

DOUBT THAT HOOVER WILL BE A MEMBER OF HARDING CABINET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—There is a growing doubt among both republicans and democrats here that Herbert Hoover will be one of the members of President-elect Harding's cabinet.

No republican will speak for publication on cabinet possibilities in advance of Harding's selection, and democrats hold it would be discourteous for them to do so.

It is also reported Governor Frank O. Lowden may get the secretaryship of interior post, instead of the treasury, which would leave Hoover to be secretary of commerce if he were appointed.

ILLINOIS AND OHIO MAY RECEIVE JOLT IN TODAY'S GAMES

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The western football conference today drew interest toward the outcome of the three games which determine the final contestants for the 1926 championship—the Michigan-Ohio State game at Columbus, the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago, and the Minnesota-Wisconsin game at Minneapolis.

Illinois, 1919 conference champion, and Ohio State, last year's runner-up, offered undefeated teams for today's play, while Wisconsin, Michigan and Chicago, each though defeated in one conference game, may go into a tie for first place unless the two unbeaten eleven can keep their states clean for the rest of the season.

Although Michigan took its one-point lead to Illinois last Saturday, the Wolverines are confident they have an even chance with Ohio State and realize it is their only chance to remain in the run for the conference title.

Illinois, on the other hand, faces a much easier prospect in the much-rucpled Chicago team. The team of Quarterback Bobby Cole for the rest of the season, and Crisler, sterling backfield man, and with Hanish in doubtful condition, leaves Coach Strang's squad seriously handicapped. All three were injured in the hard fought defeat by Ohio State last Saturday. Coach Zuppke feels that his team has materially improved since its victory over Minnesota last week, the weak spot developed by Minnesota's superiority in the first two periods having been strengthened.

Wisconsin also was a strong favorite over Minnesota in their clash at Minneapolis today.

SEVERAL IMPORTANT GAMES SCHEDULED ON EASTERN GRIDIRONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The 1926 football season on eastern collegiate gridirons entered on the last lap today with a number of contests of prime importance.

The Harvard-Princeton clash at Cambridge, the first of the "big three" classics, was the headline. Both teams have been undefeated this season and both have demonstrated high scoring potentialities. The Crimson, because of its more consistent defensive strength, was favored to stop the speedy Tigers.

Yale had the undefeated Brown eleven as its opponent at New Haven, White admitting the strength of the Providence College team, planned to reverse its full power for Princeton next week.

Dartmouth was a slight favorite over Cornell at Ithaca today. Both cities. The Ithacans have not been defeated, but their schedule has been lighter than the Green, which has bowed before Syracuse, Penn State, and Princeton.

GEORGIA AND VIRGINIA UNIVERSITIES CLASH IN SOUTH'S BIG GAME

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—Interest in southern football today centered in the annual clash between the Universities of Georgia and Virginia at Charlottesville, Va. A hard fought close game was expected, although the Georgian eleven has made a much more formidable record this season than the Virginia team, which is rather light.

On the south's southern coast, today also were games between Alabama and Vanderbilt at Birmingham; Georgia Tech and Clemson at Atlanta; Virginia Military Institute and the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, N. C., and Tulane and Florida at Tampa. The Washington and Lee-West Virginia tilt at Charleston, W. Va., also attracted attention throughout the south.

Georgia Tech, after its showing against Centre last week, did not expect to have any difficulty in disposing of Clemson and was expected to conserve its strength for the Georgia-Tulane game here next Saturday.

BURKE'S SUCCESSOR STILL A MATTER OF CONJECTURE

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—St. Louis sporting writers were divided as to the probable successor of James Burke, who was released as manager of the St. Louis Browns yesterday.

Coach John McAllister, assistant to Trip Speaker in the Cleveland Indians' highly successful 1925 campaign, is looked upon as the dark horse candidate. Other names frequently mentioned are Clarence Rowland and Lee Pohl.

The latter two are conceded to be the favorites for the position. However, Speaker is due in St. Louis Sunday and is reported scheduled for a conference with business manager, Bob Quinn. This is regarded as significant by local sport authorities.

Quinn continued to be reticent about discussing the future Browns' leader.

GRAND JURY'S FINAL REPORT TURNED IN TO CHIEF JUSTICE TODAY

Weaver, McMullin And Risberg Give Bonds Of $10,000 To Protect Innocence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Cook county special grand jury's final report on its investigation of the baseball scandal was presented today to Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald, containing a complete resume of its findings during the month and a half it has been investigating into the connection of gambling with baseball. Recommendations for the benefit of the game were included in the report. It is understood that three of the indicted White Sox players, George "Buck" Weaver, Fred McMullin and Charles "Swede" Risberg, gave bonds of $10,000 each in criminal court yesterday, protesting their innocence of any participation in the fixing of the world's series. They said they wished the general public to hold a reservation of judgment until they have had a chance in court to prove the charges untrue.

CRIMSON AND TIGERS ALL SET FOR ANNUAL GRIDIRON BATTLE

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The Harvard-Princeton game today, first of the annual "big three" classics, found the Princeton Tiger, teeth bared in a snarl, in the underbrush of a strange jungle set to possess on the broad red back of Harvard.

The bulky Harvard eleven, cheery with prestige from past victories over old Nassau, openly voiced their campaign plans—get Princeton and then get Yale.

Perfect weather prevailed. The day was clear with just enough fall sting in the air to make overcoats comfortable and to put "pop" into the players.

Crowds thronged staid old Boston. Hotels had their space reserved weeks ago and late comers found themselves forced to follow the rather unceremonious advice of clerks—"Hunt a rooming house; there are lots of them."

The SPORTLIGHT by Granland Rice

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 4.—There is a general impression around that West Point gets all the husky youngsters in the country.

But look over a few of these cards," remarked Colonel Kockler. "It was hard to believe, yet there was the record of players who had never played a game of baseball, football, tennis or any other leading sport."

General McArthur and Colonel Kockler were both in positions to judge the leading role which athletic training in different games played in the World War.

They saw it came not only in a physical way, but also in co-ordinating the physical and mental side of a man.

There were two obstacles brought forward when it was decided to make every man in the academy take up every well known sport.

One was the matter of athletic uniforms. The other was the point made about physical injury for those who were not football types.

The athletic uniforms were secured through an appropriation. Rush orders were sent in and complete equipment for every sport was secured.

As for injuries, "Here's the latest statement," said Colonel Kockler. "This statement showed that with 1,000 cadets playing football, soccer, lacrosse, etc., only nine minor injuries were reported, without a serious casualty of any sort."

How many athletes from our leading universities have played in or have been taught as many as twelve or fourteen different sports?

The answer is not a one. Three or four sports are usually the limit and the rule is to specialize in one or two.

In the realm of sport West Point has eliminated the specialist. It has worked out a complete solution of the old problem, "How shall we have sport for everybody?"

The answer here is a long array of football fields, soccer fields, tennis courts, lacrosse fields, etc., all crowded with players, not surrounded by spectators.

And this answer happens to be the greatest story in sport for many a fleeting year.

SMOOTH TALK GETS MAN HIS FREEDOM, ESCAPES WITH DOG

A smooth tongue enabled a man who had appropriated the ownership of a valuable bird dog, owned by J. E. Hemrod of this city, to make his escape from officers at Burkburnett and Frederick, Okla., and today he is being sought in other cities in Oklahoma.

The man was seen at the union depot Friday afternoon with the dog. A peace officer noticed the dog and was of the opinion that he recognized the dog as that of Mr. Hemrod. The man claimed the dog, however, and the officer called Mr. Hemrod on the telephone, but before his return the man and the dog were on their way to Burkburnett.

A message was sent to Burkburnett by the officers there asking them to place under arrest the man with the dog. They met the train but the party told them the story that the dog was his and that he had bought it here in Wichita Falls, paying $25. or 30.

The officers let him resume his journey. Officials in this city then telegraphed Frederick, Okla., and informed them that there was a warrant for his arrest here in the hands of the sheriff. But the same incident occurred at this place. He told the officers there that he had paid $175 for the dog and that he had secured it from the conductor on the other train. Officers here believing that the man would be taken into custody, did not wire any further on, but Saturday morning word was received that Officer Fredrick, Okla., believed his story and allowed him to continue to Oklahoma City. Before word could be gotten to Oklahoma City the man had left the train.

JURY IN CRABB CASE HAS NOT REACHED AGREEMENT

The jury which heard the evidence in the case against Tom Crabb charged with accepting a bribe, was still out at a late hour Saturday morning. It was reported that the jury could not agree and that they had made an attempt to report to the judge that it was a hung jury.

The case went before them at 7 o'clock Friday evening after the entire afternoon was consumed in the submission of evidence. The case was tried in the 18th district court.
