SEVEN BALLOONS IN CONTEST GET AWAY FROM BIRMINGHAM

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 23.—Seven balloons, contestants in the international balloon race for the Gordon Bennett trophy, hopped off from Birmingham late today with the French entry, piloted by Captain Louis Bleriot...

The United States army balloon left the field at 4:14, piloted by Lieutenant R. Thompson and Captain Harold Weeks.

Belgian Entry Starts. The "Belgian" official Belgian entry, under the direction of Lieutenant Ernest de Myster and Lieutenant M. K. Brouse, rose in the air at 4:48.

The "Triumphale," second Italian entry, piloted by Major H. Madori and Lieut. A. Rinzani, hopped off at 5 o'clock sharp.

Bright Orange Color. A unique feature of the French and Belgian entries is that the bags are of a bright orange color, the pilots explaining that this special color will resist the rays of the sun and prevent the rubber from stiffening or breaking.

The most beautiful of the balloons were those from Italy which, painted silver, resembled great soap bubbles as they were caught by the rays of the setting sun.

Major an hour before the race began the pilot of balloon "Birmingham," carrying newspapers and a representative of the Birmingham chamber of commerce, took to the air.

Harding Refers to Controversy as to Rumania

DECLARES BELATED TESTIMONY OF RUMANIAN PREMIER IS INTERESTING. NO SPEECHES MADE BY SENATOR DURING THE DAY

In Interview He Quotes From Speeches Made by Jefferson, Cleveland and Wilson.

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 23.—Alluding for the first time to the controversy between President Wilson and Senator Harding over the former's Paris attitude regarding Rumania's part in maintaining European peace, Senator Harding said tonight that the version of the president's words recently published in this country and attributed to Premier Bratianu of Rumania served to throw new light on the real character of the controversy.

The controversy as to the exact language used by Mr. Wilson was not discussed by the republican candidate, who said in reply to questions that it was not his dispute. He added, however, that the belated testimony of the Rumanian premier is very interesting by virtue of confirmation of the president's objections to amending the league covenant.

"The president said to several senators," Harding said, "for one of whom I can speak definitely, that any amendment would lead to demands by Rumania and other small nations with similar embarrasment. Refers to Association."

"All this emphasizes our objection to the covenant as written. Clearly the supreme council represented the rights of the small nations and assumed to decide their very own political and economic affairs and then set about to maintain the existing order of things by the rule of force. It has been the republican purpose all along to establish a world association for the rule of justice rather than force."

"The senator made no speeches during the day but in elaborating his comment on the Bratianu interview he gave out several quotations from Thomas Jefferson, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, which he said had a direct bearing on the whole league issue."

The following he quoted from a speech by Cleveland on December 5, 1895:

"We have forbidden from taking any part in any controversy between foreign states but have left to every nation the exclusive conduct and management of its own affairs."

His quotation from President Wilson was taken from a newspaper report of the president's words on May 8, 1914, and was as follows:

"America would lead her own life. We cannot form alliances with those who are not going our way. We need not ally ourselves with any nation in the world."

In his comment on these utterances, Senator Harding said:

"To all Americans and especially to all democrats, it must appear that Article 10 of the League of Nations, which forbids the making of alliances and independence in an armed alliance wearing a mask of benevolent idealism is a complete reversal, not only of American but of democratic policy."

"I do not hesitate to say that I stand by the expression of Jefferson, Cleveland and in my own lifetime, in 1914, for I am unflinchingly opposed to Article 10."

"Neither Jefferson, Cleveland, nor Wilson," he said, "would have signed the league covenant."

GREAT AUDIENCE HEARS GOV. COX DEFEND LEAGUE

DECLARES AMERICA'S SUCCESSFUL FUTURE DEPENDS ON ENTRANCE. EXPRESSES WILLINGNESS TO MAKE SOME COMPROMISE

Promises If Elected To Lift The Question Entirely Out Of Politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Governor Cox delivered his league of nations message to a great audience in Madison Square Garden tonight, and emphasizing business and economic considerations, declared America's "successful future depends upon entrance into the league at the earliest possible moment."

Willingness to make "some compromise" upon league reservations was declared by the democratic candidate. He reiterated that he would accept "helpful reservations." If elected he said he "would lift this issue out of politics by effecting a result which will insure the entrance of the United States into the league, with the idea of perfecting it and obtaining for ourselves the benefits which will accrue."

Governor Cox's speech, closing his Atlantic tour campaign and climaxed a day of receptions, luncheons, and other events, stressed agricultural, industrial, banking and other arguments for American participation in the league.

Depressing Business. "The most serious depression the country has ever witnessed," was predicted by the nominee if the league cause was lost. Business depression was a result of Governor Cox's declaration that financial rehabilitation and credit and power, together with increased resources resulting from disarmament, would flow from the league's success, Governor Cox declared.

"If we go into the league, our financial power will guarantee that we shall never have to send an American army to fight in Europe. If we meet the opportunity that calls us, we can write the word 'American' across the page of the twentieth century in letters of light."

Regarding Compromises. Regarding compromising upon league reservations, Governor Cox said: "It is going to be necessary to make some compromise to secure the desired end, and that I am willing to do. I am for the ratification of the league with reservations that are helpful, that will insure that we are a member of the association of nations, and that will make a mark on the world."

Another promise made by Governor Cox was that, realizing necessity for reforming federal agencies, he would not hesitate to call upon any man for aid, regardless of his politics.

"As an executive of some experience, as a result of knowledge gained as a member of the executive committee in congress, and as a business man who has spent his days and nights to make the ledger balance, I am keenly aware of the necessity to improve and modernize the executive machinery of our federal government and to bring into contact the best brains and experience American contains," he said.

"The United States government will be called upon next year to expend between four and five billion dollars. I believe in the necessity to improve and modernize the executive machinery of our federal government and to bring into contact the best brains and experience American contains," he said.

"America has been thrown into the world's economic whirlpool, and has been held there while conspirators worked their will for partisan advantage. We have had enough of the condition. I pledge myself to put the interests of America and humanity above those of party in the solution of the present emergency. It is my conviction." (Continued on Page 9, Column 6.)

IMPORTANT GATHERING OF LEADERS OF PETROLEUM INDUSTRY CLOSSES WITH BANQUET SATURDAY EVENING

Bringing to its close the one-day annual membership meeting of the Texas-Louisiana division of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association, more than 250 men representing millions of dollars invested in the oil industry of the southwest gathered at dinner Saturday evening in the Wichita club.

The history of Wichita Falls as the development of the greatest industry of this section of the United States were not alone, however, in receiving attention. In the gathering were representatives of the government of Old Mexico; men bearing the educational standards of the University of Texas and the Texas Agricultural & Mechanical college; editors and publishers of the leading newspapers of the state; bankers whose names are known throughout the south, and at least one man whose authority on matters of tax legislation is recognized in every section of the United States.

The history of Wichita Falls has never before recorded any gathering of men more truly representative of the business and professional life of the southwest.

Resources of Mexico. Calling attention to the tremendous resources of Mexico and the spirit of friendship toward the United States being manifested by the present Mexican government, Julius Germany of Dallas came nearer, perhaps, than any other man to sounding the keynote of broad interest that has characterized the work of the Mid-Continent association when he moved that the four Mexican government officials present be elected to honorary membership in the south's biggest organization of oil men. The motion not only carried unanimously, but the hundreds present came to their feet and applauded the action with a spirit and spontaneity that passed beyond the mere confines of dinner courtesy.

Answering the introduction made by Charles Saville of the Dallas chamber of commerce, Jose C. Zarate, inspector of industries of Mexico declared that "with the United States behind us and with us, we, the United States and Mexico, will make North America the greatest area of prosperity and contentment the world has ever known."

Senator Zarate called attention to the immense resources of gold, silver, copper, lead, zinc and manganese ores in Mexico, and the possibilities of the additional that need only capital and encouragement and he urged the business men of the United States to be foremost in helping to bring Mexico to a plane of greatness.

More simple, perhaps, in view of the fact that he spoke little English were the few words addressed to the men by Senator Guillermo Fuentes, Paris in his brief speech were delivered in Spanish, but the applause was warm and generous when he said, heartily: "The Mexicans we have the heart very large for our neighbors the United States."

Judge John Shea, of Tulsa, Okla., who is more familiar with many phases of legislation, state and national, that affect the oil industry than any other man in the country today, stated, in commenting on the splendid attitude of friendship toward the Mexican delegation that "the Mid-Continent association has tonight made a decade of progress toward establishing a national entente."

Reviews Tax Legislation. Judge Shea's speech was devoted largely to a review of legislation affecting the oil industry: "The excess profits tax," he declared, "is not an excess profits tax; it is an excise tax on profits. It has been, and is now, in favor of a sales tax on everything, for today the man who buys the article for final consumption pays every cent of the total tax. The burden of the excess profits tax is that nobody knows how much he is going to be called upon to pay—and every man who handles an article therefore adds a margin of safety usually far over what he would add if he had this knowledge, and the final consumer foots the great total."

With reference to the income tax law, Judge Shea expressed the opinion that family men should be exempted from taxation on the first $5,000, and the exemption should apply up to $2,500 on the income of single men, and that the tax should run up to a certain point and then stop.

"This going to 65 per cent on individual income," he said, "is confiscation."

Again, referring to the report of the industrial conference board, Judge Shea condemned the action of that body in attempting to levy taxes on ley, coffee and sugar, but exempting many of the other necessities of life.

"My own idea of the manner in which this problem of taxation should be handled," he explained, "is by the appointment of a commission of fifteen men, a commission non-partisan in character and named by the president, to investigate throughout the United States and to find where taxes can and should be applied."

In closing his speech, Judge Shea praised the work of the Mid-Continent association warmly, referred to the manner in which Americans met the recent world war crisis and added that (Continued on Page 9, Column 2.)

ROOSEVELT SENDS AN ENCOURAGING MESSAGE TO GOV. COX FORECASTING SUCCESS FOR DEMOCRATIC TICKET

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Franklin D. Roosevelt today sent a telegram to Governor Cox at New York City, excerpts of which are: "I have just completed a tour through all the districts surrounding Buffalo and the entire southern tier of New York state, and I am able to give you some exceedingly cheerful firsthand information. I find that there is unmistakably the same great swing toward the democratic cause in this state that we both have noticed in the Middle West. Local committeemen tell me that republicans after republicans in their territory is aligning himself in support of you, almost invariably on account of their conviction that the League of Nations must be sustained and that your election in the only possible way in which this can be done."

"I am convinced that the hurricanes of selfish misrepresentation and suspicion of the facts, created by the republican campaign managers, have been swept away, and that the knowledge of what this election means has turned to our cause more than enough ballots to place New York in the democratic column."

WOMAN WEARING A GREEN VELVET DRESS FIGURES IN MURDER

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 23.—A deserted cabin, one mile from where the body of David S. Paul, Camden bank runner, was found in a shallow grave among the Jersey pines, may form the connecting link in the solution of the mystery. Detectives who visited the place reported today they found obvious signs of recent occupancy and evidence of a protracted orgy about the cabin. Dark blotches on the floor are believed to be bloodstains and the police think it was here that Paul met his death. A partly filled whiskey bottle was found on a table. Automobile tracks around the place are believed to have been made by the car in which the messenger's body was carried away. Less than a mile away is an occupied cabin and the detectives learned that a woman wearing a green velvet dress stopped there and bought a half dozen eggs Friday morning. The day before Paul's body was found. This woman is being sought by the police. In their investigation of the shanty the detectives said they learned that a party of three men and three women had been seen there on October 5, the day Paul disappeared with $40,000 in cash and $10,000 in checks.

NEAR THREE INCHES OF RAIN SATURDAY; STREETS FLOODED

DOWNFALL BEGAN EARLY AND CONTINUES THROUGH MOST OF DAY.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Rain Extends Over This Section And Several Bridges Are Washed Out.

Those who have remarked recently about the wonderful fall weather with which this city has been blessed, during their time here, and any compliments were passed on the climatic conditions of Texas in general and Wichita Falls in particular, they were far from correct. The rainfall which began shortly after daylight Saturday and continued with varying intensity throughout the entire day was the heaviest that has visited this section in months, and not only was it the heaviest but it extended over a much longer period of time. A thunder storm, accompanied by lightning of unusual intensity, accompanied the first downpour in the morning and although but one case of actual damage by lightning was reported, this element did not add to the attractiveness of venturing forth from shelter.

The rain gauge kept by George M. Simmons at his home, 1906 Broad, showed a precipitation of 2.7 inches between 4 a. m. and 6 p. m. Saturday. This is tangible proof of the fact that the rain was the heaviest that has visited Wichita Falls in some time, but estimates heard on the streets placed the actual amount higher. In the city a smaller amount of damage was done than had been expected. As usual, the downtown streets suffered most and the wood block pavements resembled gigantic comba, broken and irregular teeth more than anything else. At the corner of Tenth and Scott streets the pavement was completely ruined and will have to be replaced. Passing automobiles, aided by the weight of street cars, cut through the unbalanced blocks as though they were paper and after the first heavy showers had subsided sections of the pavement were bobbing down the torrents of water in gutters and streets. In miniature boats, which were being blown from out of the Tenth and Scott street crossing were found as far south as Thirteenth street where they had been carried by the water.

City bond workers that were discharged from overworked street cars and automobiles were forced to wade and flounder through lakes two feet deep at many of the business district street intersections while those fortunate enough to be carried in waterproof spots had to contend with the soggy pelting of rain drops from the skies and miniature Niagara's carrying from off the tops of buildings. Several were completely swamped soon after the deluge began and were entirely inadequate to carry away the water that dripped through the gutters. In spite of this, however, the only damage reported at a late hour Saturday was from a home at 302 Holliday street. Lightning struck a house and the ensuing flames burned away the entire roof and damaged the interior. Fire Chief McClure stated that "it rained just hard enough to make the fire burn and to blow up the chimney after returning from fighting the blaze. Damage at the home will not exceed $1,000, according to authoritative reports.

Storm Was General. That the storm was general and of unusual violence over all of North Texas was indicated by reports received at the various dispatch offices of the local railroads. Messages from stations as far south and east as Bellevue on the North & Denver reported that the rainfall was very heavy and that it had extended from early morning until late at night. The same reports were received from stations as far north as Childress. The storm area also reached with less intensity to Fort Worth and Dallas. No unwholesome reports were received from the Denver line but all trains were being forced to proceed slowly.

The Wichita Valley lines reported a heavy rainfall between here and Abilene with no prospect of clearings. This road had not been troubled by washouts or track troubles of any kind and all of its trains were reported as being running on schedule time. The Katy did not fare so well as the others however and reported three bridges washed out between La Grange and May, with minor track washouts between Wichita Falls and Altus. No trains were being operated north of Woodstock Monday afternoon and track gangs were at work repairing the damage. On the south and east lines rains fell from the middle of Saturday morning until late in the afternoon and interfered with train schedules to some extent. No damage was reported as having been sustained by tracks or bridges and trains in and out of Wichita Falls were operating on time. A report was received in this city that the railroad bridge on the main line of the Frisco over the Pease river north of Vernon had gone out but no details were available.

The local traction companies plugged up its windows, closed its doors and a bluff at carrying passengers dry and from the residential sections to business centers downtown, but those who were not forced by absolute necessity to brave the elements kept themselves under cover and did not trust to street cars or conveyances of any sort. A decided drop in temperature made heaters welcome throughout the city and a chill wind that swept in from all directions added to the discomfort of those on the streets. Summing up the situation it appears that winter is on the way and that Saturday's weather was a mild warning of that which is to come.

A. C. PARKER, WELL KNOWN LOCAL OPERATOR, PRESIDENT OF COMPANY.

PLAN EXTENSIVE DRILLING CAMPAIGN ON ITS LEASES

Location Made Friday For Two Wells On Acreage Adjacent To Temple Well.

The Great State Petroleum company of Texas is preparing to launch an extensive drilling campaign on its leases in Wichita county and in Central Texas. The company made locations Friday for two wells on its acreage adjacent to the new well in the Temple section of the 10-11 district and expects to have drilling under way within a few weeks. The company also has several proven tracts in the Northwest field which it expects to develop at once.

The Great State Petroleum company is a Delaware corporation and while its Texas headquarters are located at Dallas, its operations in Wichita, Young and Eastland counties will be directed from Wichita Falls where it has offices in rooms 400-401 and 402 Morgan building. The company has only recently been organized and has just acquired permits for operations in Texas and Oklahoma.

The company has an authorized capital of $15,000,000, all common stock. Its executive office is in New York City. A. C. Parker, one of the most successful operators in the Northwest field, is president of the company. Other well known business men and oil men connected with the company include: Harry A. Hut and Walter H. Marshall of New York City; Fred C. Jones, Birmingham, New York; F. L. McCoy, Wichita Falls; T. J. Files and W. F. Sims, Hillsboro, Texas; E. I. Lancaster, P. F. Smith and J. F. active charge of operations was one of the pioneer operators in the Northwest extension. He was drilling ahead of production and had a well on the sand when the Burk-Waggoner well came in. While the present enterprise is one of greater magnitude than any which Mr. Parker has headed, he has carried on successfully some of the largest operations in the Fourhundred and other Texas fields and has extensive oil, bank and real estate holdings. Included in the company's holdings are several thousands of acres in the new Young county field in the vicinity of Ellaville, Young county, known Mr. Parker well. As a young man he worked on the ranches and farms of Young county, punched cattle, taught school and preached there and from this intimate acquaintance grew many friendships and a personal loyalty. His friends there, as well as his friends here feel confident that Dr. Parker will make his company one of the big factors in the oil industry in this section.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS RESULT FROM TRIP OF COX TO THE EAST

Substantial democratic gains have resulted from the eastern tour of Governor Cox and prospects for success are much brighter than they were two weeks ago, in the opinion of R. E. Huff, who returned Saturday from New York.

Mr. Huff heard reports of democratic gains in Indiana and Ohio as well as in New York state, and feels that the general situation is decidedly more hopeful. Considerable republican concern is being manifested, he says, as to the western states which gave victory to Wilson in 1916 and to which much more attention is being paid this year.

One specimen of republican propaganda was encountered by Mr. Huff, which he talked to democrats who had been told that the southern democracy had turned against Wilson. Evidence of widespread propaganda, especially among those of foreign birth or sympathy, was also plentiful, Mr. Huff found.

ORGANIZED LABOR TO SUPPORT NEFF DECLARES LEADER

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 23.—In spite of efforts being made by a few of the officials in the State Federation of Labor to induce its members to desert the democratic party, the labor vote of Texas is going to keep the primary pledge and vote for the nominees of the party, according to a statement given to the press this afternoon by Joseph B. Myers, who for eight years was labor representative at Austin, and who was the first labor commissioner of Texas.

"Hon. Pat M. Neff will be the next Governor of Texas," said Mr. Myers in his statement. "Laboring people will receive at his hands the same fair treatment they received when he was in the Texas legislature nearly twenty years ago. This was the time when labor had few friends in public life and it took political courage to hold their cause. Representative labor leaders at that time made public acknowledgment of their appreciation for his fairness. Ninety-five per cent of the qualified voters among the workers of this state supported Mr. Neff in the last primary election, and they pledged themselves to support the nominees of the democratic party. They, as honorable men, will keep the pledge November 2nd, regardless of efforts to get them to do otherwise. They are not going to be led up a blind alley by a few labor leaders who are adherents and former appointees of ex-Governor Ferguson."

SENATOR KNOX MAKES ATTACK ON THE LEAGUE

PREVENTED FROM SPEAKING BY ILL HEALTH HE ISSUES STATEMENT.

MADE PUBLIC SATURDAY
BY SENATOR HARRY NEW

Bitter Criticism Of President Wilson Included In Discussion Of Subject.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, former secretary of state, who has been prevented by ill health from making a contemplated western speaking trip in behalf of Senator Harding, issued a statement today through Senator Harry New, chairman of the republican speakers' bureau, bitterly criticizing President Wilson and his League of Nations covenant.

Senator Knox's statement, as given out by Senator New, follows in part: "On the threshold of the adjustment of America's relations to the world and the enemy that had cut our lives from our best and bravest sons and a treasure beyond comprehension, the agent of the white house when he called forth single-handed and alone to recast in his own name and by his own proper authority, the map and the destinies of the earth, demanded 'uncontrolled power.'"

"In his demand for the election of a democratic senate and house, in 1914, as he was about to take up his role as a dictator of the world and in order that his individual authority in this vast undertaking should not be trammelled by counsel, the president's language was 'unless you give me uncontrolled power, you repudiate me and my leadership before the world.' He asked to be uncontrolled by the country, whose servant he is. This meant that he wished to be beyond human control, as at that time the word of the United States was the law of the world. Our fertile fields were then as now, the world's reliance against famine. Our thrift and energy its hope of material aid; our love of liberty its inspiration."

"Understanding the possibilities of the investment of all these mighty forces in the uncontrolled power of a single individual, the American people, with that great good sense which makes them worthy of their heritage, promptly repudiated the preposterous suggestion and gave him a republican senate and house, whose courage and patriotism have saved what our grandfathers established and our father preserved."

"Unabashed by this rebuke and with an obstinacy of purpose which had for its end an ambition that would have seemed jealousy in the breasts of an Alexander or a Napoleon, Mr. Wilson took his way to Paris, undertook to put us in a super-federation of the world by means of what is called the League of Nations, and is now about to receive the nation's verdict through a grave and solemn referendum in which he is represented by his proxy, Mr. Cox."

Must Examine League.
"If we are worthy of participating in government, we must examine and judge Mr. Wilson's supreme effort, his so-called League of Nations. This document, insofar as it can be understood, includes as much that is strange to our traditional foreign policy, contrary to our fundamental principles of international intercourse and conduct, destructive of treaty rights, indispensable to the safety of ourselves and other nations of this hemisphere, that the whole people of the United States must give to it the fullest and most mature, careful and calm consideration."

"The proposed covenant, instead of abolishing war, actually sanctions bread and commands it. Moreover, it absolutely requires that every future war shall be a potential world war and that we shall be an active participant in every such war."

Old Man Weather
Has Been Kidding
Nature Once More

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 23.—Old Man Weather has been kidding Mother Nature again, and the old lady, taking it seriously, has brought out all her best spring clothes to coax the old man along.

Last week a man in Alton, Ill., reported his apple tree was blooming on one side.

"That's nothing," said Mrs. D. Priett of St. Louis, "my apple tree is blooming on both sides and is sprouting new leaves."

"Tush," said S. C. Love of Ferguson, "violets and lilacs are blooming in my back yard."

E. McCabe of Stalling, Ill., is on the verge of having an October crop of strawberries.

Cherry trees, pear trees, snowball bushes, honey suckle vines and a cotton plant are all in bloom, according to reports.

Blind Love Lands
Man in Jail Result of Love Triangle

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 23.—Blind love today landed Sam Stewart in jail. Blind himself, Stewart sought light of love in the blind home of Martin Stone, and had constructed in the darkness a "love triangle" of which Stone's sightless wife was the apex.

Tap-tapping his way home, Stone assaulted the spot his ears told him Stewart stood. Sam had out-guessed himself. In the battle of alternate violence and violence the wreckage of Stone's home was completed.

M'CONKEY DELIVERS ADDRESS AT ELECTRA ON COTTON SITUATION

OUTLINES PLANS OF ASSOCIATION
FOR MARKETING COTTON IN EUROPE.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
CO-OPERATING IN MOVE

Pledged To Secure a Member For Each Secured Among Farmers Of Community.

ELECTRA, TEXAS, Oct. 23.—The board of directors of the chamber of commerce met Tuesday to further the activities of the American Cotton association in this locality and authorized the chamber of commerce to pledge itself to furnish one new member of the local organization of the American Cotton association for each member secured among the farmers. Thus the cotton organization will have as many members among the citizens of Electra as there are in the surrounding country.

The chamber of commerce is establishing a public market place to facilitate the sale of hay, cotton, mijo maize, etc.

McConkey Delivers Address.
At a meeting of the chamber of commerce held Friday night, J. L. McConkey of Wichita Falls made an address concerning the plans of the American Cotton association. The association, he said, plans to send a committee of two representatives to Europe, who are to take with them a shipment of the best cotton-Texas crop produce; cotton that will sell anywhere and they are to sell this cotton and to lay the foundation for the sale of other cotton both of high and low grade, in the same manner; that is, direct to the European buyers.

Heretofore, he said, when men have gone to Europe to market cotton for the Texas farmers they have had no cotton with them and have succeeded in convincing the Europeans that their trips have been fruitless. It is hoped and believed, he said, that by taking with them a shipment of the best grade of cotton that can be produced and being ready to deliver it on the spot, they can take orders for other cotton and can succeed in building a marketing system that will be of service, not only in the stress of the present moment but in the years that are to follow.

Attend Bankers' Meeting.
J. A. Wise, vice-president of the First National bank, and C. W. Coffey, vice-president of the First State bank, both of Electra, attended the conference of country bankers held in Dallas Friday to work out a plan for co-operating with the American Cotton association for financing this year's cotton crop. It is believed that the conference will be able to devise means whereby this year's crop may be usually marketed instead of being offered for sale all at one time.

Major Wilson Returns.
Major J. C. Wilson has just returned from a visit with his daughter at Ranger, Texas, whither he went from the Confederate reunion at Houston.

Major Wilson who with 25 other veterans went from Electra to the reunion, reports that there seemed to be nothing that the citizens of Houston could have done for the comfort and entertainment of the veterans which they omitted. Every car in Houston was placed at the disposal of the old soldiers and one of them had merely to intimate by look or gesture that he wished to use a passing automobile and the car at once was stopped and placed at his service.

Friendship Hospitality.
The major states that of all whom he heard speak of the hospitality of Houston "none named it but to praise." As a sample of the treatment they received he says that on Thursday the 7th, Mrs. Dr. Ralston came to the Rice hotel and taking him and five other veterans in her car took them out to the Country club for breakfast and then from 7:30 till 10 o'clock escorted them over the city, pointing out the places of interest and at exactly 10 let them out at the Convention hall, just in time for the session there.

The major says that he and all the other veterans of Wichita county feel that it is impossible to over-state the service of the Daughters of the Confederacy of Wichita Falls, in donating the uniforms and the railway and Pullman transportation that they gave to the soldiers, and the luncheon and the many other courtesies and he said that the aid rendered by Mrs. J. L. Jackson, Mrs. J. W. Stone and Judge Edgar Kenry was invaluable.

Each veteran at the reunion was asked to provide the sum of $25 to complete the Jefferson Davis monument at Washington.

THREE GOOD WELLS FEATURE THE LATE OIL DEVELOPMENTS

TEMPLE-WHITE, BISSENET & CEZEAUX AND SPUR AROUSE INTEREST.

TEMPLE-WHITE IS GOOD
FOR 400 TO 500 BARRELS

Bisnet & Cezaux Rated At From 200 To 300 Barrels And The Spur
At 500 Barrels.

As a result of three tests about to be brought in in Wichita county in the near future, three brand new fields may be opened up. The three tests look so favorable at the present time that several new locations have been made near them and were it not for the heavy rainfall during the week several more would have been made.

Three tests are widely scattered, one being south of Wichita Falls, one northwest and one southwest. The wells expected to open up the fields are the Temple, White No. 2, the Bisnet & Cezaux and the Spur Oil company's test. The estimated production for the wells varies considerably, but the consensus of opinion at the present time seems to be that the Temple-White will be good for 400 to 500 barrels, the Bisnet & Cezaux for 200 to 300 barrels and the Spur's for about 500 barrels. These estimates come from operators who have visited the wells.

The Temple White No. 2 well on the Mattie Parker tract, about ten miles southwest of the city, which is being drilled by the Tillman Oil association, was the principal topic of conversation among the oil fraternity last week. The well bids fair to open up a new field in that territory and an exceptionally good showing has been made thus far. It has not been completed as yet, but the connections are being made and as soon as the weather permits it will be on the pipe.

The sand was hit at a depth of 1,324 feet and there have been several good flows from the well. According to the latest report given by H. E. Temple, it flowed twice Friday night and oil shot twenty-five feet up the derrick Friday. New locations have been made by the Bill Rowe Oil company and the General Oil company and several others would have been made yesterday were it not for the downpour.

Cezaux Report.
Mr. Temple was anxious to correct a report originally given out which stated that the same sand had been missed by other wells. He said that the same sand was struck at a depth of 1,316 feet by the Bill Rowe Oil company and at 1,323 feet by the McAdams & Luse company.

Very little change was made at the Bisnet & Cezaux test in northwest Archer county. Water is still causing trouble, but conditions were reported as far more favorable than they were a week ago. Several new locations were made near the test during the week and a new field in Archer county seems to be in the making.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY URGES FULL VOTE

THOSE PARTICIPATING IN PRIMARY ARE REMINDED OF THEIR DUTY.

REPRESENTATION BASED ON GENERAL ELECTION

Many Voters Are Under Moral Obligation To Support The Ticket Nominated.

P. B. Cox, county democratic chairman, Saturday issued the following appeal to the voters of this county:

To the democratic voters of Wichita county, Texas:

We are nearing the close of eight years of democratic administration of the affairs of state, and during the past eight years of democratic control of this government we have experienced a period of unprecedented growth and prosperity.

And not withstanding the bitter criticisms of our opponents, the democratic party has passed more constructive legislation for the benefit of the whole people of this country on the statute books in this period than our opponents have done in a half century.

Our state is unquestionably the strongest democratic state in the union, and has heretofore shown its loyalty and appreciation of the democratic administration by supporting the administration in every conflict that has been waged against our great president and his administration.

Duty to the Party.
We would show ourselves, as democrats of Texas, unworthy if we did not fully support the democratic principles and keep our states in the forefront as leaders of progressive politics and progressive principles in the coming election. Our president and his administrations are being assailed by the republicans of the North and East and in many sections of the South and West by unscrupulous politicians who are carrying on the most insidious campaigns that has ever been put forth in American politics; and it is but fair to the democrats of this county to say to them that these insidious methods of the republican campaign committee are being carried on in our own state, and large sums of money are being spent in Texas in order to attempt to cut down the democratic majority and attempt to cripple the great bulwark of democracy in the South.

Should Revoke Methods.
Believing it to be the duty of every democratic voter in Wichita county, Texas, to rebuke such methods of our opponents and show to the rest of the country that we are solidly and loyally supporting our democratic standard bearers, we earnestly urge that each and every one of you go to the polls on Nov. 2, 1920 and cast your vote for James M. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt in the coming election.

I would further call attention of the democratic voters of this county to the fact that our representation in all state politics for the next two years will be based upon the number of votes cast by the democrats of this county, and we should, in order to give Wichita county proper representation in the future politics of the state, vote the full strength of our party in this county at the coming election.

Further Obligation.
We further owe it to the democratic party and to the present administration, to continue Texas as the "Banner Democratic State of This Union," and silence forever all the insidious attempts of the republican party to engraft its principles and methods upon the politics of the great state of Texas.

I further call the attention of the democrats of this county to the fact that some of our republican friends have questioned the legality of the pledge in our democratic primaries, insisting that the democrats of this state can legally support the republican nominees.

Moral Obligation.
Without going into a discussion of the legal phase of this question, I wish to state emphatically that every person who participated in the democratic primaries and took the pledge to support the party nominees is not only bound by that pledge, but also by the most solemn moral ties to carry out that pledge and support the nominees of the democratic party in the coming election. And if this were not true the democratic party nor any other party, could not maintain its integrity and responsibility as a party in the administration of policies and affairs of state.

Again earnestly urging every democrat of Wichita county to come to the polls on November 2 and support loyally the entire democratic ticket, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
P. B. COX,
County Chairman of the Democratic Party.

SECURE 5000 BALES FOR COTTON POOL TO BE SENT TO EUROPE

Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, when in Wichita Falls yesterday to attend the meeting of the Mid-Continent Oil association, stated that already 5,000 bales of cotton had been signed up to be included in the special pool of 65,000 bales of low grade cotton being shipped to Europe through the trust plan evolved by the cotton committee of the chamber.

Farmers who have entered this pool have advanced their own funds to pay freight and insurance and exchange charges on the entire movement, and when their low grade cotton arrives in Europe, it will be sold subject to "confirmation sales" at their hands. The entire disposal is through agents in Europe, but the local farmer does not lose control of the product until he desires to do so.

ELECTRA LEADS IN TOTAL PRODUCTION FOR NORTH TEXAS

A TOTAL OF 46,950,000 BARRELS SINCE DISCOVERY WELL IN APRIL OF 1911.

NORTHWEST EXTENSION PRODUCES 24,000,000

Texas' Best Well For Nineteen Twenty is The Abrams At West Columbia.

HOUSTON, Oct. 21.—A table devoted to the pools of North Texas, showing the discovery well of each, the daily average production and number of producing wells at this time together with the total production for these fields, is a feature of the fourth annual statistical edition of The Oil Weekly which is being distributed from the home office here.

The table referred to shows that Electra, the oldest of North Texas pools has produced more oil than any other, a total of 18,558,000 barrels having been reached since the discovery well in April 1911. The runner up is the northwest extension of the Burkburnett field which has produced 11,900,000 barrels of oil since April 1919, when the Burk-Wagoner well was brought in for 2,750 barrels a day.

The total production of fields in North Texas falls to compare favorably with Gulf Coast fields. Spindletop comprises a field of 210 acres with an average recovery per acre of 141,595 barrels. Batson, Sour Lake, Humble, Goose Creek and Saratoga all average 20,000 barrels per acre or more.

The best field, from this standpoint, in North Texas is the "townsite" pool at Burkburnett where 13,650,000 barrels have been produced from 1,152 acres for an average of 11,776 barrels per acre. Other figures are: Old Field, Burkburnett, 1,526 barrels; Shallow Field, Burkburnett, 5,211 barrels; Northwest Extension, 5,758 barrels; Texhoms, 1,152 barrels; Iowa Park, 228; K. M. A., 874; Holliday, 2,600 and Petrolia 407.

Abrams Is Best Well.
Texas' best well for 1920, the Abrams No. 1 at West Columbia, has proven America's best producer, both as to the amount of oil produced in the first two months and a half and the actual value of the oil. The drains production for 16 days totaled 1,378,000 barrels, valued at approximately $2,555,000.

Statistics showing production on all fields in Texas and Louisiana by months for the year ending September 30, 1920, are presented in this edition. This reveals the fact that Texas' production for this period was 184,295,112 barrels compared with the previous year's production of 73,834,193 barrels.

Figures showing the cost of drilling oil wells in the different sections of the United States, mileage of pipe lines in Texas and Oklahoma, and data on the number and capacity of refineries in the United States are given in this edition. Besides these features of special interest to those interested in domestic oil development, there are reviews of foreign oil fields, including Russia, Mexico, Central and South America and West Indies.

A list of all producing wells in Stephens county, showing depth, initial and present production also is contained in the issue.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN ELECTRA FIELD CONTINUES ACTIVE

SPUR WELL IS CENTER OF INTEREST DURING THE PAST WEEK.

TEXAS FEDERAL HAS WELL ON THE BURNETT LEASE

Number of Other Completions Are Reported In That Section Of County.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT. ELECTRA, TEXAS, Oct. 22.—The Spur Oil Company's new well in block 234, eight and one-half miles northeast of Electra, is attracting considerable attention. The well came in Wednesday and is reported to have swabbed 700 barrels that day. The sand is believed to be about 800 feet deep, though no information concerning the depth has been officially given out.

Several transfers of acreage in the vicinity of the well are reported as having been made on the strength of the discovery. This well is about two miles directly west of the Howie well and about one mile south of the bank of Red river.

This sand is said to be the same that is found in the Burnett field at 1200 feet. The Spur well is the first to encounter the sand in the Electra field.

Hazel-Bark Well. The Hazel-Bark Oil Company, drilling on subdivision 372 in the Waggoner Colony land has a sand at about 2500 feet and has been for two months trying to get a packer to shut off salt water. If this is not accomplished soon the company will abandon this well and commence a new one near the same spot.

The Texas Federal Oil Company's well No. 4, about two miles east of town on the land of B. B. Burnett, was completed Wednesday and is reported to have swabbed 100 barrels in five hours. It is expected that the well will settle to 50 barrels per day. It is now shut in for the installation of tankage to conserve the production.

This is the newest producing well to Electra on the southeast. It is said that the well passed through a sand zone for five or six barrels per day at a depth of 800 feet. The company announces that its well No. 5 will be commenced at once.

Worked to Thursday. The Sangamo Syndicate spudded on Thursday on subdivision 198 on land owned by M. Reis. This location is one mile north of production and should extend the Electra field toward Red river.

The Planet Petroleum Company's well No. 12, on section 416, on the land of Burnett and Lloyd, four miles south of Electra, which was completed about ten days ago, is swabbing 400 barrels daily. It is said to be one of the best shallow wells in the field.

The Gladious Oil Company finished its well No. 8 on the land of Burnett and Lloyd, adjoining the Planet property on the northeast, at a depth of

NO ABSENT VOTING IN GENERAL ELECTION SAYS COUNTY CLERK

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN PAY POLL TAX UNDER THE NEW LAW.

MAKE PREPARATIONS FOR HOLDING THE ELECTION

Manner of Voting Will Be the Same As in Previous Elections in State.

Absentee voters cannot vote in the general election on November 2, 1920, according to a statement made by County Clerk W. T. Harris Saturday. He stated that the state law governing the voting of absentees did not make an exception for the general election.

The article referring to the voting of absentees makes exceptions and limits the voting of absentees in primaries only and not in a general election.

Many people had the opinion and still have that they will be able to vote even though they will be absent on election day. Mr. Harris asks the Times to make the statement that this was a false conception of the law.

Two hundred and fifteen people took advantage of the opportunity to pay their 1919 poll taxes. The number who paid their taxes during the extra time provided were divided as follows: Precinct 1, 15; precinct 2, 20; precinct 3, 10; precinct 4, 12; precinct 5, 18; precinct 6, 14; precinct 7, 16; precinct 8, 11; precinct 9, 13; precinct 10, 17; precinct 11, 19; precinct 12, 14; precinct 13, 16; precinct 14, 18; precinct 15, 15.

The presiding judges, named first and the associate judges who will be in charge of the various boxes are as follows: Precinct No. 1—J. M. Bonner, J. B. Pitta, Ed Wilson and R. C. Priebe. Precinct 2—Frank Collier, F. M. Hull, J. O. Bentley and Gus Byman. Precinct 3—A. E. Gwynn and S. R. Ludolphus. Precinct 4—J. H. Shaw and J. G. Bilschback. Precinct 5—A. Hoefner, J. N. Vaughan, C. J. Huffman, Will Hawkins. Precinct 6—George Smith, E. R. Mandon, W. L. Browning, Noel Troutman. Precinct 7—J. R. Pace and Will Hodges. Precinct 8—Will Guthrie and C. M. Bishop. Precinct 9—G. W. Chapman and Chan Van Loh. Precinct 10—Ed C. Wilson, J. R. Brewer, Sid Smith, A. N. Richardson. Precinct 11—M. K. Emmert, Luther Lesler, H. V. Crowell, E. O. Thomas. Precinct 12—E. Y. Ferguson, I. A. Albritton, W. P. McFall, W. H. Browning. Precinct 13—N. O. Monroe, E. G. Friberg, C. B. Feiler, E. M. Vaughan. Precinct 14—J. H. Fliske and W. E. Huff. Precinct 15—N. O. Monroe, E. G. Friberg, C. B. Feiler, E. M. Vaughan.

Full Open 8 to 10 O'clock. The polling booths will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night and efforts are being made to accommodate all the voters, even at the hours when most rushed.

County Clerk, T. Harris has ordered 15,000 ballots but it is believed by officials that there will not be used more than 10,000 votes cast in Wichita county.

The ballot will be large and the various candidates will be listed in rows as follows: Democrats, republicans, American and Independent. The method of voting will be the same as heretofore. The names of those men whom you do not want to vote for will be crossed out leaving only those names untouched for whom you wish to cast your vote.

The question of voting a mixed ticket caused much argument at the court house Saturday but it was finally decided that this could be done and that such votes would be counted.

SYNDICATE SWINDLES FIVE OUT OF $95,000

Specialized in Gambling On Supposedly "Fixed" Races And Other Schemes.

SPRINGFIELD, MO., Oct. 22.—A syndicate of confidence men has swindled at least five men out of $95,000 believed to have its headquarters here, according to police.

The syndicate specializes in gambling on supposedly "fixed" horse races but is also believed to operate in imaginary stocks and bonds.

The known confidence men, who invested $61,000 on the "stock exchange," are W. S. Goings, Bolivar, Mo., who dropped $12,000 in a stock scheme; John Arent, Milton, Neb., who invested $10,000 on the "stock exchange."

An unnamed Kansas farmer from Dickinson county who lost $18,000 in oil stocks.

To Cotton Growers, Merchants and Bankers:

Being in Texas on other business I have, at the request of some friends, been doing what I could to assist in devising some method by which the low-grade cotton presently held could be advantageously sold and the crop now being gathered more intelligently and deliberately marketed.

The recent decline in price is due to various causes, some of them probably beyond human control, but it has been unnecessarily accentuated by the unscientific method followed in trying to dispose of a crop that is the product of a year's labor in three months and as soon as it is gathered. No one can eat enough food in a day to sustain him for a month, yet that is what, under present conditions, the cotton spinners of the world are expected to do.

Since they are but human, they naturally try to buy as cheaply as possible when the cotton is pressed for sale and the record shows that in most seasons the lowest prices are recorded during the autumn. The result is what I have called the "Autumnal Dip in the Cotton Market," with which all close students of the subject are familiar.

Common sense would therefore seem to indicate that option should not be held and that a special effort should be made to ascertain and advertise the intrinsic value of the low-grade cotton whose market value has probably been unnecessarily depressed by the difficulty of exporting it to Germany and the other European countries where it was formerly in good demand.

To aid in making this possible I have arranged that my firm of Theo. H. Price & Company of No. 65 Broadway, New York, shall receive on consignment not more than 10,000 bales of cotton to be held for not more than a year unless sooner sold at the direction of the owner.
 No unmerchantable cotton, bolls or linters will be received, but all other grades will be accepted. Negotiable trust receipts specifying the grade and weight of each bale will be issued for the cotton received, and may be used to secure loans or loans, thus furnishing a sort of currency that will relieve the present credit stringency.

The cotton will be accumulated at Northern rather than Southern points so that it will be nearer prospective American consumers and may, if expedient, be shipped to Europe promptly as a demand for it, and especially the low grades, can be developed. Large quantities will not be consigned to any European market, as an undue accumulation in one place, from which it could only be removed at great expense, might give the local buyers a great advantage.

Vigorous efforts will, however, be made to demonstrate its spinning value and sell it on type or sample in advance of shipment.
 The right to use its proceeds in financing exports from the country to which it may be sold will be reserved, thus applying the principle of barter in an effort to reduce the loss due to the depreciation in foreign exchange.
 If necessary for the consummation of these arrangements I shall myself go to Europe, but as the plan proposed will involve much time and effort, I do not care to undertake it unless commitments aggregating 10,000 bales are definitely pledged by November 30. The owner should set forth in detail the terms upon which consignments will be accepted may be had upon application by mail or wire to

NEW YORK STOCKS
 New York, Oct. 23.—There was a further recovery of approximately 1 cent a pound in the cotton market here today, owing to continued liquidation buying, increasing optimism with respect to prospects for a settlement of British labor troubles and covering for shorts. December contracts sold up 1/8 cent, making an advance of 1/2 points from the previous close and of 3/8 points, or over 1/4 per cent from the low record of 15.25 on Monday. Cash delivery closed at 15.65, with the con-advance of 1/8 cent.

STOCK MARKET
 NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Bull pools were active in speculative issues on the stock exchange today, basing their operations largely on advices from London which indicated that measures were being taken to prevent a resumption of the British industrial crisis.
 Shipments, oils and utilities were the outstanding features. United Fruit led an advance of almost 7 points.
 Gas, People's Gas, Crawford and Philadelphia company, Western Union and Mackay Radio registered gains of 1 to 2 points. Selling for profit impaired some of this advance in the late afternoon. The market was firm. Sales approximated 250,000 shares.

PRISONERS MAKE AN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Near Liberty When Work Was Discovered by Nightwatchman On Duty.

A bold attempt was made by prisoners of the county jail to make their escape on Friday night. Their plans were intercepted, however, by the watchman but not until they had almost forced their way to liberty.

In some manner unknown some of the prisoners secured a steel bar and removed a portion of the section of the new roof equipment recently installed. One man forced his way through and he set about cutting a hole through the block to murder and lastly the outside wall. At least ten men would have made their escape had the purpose been accomplished.

LARGEST CROWD EVER PREDICTED TO ATTEND IRSLINGER-MONTANA WRESTLING BOUT TUESDAY NIGHT

That the largest crowd that ever witnessed a wrestling match in Wichita Falls will be on hand at the Wichita Falls Theatre Tuesday night when Henry Irslinger and Bull Montana lock horns in the main event of an exceptionally fine card goes without saying. Henry Irslinger, manager of the Wichita Theatre, made a ten-strike when he matched these two grapplers as both men are well known throughout the wrestling world and have reputations not only as crafty experts of the art but as clean grapplers. While Irslinger has the best middleweights in the country, they have met each other only once—last month in Los Angeles where Bull got the best of the decision. Irslinger, but he knew that he had been in a bout before he finished, and it was only after the most sensational bout ever staged in Wichita Falls that he was able to throw his opponent.

Bull's last appearance in Wichita Falls was on the card at the Olympia Theatre where he took the part of an ape in "Go and Get It," the newspaper story that created such a sensation wherever displayed. His two characteristics which made him an ideal selection for the part. First, his enormous strength, and second, his face. Bull's face is generally conceded to be the ugliest in captivity and it can be truly said now that his face is his fortune as he is under contract with Douglas Fairbanks at present for filming purposes.

All Bull has to do ordinarily is to scowl at his opponent when he enters the ring and he has him whipped. But Tuesday night's affair is no ordinary affair and what is more, Irslinger is no ordinary wrestler. He has become accustomed to his facial characteristics last month and incidentally got a little inside dope as to the methods pursued by Henry Irslinger. "Irslinger Tuesday" is the way he puts it.

Irslinger's last local appearance was in his bout with Charlie Restrop, the Greek. The latter has been heralded as one of the greatest at his weight in the game, but he was flopped twice by Wichita's pride in less time than it takes to say "Irslinger."

Jack Gruppell and Joe Kramer will meet in one of the prelims. Both are middleweights. The preliminary will be staged by Steve Marjory and some suitable opponent, probably Young Thomas, a former navy all-arounder in wrestling. Steve is one of the biggest men who ever dared wear tights in the ring, but he's just as good as he is big.

Gene Leopold has been secured to act as the third man in the ring.

In view of the fact that the bouts are to be staged in the theatre, the fair sex is expected to turn out in goodly numbers. Bull is a prime favorite around here. Steve is well known for his several years' experience in the sport to see who will get the next date.

The following prices have been announced: Ringside, $3.50; entire orchestra, $2.50; balcony, $1.50.

BULL MONTANA TO WRESTLE SAILOR WOOD IN VERNON

VERNON, TEXAS, Oct. 21.—Sailor Jack Wood, the wrestler who defeated Steve Marjory, must have been several weeks ago, will meet "Bull" Montana in a finish match in Vernon November 11, 11 or 13. Montana, who has been wrestling at Wichita Falls, in that city October 28. According to Wood, there is a strong possibility of Douglas Fairbanks in the picture. Montana often appears, accompanying Montana to Vernon. Wood and Montana weigh about the same, and both have excellent technique. Wood is planning to train in Wichita Falls.

VIRGINIA INSTITUTE OUTCLASSES UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—Heralded as an easy set-up in the full before the big game to come, the Virginia Military Institute outclasses the University of Pennsylvania football team in every department of the game here today and won, 27 to 7.

Taking the offensive at the outset, the Southerners swept the Pennsylvania team off its feet, and in the first few minutes of play the red and blue goal line was crossed for the first time this year when Leach picked a hole off the tackle. He also kicked the goal.

Before the Pennsylvania team could recover from its surprise and while the stands were still murmuring "fluke," the Dixie boys marched up the field again and Wilson made a brilliant touchdown before the close of the first period.

GEORGIA TECH LOSES TO UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

HARVARD WINS HARD FOUGHT GAME FROM PLUCKY "COLONELS"

Centre College Finally Succumbs To Crimson's Crushing Attack, 31 To 14.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 21.—Harvard football finesse, weight and endurance triumphed over Centre college's individual gridiron brilliancy here this afternoon in one of the most thrilling and sensational intercollegiate games played in years. Although defeated, 31 to 14, the Danville, Ky. collegians departed for the south late tonight with the praise of the football experts, ringing in their ears, for they gave a wonderful exhibition of the game, considering the handicap under which a small college eleven labored in meeting a team of Harvard caliber.

In individual and semi-team play during the first half of the contest, the Centre college combination showed game sense and football ability which gained them the support of spectators. The "praying colonels," as the Southern players are known in their home section, matched effort for effort with the Crimson and at the close of the first two periods had fought themselves into an even break with Harvard, the score standing 14 to 14.

The experts and suspense of such a gruelling battle and under strange conditions and environment, how, however, in the closing half of the contest, and the power and flash of the Harvard team triumphed over the desperate efforts of Captain "Burr" McMillan and his teammates to turn the tide of defeat. There was no question in the minds of the 40,000 spectators, who completely filled Harvard's football amphitheater, as to which was the better team. It was a slow, resolute, crushing progress which finally delivered the Harvard team a victory, but left ample honors for the hardy Southerners.

That an institution with an enrollment of about three hundred students and with but one coach to prepare the football team for the pushing and perfecting play of a rival team with unlimited financial and material and athletic facilities should be able to match an historic and established opponent throughout the first thirty minutes of play, stamps the Centre college eleven as one worthy of all the praise which has preceded it. Offensively, the "colonels" showed a game fully equal to that of Harvard, but it was the lack of a strong defense that finally differentiated between the victor and vanquished.

The Harvard captain and coaches realized the really remarkable spirit and play of the Southerners was dominating a game which, had it been placed almost immediately after the game when the teams met in the Harvard training quarters. There Captain Murray of the winning eleven, congratulating him upon his team and wonderful individual playing, offered the best compliment of the season, saying that the Harvard eleven, which he had just defeated, was the best he had ever seen.

The Harvard leader endeavored to persuade McMillan to accept the ball with the statement, "You deserve it. You are the greatest back field player I ever saw."

Centre's quarterback persisted in his refusal, however, on the grounds that his team has not won the game which he said was the best and cleanest it had ever taken part in, and, therefore, did not deserve the trophy. The statements of the rival captains typified what was undoubtedly the most remarkable game, filled with dazzling individual and team plays. Clear, hard football featured the contest. Long, brilliantly executed forward passes, spectacular broken field runs, quick dashes through smartly made holes in the line, interspersed with punts and field goal tries, lifted the conflict far above the ordinary gridiron encounter between the best of the eastern and middle-western eleven.

It was the fateful final 35 minutes that the Crimson machine really demonstrated its latest and powerful attack and defense, and, once it was working smoothly, Centre had chance to win passed away.

But the Centre offense had been developed far beyond its team defense and, the Southerners were unable to check the steady gridiron team attacks of Harvard or to follow the ball with the alertness that marked the work of the Crimson. While Harvard's attack was apparently irresistible from a Centre standpoint, the Crimson was early in the game baffled by its opponents' overboard offensives and broken field running. The broader gridiron education of Harvard, however, enabled them to solve this puzzle early in the third period, while Centre never found the way to check the mass drive and conceded half play that Harvard developed in almost season end form in the closing session.

Centre players had come on the field after the team's customary prayer in the dressing room with Coach Moran and President W. A. Garland of the college. Defeat did not imply failure of their tactics, under the leadership of the contest as the team played, not to win, but that its members may do their best.

They were less than five minutes under way when Harvard scored its first touchdown. Owen twisted through the open defense of Centre, Churchill working with him in open scrimmage, passing for an advance that took the ball from Harvard's 25-yard line to a touchdown. Owen carrying the ball over the line, while Churchill, who had been having failed to complete a touchdown by goal, kicked the first of Harvard's four goals from touchdown. A minute or two later Centre, under the drive of Captain McMillan, tore 70 yards down the field in a series of forward passes, line plunges, knife runs and crisp, cross plays to a touchdown by Roberts. Weaver kicked the goal, as he did on his only subsequent opportunity.

This game unexpectedly. The second period was barely opened when a Centre touchdown came. Standing on his 25-yard line, McMillan received the ball from Centre, feinted to his left, then tossed it to his right, 20 yards down the field. A Harvard player, cutting back, caught the ball. Down the field he raced, fending off two attempted tackles, quick dashes through smartly crossing the line with three men on him.

Overcautiousness by Centre forwards caused a penalty of 15 yards which nullified rushes netting that amount in the succeeding play and, when a forward pass failed, Centre was forced to kick. Owen of Harvard flung, Churchill contributed open field runs, and Horween shot through the Centre line for many gains, finally crashing through for a touchdown. The half ended with the score a tie.

With the start of the second half the Crimson went out to win. Harvard's defense rolled back three Centre rushes and Centre was forced to kick, the ball going outside on Centre's own 50-yard line. A forward pass and a long run by Churchill preceded a touchdown by Horween.

McMillan roared 30 yards through the Harvard defenses, and after line plunges had failed, he tried a forward pass. Owen deflected the ball CREATORS OF POEMS. I want a Poets' meeting. And some very interesting people were there; People who have written...

Margaret Widdemer has a wifely beautiful bit of verse in the November Good Housekeeping. It has the heart of a little girl, a swift vision of an entire life on a strange highway.

"Our souls can sing A sweeter and holier note When a small lump is in our throat."

"It will seem so easy, when I look back so day. All the things I should not do, all I leave undone; Why, it was so simple, was so foolish, I shall say."

"I shall mock her blindness then, anger sunset skies. The foolish girl who gropes today in morning sun and storm."

A new story by Kathleen Norris begins in the November Pictorial Review. It is something of a departure in style for the very much loved Pictorial of girlish and young womanhood.

"Imagine not caring for your own society!" exclaims the Young-Old Philosopher of the Pictorial Review (November issue). "We have to remain in the shells we call our bodies until the last trump is sounded, and to be bored in the interval, must be enough to drive one mad!"

music of the past year was only another outbreak of the present genre. It is probably a true deduction, for good music is thought-provocative and jazz music is anything in the world but that.

"The Flaming Forest," James Oliver Curwood's new serial, began in this month's issue (November) of Good Housekeeping. Curwood wrote it to serials which were among the most admired fiction of the past two years.

"Women will take the concrete questions of the high cost of living directly into politics, where, to a certain extent, they belong," quotes an editorial in the November Women's Home Companion. There are a great many things in politics that do not, and never have, belonged there, and there are probably as many that do belong and are not there.

"The only way to be really happy at Christmas is to plan your gifts early," advises the Pictorial. As well as that the small boy's enjoyment of the circus could be dimmed by the slipper administration he received beforehand for some small misdemeanor.

"Smith college turns out the best," says daring Helen M. Bennett in the Companion, discussing seven types of girls from seven colleges. "Wednesday turns out the student Vassar; the adventurer; Bryn Mawr, the social philosopher; Mt. Holyoke, the conservative; University of Chicago, the enterprising; and the state universities in general, the practical girl."

Attractive Interiors are Impossible Without Harmonious Window Draperies

The taste and charm of home surroundings depend almost entirely upon the skill with which the window hangings have been selected and hung.

Getting the right effect need not of necessity be expensive. Some rooms may be hung most effectively with moderate priced materials.

Hallowe'en to Feature Entertainments of Coming Week; Dances, Socials and Parties Will Suggest All Hallows' Eve

The ghosts and witches and black cats will not make their formal appearance until All Hallows' Eve—next Sunday night—but they are to be anticipated in a dozen or more entertainments planned to open the winter season this week.

Prominent among the formal entertainments will be the Elks' opening dance for which big preparations are being made. The dance is to be given Thursday night in the Elks' clubrooms, and witches and black cats will predominate numerically, at least among the guests. It is also expected that there will be a few select few—ghosts present.

The Epworth Leaguers of the First Methodist church south, who never miss an opportunity for fun, will entertain ten famous ghosts in the banquet hall of the church Saturday night. Very extensive preparations and presentation of these ghosts, and quite fetching invitations issued to the young people of the church.

The Young Business Women's club will have their opening big social of the season as a Hallowe'en entertainment at the Y. W. either Thursday, Friday, or Saturday night, and a committee has been appointed to attend to the details of arrangement.

The Golf club ladies will give a Hallowe'en party for the open-house Saturday night, and a special hostess committee is planning for the occasion. The Jewish ladies are entertaining a carnival at Temple Israel, and all members of the Temple are invited.

A number of informal Hallowe'en entertainments are being planned by local lodges and clubs, and it is expected that there will be the usual number of private parties the day or two preceding All Saints' Day.

GOLF CLUB LADIES PLAN HALLOWE'EN OPEN HOUSE

The Golf club ladies are planning a Hallowe'en entertainment for open house Saturday, October 30th, and a committee of hostesses to make the necessary arrangements is comprised of Mesdames D. G. Whitney, Stribmore, J. E. Daniels, Sanders Walker and G. H. McCutchen. It is planned to make the entertainment a very attractive occasion and out-of-town guests are expected.

The club ladies' day will be held Tuesday of this week as usual, with Mesdames M. M. Adickes, H. A. Allen, T. E. Alday and G. D. Anderson hostesses. The hours are from 1:30 to 5:30.

ELKS' OPENING DANCE WILL BE BIG HALLOWE'EN DANCE

Thursday evening, October 23, will mark the opening of the Elks' club 1920-21 social season, when the members will entertain their friends with a big Hallowe'en dance at the club rooms on Eighth and Scott.

Extensive preparations are being made to insure the success of the opening affair, and formal and particular attention is to be given the time honored customs of All Hallows' eve with regard to decorations, entertainments, etc. Music is to be furnished for the dances by the Ross Jazz Band.

YOUNGER SET WILL DANCE AT KEMP BALLROOM TUESDAY EVE

Members of the younger set are to enjoy a dance at the Kemp hotel ballroom Tuesday evening, on which occasion the St. Louis Troubadours will furnish music. A committee comprised of R. J. Martin, Jimmie Nixon and Jake Avis is making arrangements for the affair.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL AT TEMPLE ISRAEL NEXT MONDAY

The Council of Jewish Women will entertain members of the society and church and their friends with a Hallowe'en carnival at Temple Israel Monday evening, November 1, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

All members are invited to be present.

DELAY IN CLOSING THE DEAL FOR WATER PLANT

The city of Wichita Falls today does not own the plant and general property of the Wichita Falls Water company.

It was hoped by members of the city council that the deal might be finally closed Friday morning, but after discussing and "cussing" the proposition for 14 hours the impression prevailed Saturday evening that two weeks will probably elapse before the transaction is officially closed by the signature of the deed of sale.

Members of the city council have gone into every possible angle of the trade with C. E. Calder, Dallas representative of the water company; P. A. Rogers, general manager of the company in this city, and John Beach, legal counsel for the company—and the result of meetings covering two days is the need of further time in which to "iron out" a number of perplexing minor legal technicalities. There are releases on two mortgages of $40,000 and $20,000 held by the Bankers' Trust company of New York that must be obtained, not to mention a number of less important but bothersome matters that must be adjusted before the final deed is drawn for signature.

K. K. CLASS OF METHODIST CHURCH HAS "CHICKEN FEED"

A hundred and fifty members of Dr. Knickerbocker's "K. K. Klasse" of the First Methodist church "pulled off" their first big monthly "chicken feed" Friday night in the basement of the First Christian church, their own banquet hall being occupied by another party of merry-makers.

During the dinner, and immediately after the thirty-second helping of chicken for Dr. Knickerbocker and the seventeenth and eighteenth for other members of the party, a business session seriously interfered with the enjoyment of the kindly dish for as short a length of time as the election of officers and one or two other matters would permit. Officers elected were: Hubert M. Clark, president; W. W. Silk, vice-president; J. F. Felps, secretary; A. Sealing, treasurer. Team captains for membership were appointed, these including John T. Abbott, Bert Adams, Hubert A. Allen, Carl Barnett, A. Branninger, W. H. Conn, C. E. Daghelm, W. H. Downing, E. L. Fisher, J. A. Goodies, D. M. Hardy, J. T. Harrell, C. B. Haynie, J. W. Hudson, J. A. Hughes, J. S. Jones, Homer Lee, R. W. H. McCulloch, John P. Marre, N. H. Martin, V. L. Mealer, Thomas Moody, W. K. Nixon, M. E. Nutt, R. P. Ray, F. G. Swanson and J. W. Thorne. Each captain was given a squad of ten or twelve men to assist him, and three handsome prizes offered for the teams that make the greatest growth by the time of the next chicken feed.

Dr. Knickerbocker's class has been organized about a month and has a present enrollment of 250 members, with an average attendance of nearly two hundred. It is already one of the biggest men's organizations in the city and is believed to be one of the biggest, if not the biggest, men's Friday school classes in the state.

A pleasant feature of the Friday evening "feed" was the musical program in which Rhye Thomas, tenor; Mrs. Huckabert, soprano; Miss Margolis, violinist, and the Rusty Hing's quartet, comprised of class members, furnished entertainment which called for repeated encores. Following the musical program, the "tinguwater" announced that ten years was absolutely the age limit for all present, and the dinner took him at his word. A basketball relay race was run and won by W. K. Niles' team; a milk contest was won by Oral Jones; Thomas F. Moody was acclaimed the handsomest man after a soul-stirring contest, and George Washington Eagle was declared to be the ugliest man. The climax of the occasion was reached when the members of the class elected Mrs. R. W. Knickerbocker, mother of Rev. Dr. Knickerbocker, class sponsor, and presented the lady with a bathing girl statuette which she accepted with perfectly appropriate remarks and some "exceedingly artistic stage business" which literally brought down the house.

MRS. T. H. SHIVE OF VERNON HONORS LONG BEACH GUEST

VERNON, Oct. 22.—Mrs. T. H. Shive honored Mrs. Hismarch Houselet of Long Beach, Calif., with a reception Tuesday evening and about seventy-five guests were asked from 8 until 10 o'clock. In the receiving line were Mrs. T. H. Shive, Mrs. E. Houselet, Mrs. T. C. Hawkins, Mrs. W. O. Anderson and Mrs. H. C. Thompson of Ada, Okla. Guests were served with buffet luncheon in the dining room by Mrs. Walter McCaleb, Miss Olive Shive, Miss Mary Anderson, and Miss Donna Buford. Miss Mary Hyatt Shive and Miss Ethel Reese served punch in the sun room. The rooms were decorated with chrysanthemums, ferns, and carnations.

Recognition!

That La Petite Maison

Will be recognized as the fashion arbiters of Wichita Falls is a pre-eminent conclusion, which is more emphatically emphasized by a continually increasing patronage from a clientele which appreciates individuality in dress at an inexpensive cost.

The widely advertised sales of today offering unusually liberal discounts are but the natural result of heavy stocks bought early in the season. As it is a well known fact that the early Winter modes are radically different from present offerings. The question of price alone cannot overcome the factor of modes that are not in keeping with Fashion's requirements and individual needs. Be sure to come to La Petite Maison—you will not be disappointed.

La Petite Maison wants a name that will express the idea of individuality that is emphasized at this store—a name that will suggest the fact that a new idea is being expressed in correct attire—one that conveys the thought that the apparel obtained here harmoniously blends with the personality of the Miss or the Woman, their characteristics, their charm and their station.

THE CONDITIONS

Anybody is eligible.
The name must be expressive of La Petite Maison's new idea of individuality and personality in apparel.
The suggestion must be delivered to Miss Ryan in person at the store.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY THROUGHOUT STATE OCTOBER 28 TO 30

SPEECHES WILL BE DELIVERED IN MANY PLACES BY LEADERS OF PARTY.

FULL VOTE IS OBJECT OF DRIVE AS PLANNED

Legislative Candidates Expected To Speak To Voters In Their Respective Districts.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Oct. 23.—Chairman Frank G. Davis issued a call this afternoon from the headquarters of the state democratic executive committee for a three days democratic rally to be staged throughout Texas, October 28, 29 and 30, respectively.

"For the past several years," said Mr. Davis in issuing his call, "the democrats of Texas have not manifested as much interest in the general elections as they should. This lack of interest is due primarily to the fact that our party has no opposition in this state. What little opposition we have had heretofore is divided three ways this year, between the so-called blue republicans, black and tan republicans and the Ferguson party. Because of this condition it has become our custom to dismiss politics from our mind as soon as the primary is over, knowing that the state will go overwhelmingly democratic. Our discussions with the people have been confined almost exclusively to the primary campaigns in which the various candidates have presented their views on issues within the party. Consequently, our people have not had their thoughts directed to the fundamental principles of democracy and the tenets of our party."

It is the opinion of the executive committee that the people of Texas would be pleased to have a sane and dispassionate presentation of the principles of our party and the present demands of our platform. It is our further opinion that such a presentation will stimulate a higher degree of party pride and arouse more interest on the part of the democrats in the general election and thus give our ticket the greatest majority it has ever received in the history of this state.

demands of our platform, both state and national, to the end that our people may be brought to a full realization of the issues they have in common to the grand old party, and to the end that we may give our victorious ticket the greatest majority this year which it has ever received in the illustrious democratic history of Texas.

Several speeches of the nature referred to by Mr. Davis were made this past weekend. Hon. Cooper Sansom of Georgetown, nominee for presidential elector, spoke in San Marcos on Friday night and at Bastrop on Saturday afternoon. Congressman Rufus Hardy spoke Saturday afternoon in Hillsboro.

Pat M. Neff, democratic nominee for governor, is to be among the list of speakers. He is to speak at Georgetown on Thursday night, October 28, and his other engagements will be announced soon. Most of the nominees for presidential elector will make three speeches each in their respective districts. All of the nominees for the 37th legislature have been specifically invited by the executive committee to make speeches in their districts. Democratic county chairmen have been requested by the committee to see that local speakers are provided in each county.

The following speaking dates have already been arranged: Pat M. Neff of Waco—Georgetown, October 28; M. M. Crane of Dallas—Gatesville, October 28; T. S. Henderson of Cameron—Odessa, October 28; E. L. Taylor of Taylor, October 28; Cooper Sansom of Georgetown—Smithville, October 28; Congressman Tom Connally of Marble Falls—Cameron, October 28; Gatesville, October 28; F. W. Senbury of Brownsville—Harrisburg, October 28; Mercedes, October 29; Pharr, October 29; Congressman J. J. Mansfield of Columbus—Wharton, October 29; Bay City, October 29; Fort Lavaca, October 29; J. W. Blake of Houston—Richmond, October 29; Hempstead, October 29; Congressman Rufus Hardy of Corsicana—Groesbeck, October 29; Franklin, October 29; T. J. Quinn of San Antonio—Seguin, October 29.

No attempt is being made to arrange all of the speaking dates through the office of the executive committee but most of the speakers will make their own engagements, independently and on their own initiative. It is estimated that not less than 1,000 speeches will be made throughout the state on these three days and it is predicted by officers of the executive committee that this brief program will result in bringing out a tremendous democratic vote on November 2.

Personal following creates theatrical stars, the larger the following the greater star. In this argument is right, which it necessarily must be, Valerie Bergere is one of the most prominent illuminaries in the theatrical world.

Running a close second to the headliner are Al Piondosi and Bert Walton in a musical comedy bill that is reported to be a knockout.

Some men are born honest, some achieve honesty and still others have honesty thrust upon them.

Clancy starts in jail, dishonest. He makes an effort to be honest, but circumstances and his crooked instincts are against him and the prospective profits from an illegal oil deal promise to lure him to the straight and narrow path.

Those who have seen some of the other pictures in which Douglas McLean and Doris May have co-starred can not help but know that this latest film of the two popular comedians will be a splendid one.

"The Jailbird" is jammed full of clever comedy situations that give the two stars ample opportunity to display their droll comedy talents.

THE OLYMPIC THEATER IS OFFERING TWO DOUBLE-BARRELED ALL-STAR PICTURES THAT ARE NUMBERED AMONG THE GREATEST OF THE YEAR'S SCREEN PRODUCTIONS TO ITS PATRONS DURING THE COMING WEEK.

"Madame Peacock" is admitted by the star herself to be the greatest picture which has ever been made by the famous Russian star.

"The Figurehead" is a story of a woman who leaves her husband and little girl because he can not support her in the manner to which she has been accustomed.

The play is one intensely emotional and is full of gripping scenes. A strong supporting cast was chosen to play with Nazimova and the company has evolved one of the finest plays that has been produced by the movie world for some time.

In "The Restless Sex," Maxine Davis is given the leading part, supported by Ralph Kellard and Caryl Blackwell. The story tells of the longing of a girl for excitement and gaiety of the great white flapper of the city.

First of Series of Musical Recitals Coming to Wichita Theater Monday THE DISTINGUISHED ATTRACTION

The first of the many musical recitals which are to be offered at the Wichita theater this winter is scheduled to be given Monday night by Estelle Gray and Mischa Lhevinne.

Mischa Lhevinne who is the second member of the team is a pianist of ability and has in addition to this gained for himself a wide reputation as a composer.

Robert W. Chambers accomplished one of his greatest works in the writing of "The Restless Sex" and the movie world has transformed the story into one of the finest plays of the year.

Reel Chatter

By JEAN DARNELL

Molly Malone wears green garters. She says she is never happy unless there is some green on her somewhere, and that is the only place it is becoming.

Cullin Landis, who has risen rapidly in Goldwyn pictures, was born in Nashville, Tenn., and still retains his Southern accent.

"An Off Shore Pirate," by W. P. Scott Fitzgerald, has been chosen for Viola Dana's next Metro feature.

Betty Blythe has been cast as the queen in "The Queen of Sheba," J. Gordon Edwards' coming production for Fox.

Harry Sothorn, a nephew of E. H. Sothorn, and last seen in a Fox spectacle, "White New York Sleeps," has been placed under contract by William Fox to play juvenile and character leads.

Mason Litan has been assigned to direct the remaining Edgar stories, the next of which will be known as an "African Interlude."

If one must be indiscreet, be indiscreet discreetly.

Merle Johnson, the youngest director in the business, age 21, has formed his own company. With Doris Kenyon as his leading woman, he has taken his cast of thirteen players to Knoxville, Tenn., where exteriors of "Footsteps," as the play has been named, will be filmed.

Roginald Barker, Goldwyn director, who recently completed filming "The Black Paws," will take charge of visualizing "Danty Pulls the Strings."

Betty Compson, Director Arthur Rosson, and the company which is supporting Miss Compson in her second starring production, as yet unnamed, have gone to the desert at Oxnard and will remain away two weeks.

Mary McLaren, sister of Katherine MacDonald, left this week for New York on a combined business and pleasure trip. It is hinted that the former Universal star may return to

Los Angeles with a new starring contract in her possession.

A pal remains a pal only so long as one excludes a female from the combination.

Marshall Neilan, Jr., son of the producer, has already figured out his future profession.

"I'm going to be a drummer," said the 4-year-old. "I'll play four drums at one time."

This sounds like advance publicity for the new Neilan picture for First National, which bears the title "No Drums Were Heard."

Maurice Tourneur has outdone himself for scenic beauties in a photoplay for "The Last of the Mohicans" in a scene in pictures from start to finish with story beautifully weaved in the celluloid texture of film.

Henry B. Walthall has deserted pictures for a season on the stage in the Ibsen play, "Ghosts."

Vincent Coleman, who is playing the lead in "Self Defense" at the Blackstone theater, Chicago, and Clarence Talmadge's leading man in her current release, "Good Reference," nearly lost his life last week in the course of rescuing a boy from drowning in Lake Michigan.

Never let down the hem of an old romance—you will find it an inch too short.

Richard Tucker, Goldwyn player, was a captain in the A. E. F. He was three reported killed.

Irene Boyle, who played opposite George Walsh in "The Dead-Line," is now playing the leading feminine role in "The Rider of the King Log," which Edgar Jones is making in August, Me.

HEAVY RAINS RETARD DRILLING OPERATIONS IN WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, Oct. 22.—Heavy rains in the vicinity of Vernon have halted work on some of the wells where active drilling has been in progress, but considerable progress is nevertheless reported from some of the companies. There have been no showings of an unusual nature the past week, and no rumors of a well in the near future in the Siger field.

Siger No. 2 has been experiencing a bit of difficulty. The drill stem was dropped in the hole at 2,590 feet, 500 feet of casing was pulled out, and the well was put to the 1,700-foot mark. Officers report that the tool will be sidetracked, and arrangements are under way to proceed with the drilling from 1,700 feet. The Pyramid, the new company financed by Siger stockholders, is proceeding through rock at 2,000 feet.

The Buckeye Oil company which has been shut down for some time at 1,345 feet, is said to be negotiating a new organization and may drill their hole deeper. A new contract is reported to be pending on the Guyer-Trieler, which has suspended operations at 2,510 feet.

The Sure Pop, which suffered a collapse of casing at 1,969 feet, has not as yet spudded in on its new hole. This well is located twenty feet from the first one.

Stanley Green, section 52, block 14, is drilling through broken shale at 2,490 feet, and the Star State Oil company, on section 17, block 2, is working at 1,750 feet.

FIRE CHIEF MCCLURE IS COMPLIMENTED IN BULLETIN BY THE ARKANSAS BUREAU

Fire Chief J. L. McClure of this city is in receipt of an issue of the Arkansas Fire Prevention bureau bulletin in which an article regarding Wichita Falls is being published. It seems that a campaign against "false alarms" is being waged in the state of Arkansas and that the policy followed in this city is a good one. The article says: "Fifty dollars fine and ninety days in jail for willfully sending in a false alarm is the way they put it at Wichita Falls, Texas. Good stuff, that, and Fire Chief J. L. McClure of that city is just the kind of a hairpin that will see that the law is enforced. Every city having a fire department should have a law of that kind and enforce it. Turning in false fire alarms is bad and dangerous business."

The chief requests that the public of Wichita Falls bear in mind the fact that such an opinion is well worth upholding and that whatever reputation the city may have gained in the past in regard to dealing with rogues and jokers of the fire alarm nature, it would be well for the city to attempt to improve it at least.

A. A. JOHNSON OF IOWA WITH CURLEN & JOHNSON

A. A. Johnson of Creco, Iowa, arrived in Wichita Falls Saturday to take charge of the farm lands department of Curles & Johnson, local real estate operators. Johnson has been in the real estate business in Iowa and Minnesota for a number of years and is considered an authority on farm lands and rural properties.

SENIOR CLASS DAY IS OBSERVED AT THE LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Senior class day was observed in the local high school Friday with appropriate ceremonies and equally appropriate costumes. Every senior in school appeared for classes togged out in some sort of outlandish garb and proceeded to impress upon the rest of the school the fact that the seniors "fit" and being such, were entitled to all due respect and recognition from faculty down to freshmen.

At the auditorium period in morning various seniors possessed fiery eloquence orated and declaimed at length on the superior mental, physical, spiritual and otherwise prowess of the present members of the class. The speeches were climaxed the end by Phillip Pink, who rendered a vocal solo with words of his own composition to the tune of "Silvery Threads Among the Clouds." The theme of the poem dealt with "underwear" and was too inelegant to chronicle in the columns of a respectable newspaper.

The entire class, or at least a large majority of it, paraded the downtown business section Friday night and after putting itself on thorough exhibition filed into the Olympic theater and between shows regaled the audience with songs and stories of its progress.

Preparations were made Friday for a large crowd of local rooters to accompany the football team to Turke Burnett Saturday, but the preparations went for naught. The heavy rains of Saturday morning rendered the playing of the game impossible and it was postponed until a later date.

Event in the History of Wichita Falls.

Regular Semi-Annual Event Advanced Six Weeks

It has been our regular custom twice each year to hold a Semi-Annual Clearance Sale. Under normal conditions these sales have been held in the months of July and December. Market conditions and the warm weather have convinced us that it is good business to advance the date of our Winter sale about six weeks, so this semi-annual event is now in full swing. The unsettled condition of the minds of the people regarding prices is what brought the issue to a close with us and the decision to hurry our semi-annual sale. Coupled with this was the knowledge that our customers expected us to make further concessions. Thousands of our good friends look to us each season to supply them with their wants, confident that they will be given every possible advantage as to true worth of merchandise.

LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT FOR THE FARMER TO RAISE COTTON AT THE PRESENT PRICE ON THE MARKET

By JOHN GOULD

What does it cost to produce a bale of cotton? Some misguided folks have been burning gins lately because, as they contend, cotton is selling at less than the cost of production. With this contention in mind, the writer last week conducted an informal investigation into the farmer's profit, or lack of it, with cotton selling around 30c a pound and seed fetching $12 to $15 a bale.

A bale per three acres is the average yield in this section, and if the lint and seed bring a farmer $112, for $27 per acre, that seems, on the face of it, to be a fair return, particularly when one recalls the days when cotton sold for 5 cents a pound and the spinner of the worthless seed used as a bale of cotton this year would not keep him in plug tobacco a week, much less support a family. He is fortunate if his ledger doesn't show him in the red.

Few Keep Books.

That reference to the ledger is purely figurative. Cotton farmers as a rule don't keep books. The writer found that out when he called forth to see what it costs to raise a bale of cotton; the figures used in this article are mostly of the reckoned variety. Several dozen cotton farmers who were questioned about expenses were keeping their accounts in their heads. If some farmer who reads The Times has been keeping accurate books on his cotton crop, he can check up on the figures given below, which are nothing more or less than rough averages. It will shed some light on a timely question if he will send in his figures and give others the benefit of them. The writer knows that there are in this section some notable exceptions to the accepted belief that the farmer isn't a business man, if so, they can audit the rather indefinite figures given herein. Folks don't expect the farmer to be business-like, and he doesn't usually disappoint them. Although farming is the business of a majority of Americans, not many Americans follow it in a business-like way. The writer was handicapped, when he sought the figures, by the absence of anything like up-to-date "cost-finding" records.

Fairly Accurate Average.

The figures furnished vary widely for different farmers and farms, but give a fairly accurate average. It is true that not all farmers are making a third of a bale to the acre, and it is certainly true that not all have been able to sell at a price of being 100c or more per bale for the lint. But let's figure on that basis—

At 20 cents a pound, a 500-pound bale brings $100, and there is about 1,100 pounds of seed that brings around $12; total, $112 per bale.

Labor—At $3 per 100 for picking, $2.50 for preparation, chopping, plowing, cultivating and hauling, $15 per acre; some of those interviewed figured $20; at $15 per acre, $15 per bale. This sort of labor costs $1 to $1.50 per day, and the quantity and quality of work done varies widely; general cultivation expenses this year was heavier than usual on account of the wet spring and early summer.

Board Is An Item.

Board—This figure $3 per acre or $17 per bale, with widely varying estimates of the amount, as few had figured it down to an acre basis. This rather conservative figure of 75 cents per bale was used as boarding cost.

Out of the balance of $8 must come some other expenses: feed for teams, upkeep and depreciation on tools and implements, interest and taxes and "overhead" expenses generally. It would take a currency more elastic than ours to stretch far enough to cover these items, and leave any change.

Expense Is Greater.

In the face of this cheerful array of figures, every expense for the farmer is higher than before. Two or three years ago it was costing him less to produce a bale and decidedly less for buying clothing, groceries, Ford and other staple necessities, but war-time conditions were bringing him 40 cents a pound for cotton and $50 a ton for the seed.

Farm labor is not only harder to get, but it is harder to get any work out of. One farmer told the writer of making a trip to Arkansas to get help; his costly trip obtained him just two men. The expense of obtaining hands is one that should be figured into the cost of production, several farmers declared. Frequent trips to town, causing valuable time lost from the fields, are necessary to keep the supply of labor up to the irreducible minimum.

When cotton was bringing 5 to 10

VEST POCKET EDITION OF MISSISSIPPI RIVER PUTS CHAMBER OUT OF BUSINESS

The chamber of commerce was not as profitable a news source Saturday as usual. Why?

Oh, just because a vest pocket edition of the Mississippi river covered the floor of the chamber's quarters in the basement of the Morgan building. Work was practically an impossibility, while streams of water chased hither and yon, running noisily under desks and around chair legs and between doorways.

It always happens when there is a heavy rain. Given being heavy Saturday around the lean, ascetic features of Hubert Harrison, secretary of the chamber, as he mournfully predicted the organization would have to move into other quarters the first of the year.

We are frequently asked if we use "medicine" or "drops" in the eyes in fitting glasses, to which we always answer NO.

In our system such practice is not only unnecessary but actually interferes with proving our work, besides making patients uncomfortable and we know persons who claim their eyes have never recovered fully from their effects.

RESULT OF SCHOOL AMENDMENT EXPECTED TO REFLECT EFFECT OF WOMAN'S VOTE ON STATE ISSUES

By JOHN GOULD

The results of the constitutional amendment election on November 2 are being awaited with interest, not only by friends of education, but by those political strategists who are curious as to the effect of woman's vote upon state questions.

Judging from past performance, it is useless to look for the male vote to give this important side to the schools; but with the womenfolk taking part, it is possible that a favorable decision will be given on this question of such far-reaching importance to the children. The amendment simply takes the 80-cent limit off of the school fund, as the matter now stands, no school district, even if it have the unanimous consent of taxpayers, can levy over 80 cents per 100 valuation. The amendment provides that the taxpayers of a district may vote additional taxes on themselves, to support the schools, if they desire.

Will Be Opposition.

Although not a voice is being raised in outspoken opposition to this amendment, this does not mean that it will be easy to carry. It is sure to have the opposition of two classes of voters: First, those who seek to defeat any measure that may mean increased taxes, and second, those who feel that the constitution of 1876 is something sacred, not to be improved or altered in any way. These groups, despite the emptiness of their arguments, have been able to defeat many meritorious amendments in the past. Those who "just naturally don't believe in tampering with the constitution" have allowed their misplaced reverence for that document to outweigh every other consideration.

Constitution Criticized.

The constitution came under severe criticism right at the start. Governor Coker, though he considered it an improvement over the 1869 constitution, saw much in the new document that he considered unwise and time has established the correctness of his attitude.

In 1876, Texas had just emerged from the misery and trial of the reconstruction period. The constitution adopted in 1869, while it nominally restored democratic government in Texas, was framed under suspicious and entirely free of carpet-baggers, and it reflected, to some extent, the spirit of the day. It conferred extensive powers upon the governor, made most state offices appointive, and was hardly a democratic document. Soon after Coker's accession to the governorship, there arose a demand for a new organic law that would not have the stigma of carpetbag government and that would be more in tune with the spirit of the new regime in Texas.

Opposed by Governor Coker.

Governor Coker at first opposed drawing up a new constitution while political conditions were so unsettled, and a sufficient number of legislators shared this view to cause a two years' delay. Then the governor agreed to the constitution, declaring that "prudence and policy had prompted obedience to the constitution of 1869" the time had come for a new organic law.

The memory of reconstruction days—of Davis and his negro soldiers, of the iron-clad oath, of a disfranchised citizenship—was still painfully present with the constitution-makers who met at Austin in 1876, and the result of their labor was a constitution that is essentially democratic so far as it deals with governmental authority and functions. The governor was shorn of much power, his salary reduced from $5,000 to $4,000, the administration divided into three distinct branches, and a new bill of rights written that reflects in more than one clause the recollection of the harsh reconstruction era.

Educational Provisions.

The educational provisions of the constitution were heralded as extremely liberal. They must have appeared so to the people at that time. When one considers the then public attitude toward education, it is surprising that such apparently generous provision was made, for there were still many good citizens who contended that the public school was a malarial, and therefore undesirable institution, that education was a family, and not a public, function. A great many people held such views a century ago, and they had not disappeared by any means half a century later; they haven't entirely vanished yet.

Under the constitution's educational provisions, the schools fared well enough for a time, but it was not to be expected that the men of 1876 could plan adequately for the school children of 1920; no further proof of the inadequacy of their provisions need be cited, than that Texas today ranks 28th among the states in educational equipment and support.

Money Needs Repaired.

To hold the constitution of 1876 in such unreasoning reverence, therefore, is equivalent to putting the Texas of today on a plane with the Texas that was just coming out of the blackness of reconstruction. Most of what the constitution writers did have ordered; some of it has been changed for the better; but a house built in 1876, whatever tender memories it might enshrine, it is quite apt to require some repairs in nearly 40 years.

The amendments adopted have been few in comparison with those that have met defeat. In many instances no explanation of defeat could be vouchsafed, other than the mistake worship referred to. Last year six amendments were ruthlessly voted down; one of them was vital to the safety of Galveston county, and could not possibly affect, even in the remotest way, any other county, yet it was defeated with the others.

Notable Contests.

The most notable contests over constitutional amendments have centered around John Burleson; next to that issue was the railroad commission amendment, advocated by Governor Hogg; 30 years ago. Its adoption was accompanied after a bitter fight, and it wasn't the only time the ineffectuality of their provisions need be cited, than that Texas today ranks 28th among the states in educational equipment and support.

MEMBER OF UNITED PRESS MEMBER AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1920.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING. Tom Flinty Jr., writing in the Dallas News, gives some information about the co-operative marketing associations in California, that is of especial interest right now when Texas farmers are looking about for some means of remedying a situation that possesses a serious menace for the future of Southern farming. California has, he remarks, a marketing law which provides, among other things, for the organization of co-operative marketing associations. The members of such an association obligate themselves to turn their products over to the association's trustees for marketing.

Explanation of the way the producer is furnished the money while awaiting return from the sale of his products or awaiting the members of the association to buy the product, is demonstrated as practicable. "If a product is non-perishable, the trustee warehouse it and borrow, say 60 per cent of its value from the banks at a low rate of interest, and proceed to distribute this money to the members of the association. The trustee then uses the individual's product. Then the trustee proceeds to merchandise the product. They sell when marketing conditions are favorable; they stay off the market when conditions are not right. When all of the products of their members has been sold, they make settlements with the individuals and each receives exactly the same price. In other words, the members of the association pool their products in the hands of competent business men and they are enabled to finance the operation because the volume of their holdings, in the manner in which they are held and the responsibility of the trustees."

Mr. Flinty believes that an adaptation of the California plan would be practicable with cotton and recalls that a former Texas banker, now in New York in a responsible position, several years ago declared there was abundant money available at low rates of interest for the financing of cotton if farmers would concentrate their holdings in the hands of responsible factors and warehouse it. This banker said that bankers in financial centers under such conditions would discount acceptances on such cotton at very low rates of interest, but that "it was out of the question to expect them to deal with unwarehoused cotton or small lots," and the ease with which California co-operative farm organizations are able to finance their transactions, to the tremendous benefit of the producer, serves to make it reasonable to believe that what they have done, Texas cotton farmers could do.

The present situation, when the producer of raw material throughout the land is being called upon to bear a burden that he is ill able to bear and, indeed, that is unjust and disastrous to ask him to bear, is one of the gravest economic problems confronting the whole people—not the producer alone—of the United States, and it must be made to include, in the final solution, a plan of reducing the tremendous difference now existent between what the producer receives and the ultimate consumer is called upon to pay. It is one worthy of the best thought of the best minds in the country and it is, too, one that has long been with us, its importance and the imperative necessity of its remedying having been tremendously accentuated by developments this fall, when the producers in practically every line of unorganized production have seen the price of their products fall far below cost of production.

It was just such necessitous conditions that forced California producers to give their unanimous support to their co-operative organizations. Present necessity and the thoughtful consideration it evokes, may bring the Southern cotton farmer and producer of other less important commodities into a frame of mind that will repeat here the unvarying successes that real co-operation has brought elsewhere.

Up here in this part of the state there was little interest in new voters qualifying themselves under the recently enacted election law. But down in some of the South Texas counties, there is really a prospect of a contest between the democrats and parties, hundreds of voters have paid the $1.75 tax imposed in order to take part in the November election. In Bexar county it is expected that there will be at least 1,500 new voters added to the lists. Over at Seguin the activity of negro men and women in qualifying created a counter activity on the part of white citizens and in that small county several hun-

Cleaning the Furnace. Last night Pa said to me, "My dear, it's getting on to fall. It's time I did a little job I do not like to do."

"I wish it was rich enough to hire a man to do it. The dirty work around this house ain't clean up when he's through."

But since I'm not, I'm truly glad that I am strong and stout. An' ain't ashamed myself to go an' clean the furnace out."

Then after supper, Pa put on his overalls an' said: "He'd work down in the cellar till 'twas time to go to bed all his eyes. He started in to settle an' to bang an' shove there. An' the dust began a climin' up through every crack in the house. Till Ma said: "Goodness gracious an' an' shut those things up tight Or we'll all be suffocated an' the house will be a sight."

Then he carted out the ashes in a basket as a pall. An' from cellar door to alley he just left an' ash trail. Then he pulled apart the chimney an' 'twas full of something black. An' he kicked most all his knuckles when he tried to put it back. We could hear him talkin' awful, an' Ma looked at us an' said: "I think it would be better if you children went to bed."

When he came up from the cellar there were ashes in his hair. There were ashes in his eyebrows, but he didn't seem to care. There were ashes in his mustache, there were ashes in his eyes. An' he never would have known him if he'd took us by surprise. "Well, I got it clean," he spluttered. An' Ma said: "I guess that's true. Once the dirt was in the furnace, but now most of it's on you."

That Chicago mail carrier may have violated the law in burning heavy packages of political documents sent out under congressional frank instead of delivering them, but if he did he merely saved the mail's recipients the trouble of burning it, for themselves. Nobody knows better than newspaper men of the enormous waste in the sending of government documents and congressional speeches by editorial wastebaskets daily filled with stuff from government departments and congressmen whose only effect has been to clog the mails, "ball up" the postoffices, bedevil carriers and annoy recipients. And, it is only just to add, the waste is not confined to government agencies, but extends to doctors and lawyers, and other publicity or favor-seeking organizations which regularly deluge the mails with unread and unneeded material of one sort or another, the chief difference being that this stuff does pay postage while government out-givings do not.

Employees of the Massachusetts Manufacturing company, facing a shut-down because of high manufacturing costs and "the hesitancy of the public to buy at present prices," have offered to accept a 20 per cent reduction in wages if the company will continue operation.

It's only a few more days now until the 1920 campaign will be at an end. There is yet time for all good democrats to come to the aid of the party with a cash donation for the national campaign fund.

Side Talks

By MITH CAMERON

One Way to Make Marriages Last. "He never talks me over, even with his mother." So declares a letter-friend in praise of her husband. It is praise, isn't it? And praise worth having.

I wonder how many homes that are broken up would still be intact if the wife could have said that of the husband and vice versa.

Especially vice versa. For women, I think, are a shade more prone to this form of disloyalty than men.

When they get angry with their husbands, they are apt to mull over their indignation at their homes—how often so often leaves the mind idle and Satan has even more use for idle minds than idle hands when they stand still no longer. Then they relieve their feelings into the nearest sympathetic ear they can find (and sympathetic ears are very easy to find, especially matrimonial troubles are to be told).

The final step of this process is a reconciliation with their husbands, after which they should be sympathetic ear because it knows too much—until the next time they have need of it.

The man, on the other hand, goes out into the world of the world of men and gets absorbed in business. His temptation to talk usually comes in the form of some feminine friend who asks him to find out if his wife is not good enough for him, and subtly implants or encourages this feeling in him and gradually gets him into the habit of bringing his grievances to her for sympathy.

I think this is one of the meanest things a woman can do. Of course, it is sometimes done thoughtlessly and other times in the sincerest belief that the man is a martyr and has all the wrongs on his side (which 99 times out of 100 is not true). But when a woman does it, she has some other woman do the same thing to her.

As for talking over one's running-mate with one's family—who might be thought the best person to have sympathy with—well, family reasons for not repeating everything that is said to them—that course has disadvantages of its own which scarcely need to be mentioned.

I once heard of a mother-in-law who said she made it a rule, always to side with her son-in-law, even when her daughter, no matter what the cause of disagreement. But that was ten years ago, and I haven't heard of any similar case since. Even when she has some lawyer really approves and is fond of her daughter-in-law so long as the son is satisfied, will she continue to do so when the son is dissatisfied? When many mothers would not see with their son's eyes, rather than with the eyes of justice, if any disagreement arose? A grievance bolstered up, by sympathy, is a grievance twice as hard to get rid of.

It is one could talk these matters over with someone who would not give sympathy unless it were destroyed, who would temper it even then by reminding one of the other person's point of view, who would suggest some compromise in the dispute, and who would "keep mum" forever after that would be wonderful. But where can most of us find such a paragon?

WHY?

In the "Marathon" Race So Called (Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate Inc.)

The Marathon footrace, revived in the modern Olympic games held for the first time in Athens in 1896, takes its name from the historic feat of the messenger Pheidippides from Marathon, Greece, to Athens, carrying the news that the Greek forces had vanquished the Persians. In spite of the fact that they had been outnumbered ten to one.

The Greek leader, Miltiades, commanding the small body of men from Athens and the surrounding country, had contrived to stage the crucial battle of his campaign at Marathon, and when the Persians, under Datis and Artabanos, were forced to retreat they left more than 6,000 dead upon the fields. Knowing that Athens was eagerly awaiting the news of the conflict, Miltiades called for a volunteer to carry the glad tidings. A youthful soldier stepped out of the ranks and agreed to run the distance—26 3/4 miles, 33 1/2 yards, which later became the classic Marathon "measure." Historians state that the soldier's name was "Pheidippides," but adding has been found to support the tradition that the messenger fell dead at the end of his journey.

Hannes Kolehmainen, of Finland, who won the Marathon at the 1908 Olympic games, holds the world's record for the event, having covered the distance in 2 hours, 23 minutes, 23 4/8 seconds.

Are the words first used by the Republicans to describe the Cox-Wilson policies in general, and particularly with reference to the League of Nations...

FIRST

Governor Cox pledged himself to Wilson's article 10 as a vital part of the Covenant. Furthermore, speaking of the Wilson League of Nations...

CANDIDATE COX

Went further than that. He has abused up and down the country the members of the Senate, which include nearly half the members of his own party...

NOW

That he has seen that the American people will not permit a sacrifice of their independence, the Candidate has made an astounding change of front. He has declared for the reservations...

WHY

Has Candidate Cox made this astounding flop? A natural question. He evidently sees the "handwriting on the wall."

BUT

Can he be depended on to carry out these pledges, which he has now admitted are so important to the preservation of American independence?

BEAR IN MIND

Too, that it is on his previous stand on the League of Nations, that Candidate Cox based his entire campaign for the presidency. That he has carefully avoided discussing any other issues...

THIS REPUDIATION

Followed the cold, logical and unimpassioned arraignment of the Wilson League of Nations, the league which was endorsed both by Cox and the Democratic party...

ELIHU ROOT

is recognized as the foremost living American authority on Foreign Relations. Here is Mr. Root's statement, as reported by the Associated Press...

WHY PEACE WAS NOT DECLARED

Elihu Root in his address on the League of Nations during the presidential campaign ought declared that the treaty of peace with Germany would have been ratified and America would have been a member of President Wilson's "peace mission."

GUARANTEES EUROPEAN IMPERIALISM

"And I think it most objectionable that the American people shall enter into a solemn and positive agreement to guarantee and maintain by force of arms for all time the dispositions of territory and sovereignty, which these four men made in the year 1919."

EASILY CHANGED

After restating the situation of the League, Mr. Root declared that it was well understood in 1919 and "it is well understood now that the other parties to the treaty would have content to accept the senate reservations, adding: "Several European nations already have given notice of half a dozen changes in the covenant which they propose to urge at the meeting of the assembly of the League next month."

SUPER-GOVERNMENT

"Fourth, that the scheme created a super-government which would destroy the independence of the United States. The wording of the plan under the covenant was not so arranged as to articulate with the constitutional government of the United States; that under it, the president alone would practically carry on the entire foreign affairs of the United States by agents of his own selection to the practical exclusion of the popular branch of our government."

THE REPUBLICAN POSITION

Mr. Root said it is plain that the issue is not between a League of Nations and no League of Nations. The question is whether the agreement creating the league shall be accepted absolutely unchanged or shall be modified to meet the American objections. I would be glad to have the provisions of the agreement changed so as to obviate these objections. Then would follow an ordinary common sense negotiation as to the best way to obviate the objections. Regarding this process, I have to say: "First, I think the American objections can be met and obviated without interfering with the scheme of the League or impairing its usefulness."

HOW TO SAVE FIVE CENTS! (AND LOSE HALF A DOLLAR)

During these times of high prices, it is natural to turn about anything that looks cheap.

Suppose Purina Cow Chow is $10.00 a ton higher than some other feed.

That's 50¢ a bag or 1/4¢ a pound. A cow eats eight to ten pounds of grain a day. That means it costs you four or five cents less every day you feed your cow on the cheaper (7) feed.

Suppose the cow falls off one quart a milking; those two quarts a day would bring 50¢.

Those who have fed cow chow know that it usually makes from one to three quarts extra milk each milking.

And it keeps your herd in fine condition, and always on feed.

are instruments to foretell the weather. The government spends millions of dollars every year in watching weather conditions and forecasting changes.

Although mistakes are made, these forecasts are still of great value. Sailors, farmers and others whose business is hindered by storms do well to heed the warnings.

Did you ever stop to figure that you could watch other signs as well as the signs of the sky? How about some of these; they apply to man as well as horses:

If horse passes whole oats or corn—WASTE.

If horse eats all he can hold—WASTE.

If horse was fed like your grandfather's horse was fed—WASTE.

If horse is colicky from indigestible grains—WASTE.

If feed costs too much these days, YOU are wasting time till you find out about Purina Omelets, the greatest discovery of a generation for horse and mule owners. Not a Medicine, not an All-India Feed, but only a new and wonderful way of preparing choice oats and the best grade corn so that they constitute a balanced ration that keeps head up and coming, and COSTS LESS TO FEED PER HEAD PER MONTH.

CLOSE CONTRACT TO BUILD THE SOUTHERN ROAD INTO GRAHAM

FRANK KELL RETURNS AFTER CLOSING DEAL FOR THE EXTENSION.

SAYS MOST VALUABLE OF RAIL CONNECTIONS

Will Establish Wichita Falls As Oil Center Of Northwest Texas And Southwest Oklahoma.

Frank Kell returned to Wichita Falls Saturday from Graham, where he closed a railroad contract with Graham citizens that, in his judgment, will establish Wichita Falls as the oil center of northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma.

The contract signed by Kell and his associates, and by the citizens of Graham, provides for an extension of the Wichita Falls & Southern railroad from Newcastle to Graham, thence southwest near the town of Southbend through Ellaville, and thence into Stephens county, where the road will either connect with and use the Jake Hanson railroad now being built from Breckenridge to Jakehamon or will build its own line into Breckenridge.

This is the most valuable rail connection ever made for Wichita Falls. Kell said Saturday. Not only will it definitely fix this city as the oil center of all this territory but direct connection with the prosperous and growing city of Graham will furthermore be a most valuable connection for Wichita Falls business men.

Anxious for the Road. "The public spirited citizens of Graham and other communities through which we propose to build the line were very desirous of having the road, and they co-operated with us in splendid fashion, lending every assistance in their power."

Under the terms of the contract, through train service is to be maintained between Wichita Falls and Breckenridge through Graham. The citizens of Graham have guaranteed to Kell and his associates a bonus of $200,000 with spot grounds in the west part of the city and right of way for seven miles in each direction out of Graham. A complete survey has been made of the line and the contract calls for a grade not exceeding 1 per cent.

The road will cross the Brazos river about seven miles southwest of Graham and about one mile down the river from the present wagon bridge at Southbend. The new railroad will be

High School Pupil Gets a Scholarship For Essay on Truck

An essay written by a girl was awarded first place in the nation-wide contest for high school pupils which was conducted by the Firestone Rubber Company recently. The contest was open to any high school pupil in the country and offered a four-year scholarship to the student writing the best essay of 500 words or less on the subject "Ship by Truck—Good Roads."

First place went to Miss Katherine Butterworth of Weiler, Idaho, and for her work Miss Butterworth will receive a four-year scholarship in any college or university she may choose to attend. The essay is reprinted below.

"Like curious children, the Indians of the plains watched the building of the first trans-continental railroad. When the first engine breathing smoke and flame steamed down upon them, they turned their ponies' heads and fled wildly, expecting to feel, at every jump, its hot breath on their cheeks. But the monster never pursued them over the trackless prairie. It had its limitations then. It has them now.

"The tractable truck.

"A more mobile kinsman of the locomotive demonstrates ability: to travel without steel rails, the tractable truck. On the farm it is shortening the distance to market, carrying twice the load in half the time and setting only while it works.

"Freight traffic everywhere is stopped. The present condition is choking industry—a menace financial and otherwise to the whole country. Every year to some extent, freight congestion returns the railroads to the condition of the long haul, which justifies the short haul at each end. Shall they compete for the short haul, or advise the segregation of long and short haul traffic, and have the aid of this 'trunk express' for the hundred mile run? Railroads cut through community areas a single diameter? Truck highways spread out innumerable radii.

"Trucks carry loaded stock to range flocks. In due time flocks of trucks are conveyed bringing in the wool, transferring it for its long haul to the Atlantic seaboard. Railroads again return it to us as manufactured goods and the cycle is complete. Burning granaries spell prosperity for the railroads—a long haul to the sea. To insure a hundred per cent harvest, railroads and trucks cooperate. Planting seasons, let the truck carry the seed wheat, farm machinery, fuel, replacements and repair for the short haul. Long and short haul agencies supplement each other. The long haul and the short haul are dovetail, and the transportation cycle is complete. They coalesce, not conflict.

"Within a mile of the Easton town, there runs an old Roman road. The nightcreepers' bug travels over the same highway that resounded to the tread of Roman soldiers. The work of human hands 2,000 years ago is an instrument of human progress today. The cost of such highways, distributed over centuries, falls into insignificance. Nevertheless it takes something besides the enthusiasm and energy of a pseudo-efficiency expert to build good roads. A good program cannot be clapped down upon a community like a nicely fluted pie crust, presenting an attractive surface. Every dollar's worth of bonds must show a dollar's worth of permanent improvement. Posterity will help pay for the roads; we must insure value received. Millions have been spent by corporations to improve railroads, millions will be spent by co-operation to build good roads.

"The agencies of transportation may be likened to the circulation of the blood. No matter what bright arterial blood the heart, the trunk line pumps, unless the capillaries, the truck lines, carry it to the finger tips.

"To the motor truck, the highest exponent of good roads! To good roads, the basis for trucks' efficiency!"

NEW AUTOMOBILE COMPANY IS RECENTLY ORGANIZED

Hugh Weaver, formerly with the Lloyd Weaver Auto company, and Joe A. King, an experienced automobile man, have formed a partnership under the name of King & Weaver, and have opened for business at 1012 and 1014 Scott avenue. The new firm will handle oils and gasoline, will do a general automobile storage business and will take orders for the agency for a well-known make of motor cars. Both members of the firm are experienced automobile men and their large building is especially suited to the automobile storage business.

PROMISE SURPRISE FOR HUPMOBILE ENTHUSIASTS

A new surprise is promised Hupmobile auto enthusiasts when the 1921 models of the coupe and sedan are placed on the market. The many refinements added to the Hupp machine within the last few years have been taken by owners of the car as merely a matter of course so that whatever improvements have been made by the factory engineers have not elicited more than passing attention from the public.

Now, however, Hupp engineers have arranged themselves and placed on the market a machine that combines elements which cannot help but command the interest and attention of the automobile world as well as the followers of the Hupmobile.

What had been termed as a "good looking boat" to use modern vernacular, has been transformed into a regular "knock out" as far as beauty, comfort and performance is concerned. One or two minor details that were needed have been added, together with a few improvements that were not needed, so that the assembled product is one that should cause even the fading auto market to perk up and show interest. These new models are expected to be on display in the Eckman & Von Allmen show rooms within 30 days.

TIRES MUST COME DOWN SAYS A LOCAL DEALER

"Automobile tires are due to come down in price in the near future" was the statement made Saturday by Mr. Randle of the Randle Auto Supply company, one of the leading tire dealers of the city. "I first saw the downward tendency is already apparent and was able to pick up a big bargain in tires the past week—a lot of Oldfield tires. I will be able to sell these tires at 40 per cent discount from the former price. This purchase includes most of the popular sizes and all of them are guaranteed by the factory."

HEALTH and APPETITE
(Sunday Health Talk No. 5) By P. L. MYERS, D. C.

Health turns the Clock Backward

There is an old adage "thou shalt earn thy bread in the sweat of thy brow." This might have been paraphrased "thou shalt earn thy appetite" because it is generally recognized that it takes labor to lend zest to appetite.

However, the facts are that the appetite is good with out labor, when the body is in healthful condition. Appetite depends on healthful action of the stomach and liver if these organs are normally vigorous, there is usually a good relish for food. The health of stomach and liver depends upon spinal nerves being free and capable of transmitting full impulse. When this is so, there is health and appetite. Chiropractic adjustments restore the conditions of nervous freedom and vigor to stomach and liver.

Well and Happy Once Once

"I tried many doctors and suffered for more than two years before I turned to chiropractic adjustments. I suffered excruciating pains in my right hip. I had chronic constipation, gastritis and my appetite was gone. Today as I think back I can hardly realize the change. I am so well and strong and happy. Chiropractic to me is wonderful." ## LOCAL AUTO DEALERS ATTEND CONVENTION HELD AT DALLAS; BANQUET GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT

A number of local auto dealers were in Dallas during the latter part of last week to attend the automobile dealers' convention of Texas. The meetings were held in the Adolphus hotel and were climaxed by a great banquet Friday night at which the principal addresses were made.

Two of the important speeches were given by Edward Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company and a recognized leader in the automobile world, and Nathan Adams, vice president of the American Exchange Bank at Dallas, who is also in close connection with events of the automobile world. In addition to these two a number of other well known auto men in the south and southwest were present and gave interesting and valuable talks.

The main topic dwelt upon by the speakers was the cause of the slump into which the automobile business has apparently fallen during the past two or three months. In spite of optimistic reports thoughtful dealers are ready to admit that the business in the auto line has fallen below its usual summer level during the past two or three months. The causes for this were explained by the men at the head of the industry by the economic unrest throughout the entire country, by the threatened drop of high prices and the unsettled condition of the labor and raw material markets.

With the many cuts which have been made in the price of cars recently and the apparent settling of the markets the general opinion among the leaders in the field seemed to be that the motor car business would return to its normal condition in the very near future. Furthermore they believe that when the public is satisfied that prices will not descend to any lower levels there will be a wave of purchasing which will sweep the country and place the automobile business on even a higher level than before.

Those who attended the convention from this city were: Lloyd Weaver of the Weaver Automobile company, D. M. Rubeam of the Marshall Huff Motor company, W. J. Daugherty of the Overland Motor company, Sidney Gaines of the Gaines Automobile company and O. J. Summers of the Victory Motor company.

The verdicts that forms on brass may be removed by the following treatment: Mix a good metal polish in equal parts with wood alcohol. Apply with a brush, allow to dry. When dry rub with a clean cloth and the verdigris will come off free, leaving a clean smooth surface. After this the brass may be polished in the usual way.

Locomobile Noted For Its Popularity with Noted People

If such a thing as an automobile heaven exists and if the entrance range of the Locomobile is the most desirable to this gasoline Utopia are measured by the number of important persons who are carrying machines has carried during its stay on earth we know of a car that is entitled to a place in the front rank of automobiles. In other words, if a machine is entitled to fame merely because of having carried a number of people whose names are listed in "Who's Who" then this particular machine is famous beyond all powers of measurement.

The particular machine referred to is a Locomobile owned by the Crocker National Bank of San Francisco and has been in use for the past four years. The car has been placed at the disposal of prominent visitors ever since it was purchased and has by this time carried more distinguished Americans and foreigners than any other automobile in America. This fact is explained by the geographical and commercial importance, for practically every delegation of tourists that visits the West spends a part of its time in looking around San Francisco.

A list of "big guns" that have viewed and been viewed by the people of San Francisco includes the following names: Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Thomas A. Edison, Charles Evans Hughes, William C. McAdoo, Bernard Baruch and John Mayne Hammond. In the educational circles the machine has carried President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia and Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History. Among the foreigners of importance who have traveled the streets of the western metropolis in this soft-same machine are Prince Troubetsky, the famous Russian sculptor and Ignace Jan Paderewski, the world's greatest pianist and first premier of Poland. In addition to these two it has been used by scores of dukes and earls of lesser note.

When the Panama-Pacific exposition was under way the car was in constant use by the visiting delegations of officials from other lands. Among others the car acted as a sight seeing conveyance for Haruki Yamaki of Japan.

pan, Vahn Cardashain of Turkey, Ernest Nathan of Italy, Roberto Amagasti of Argentina, M. Y. Sauter of Norway, Kanavde Perotti of Uruguay, Richard Berstrom of Sweden, Enrico Lotera de Castillo of Cuba, Frederick Equero of Peru and Albert Tirman of France. If Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth were to visit San Francisco as guests of the bank their list would be complete.

A world's record for having "shuffled" important men is also claimed by officials of the bank for their chauffeur, Clark Hunt, who has acted as pilot of the machine since its purchase.

Inactivity in the Automobile World Has Local Effect

Another dull week in the automobile circles of Wichita Falls has been chalked up on the boards of local dealers and although an occasional flurry with a few sales attached, was reported the major number of dealers found the auto game to be absolutely at a standstill.

That this depression was not local but extended over the entire country was indicated from an interview with one local dealer. Reports from branch offices and from distributing centers throughout the entire south are to the effect that the bottom had dropped out of the auto market. In the north and east, it appears, the slump has reached its peak and activity in the distant centers is beginning to become more pronounced. According to statements of men in touch with the situation the business depression, especially in the north, had begun to effect the auto market some time before Ford's special price cutting stunt and the reason which he took only brought things to a point by completely unsettling the price levels.

Depression at its Peak. In the south this depression now seems to be at its peak and local dealers are hoping that the stimulating effects of lower prices and more settled economic conditions will swing the motor trade out of the rut and start it in high gear for normal conditions again. Just how long a time will elapse before a return to normal is affected is largely a matter of conjecture. One dealer expressed it as his opinion that three months would be required before sales activities reached their normal levels, but this is regarded as at least a maximum time limit by many of the local auto men who expect to be in full swing by Christmas.

What little impetus was needed to shove auto activity in this section completely into the background was afforded by the rains which visited the surrounding country early in the week. Motoring holds little attraction for anyone in northern Texas after a drenching downpour has transformed the country lanes into bottomless quagmires, and no one realizes this more than the auto dealer. So between the elements of nature and deadened commercial conditions life for the motor car dealer is offering few attractions.

O and G BELTS

In The Oil Fields

Work in the Oil country calls for strong, rugged tools. Oil production is a rough and ready business. Carried on mostly under conditions which give little shelter from rough weather, tools, equipment and men, must be hardy, staunch and toughened to the job.

In every big industry, transmitting power is a vital factor—and in Oil production especially so. In drilling, pumping and compressing, there must be a never-ceasing, full flow of power. The Oil country knows from long experience that the one certain way to get such power is by the use of O & G Inner-Locked Belts.

Whether they have had to show their class by matching the work of other belts or only to make a record for themselves, O & G Inner-Locked Belts have always won out. Stories of their great service are told wherever oil is produced; of an O & G Belt that lay under water and mud during a ten-day flood, but which kept right on the job again as if nothing had happened after the mud was scraped off; of another which ran two hundred and sixty 24-hour days, with 17,000 pounds of cable and tools hanging on the belt a mile below the surface—and in each case without hitch or delay.

O & G Inner-Locked Belts are intended for one particular job; to do any and every kind of work, no matter how hard, which the Oil industry has to be done. "They are built by men who know the game" from the Oil man's side; who know that he wants greater power, longer life, absence of troublesome stretching, and "come and go" instead of the grief he often gets with other types.

Giving service which has never been equalled, satisfying every crew they serve, always running uniform, in fact, giving the Oil country one hundred per cent belting service; such is the clean-cut record of O & G Inner-Locked Belts.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

When entering or crossing another street always slow down and blow your horn.

Ammonia can be used to clean corrosion from connections and battery terminals.

The spring clips which hold the springs to the axle should be frequently inspected and tightened.

When numerous small slits and cracks appear in a tire it is a sign of the approach of old age.

When starting the engine on the battery the spark should be retarded, and when starting on the magnets, the spark should be advanced.

A cause of faulty cone clutch is sometimes the weak action of the springs placed under the leather to facilitate easy engagement.

Proper care of the springs of a motor not only reduces the deterioration of the motor and its chassis as well as the body but also adds materially to the mileage of the tires.

In making a leak proof joint it is not only wise to use a suitable gasket but also to place felt washers underneath the iron washers of the retaining bolts.

Tires age fastest when lying around. They are kept in the best condition in actual service. If it is necessary to store them they will retain their life longest in an even and moderate temperature and light.

The lighting system of most cars will draw from eight to 10 amperes an hour. This means that if you leave all your lights burning, your battery would be entirely discharged in about 10 hours and would they have to be recharged before you could start again.

It is not safe practice to slow down the engine and remain in high when crossing railway tracks. The engine may die with the car wheels on the first rail. The better plan is to put the gears into low and let the engine run at a good reliable speed.

Women motorists who do a considerable amount of work about their cars will find an admirable costume as follows: A large kitchen apron fastened in the back and buttoned tight around the wrists, completely covering the street clothes; sandals to cover the shoes, an old pair of gloves and a cap fitting tightly over the hair. In this garb they will be entirely protected from dirt.

A magnetized screwdriver is a great convenience for the man who works about his car. The magnetized tool will pick up screws, nuts, bolts or other metal objects that have dropped into inaccessible places. Again, in setting screws, especially small ones, the magnetized screwdriver may be used by simply holding the screw until it is set in place, and this may be done by one hand if necessary. To magnetize a screwdriver all that is necessary is to hold it to the dynamo for a few minutes until it is magnetized.

Pure, Rich Blood Will Keep Your Body Vigorous and Healthy

When impurities creep into your blood the first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown.

Nearly everybody needs a few bottles of S. S. S., the great vegetable blood remedy, to cleanse out all impurities about twice a year. It is an excellent idea to take this precaution to keep the system in a vigorous condition so as to more easily resist diseases to which every one is subject. S. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives new strength and vitality to both old and young.

Record Is Made by Two Overland Cars on 500-Mile Trip

A drive of 500 miles over almost impassable roads between Rangoon and Mandalay in less than 48 hours was the record made by two Overland cars, the first of a shipment from this country to India, according to reports received by the Willys-Overland factory at Toledo. The route taken was that made famous by Kipling in his verse, "The Road to Mandalay" and the trip rivaled in severity any of the tests given the Overland machine in this country. The two cars were pulled out of the steamer's hold which had carried them from New York to Rangoon and without any seasoning or adjustments were started off on their 500-mile cross-country jaunt. They were driven by Major R. W. Marris, a representative of the Overland export department and M. T. Van Wyck, a Kansas newspaper man.

Included in the 48-hour run was five hours of continuous low gear work when the cars plowed through 18 inches of heavy sand. On another occasion the two machines were driven for miles at an angle of 40 degrees, one pair of wheels running in the ruts made by native bullock carts, while those on the other side remained on the high ground in the center of the roads.

Drop of Eleven Feet. On another occasion, when approaching a river bed, the two autos were compelled to make a sheer drop of 11 feet with both rear wheels locked. The tires on the rear wheel were ripped off during this descent but otherwise no damage was sustained.

When nearing Mandalay the road lost itself for a time and as a result Marris and Van Wyck were forced to drive over the paddy fields of the natives. These fields are the cause under cultivation by irrigation and are divided off into many small ditches and depressions resembling shallow lakes. Some of these were as much as eight inches deep and from one to four feet in width, so driving a distance of 30 miles over this territory was not the most pleasant sensation imaginable.

In the entire trip no mechanical adjustments were necessary and but six stops were made, all for food, water, or supplies for the cars.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: My valve lifters have worn, so that I can shake them up and down, about one-sixteenth of an inch. My engine does not seem to have the power it used to. The spark is all right and the parts are well lubricated. Do you think the fault is in the valve lifters—J. N.

Undoubtedly some of it is there and they must be adjusted before searching elsewhere. Adjust them to clearance of an ordinary visiting card. Then see if you can get a little more power by changing low and high speed adjustments of carburetor.

Motor Department: Occasionally I hear a popping noise in my carburetor. As I am told that it is dangerous, I should like to know what troubles to look for and what remedies to apply.—A. T.

Popping back at the carburetor is exceedingly dangerous if the carburetor has just been primed or there is much of a leak. It is caused by lean mixture, leaky inlet valve or electrical troubles in distributor. Piston cause an explosion in cylinder when inlet valve is open. Look over these parts carefully, as occasionally a car burns and is a total loss from this cause alone.

Motor Department: Please answer the following question to write a contractor: Does a storage battery store up current or not? Some say it does and some say not. Is it anything like the action of a Leyden jar?—F. W.

Electricity in current form cannot be stored. It passes through the storage battery and changes its chemical nature. When electricity is wanted the battery reverses the chemical action and gives us electricity. A Leyden jar stores up static electricity, which is quite another thing.

Motor Department: Please advise me on the following: I have a motor which I am overhauling and find that the grooves in the No. 1 and No. 3 pistons are twenty-thousandths of an inch wider than the rings in the other two. Would this cause a knock or poor compression?—K. B.

This condition of grooves would permit a loss of compression. The rings in the grooves would also cause slight knocking each time the piston starts on a stroke. Would suggest that you have grooves tried to fit new over-size rings.

Motor Department: I own a Buick and find that the rear right wheel splashes oil on the brakes and wheel. I have taken it off and put new felt washers in, but it does not seem to let me know when to fix same and what you think is the trouble?—A. H.

Would suggest reducing the amount of lubricant used in the rear axle. Also would advise that you use a heavy non-fluid grease. If the felt washers at the end of the axle housing or within the rear hub allow grease to get on the brake shoes, the driver had only been a little more considerate of his car.

Motor Department: Please tell me why I get a muffled explosion when I retard the spark all the way. The noise is louder if I open the throttle part way at the same time. Please tell me how to correct this.—L. A.

The circuit breaker is set a little too late on its shaft. It may be coming loose, in which case the engine will stop and an experienced man will have to be called in to reset it. The noise is caused by the gas igniting almost at the end of the power stroke just about as the exhaust valve opens. Naturally this noise is made louder by feeding more gas.

Motor Department: I have an Overland with continental motor model No. 28. There has been a knock in the motor from the very first that I am at a loss to locate. It is about as regular as the tapping of a valve. I have gone over all the bearings and know the motor is in good condition. This knock is particularly noticeable when motor is running idle with retarded spark. Any suggestions for the probable cause of this knock and the remedy for this knock will be greatly appreciated. In this motor formed a red seal continental motor?—E. F.

From what you have stated it appears that one or more of the valve lifters are causing the noise. There may be a flat spot on one of them which causes the noise when the cam hits it. A careful sounding should locate the troublesome valve lifter. If your engine is of the red seal type, you will find a name plate to this effect.

Motor Department: I have a Ford automobile and understand from owners of Ford cars that I can get better results out of the car by adding an air valve to the manifold, so that after the car starts running air is supplied to the gasoline mixture after it leaves the carburetor, thereby making the car run easier and saving gasoline. I see some have this air valve so regulated that moist air is taken from above the water level in the radiator, while others have a quart jar on a stand that air is sucked through water in the jar. The question is do you advise a scheme like this, and if so, would one get better results from having the warmer air from the top of the radiator or the colder moist air through the quart jar, as the jar method is much easier to install? Please advise me on any engineering in the cylinders?—K. B.

There are a number of devices on the market similar to those mentioned and good results are claimed. The only way to determine the merit of such a device is to experiment yourself or if you have friends using such appliances, to profit by their experience. Appliances of this kind may improve the running of one engine and upset another. It is not for us to pass on the merits. The results can only be determined by experiment.

Motor Department: Will you please tell me can a motor fire 1-2-3-4 without changing the crank shaft or the cam on the cam shaft, if so how?—H. T.

With the crank shaft you have there are two holes in the crank of firing, namely 1-2-4-2, and 1-2-4-3.

Motor Department: The float in the carburetor of my car seems to be made of metal and seems to be heavier than it should be. I am told that I need a new one. Why can't the one I have now be repaired? It seems to me that it can be soldered. What do you think about it?—Owner.

It is best to install a new float. This will prove more economical and satisfactory. The cost of a new float is nominal. There may be other weak spots in the old one.

Helpful Hint: Do not neglect to inspect the steering gear at least once a week. More harm may be done by failure of the steering gear than by any other accident. Look it over carefully and see that each bolt is properly secured.

Do not permit too much lost motion in the wheel. A careful inspection should be made from the wheel's back to determine that all parts are tight and properly adjusted. Occasional adjustment will afford not only easier control of the car, but greater assurance of safety.

Keep a watchful eye on the king bolt in the steering knuckle. If it wears to the breaking point the axle will drop, causing a serious accident. If the knuckle through which it passes seems out of true take it apart. If the pin is worn it must be replaced. Turn down the grease cups on top of the bolt every day and this danger will be removed for a long time.

Lubrication of the steering gear mechanism must be regularly watched to prevent binding of the shaft or bearing, which may from neglect fail to respond at a moment—when their proper action is necessary.

A little more attention to the lubrication of the steering gear will make steering much easier. If there is no grease cup remove the plug and force heavy oil or transmission grease in by means of an oil gun.

Inspection of Car Should Be Made at Beginning of Fall

With the end of summer, autumn brings about a set of conditions which demand special care of the automobile. But important attention, which should be given to an automobile by every motorist in the fall months, is largely overlooked. Accordingly, Dodge Brothers service experts have offered a set of suggestions to the motoring public.

The cooler weather of the fall months causes grease and oil troubles in many cases. The grease and oil congeal and thicken until their lubricating value is greatly reduced, sometimes blocking up lubricating systems. Drivers are urged to inspect and occasionally all parts of the mechanism where grease and oil may get clogged. A lighter grade of oil should be used in the motor to avoid the thickening tendency. Also it should be drained out now and then when the supply is low so that an entirely new supply may be run in.

Service men also advise special attention for the battery. During the cold months an engine is harder to start and the drain on the battery is greater than in summer. Moreover the longer periods of darkness demand more power for the lights. All this results in weakened batteries but if they are kept filled with distilled water and recharged occasionally trouble will be averted.

Putting Up the Bus. Some drivers at the end of a strenuous summer season may say, "Oh, well, I'll be putting the bus up for the winter soon and maybe get it overhauled." This attitude sometimes means hard wear on the car, and bills which could have been prevented if the driver had only been a little more considerate of his car.

The proper use of the carburetor

"choke" should be moved back to normal. This should not be used any more than necessary for heat results. Service experts recommend that the "choke" should be moved back to normal position by the time a car has run a quarter of a mile.

A rather common autumn fault is allowing the water in the cooling system to run low. This causes loss of power and damage to the motor. Not only should a radiator be kept filled with water in fall as well as summer, but should be properly adjusted to keep the cooling system right.

Some motorists suppose that universal joints, shackles, steering connections and various bearings need a great deal less lubrication during cool weather. If this supposition is carried too far, considerable minor damages may result. At the end of summer, exposed joints where dust may have penetrated the grease should be examined and closed. The presence of dust both clogs the lubrication and grinds the metal.

Should Inspect Brakes. Fall rains, resulting in slippery roads and pavements, may take a driver unawares with brakes in poor condition. Brakes should be inspected at a service station to be sure of greater safety.

Another important factor is that more shabby looking cars appear in autumn than in any other season. Dust, mud stains and grease are more frequently allowed to get by in the fall. The body of a car should be kept free of these stains as much as possible. A lady, well cared for in this respect, will keep the car "looking new" much longer than if this feature is neglected. The fine enamel finish of Dodge Brothers' motor cars is practically indestructible and only requires a good cleaning and polishing occasionally to restore its original luster.

Competition From American Sources Handicaps Europe

Facts and figures compiled recently by the American Automobile Association show that the manufacturing end of the automobile business in foreign countries has been practically ruined by Yankee competition. From a production point of view Europe has never been noted for its activity in this line of industry, but during the past two years a steadily increasing demand for cars has come from England, France, Spain and Italy, and since the native manufacturers could not begin to supply the demand, American made cars were called for to relieve the situation.

Leaving out of consideration the element of quantity, that of quality has had a great deal to do with the demand for American automobiles. In this respect American machines are far in advance of their English and French competitors. The British made Reoys-Royce is the only car made outside the United States that is recognized as being superior to the average Yankee machine and several of the more expensive cars made in America can compare favorably in any detail with this British aristocrat at the present time. The work which American passenger cars, motor trucks, ambulances and other power driven vehicles performed in the great world war gave ample proof that Yankee mechanical products were far ahead of those of the European manufacturers. Furthermore it is stated that the initial cost of the American cars and their subsequent maintenance expenses are a great deal less than those of the English or French machines.

Quick to Take Advantage. Automobile manufacturers in this country have been quick to take advantage of conditions in Europe, and at the present time every auto builder of any size in the United States has established foreign branch offices in London, Paris or other strategic points. A few of the more venturesome have opened branches in India, Africa, Australia and other far off countries while one company, headed by a certain Henry Ford, has even gone so far as to establish an assembling plant at Cork, Ireland, and is building his flyovers right under the noses of British competitors.

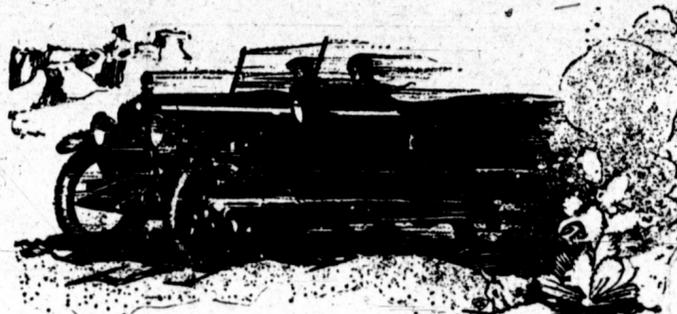

The use of the automobile in India, Africa and in certain parts of the Orient is increasing by leaps and bounds of late and the field for mechanical products is indeed a fertile one. Japan is becoming a Mecca for auto salesmen while report has it that the Chinese are becoming more or less interested in the Yankee speed rikshaws. British interests in India and Africa are introducing automobiles in those countries and are opening vast possibilities for the motor car. The greatest field for the automobile, outside of the United States, is South America. The strides which this country has been making in civilization during the past 10 years has had no equal in the annals of the world, and because of this representatives of the Yankee auto factories have flocked into South America 1 the thousands. The newness of the country in its development and the craving of the people for the latest and most approved methods in all of their activities has firmly established the automobile as one of the future, if not the present, industrial leaders of the country.

Be that as it may, it is an established fact that on the highways of England, France, Spain, Germany, Italy and Belgium, American made automobiles are appearing in ever increasing numbers and that the manufacturers of cars in these countries are closing their shops and factories in despair. Yankee genius and energy are dominating the field.

Puncture-Proof with Every Cord-Quality

LEE Cord Puncture-Proofs are the only Lee Cord tires that can win an argument with steel.

Let the thinnest, toughest, sharpest nail or stoutest spike try to pierce the triple thickness of steel discs. They cannot pass. Your tube is safe. The cord construction is uninjured. Not a cord cut or weakened, for the steel discs are placed between the cords and the tread.

For eighteen months Lee Cord Puncture-Proofs were subjected to the severest tests before being offered to the public. They were everything that a cord tire should be—not a single cord quality had been sacrificed to make them puncture-proof.

Let us show you the quality and construction of this remarkable tire.
