 33. This, however, was not a world's record, for Terry Woodson, playing with Minneapolis, then in the Western League, made 48 four base hits in 1895.

Warden was a first baseman, and like Ruth, was unusually large physically. Most of his home runs were made in the Minneapolis park, however, which had a very close right and left field fence. He seldom drove the ball over the fence on foreign fields.

In 1901, Catcher Roth of the Evansville Central League club made 26 home runs.

Ruth this year has made at least one home run in every ball park in the American League, although he has, of course, made more in New York than in any other city.

VOTE TUESDAY FOR the IRRIGATION BONDS

(District No. 1—City of Wichita Falls and Adjacent Lands)

YOUR FUTURE IS AT STAKE

The value of your home, farm, business property and the ultimate growth of your city and county, will be vitally effected by the success or failure of the Irrigation Project and a great water supply.

Wichita Falls grew more than 100 per cent from 1910 to 1918, and another 200 per cent from 1918 to 1920.

With abundant water, Wichita Falls in 1930 should be a city of 100,000 to 150,000 people.

Abundant water for the home, garden, yard, and farming means that Wichita Falls will be one of the great centers of the southwest.

THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT.

Wichita Falls has become the queen city of North-west Texas not only because of natural resources but principally because of the vision, courage and faith of its leading citizens. The city is now on the threshold of the greatest era of its growth and development. The vision of its leading citizens has kept the irrigation project constantly before the people as the biggest single enterprise the people of Wichita Falls and Wichita County have ever engaged in. Its success means an abundant water supply for the city and county. It means that the valley of the Wichita will be dotted with prosperous and beautiful intensively cultivated farm tracts, each with its happy family of citizens enjoying abundant life and paying tribute forever to the foresight of the people of Wichita County in 1920 who made this new day of prosperity possible.

You have the privilege of taking part in this great forward step which means so much to the city and the county and to your home whether it be a cottage or a mansion.

SECTION II.

WHO CAN VOTE

Any property tax payer holding a poll tax receipt and paying taxes on real or personal property within the boundaries of District No. 1 can vote in this election.

MODEL BALLOT

X For issuance of bonds and levy of tax in payment therefor.

Against issuance of bonds and levy of tax in payment therefor.

X For Conservation and Reclamation.

Against Conservation and Reclamation.

X For levy and collection of taxes at a rate of ten cents on each one hundred dollars valuation of property.

Against levy and collection of taxes at the rate of ten cents on each on hundred dollars valuation of property.

For the levy of taxes upon a benefit basis instead of an ad valorem basis.

X Against the levy of taxes upon a benefit basis instead of an ad valorem basis.

NOTE—The above is suggested as the way a citizen of District No. 1 should mark his ballot to get the greatest benefit for the city and county from this great project.

WHAT IS BEHIND THE IRRIGATION PROJECT

It is human nature to wonder why any movement is started. The reason for the Wichita Irrigation project is simple. Wichita Falls and Wichita County must have water abundantly to go forward in future development. Benefits will be distributed. The poor man and the rich man both will profit far beyond any cost that can ever be assessed against him.

It is self protection. To be frank, we MUST put the irrigation project over or be hampered throughout the coming years with inadequate water supply. A frank understanding among ourselves compels the statement that if Wichita Falls grows during the next ten years at even one-third the rate it grew during the last ten years the present water supply will have been hopelessly outgrown.

SECTION III.

WHERE TO VOTE

The district is divided into two precincts. The dividing line runs down Mississippi Ave. in Scotland Addition to Scott Ave. Down Scott Ave. to Tenth Street, out Tenth Street to Brook, down Brook to the Wichita Valley railroad, along the railroad to Archer road, down Archer road to the Southern boundary. If you live east or south of this line, you are in Precinct 1 and should vote at the City Hall, Wichita Falls. If you live west or north of this line you live in Precinct No. 2 and should vote at the Wichita County Court House.

Four Proposition and What They Mean:

1. An issue of $4,500,000.00 of 40 year bonds to furnish the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, with a permanent and abundant supply of pure water, also to irrigate some 150,000 acres of rich Wichita Valley land. Vote yes on this issue.

2. For Conservation and Reclamation. It is necessary to adopt this proposition in order to be able to use the water to be impounded in the reservoir for a city water supply. By the adoption of this proposition you elect to change the present district into a conservation district, authorized by Section 59a of Article 16 of the State Constitution. Such district has the broad powers of using its credit to provide water for any and all uses including a city water supply. Vote Yes.

3. For the levy and collection of taxes at a rate of ten cents on each one hundred dollars valuation of property. This is to pay the running expenses of the district that cannot be paid out of the proceeds of the bond issue. Only so much of this tax will be collected as may be required and same will be a small amount. Vote yes on this issue.

4. For the levy of taxes upon a benefit basis instead of an ad-valorem basis. It is vital that you vote No on this issue. The law requiring the submission of this proposition was passed at the request of Federal Reclamation Projects to meet a condition existing in these projects. The law was so worded as to apply to all projects while the purpose was to provide a method of taxation suitable only to such Federal projects composed only of farm lands and where the project applies solely to furnishing water for irrigation. It contemplates the appraisal of each tract of land and the levy of taxes on that appraisal which is based upon the benefit to the land. Such a scheme could not be adapted to a district including a town or city. Another vital reason is that our bond issue could not be sold. There are two reasons for this:

First, the law providing for such a scheme of taxation is crude and defective.

Second, bond buyers are afraid of new schemes of taxation. When you vote against this proposition you simply vote to continue the present plan of ad valorem taxes and to pay these water improvements bonds by the same method of taxation that all other city and county bonds are paid. The old and tried method. You may ask then why we submit this proposition if it should be defeated. Simply because the law above referred to provides that it shall be submitted. To those favoring the project we repeat, be careful in preparing your ballot. Vote for the first three propositions and against the fourth.

District No. 1 Embraces the City of Wichita Falls and 15,000 acres adjoining the city on the North and on the South. District No. 2, to be Created later, embraces the Valley of the Wichita River. Vote for Irrigation and Prosperity.

IN every motion picture there is an actor whose name does not appear in the published cast or characters and who, except in a few rare cases, is never seen in the picture, but upon whose work the entire success of the film depends. He is, as it were, an invisible star, for every nuance of character presentation, every detail of settings and lighting, are the product of his genius. He selects the cast and often the development of the story, even to the writing of the titles, falls within his province. Indeed, he must possess a complete knowledge of every angle of picture production, for he is the man who, as the director of the camera play, is, in the truest sense, the man who makes motion pictures.

In recent months there has been a growing tendency to feature the director rather than the players in the screen story. Several prominent directors have been honored by having productions announced as their own, with the name of the distributing organization placed in secondary position. With this comes the suggestion from Houdini, who has himself recently gone into pictures, that each director autograph his work by appearing in at least one short scene. Several directors have followed the suggestion with the result that the public is beginning to know these "brains of the camera play" and to take as great an interest in them as in their favorite stars.

Public Has Peculiar Ideas Concerning Director.
To the world in general a director is a man who owns a special chair and a special megaphone on each of which his name is printed in large letters. He sits in the chair and urges the actors through the megaphone to do dramatic leaps over cliffs or to go through violent struggles on the roofs of burning buildings. In reality, if he is a good director, he is a deep student of human nature, widely read, highly educated, with an artistic insight as keen as that of a painter. An examination of the experiences which have built for the present success of most directors shows that, in almost every case, they have lived a life which has been widely varied, and from which they can draw material for the interpretation of almost every human emotion.

Take for example Cecil B. De Mille, director general of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, producer of Paramount Artercraft specials such as "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" The son of Henry C. De Mille, the dramatist, his first knowledge of the stage was acquired playing child's parts in his father's company. As he grew older he took a greater interest in the drama and at the age of eighteen he and his brother William wrote their first play. This was followed by several more years on the stage. He also found time to go to college and, after graduation, devoted more time to playwriting, turning out, among many other plays, "The Return of Peter Grimm" for David Warfield. Seven years ago he entered the motion picture field, strong in one belief that if motion pictures were produced with a carefully developed construction and technique, their possibilities were limitless. Putting his theory into practice, he at once became a leader in the production of picture plays and one success followed another.

Fitzmaurice Strives for the New and Beautiful.
Like his brother William, De Mille is also a graduate of the stage. He is the author of many theatrical successes, among them "The Warrens of Virginia," in which Mary Pickford played a child's part, "Classmates," and the Belasco success, "The Woman." He is a student of the drama and literature in their highest forms. He is a firm believer in the fact that the ideal picture shall have something to say and say it beautifully. To this end he works in two capacities, both as scenarist and director.

George Fitzmaurice, whose direction of "On With the Dance," brought new beauty to the screen and who, with "The Right to Love," has surpassed his former effort, is not a product of the theater. His training has been that of an artist, and he has lived in all the great capitals of continental Europe. Of Irish parentage he was reared and educated in Paris and with his inborn Irish humor combines the Gallic sense of beauty and a sparkling wit. In his pictures he is eternally striving for new and beautiful effects, preferring stories which will give him an opportunity to indulge his fancy in striking atmospheric pictures of the Orient. In "The Right to Love" he has gone to Turkey for his locale and has produced some of the most fascinating scenes the screen has yet seen.

Out-door Scenes His Specialty.
At the opposite end of the producing field from Mr. Fitzmaurice is George Melford, who in contrast to the fanciful scenes which the "Irishman from Paris" loves to film, is particularly interested in bringing the invigorating atmosphere of the great outdoors to the screen. In this new version of Jack London's, "The Sea Wolf," he has gone to the sea for his settings, filming by far the greater portion of the picture aboard a schooner well out in the Pacific. In "The Round Up" he has heard the call of the plains and in "The Translation of a Savage," a film version of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, he has sought the hills. Mr. Melford is a native of Rochester, N. Y., and has been active in the motion picture field for ten years, previous to which he was interested in the theater. His entry into pictures was as leading man with the Kalem Company. He has the confidence born of knowledge and experience, is an indefatigable worker and invariably gets the best results from the artists working under his direction. Hugh Ford was educated as a mining engineer but that profession did not attract him and he went on the stage, playing character parts with the old Lyceum Theater Company. He soon graduated to the field of direction, numbering among his triumphs the spectacles, "The Garden of Allah," and "Joseph and His Brethren." Joining the directorial staff of the Famous Players he went to Rome to direct Pauline Frederick in the film version of "The Eternal City." Since that time he has been constantly at work in the studio, directing many stars, especially Elsie Ferguson. Although he has directed pictures in every corner of the world, Mr. Ford is strong in the belief that often better results can be obtained in the studio with a setting which reproduces any selected locality than by actual going to the place in question. The questions of lights, of composition, and of photographic values are much more easily solved when the proper equipment is at hand, he declares.

Future Success of Screen in Hand of Directors.
A specialist in the direction of stories of youthful adventure is William De Taylor. The skill with which he caught the spirit of Mark Twain and preserved it intact on the screen, has placed him in the front rank of directors. Curiously enough, since his greatest success has been with stories of American life, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," and "Huckleberry Finn." Mr. Taylor is an Englishman. Educated at Clifton College, following his graduation he went on the stage playing with such stars as Fannie Davenport and Kathryn Kidder. He went into motion pictures first as an actor. During the war he served with the British army. It is in the hands of these men that the future of the motion picture lies, and their interest, their study and their untiring efforts assure that the future will be an artistic one.

What Industrial Motion Pictures Really Are

A FEW years ago an industrial motion picture was something undreamed of by either producer, manufacturer or exhibitor. Even today an industrial motion picture is a rarity, but the swiftness with which it is coming into general use will, within a few months, astonish the world. Without exaggeration this new industry opens up a new avenue of industrial training, destined to save millions of dollars and untold numbers of hours to manufacturers and plant owners. Its importance in the business world is so strong that it seems inconceivable that such a simple method of training has gone uncovered for generations. The industrial motion picture, besides the educational value, also contains an entertainment feature so strong in itself that to educate any group of persons it is only necessary to get them to look at the pictures as they are thrown on the screen.

When the "insides" of a great plant are shown, visualizing the manufacture of a product that enters largely into the details of our daily existence, we are agape with wonder. But here I wish to call attention to some of the uses and possibilities of the motion picture as applied to shop management, salesmanship, increased production and such like things.

Immeasurable Enterprise.
Many men and women have seen the vision of the motion picture as a wholesome form of entertainment, educational in its very nature. I have seen the vision of the industrial and educational motion picture, and, without giving names, I want to tell here what the heads of one great industrial enterprise are doing with industrial motion pictures at the moment. This company employs approximately 20,000 men in its plant located in a Midwestern city, and quite naturally it has tremendous problems of labor and production to solve.

For this company the industrial and educational department has visualized the entire plant, including the operation of individual machines, and the processes through which raw materials pass into completed products; for instance, each machine is picturized in the hands of a skilled worker. The picture shows how material is handled skillfully, quickly and safely to obtain the best results.

The cameramen engaged in his work are also experts, long experienced. The latest marvels in science in the way of lighting are used and the intricate operation of every bit of machinery is brought out even more clearly than the eyes could see were a person looking directly at the machine. Further than this the pictures show the production of the raw material in all parts of the world, and also visualize the uses of the company's goods after they pass into the hands of consumers. The pictures constitute a complete technical and interesting story of the company's enterprise.

In an establishment so large, however well managed, there is a constant outgo and income of labor. Day by day men apply for work, who speak all languages—all manner and kinds of men who have passed through all stages of training and development.

Many of them have no knowledge of the English language, although they may be fairly expert workmen. When men apply for work, they are submitted to the usual employment processes; their pedigrees taken, physical examinations made, etc. Then those who are accepted for employment are taken into a large motion picture theater constructed within the plant. In the case of the plant of which I am writing the theater there seats 1,500 people comfortably. Then the motion picture show begins.

Your Pick.
Rapidly, as in an ordinary entertainment theater, the entire plant is visualized for the benefit of the workers to be. One says he wants to operate a special machine; another says he wants to go into the finishing department; another says he has some knowledge of chemistry and wants to go into the chemical division; another says he has specific knowledge of production and manufacture of a certain raw material used in the plant; so on down the line. When the man has arranged his employment, he is turned over to an instructor and taken into a smaller theater, a room equipped with a small projection machine. There he is shown technical and intimate details of the work that he is to do.

In this way, through the use of skillfully made motion pictures, a new employe learns as much of the plant machine and processes on which he is to be engaged in three days of this intensive study and instruction as he would ordinarily learn in three months; if he were put on a machine immediately after being accepted for employment. Then, too, the new employe is enabled at once to select the task for which he is best fitted, instead of rambling around through the plant, from pillar to post, for months and possibly never finding his niche.

The adoption of this motion picture plan in every great industrial plant in the United States is one of my visions of the use of industrial motion pictures. But I have other visions, and some of them are already being put into practical operation. There are now in daily use in the United States 3,100 motion picture theaters which may be classed as industrial plant theaters. These theaters serve many purposes. At times they are used for the instruction of salesmen in factory processes and products. At other times they are used for the instruction of workers as I have outlined above.

Keeps Record.
To give a general survey of what an industrial or educational picture can do, permit me to list some of the kind of organization pictures which have been found to be of great value: A permanent visualized record of the entire plant; the visualization of special processes; of shop practices—for purposes of record, instruction, study, or in the course of invention, or instruction of operatives in efficiency methods; for use in establishing, promoting or continuing welfare work among employes.

As an aid to the solution of labor problems—explanation of industrial democracy or any other system designed to establish new or better economic relations between employer and employes; lessening labor turn-over by raising mental standard of employes, Americanization; instruction of salesmen in sales methods; selling by means of motion pictures shown in buyers' offices with a suit-case projector; the sociologists of every shade of opinion are agreed that every

"ism" from Socialism to Bolshevism has as its germinating seed, the dissatisfaction of the worker with working conditions.

Whether or not he is justified has nothing to do with the case. Manufacturers have found that the best means of easing labor unrest includes a raising of the standard of working conditions, and its most practical form has been found to be what is popularly known as welfare work; picture to yourself a huge industrial plant with its thousands of workers, of a score of nationalities; because you can not reach them or teach them through the ordinary channels of man-to-man intercourse, you get slipshod labor, lack of loyalty and co-operation, services grudgingly rendered; in fact, all the evils of labor unrest, which is responsible for the costly labor turnover in our industrial plants generally.

For years the American manufacturer thought of the industrial motion picture as a toy. It was never a toy. It is an industrial giant—conceived in wisdom, but unharmed, uncontrolled—a giant that has been permitted to sit idly by and twiddle his thumbs.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—All grains were affected today by hedging pressure. Cool weather in part of the west also was a factor, the trading being light. The markets closing weak and irregular. At the finish, wheat was down 1/2c to 3/4c under yesterday's close, with December $2.34 to $2.34 and March $2.34 to $2.34; corn was 1/2c lower to 1/4c higher and oats showed a net loss of 1/4c to 3/4c. Provisions were strong with prices ranging from 7/8c to 60c higher. Rains in Argentina had a depressing effect on wheat. Country offerings were light and reports indicated that farmers are holding for higher prices. Corn averaged lower with a lack of outside trade. September oats broke badly due to stop-loss selling and to hedging sales. Provisions were active and higher, the feature being the buying of lard to remove hedges against liberal sales for export.

Market Review

New York Stocks.
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Ralls were prominent features of this week's broader dealings in securities, both shares and bonds showing greater activity and strength than at any time since the return of the railroads to private ownership. Extreme advances of 1 to about 5 points were registered by the speculative issues of roads traversing western and southwestern territories, their gains doubtless being accelerated by the forthcoming movement of large crops.

Grain and Provisions.
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Export buying on a big scale has put decided strength on wheat and wheat market. Compared with a week ago wheat prices this morning were 4 1/2 to 7 1/2 cents higher, where the market was down 1/2c to 3/4c and oats off 1/2 to 3/4c. In provisions the net difference for the week ranged from 1/2 to 2 1/2c advance. Although at the beginning of the week gossip was current that foreign governments were having some difficulty in financing their purchases of grain, it soon became apparent that any obstacles had been surmounted.

Chicago Produce.
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Butter—Higher; creamery, 42@43c.
Eggs—Higher; receipts, 10,000 cases; standard, 33@34c; firsts, 31@32c; ordinary firsts, 44@46c; at mark, cases included, 46@49c.
Poultry—Alive, unchanged.

Hogs—Receipts, 300; generally 10c to 25c higher; top, $12.12; bulk light and medium, $11.50; heavy, $11.75.

ODD FELLOWS TO CONFER THE INIATORY DEGREE

The local lodge of Odd Fellows will, on tomorrow night, confer the initiatory degree upon a large class of candidates at their hall. They are anticipating great things to take place during the next six months, and the members are exceedingly proud of the results during the summer months, for it is thought that few lodges throughout the state will have made a better record during the time when most all lodges let up, and do well to keep things going.

IRRIGATION PROJECT

An important election will be held on September 7, 1920, by the Wichita County Water Improvement District No. 1 which comprises the city of Wichita Falls and some acreage of farm lands to the north and to the south of the city, to vote bonds in the amount of $4,500,000.00 to complete the irrigation project. This project is to furnish the city of Wichita Falls with a permanent and adequate supply of pure water and also to irrigate approximately 150,000 acres of rich Wichita River in the vicinity of Wichita Falls.

A large dam will be placed across the Wichita River in the north central part of Baylor county, thus forming an artificial lake covering some 17,835 acres of land and holding 444,168 acre feet of water, an acre foot being water one foot deep over an acre of land. In addition to the large reservoir there will be a diversion dam and reservoir built some twenty miles east of the main reservoir which will have an additional capacity of 45,000 acre feet of water. From this diversion dam site two canals will be constructed, one running north and one running south of the Wichita River and following the valley to the city limits of Wichita Falls. The south canal will be used to supply Lake Wichita with an abundant supply of water at all times. A chemical analysis of the river water made by the Fort Worth Laboratories May 20, 1920, shows that water contains very little hardness of any character. Their report in part follows:

- Calcium Carbonate, 66 parts per million.
- Calcium Sulphate, 245.8 parts per million.
- Calcium Chloride, 104.4 parts per million.
- Sodium Chloride, 112.8 parts per million.

Thus indicating that the water is excellent water to drink and also to put on the land for irrigation purposes.

Experience of Los Angeles

The city of Wichita Falls at present is in a situation very similar to the condition confronting Los Angeles, Cal., in 1905 when the population having grown from 102,479 in 1900 to over 200,000 in 1905 the city water supply proved inadequate. All attempts to develop underground water were unsuccessful. In August, 1905, a committee appointed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce made the following report:

- First: It is imperatively necessary to secure a new water supply if the development of the city is to be continued.
- Second: The Owens River Valley is the only source that promises a permanent supply that will be sufficient.
- Third: There is an ample supply for our needs and the quality of the water is satisfactory.
- Fourth: There are no difficult problems presented in building the conduit needed. It is a large but simple proposition.

The city of Los Angeles with great spirit and city pride by a vote of 10,787 to 755 determined to avail themselves of this water supply.

This project consisted of acquiring the rights to Owens river located some 250 miles away in the Sierra Nevada mountains, and bringing the water across the mountains, deserts and canons in concrete and steel flumes, tunnels, syphons, etc., at a cost estimated to be $24,485,600 and five years time to complete same. In 1907 the people voted by a ten to one vote to issue bonds in this amount. The project was completed on time and within the amount estimated. The magnitude of this work may be realized when we know that one tunnel of the many tunnels drilled through the mountains was 26,870 feet long and ten by twelve feet in dimensions. The tunnel was drilled at the rate of 22 feet per day through very hard rock. This time was a world's record for this character of work. This tunnel has a capacity of 27,000,000 gallons of water per hour.

Owing largely to the magnificent water supply Los Angeles has at present a population of over 700,000 and over 2,000 manufacturing plants. An increase of 300 per cent over the population at the time the new water supply was started.

Permanent Water Supply Imperative

The city of Wichita Falls is now confronted with a situation similar to that confronting Los Angeles in 1905. In order to maintain our present prosperity and to provide for the future growth of the city, a permanent and adequate supply of water is imperative.

After many years of testing of the underground water in this part of the state we are assured that the underground supply is entirely inadequate and so full of mineral salts as to make it unsuited for drinking purposes. The only adequate and satisfactory supply within the reach of this city is the Wichita River which extends some 200 miles to the west and flows sufficient water for all purposes. The location of the large dam and reservoir is ideal and seems to have been made by nature for this very purpose. A large natural basin has been surveyed in north part of Baylor County and a dam will be built across a narrow gap in the hills impounding sufficient water to take care of a city of a million people and also to irrigate some 150,000 acres of the rich Wichita Valley land in Archer and Wichita Counties. It is difficult to realize the change that will occur in the surrounding country when this irrigation has been completed. On the Seymour road and the Electra road we will see hundreds of homes surrounded with five, ten, twenty acre tracts intensively cultivated in field and garden truck of all character. Fruit and shade trees, in abundance, berries of all kinds, sugar beets, long staple cotton, wheat, alfalfa, corn and other field crops will be grown with a certainty of success because an abundant supply of water is ready to be placed on the land whenever required. Farmers will make as much money from a ten-acre tract under irrigation as they now make from a hundred acres without sufficient water. Many prominent people in this city have already decided to acquire a small acreage under this irrigation ditch and build a home where they can have fresh vegetables, eggs, milk, etc., every morning with beautiful country surroundings, and run in to the city for business on the concrete roads that will be built along the valley.

Intensive cultivation of some 150,000 acres of land in the vicinity of this city will give us the most densely populated agricultural districts in the state and will furnish the necessary labor for the operation of the many factories which will locate here in order to handle the agricultural products and also to avail themselves of the labor thus afforded. Traction lines will probably be run through the thickly settled valley lands to accommodate the people and to handle the products of the farms. Schools and churches will be built and a community of prosperous and happy people established.

What Irrigation Will Accomplish

The completion of this project will accomplish two things. It will furnish the city of Wichita Falls an abundant supply of pure water for all future time and thus stabilize and maintain our present real estate values, and provide for the future a confidence on the part of our present and future citizenship in the continued growth of our city.

It will also bring hundreds of farmers from outside our community who will locate here and take up the valley land in small acreage farms and build homes among us and intensively cultivate this rich valley. Under irrigation one acre of land frequently nets the farmer from $500 to $1000 and such acreage planted in fruits, walnuts, pecans, etc., in other irrigated districts sells from $1,500 to $3,000 per acre. Agriculturalists have examined the soil in the Wichita Valley and have pronounced it as rich as any irrigated land in Colorado or California and state that with irrigation we should be able to duplicate the wonderful results in those states.

In many respects our climate is more advantageous to some crops than either Colorado with its severe cold or California with its rainy season. This project has been favorably passed upon by some of the best irrigation experts in the country and there seems to be no unfavorable features to overcome.

The water is here in abundance, of good quality and favorable for the land. The entire project will be gravity flow, thus saving the expense of pumping the water as is done all along the Rio Grande.

Will Be Owned by the People

The project will be owned by the people and managed by a board of directors elected by them. It will be carried out under the irrigation laws of the State of Texas and there will be absolutely no profit to anyone connected with the enterprise, in the way of promotion or the sale of water rights. The entire projects will be owned by the people and the cost, owing to the favorable engineering features will be less than any other irrigation project of this magnitude ever completed. The entire cost will be divided between District No. 1, comprising the city of Wichita Falls and some fifteen thousand acres of irrigatable land north and south of the city, and District No. 2, comprising the main irrigatable land lying west of the city in the Wichita Valley. The only other expense will be maintenance and operating expense each year. The bonds will be 40 year bonds and the principal and yearly interest will be arranged in easy payments.

District No. 1 has been organized by vote of the people with the following directors: J. A. Kemp, president; T. B. Noble, vice president; N. H. Martin, secretary; G. Clint Wood and J. S. Bridwell. Mr. Kemp has devoted many years to examining the merits of the project and for the last six months the present directors have devoted a large amount of time going over the engineering plans, financing the bonds and perfecting the project. They have given their endorsement to this project and have called the bond election for September 7, 1920.

All citizens who have the best welfare of the city at heart are earnestly asked to remember the above date and help to get out a large vote on this occasion. A large and favorable vote for this project will help very materially in selling the bonds.

Let us show Los Angeles that we are not afraid to take the step that she did and thus make assured the stability and permanent growth of Wichita Falls.

FALL and WINTER 1920

Wichita Falls Stores Reflect Fashion's Decrees

Attractive Array of Seasonable, Stylish and Serviceable Garments to Meet Every Demand of Milady is to Be Found on Display in the Leading Mercantile Establishments

The biggest stock of fall merchandise bought in Wichita Falls since the war is going to be sold from the score or more local dry goods, ready-to-wear, millinery, shoe and men's furnishing stores this fall. If the local buyers have not guessed wrong, they have guessed right, more than a round million dollars worth of stuff will transfer itself from local stock shelves, store rooms and display cases to folks "backs", heads and feet. And Wichita Falls ought to be comfortably dressed for the winter.

Most of the local stores had buyers in the market for the fall merchandise, and if they missed anything, the oversight isn't obvious. They are still talking line, color, design, lasts, shapes (for hats, please) and "stuffs," and what they don't know about the popularity prospects for breakfast jackets, petticoats, fur goods, smart low heels for street tailor-mades, brown-over-blue, heads, and veils isn't worth finding out about. They know about them, and they bought them for fall stock. And a lot of things that are good to know can be got from a big buyer.

"Are they still going to wear accordion plaids?" you ask. "Sure; accordion plaids are good. And lace hose haven't gone out, either. And beads are worse than ever—or better, which ever way you look at it. And after you work all the beads on you've got room for, add all the embroidery you can get in. And if you haven't got a plaid skirt, get one. And a red middie, if your folks'll stand for it—" ad infinitum. The buyers have got the "dope," and the stores have got the goods. It's a real treat to window and shelf shop this season, because everything has added something to itself, or turned inside out, or otherwise changed completely. There are new features in every line.

Ready-to-Wear.—For instance, the ready-to-wear, for instance, there were never more beautiful suits and coats in Wichita Falls. Just glancing in the windows this week, one would guess that brown and shades of brown are going to be the popular colors for fall and winter. And while blue is always good—and there is a full stock of blue coat suits—the stock departments inside bear out the window promise. The shades include all the woady browns which are unnamable—drab, Zambar, Malay, rust and purplish purple-brown in the deepest shade. The lighter brown tones in visible buff, biscuit, chow and pheasant. The blues are nearly all vivid, though navy is always strong and a rich peacock blue is pretty. And embroidery in silk has invaded the dignified realm of tailor-mades. Everything is embroidered.

The heavy coats have touches of it, as have the business and street suits, while the dressier suits have suffered everything from a light case of serious complications. It is right interesting to see just how far the new decorating has gone, in fact, and notes taken on a few of the woofy dresses show that after the heavy embroidery and the bugle heads had been applied very little of the original material showed through for the whole length of a panel and skirt in one dress, and a back and front panel and skirt design and border in another. Beads are simply good and there's no getting around it. The dress furnishing department bears out the promise, for one of the heaviest buys in the majority of the local stores for that department was beads—in all shapes, colors and designs. The designs are big, too—nothing little, delicate or dainty, though they are quite handsome. The coloring being self-toned in a great many cases, or subdued and soft in the rich tints, there are few gaudy effects. The tailor-mades are good looking.

Styles Are Attractive.—The styles are good, too, this year. Coats are slightly longer than last year—hip length, in most cases—and the lines are straight and simple, very graceful in all the tailor-mades. The long waist line continues; there are no short waists at all, and very few natural waist lines, and the waist indications are not conspicuous in most cases, narrow ties being the most popular marking.

Fur coats are here in plenty. The customer in Wichita Falls' big dry goods stores could easily persuade herself—or himself—he was in the middle of Fifth Avenue as far as richness of material, perfect matching, styles and price go. The stocks are unusually complete and one fur buyer stated that he expected to see every big number good—which was "saying a mouthful"—as the big numbers are pretty big. All coats have enormous collars and many of the handsome wool and cloth coats feature the fur collars. The director's style is conspicuous, though most any big collar seems good.

The evening dresses have never been more colorful or of such a variety of material. Beads and embroidery continue its run into the lighter ready-to-wear, also, and some of the hand-embroidered costumes are headed and embroidered to the tip of the shoulder strap and the bottom of the hem. Silk net, kitten's ear, brocade-canton crepe, flax (real flax), georgette, peach-blow satin, gold and silver cloth—all such materials seem most popular.

Costures for the junior girls are middy blouses—and ones, too—and plaid skirts. The plaid is especially beautiful and will probably be very popular as plaid has not been in for a good season in some years. There are pretty full lines of material for making the plaid skirts, too, in the dress goods departments over town.

Interesting Merchandise.—Merchandise in the various gift shops and art departments is interesting, too. Embroidery is impressed on one again, beginning with the dainty white Madeira pieces and continuing through the heavy cotton and linen stuffs, gaily embroidered in heavy silks. Colored embroidery seems to be forecast for luncheon sets as well as scarfs for dressing tables, etc.

The newest thing in the negligee sections seemed to be the taffeta breakfast "jackets," enveloping garments of taffeta opening in the front and fastening with a tie belt of soft silk. The general style had scalloped edge sleeves and hem and was much more practical in appearance than the usual frilly negligee which requires more underclothing, as a rule, than even the street dress, and much more than one wants to be bothered with putting on before breakfast.

And women hose will be worn this winter. They have a big popularity forecast, from the stocks bought and in report of the buyers. They are here in staple colors—brown and black and blues, mostly, but also other dark colors. They were rather popular last winter, and with the smart new oxfords bought for fall wear, will probably go strong.

A feature in the glove departments is the new dress glove. Gauntlets will be worn very little, it seems, and most of the gloves are long, to go with the three-quarter length and short sleeves which will be good the coming season. Most of the stores have the new gloves on display and they are unusually pretty. They are of the staple colors, with gray, lavender, especially good, and tans with a wrist border of contrasting kid. Some of the borders are inset in a pointed or curved design, but all of them are pretty and a change from last season's styles. Even handkerchiefs differ. Even the handkerchiefs are different. Crepe de chise will not be very good this winter for "handkerchiefs," and the old-fashioned lace borders with deep insets of lace in the corners, have returned from their long exile. Some of the handkerchief stocks are unusually attractive, too, featuring the colored borders again, and checked centers. The colored and bordered handkerchiefs are a little daintier in design than they have been, one popular number having a lined center and a narrow, white hem, with a dainty white inset. Plain white linen is good, too, and initials are conspicuous.

And speaking of hose, lace hose will be worn, but not to the extreme which has prevailed the past few months. The designs are mostly striped—and to bear out the forecast, one may find the medallion and large designed numbers on sale at a number of local stores. Stripes—some of them wide and heavy—are going to overshadow the figured lace. And a lot of folks who have never cared for the "snake charm" type of lace hose on the street will no doubt be very glad.

There are a lot of interesting things in the dress accessories and trimmings departments, with beads and embroidery featured again. There's fringe for sash ends, as fringe is to replace tassels for fall—silk military braid for wool, and buckles of every description, design and rank of expensiveness. The buckles are to be worn at the waistline—or wherever the waist line seems to be—and some of them are unusually attractive. They are jeweled silver and gold buckles, and rhinestone and brilliant buckles, and one number, by actual name, was seven inches across. They are set with big stones in many cases.

In some of the stores petticoats were given precedence over petticoats, and in others the most interesting new line of the latter seemed to have entirely supplanted the old-fashioned garment. The petticoats and petticoats both are of bright silks and satins, with insets and ruffles, both plaited and frilled.

New Things in Hosiery Caps.—There are some pretty new things in the hosiery cap sections, too. The caps are more and handsomer than ever, if that were possible. The laced ribbon work seems stronger, with a popular number combining the laced work and lace. Little Dutch caps, with lace and roses, are displayed, but the most popular shape seems to be circular—either trills of ribbon, net or silk, or bands of lace caught to circular back pieces with ruffled trimmings.

The best fall shoe seems to be the brown oxford, and several of the stores have them in a smart perforated, walking toe and heel number. Heels are Cuban and military for street suits and tailor-mades. The brown comes in all shades, and the leathers, while soft and pliable, are rather heavy. There is very little soft kid in the new shoes. The dress shoes and slippers are especially handsome and come in satin, kid and patent.

All in all, it is evident from an inspection of the fall stock of goods that Wichita Falls is strictly up to date as regards styles, materials and prices—and the customer who can not find what he or she wants in the local stores must be rather hard to please.

Fur Is Popular

By MARIE STAHL.

Woman, lovely woman, whose every whim must be gratified—how wonderfully tempting is the presentation of fall and winter furs, luxurious and most expensive! Is there anything that one covets and craves more than stunning furs, and fur wraps, when the "cold winds do blow"? For warmth, yes, for furs are not only decorative, but how divinely satisfying they are to wear—and have for one's own.

It would seem that never could there be a more extravagant fur season than was the one last year, yet there is every promise that this winter will compete very favorably, if it does not exceed that of last year. It was, even difficult then to supply the unusual demand for fur wraps of all kinds, which obtained far greater prices than ever before. Even though furs seem now to be exorbitantly high in price, they are always a sensible investment, for good furs will last for a lifetime and even then may be handed down to the progeny. They may always be made over to suit the changing mode, and are as practical as any part of one's apparel. A touch of fur is like a bit of lace—it makes the costume complete, and adds that artistic, chic finish, so find so very enticing.

In the fall, before it is time to wear one's long fur wrap, the fur trimmed wraps and suits are the thing. Deep bands of the finer furs, mink, fox, lynx, and sable are used extensively for such trimming. Soft, duvety and velvet wraps are extravagantly and fantastically trimmed with all of the various furs from Australian opossum to the rarer and costly mink sable and Alaska seal.

But in the early fall for the smart tailor and frock for the street, one must have that individual touch, given by a small fur for the neck. A feeling of assurance surrounds this bit of stone marten, fisher, or sable. These bits of fur are made up of either a single skin or two or more skins, and are a fascinating detail of milady's costume.

There is nothing strikingly different in the fur wrap silhouette this season. The American woman cares very little for the extreme fitted fur garment and finds greatest comfort in either the draped dolman effects or the flaring skirted coats. Capes are also looked upon with the usual favor. What a joy to slip a soft, glossy creation of Russian sable over the shoulders of one's street or afternoon frock. In such a marvelous wrap whole skins have been rolled and then woven basket-fashion to make the cape and except for the weaving are held together at the outer edges.

A coat with deep collar and flaring skirt is made of the very finest Eastern mink, the skins of which are most skillfully matched. Over the soft lining of dull rose, Ku-Koon, there is a second lining of dark brown chiffon, making the inside of the wrap as exquisitely lovely as the outside.

For the most fastidious taste there is a decidedly unusual and attractive fur which includes two different pelts in its making. Such a one is made of snowy white caracul and red pointed fox. It fastens jauntily on one hip and boasts a long fox tail for adornment.

How really satisfying to know that when one's fur wrap is thrown carelessly back over the chair, that a full length sleeve which has again charmed the lining is exposed in perfect harmony with the coat? Furriers have come to realize that an attractive lining for a fur garment greatly enhances its value. The tendency toward luxurious linings for furs was noted last season, but this season when furs are even more costly, and fur garments especially distinctive, special emphasis is placed on the lining.

One exclusive designer has combined wool embroidery in a unique fashion, with brocade ribbons, and veiled the combination with loosely shirred

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

You've read how the New Edison has proved its perfect realism. Four thousand tests have been given, in which more than 50 different artists compared their art with its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. Leading newspapers conceded that there was no difference between the two. Has any one suggested to you that these comparison tests are "faked"—that the artist imitates the New Edison? Signor Friscoe's performance makes such an assertion positively ridiculous. Every week, 20,000 people see his hammers ripple over the xylophone keys. Suddenly he holds them aloft—still. The rippling music continues. Slowly, the gorgeous curtains of the backdrop part. The audience gasps. The New Edison stands revealed. It has taken up Signor Friscoe's performance, and is now RE-CREATING it alone. The effect of this extraordinary magic can rest upon only one fact: No one can distinguish any difference between Signor Friscoe's performance and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison. Signor Friscoe could not possibly imitate the New Edison, because the xylophone can not be made to imitate any other instrument, so as to deceive its hearers. Signor Friscoe's act is not an Edison enterprise. He has simply been clever enough to use the New Edison for what it is worth. Why don't you? PRICES The price of the New Edison has increased less than 15% since 1914. This includes the War Tax. Mr. Edison has staved off price advances by personally absorbing more than half of the increased cost of manufacture. Because of the exceptionally high quality of materials and workmanship demanded by the Edison Laboratories, and the continued scarcity of both, it may be necessary to advance prices. But rest assured that this will not occur, unless Mr. Edison is forced to it. Our Budget Plan—the thrift way of spending—will help you buy now. Let us tell you about it.

Togs for the Days of Childhood

By Marie Stahl

When you and I were young, may have been a number of years ago and then again it may have been but a few. That is not the question to be discussed at present, except that in those days the children did not dress as they do now. We did not realize it at the time, and neither did our well-meaning parents—they would have done otherwise, but the snap-shot taken of us at the birthday party or in the Sunday best goes to prove beyond a doubt that the youngsters of today are dressed in more attractive togs than we were.

Not only are they more attractive, but they are more practical and far more comfortable. For the youngster under five the business in life is play. Ask any kiddie of that age you meet how she has put in her day, and if she can talk at all she will tell you with a lip, or a sargon of her own choosing, that she has "been playing." If she has not reached an age where she can coherently express herself in words she will probably wiggle a toe at you and continue to chew her fingers, which, when translated, means "practically the same thing."

The designers of our day did not seem to get this point or at least they disregarded it when they saw fit to make up the fashions for that day and age. However, we are not going to discuss the fashions of a bygone day, but rather those of the ever peppy present.

For the baby there are the usual little dresses, made with kimono or set in sleeves, and the trimming of the little frock varies according to the taste and the ambition of the mother. Some are striped with lace, others are made of specially designed embroidery patterns with Philippine or Madras work. Some combine the lace and the embroidery. For the every day baby dress, however, the one in which most of the business of play is done, the more simple models are more favorable, they wear better and they wash better and they take infinitely less boiler and time to make and to keep in order.

For trimming they rely on a little feather stitching, a bit of smocking, and a few French knots. Most of them are finished with a narrow edge of fine lace and they—one and all button up the back.

The coats for the coming winter are made in the lighter shades preferably white and of such materials as velvet, tulle, drapery, and corduroy. They are trimmed with soft fur about the neck and hands and most of them gain added warmth in deep cape collars.

With these are worn the bonnets either to match or in a contrasting color. For the most part they have been influenced by the times when grandmother was a girl and they poke up and out in wide soft flares that form a suggestion of haloes for the angel faces that they frame.

For the girlie who is a bit older the dresses are much the same except that they are cut a length that will permit her to toddle off in her first steps, and as she goes on a year or two more she graduates into rompers for a time which permit her perfect freedom in the playroom and the sand pile.

These are made of the ginghams and cambrics and other attractive wash materials, trimmed simply with white wash braid or white piping and facings. In some instances they too are feather-trimmed and smocked and trimmed with buttons which also serve the purpose of keeping them on.

For the same misses there are fascinating party and dress up frocks made of organdies and waxes in all the light and dainty shades. These are trimmed for the most part with ruffles of the same material as the dress, caught here and there with bunches of tiny French flowers.

For the girls who are attending school, the business in life becomes education and for the school room many attractive tailored models have been designed. There are the one piece dresses of serge and other durable woolen materials. These are trimmed with a bit of woolen embroidery by means of which a dash of color is added to attract the youthful fancy. These dresses hang straight from the shoulder and are caught to the figure with a belt made of the material embroidered or of a gay colored leather or kid.

For the youngster who prefers the suit and waist combination there are numerous loose fitting straight hanging suits. The silhouette is straight, but the skirts are fuller and are made of dark materials and are usually laid in plaits. With these suits are two kinds of blouses. For the school room are the tailored models with the long roll collars, edged with a little narrow fluted ruffle. They are made of dimity with the ruffles of some plain material.

For the more dressy occasion, very fluffy blouses have been designed to wear with the suit. These have the lace trimmed collars and cuffs, and often are caught at the neck with the black Windsor tie.

The coats are made of the heavy mixtures for every day wear and cut fuller than in the past seasons, and have from one to three capes as trimming. Many of them are fur trimmed which makes them more attractive and much warmer.

The school girl on more dressy occasions wears a straight hanging gown of velvet or velveteen trimmed with wool embroidery, or hand stitching. Very few wool Jerseys are shown this year and those few are in bright colors and suggest the sports suit.

And so the young Miss of today steps out for her business of playing or of being educated, appropriately garbed for the coming winter, in the most attractive and, at the same time, the most practical things the designer could choose.

and this color is often repeated on the spice jars which lend themselves nicely as ornamental as well as very useful objects.

The color scheme for the kitchen is largely a matter of individual preference and depends somewhat on the location of the room. If it has a southern exposure and is filled with light and sunshine, pale blue or green, or a soft grey make very good looking colors for the walls. If it is on the north and not so well lighted, buff, or white, would be more appropriate. Linoleum in a corresponding shade should cover the floor.

The first requisite for the kitchen is cleanliness and a definite suggestion that everything about it is perfectly sanitary. Nothing suggests this better than white paint. The wood work should be painted white and the furniture, including the tables, chairs, cabinets and stools should all be white and kept scrubbed and spotless.

In this room as in any other, all the necessary things can be so selected as to add to the interest of the room. All heavy looking things should be avoided, as nearly the same design as possible. A row of blue and white, or yellow and white bowls, jars and pitchers arranged along the kitchen wall, or a shelf can be just as decorative as the bric-a-brac in the drawing room and perhaps more interesting because it is more unexpensive.

Rows of jars and jollies can also be made to serve a purpose on the kitchen shelf before they reach their ultimate destination on the dining room table. There is no reason why the housewife should not select glasses and jars for her fruit and preserves that will be uniform. She can also buy good looking labels and put them on carefully. This does not take a great deal of extra time. It only means a bit of forethought and the result will be quite worth while.

Every such homely thing as the pot and pans lend themselves nicely to the entire decorative scheme and if chosen of enamel and aluminum ware and hung on hooks properly placed about the kitchen walls, they add their bit in carrying out the big idea.

Of course the greatest possibilities perhaps are in the window curtains. These can be made of so many different kinds of material. For the room that needs sunlight, the thin white swisses or violets are the most practical. They curtain the window and at the same time they admit all the light.

These can be finished with colored fringe, or caught back with colored ties to make them more decorative. Then for the other kitchen which faces the south there are the fascinating ginghams. The plain blue and white checked material is perhaps most suggestive of the kitchen, and it can be made more interesting if piped with red, green or some other contrasting color. Other plaids may fit in better with some particular arrangements and these cotton materials come in many beautiful color combinations.

Another item used in every kitchen which does a great deal to add to the dressy appearance of the room is the lace edged shelf paper. This comes in many patterns and in some of them a touch of color is introduced.

Some place in every kitchen is a place for a pot of flowers. This adds such a friendly touch that it seems a pity that there cannot be one in every kitchen in the world. It adds a touch of color and cheer and the kitchen over all other rooms must be cheerful.

DRESSING UP THE KITCHEN

By MARIE STAHL.

More and more attention is being given to the furnishing and decoration of the kitchen as it becomes more and more necessary for the housekeeper to spend part of her time in that room, preparing meals for the family.

Women have come to realize that with the homeliest tasks can be brightened if completed in attractive settings.

The result is that the kitchen is rapidly becoming one of the most interesting rooms of the house from a decorator's point of view, and many and varied are the artistic schemes for making this room attractive to look upon as well as convenient for the one who performs the culinary tasks.

The range and the kitchen cabinets are now part of the decorative scheme. The modern housewife no longer faces a homely iron stove that has to be blacked frequently to keep it from rusting. The coal bucket is gone for all time from the kitchen of the modern household. In their stead have come the enamelled electric and gas stoves, finished in white or blue, which are easily kept spick and span with a little soap and water.

The kitchen cabinets are painted to match and in some cases appropriate special designs are added to decorate what would otherwise be an uninteresting expanse of flat color.

If preferred, a tiny stripe in the dominating color of the room can frame the panels of the cabinet doors,

The Color Lid Is Off In Men's Fall Haberdashery by Michael Comrie

A list of colors in vogue for fall in men's shirts and neckwear would practically include all of the primary colors of the spectrum and an endless number of pastel and "off shade" tones. In fact the styles for this fall run the full gamut of color blending.

This might lead you to believe that the man who dresses close to fashion is going to be an embossed kaliedescope of radiance. Such is not the case. While a wide range of colors are included in the edicts flamboyant combinations of these are "outré" rather than ultra.

Men are still expected to dress with taste and reserve. Nothing that is too striking will ever appeal to the carefully groomed man. High colors he may adopt to give his dress an air of somberness, but an outlandish combination of high colors is taboo.

So in shirts, for instance, we see many warm colors employed and even wide stripe effects and yet the combination of colors must blend easily rather than contrast obtrusively.

Silk shirts will be worn more this fall than they were the latter part of the spring. A great many men, even men of means, eschewed the silk shirts for white because they did not fancy paying from $18 to $25 for a serviceable grade. Such men went to the more moderately priced fabrics. However, a noticeable decline in the cost of silk shirts for this fall and with the prices set right good dressers will hardly resist the temptation of the rich, soft, elegance that the silk shirt offers.

The majority of men did not refrain from indulging in silk shirts solely as a matter of economy but more palpably on principle that prices were too high.

Now that the compromise is offered the silk shirt will doubtless regain a large measure of its former popularity. If this doesn't prove true it will be due to one thing. That is the magnificent effects which have been developed in the past season in such mixture fabrics as mercerized silks, fiber silks, linen and silk mixtures, satin striped mixtures and fine cord madrases. Men who have experienced the pattern beauty possible in such shirts together with the greater serviceability may become staunch rotaries of these fabrics.

However, this fall they will not be much cheaper than the silk shirts because silk has declined in cost and cotton has advanced, so if economy is the sole consideration there will be sufficient price difference to hurt the natural urge toward silks.

One fashion that promises considerable vogue is the fine madras shirt with starched collar to match. Last spring before the very hot days made the starched collar uncomfortable, there was a very noticeable popularity for these shirts.

Such shirts were in solid colors or small patterned effects of madras, poplin or chevrons in various tones of which such colors as light blue, light pink, light green and pongee color were most fashionable. The patterns, where they were patterned at all, were minute stripes, small checks or very small conventional designs. Most of these shirts while they had the starched collar, had the soft, negligee cuffs. These shirts will extend their popularity this season, in fact, there is already a scarcity of them and a great demand in the wholesale market.

Returning to the silk shirts, the larger pattern effects seem to have the greatest vogue. That is wide stripes combined with narrower stripes or else the fairly wide stripes of even avenues down the shirt. Such pattern schemes are mostly found in the heavy broadcloths and jersey silk shirts. In the fine crepe and tub silks the patterns are slightly smaller and more varied. Plain white shirts in jersey, self-patterned stripes and flat weaves are also going to be very fashionable. These are exceedingly lacy with solid color, narrow knit ties of black or dark tones of blue, brown, purple, maroon or burgundy, Shantung and pongee, while they are usually regarded as mid-summer shirts promise to extend their popularity in the early fall season.

Endless and abundant is the variety of effects shown in the fiber and mercerized cloths. As stated above the designers have evolved simply stunning effects, both in pattern treatment and color blendings. These shirts are nearly all shown in the soft bosom and soft cuff styles and for the most part without collars to match. The soft collar to match seems to have lost seats with the "bitter" dressers, probably because of the difficulty in maintaining an even set, tidy appearance.

There is a tendency toward all-fiber bosom shirts in madras and pongee fabrics and many of these are being shown with negligee plaits which have not been very popular for a season or two. However, these new pleated shirts may prove more popular now because the principal objection in the past was that the plaits puffed out the bosom. Such shirts are now made with plaits extending a trifle above the waistline so as to avoid this buckling up.

Flannel shirts, too, are bidding for acceptance and make a strong appeal because of the smart patterns and soft, warm textures. Many of these have collars to match and will have some vogue for sport or lounge occasions.

In neckwear the fabric is more diversified than the color limitations. Knitted and crocheted scarves promise to be very strong and right alongside of them are grenadines, mogador and foulards.

In the knit ties, narrow shapes are in vogue and solid colors are placed a trifle ahead of the embroidered or crepe bar designs in the edicts.

These are shown in many rich colors, mostly in the darker tones. Where color is introduced by pattern in such ties it is of a modestly contrasting shade.

The finer silk neckwear is of imported French, Swiss, Italian and Japanese and mostly in neat patterns. The whole scheme of the season seems to be toward dark shades in neckwear. This is especially marked in the fine grenadine and mogador scarves. The shapes in these ties are comparatively narrow four-in-hands.

Lots of di Jolville shapes are shown in neat foulard ties. These are in dark blues and dark brown foundations with small patterns of polka dots, small figures and flowers.

Some Oriental designs in Persian and East Indian all over treatments are shown but not so profusely as in other seasons. This is in tune with other pattern schemes now in vogue.

If the pleated bosom or even the stiff shirt style assumes any marked prominence we can expect an increasing popularity for the bow or bat wing tie. It is really anticipated and stores have stocked themselves adequately with this class of tie in small neat patterns.

In hosiery there is a slight tendency for fancier effects than have been in order in several seasons. More of the striped, dimpled, embroidered and heather mixture effects will be shown than ever before.

Many men are now wearing low shoes throughout the winter and with such shoes are wearing heavy worsted wool, cashmere or camel's hair hosiery. These fabrics lend themselves beautifully to various pattern schemes and men have so long confined their belief in apt to be welcomed.

Even in the silk hose and fine lace more clocks, stripes and accordion effects are displayed than ever before. Solid colors will, of course, retain a strong following as the style is too refined and sedate to lose a great deal of ground. The color range in these remains as heretofore—black, blue, brown, gray, green, pearl, lavender, burgundy champagne and off shades.

In the wool and worsted sock heather mixtures are very popular.

In underwear and night wear not much new is advanced. Comfort has pretty well standardized the models and the textures employed.

As handkerchiefs patterned effects, borders and colored monograms or initials are to some extent displacing the plain white.

A finer white handkerchief for the upper breast pocket is an old style revived and good dressers are taking it with much favor. Neat colored borders in fine linen handkerchiefs are also much in vogue and small stripes across the field are also stylish.

In gloves the vogue remains in modish, cape and buckskin in the opinion named with suede closely following. Both plain and embroidered backs are near designs are approved. No radically new shades are submitted.

Collars offer a wide choice of selection. The outstanding features in the fall styles is toward less area of folds and closer set fronts.

Many stiff collars are shown with self patterns of neat stripes and figures. A new note which promises popularity is semi-soft, flexible pique collar of narrow ridge design.

Fashion Revue

of AUTUMN—a Source of Infinite Inspiration for Wardrobes of Individuality.

“Extremely Smart” Describes the New Fall Suits

To mention the smart lines of these tailored modes, is merely to hint at their full beauty. They just seem to fit into the pictured days of Autumn—and like falling leaves, many of them come in brown tones. Here is one of serge, there another of tricotine, and duvetyne repeats itself in many of the models. No need to attempt to describe them all—one could not do justice to their originality and the many charming ways in which rich embroidery and fur trimming have been brought into play.

With Such Distinctive Wraps Chilly Days Are Welcome

They are interesting to see, but you will long for the moment when you can afford to wrap yourself in one of these modes. Being made of soft fabrics, they drape remarkably well. Large collars seem to be the rule, and in very many instances, they are of fur. The designers have not only originated new style lines, but has evolved many new ways of using embroidery to lend smartness and distinction to the most important garment which a woman is to wear this Fall.

Dashing Autumn Frocks For Every Hour of the Day

There are frocks of wool and frocks of silk. Chemise frocks that take no coat lines. Frocks with floating panels, others with tunics and surplice bodices—almost no end to the style variation, fabrics and modes of trimming. They are refreshing to see. They show the cleverness and originality of fashion designers. And how refreshing one will appear when clothed in their charming lines.

Smart Separate Skirts Belong in Every Wardrobe

In this day every woman simply must have several separate Skirts for wear with sweaters, sports coats and blouses of all sorts. There are handsome checked, plaid and striped models abundantly knife-plaited in a surprising variety of ways. You will find them just the thing for Autumn's "bright blue weather." Then for the costume blouse are lovely silken models of great beauty as well as practicability. An Autumn wardrobe is incomplete without its full quota of smart Skirts.

New Sweaters for the Outdoor Days of Autumn

The genuine sweater days are here—likewise the Sweaters. One glimpse of the new Models will be enough for any woman to decide wisely that she needs one and perhaps more for Autumn wear. Tuxedo, surplice and slipover styles continue in popularity, while new blouse styles with fashionably braided girdles and odd weaves are among the latest arrivals. Navy blue and black are smart shades while for those preferring more decorative hues are the gayer and more colorful ones in silk, wool and chiffon wool.

You will find our prices extremely moderate and our sales-people very courteous.

Corsets to Groom the Figures for the New Modes

It is one thing to be beautiful and another thing to look the part. A woman's natural charm and gracefulness can only be expressed through her apparel, when she has clothed her figure with a corset that will accentuate the style lines of the garment. Our corsetiers announce the new Modart models for Fall. Every type of figure can be scientifically corseted here. There is a very wide selection of models, exquisitely fashioned of coutil, broche and batiste.

ONE cannot see the Autumn displays without feeling the thrill of enthusiasm which accompanies a joyous fashion season. Every period of the day, every day of the week, and every occasion of coming months is vividly visualized in these selections of new modes. The styles with their "so different" lines and spirit are as exhilarating as the Autumn days on which they propose to be worn. This is an occasion worthy of "fashion sight-seeing"—an occasion too that suggests early selection for its promises style assurance and marked individuality.

Fabrics That Challenge Scissors, Needles and Nimble Fingers

This showing predicts a living sewing season, for here are materials that have anticipated everything which women want to make. Beautiful satin meteors, taffetas and crepe de Chines in plain shades and flowered patterns, suggest one silk frock, blouse, or skirt after another. Woolens of rich colorings and durable textures are here for that modish suit, frock or wrap. Home seamstresses will find this an occasion that will help them plan their sewing program.

In Her Supreme Moment, Fashion Designs Chic Hats

It must have been so, for these new hat modes for Fall could only be the product of happy inspiration. And one need not wonder whether these new styles will be becoming, for there are hats for every type of face and figure. Some are with large picturesque brims and others with no brims at all. Duvetynes and velvets are pronounced. And the trimmings! Ostrich fancies with their long graceful sweeping lines, wings, ribbons, and brilliant metal embroideries give these hats smartness and exclusiveness, virtually giving everyone a personality.

Accessories of Dress for Autumn

It may be depended upon that no small detail is overlooked by the well groomed woman. Our collection of smart neckwear—tailored and elaborate is typical of the completeness and up-to-date-ness of other dress accessories, as, for instance, new rain or shine umbrellas, handkerchiefs, hosiery, veiling, perfumes, ribbons, novelty jewelry, feather fans and an extensive line of gloves.

More Sedate Styles in Men's Headwear

By Wm. Fernaz

Styles in men's headwear as a general proposition goes to one extreme or another. They are either "natty" or "nutty." By that I mean the fashion oracles either prescribe very elaborate or distinctive shapings and high colors or else they jump back to the most reserved styles.

In the coming fall subdued effects are the vogue. This tendency puts the derby hat in line to regain a great measure of its popularity of several seasons ago.

The derby has been timidly knocking at the door of fashion favor since last winter. This winter it gives great promise of being very popular.

The most fashionable derby shape prescribed for the season is a full English crown with a medium flat set brim. This will be the ultra fashionable shape and from this center style will be the various other proportions to meet a becoming effect for the different types of lineaments with which fashion must compromise. That means that the styles will include a diversity of proportions from the strict letter of the feature model down to a regulation conservatism. You can, however, depend upon smaller effects being the really popular thing for this season. Soft hats will of course dominate the headwear fashions of the season particularly as soon as the overcoat time arrives. The full draped overcoats and the burly big coats are sure to establish the popularity of soft hats. Derbies are not appropriate with such garments as the effect is incongruous. Derbies will probably lose considerable of their popularity as soon as the top-coat season wanes and the colder weather demands a heavier overgarment.

In the soft hats, too, the tendency is toward narrower shapes and more closely tufted brims with full, crown effects of medium height. These styles apply more particularly to the felt fabric hats such as the very fashionable two-tone mixtures, blended mixtures and scratch finish effects. In the heavier fabrics such as velours and beavers the styles are slightly larger both in width of brim and height of crown.

Silk finish mixtures in two tone effects seem to be the leading style. Following these are the rough finish two-tone blends. Both these styles are shown with narrow trim treatments. In color effect the dark shades have the shown. Brown, in chocolate, Havana and cordovan shades, greens in emerald, Kelly, olive and deep green, greys in steel, oxford, gun metal and smoke, blues in navy and deep blue and black are the most fashionable tones.

In the velours and beavers about the same colorings prevail although in these hats a few of the lighter shades are included in the best displays. These lighter shades are tan, fawn, screw cream, sand, champagne, cadet, light grey and khaki.

Not much change is noted in the cap fashions. The three leading shapes are the full crown caps, for golfers, the sagi-full shapes for street, campus and motor wear and the rather close-fitting styles for tourists. The one piece top cap with moderate visor is the leading style. There are less silk caps sold than heretofore, the woolen fabrics being considered much the smartest. These are principally in attractive plaids, shepherd checks, club checks and solid colors. Some gaberdines are used principally for motor wear in the early fall.

Fur caps will be much higher this fall than ever before. In recent seasons the Hudson seal cap has been the most popular, but for this season Hudson seal is almost as expensive as the genuine seal. The costliness of fur this winter is expected to retard the popularity of fur headwear for men.

Crossing favor for spats and generally, this vogue shows greater strength in the fall than in the spring.

These spats are mostly in the lighter shades of fawn, champagne, moor, beige and pearl, for the stylish foot there are browns, oxford and wine color.

Says We Are to Have French Shoe

By DOROTHY DURANT

It looks as if we were to have the French shoe and its variations with us for a long time, for the stylish foot little foreigner has a host of neat friends, and has only wanted a little in popularity after a very successful spring season, posing in a slender, aristocratic, long that is still a pace or two ahead.

For the average American woman, who strives to attain the highest good taste in dress, whose idea is to be smart and yet conservative, the long vamped model, with perhaps a slightly rounded toe for walking and sportswear is the thing. This type of American woman in her most serious moments is endowed with many sensible ideas, and displays them in her dress. But she has her frivolous moments as well, and it is then that she flaunts her femininity.

For sports and daytime wear the oxford plays its unusual leading part. These are found in fall models, in calfskins, cordovan or Russian calf, and are shown in plain or wing tip. Unusually interesting is a special golfing oxford of exceptionally pliable tan Russian calfskin, with strap trimmings and low heel.

Another very sensible shoe is the one having the Louis XV. or opera heel. This attractive heel is to be had in various models. For walking, it is found in calfskin with a leather heel, for afternoon wear in patent or dust leather with perhaps a stunning cut steel buckle to dress it up a bit. Then the wondrously long slim satin or kid models for evening wear is very satisfactory.

A very important decision for our "lady of fashion" to make again this fall is whether she will wear a high top shoe, or add a spat to her oxford, or pump for warmth during the winter. For it is not every one who had a closed winter car to hop in and out of with unprotected ankles. This is a decision which is rarely made, or rather settled. It generally ends in a compromise, for one almost always has at least high topped walking boots for rough weather, if not also dress shoes in kid or satin. However, the spat is still the thing and will continue in favor this season as ever before.

Many of the slippers for evening are wonderfully elaborate and quite gorgeous, while others are charming in their simplicity. Exquisite for the dark colored evening gown are black satin slippers with vamp heavily beaded with jet and a fan tongue also heavily beaded. Evening slippers in kid often have tiny straps across the instep, worn in a most intricate fashion. These sometimes, extend up over the ankle and are enticingly feminine.

The Fall Shoes Are Better Styles

by Geo. Rice

Fall shoes for men are showing more variety this season than any time since the war time regulations for conservation put a halt to the free hand of shoe designers.

However, this variety is not manifested in the varied combinations of lowers and uppers as was in vogue when the restraining edicts were placed.

There are very few of the two-tone effects shown but various are shades in solid tone finishes, and fanciful trimming designs and perforations are widely shown.

The Brogue shoe—a heavily ornamented style will still be in vogue this fall and winter as it was this spring. In fact, the heavy appearance of this shoe seems to fit more appropriately into the scheme of things for winter than for the milder months. It is sensible as well as pleasing ornate style and a great relief from the rather subdued styling we have had to adopt in our shoes in recent seasons.

Then, too, there are other shoes that ingratiate themselves because of their more simple and possibly more refined smartness.

These shoes are of the English and swing lasts in very graceful shapings. Such shoes show a tendency toward more pointed toes. These equalize to no half way compromise in the styling of the toes this season. They are either of the broad blunt effects as we see on the Brogue shoes or else the pointed toe styles. Neither Bull Dog effects or the medium rounded toe assert themselves very boldly.

Brown is the outstanding color and these in the russet, mahogany and cordovan shades rather than the very dark brown or very light tans. Black, dull finish and gun metal finishes come next in line.

Some Blucher styles are shown but the laced effects are the most fashionable and will be the most popular. Pew button shoes are shown for men and those that are shown are principally for dress wear in the patent leather finish.

The chief leathers employed are calf, Russia, cordovan and vic.

Very dressy men are showing in-

Fall Fashions — Express Individuality

by Dorothy Durant

Woman's nature is perverse—but if she only knew, that in expressing her own individuality or in dressing her own type as it were that she would find greater success in choosing her clothes. Then, too, one would not hear the same harried lament of the many undecided at the beginning of the season.

It is quite unnecessary to say that to be really well dressed one must be absolutely free from the dominating crowd-mind. To feel that one's apparel is exclusively and correctly separated from that worn by the ordinary crowd is most satisfying.

A smart looking woman, distinguished and well groomed, knows that the success of her costume lies in the fact that it is hers, individually, as harmoniously a part of her as her hair. Since there is no set mode to adhere to, how wonderfully simple for every woman today to consult her own type in dress. How really delightful to be able to follow one's own individual taste instead of being a slave to fashion's whims as were our grandmothers.

The silhouette has changed little since spring only lengthening out a bit to suit the natural lines of the figure. In daytime frocks, skirt lengths are still varying but avoiding the rather grotesque, extremely short skirted models, which have been so prevalent during the past season. No extremely tight skirts are worn and though there is a decided tendency to fullness in the skirts, it is quite without exaggeration. The extremely short sleeve has become passé, but besides the come into its own, the three-quarter and elbow length are featured. Though there is little change in the neck line of most frocks, the high neck with full or extended plaiting is gaining favor among many of the very fastidious.

Duvelyn seems symbolic of fall, and the duvelyn shades, soft golden brown, misty gray and the warm reds and henna, express the very atmosphere. Frocks of this material are charming in their simplicity of line. Some of these are embroidered and many are combined with satin.

When one is slim and youthful, and the season is fall, there could be no lovelier frock in which to pass the afternoon than a taking model of gray duvelyn. The bodice is charmingly simple, with a slightly rounded neckline and long, straight sleeves loose at the wrists. A bright cord of jade or forms the girdle, tied about the waistline and queer jade embroidery is added in patches under this and is also used to edge the bodice at the sides of the skirt the material is slashed and stands out like a poplin. On the sides below this are added five tiers with rounded edges. The front and back of the skirt are decidedly plain.

Delightfully quaint and altogether charming is an afternoon gown of black satin. The bodice is fastened down the front with little buttons and could almost be suspected of being a haque. The collar is high and swathed, and the sleeves long. The very full skirt is attached to the bodice at a low waistline and dips down on either side with a deep puffing between two cords, while all about the top of the skirt is a deep upstanding cord.

Viewing with satin for the afternoon gown, are soft and clinging chiffons and georgettes and velvets, rich and lustrous in shade.

Only a fur is needed with the tailored wool frock for early fall, which takes its style from the suit. Which these colored veaters are shown, which can always be renewed. Colored embroidery is another interesting feature of these frocks, henna and jade being combined in one model on the long rever collar and cuffs. Tricotine is the more favored fabric for this type of frock, but some models are in serge. In preparing for the festive winter season, one does not forget the evening gowns are most gorgeous and of a very formal type, often being composed of metallic fabrics, such as satin brocade with metal threads or embossed velvet. Designs are interwoven rather than spotted over the surface, and very bright colors are introduced, such as gold, flamingo, copper, and in fact all the Oriental shades. However, soft materials like chiffon or tulle are more appropriate for the ingenue and are shown in many instances with skirts made in the petal idea.

After choosing one's gown for evening, there is the evening wrap to consider. One that is usually entrancing is in sapphire blue chiffon velvet with front facings of silver cloth, and oriental sleeves, edged with fluting of silver and coral colored ribbon. Another charming wrap of chiffon velvet is in deep purple with natural mouffon collar, which continues in double tuck from across the center-back, forming a sort of yoke under which the cape is shirred.

The general silhouette of the coats this season achieve that coveted "drape" as you will look we have borrowed from the Parisienne, and are really loose, wrappy affairs straight in line and generally without belts. Only a few models introduce the fitted waist line at the sides. One of these obtain this effect by having a front saak cut in one with the back bodice section. Besides duvelyns and soft velours there are wraps of camel hair finish that are unusually attractive.

The manner in which fur is arranged on some of the fall models rather interests one, for while both warmth and trimming are supplied, it is conserved in many instances by not being used solidly. One, much to be desired, is trimmed with two bands of moleskin, which encircle the generous self collar of a black cashmere duvelyn wrap. Cuffs of fur which are wider and bell shaped at the top serve to hold the fullness of the sleeves. And what feminine young person would not delight in a luxurious wrap in chester color, with draped elbow sleeves and wide nutria bands which serve to enhance the deep Quaker collar shirred to stand erect at the neck?

There is a suit for every occasion this fall. The design and cloth of her suit depends on whether lady will wear it for walking, for sport wear, or whether she will wear it for luncheon, or the matinee. For walking there is always the rather tailored tricotine, serge or poret twill, which is so becoming to the majority of figures. The semi-English suits are suitable for sports wear, with unbelted, unbroken waistlines composed of gores forming fitted waistlines or the boyish belted type with patch pockets. Scotch chevlots and imported mixtures are often used for suits of this kind. The suit for the more formal occasion is made of duvelyn, veloude, marcella or peach bloom material, which serve for garments of softer line and are usually trimmed with fur.

The applique motif idea is carried out on a fascinating cloud gray marcella cloth suit trimmed with wide bands of moleskin. Applique is used in an interesting fashion at the center front and back, disguising the placement of the waistline.

What woman is there who does not crave the unusual in suits? And to satisfy this craving there is the three-piece costume in which the blouse plays an important part.

Chinchilla satin and silk faille are the materials usually used for the third part of such costumes. Brocades of all kinds are rather passé, but the tinsel and Japanese embroideries are arranged in the front to show alluring bits of waist coats and at other parts to trim the blouse.

Then, too, collars and bands of fur are placed on some of the blouses, "filling in" as it were the close but collarless neckline of the coat. A model carrying out these unusual details is shown in navy blue veloude, with exquisite trimming its chinchilla satin blouse.

New Fads in Diamonds and Watches

Even the fashions in women's dress do not change oftener than the fashions in diamonds and other rare stones. The style of setting in a diamond ring, the arrangement of a string of pearls, the design of a La Valliere and the shape of a pendant—all these change with the seasons.

Our Mr. Paul made a special study of the new fads in diamonds and other jeweled ornaments, while in the eastern cities, and he purchased an assortment that is both varied and unique. There are many large diamonds—dazzling stones—set in platinum and other precious metals, brooches that glitter and sparkle in their settings of novel design, dainty watches in odd and attractive shapes, and a hundred other alluring items that all women (and most men) would enjoy seeing.

During Style Event week these treasures will be on display and we heartily solicit the presence at our show rooms of every visitor to the city, and to all the homefolks.

A visit will richly repay you.

All space will be devoted exclusively to the proper presentation of merchandise which will be uppermost in your minds for the current seasons, Fall and Winter. Fashion's latest dictates in Clothing, Shoes, Piece Goods, Ready-to-Wear, Furs, Millinery and Gent's Furnishings will be represented. The latest models from exclusive manufacturers will be featured, and those designs, which are at present exciting comment on Fifth Avenue will be introduced. To undertake modeling these elaborate reproductions of fashion's foremost artists, in terms descriptive would be a two-fold injustice to the merchants and our customer, as they merit the most careful inspection.

The plans which have been formulated are sure to make the event a pleasant as well as educational occasion, which will be well worth your time or travel to attend. No amount of trouble or expense will be spared to raise this display week far above the ordinary.

Furnishing the House in Units

By Marie Stahl

To be beautiful a thing must possess unity. It must be so constructed that every part of it blends and harmonizes to make a perfect whole.

This is particularly true in the decoration and furnishing of a room. The unity must be kept, but it must be given just enough variety to interest an occasional visitor, and to keep it from being monotonous to those who frequent it.

If the whole decorative scheme of the room is restricted to any one color, even if that color be used in different shades, it becomes monotonous. On the other hand too many colors produce a restless and disquieting effect, and take from the room all sense of relaxation and kill all desire to linger for any length of time.

In this way the whole purpose of decoration is lost. If a room, when completed is not inviting, if it does not silently urge all comers to enter and remain, then there is something wrong with the whole scheme of things and the efforts of the designer have missed their mark and have proved themselves absolutely futile.

It may be just some one thing that stands out in color that offends the eye of the casual observer. It is then subject to one of two simple remedies. Either the offending object can be removed and replaced or it can be balanced by something else. A color that is in striking contrast to the rest of the room, may be too glaring in one spot if it is not balanced with some other object, either in the same color or in another of equal intensity, placed some place else in the room.

By replacing this one color with a perfect harmony may result that will make the room far more interesting than it would be if reduced to a more simple color scheme. It may be the means of introducing the touch of originality and interest that lend it individuality.

One of the most deplorable things about the average home today is the sameness of it. You go from house to house and you see the same furniture, reproduced time and time again, set in the same relative positions in home after home, the same materials used in upholstery and in draperies even the same stereotyped bric-a-brac placed in the same delectable way.

Unconsciously you long to take a lamp or a vase and put it some place else. You would be so relieved if that davenport and that table were placed in a different relation to each other.

This is particularly true of many of the furnished apartment houses which are fitted in this way. Davenports, chairs, tables, beds, lamps and all other kinds of furnishing and accessories are purchased in wholesale lots and except for a few personal pictures, or books, or some thing of the sort, every apartment is identical with every other apartment.

The living rooms are apt to be grey and dull, the dining rooms blue, and the bedrooms are invariably carried out in insipid blues and pinks. There is no reason for this. There are those who prefer the lighter colors for bedrooms, but even these may show a decided lot of originality. They do not have to adhere to the flat and uninteresting scheme of pink and white or blue and white.

There are charming combinations for the bedroom that can be made with lavender, green, tan and yellow and any number of different and interesting shades. They can be just as dainty, just as attractive, and still they will reflect personality and stand out in the minds of all who see them.

Rooms are quite like persons. There are some that are pleasant and agreeable, but that leave no definite impression. There are others that irritate and annoy use by some little foolish affection which does not harmonize at all with the real thing, the substantial thing beneath the surface, and there are again some that remain indelibly in our minds because of some originality or cleverness which at first surprises and then pleases us and makes that particular room a vivid and delightful memory for us always.

This is not entirely due to the color scheme of the room. It is just as likely to be the selection of furniture. People are too prone to buy furniture in "sets." This is all right in the case of the dining room perhaps, that all the chairs should match and that the other pieces should follow the same design and pattern. This is a formal room and the set furniture lends to the formality of it. It gives the proper atmosphere and this is an essential thing.

In general, however, the American home is not a formal place, we are not a formal nation. Our homes are built to live in and by living we mean being comfortable and at ease. This is more possible if the house is not carried out after too rigid a scheme of furnishing and decorating. Odd pieces in the living room and bed rooms make them more informal, more livable, more cozy, more comfortable.

Another thing that has a definite influence on the appearance of the room are the pictures on the wall and the manner in which they are hung. Every room should have some pictures to add to its interest, but they should not be hung in a haphazard way with no regard to the rest of the room. Here again the unity of the scheme must be taken into consideration. Perhaps the coloring of the picture will afford the distinctive touch that will make a room stand out from all others. Pictures should be hung with some regard for the placing of the furniture, of the doors and the windows.

Small units combine to make up the general effect and in many of these a picture is the tie that binds. When hung above a small table on which are perhaps some cardstock or some books, with perhaps a very handsome vase that reflects one of its predominant colors, the picture furnishes the keynote of a small unit of decoration. Each of these should be complete in itself, all combining to make an attractive whole.

Depending upon the size and shape of the picture, the manner in which it is framed, the influence of the room, it is hung on wires, cords, or picture hangers. A natural sense of fitness combined with some knowledge of the fitness of things will direct the placing of pictures and the manner of hanging them.

To have an attractive home does not entail the spending of a huge sum of money. There are luxurious homes and there are more modest ones, but the main idea is to have the appropriate thing well placed and the result is all that can be desired.

Suits Exquisitely Tailored Abounding in Verve and Charm

HANDSOME things, every one of them, gorgeously burdened with a wealth of embroidery and huge collars and cuffs. Styles vary from the youthful box to rippled lines with the more conservative belted models leading in popularity, while fabrics include the twills and the soft-surfaced duvetyn-like materials. At no time does a woman desire so keenly to be well dressed as Autumn. A suit properly chosen will answer almost every purpose.

New Hats That Hint of Paris in Their Careless Nonchalance

PERHAPS in the careless grace of draped duvetyn, the placing of a miniature jeweled dagger, or the angle to a coque feather lies the spirit of a smart hat. To put one's finger on the exact charm is impossible. It is enough to know that there are hats here for the most exacting of tastes and in a wealth of style for all the times when one's hat must be chic and different and all that is to be expected of the chapeau.

Frocks Are Versatile So Testify the Numerous Smart Modes

INDEED the mode allows one to be severely tailored or delightfully feminine, and mostly the latter, for it would seem Fashion could not resist the temptation to be lavish with embroidery, iridescent beading, stitchery and all the devices known to the clever designer. Russian chemise and redingote lines prevail for frocks in general, while in the more elegant afternoon gown bouffancy still holds sway. Tricotine, twills, duvetyn, velours and a host of new and lovely fabrics make a delightful task of choosing an Autumn frock.

Formal Evening Attire That is New and Interesting

PAILETTES that twinkle on cobwebby foundations of rainbow colored tulle, brocades still with gold and silver, bouffancy, laces, and delectable colors run riot in the modes for evening affairs and the dance. Half the pleasure of the first lovely parties of Autumn is the knowledge of being perfectly gowned, and Fashion's dictates as delineated in this store's collection of formal evening modes are indeed charming.

Wraps Envelop One with Luxury and Warmth

SO delightful and snugly are the new Wraps—and Wraps they are in the majority, too, with a lesser sprinkling of Coats. Huge collars, waist-length capes, fur trimmings, soft and luxurious fabrics are distinctive features of our large stocks. Strolling through this section one sees women already selecting handsome Wraps for street, for general utility wear, for the dressy occasion and for motor wear.

Beautiful Fall Fabrics An Inducement to Much Sewing

WHATEVER her costume need, for the woman who prefers the individuality of apparel made especially for her by tailor or modiste, there is a galaxy of fabrics in silk or wool from which to evolve all manner of smart clothes. And while selecting fabrics for the frock, the suit, the blouse or the wrap an inspection of this store's collection of laces and trimmings offer many suggestions when one is seeking furbelows that are clever and new. Patterns likewise are dependable in cut and authentic in style.

Suits and Overcoats take New Style Slants this Fall By J.J. Robinson

Something at least is going to be different in suits this fall even if it isn't in price. The waist line and general details features have come down. Slowly but surely everything that pertains to world war influence is passing into history and now we find a departure from the military styles which may have been following for recent seasons.

Whether you knew it or not the high waist line, high patch pockets and deep chested effects that have marked the styles for men in recent seasons were a direct inheritance from the uniforms our dough boys wore during the war. These styles served our men well for a while in lending grace and sweet posture to the figure but fashion is ever seeking new effects, men are restless for change in their styles and many of those who wore the khaki were anxious for something different. It has arrived. There is a tendency toward a lower effect in coats in all details. The waist line is much lower and less accentuated. The pockets have come down, the skirts of the coat are longer and the high chest is down to a more natural position for the man whose build is more that of an Appollo than a Mars.

Men will look a trifle less trim and soldierly but the majority will at least be more natural and consequently more comfortable. Trousers, too, will be slightly fuller and the general effect of the coat will be toward straighter lines and more roomy appearance. This doesn't mean that the coat will be full-draped or that the trousers will be baggy. It simply means less body-tracing lines and less severe modeling. The first indication that we had of this trend was reflected in the popularity of double-breasted coats last season. Men showed their desire for the looser effects and many turned to the double breasted styles to find this relief though the double-breasted garment has in the past always been more popular as a winter coat than a spring style. And it will be this coming season, too.

Double-breasteds are going to gain further popularity this fall especially because they will be entirely away from the high waist line effects which was still in vogue in all spring styles despite the fact that it was an entirely new and rather incongruous note in the double-breasted jackets. Another feature of the fall styles is a decided simplicity in styling. This was noticeable to some degree, in the better spring models but so many men like the negligee and lounge effects in summer that a great many models continued to show belts, pinch backs and novelty pleats as a compromise to this following. For fall hardly any belted effects are observed and a great many less of the pleated or yoke effect coats. Those that are shown are definitely pointed to appeal to the younger element who are ever strong for ultra-novelty. The younger business men and the precisely fashionable dresser however will adopt the more simplified models. Such coats are very handsome and characterful in their outlines and their smartness and refinement will become readily acceptable as soon as the well groomed man reflects their style attractions at the best social and business centers. Pattern effects, too, tend toward less striking effects. Such fabrics as lend themselves to the newer designers seem to have the call for this fall and winter. These are the worsteds, excelsiors, flannels, gaberdines and vicunas. Even in tweeds, chevrons and decais which are usually more elaborately patterned there is a noticeable tendency toward smaller designs. Large plaids, overplaids and blocked effects are sparingly shown. Small mixtures, club checks, pin-checks, narrow stripes and herring-bones dominate the new fashions. There will be no particularly outstanding color in the fall styles. Browns, greys and blues are most stylish. In fact all darker effects are more approved than the lighter tones. Blue serges, grey serges, gold color flannels, striped flannels and iridescent shades in gaberdines are largely shown. Unfinished worsteds and vicunas are also popular effects. In overcoats you'll find a sympathetic styling with that of the suits. That is quite natural because a high waist line overcoat is not going to fit well over a low waist line undercoat. In the winter overcoats the belts have not completely retired. Many very smart models still show either the encircling belt or the half-belt back. However the newest and what promises to be the most fashionable overcoat of the season is one of a Raglan and in back draping. A good many blusterettes are also shown and in this type of coat there is more of the form tracing effect remaining than in of the other models. This note, however, is retained only in the upper part of the coat. The skirts are fuller and more flaring than heretofore. All manner of fabrics are employed in the overcoats for this winter. Most of them are the newer weaves. There will be less of the old notions, chin-chills, berseys and heavy shown than for many seasons of the past. Novelty weaves, knitted fabrics, heavy gaberdines, melokins, Scotchies, Burbanks, Crombies and heavy weight gaberdines are leading overcoat features of the season. The color range is wide and varied. There is a tendency toward less use of fur on men's overcoats than heretofore. The fur cuffs are hardly ever seen, fur linings almost confined to motoring or driving purposes and fur collars for dress coats. But the production use of furs such as was in vogue several seasons ago is for the time being checked. This is probably due to the apex cost of furs today and furs will be seen more coolly this coming winter than they were last. The Mrs. will of course have her furs at any price. All the more reason why the provider will have to forego his.

Close Sympathy in Clothes for Men and Boys This Season

By J. J. Robinson

Each succeeding season one finds a closer sympathy between the styles for men and the styles for boys. Whether this is due to the inclination of the man to dress more youthful or the boy more manly cannot be determined but no doubt both these tendencies have stretched to a close meeting point. It seems as if the boy will not let the man get away from him. This season as the men's styles become more simplified and with less of the fancy details such as belts and pleats so also have the boys' styles become more moderated in novelty or ornamentation. It is marked in men's fashions that lower waistlines, longer coats and lower pockets are the style departures. The same is noted in boys' styles. Belts which have for several seasons been characteristic of boys' styles and which style was borrowed by the man for a season or two are showing less prominence now that men have discarded them altogether. The principal styling features in boys' models are the pleats and yokes such as men are still favoring the ultra sport or lounge models. The pleats are in panel effects and of wine mode, grey, fawn and tan in Norfolk models. In the little fellows suits the knit materials promise to be very popular. This idea will follow the woman's approval of such knit fabrics as tricellette and jerseys and they will be shown in very rich solid tone shades, as an endless number of color tones. These garments are rather simple as to trimming effects and are shown principally in Middy and Russian models. In the juvenile overcoats as well as the overcoats for school boys the leading styles are of the Raglan effect with set-in sleeves. These coats are either boxy or full draped according to the length and both the knee length and three-quarter length models are shown. Most of them have the slash pockets though many regulation set-in pockets are also shown. The fabrics in these coats include all of the standard weaves in both plain color and patterned effects. Many overcoats for the older boys are shown in junior ulsterette styles. These either have belt backs or gathered backs and follow very closely the styles for men. In these coats fabrics of rougher textures are shown such as course tweeds, unfinished weaves, Shetlands, Chinohillas, etc. Little, if any, change is noted in boys' hats. For school boys we have standard shapes of Itelescope and Alpines with less tendency to turn the brim down into rakish shapes than heretofore. Caps are still increasing in vogue among the school boys who love to imitate the college characteristics into his apparel. In juvenile hats the middie, "rah rah" and tan shapes are leaders. Some streamer hats are shown for the very little chaps. Wallace Reid on Location. Edward Kull is ready to start on his new serial, "The Queen of Diamonds," featuring Eileen Sedgwick. Barney Sherry has been cast for an important role in support of Dorothy Phillips in her first independently produced Allied Hotspur feature. Wallace Reid, directed by James Cruze is somewhere in the neighborhood of Panama on location. The company is expected back within a short time. When he finishes "The Charm School," Reid will do "Always Audacious," "Toujours de l'Audace." The story which is by Ben Ames Williams, will be directed by James Cruze.

THE TIMES WOMAN'S PAGE—A SUMMARY

News and Reviews

Miss McBride, State Advisory Nurse Visiting Local A. R. C. Discusses Public Health Work

You Tell 'Em, Wichita

Wichita falls buyers for the large mercantile houses know a lot about styles. They learn it "fast" and it is as authentic as Lady Duff-Gordon, "Maile" or "Montgomery Ward" every bit. In fact, the buyers are probably keener to the fact and feature notes than the modistes and international news writers, because while the modistes may fashion and design, they cannot safely predict, and by the time a fashion feature has been released from the news writer or the feminine public may have stepped hard on it. They never can tell.

So enter the local buyers. You tell 'em, Wichita! Brief and snappy. In the case of the buyers, they will stay in all winter.

If you are a high school girl with a supporting personality, a red middie and plaid skirt is yours for good and all. If the family doesn't stand for the red middie, make it some other kind of middie, but stick to the plaid skirt if you have to use fusts. They will stay in all winter.

And tams are going to be better than ever. Run a little rim of red or blue self-material around the brim of your white tam, and it will be perfectly snappy. Colored tams can have a rim of white, threaded in.

Wear smart brown oxfords, light or dark, perforated or plain, with the street heels.

And whatever you do wrong, don't lay in a stock of silk hose for fall and winter. You'll have to double back and buy wool-crepe, blue and brown and dark green, and as the wool ones are not recommended on the score of economy, it would be bad to have two sets on hand.

Look carefully to your face skin for dress. They are making "trent." The "trent" designs are on a plain to the discard, and stripes are being done now.

And if you get a "puff" of your head bag when its popularity seemed on the wane this past season, go and explain that you were in C. M. for the moment. If you can't explain, then the fashionists seem to have got all the heads they want on in the headed bag, and they are going to be strong. There are lots of handsome patterns and handsome heads for their home construction, too.

Be careful about your handkerchiefs. Handkerchiefs are tricky, and there is a subtle difference from last season. The colors are there, but they aren't such solid colors, and crepe-chine is in. The old fashioned lace-edged and cornered handkerchiefs are strong—Irish edge and all, and the colored handkerchiefs with a tendency to be colored in the middle and pure white for the hem and corner inset.

Dress gloves are long, but their striking characteristic is the contrasting kid border. The borders are very smart, and are often set in the design—points, curves, etc.

And above all, if you can chaperone yourself properly, wear a veil, but the kind most becoming to your style of countenance, head and hat, if possible. They are wearing them with both big and little hats, and the designs are striking—snakes—nothing.

F. Bailey; Mrs. R. A. Greer; Misses Elinor Atkinson, Adele Adickes, Sybil Kell and Cecilia Adickes, and Messrs. Gaddin Bass, Raymond Myers, Ralph Handolph and Charles Frank.

DON'T GET YOUR SHOES TOO BIG; FEET SHRINK UP IN THE WINTER

Feet are smaller in the winter— from almost nothing at all, to a full half size. The shoe men who know, say so, so it seems a pertinent suggestion to the buyers of new fall oxfords and winter boots. If they are just fairly comfortable at the fitting, without any really painful spots, they will probably be plenty of room for all five toes when the cold weather sets here and the feet shrink up. Which is a comfortable reflection for every woman.

Mrs. Katherine Bickers of Dallas was the guest of Mrs. William A. Patterson last week.

FOR MORE ELABORATE OCCASIONS

SIXTEEN MODERN DRAMAS LISTED AMONG NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY THIS WEEK

Sixteen modern dramas are listed among the new books at Kemp library this week, and will probably be called for the first time Monday, if the usual procedure is followed.

The 16 include Tagore's "Crescent Moon," Synge's "Well of the Saints," Edmund Rostand's "The Alchemist," Pines's "Iris," "Midchannel" and "Weaker Sex," Maeterlinck's "Pelles and Melisande," "Atlantide and Palomides," and "Thais" and seven short plays by Lady Gregory.

Joelyn Gray's "Firewood" and Robert W. Service's "Pretender" are two good fiction numbers received and four interesting literary numbers include W. I. Phipps' "Advance of the English Novel," Serge Perky's "Contemporary Russian Novel," H. Dickinson's "Chief Contemporary Dramatists," and a collection of poems by Rev. A. J. Ryan.

The discussion of "Russian Novelists" by Perky was well received by critics and Dickinson deals with the contemporary dramatists in an interesting and informative way. The latter book is particularly good in connection with a study of modern drama, or even cursory reading of the dramas.

The "Life of Mrs. Louisa Stevenson" by Mrs. N. V. Sanchez is included among the biographies received this week, with Mme. Steinheil's "Memoirs" and two child study books with interesting titles are W. Lay's "The Child's Unconscious Mind" and Sage and Cooley's "Occupation for Little Fingers."

The general list follows:

Non-fiction: Bennett, "Your United States"; Fox, Fontaine, "Cartoons"; Dillon, E. J., "Inside Story of the Peace Conference"; Smart, W. K., "How to Write Business Letters";

DINNER PARTIES AND DANCE FOR BRIDE-ELECT THIS WEEK

Two charming affairs this week honored Miss Zola May Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, whose wedding to Jack Oltorf of this city takes place Tuesday, September 7, at the Davis home.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Davis entertained the wedding party of the Golf Club with a five-course dinner. The table appointments were particularly dainty with a pink and white color motif, carried out in the rosebuds in four bud vases at the corners of the table, the menu, the Dolly Varden almond cups, and the rose-shaded light, the golf garden orchids, cups bore the words, "Davis-Oltorf, September 7, '20."

A wedding party with miniature bride, groom and flower girls centered the table. Dinner was served to Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Misses Zola May Davis, Louise Montgomery of Austin, Elia Brand of Sweetwater, and Lucile and Grace Tancred; Messrs. Jack Oltorf, C. O. Davis, Lamar Fain, Ernest Fain, Glen Peeler and Lee Flowers, and Mr. and Mrs. Gay Hammond.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE ENDORSES PLATFORM

J. G. Culbertson Gives Approval To Principles Advocated By State Convention.

The platform adopted by the republican state convention in Texas was endorsed in its entirety by J. G. Culbertson, republican nominee for governor, in a letter to the republican state committee accepting the nomination and made public here today.

The republican nominee laid special emphasis on his belief in the plank favoring a protective tariff, advocating revision of national and state tax laws, and opposing any policy "that will entangle us with the affairs of the Old World."

Referring to the tariff question Mr. Culbertson asserted that as a result of the reduction of tariff schedules and additions to the free list, under the tariff act of 1913, the loss in revenue during the fiscal year just ended amounted to approximately $2,000,000,000. This revenue, he said, must be made up by taxation.

Continuing the nominee said he advocated tariff protection for raw materials whenever such materials entered into the manufacture of products which enjoyed protection. He gave as an example that woolen goods are protected by tariff while raw wool is not, and declared that free importation of the latter was responsible for the low price of wool in Texas.

Cottle grower of Texas, Mr. Culbertson asserted, will lose more than $200,000,000 this year, due to free competition by foreign concerns in vegetable oils and fats. The free importation of hides and leather, and all classes of fresh and preserved meats, he said, is causing serious loss to cattle raisers of Texas.

Discusses Foreign Affairs.

Referring to the relations of the United States with foreign countries, the nominee said: "One does not believe in the United States should subscribe to any policy that will entangle us with the affairs of the Old World. If the nations of Europe had been allied with England in 1776, American independence would have been impossible. I cannot endorse any alliance that would oppose the independence of any of the English colonies that are admittedly capable of self-government."

Reduction of income and excess profits taxes, Mr. Culbertson said, could be accomplished by adoption of a tariff which would furnish revenue as well as protection. He also advocated conversion of the promissory demand notes now held as security for loans to Europe, into long time obligations which, he said, might be sold to the investing public in exchange for outstanding Liberty bonds and thus reduce the national debt and further reduce taxation. State taxes, he said, should be revised to distribute more equally the burden of taxation.

Other policies advocated by the nominee included: Development of Texas waterways and deep water ports such as Galveston, Texas City, Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass, Velasco, Brazos, San Diego, Beaumont, and Port Arthur; maintenance of a powerful merchant marine; revision of Texas school laws to place schools under non-partisan control; the prohibition of "open shop" and a budget system for control of state finances.

WONDER PICTURE TO BE SEEN AT THE OLYMPIC; GIVE PRIVATE SHOWING

Wichita Falls is to see "Humoresque." The wonder picture of 1920 is to appear at the Olympic theater on Wednesday, September 22, for a two-day run and the unanimous opinion of a small group of theatrical officials, newspaper representatives and social leaders of the city who witnessed a private showing of the film Friday morning was that it could not help but break all records for attendance as a film production in this city. What the "Miracle Man" was to the film world in 1919 "Humoresque" is proving to be in 1920. Although it has been shown in but a few of the larger cities of the country the fame of the picture has traveled far and it is conceded now to be the film masterpiece of the year.

The advance reports which had been received in this city as to the merits of "Humoresque" were fully substantiated Friday morning when the film was shown to a small group at the Olympic.

Violent Leading Character. As the title of the picture indicates, Rubenstein's world famous composition, "Humoresque," plays an important part in the story, and in truth a violinist is the leading character in the entire play. The manner in which he arose from the slums of New York to the position of wealth and influence which came to him as a famous violinist, and of the part which an undying mother's love plays in this achievement, furnishes the theme of the story.

There is no doubt in the minds of those who have seen the picture, and that are competent judges of the merits of a photoplay, that "Humoresque" is destined for a phenomenal reception, not only in this city but in the nation at large when it is placed on the film market. It is a wonderful subject, handled in only a master picture producer could handle it.

Picture is Featured. Following the private showing of "Humoresque" at the Olympic last Friday the following invitation was made for publication by Mrs. C. E. Hartook and Mrs. Livingston Pain, both of whom were present at the presentation of the film.

"It is the most wonderful thing I have ever seen on the screen. 'Humoresque' is a photoplay that reveals a great truth that I believe we all stand in need of today, the advantage of a civilization founded on 'suffer' rather than on 'rights'. After seeing it I can readily understand why 15,000 New Yorkers paid admission to see it." (Signed) MRS. LIVINGSTON PAIN.

"After witnessing a private showing of 'Humoresque' I wanted to go out and tell every one I met about the wonderful thing. It has painted motherhood with a magic brush dripping with the essence of eternal truth. Surely life has never been more faithfully portrayed." (Signed) MRS. C. R. HARTOOK.

Approximately August 1, Thomas Meighan is expected back at the LaSalle studio after completing "The Frontier of the Stars" in New York. He will begin at once on the starring vehicle for Paramount, "Easy Street," by Blair Hall.

Famous Aviator to be Seen at the Empress

LT. ORMER LOCKLEAR in "THE SKYWAYMAN" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

"TOTO" HEADS VAUDEVILLE FOR THE COMING WEEK

The vaudeville bill which opens at the Wichita theater on Wednesday of this week will be headed by Toto, reputed to be the greatest clown in captivity. His specialty lies in falling, not just tripping over imaginary obstacles on the stage, but in actually falling, coming down with a resounding thump that would make the average man a fit candidate for the undertaker. Toto has been falling for years, and as a result, he knows how to fall, and he knows how to come up smiling on each occasion. In addition to Toto four other good acts have been secured: Earl Carl, assisted by eight petit-maidens will present a musical garden party that is featured by a number of lively saxophone and banjo concerts. Every performer in this troupe is an artist in extracting melodies from his or her instruments and the combined music of all kinds is the last word in modern jazz effects. Lee Stafford and Alha Ross are scheduled to offer "An a la carte Review," whatever that is. The advance reports indicate that it is a whirlwind of fashion, song, dance and comedy, interspersed with classical and popular piano numbers. A novelty cycling act will be given

PICTURE IS MONUMENT TO A GREAT AMERICAN

A monument to a great American is "The Skywayman." Lieut. Ormer Locklear's greatest picture which is coming to the Empress for a three-day run this week. The tragic death of "The Skywayman" caused universal mourning for Locklear's work as an American aviator during the world war, and later his unparalleled feats of daring before the moving picture camera had made him a well-known and popular figure in all of the nations of the world. "The Skywayman" is more than a thrilling picture. It contains a record of all that Locklear has done and will serve to show future generations the type of man this age really was. In the story, Locklear plays the part of a member of the Lafayette escadrille who loses his memory as the result of a crash in France and then, on returning home, fails to recognize his old friends. This plight leads him forth on a series of adventures that call for all of his aeronautical skill and that on several occasions nearly cause his death. Put with the uncanny fortune that had followed him from boyhood Locklear came through unscathed. A race with a limited passenger train, a leap from his plane to the roof of one of the speeding cars and a head-on crash into a church steeple failed to bother the aviator in the least and it was not until the picture was almost complete and he was finishing the final scene did the accident occur that cost him his life. In the cast which appears in support of the daring aviator in "The Skywayman" are Louise Lovely, one of the most popular of all the William Fox stars; Sam de Grass, whose work in Von Stroheim's "Blind Husbands" and "The Devil's Passkey" established him in the front ranks of moving picture stars, and Ted McCann, a well-known aviator of the Fox studios. The story was written by Julius G. Furthman and was directed by James F. Hogan.

After the death of Locklear and the completion of the picture it was contemplated destroying the entire film by the officials of the Fox company, but after consideration it was decided that the picture was too great a production to be lost to the world. With this in view, the film was placed on the market with the understanding that 10 per cent of the rental obtained from it should be turned over to the dead aviator's family and that Lieut. Milton Elliot, the pilot of the plane, who went to his death along with Locklear. This is now being done and the enormous income which is being derived from the rental of the picture is being shared with the bereaved families of the two airmen.

To sum up this production in a short, concise way, is a hard thing to do. It is a production of the type seldom seen on the screen and one that has already gained the pinnacle of public esteem. It is a feature which possesses every element of success, namely a star whose aerial exploits have made his name a household word, a story that thrills from first to last and a production invested with a business seldom found even in these days of spending.

Lincoln Hart, production manager of the J. Parker Read, Jr. production, has started the Louis Glauco company on the filming of "The Leopard Woman," an adaptation of the Stewart Edward White's novel, and is now preparing to launch the next Hollywood Best picture vehicle. Rowland V. Lee will direct the Howarth feature. Raymond Hatton is now working with Tom Moore in "Stop Thief."

WICHITA FALLS joins in the third annual drive for better motion pictures

WE prophesied that 1920 would be the greatest year in the history of the screen. It was—and is!

Never before were there such pictures as Cecil B. DeMille's "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?"; George Loane Tucker's "The Miracle Man"; John Barrymore in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"; George Fitzsimmons' "On With the Dance"; "Everywoman," directed by George Melford; William D. Taylor's "Huckleberry Finn"; and William S. Hart in "Boss."

All these are Paramount Pictures, and there were 100 more just as good.

CHARLES RAY IS COMING IN "THE VILLAGE SLEUTH"

The feature attraction at the Olympic for Monday and Tuesday of this week is to be Charles Ray in another of his refreshing plays of the farm, entitled "The Village Sleuth."

After a week's fruitless wandering he secures employment as a general chore boy at a fashionable sanitarium, and here his escapades begin and his detective ambition at last bears fruit.

A certain neglected husband had disappeared from the bedroom of he and his wife, and with him had gone an immense amount of money and costly jewelry. Private detection and trained policemen gave up the job as hopeless.

The story in brief tells of the operations of a large gold and copper mining company whose office is guarded with suspicion by the United States government.

TOM MIX IN HIS LATEST MOST THRILLING DRAMA

The Olympic is offering as its attraction for Monday and Tuesday of this week "The Terror" in which Tom Mix plays the part of a United States deputy marshal who saves the name of the United States.

The story in brief tells of the operations of a large gold and copper mining company whose office is guarded with suspicion by the United States government.

In the east surrounding the star is Francis Blington, whose excellent work opposite the star in "Desert Love" earned for her a large following.

E. Mason Hopper has commenced filming the fifth of the Booth Tarrington Edgar Stories, which will be called "Edgar's Sunday Courtship."

The Three Nelson Sisters, exceptionally clever wire artists, who dance and prance on tight wires suspended high above the ground. They will be seen here Wednesday, Sept. 8, with the John Robinson Circus.

JOHN ROBINSON CIRCUS COMING SEPTEMBER 8

The daddy of all circuses, old John Robinson's, is coming to Wichita Falls and will give two performances here on Wednesday, September 8.

According to the press agents, this season's show will be as good if not better than any yet seen here.

Even the old-timers will find many thrills awaiting them when they witness the innovations which have been added to the program of this famous aggregation.

The opening number is a magnificent pageant entitled "Golden" days and golden ways, which is said to be unequalled in circus annals for sheer beauty, pomp and splendor.

Among the stars which will shine forth under the big white top are such famous artists as Teju Robinson, a diminutive Japanese maiden who walks on wires as easily as we do on the street.

INVESTIGATION FAILS TO CONFIRM RUMOR OF ADVANCE IN LUMBER

A report has been current to the effect that the new freight rates which went into effect last week were going to cause a 20 per cent advance in the cost of lumber at the local lumber yards.

Investigation, however, fails to disclose any foundation for the rumor, as several of the prominent lumber dealers have been interviewed and they state that though the freight rates have advanced about one-third, no advance in the price of lumber at Wichita Falls is contemplated at present.

The freight rates from Louisiana and east Texas points on dimension lumber, such as costs here 150 per thousand feet, under the old tariff was $6.25 and under the new is $5.24, an increase of $2.90.

The officers of the City National Bank of Commerce strive in every way to be of assistance to new business enterprises of Wichita Falls and the territory which it serves and are ever willing to be consulted by those needing advice concerning matters pertaining to their banking, 112-113.

COURTESY CONFIDENCE SERVICE SECURITY

In the Broadest Sense

The welfare of each individual in our city is linked with the success of its institutions. For this reason it should be a matter of interest to every citizen of Wichita Falls that a body of her leading merchants decided to hold a Fall Style Show for 5 days beginning September 7th to which will be invited our neighbors from the surrounding towns.

The Big Idea

is to set forth the advantages of trading here, and we should all take pride in making this show a big success. According to the Law of Trade the greater number of people served by an institution the greater are its possibilities to render efficient service at a reduction of expense.

TO OUR PATRONS:

In view of the fact that we have been given a great deal of Publicity for the past month in reference to the price of ice and knowing that the contention of the Department of Justice was wrong in the matter and that we had not and are not now asking any more for ice than we are entitled to under present conditions of cost of manufacturing and delivery we want you to know that we have not been profiteering and herewith reproduce a letter exonerating us from such charge.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
OFFICE OF UNITED STATES ATTORNEY
Northern District of Texas

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 1, 1920.

PEOPLES ICE COMPANY,
Wichita Falls, Texas.

Gentlemen:

After a thorough discussion and a complete examination of the conditions of the costs and manufacturing and delivering ice by your company, I have concluded that a price of 77 1/2c per one hundred pounds upon coupon basis would be a fair price in your business. This is to advise you that it is agreeable for you to make this charge from the date you receive this letter.

Very truly yours,

R. E. TAYLOR,
United States District Attorney.

We want our patrons to feel that at all times we are doing our best to please you by giving you first class service and taking care of your needs in a manner like you want to be served.

When the time comes that we can reduce our price consistent with a reasonable return on our investment we will be glad to give you that reduction.

The Government has at this time allowed us to increase our price on a coupon basis to an amount greater than we have been asking but we intend to maintain our old prices.

Respectfully

O. E. MAER DESCRIBES A TRIP WORTH WHILE

Recently Returns From Automobile Drive To Bentonville, Ark., And Return.

O. E. Maer, superintendent of the Wichita Valley lines, has lately returned from a trip made by auto to Bentonville, Ark., and back and as a member of Wichita Falls people are located in that section, some information as to routes, distances, etc., may prove of interest.

On the going trip his itinerary took him through Lawton, Anadarko, Norman, Oklahoma City, Sapulpa, P. West and Winita. He left here Sunday, August 8, and reached Bentonville Wednesday, August 11, having been delayed a few hours by rain in the vicinity of Norman and between there and Oklahoma City. The distance from Wichita Falls to Bentonville, that route, is 144 miles. The roads were from very bad to very good, and during the rain and mud, the trip can easily be made in three days.

After spending over a week at War Eagle, a little inland town about 25 miles from Bentonville, where there is fine fishing, Mr. Maer, who was accompanied by a friend, Mr. H. P. Brill of Stamford, returned the following route: Bentonville, Vaughns, Gentry, Locust Grove, Chateau, Muskogee, McAlester, Atoka, Denton, Sherman, Whitesboro, Jainsville and Hamletta, leaving Bentonville the morning of August 21 and reaching Wichita Falls at 4 p. m. August 25, the distance this route being 211 miles.

The start was made from Bentonville after an all-night rain and the roads were very heavy all the way to Muskogee.

Mr. Maer drove his 1919 model D-45, which has been in service four and a half years and had made over 20,000 miles previously on this trip. He had a modern up-to-date camping outfit made especially for auto use and whenever night overtook the party they were at home.

The car with the two passengers and outfit was fully loaded, but gave wonderful service the entire trip. The side run of about 20 miles from Bentonville to War Eagle and return was over some very rough roads which led up into the heart of the Ozarks, where it was necessary to sleep under two blankets every night.

The entire mileage for the trip was 220 and the total cost of repairs to the car was 50 for a small puncture at Bentonville. At no time was there any trouble for power. When plowing through mud or climbing mountains, which is a splendid performance for any car and a remarkable performance for a car of that age.

On the going trip, the gasoline consumption was lighter than when returning, on account of the heavy roads the first day out of Bentonville. The roads from Atoka to Whitesboro were first-class; in fact this was the longest stretch of really good road on the whole trip.

The average mile per gallon on going trip was 17.26; on entire round-trip 14.32. Hotel actual expense, on the trip, was $33.73; this includes gasoline but nothing for depreciation of machine. Outside of a good bath, the car needed no repairs on its return to Wichita Falls.

A bank in order to be of real service to the community must be in a position to promptly and efficiently handle the requests of customers. The facilities maintained by the City National Bank of Commerce for the convenience of patrons are distinguished by their completeness enabling the bank's officers, to give customers the best possible attention.

Notice Carpenters. All carpenters are requested to be at Labor Temple at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 6, to be in the Labor Day parade. W. J. Herber, Recording Secretary.

JEWELER IS OWNER OF CROWN JEWEL

Purchased in New York Recently by Sam Kruger At Cost Of $45,000.

Can you imagine a poor little peasant boy of Russia becoming the owner of the crown jewel?

Sounds romantic, doesn't it? But it has really happened. And its not Bolshevik either; its American.

Sam Kruger is Russian born and raised, of parentage Jewish, poor, obscure, persecuted. The other day he purchased in New York a tiara that is apparently beyond a doubt one of the crown jewels of the family of Czar Nicholas.

Where it came from, or how it got into this country is not known, but that it is of Russian make, of a period of probably 60 or 75 years ago, and of a kind that only rarely could wear, is recognized by many leading jewelry authorities. Mr. Kruger bought it on his recent visit to New York, paying $45,000 for it. It is his purpose to dismantle it and use the stones in settings for rings, bar-pins, etc. It would almost make one cry to think of tearing it up.

As a creation of the jeweler's art the tiara is wonderful, as a thing of beauty it is magnificent. Its worth going a long way to sea, and when you look at it you can easily conjure up in your mind all the stories you have read and all the pictures you have seen of kings and queens from Solomon right down to the magazine stories of the execution of Czar Nicholas and his family. A tiara is not a crown jewel, but it looks so much like it that a democrat from Texas would not know, and has no business to know the difference. This tiara of Mr. Kruger's is made to fit on the front of a lady's hair. Its age is judged by the fact that it is of gold on a silver base, instead of platinum. It contains 37 diamonds and three pearls. None of the diamonds are large, but every one is absolutely pure and of the finest color. Its combined weight is about 20 karats. The pearls are of pear shape and magnificent gems. The tiara is made in sections, to be worn at the pleasure of the owner, as the occasion or demands. Complete it looks exactly like the pictures of a crown. But taken apart it can be worn as a tiara, with one section as a bracelet, another as a brooch, another in the back of the hair as an ornament, or one piece may be hung on a chain that goes with it and worn as a lavallier. The chain itself is a thing of beauty. It is of gold links with each link containing a diamond, all hand wrought and wonderfully beautiful.

As a tiara the jewel is not suitable and not wearable by anybody less than royalty, so its got to be torn up. It is Mr. Kruger's idea to keep it on exhibition at the Kruger jewelry store for a couple of weeks and then dismantle it, using the stones as his trade demands and melting the metal for old gold. If you are romantic or historically inclined, or a lover of the beautiful in gems, it will well pay you to go round and have a look at what

Mr. Kruger or Miss-Car used to wear when she went to court. And if you want a diamond with a real history to it you can pick one out from the 217 varieties.

Which will YOU be at Seventy-Five?

What It Means to Grow Old

It means weakness, debility, loss of energy. It means inelasticity; muscles grow stiff; arteries hardening. It means inactivity; a slowing down of functional activity of bodily organs. It means accumulated poisons; caused by poor elimination. It means slow moving blood, due to an enfeebled heart or arteries with thickened, inelastic walls.

If you make it your business to keep young you need not slow down, but make no mistake, when you feel old at thirty-five, you are really old. And when you feel young, perhaps at seventy-five, you ARE young—just as young as you feel.

Can One Prevent the Development of Old Age?

Is it possible to prevent the stiffening and deterioration of the spine? Yes, you can prevent it and when you prevent this you prevent the development of old age. You can keep your spine flexible, your cartilages elastic, your spine straight, and thereby keep your nerves young. And in this way you can maintain youth, even though your years are many.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG

All of the functions and activities of the body are controlled by the brain, which sends out its mental impulses over the nerves to all the organs. Therefore, your vital organs, when functioning in a normal way, will keep you young. Reduce the mental impulses (nerve force) and you reduce the activity of the organs in ratio, and the results mation, constipation, rheumatism, lumbago, deafness, stiffness, hardening of arteries, poor circulation and many other troubles.

To have perfect functional activity, which means perfect health, it is necessary that your spine is in perfect condition; for it is at this point in the human anatomy that the nerve force becomes lessened, caused by a slipping of one or more of the little vertebrae (bones) of the spine. THE MYERS SERVICE OF PALMER CHIROPRACTIC locates and adjusts these misplaced vertebrae, this freeing the nerves, keeping them young, strengthening the spine and allowing the cartilages to resume their normal elasticity. We have the facilities that is necessary for accurate results. It means that instead of simply a "punch in the back" your case receives careful, scientific study.

Laboratory Tested Feed
Purina Cow Chow is laboratory tested and machine mixed. This means that your cows get a uniform quality ration, which prevents them from going "off feed" and insures maximum milk flow.

You know that if a cow is thrown off her feed by improper mixing, or feeding of quality grain, it may take days to get her "back." This results in a heavy loss of milk.

Purina Cow Chow
is your best safeguard against such losses. Every ingredient that enters into Purina Cow Chow must come up to a rigid standard of quality. Not only is the quality of the grain guarded, but the ingredients are accurately measured and mixed by machinery. For that reason, Purina Cow Chow is bound to be absolutely uniform

Just the right elements are included to balance the roughage and silage that you produce. Your milk records will prove the feeding value of Purina Cow Chow. Let us put your herd on a test.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

Running for too long a period in low gear or even second may cause overheating.

Carbon is formed in practically all engines and deposited on the cylinder and piston head.

The knock of a motor laboring uphill is due to the fact that the spark occurs on the compression stroke and the explosion tries to force the cylinder back before it has passed dead center.

When the engine runs jerkily, the obvious cause is carburetor trouble. To locate the trouble, prime the carburetor and watch for dripping. If there is no dripping the trouble lies between the tank and the float valve. If there is free dripping the trouble may be looked for between the float valve and the engine cylinder.

The energy stored in a moving mass is proportional to the weight in pounds multiplied by the square of the speed. In other words, the speed is doubled, the strain is multiplied four times and the life of all parts is materially diminished.

In removing or mounting cylinders one person should handle the cylinder and another take care to see that no injury is done to the rods or rods. The rods can easily be sprung out of true if the cylinder is not lifted straight.

An excellent tool for cleaning carbon out of piston grooves may be made by grinding down a piece of broken piston ring to the proper size, so that it has a cutting edge, such as a chisel has. This tool fits exactly in the groove and cleans it out perfectly.

The oil pressure gauge furnishes a rather accurate means of determining the condition of the engine bearings. As the bearings wear, the oil circulates more freely and the pressure naturally drops. If the oil gauge persistently shows low pressure it is reasonable to assume engine bearing wear, provided the regulator is all right.

During the active running season it is a good plan to test the wheels for side play once a month. Side play causes excessive bearing wear and the tire wear as well. Jack up each wheel, grasp it firmly and push it to see if any side motion is apparent. In many cases the wheel bearings are adjustable.

If there is a constant dripping of gasoline from the carburetor, the float valve mechanism is not operating as it should. When the level of fuel in the float bowl reaches the proper height, the needle valve controlling the flow of gasoline into the reservoir of the carburetor should shut off. If it does not work properly, the adjustment should be checked up, and the valve and its seat examined for dirt or grit. Perhaps the needle valve is worn, in which case it should be carefully ground into a good seat.

A handy little device that serves as a jack and will lift almost any weight, you can put upon it, consists of merely a short length of iron pipe of large enough diameter to receive a bolt, but not the nut that goes on the bolt. Simply slip the bolt, with nut screwed on, way on, down into the end of the piece of pipe, allowing the shoulder of the nut to rest on the top edge of the pipe, and your jack is made. Having set it in position, turn up the nut and this will back out the bolt, thereby exerting a very strong lifting force. By using four of these little pipe jacks, one at each corner of the cylinder block, a very handy lifting method for the heavy iron casting is provided.

A poor mixture, usually a rich one, brings about overheating. Carbon in the cylinders also will cause the engine to heat rapidly, but at the same time the engine will lack power, knock and generally perform poorly. If you get the whole combination of trouble indicating engine debility and then get the overheating, it usually is a sure indication of carbon. Any drag on the engine, causing it to overwork, is likely to cause overheating. When the clutch slips the engine has to do more work to accomplish a given set of results; also when the brakes drag.

Ideal working conditions provided for the workers. The buildings completed have a total floor space of 1,294,757 square feet. In their construction over 2,000,000 pounds of steel were used together with 2,000,000 feet of lumber and 61,000,000 cubic yards of concrete. One hundred and fifty-three miles of electric wiring and 2,500 feet of water mains went into the construction. The conveying systems and assembling apparatus of the entire plant is mechanical and nearly four miles of railroad track was laid in and between the various buildings. A power house equipped with eight 300 horsepower boilers and an electrical plant large enough to supply power for the entire city of South Bend is included. The Studebaker company has erected an adequate supply of labor at its plant, and in setting at rest its 15,000 employees, nearly 2,000 modern homes. By doing this the company is assured of an adequate supply of labor at its plant, and in setting at rest its 15,000 employees, nearly 2,000 modern homes. It is hoped that by utilizing the resources of the new plant and of their old ones at Detroit and Walker, Mich., and at Windsor, Ontario, to turn out 150,000 machines a year.

SPLENDID REPORT ON PERFORMANCE OF HUP

A report has come to the Eckman & Von Allmen Automobile Company, local agents for the Peerless and Hupmobile machines, of the work which a Hupmobile has been doing in Wichita county during the past six years. The report was made by J. L. Downing, a well known resident of this community, who owned the car in question and drove it himself from the early part of 1914 until last spring, when he disposed of it.

Mr. Downing purchased the machine for use on his farm as well as on other sections of the state, and even the types of service the car was called upon to withstand about the roughest treatment that was ever accorded an automobile. The roads in Texas in the years 1914 and 1915 consisted mostly of trackless prairie and wide stretches of hilly and unmarked plains, yet Mr. Downing drove his machine daily in all kinds of weather and under all conditions.

Several weeks ago he sold the car to a local man who is now using it in the baggage and transfer business. The old Hup still rambles along with the best of them, requires a minimum of care and looks good for another two or three years of service.

TO DEVOTE ATTENTION TO STUDEBAKER LINE

Announcement has been made by F. D. Keim, manager of the Excelsior Motor Company of this city, that he had cancelled the agency for the Marmon automobile, which he has handled for some time and will in the future devote himself entirely to the sales and repairing of the Studebaker machines. The Marmon agency will be taken over by another auto dealer of the city whose name was not made known.

In announcing the change Mr. Keim stated that it was his intention to specialize entirely on the Studebaker car, and on its parts and accessories. A complete line of special tools and parts will be carried and a corps of expert Studebaker mechanics maintained. Nothing will be left undone to give Studebaker owners and drivers in this section the best service possible.

By specializing in the one car alone it will be possible for the local agency to obtain shipments from the factory on short notice, thus overcoming the difficulty which many dealers are compelled to contend with, namely, a car shortage, and with their supply of new automobiles assured and a complete line of parts, accessories and other equipment always in stock the new concern will be able to meet any demand that may be made on it by Studebaker owners in this and surrounding territory.

OIL FIELD WORK needs

"CATERPILLAR" TRACTORS

THE 5 and 10 Ton "Caterpillar" tractors, offered for oil field work are duplicates of the tractors we furnished to the United States and allied governments for the hauling of guns, equipment and supplies.

These tractors that completely changed artillery tactics by their speed, tractive power and dependability, might have been specially designed for oil field work, so well do they fit the conditions. Holt engineers developed special "Caterpillar" trailers, gun mounts and numerous other equipment for army use. The same men have designed a special winch attachment as dependable as every other part of the machine, to provide the quickest power for pulling rods and tubing. This winch has been developed in conjunction with expert oil field operators for the special needs of the industry. It is Holt quality throughout.

The power of the Holt engine and the positive traction of the "Caterpillar" tread take the HOLT TRACTOR and its load out on the new lease—over new fields, through swamps, deep sand, heavy muck and mire and over roads impassable even for horses and mules. Behind it goes a train of trailers, carrying heavy machinery, boilers, lumber and steel for derricks, massive tools for drilling, iron casings or any other supplies necessary to support old and new operations.

Rainy seasons and bad weather cannot hold up drilling or pumping operations when the "Caterpillar" is on the job.

Know all about the "Caterpillar" and what it will do for you. Learn how it reduces production costs by making constant, uninterrupted operation possible. Write today.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department—I have a 1918 Ford car. Can you tell me why the engine doesn't start when I turn the engine over once? I have to give about three or four quick turns with the crank and use the primer for the first two turns, before the engine starts. This I have to do even when the engine is warm. Slow turning or one turn of the crankshaft will not start the engine going. I must advance the spark to about the third or fourth notch and the throttle to about the seventh or eighth notch. After the engine is started everything runs fine, no matter how long it has been out of use. Why the engine doesn't start with one turn of the crank—K. L.

Perhaps spark plug need readjusting. The electrots burn away gradually. Also clean timer to insure good electrical contact. A little adjustment of carburetor may be necessary in conjunction with the above. Beware of cheap oil and gasoline. The best is none too good. If your trouble still continues, then would suggest that you test for weak magnets.

Motor Department—Please give me information, if possible, as to my trouble. Have a 1918 Maxwell, run about a month for a month. Now it is losing power and will not go faster than twenty-five miles an hour. Starts up very quickly. Compression is good. Carburetor adjustment is O. K. Cooling system is O. K. and have just cleaned carbon and ground valves. Have Aviator and gasoline. Thanking you in advance. READER.

Would suggest that you check up the ignition timing. Also see that breaker points are clean and properly adjusted. Perhaps the coil is at fault. If this is defective you will obtain a weak spark, which will account for loss of power and overheat. Try a new coil.

Motor Department—Will you please tell me through Motor Department, what causes spark coil to get hot when motor is running? I have had serious ignition trouble ever since I noticed spark coil getting hot. Have not on two in last three days with same results.—W. K.

Undoubtedly defective wiring is causing your trouble. Would suggest that you have an experienced ignition man inspect the wiring and trace the trouble. This should be done without delay. Otherwise you will have any number of new coils. Make sure that the coil is large enough to do the work. Too much voltage will cause it to overheat.

Motor Department—I have a 1917 Ford with a Stromberg carburetor, with high and low speed adjustments. When running at high speed motor runs excellent, but when running slow I cannot cut off my gas throttle completely without my machine jerking. Where is my adjustment wrong, in the high or low speed, and am I giving it too much gas or not enough?—SUBSCRIBER.

The trouble is entirely in the low speed. Throttle down and turn the killing adjustment until the engine runs best. Then set the throttle adjusting screw so that the engine runs slowly.

Motor Department—Where should I look for trouble when I find that my engine runs a few minutes and stops, but may be started again after a while, only to stop again? Before it developed this trouble it used to squirt a lot of gasoline out of the carburetor every time it stopped. Are the two troubles in any way related to each other? H. G.

The drip after stopping, it due to the fact that raw gasoline is held in the manifold. As soon as the engine stops the gasoline runs out. This is normal, especially in winter, and when there is a long inlet manifold. The reason your engine stops is because it has used up the gasoline in the float chamber, due to the pipe line or strainer being clogged, keeping the gasoline from running in as fast as necessary. Clean strainer or remove obstruction from pipe and the trouble should be ended.

Motor Department—My car has a leather covered cone clutch, the pedal press a piece of wood against your push rod after another until trouble is found. A few guide rods may be needed.

Motor Department—My two-cylinder delivery wagon has been run about 15,000 miles. Lately I had it overhauled, and since then have had trouble with the engine. The exhaust pipe gets red hot and the water boils after running a few miles. What do you suppose is the trouble? COMMERCIAL.

Either the valves are timed wrong, if the valves are timed properly and the spark is right the engine should not overheat, as you state. The condition of the exhaust manifold suggests either valve or ignition timing.

Motor Department—Can you tell me why my car swings to the right whenever I apply the brakes? I also notice that the right tire wears out sooner than the left. OWNER.

The trouble is caused by unequal brake adjustment; the brake operating on the right wheel holds better than the brake operating on the left wheel. Both wheels should be raised on jacks and the brake setting rods, etc. adjusted so that when the brake is applied the tension on each will be equal. This will avoid skidding and also relieve the strain on the right tire.

Motor Department—I have a Buick Little Six, 1918 model. There is a click about the engine that I have never been able to locate. Some tell me that it is in the push rods, some say it is in the muffler. It does not always make this noise, and does not seem to interfere with the running of the machine. The noise sounds like you were striking with a hard wooden mallet on the cylinder. I can grease the valve stems and it will stop, but after running about fifty miles it will begin again. This, of course, ought not to be. I have ground the valves and cleaned the spark plugs, but it does not seem to remedy the trouble. Will you please tell me what and where the trouble is? The car has been run only 6,500 miles. L. S.

Judging from your description, the trouble is in one of the push rods—either clearance too great or a worn guide. Adjust exhaust clearance according to factory instructions. If clicking starts also us traced to the cutout itself or to the connection where the exhaust pipe enters the muffler. There is considerable pressure in that portion of the exhaust pipe extending between the cylinders and the muffler. If the muffler should happen to be clogged, and this is possible since you have an old car, additional back pressure would result. This in itself would also tend to reduce the power of your engine. When the cutout is open the pressure in this section of the exhaust system is considerably relieved. The various joints in the exhaust manifold are usually fitted with gaskets or packing.

HELPFUL HINTS
The noise in the motor can often be reduced considerably by installing new adjusting screws in the valve lifters. These points are subjected to considerable wear and quite often wear to such an extent that the valve timing is affected.

Check valves which control the flow of oil through the pump, where pressure lubrication is used, should be cleaned occasionally to insure positive working.

When grinding valves bring piston to top center and place a piece of waste or cloth between it and the valve. Place another in valve port below seat of valve. This prevents spray from reaching the cylinders. If spray gets in around piston it does some grinding.

Sometimes an engine is returned from the repair shop with the valves slightly out of time, causing it to lose power. This may be easily checked as follows: Place thin piece of paper between valve lifter and valve stem of No. 1 cylinder. Crank engine until exhaust valve of No. 1 cylinder opens and starts down. The paper will be pulled and cannot be removed. Now crank slowly until the paper is just released. E. C. (exhaust closed) mark on fly wheel should come under palator. When paper under inlet valve stem is just ahead the I. O. (inlet open) mark on fly wheel comes under palator.

Above test will not work out correctly unless spark plug between valve stem and push rod is correct. This should be about the thickness of a piece of note paper for the inlet and a thin visiting card for the exhaust.

Motor Department—I have a 1917 Ford passenger car that has just been overhauled and put in good shape. It has developed a knock supposedly from the end play in the main shaft, and this knock is still there in a much less degree. While the car never ran better on the level, twenty-five to thirty miles per hour, she labors on hills and has to put on the brakes at the slightest grades. Can you explain this and also state, if you can, why a sound like steam seems to come from the exhaust but stops as soon as the cutout is opened? Kindly advise what can be done to stop this? READER.

It is very doubtful whether the knock is due to end play in crankshaft. At the time of overhauling this lost motion should have been reduced to a minimum. The present knock should not affect the power of the motor to the degree you state. It appears that there is a combination of carburetor and ignition trouble. The loss of power on hills may be due to the spark being too far advanced. This would affect the pulling power of the engine more on hills than elsewhere. Would suggest also that the valve timing be carefully checked and also the fuel pipe line cleaned to insure full flow of gasoline. The noise which seems like escaping steam is caused by the escaping gases through a leak in the manifold. Very often a leak of this nature will be found in the manifold gaskets where it is connected to the cylinder.

Motor Department—I have a 1917 Ford with a Stromberg carburetor, with high and low speed adjustments. When running at high speed motor runs excellent, but when running slow I cannot cut off my gas throttle completely without my machine jerking. Where is my adjustment wrong, in the high or low speed, and am I giving it too much gas or not enough?—SUBSCRIBER.

The trouble is entirely in the low speed. Throttle down and turn the killing adjustment until the engine runs best. Then set the throttle adjusting screw so that the engine runs slowly.

Motor Department—Where should I look for trouble when I find that my engine runs a few minutes and stops, but may be started again after a while, only to stop again? Before it developed this trouble it used to squirt a lot of gasoline out of the carburetor every time it stopped. Are the two troubles in any way related to each other? H. G.

The drip after stopping, it due to the fact that raw gasoline is held in the manifold. As soon as the engine stops the gasoline runs out. This is normal, especially in winter, and when there is a long inlet manifold. The reason your engine stops is because it has used up the gasoline in the float chamber, due to the pipe line or strainer being clogged, keeping the gasoline from running in as fast as necessary. Clean strainer or remove obstruction from pipe and the trouble should be ended.

Motor Department—My car has a leather covered cone clutch, the pedal press a piece of wood against your push rod after another until trouble is found. A few guide rods may be needed.

Motor Department—My two-cylinder delivery wagon has been run about 15,000 miles. Lately I had it overhauled, and since then have had trouble with the engine. The exhaust pipe gets red hot and the water boils after running a few miles. What do you suppose is the trouble? COMMERCIAL.

Either the valves are timed wrong, if the valves are timed properly and the spark is right the engine should not overheat, as you state. The condition of the exhaust manifold suggests either valve or ignition timing.

HELPFUL HINTS
The noise in the motor can often be reduced considerably by installing new adjusting screws in the valve lifters. These points are subjected to considerable wear and quite often wear to such an extent that the valve timing is affected.

Check valves which control the flow of oil through the pump, where pressure lubrication is used, should be cleaned occasionally to insure positive working.

When grinding valves bring piston to top center and place a piece of waste or cloth between it and the valve. Place another in valve port below seat of valve. This prevents spray from reaching the cylinders. If spray gets in around piston it does some grinding.

Sometimes an engine is returned from the repair shop with the valves slightly out of time, causing it to lose power. This may be easily checked as follows: Place thin piece of paper between valve lifter and valve stem of No. 1 cylinder. Crank engine until exhaust valve of No. 1 cylinder opens and starts down. The paper will be pulled and cannot be removed. Now crank slowly until the paper is just released. E. C. (exhaust closed) mark on fly wheel should come under palator. When paper under inlet valve stem is just ahead the I. O. (inlet open) mark on fly wheel comes under palator.

Above test will not work out correctly unless spark plug between valve stem and push rod is correct. This should be about the thickness of a piece of note paper for the inlet and a thin visiting card for the exhaust.

U. S. HAS FASTEST PLANE IN WORLD RACE

The famous "Texas Wildcat," American's contender in the Gordon Bennett cup race to be held in France, Sept. 27. It recently broke all speed records, making 220 miles an hour. Mr. and Mrs. S. E. J. Cox, the former president of the General Oil Company of Houston, have financed construction of the planes, each having an entry in the race. Their son, Seymour, pictured, has more hours of flying than any other youth in the world.

Traveling forty miles an hour faster than any human being had ever before moved, Rudolph Rohlfis, in several secret test flights at Roosevelt Field, L. I., has made 124 miles an hour in S. E. J. Cox's "Texas Wildcat," one of the Texan's three entries in the Gordon Bennett cup race to be held Sept. 27 in France. The plane will act as the American contender in the event.

The "baby" plane, with its tremendous 400 horsepower engine, literally tore through space in the final tryouts two days before shipment to France this week on the Army Transport Pocahontas.

"Mr. Rohlfis and the designers of the machine believe they will make approximately 200 miles an hour in the actual race," S. E. J. Cox, financier and builder of the bullet planes declared after the tests. "Rohlfis says that he had the motor running at but half its maximum speed as he feared the wings would be torn off due to the great speed. This means that with the motor struts, to be used in the race, possibly 100 miles an hour can be added to the already remarkable record if motor is run at full speed."

Back to America. "If this proves to be true the Gordon Bennett cup will be brought back to America to stay as no other machine has nearly approached this speed and it is doubtful if any developed for this contest will do so," he continued.

Cox is president of the General Oil Company of Texas. He has two entries in the race, one the "Cactus Kitten" in his name and the "Cactus Kitten" in the name of Mrs. Cox. The latter supervised the designing and entire construction of the machines and is the first woman to ever enter a machine in this international speed contest.

The "Texas Wildcat" has many remarkable features innovated for the cup race. The most remarkable is the 12-cylinder, 400 horsepower motor. This power plant is expected to prove the one deciding factor in the contest as its power-weight ratio is lower than any other aerial engine. The motor is also compact and presents less surface in flight than any engine of half its horsepower.

The machine is but 22 feet from tip to tip and 20 feet in length. Such dimensions have been held out of question on a plane of such tremendous power. The propeller is a third as long as the spread of the plane and over a foot thick at the hub.

Trouble in Landing. Considerable trouble was experienced in taking off and landing. It being necessary to attain a speed of more than 100 miles an hour before the machine would leave the ground. In landing it was found that the plane must be traveling at least 90 miles an hour to sustain it until the wheels could safely touch the ground.

Such great landing speed necessitated the sudden stopping of the machine as few fields could be found large enough and level enough to permit the plane to gradually come to a halt. Several types of aerial brakes were experimented with but only one contrivance has proven practical. This consists of a small parachute which in flight is retained in the fuselage of the plane, under the canvas covering. On landing a long slit is torn in this cloth and the parachute jerked out. As the air fills it the plane quickly comes to a halt.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox have devoted the entire past month to pushing construction of the speed ships that they might be ready on the date set for their shipment to Europe. The entire personnel of the Curtis Airplane Company has been at their disposal. Experiments and the construction of the two planes entered in the race, a third for use in an emergency and a fourth built of spare parts has already cost Mr. Cox more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Aero Club of Texas. The Cox entries have been made in the name of the Aero Club of Texas of which he is vice president, representing as well the Aero Club of America.

The planes are now on their way to France and immediately upon their arrival at the airbase, near Paris, will be set up and the test flights continued by Rohlfis and Clarence Coombs, the pilots who will drive them in the cup contest. Rohlfis is known as the best airplane pilot in America. He holds the world's official speed record of 163 miles an hour and for some months held the altitude record, having climbed to over 27,000 feet at Mincola last fall. This record was later broken by Major Schroeder, another pilot entered in the cup race.

OVERLAND MOTOR CO. HAS INAUGURATED AN EDUCATIONAL CAMPAIGN

In connection with their sales campaign of Overland cars, the Overland Motor Co. of this city, has inaugurated a system of "propaganda" that is being distributed among their sub-agents and that deals with the relation between the auto man and that all important individual known as the banker. Few people realize the important part that a bank plays in the automobile industry and according to statements made by prominent automobile officials of this city the bankers themselves are not fully aware of the tremendous importance of the automobile.

The Overland company, realizing this, has prepared a number of circulars containing suggestions to their dealers that will be of value in working out his financial problems. Among these are a number of pertinent facts relative to the automobile industry in general that go to show the amounts of capital invested yearly in motor cars and the manner in which bankers profit by this. These facts are of such nature that the auto dealer to purchase his cars with money borrowed from his bank, the good will and esteem of his banker is of the utmost importance to the dealer, and it is because of this that the Overland Company is attempting to strengthen the bond of business relationship between captains of finance and the automobile dealers.

WILL SOON BE ABLE TO MAKE IMMEDIATE DELIVERY ALL MODELS

In a recent visit paid McFall Brothers by Mr. Geo. S. Hill, a factory representative of Dodge Brothers, Detroit, U. S. A., he states that the local agents will soon be able to make immediate deliveries on any model of Dodge cars. Mr. Hill, in company with Mr. Julius McFall, made a tour over the territory controlled by the local agents and discovered that the volume of business from this section was sufficient to warrant allotting all of the cars required.

Mr. Hill also stated that, McFall Brothers were trying as hard as any one to render 100 per cent service to Dodge owners, and that their work was not only appreciated by the local patrons but by the authorities of the Dodge factory as well.

The intelligent use of the spark lever has much to do with the performance of a motor car and will tend to insure the proper functioning of this intricate and in some ways delicate mechanism.

Men Choose This Hudson For Daily Rapid Transit

Unfailing Reliability With Comfort and Economy Accounts For Its Popularity Among Motor Commuters

THE partiality to Hudson of men who regard their cars primarily for their utility, is readily understood in the light of abilities for which the Super-Six stands supreme among all the world's cars.

Those who must depend on motor transit are uncompromising realists where cars are concerned.

They are seldom novice owners. And their experience has taught them knowledge of the substantial values that endure unchanged by time. It is such men, in the main, who for five years have made Hudson the largest selling fine car in the world.

With them reliability is the first consideration. That answered, the governing factors are safe and rapid transit, with economy, comfort and freedom from any mechanical concern.

The Hudson coupe is a favorite model with all owner-drivers, and especially with the growing thousands who commute by motor, from country and suburban homes to their business in the city.

Until the present, we have been months in arrears of demand on this favorite model. Now, however, we can assure reasonably early delivery on a limited number of orders, if placed promptly.

WORK OF THE COUNTY HEALTH ORGANIZATION IS SPLENDID RECORD

DR. WEST AND ASSISTANTS RENDER VALUABLE SERVICE TO THE PEOPLE.

GIVE SUMMARY OF WORK DONE BY DEPARTMENT

Special Attention Has Been Given The School And Great Good Has Resulted Therefrom.

A summary of the work done by the county health organization of Wichita county, with Dr. A. W. West in charge, shows that 1,081 sanitary closets have been built in the county since the organization came into the county.

During the same period of time this department has taken a great interest in the school children, the future citizens and residents of the county. The department has examined a total of 5,642 and all parents were notified of the defects found. Approximately 25 per cent of the children are assumed to have had the defects remedied as a result of the examinations conducted and the notifications given.

Dr. West and his assistants have also given 56 free vaccinations for smallpox and 153 typhoid inoculations. The free baby clinic conducted by this department is another commendable feature. During the time that this has been in progress, 129 babies have been examined in the child health center. The free baby clinic is conducted in the basement of the county court house each Tuesday and Friday morning and many mothers of the city and county have taken advantage of this.

Mark Special Work.
A large amount of special work has also been done by Dr. West and his department. He has conducted a trachoma survey in all the schools of the city and county, and has eliminated all cases of scabies and pediculosis capitis from the schools.

A thorough investigation of the typhoid fever epidemic was conducted and recommendations were made as to the stamping out of this dreaded

Clean-up campaigns were inaugurated in many of the smaller towns of the county where, due to the rapid growing up and growth of the towns, sanitation was disregarded. These campaigns were conducted with success in Newton, Bridgetown, Kemp City and similar places. Nearly a year ago the state health department favored Wichita county by sending an all-time health officer to the county for a period of two years. During this time the county is to judge whether it will help support a department of this kind. Indications are at the present time, from several interviews had with men who are in position to know, that the plan is meeting with favorable comment here due to the fact that the results thus far alone warrant a permanent department of this nature. The results to those who have been in a position to notice have been extremely pleasing and gratifying and the benefits derived are immeasurable.

Does Efficient Work.
Through efficient work on the part of Dr. West and his department, by joining things thoroughly and satisfactorily, there has been created in the county and the city a spirit and a demand for public health work and which many realize can be done most efficiently only by an all-time health officer. Several states throughout the union have considered the all-time health department and North Carolina especially has advanced further than any other. This state maintains a department of this nature throughout every county in the state and at the present time this southern state stands out prominently as one which has made greater advancement towards promoting public health than any other. Much credit should be bestowed upon this state and it is hoped that all true and patriotic citizens of the great state of Texas will assist in making Texas one of the next to follow North Carolina's steps. A stepping stone towards this achievement now lies in the power of the people of Wichita county, and from the general sentiment it is believed that this county will be one to help lay the foundation to this great and commendable work.

In viewing the work and the re-ults of the work done during the short time that an all-time health department has existed here conclusions are easily derived and help to bear out the statement that Wichita county needs a department of this kind. Payment by check is the most convenient method of bill settlement, the cancelled check being a form of receipt recognized by law. The City National Bank of Commerce invites checking accounts of housewives, thus assisting them to more easily arrange household finances.
