

MARK SULLIVAN SAYS WOULD BE FUTILE TO RESUBMIT TREATY

LOGGE EXPECTED TO BLOCK ANY EFFORT TO SETTLE MATTER NOW.

PRESIDENT NOT LIKELY TO ABANDON ARTICLE 10

Much Speculation in Washington As To Probable Attitude Of The Senate.

By MARK SULLIVAN, National political correspondent of the New York Post. Copyright 1920 by New York Evening Post.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16.—Washington buzzes with speculation as to whether or not President Wilson will again submit the treaty and the attached league covenant to the senate when it reassembles on the first Monday in December. Gossip represents the president as in a mood to dramatic things, as intending to address congress personally from a wheeled chair.

To resubmit the treaty would be a dramatic thing, but it is difficult to see how it could be other than a futile thing. Everybody knows of course, that President Wilson could have got the treaty through the senate any time during the twelve months of debate on it if he had been willing to throw article X overboard, but he said article X was "the heart of the covenant" and defied the senate's efforts to eliminate it.

Of course it is conceivable that Wilson might now take the ground that he invited a great popular referendum; that this referendum might be held; that however the result of the referendum may be interpreted on some points there be no reason that it is overwhelmingly adverse to article X; that he bows to the decision of the majority, and that he now resubmits the treaty to the senate and pledges himself in advance to accept the elimination of article X and otherwise to agree to all the so-called "Logge reservations."

President Wilson could do that. It would, in the terminology of political strategy "put the senate in a hole." It would put Senator Lodge under the necessity of making another tortuous reversal. But there need be no doubt that the senate would endure the embarrassment cheerfully and Senator Lodge would make the necessary "about face" with facile grace born of that considerable experience in tortuous maneuvering which has been forced upon him by the exigencies of changing developments in the league situation.

In the event that President Wilson should do this thing that gossip suspects, Senator Lodge, as chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, would undoubtedly say that the situation has changed since the senate last talked compromise with the president, that a new president with a new policy will take office in three months, and that he would keep the resubmitted treaty in his foreign affairs committee until March 4.

But President Wilson is most unlikely to resubmit the treaty with an offer to accept the reservations, or to do anything else harmful to article X. Not Self-Deceived. President Wilson is not self-deceived about his position. He knows that even more than most presidents, after an election in which the opposing party wins, he is impatient for immediate or practical results. From now on, Wilson will be intent on keeping his record straight for history. And having history in mind, after standing by article X through so much tragedy he is not likely to throw it overboard now.

I think very few people realize how completely Wilson is wrapped up in article X. Article X may or may not be "the heart of the treaty," as Wilson says it is. Mr. Ellihu Root says it is not. If Mr. Root were describing article X in terms of anatomy he would say it is a third leg, or an extra head. Mr. Root's exact language is that article X "is a provision standing by itself quite outside the general scheme of the league." But however that may be, whether article X is "the heart of the covenant" or not, it is most certainly very close to the heart of Wilson. It is Wilson's own child, and so far as the covenant is concerned it is said to be his only child. If article X were eliminated, the covenant would be "the heart of the treaty," but someone's article X would be eliminated, history could hardly set Wilson down as a father of the League of Nations. And it is fair to infer that this is exactly the dream that Wilson has about history.

Responsible For Article Ten. That Wilson personally is responsible for article ten there can be no doubt. That it is the only subsequent element in the treaty has been said in a friendly way to Mr. Wilson. But this is not so clear. It is a point as to which only historians will have access to secret minutes can be just.

But one thing is certain "as far as I know, attention has never been adequately called to the fact that article ten did not come into President Wilson's mind in connection with the League of Nations. It was not devised by him as a part of the covenant. It was first devised by him long before the League of Nations was thought of. Article ten was first devised by President Wilson some time during 1918, and was first put into words by him in a speech delivered on Jan. 6, 1918, before the second Pan-American Science congress. At that time President Wilson had the problem of Mexico much on his mind. He wanted the co-operation of Chile, Argentina, Brazil and other South American countries in handling the Mexican problem. He wanted to devise a plan which would make all the nations in North and South America equal partners in preserving the integrity of each of them. In expressing this Mr. Wilson first alluded to the Monroe doctrine and then said:

"I believe that you will sustain me in the statement that it has been fears and suspicions on this score which have hitherto prevented the greater intimacy and confidence and trust between the Americas. The states of America have not been certain of what the United States would do with her power."

Must Remove Doubt. That doubt must be removed. And lately there has been a very frank interchange of views between the authorities in Washington and those who represented the other states of this hemisphere, an interchange of views charming and hopeful, because based upon an increasingly sure appreciation of the spirit in which the were undertaken. These gentlemen have seen that if America is to come to her own legitimate own in a world of peace and order, she must establish the fountain of emity so that none will hereafter doubt them. I hope and believe that this can be accomplished. These conferences have enabled me to foresee how it will be accomplished. It will be accomplished in the first place by the states of America uniting in guaranteeing to each other absolutely political independence and territorial integrity." The identity in thought, clear between this passage and the language of article ten: "The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of the members of the league."

The deductions and inferences drawn by the persons who have known this earlier incarnation of article ten in President Wilson's mind have not been friendly to his place in history. This, however, does not by any means follow necessarily. However it may be, the fact is given here merely as a contribution to the covenant's genealogy.

THREE BIG NATIONS ARE SATISFIED WITH THE ADRIATIC TREATY

ROME, Nov. 15.—Great Britain France and the United States have, through their ambassadors, expressed satisfaction with the settlement of the Adriatic question reached at Rapallo, Italy, last week.

Signor Giolitti is quoted as declaring the situation in the armistice zone around Fiume gave no cause for anxiety. All talk of Point Isabel as the summer capital during Harding's administration has vanished since the advent of the northern.

A call from Governor W. P. Hobby of Texas was scheduled for today. He came here to pay his respects to the president-elect and while here will review federal troops stationed at Fort Brown. Harding hopes to squeeze in a game of golf on his last day before leaving to catch the steamer for Panama.

HARDING PLANS TO LEAVE WEDNESDAY FOR NEW ORLEANS

FROM THAT CITY HE WILL TAKE A BOAT THURSDAY FOR PANAMA.

PROMINENT VISITORS SEE PRESIDENT-ELECT TUESDAY

Little Prospect Of Point Isabel Becoming Summer Home Of The President.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, Nov. 16.—All the comforts of home were available for President-Elect Warren G. Harding once more today.

He spends the last day of his Texas vacation comfortably quartered at the home of R. B. Creager, Brownsville lawyer, who arranged the Point Isabel adventure which ended with the escape of Senator Harding and his party after being marooned in great personal discomfort for four days in the clutches of a severe storm.

All talk of Point Isabel as the summer capital during Harding's administration has vanished since the advent of the northern. A call from Governor W. P. Hobby of Texas was scheduled for today. He came here to pay his respects to the president-elect and while here will review federal troops stationed at Fort Brown. Harding hopes to squeeze in a game of golf on his last day before leaving to catch the steamer for Panama.

ITALIANS ARE URGED TO SHOW PATRIOTISM

ROME, Nov. 15.—Italian newspapers, with the exception of nationalist organs, continue to approve the treaty of Rapallo and to urge the people to show patriotism and discipline in supporting the government in this grave moment. They declare the people should assume this attitude despite the renunciations which were inevitable in order to reach a compromise with the Jugo-Slavs.

GRANBURY PEANUT PLANT IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

GRANBURY, TEXAS, Nov. 15.—The Granbury Milling and Peanut Products company plant was destroyed by fire here late yesterday afternoon with a loss of $500,000. The plant was the largest of its kind in the state. Many girls and other employees in the building when the fire started escaped.

Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico spent part of the day with Harding, having arrived here in time for dinner with him last night. Because of Senator Harding's reluctance to consider problems of state while on his vacation it was doubtful if the Mexican question in which Fall is interested, would be discussed.

May Be Ambassador. It was reported here that Creager, who induced Harding to come to Texas for his vacation, may be considered for the ambassadorship at Mexico City. Creager was republican candidate for governor of Texas some years ago, but was defeated.

George B. Christian, Harding's secretary, said today that the president-elect would have no conference of political significance before he leaves for Panama.

It was reported here that Senators Lodge, Now and Hiram Johnson were planning to meet Harding at New Orleans Thursday but members of the Harding staff said they knew of no appointments for these senators.

Senator Harding and his guests were none the worse today for their wild adventure at Point Isabel. Some members of his party were disappointed at the accommodations provided, but there was a general disposition to enjoy the experience of roughing it as much as possible. The severe weather caused the chief inconvenience.

Some of the party aside from Senator and Mrs. Harding, have moved to the private cars which have been on the siding here.

Harding leaves tomorrow for New Orleans where he takes the boat for Panama Tuesday.

DISAPPROVE THE RECENT STATEMENTS OF MINISTER FROM PERU TO FRANCE

LIMA, PERU, Nov. 15.—Disapproval of recent statement made in Europe by Dr. Mariano Cornejo, Peruvian minister to France and delegate to the meeting of the assembly of the League of Nations in Geneva, has been cabled to Dr. Cornejo by the Peruvian foreign office. Some of his statements relative to the United States politics which he is alleged to have made to a newspaper in Paris are declared to be "imprudent."

The crowning success of the world's largest packers of sugar cane products

TO give to the South an ideal syrup had always been the greatest ambition of two Louisianians who, twenty-two years ago, started out to duplicate those sweets of cane-crushing time they had loved down on the old plantation.

Success came almost immediately as one after another of their luscious products was perfected and shipped all over the country. One day Penick and Ford awoke to find that they were doing the biggest sugar cane products business in the world and they realized that now had come the time to make their cherished syrup.

This syrup is now at your grocer's. Brer Rabbit they called it, in honor of the hero of the plantation stories of their boyhood. Already it is the largest selling high-grade syrup in the world.

Order a can today. There are two Brer Rabbit syrups. The straight pure juice of the sugar cane (blue label) and a milder syrup of modified sweetness (brown label). This latter syrup is especially put up for those who prefer a softening of the rich sweetness of old-fashioned plantation syrup. Enjoy the noted Brer Rabbit flavor tonight! ### ORDER INVESTIGATION OF ELECTION FRAUDS

Grand Jury Will Hear Complaints of Irregularities in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Judge John J. McIntyre, of the court of general sessions, ordered the August grand jury to begin an investigation today of a number of complaints of election frauds on November 2.

Among those summoned to appear before the jury were John J. Voorhis, president of the board of election districts, who was asked to produce ballot boxes and tally sheets from the fourth assembly district, and a number of persons who claimed to have witnessed irregularities at several polling places.

Deputy Attorney Charles P. Robinson has been assigned to prosecute the alleged frauds.

Cases expected to be taken up during the day included the report of twenty-six marked ballots of one district being found in a sewer opening, and the allegation by Antonio Delesardo, republican leader, that a bet was made in the seventh election district that Nathan L. Miller, governor-elect, would not receive more than five votes. The official count showed that he received just that number.

PRESIDENT WILSON TO EAT A THANKSGIVING TURKEY FROM RECENT CUERO TROT

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Nov. 16.—President Wilson will eat Cuero turkey for his Thanksgiving dinner.

A big bronze turkey, the most gorgeous of the Cuero turkey trot, the annual showing off of King Turk before his head is cut off, has been sent to the president at Washington. An almost exact model of the white house is the bird's coop.

The largest turkey of the 7,500 which paraded down the main street of Cuero at the trot was the one chosen for President Wilson.

President-Elect Harding has already eaten his Cuero turkey, according to reports from Point Isabel. The turkey was too large to be carried to New Orleans and on the boat bound for Panama for a Thanksgiving day dinner. It was said. This turkey was also shipped in a crate modeled after the white house.

CONSIDERABLE REDUCTION IN COTTON SEED CRUSHED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The census bureau's monthly cotton seed and cotton seed products report issued today shows 773,464 tons of seed were crushed in the period August 1 to October 31 and 471,979 tons on hand at mills October 31, compared with 972,766 and 698,559 last year.

Cotton seed products manufactured during the three months period and on hand October 31, were:

Crude oil produced 237,737,244 pounds, compared with 297,707,129 and on hand 468,851,351 pounds compared with 118,149,951.

Refined oil produced 410,558,827 pounds, compared with 445,682, and on hand 170,017,309 pounds, compared with 108,484,267.

Cake and meal produced 542,857 tons, compared with 445,682, and on hand 155,543 tons compared with 125,462.

Exports of oil were 15,056,802 pounds compared with 26,474,152; of cake and meal 4,467 tons, compared with 5,533 and of lint 4,842 running bales compared with 9,689.

Cummings, surgeon-general of the United States public health service.

Amusements

OH DADDY AT WICHITA PROVES ONLY MEDIOCRE

A chorus of prettily costumed girls, a number of meritorious songs and a larger number of mediocre ones, some entertaining humor and some that were amusing at the expense of moral propriety, two stars of the first magnitude and a larger number who depended mostly on a past reputation were presented at the Wichita theatre Monday night in the musical comedy "Oh Daddy" which was pre-announced as the supreme musical hit of the year. There was a whole lot of disappointing, notwithstanding the work of two of the leading actors who displayed some of the finest ability which has been seen in Wichita Falls this year. There were a number of attractive features which augured well for the production, but on the other hand there were some which will not permit of "Oh Daddy" being termed a complete success.

The work of Peggy Earle, who carried the leading feminine role, and that of Martin Bowers, who appeared as the chief comedian of the play, was easily the main attraction of the entire performance. Miss Earle captivated the audience by her attractive personality, sprightly dancing and pleasing songs, and her acting was easily the best seen at the theatre. Martin Bowers shared the honors with Miss Earle in popular favor by his capable performance as well as by the weird costume in which he was garbed. Both of these stars drew hearty applause on their every appearance.

As for the rest of the cast, their work as a whole was commendable but nothing exceptional. William Colton, who really played the leading part, gave a very good characterization of the befuddled and choleric Dr. Grey, but unfortunately the role required frequent allusions of a questionable character. Miss Jean Darrow in the role of the comely "Rainbow Widow" who had mysteriously disposed of four previous husbands, to wit: Messrs. Black, Brown, Green and White, and who was furthering her nefarious plans at the expense of Dr. Gray, did commendable work in an unattractive part. Billy Earle, alias Lt. Tom Gray, was well received but his work was placed at a disadvantage by

RESCUED MEMBERS CREW OF STEAMER TELL OF THE WRECK

SALT STE MARIE, MICH., Nov. 16.—Wrapped in blankets and sipping sustaining liquids, members of the rescued crew of the steamer Wildar today told of their experiences aboard the wrecked boat and gave details of their rescue last night.

The men were rescued after they had been buffeted about for the wrecked ship for sixty-three hours. The boat beached on Pancake Shoals Friday and the 22 men were not taken off until last night.

"We had just about given up hope of being rescued," said one of the crew. How they struggled to live while waiting for help was told by one of the men who said the ship's order was aft with all the crew huddled forward. Several attempts, he said, were made to reach the ladder but strong winds and high waves crashing over the side of the boat halted every attempt. Finally several volunteers made the dash and returned with enough chicken for the entire crew.

A stove was rigged up and furniture broken up to start a fire.

Finally when dawn broke Monday they ate the fried chicken.

In response to an appeal for volunteers, five of the crew Sunday left in a small boat with Captain Arthur Torres to summon aid. Forten succeeded in reaching a passing steamer and despatched a wireless to the Soo requesting aid. The tug Iowa was sent to the scene but the rocky shoals prevented it from coming close.

It was necessary to put a rowboat overboard to take off the crew.

Though a high sea was running and the small boat was threatened with being capsized, it made five trips and brought all the crew aboard the tug. "Tootie," a fox terrier mascot of the Wildar, was also rescued. The Wildar is lying in eighteen feet of water.

KLEBERG COUNTY FARMERS TO ADOPT MARKETING SYSTEM

KINGSVILLE, TEXAS, Nov. 16.—Cotton growers of Kleberg county will construct a warehouse and adopt a marketing system which would put cotton on the market in such quantities as the needs of the spinners suggest. Construction will be started as soon as standard plans for such warehouses are accepted by the board of governors of the United Cotton Growers association.

This association will try to establish a system of fireproof warehouses all over Texas and arrange for cooperative marketing, following the plan of California fruit growers. It is the contention of the association that by spreading the marketing of the crop over the entire year, variation in price can be eliminated to a large extent, while possession of the warehouses would make possible the holding of the crop until prices appeared equitable to the farmer.

Attempts to form pools in this district were thwarted, it is claimed by men behind the movement, by the refusal of warehousemen to receive pooled cotton, although individuals may place their cotton in storage for as long a period as they desire.

Immediately after a "Danderine" massage, your hair takes on new life, lustre and wondrous beauty, appearing twice as heavy and plentiful, because each hair seems to fluff and thicken. Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, plain or scraggly. You, too, want lots of long, strong, beautiful hair. A 35-cent bottle of delightful "Danderine" freshens your scalp, checks dandruff and falling hair. This stimulating "beauty- tonic" gives to thin, dull, fading hair that youthful brightness and abundant thickness—All druggists.—Adv.

RAILROAD PRESIDENTS OF SHORT LINES HAVE TROUBLESOME PROBLEMS

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The trials of railroad presidents who preside over the destinies of the country's short lines are coming to light in the hearings being given here to more than 100 short lines whose employers have petitioned the United States Railway Labor board for increased pay.

On Texas roads, built primarily to open up a route to some mineral deposit beds, has to date the champion hard luck rate, according to C. W. W. Hanger, member of the board. The president of the line explained he owned 41 miles of track between two terminal cities. His fast passenger train covered the distance in two hours.

But between the two cities is a hard surfaced highway, and enterprising auto owners have opened a bus line. The highway, on a direct route, is little more than twenty miles long, compared to the railroad's 41. The auto bus covers the distance in 40 minutes, one hour and twenty minutes faster than the train, and charge the same fare.

Freight Outlook Bad.
The freight outlook he described as equally bad. A company operating motor trucks with two trailers to the truck hauls freight over the highway faster than the road can by train, delivers the goods at the merchant's store door, and charges the same tariff as the railroad. And on top of this other troubles it is now estimated that the mineral deposit which furnishes the main remaining source of revenue will be exhausted within three years.

The president of an Alabama short line whose principal source of revenue is hauling ore to Birmingham furnaces appeared to defend his company against six employes, all station agents who had requested more money. Their present income is $95 a month.

The railroad president exhibited a person's knowledge of the affairs of each of his employes. One of the station agents, he said, owned a country store a few rods from the railroad station and had run his telegraph wire in to the store so he could handle his duties as dispatcher and operator while waiting on customers. A second was described as the wife of a prosperous farmer. She had her telegraph line in the farm kitchen, the president said. Of the six operators only one was located in a town, and that was a village of 500 population. The president said his road paid no dividends and operated at a loss of $100,000 last year.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS ARE CONDEMNED BY BAPTISTS

EL PASO, TEXAS, Nov. 15.—Resolutions condemning Sunday amusements, card playing and dancing by church members or in home of church members, were unanimously adopted by the Baptist general convention of Texas at its closing session here today.

Dr. M. A. Jenkins of Abilene in his report on foreign missions declared the world war had facilitated the work of missionaries. "The people are more willing to hear of Christ," he said.

BEGIN THE TESTIMONY IN SLAUGHTER-GREEN CASE AT HOT SPRINGS

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., Nov. 16.—With the completion of the jury early in the case of Tom Slaughter and Fulton Green, self-confessed Oklahoma bank robbers, the state began introduction of testimony by which, counsel said, it would prove that the defendants were guilty of first degree murder for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Row Brown near Hot Springs last month. The court house and court room are heavily guarded by a detachment of A. N. G. men and everyone entering the building is searched, the local authorities taking no chances on a possible attempted liberation of the men.

There was an additional ripple of interest in the court room yesterday afternoon when S. D. Caldwell, president of the People's Bank of Cave City, Kan., entered and asked permission to speak to and identify Slaughter as the man who single-handedly held him up in his bank and secured $8,500 last April 6. Caldwell spoke to Slaughter and asked him if he recognized him. Slaughter smiled and admitted his identity, declaring that Caldwell was not a bit afraid while handing over the money to him.

Green is wanted for the robbery of the Farmers' Bank at Odessa, Mo., which took place on July 1, according to a warrant which reached the local officials from the latter place.

A new ferry line, the longest in the world, is to be operated between England and Sweden.

Important to Large Families Karo Solves the "Sweet" Problem at Less Cost

The mother of a large family cannot help being worried over the extremely high prices of today. In children especially, Nature emphasizes her demand for sweets. We all need a good percentage of sweets each day.

This is the reason why over two hundred million cans of Karo were sold last year—it is the Great American Sweet for every purpose.

There is an every day use for Karo. From breakfast — on pancakes or waffles — to dinner for cooking and baking.

Instead of worrying about and paying high prices for store candy, make Karo Candy at home. It is easy to make, costs but little and its purity makes it best for children.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

There is no waste. If a recipe calls for one egg — two cups of flour — half a cup of milk — that's all you use. You never have to re-bake.

Calumet is absolutely sure. In any baking — any time, whether the can has just been opened or whether it is the last spoonful.

Contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities — and is the product of the largest, most modern and sanitary Baking Powder Factories in existence.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

GREAT PROGRESS IN AERIAL NAVIGATION BRITISH FORECAST

By FLETCHER ALLEN

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Aerial navigation in the near future will be as far ahead of the present practice as the steamship is ahead of the sailing vessel. The new airplanes will be driven by steam turbines, and instead of all the manual labor being left to the pilot, he will simply telegraph his orders to the engine room, and the crew will carry out his commands, leaving him free to use his brain, instead of his hands, and lessening the physical fatigue which has so frequently been the cause of calamity.

According to Sir E. L. Ellington, the British vice air-marshal, the program of the air ministry is proceeding along revolutionary lines, and promises considerable change in airplane and airship construction. The hurried experiments carried out in the late war were not made on a strictly scientific basis, but followed the usual trial and error system of emergency operations, so that while certain results were obtained they were not obtained in the most satisfactory or economical manner.

Sir E. L. Ellington, says that the air ministry is now concerned with the development of the following qualities in aircraft: Reliability, ease of control, landing and taking-off in the most restricted places, performance, i. e., speed, climbing, etc., and cheapness.

Corrects Popular Opinion. He corrects a popular opinion that reliability depends principally on the engine, pointing out that modern engines are far more developed and reliable than the planes which carry them, and will stand up under almost any trial that is put upon them, provided that they are well-overhauled prior to the flight. Most failures are due to conditions outside the engine itself, such as petrol supply, lubrication, water systems, ignitor, etc., and with the improvement of these conditions, which is now under experiment, the hope of perfection is great.

Experiments in Great Britain, however, are still principally concerned with the engine, and are especially directed to a low weight power ratio. Learning from the use of a "wash-plate" engine in submarine steering, the ministry have undertaken a series of experiments which are intended to adapt the "wash-plate" engine to flight uses. The wash-plate engine is one in which an inclined disc on the shaft takes the place of the crank in the ordinary type. The advantage of such an engine is that a small proportion of the weight of the plane will be used in the power unit, and as the cylinders will lie parallel to the shaft it will permit of a more perfect streamline construction of the nacelle or fuselage, to reduce the wind-resistance.

More Experiments Made.

More experiments have been made in the development of the steam turbine engine and fitting it for aero engines. There is a definite limit in the improvement of internal combustion engines for flight service, (usually reckoned at 40 h. p. maximum) and a great need for the increase of motive power in view of the expansion of air traffic. The air ministry therefore has the steam turbine under consideration, being convinced, in the light of recent knowledge, that a steam plant can be produced which will fulfill practically all the required conditions, and in addition would possess one marked advantage, it would be silent in operation.

Great advance is heralded also in construction, particularly in connection with the reduction of physical effort demanded of the pilot, who at present has to operate the control surfaces. With the increase of multi-engine planes the necessary physical effort is rapidly passing beyond the limit of man's endurance. The mechanical means of operating the control surfaces are being perfected. In machines at present in the design stage the pilot will be relieved of control of the engine, and will telegraph his orders to the engine room, much as is now the practice on board ship.

Important Developments.

From a military standpoint the most important developments are the Fairey Seaplane and the Handley Page. The Fairey has an adjustable wing, and the Handley Page has a false leading edge, enabling the machines to rise at a very steep angle.

Jules Verne, however, and the famous fictionists are never out of mind of the airman. It is obvious that if a pilot can operate his machine on restricted landing grounds a great military advantage will be gained under such circumstances a pilot will be able to search localities under question as easily as a cavalry or an infantry patrol. Sir E. L. Ellington is of the opinion that this problem will not finally be solved until the helicopter is perfected. What is needed is a machine that can automatically descend at a safe rate when the engine is stopped as an ordinary airplane planes down in similar circumstances.

In design, much is expected of the all-metal machine, along the line of the Vovosodski patents, which permits of the engines being carried within the wing structure. The latest improvements give reason to believe that the undercarriage can be drawn into the main body of the machine during flight, and so greatly lessen wind-resistance. Experiments and improvements have been by no means confined to the heavier-than-air machine. The new airships are being constructed in England which will far exceed all others in novelty of design as well as in size and speed. R-38 is being built for speed, and R-39 is an experiment in size.

The difficulties of mooring are speedily being overcome. It has been demonstrated that an airship can safely be moored at a masthead and outside any weather, and that a skilful captain can bring his airship to the masthead in light airs with the assistance of only six men. Since these facts were demonstrated much headway has been made in the improvement of the mast. One is about to be erected at Howden (Yorkshire) which will be fitted with lifts for crews, etc., and a hoisting apparatus, as well as permanent petrol, water and gas mains. With this mast it is expected that mooring can be effected even in bad weather, with the assistance of only a small landing crew. If the expectation is reached it will be only necessary to return the airships to the sheds for major repairs and overhaul.

Britain is sparing no effort in an attempt to obtain the secrets of the air. The air d'oe sea are her vulnerable spots and Mr. Winston Churchill has pledged the government to do everything in its power to avert civil aviation, as well as to develop the "new arm" of defence.

The policy is one of encouragement and research assistance, rather than subsidies, but if it becomes necessary it may reasonably be anticipated that the government will allow the industry to see for want of assistance. So far civil aviation is in its infancy, although the Handley Page Transport company has completed a most successful year, having transported some 7,000 passengers without the loss of a single life, and carried freight and mails totaling roughly 184,000 pounds, while the distance covered was 271,000 miles.

DECLARES VESSELS MENACED NAVIGATION RESULT EQUIPMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—William R. Morton, former investigating agent for the United States shipping board, occupied the stand during most of today's hearing by the Walsh congressional committee. His testimony was along the following lines: Ships were equipped with a new electric steering apparatus which resulted in their being declared menaced to navigation.

Vessels, constructed of unseasoned wood and without sufficient framework, lost their shape through warping. Shipping board inspectors who refused to pass poor work on repair jobs were intimidated by agents of the repair companies or expelled by officials over them.

Ships were sold to private concerns which made enough through their operation to cover the purchase price before the initial payment was made.

Lloyds Agency inspected and passed unseaworthy ships built for the shipping board in private yards at Seattle.

Morton said that after being with the shipping board two years, he resigned and obtained employment with a New York shipping concern, because so many of his investigations were stopped as he was in the midst of them.

He first told of the sale of five ships to the National Oil Company through C. O. Yokum, in charge of the Pacific coast division of supply and sales. The average price for the hulls was $50,000 and the machinery $85,000. The machinery alone, he said, cost $200,000 in each vessel. Although it was the custom to require an immediate payment of at least two and a half per cent of the purchase price, no initial payment was made under this contract for six months. During that time, he testified, the company made enough through operating some of the ships to pay their entire cost.

Through a mandatory order from the shipping board, Morton said, between forty and fifty ships were equipped with a patent steering apparatus manufactured by the Benson-Smith Tele-motor Company of Superior, Wis., at a cost of $1,500 each.

BELIEVE LOOT OBTAINED WILL EXCEED $20,000

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 16.—That loot obtained in the robbery of a mail car on a transcontinental passenger train here Sunday will exceed $20,000 as first reported, was the belief expressed by officials here today. One of the missing mail pouches, it was said, contained several hundred thousand dollars in bonds.

Postal authorities continued their search today for the two men said to have aided Merle Phillips, 20, in the robbery. Phillips' alleged confession yesterday, officials said, gave fictitious names and investigators had considerable trouble in running down his story.

Japanese Students Planning to Discuss War with America

TOKIO, Nov. 16.—The student societies of three of Tokio's private universities have organized a meeting to be held tonight to discuss the question "Shall Japan fight America?" The police have twice summoned committee members from the students and tried unsuccessfully to persuade them to change the subject. The present arrangements are that the meetings will be held, with many student orators participating. Applications to speak have been received from labor and socialist representatives and members of patriotic societies.

The anti-ministerial press today prints attacks on Premier Hara's recent speech, one paper declaring his statement that Americans never violated Japan's rights to be untrue and expressing the view that such an attitude can lead only to a humiliating and unsatisfactory settlement with the United States. Another paper questions the premier's statement that anti-Japanese feeling is confined to California. It asserts that it is becoming nation-wide, the cause being the American supposition that Japan is an "eastern Germany" and the misunderstanding of her policy toward Shanghai, Korea and Siberia. The Japanese people, it adds, are prepared for any emergency.

RESPONSIBLE SENTIMENT IN ARKANSAS AGAINST THE HABIT OF NIGHT RIDING

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Nov. 16.—Responsible sentiment in this state is running strongly against night riding which has been undertaken in this and other cotton growing states to prevent the ginning and marketing of cotton at the present low price. Representative planters, bankers and business men feel strongly that this lawlessness is giving the south a "black eye."

At a recent meeting of the Arkansas division of the American Cotton Association here, night riding was condemned as an act of gross ignorance. Governor Brough has taken a vigorous stand against night riding and he has had further support, among others, from Claude Fitzpatrick, president of the Arkansas Bankers' Association. All the forces of the state and local governments in Arkansas are now co-operating to prevent further lawlessness in the cotton ginning centers.

Mass Meeting Held

operation of the citizens has been offered officers in maintaining order. Acts of violence for which night riding have been given credit in Arkansas have taken various forms. In addition to the burning of gins, warehouses and other property, farmers who attempted to market their cotton have been threatened with death or severe punishment, and in some cases have been badly maltreated. Negro families have been intimidated and driven from their homes because they sought employment or worked as cotton pickers. Hundreds of cotton gins in various sections of the state have been posted with warnings against continuing to buy and gin cotton, the threatened penalties for not heeding the warning including destruction of the plants and forfeiture of the lives of the owners.

In one county eight men now are awaiting action of the grand jury on a charge of setting fire to a gin, and in another section of the state three white farmers have been sentenced to a year's imprisonment and assessed heavy fines for intimidation of negro cotton pickers.

PRaises RED CROSS

"If in all the world there is an organization more to be regarded as doing good universally and doing nothing else at any time or any place, I do not know what it may be."

The fourth annual roll call of the Red Cross began on Armistice Day and continues through November 25.

The purpose is to secure renewal of the memberships that were given during the war that this great organization might function as it did in the past.

The same economic conditions that have made the world's work marks its work at home in peacetime. That, and its usefulness, is the reason why the Red Cross has the endorsement and support of everybody.

A president-elect of these United States, in many ways, has no better right to his honor. Dispatches from that level comment on the fact that the mail for Mr. Harding is beginning to arrive there in piles and bundles.

It is not a great honor, it is a responsibility. It is the honor of the American people. It is the honor of the American people.

The unemployment problem again. Signs are unmistakable that the period of extraordinary industrial activity with accompanying high prices and unusual demand for labor is coming to an end.

It is to be noted that the federal relief bill, as it stands at present, is a measure of emergency, not a measure of permanent relief.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I've golfed through out another year. The drifting snows will soon be here. And surely make a seventy-nine.

High hopes were mine that glorious day. The time I started out to play: "This year," said I, "I'll keep the line."

I blundered on through early June. I could not use my trusty spoon. But how I still stayed—summer fell.

August still found me keeping on. With me it possessed the skill. To do my bidding with the pill.

The same old dub that was an I. I don't improve however I try: Lessons and practice all are vain.

I would like to destroy most of the pictures in our home. For instance, a rook in winter and the companion piece, one in summer with a fried-egg sun.

"And don't you hate staring family portraits?" We have scads of them. Pictures of beautiful, interesting people are O. K. (in article dress).

First, that the living room walls are not the places for family pictures—especially of course, old portraits, which are usually interesting enough to stand on their own merits.

I like these are delightful things to have, but not to paper one's living room with. It seems to me that the mother's or father's character is little private room, such as den or sewing room.

A box of some sort in which to keep all the old photographs and snapshots is a next best substitute for the album.

It is a hobby of mine which my letter-friend touches on. It is the subject of artistic dress. Why can't people realize—but also I've ridden my other two hobbies so far that I'll have to save this gallop for another day.

WHY?

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Are "Days of Grace" Permitted? (Copyright, 1920, by Waseler Syndicate, Inc.)

In the reign of Henry II, the day first mentioned in each term of court was called "Easoun Day," because it was then that the court took the "easoun" or excuse, of those who were not able to appear according to summons.

And he gave us each a horrible armful of packages. Puds saying, Well we do not get along on after next 2 steps.

And me on the 3rd floor dusting, well of all the ignorant ugly looking fat brats, said the lady. Meaning Puds, and she slammed her door ever harder than the insults of the Corn Droplets Company.

Which we did, with the rest of the packages, me giving mine to my lady. And me and Puds tried them for breakfast this morning, just trying them for their own content.

CITY DEVELOPMENT PLANS TO BRING WICHITA FALLS NEARER REALIZATION OF EARLY IDEALS

By JOHN GOULD. The submission by George E. Kessler, city planning specialist, of the first phase of the "city plan" he has been employed to devise for Wichita Falls, brings this appreciably nearer to realization of ideas that have been developing slowly for over a decade. It is Mr. Kessler's work to bring expert analysis to the hopes, the theories and the prospects of this city's future. Wichita Falls has always been more hopeful of their city's future than the citizens of most communities of this size, and the opportunity is given now, after a year or so of varied disappointments due to lack of foresight, to establish both the physical lines and the civic principles to guide our growth hereafter.

of American city-planning is that of the national capital. President Washington employed a French engineer, Major Charles L'Enfant, to lay out a site for a city of 500,000 people. The sites of the White House, the capitol building and other public structures were chosen at that time. While the "gridiron" plan of streets crossing at right angles was employed, it was added a system of highways radiating from prominent points and giving direct routes from the suburbs to the center of the city. Such a street system is feasible, of course, only when laying out a great city entirely in advance, as Washington was.

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEXAS, Nov. 15.—Those who favor the abolition in Texas of the death penalty are confident they are gaining strength, at least in this district, as the result of the session of the criminal division of the 28th district court at an illustration. More than half of the jurors summoned were in Corpus Christi, and the death penalty might have been imposed, were excused from service on the ground that they held conscientious scruples against imposing such a penalty.

STILL INVESTIGATING MYSTERY OF MURDER TWO CHICAGO GIRLS

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Harold Potter, said to be a deserter from the Great Lakes naval training station, was arrested this morning as a suspect in connection with the murder of two young actresses whose bodies were found yesterday in Grant park. Potter was found to have an empty vial, said by medical examiners to have contained poison.

GRAIN ALCOHOL FOUND IN STOMACHS OF VICTIMS

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Sufficient grain alcohol was found in the stomachs of Mary Rhodes and Lillian Thompson, actresses found dead in Grant park here to have caused their deaths. Dr. W. D. McNally, coroner's physician, announced today.

Traces of other poison have been found, the physician stated although he said the autopsy was incomplete. Immediately after the physician announced the results of his examination, police renewed their efforts to trace the movements of the two women after they left their cheap theatrical hotel where they were living with two men, until they met their deaths.

Authorities believed the girls may have been kidnaped while returning to their rooms after having a couple of drinks of fermented grape juice at a nearby wine merchant's shop. Finding of Miss Rhodes' hat in the street near the hotel was the main evidence on which the kidnaping theory was based.

Others Involved. That the women were given grain alcohol by their captors—probably forced to drink the poison—was the belief of the authorities. When they were taken in an automobile to Grant park, where they were thrown from the machine. Both girls, police believe, died without gaining consciousness from effects of the poison and exposure. They were thinly clad and the cold breeze which swept off Lake Michigan and over Grant park where the girls were lying, would soon cause death, Dr. McNally said.

Harold Potter, an alleged deserter from the great lakes naval training station, was taken into custody today, police said, was a familiar figure around cheap cabarets near where the two actresses lived.

A tip which may lead to the finding of the owners of the automobile which is believed to have carried the actresses to Grant park, was received by police today. It came from a check girl at a cabaret. She is said to have given the tip because of jealousy. One of the men believed to have accompanied the actresses Saturday night, is said to be a former sweetheart of the check girl's.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—That Mary Rhodes and Mary Thompson, young actresses found dead in Grant Park here, were kidnaped, drugged or poisoned and then taken to the lake front and thrown from an automobile was the theory police used today in investigating their mysterious deaths.

Finding of a check girl a short distance from the apartment building where the actresses lived with James Meek and Robert McCarthy, stage electricians, gave the police the kidnaping theory. The hat was found by a man who said the red tail light of an automobile was just visible as he picked it up. He took the hat home and kept it secret, he said, because he feared it might involve him in trouble with the police.

The hat belonged to Miss Rhodes and police believed the two girls were either enticed or dragged into the automobile while they were returning to their apartment with food they had bought for a midnight lunch.

Between the time they were taken away in the automobile and the time their bodies were found on the lake front, a distance of more than a mile from any street car line, police believe they were given or forced to take liquor which contained alcohol, or to have been given a drug.

Police today were still searching for the men who gave the mysterious telephone tip which led to the finding of the bodies. The call was traced to a pay telephone booth in the fashionable Stratford hotel.

Coroner Peter Hoffman continued today in his belief that if the young women died from other than natural causes that it was from a poison. Hoffman also contends that there was a third person wounded. Hoffman's belief that a third person was founded on the finding of four pools of blood on the ground near the girls' bodies. Neither of the young women he said, could have lost the amount of blood.

The location of the spot where Miss Rhodes' hat was found favors the kidnaping theory. It is a lonely place.

All but two of the five men detained yesterday were released today.

Police arrested Meek and McCarthy and booked them on statutory charges. They admitted they were living with the dead women.

CONTROVERSY WITH WESTERN UNION AT OPEN BREAK STAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The long standing controversy between the state department and the Western Union Telegraph company has reached the stage of an open break, the company refusing to handle any further cable messages for the department except upon prepayment of tolls.

The company's order was issued on November 15, it was said today at the department, and ostensibly was to apply to all departments of the government. It was understood, however, that messages sent by other departments had been excepted informally from the ruling.

The Western Union company is stated to have based its action on the delay by the department in making payments on cable messages previously handled. Department officials asserted today, however, that it was, in their opinion, a step in retaliation for the failure of the department to permit to all departments of the government. It was understood, however, that messages sent by other departments had been excepted informally from the ruling.

In stating that its order regarding cable messages was issued because of the failure of the state department to pay for messages, the Western Union company was said to have pointed out that the department had not made any payment since August 1919. Department officers explained today that payment had been withheld because the company began to withhold the government rebate of fifty per cent on cable messages.

Applied for Permit. Several months ago the Western Union applied for an executive permit to land the cable at Miami, but the state department was said to have demanded a copy of the contract between the company and the British concerning the connecting South American cable line. The copy was not forthcoming, according to state department officers, and the permit was withheld.

Later a British cable ship which had been chartered to lay the cable was ordered to Miami. At the suggestion of the state department, the navy department sent destroyers to the Florida port to keep the British ship outside the three-mile limit. The British embassy ordered the captain of the cable vessel not to attempt to land the line.

Permit Still Withheld. The permit to land the cable still was withheld, it being officially announced that action was being deferred until after the meeting of the international communications conference, now in session here, which is considering the whole question of world communications.

A report reached the government last week that the Western Union was to make another attempt to land the cable, and Secretary Daniels ordered the commandant of the naval station at Key West to take the necessary steps to prevent it. The Western Union company denied at that time that it intended to land the line. It was about this time that the order refusing government cable messages except upon payment of cash in advance was issued.

RECALL CABLE OPERATORS WAITING TO LAND CABLE. MIAMI, FLA., Nov. 15.—The Western Union Telegraph company has recalled to New York the eighteen cable operators and test men who have been here since September, awaiting landing of the Miami-Barbados cable, which has been held up by the United States government. The employees said they understood the company now planned to land the cable at Havana, Cuba.

SAYS ALIENS EMPLOYED IN SHIP CONSTRUCTION - ENDANGERED THE VESSELS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Alien painters whose work endangered American vessels, were hired by the United States shipping board in preference to available Americans, John F. Richardson, investigator, charged before the congressional investigating committee today.

Richardson declared unskilled men were made foremen and that others who never used a paint brush before were put to work. In some cases, he said, they could not follow the lines provided by camoufliers.

Paint often fell from vessels while in the midst of the camoufage protection, he said.

Richardson, whose original investigation of shipping board affairs brought about the investigation, presented a long list of cases, relating to alleged dilatory bids, waste, inefficiency, pay roll padding and other abuses. He said there was no check on the purchasing department, which destroyed its own records, resulting in double payment.

Stuart Dickson, head of a firm handling various supplies, charged the board had ignored low bids in awarding contracts.

"Sunshine" and Showers Vote For "Sunshine" Eckerty For the Maskat Ring. Shows are all right in summer—but this is cold November, and we all need Sunshine. It may be a fact, as one candidate for the ring states, that "if you have Showers you won't need irrigation." But it's a bigger fact that we're going to have irrigation (ask Joe Kemp)—and, therefore, we don't need Showers and we sure will need Sunshine.

Even Freezing Will Not Kill Germs. Many people are careful all the Summer long to see to it that they and their family are protected from the impure waters, and immediately the cool weather comes, they let down all the bars—just as if impure waters, in some miraculous way, were made pure by lowering of the thermometer. Such is not the case.
