

One Man Killed, Three Injured In An Explosion At Petrolia

Body of L. G. Webb Blown Fully Thirty Feet in the Air; Jake Thornton Loses Eyes

One man was killed outright, another blinded for life and two others badly hurt and crippled Saturday when a 10-inch gas main south of Petrolia burst under terrific pressure. L. G. Webb, who was killed was blown thirty feet in the air, his companions declared later, and his body was terribly mangled.

Jake Thornton will never be able to see again, according to a Petrolia physician who examined him shortly after the accident. One eye-ball was torn completely from its socket by the force of the explosion, and the other eye was so seriously hurt it is doubtful if the sight can ever be restored.

Lee Gee was hurt about the body and his back was badly crippled and twisted by the shock.

Ben Chambers was so badly bruised and shocked he was unable to stand for more than an hour after the explosion occurred. According to late reports from Petrolia, however, he is not in an extremely serious condition.

An ambulance and a hearse were rushed to the scene of the explosion by the Merkle-Lunn company of this city. The ambulance brought Thornton and Gee to the General hospital and Gee to the Call Field hospital slowly with the lifeless body of Webb.

The accident occurred half a mile south of Petrolia, where a gang of men were making repairs to the big gas main that feeds this section. Webb was seated astride of the main when it burst. According to Dr. A. C. Cates, the man's body was hurled thirty feet and was literally blown to pieces. Death was instantaneous.

"Apparently the explosion was not the result of fire of any kind," Dr. Cates told a representative of The Times over the long distance telephone, but was due to the sudden bursting of the gas main under a pressure that I am told was as high as 200 pounds to the square inch."

Thornton, Gee and Chamber were working some little distance from where Webb was seated, but the tremendous force of the explosion lifted each man from the ditch in which the main was laid, tossed him through the air several feet and threw him violently to the ground. Thornton, it was stated, was nearer to the spot where the main burst than his companions, and the actual force of the explosion tore one of the man's eyes from its socket.

A number of physicians were rushed in automobiles from Petrolia to the spot where the accident occurred, and first aid treatment was given while waiting for the ambulance from this city.

Webb, and all of the injured men, it is understood, have been residents of Petrolia. Thornton is married, according to Dr. Cates, who was unable, however, to give any information regarding the others.

JEW TO MEET TO WORK OUT PLANS FOR PALESTINE

BEAUFORT, N. Y., Nov. 25.—To populate Palestine speedily with a preponderating body of self-supporting Jews, who will develop into a homogeneous people, ultimately becoming a self-supporting commonwealth, is the problem to be dealt with by the 23rd annual convention of the Zionist Organization of America, beginning here tomorrow.

The war and its aftermath has almost completely impoverished European Jewry, and the depreciation of the money of such countries as Russia, Poland, Austria and Roumania has reduced the remaining wealth to an almost irreducible minimum.

The Zionists, who are in the habit of making constructive advice as well as the technical skill required for Palestine development, must come from the Jews of this country.

Two viewpoints have developed in connection with the practical means that will be necessary in order to secure the maximum participation of all Jews and even of large numbers of non-Jews. One view favors the creation of a "Palestine Foundation" fund, which shall include investments, quasi-investments and gifts from all who desire to participate.

It has been more than two weeks since the Burlington mail car robbery, but it does not yet seem to be known by the public the amount the robbers got, although it is claimed that the mystery has been cleared and those participating in it arrested...

People in the cotton-producing states may believe the crop is short this year, but those in other states who form their ideas from the ginning figures must expect it to be very much larger than that of last year.

The Texas legislature will consist of thirty-one democratic senators, 123 democratic representatives, one republican, two American party and one independent representatives.

That $116,465 deficit the National republican committee faces isn't much. It will have already assessed each candidate for a postoffice dollar, and it will be covered.

Just Folks

Our Country's Future: I want to see my country first of all the earth.

A land where genius may glow wherever it has birth.

I want to see my country supreme on land and sea.

I know my country's courage can blaze the path afar.

I want to see my country grow greater with each succeeding age.

With more that makes for laughter and less that brings the tears.

Side Talks

The One Factor Folk: There is a great desire in the human mind to boil things down and unify them.

"It's because he never took enough exercise," said one. "I always said he would break down if he did not take more exercise."

"I don't think either of those things have anything to do with it," asserted the third person.

It was easy enough to discover a man who could tell you of a single factor which caused the whole trouble.

When prices obstinately refused to come down after the armistice, every man who resists that the high price were the result of many complex factors.

Another example of the desire to unify is in our tendency in any quarrel or dispute to think that one party is wholly right (quite especially if that party be ourselves) and one wholly wrong.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

Me and Leroy Shooter each have 2 sourballs for a cent around at Mommy Sumballs and started to wawk back with them.

What good does that do us? I said. With what good did it? and we sat on my front steps and stuck them, me saying, Lets have a sourball sucking contest, lets each put both our sourballs in our mouth at the same time and no fair taking them over again till the contest is over, and whoever makes theirs last the longest wins.

Which we started to do, sucking them slow without saying anything on account of it would take a pretty big of a month to tawk throo 2 sourballs, and the contest hadnt hardly started wen some lady stopped wawking past and said you boys tel me waw the Hoffstetters live or don't you?

Which they live about 2 blocks away next to the church, only we couldn't see on account of not being allowed to take the sourballs out, so we just sat there looking at her as if we thawt we was deaf and dumb, the lady sayt: Well, do you know waw the Hoffstetters live or don't you?

Which me and Puds shook our heads up and down, meaning, we did, and the lady sez: Well then for mercy sake tell me and don't let there be a cupple of half witted idiots. Me and Puds just keeping on looking at her on account of neither us wanting to take them out, and the lady sez: O shut up, I never saw such stupid children in all my life.

Then a thin lady looking, as if she was getting even thinner, and she wawked away mad and me and Puds finished the sourball sucking contest, me winning by about 5 seconds.

RIPLING RHYMES

Lingering Piles: The files should all be dead when bleak November comes, but some are on me, muckling and muckling their thumbs.

And when, for some reason, I to my couch repair, they climb around my nose, and make me rise and swear. They're out of season now, and so have no excuse for camping on my brow and tickling like the deuce.

In summer we expect a plague of bugs and flies; think that seem correct in none should greet our eyes; but when November brings the frost we've long desired, the buzzing and the strings of insects make us tired.

There's a time to dance; and there's a time to crawl upon a mortal's head; and there's a time to fall and slumber with the dead. All things, when out of date, are trying to the soul; in summertime we hate to blow ourselves for cool.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel. (Copyright, 1919, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Saturday, November 27, 1920. Astrologers read this rather an unimportant day in planetary direction.

Uranus is in benefic aspect in the evening while Saturn, Neptune and Mercury are adverse through the earlier hours.

It is a most suspicious time for any intrical pursuits, especially those that have to do with the psychic or occult realm of thought.

There should be clear vision concerning the finer things of life; a distinct artistic urge while this configuration prevails.

The signs are not encouraging for farmers' prospects today. Storms may destroy crops.

Whatever depends on the earth for its profits may be unfortunate at this time. Real estate and stock are affected by the sinister aspect of Saturn.

There is a sign read as presaging a new diplomatic problem that may be embarrassing to this country.

Women may find this rule most encouraging to romance. They may expect men to be more susceptible than usual during this direction of the stars.

The stars give warning that with women's new freedom there must be a watch against the danger of coquetry.

Heavy government expenditures will be necessary before the new year is far advanced. It is forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is should safeguard the health during the coming year. Their business may be rather exacting but successful.

Children born on this day may be inclined to be careless, impetuous and devoid of systematic traits. They are likely to be bright and can be trained into the most exact habits.

SPECIAL AGENT IS LATEST OFFICE IN UNCLE SAM'S GIFT

The United States treasury department has decided to create the office of special agent in the bureau of internal revenue and for this purpose civil service examinations for such agents will be held throughout the country on December 15.

Notice was received here Saturday by Henry Wampler, division chief of internal revenue, from William S. Williams, United States commissioner, calling attention to the coming examinations to be held in this city.

The duties of each special agent, as set forth in the civil service announcement accompanying Commissioner Williams' letter, will be "first, serious infractions of disciplinary rules or regulations of the service which may be of such a nature as to require special attention or which may indicate probable criminality; and, second, charges indicating serious violation of internal revenue laws, which will require the services of men experienced in developing evidence in criminal cases and in prosecuting officers of the government."

At the Olympic theater on Sunday morning, 9:45, said Dr. Knickerbocker to a Times reporter, "we have a bunch of about 200 of the finest men in town that gather for my big lecture class. We have students and fellowship and music and a 25 minute lecture guaranteed to be an anti-soporific."

"Up at the church at 1:00 o'clock I am going to resume the very popular morning series on 'The Twelve Apostles Viewed as Modern Men.' My special subject will be 'Thomas, the Doubter.' Any one who ever had doubts will find a great inspiration in the setting of this archetypal doubter."

"At 7:30 p. m., the prelude concert of 15 minutes will be given. The men's chorus and quartet and various instrumental numbers will constitute the program. I will preach the second of my series on the general subject of the Philosophy and Theology of Mother Goose's Rhymes. The special theme will be 'Soldier, Soldier, won't you marry me, with your musket, rifle and drum.'"

"Last Sunday night we had a crowd there overtaxed the capacity of the building, and there were seven adults who joined the church by profession of faith. Our slogan still holds good. Come early to get a seat."

OBJECTS TO FIXING BOUNDARY WITHOUT CONSULTING PEOPLE

THIRST, Nov. 25.—Objection to Italy and Jugoslavia fixing the boundaries of Plume without the consent of that city and "contrary to the fundamental principles of the international right of self-determination" has been sent in a note to the Italian government through General Cavaglia by Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio.

"We observe also," says the note, "you use expressions in your notes as such as the kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, or 'Jugo-Slavia.' We have not recognized the existence of such a state. There is an objection to calling the territory about this city the state of Plume" and the name 'Italian Agency of Quarnero' is preferred."

CO-OPERATIVE AGENCIES OF THE FARMERS' UNION DOES A TOTAL ANNUAL BUSINESS OF $600,000,000

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 25.—Co-operative agencies, selling and purchasing, together with commercial enterprises conducted by the National Farmers' Union, an organization of 800,000 members, did an aggregate business of more than $600,000,000 in the last 12 months according to reports submitted at the annual union convention here several days ago.

Shipping across more than 20 states, the business activities of the union have become most important factors in the farming industry and the agency feature presents the only working co-operative marketing plan today, according to officials.

The agencies are maintained primarily to bring to the members the highest market prices for what they produce and to offer them commodities at the lowest prices.

Under the plan the farmer-member ships his produce or livestock to the nearest selling agency. There it is taken in charge by men who have his interests at heart and not sold until the highest price has been commanded.

For the purchase of commodities he needs, the member turns to the purchasing agency, which the agency calls, two by fours or a steam tractor. He finds them offered, officials say, at prices considerably below those he could have to pay ordinarily. This is possible, they explain, from the fact that the agency is able to get better prices because it purchases in carload lots and the profit of the middle man is eliminated.

As in the case of the agencies, the business enterprises of the union are conducted by men drawn from the organization's membership. In Kansas where that feature has been given special attention more than 700 electrical stores, mills, lumber yards, etc., are in operation.

The operating expenses of the selling and purchasing agencies, officials say, come from money deducted when sales are made for members and from margins realized from sales of commodities to the members. In both cases, they say, the sum realized from the individual is nominal. If there is a surplus at the end of the year the money is prorated back among the members.

CAPTURE FOUR STILLS WITH CAPACITY OF 110 GALLONS TEXAS TAKES THIRD PLACE IN CRUDE OIL PRODUCTION FATAL EXPLOSION OCCURS AT PETROLIA ON SATURDAY

FULL EQUIPMENT FOR MAKING LIQUOR LOCATED SATURDAY

GET 1307 GALLONS SOUR MASH, 100 POUNDS SUGAR AND OTHER SUPPLIES.

TWO MEN ARE ARRESTED AND LODGED IN THE JAIL

Four Stills Having Capacity Of Hundred And Ten Gallons Brought To The City.

Four stills, two men, 1297 gallons of sour mash, 100 pounds of sugar, a quantity of peaches and ten gallons of the finished product fell into the hands of the law Saturday afternoon. This is a record result of a raid in Wichita county and in all probability throughout North Texas.

The stills, the contents and the operatives were discovered by United States Marshall Jim Allen, his assistant, J. M. Hubbard and Rangers H. I. Brady and Will Lay on the Wolf Waggoner ranch, twenty-five miles northwest of Wichita Falls.

The alleged distillery was installed in a four-room house on an alleyway. Both of the men were brought to the city and lodged in the county jail.

A warrant for the arrest of the operatives of the alleged distillery had been sworn out following the receipt of information as to the location of the still and the names of the men who were operating it. The men gave their names as W. L. Wright and A. P. White.

The capacity of the distillery was 110 gallons daily. One of the stills was ten gallons capacity and the other three were 25 gallons, 35 gallons and 40 gallons respectively. Two of the largest stills were in operation at the time of the raid.

When the officers approached the house the two men attempted to escape and fled down the sidewalk. They were chased until a series of shots were fired and both of the men stopped and raised their hands in the air as evidence of their surrender.

One of the men had a revolver in his hand but the other was unarmed.

The 1297 gallons of sour mash, all of which was practically ready to be placed in the stills and made into the finished product, was contained in 20 barrels and five kegs. The mash had been made of corn and peaches.

Twenty pounds of brown sugar, used in giving the liquor a red color were also confined.

For evidence the officers brought back with them all four stills, the sugar and two gallons of liquor. It was said that the whiskey was of very good quality.

The two prisoners were uncommunicative while being brought into the city by the officers but it was stated that they admit the facts of the case and operators of the business.

It is alleged that the men have been in operation for three weeks. The two men had kept a set of books in which their open accounts were kept as well as a record of their purchases.

One of the purchasing lists included: Corn $175.00, Peaches $16.00, 10 gal. gasoline $2.50. Some of the finished product had been disposed of, as several checks signed by prominent men of Electra were found on the person of one of the prisoners. Two of the checks were for $100 each and the other was for $25. A deposit slip also showed that a deposit of $100 in four checks had been made a few days ago.

It was stated that at the United States deputy marshal's office that this was the second trip that had been made in an effort to capture the men and the stills. From information received the men had moved their headquarters three times within the past few months.

CAPTURE DOCUMENTS ALLEGED TO GIVE PLANS OF CONSPIRACY TO WRECK LONDON BUILDINGS

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The capture during raids in Ireland of a document alleged to give details of a conspiracy for damaging government buildings in England was said today in police circles to be the cause of the erection of the formidable barricades which have been put up at Downing street and King Charles street.

Officials Engaged on Plebiscite Are Reported Killed

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The Ham-burger Fremdenblatt states today that an oil manufacturer at Neudorf has been blown up by the Poles, says the Central News Ham-burger correspondent.

Many officials engaged in arranging the plebiscite in Silesia are reported to have been killed, the newspaper says, but full details have not been received.

SUMMERLIN MAY NOT ATTEND INAUGURATION

Awaits Instruction From Washington Before Leaving For Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—Newspaper reports that the American charge d'affaires, George T. Summerlin, had accepted an official invitation to attend the inauguration ceremonies on December 1, he was denied today, the charge asserting that he is awaiting instructions in the matter from Washington.

Unless he is ordered to attend, he says it will be impossible for him to be present, inasmuch as this act undoubtedly would be construed as implying recognition of the Obregon government.

Members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City except for representatives of governments which already have recognized the new Mexican regime, are in a quandary over the inauguration, the diplomats appreciating, as does Mr. Summerlin, that attendance implies recognition.

It is implied the French charge, Count Victor Ayguapez, will attend in diplomatic uniform, which is taken here to confirm the prevalent belief that France will recognize the Obregon government immediately. The count several days ago addressed a congratulatory letter to Mexican secretary of foreign relations, Dr. C. Hidalgo, using the formalities employed only between recognized diplomats, and summerlin is here to control the plebiscite.

The Italian charge, Stefano Carrara, will attend, but not in uniform. The plebiscite is understood, will follow the action of the American charge. Great Britain officially is not represented here.

MILD SENSATION IS CREATED BY ARRIVAL OF MAJ. CHURCHILL

IS FEATURE OF MEETING OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS ON SATURDAY.

HOPE THE UNITED STATES WILL YET JOIN THE LEAGUE

This Nation Has Been On The Lips Of Almost Every Spokesman In Assembly.

GENEVA, Nov. 27.—The arrival here today of Major Marlborough Churchill, chief of the military intelligence division of the general staff of the American army, which has been reported to have no real significance except to himself and his department, has created a mild sensation in League of Nations circles.

The hope that the United States will some day join the league is unshakable. The entire work of the assembly has been directed so as not to prejudice the most important questions at issue regarding the league covenant, and so to leave the way open for the United States to have her say in its eventual revision.

The appearance during this assembly of an official or unofficial representative of the American government was the last long hoped for. Churchill, consequently, was all the more an object of attention when his presence was announced.

Unable to complete work, the sub-committee considering the admission of the members has been unable to complete its work on account of both Russia and Austria by neighboring states, Rumania, Greece and Yugoslavia still standing out against Bulgaria, while Czechoslovakia has not yet consented to the admission of Austria. The reasons given by the objectors are much the same as those presented by France.

It has been pointed out to them, however, that both Bulgaria and Austria in their applications promise to fulfill the international obligations and thus make themselves eligible for admission. Suggestions were made to the representatives of the objecting states tonight that they should give up their objections and accept the advantages they derive from the peace treaties, continued action on their part would be likely to attract unfavorable attention from the sub-committee on armaments today.

Arguments in favor of the resolution introduced by Dr. G. de Cunha of Brazil, making the manufacture of arms and munitions a monopoly in every country. A proposition is gaining ground among the delegates, it being held that the tendency to provoke hostilities by the removal of all possible private profit from the manufacture of war materials should be eliminated.

STOWAWAY AGENCY SMUGGLES JAPS TO THE UNITED STATES

BEGIN ARGUMENTS TO QUASH PICKFORD CASE

TOKIO, Nov. 27.—The Yamato Shimizu announced today that the police department has been variously engaged in surreptitiously shipping emigrants to the United States in contravention to the "gentlemen's agreement" between Japan and the United States.

The agency representatives, the newspaper says, confessed they were working in conjunction with pickford's freighters, who allowed stowaways aboard disguised as members of the crew for a passage fee of 1800 yen.

The position was taken by the man with whom she had been associated for many years may draw her out of hiding. County Attorney Russell Brown of Carter county said.

STILL SEARCH FOR WOMAN INVOLVED IN HAMON CASE

OFFICERS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY HAVE BEEN FURNISHED DESCRIPTION.

HAMON ROAD WILL CEASE OPERATION DURING FUNERAL

Employees On Oil Properties Will Also Cease Work For One Hour Monday.

ARDMORE, OKLA., Nov. 27.—All transportation on the Wichita Falls, Ranger and Fort Worth railway company lines, owned by the late Jake L. Hamon, republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, will be stopped for ten minutes Monday afternoon, when his funeral will be held, and operation of all leases of the Hamon interests will cease for one hour, according to announcement tonight.

ARDMORE, OKLA., Nov. 27.—The search for Clara Smith Hamon, charged by County Attorney Russell Brown with shooting Jake L. Hamon, millionaire oil man and republican national committeeman, became international today when Howland wired the state department at Washington asking that all consular agents be notified to be on the lookout for her.

This action by the county today developed the Hamon shooting case into a deeper mystery as combined with the fact that Hamon died Friday without changing his original statement that his fatal wound was accidental and self-inflicted.

County Attorney Brown announced that the charge against the girl will state the Hamon shooting case into a deeper mystery as combined with the fact that Hamon died Friday without changing his original statement that his fatal wound was accidental and self-inflicted.

Many to Attend Funeral.

Hamon's funeral Monday will be attended by hosts of nationally prominent republicans. Hundreds of state political leaders and financial figures are already in Ardmore for the funeral.

Since the woman suddenly disappeared soon after Hamon's shooting came to light, she has been variously reported fleeing to California, seen in Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Chickasha and Ardmore, Okla., with police in Kansas City and Noway, Tex., entering a plea of suspicion that she might be hiding in their territory. Her trunk, as in union station at Kansas City with detective watching and the possible claimant. Her parents live in El Paso.

Always those informing officials of seeing the woman "on the streets" have asked that their names be withheld.

May Want to See Body.

The insistent desire of Mrs. Clara Hamon to view the remains of the man with whom she had been associated for many years may draw her out of hiding. County Attorney Russell Brown of Carter county said.

But while search for the woman had been intensified throughout this section, locally activities of the prosecution have been halted, pending funeral and burial of the man who helped build this section of the state. Friends of Hamon, however, have not ceased their efforts to clear his good name.

Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon is described as strikingly pretty, being dark complexioned, with dark brown hair and eyes. Her age is given as 27. She is tall—five feet seven inches—and wears many diamonds. In the winter months she wore a big fur coat. She had a liking for red as shown by the color of her automobile.

Knew Death Was Near.

Hamon, who died yesterday from a bullet wound in the abdomen, which he claimed to be the last was accidental, knew he was going to die when he entered his hospital room last Sunday night.

This was the statement of Dr. Walter Hardy, who was in constant attendance at Hamon's bedside for four days.

Hardly held out hope for the committeeman's recovery up to twelve hours before he expired and confidence in the physician was unshaken. In the minds of Hamon's intimate friends.

The only man that Hamon called for in his last moments of consciousness was Deputy Sheriff Bud Ballew, noted officer of Carter county whose revolver has barked in many a battle here. Reports are that Ballew thought he had plenty of time to see Hamon before he was shot. Hamon had and made no haste to reach him. When Hamon wore two gorgeous diamond rings, he was shot. He gave only to Dr. Hardy a day before he died. The other was left on his finger until (Continued on Page 2, Column 2.)

L. G. WEBB KILLED, THORNTON, GEE AND CHAMBERS INJURED

EXPLOSION OCCURS WHILE MEN ARE MAKING REPAIRS ON GAS PIPE LINE.

THORNTON WILL PROBABLY LOSE BOTH OF HIS EYES

Injured Men Are Brought To Call Field Hospital And Will Likely Recover.

Reports from the Methodist Hospital late Saturday night stated that both Jake Thornton and Lee Gee, who were the most seriously injured of the three survivors of the explosion at Petrolia Saturday, would in all probability recover. Thornton proved to be in the most critical condition. Whether or not he will ever be able to see again will not be known for some time. Gee and Chambers, while said to be in great pain, were not thought to be in immediate danger.

L. G. Webb was instantly killed, a second man was probably blinded for life and two others were badly bruised and crippled Saturday, when a 16-inch main of the Lone Star Gas company, a short distance south of Petrolia, burst under terrific pressure. Webb was blown thirty feet through the air, and his body was literally torn to pieces, according to Dr. A. C. Gates, a Petrolia physician.

Jake Thornton will probably never see again. The actual force of the explosion tore one of the man's eyeballs from its socket, and so badly injured the other eye that doctors believe it will be impossible to restore its sight.

Lee Gee was dangerously cut about the face and head, and his back was crippled and twisted.

The shock of the explosion so stunned and injured Hen Chambers that he lay down thirty feet through the air, and an hour after the accident. Late reports from Petrolia, however, indicated that he was less fortunately injured than his companions, and that he will probably recover.

Murry to Be Sees.

An ambulance and a hearse were hurried from the Merkle-Lunn undertaking parlors here to the scene of the explosion. Webb's body was brought back to the undertaking establishment, while Thornton and Gee were rushed to Call Field hospital.

The accident occurred half a mile south of Petrolia, where a crew of gas company employees were repairing a leak in the union between a ten-inch and a six-inch main. Webb was standing of the big main when it burst. He was hurled more than thirty feet, according to statements made later by his companions, about the face and body.

Thornton, Gee and Chambers were working on the six-inch end of the main a short distance from where Webb was struck. The actual force of the terrific explosion blew one of Thornton's eyes from its socket, while pieces of flying pipe and rock fragments blinded his other eye and cut him severely about the face and body. Gee and Chambers also were hurled several feet away, cut and bruised by the burning pipe and hurled heavily to the ground.

Main Busted Under Pressure.

Dr. Gates, who was the first physician from Petrolia to reach the scene, later stated to a representative of The Times that the explosion had not been caused by fire of any kind, but that the big main had burst under a pressure estimated to be 200 pounds to the square inch. This assertion was later borne out by G. L. Merkle on his return to this city with Webb's body.

Merkle also stated that Webb was a married man with six daughters, the eldest being about 12 years of age. He had been in the employ of the Lone Star Gas company ten years. All of the injured men have families, it is understood, and it was thought that they would be taken care of in Petrolia.

PREMIRS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE REACH AGREEMENT ON UPPER SILESIA PLEBISCITE

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Premiers Lloyd George of Great Britain and Raymond Poincaré of France, conferring until late Friday evening, definitely settled the vexatious question of the Upper Silesian plebiscite in a manner the heads of the two governments believe will forestall what they think is Germany's effort to pack the province with Germans for voting purposes.

Under the plan of the premiers the vote will be taken in several days, the status of a citizen to govern whether shall vote. It will be arranged that known citizens of the province whom the plebiscite officials are confident have lived there a number of years will vote on one day. Others who have lived in the province a shorter time will vote another day, while those recently settled will vote on still another day. Should the latter category swing the plebiscite in favor of Germany and the bona fide citizens vote against Germany, the allies are likely to declare the plebiscite void.

RELIEVE MRS. PHED HAMON IN KANSAS CITY SATURDAY

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Fred Hamon, for whom there is a warrant in connection with the fatal shooting of Jake Hamon, Oklahoma politician, narrowly missed arrest here, the police say, and escaped only by abandoning her baggage at the Union station.

Stories told by redcaps at the union station indicate that Mrs. Hamon met a man here, "who looked like a lawyer, since he carried two brief cases," according to one of the redcaps.

They boarded a west bound Santa Fe train, the redcap declared. Another redcap said that when Mrs. Hamon arrived she went to an uptown hotel. Inquiry failed to show that she had registered at the hotel.

Expresses Doubt Whether Any Action Will Be Had On Treaty Coming Term.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Enactment of but little general legislation at the coming session of congress is looked for by Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, who returned to Washington today. He also expressed doubt whether any action would be had on the treaty of Versailles or that the republicans would seek re-adoption of the Knox peace resolution, because, he said, it would be certain of another veto by President Wilson.

Regarding the course of the democratic party after Senator Harding is inaugurated, Senator Underwood said the minority would not be able to determine policies until it learned what position the republicans would take.

The senator said he had not received an invitation to confer with President-elect Harding and knew nothing of reports of an invitation except from the newspapers.

RELIEF VESSELS ARE STILL SEARCHING FOR BARGE THAT IS LOST

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 27.—Relief vessels were searching the rocky coast of Washington in the vicinity of James Island for the lost barge W. J. Pirrie tonight and combing the sea in the neighborhood of Giants Graveyard Rocks, ten miles south of that island, according to a radio message.

BELIEVE BARGE STRUCK GIANT'S GRAVEYARD ROCK

ASTORIA, ORE., Nov. 27.—A radio message picked up today at North Head states Captain J. K. Tibbets of the Santa Rita, thinks the barge W. J. Pirrie struck Giant's Graveyard Rocks instead of James Island. The Santa Rita and the coast cutter Snohomah are still standing by.

The message said there were 24 persons on the barge, including Captain A. B. Jensen, his wife and baby.

Giants Graveyard Rocks are about 10 miles south of James Island and are off the northwest corner of Jefferson county Washington. The Santa Rita was forced to cast the barge adrift yesterday in a storm.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF PEACH KING

FORT VALLEY, GA., Nov. 27.—Warrants charging murder in connection with the death last June under mysterious circumstances of Fred D. Shepard, known as the "Georgia peach king," were served tonight on Mrs. E. Elmer, former wife of the peach grower; Mrs. Iona Henry, sister of Mrs. Elmer; and Ernest Hopson, son of Mrs. Elmer by a marriage previous to that with Shepard.

The arrest of all three was ordered after a pathologist and a chemist had testified at a coroner's investigation here today that a postmortem examination of Shepard's body revealed the presence of poison in the viscera.

Mrs. Elmer, who took charge of Shepard's property after his death on the grounds that he died intestate, was arrested as she was leaving the courtroom where the coroner's investigation was held. The first charge placed against her was illegal appropriation of Shepard's property. Several hours later she was served with a warrant charging her with murder in connection with Shepard's death. Mrs. Henry and Hopson were arrested at their homes in Perry, near here.

Vacate All Remaining Priority Orders Affecting Movement Of Coal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The coal crisis has passed, in the judgment of the interstate commerce commission, which issued an order today vacating all remaining priority orders affecting preference for open top cars in the movement of coal.

In a letter to Daniel Willard, chairman of the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives Chairman Clark, of the commission recommended that railroads cancel as soon as possible emergency orders, rules and charges affecting coal.

"We assume that in view of the manner in which these rules were established," said the letter, "our recommendation for their cancellation will be recognized by the carriers, which recognition will avoid formal complaints against them which would certainly be filed and perhaps be difficult to defend."

Scout week extends from February 6 to 12, both inclusive. Scout achievement will be the keynote of the week's celebration. The scouts are urged to make early preparation for it, thus strengthening themselves for the coming trials of scoutcraft, inspiring each other and increasing the public interest in the organization. By beginning early the boys can thus reap a full harvest of benefits.

Sunday, February 6, will be Scout Sunday, and the pastors of churches having troops will preach scout sermons. Monday, February 7 will be Scoutsware company.

Home Folks day, Tuesday the 8th will be the eleventh anniversary of the organization's birth, it having been inaugurated February 8, 1910. Wednesday the 9th will be school day, with emphasis on the twelfth scout law and oath. This law pertains to reverence. Thursday the 10th will be Community day, emphasizing civic responsibility. Friday the 11th will be New Members day, when each scout is expected to make a supreme effort to bring a new boy into the organization. Saturday, February 12, will be All Good Americans' day, emphasizing patriotism.

BOBO CAPTAIN OF MOTORCYCLE SQUAD

Announcement Of His Appointment Is Made Saturday By Chief Huff.

More happy news for inveterate auto speeders of the city was made known Saturday with the announcement by Chief of Police Huff that a motorcycle squad had been appointed, new uniforms ordered for all members of the squad and orders issued to wage relentless warfare on the speed maniacs who persist in jeopardizing life and limb of the humble pedestrians.

J. O. Bobo received the appointment of captain of the motor cops and will be charged with the duty of patrolling the streets of the city which are sometimes mistaken for auto speedways by those possessed of motor cars. The motorcycle cops have given efficient service in the past, as evidenced by the number of fines paid into the treasury of the city by local drivers.

GLOVE WORKERS TO HAVE A CO-OPERATIVE FACTORY

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A co-operative glove factory, owned, operated and managed by Chicago glove makers and said to be the first venture of its kind in America, will begin operations Monday. The plant, which is being established as an experiment in co-operative manufacturing, is proposed to enliven a period of dullness in the glove industry resulting from what the unions say is a strike and which manufacturers claim is a shutdown due to lack of work.

Finances for the plant have been raised from two local glove unions and the sale of shares to members. It is planned to market the product to co-operative stores. The plant will start with only ten or twelve workers and will make working gloves and automobile gloves.

HOLDING COTTON IS NOT VIOLATION OF ANTI-TRUST LAWS

DEPARTMENT EXPLAINS FARMERS ARE EXEMPT FROM ITS PROVISIONS.

NO CONSIDERATION HAS BEEN GIVEN THE MATTER

Explanation Follows Recent Statements Of President Of The Farmer's Union.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Because farmers co-operative organizations are exempt from application of anti-trust laws, the department of justice has given no consideration to the campaign for the withholding of crops from the markets until prices advance. It was said tonight by Frank N. Nebeker, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of anti-trust prosecutions.

Mr. Nebeker's explanation of the department's attitude followed the recent statement of Charles S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union, that he understood that federal agents were attempting to obtain evidence for prosecutions in Kansas, Iowa and other middle western states.

The Clayton anti-trust act, Mr. Nebeker said, expressly provides that agricultural organizations, not having capital stock or conducted for profit, can not be construed as conspiracies in restraint of trade. Withholding of crops from market for personal profit, Mr. Nebeker asserted, probably would not be held as organization profits.

Mr. Nebeker also explained that the limitations of the appropriations for enforcement of the anti-trust law would seem to preclude action against the farmers, inasmuch as the act specifies that no part of the appropriations shall be expended for the prosecution of farmers who co-operate to obtain a fair and reasonable price for their products. The construction as to what is a fair price for the various farm products, Mr. Nebeker declared, would however, probably govern in any specific case that might arise as it would seem that since the present laws forbid prosecution where the effort is to obtain a fair price, conversely attempts to obtain unfair and unreasonable prices would be contrary to the law.

NORTH TEXAS TRUCK COMPANY OPENS NEW ESTABLISHMENT

The North Texas Truck company, which for some time conducted a business at 707-709 Scott, has again opened an establishment and is ready to greet friends of the firm at 612-614 Indiana avenue. They will carry a full line of auto parts for all cars and expect in the near future to carry all kinds of Denby truck parts and to give special service to Denby truck owners. Announcement is also made that they have floor capacity for the storage of cars and will look after this feature of the business in a satisfactory way.

J. D. Robertson will be sales manager of the business, with Charles Hill, secretary and treasurer. They will have the same force of men in the new place that served the customers at the old location, with L. L. Counts in charge of the shop, as before.

BANK AT COBLENZ HAS INCREASED ITS CAPITAL AS RESULT AMERICAN LOAN

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—It is reported the Coblenz bank has increased its capital from $500,000 to $2,000,000 marks by a loan from an American banking concern, and has asked for permission from the finance minister to remove its headquarters from Coblenz to Cologne. This rumor prompts Vorwaerts to criticize the transaction as a "step on the part of the government interests to gain economic control of the occupied zone."

The City National Bank of Commerce has seen many small savings accounts grow to substantial proportions through the regular addition of moderate amounts. For this reason the bank welcomes and appreciates savings deposits in any amount from $1 upwards.

INCOMING SHERIFF NAMES ASSISTANTS TO AID IN WORK

GEORGE HODGINS, WELL KNOWN GRAIN MAN, WILL BE CHIEF OFFICE DEPUTY.

WILL LAY, TEXAS RANGER, IN CHARGE FIELD FORCE

Jack Miller, Bob Wyndham, W. B. Scott, Dick Wallace and H. H. Weaver, Assistants.

FRED K. SMITH

Sheriff-elect who will assume his duties soon after December 1.

Fred K. Smith, who will assume office as sheriff of Wichita county on December 1, announced the names of seven of his deputies Saturday. Jack Miller is the only deputy sheriff under the McFall regime whose name is on the list and who will be asked to continue in his present position.

George Hodgins, one of the best informed wheat graders in the South-west, who is now connected with the Wichita Mill and Elevator company, will be Smith's chief office deputy. Will H. Lay, a Texas Ranger, will probably have charge of the field deputies.

Bob Wyndham and W. B. Scott, former patrolmen on the local police force, also have been named as deputies by Smith, while another experienced man in the person of W. F. (Dick) Wallace, who was for some time a deputy under Sheriff McFall, will be added to the new sheriff's working crew. H. H. Weaver, a young man with the Texoma company, is the last deputy Smith has named.

It is probable, however, that Smith will have a force of 19 men, and will announce the names of the three others some time this week. All of those named above, have indicated their willingness to serve as deputy sheriffs, Smith told The Times' representative Saturday.

ROLL CALL CONVENTION KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TAKES PLACE TUESDAY

Pioneer lodge No. 49, Knights of Pythias, will have their regular weekly meeting Tuesday night at east hall, 602 Scott avenue, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. There will be "roll call convention," which is an annual event, and every Knight of Pythias is expected to do his Pythian duty by attending this meeting and answer present when his name is called.

There will also be nomination of officers for the ensuing year, and a large attendance is requested and urged.

Azotas temple No. 175, Dramatic Order of Knights of Khorrassan, of Fort Worth, will leave that city on Thursday morning, December 3, arriving here at 12:55 p. m. for the express purpose of putting on a Dokey ceremony, and the local Knights of Pythias are looking forward to this occasion with much pleasure. Azotas temple will come about to strong, with full costumes of drum corps, officers and brigades, and the last report from them was they were all hungry for fresh meat, their preference being for broom. Grand Chancellor Chas. W. Brewington of Stamford and Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Henry Miller of Weatherford will be present for this ceremony, and other well known Knights of Pythias are also expected. Iowa Park, Electra, Burk Burnett, Henrietta, Lowie, Throckmorton and other cities in this section of the state will be well represented.

A great many Wichita Falls housewives keep close track of household expenses by maintaining a checking account with the City National Bank of Commerce and paying all bills by check. This plan promotes economy and gives a permanent record of the expense of household operation.

TRADE DEVELOPMENT DINNER DECEMBER 4 BY INVITATION ONLY

Recipients of Cards Should Make Their Reservations in Person.

Everything is in readiness for the chamber of commerce trade development dinner to be held at the Kemp hotel December 4. In a statement issued by the committee in charge, attention was called Saturday to the important fact that attendance at the dinner is by invitation only, and that after receiving his invitation every man intending to be present must make his reservation personally. This is necessary owing to the limited capacity of the hotel dining room and the fact that many out-of-town guests have been invited.

CASING HAS BEEN SET IN CLINE WELLS AND BILL ROWE NO. 2, PARKER

None of the new wells on the Mat (Parker tract) have yet reached the producing sand struck by the Temple White discovery well at a depth of about 1225 feet. However, the Bill Rowe Oil Co.'s No. 2 well and the No. 2 well being drilled by the Elise Oil Co. are just about on the sand and casing has been set in these wells. There was a good flow of oil at the Rowe well just below the 1200 foot mark but the producing sand has not been drilled into yet. Late reports from the field are to the effect that it will be brought in either today or tomorrow.
Casing was set last week at a depth of about 1215 feet on the Cline Oil Co.'s No. 1 well offsetting the discovery well. The No. 2 well is in a hurry about 25 feet below the surface level of the other and casing was set about the 1200 foot mark there. Both wells are expected to be drilled in early this week.

EXAMINATION OF 1937 SCHOLARS SHOWS 60 PER CENT DEFECTIVE

Out of 1937 school children in the county and city who have undergone a physical examination by Dr. A. F. West, all-time county health officer, sixty per cent have tested out defective. Although this seems exceedingly large, it shows a marked improvement over results of last year.

The greater portion of those adjudged defective were so classed due to defective teeth.

During the past week Dr. West and his assistant examined the children attending the Sam Houston, Travis and Fanning schools.

At the Houston school 265 were examined, of which number 151 were found defective. At the Travis school, 154 were found defective out of a total number of 274 examined. The children at the Fanning school tested out 78 defectives in 130.

All records of the children are being kept for reference next year and to assist in making the work more thorough. Hundreds of letters were sent out Friday and Saturday to parents of children who were found with some physical defect.

Dr. West reports he is receiving the best co-operation on the part of the teachers in the various schools.

NEWS FROM THE COURTS

TRACTION COMPANY IS DEFENDANT IN SUIT FOR AN AUTO

Suit for $2,500 damages has been instituted against the Wichita Falls Traction company by Edward Craig for recovery of damages to an automobile and for personal damages sustained in the loss of the automobile in question. The suit was filed in the 30th district court.

The plaintiff alleges that on or about November 18, 1920, he was towing another automobile and that by reason of the condition of the car track across Taylor street on Ninth street the automobile he was driving struck. He alleges that a street car was coming down the track and that he ran out on the track, motioning the motorist to stop, but by reason of the negligence of the man in charge of the car and due to the high rate of speed at which the car was traveling, the street car was run into the automobile, demolishing it.

He prays the court for $1,500 as damages to the automobile and for $1,000 for loss to his business.

NEW THOUGHT GIVES OLD PARTY WEDNESDAY
From 8:30 to 11 o'clock Wednesday evening, those who attended the New Thought "old party" at the corner of Eleventh and Burnett streets were very vividly reminded of days gone by. "Snap," "Going a Grape Hunting," and other old time games were enjoyed for the first time by many of the guests, and a laughable feature of the entertainment was the pie contest, which was won by Jack Bowen. Mr. Bowen received a big box of candy as prize.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to about thirty-five guests.

Just Folks
 By EDGAR A. GUEST

Flash!
 Flash! teaches me a lot!
 There's no sure an' certain spot
 Where I'll always catch a mean
 Have to hunt it, more or less;
 Sometimes strike it right away,
 And there'll come another day
 When I'll have to work like sin
 'Fore I get a big one in;
 Change the bait, an' move along,
 Where the current's not so strong
 Or the wind can't get a sweep
 Or the pool aren't quite so deep,
 Till at last I chance to light
 On a place where they will bite.

Flash! teaches me to wait
 Patiently an' try my bait;
 Let's me know on many a day
 I can't always have my way,
 Things aren't goin' to suit my whim,
 I must stick with patience grim
 If I know that I am right
 Till at last they start to bite;
 Times I've hooked a beauty, and Worked a half an hour to land
 Him alongside 'n' the boat,
 Then he's spit it from his throat,
 Mixed with failure an' success,
 Gain and loss are bound to fall
 In proportions to us all;
 Patient, we must work an' plan
 Just like every fisherman.

WHY?
 Are Some People Color-Blind?
 (Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syn-dicates, Inc.)

What we call "color" is really a vibration of the light waves reflected from certain objects to our eye.
 These waves, being of varying lengths, and speeds, produce different impressions and we say that an object is blue or green or red as a consequence. Red rays of light are slow-moving, grey and yellow are mediumly fast, white, blue and violet are quite rapid.

The eyes of some human beings are so focused that the retina—the part of the eye which receives the impressions and acts as a transfer station to the brain—does not perceive the color-waves of certain lengths so rapidly to register clearly. Those persons, therefore, whose retinas do not react to slow-moving color-waves, are unable to detect the presence of red, while others who cannot perceive the rapid wave-movement have great difficulty in noting blue or violet tints. This produces the effect which we know as "color-blindness"—a defect which may be due either to a faulty formation of the retina or to prolonged exposure to glare. Both tropical and arctic explorers, for example, are usually subject to color-blindness, but in the majority of persons it is due to a defect in the eye itself.

 with red hair?

Side Talks
 By RUTH CAMERON

"I Shall Worry."
 There is a certain class of tyrant whose rod of rule consists of a three-word sentence, "I shall worry."
 She (it is more often a "she" so I will simplify matters by using that pronoun, although, as it happens, the very worst case of tyrant is a man)
 I have ever known was exercised by a man) uses this rod to stop those whom love or custom has made her subjects, from doing things that she permits to trouble her peace of mind.
 I remember a girl friend of mine who was never allowed to go boating with the rest of us, although she was a good swimmer and the boat was supervised by an adult, because her mother had once been in a boat accident and had conceived a horror of the water.
 "I shall worry," she would say, every minute while I was gone, "she would report after she had once more made a plea to be allowed to go on some boat picnic, and she would say, "I shall worry."
 She was a good child, she never seemed to question or think there was any way around that rule. I often wonder what she thinks now when she looks back on it, and whether she governs her children with the "I shall worry" rod.

Mind you, I do not mean to imply that times justified in holding their children back from sports that seem dangerous to them. But I think the restriction probably the "worry" declare. I am not a knowledge of the danger. I think the parents should carefully consider the fact that even where there is some element of danger (and when you come to think of it, it would be hard to find anything in which possibilities of dangers do not lie—men are killed at golf and tennis, and walking across the street has its own hazards), it may be their duty not to interfere because the child has a right to experience. For instance, children do break their arms falling out of trees, but is it right to forbid a boy the great experience of tree climbing because of that element of danger? Aren't you running a greater chance of making a mollycoddle out of him?

Secondly, one should be mighty sure that the reason one interferes is that one really feels that the danger run is great enough to make the experience cost too dearly, and not because one knows that oneself is going to have the misery of a troubled mind.
 If one has not strength enough of mind to conquer the habit of worry, I think one should make oneself the sufferer, and not try to make others bear the burden.

It is not always children who are the slave of this "I shall worry" tyranny.
 Husbands sometimes suffer from the rod, also.

Some years ago the postmaster of Boston made the trip from Boston to New York by aeroplane. Aeroplanes were looked on with even greater apprehension than now, and it was a big adventure. His wife might well have opposed it, but she did not.
 A Later Postmaster Murray said to a friend, "She did not want me to go, but she knew I wanted to, and she never said one word in opposition.
 When I kissed her good-bye as I left the house, before I started for the aero-

Early today Venus rules in malefic aspect, according to astrology; but later Jupiter and Mercury are in friendly sway.

The signs are most forbidding for courtship or love affairs. Engagements made today will be unfortunate in all

 It is not a favorable rule for any sort of social affair, for all the influences

THE RAT MENACE.
 Reports are coming from almost every part of the city concerning the unusual number of rats that are infecting the different neighborhoods, and in the country near-by the same complaint is heard.

Poofs of water, both in town and outside, are being dug with the practice of these animals so many times superimposed upon each other that to count them is impossible. In many localities dead rats are common sights and dogs and cats are afflicted with catching them.

Appeals have been made by citizens to the county and city health authorities and even to the state board of health but still the rats continue to flourish and increase in number, and no official action is taken.

Individual and sporadic action against these pests in the part of the city as it only serves to drive them to the neighbors and later on,
 when a neighbor declares war upon them, they move back again and are quite likely to find the old home a peaceful spot by that time.

Concerted action on the part of the entire neighborhood will do wonders toward eradicating rats and mice and in the absence of official direction the block organizations might accomplish much good in this work, especially if several neighboring blocks would cooperate.

The State Board of Health, in a bulletin on this subject, recommends the use of both traps and poison and the destruction of the breeding places
 as well as the removal of all food, whether garbage or stored food, beyond the reach of the rats. One paragraph in this bulletin is quoted here for the consideration of the city council:

"Every Texas city should immediately pass a minimum rat-proofing ordinance, this ordinance to apply to all buildings constructed in the future and all buildings repaired or remodeled, where the cost of the repairs amount to fifty per cent or more of the original cost of the building. Whenever a town becomes plague-infected, more stringent rat proofing ordinances will be required. Sample copies of ordinances may be obtained from the State Board of Health."

There's No Rule.
 Old Gaffer Jinks should be a wreck;
 For eighty years he's been on deck;
 When a man has lived that long, his eyelids are hitting wrong in thirteen cases out of ten, but he's a wonder to all men; for he's chipper, lithe and spry, and we all stare when he goes by.
 And if you ask him for the truth concerning how he's kept his youth, he'll say, "I never smoked or chewed, and no one ever saw me afraid." And this should teach us how to hold the health of youth, which is life's gold.
 Beware the fagon and the pipe if you would reach an age that's ripe! But now old Gaffer Todd appears, and he has lived for ninety years, and he's so brisk and full of pep it thrills us when we see his step. "How have you dodged," I ask this Todd, "a resting place beneath the sod?" "I've always chewed and smoked," says he, "like a drink, and sometimes three." And thus we learn, so help us Mike, that we should do just as we like, if we would live to ninety years with supple joints and active gear. Some men, methinks, are pre-designed to leave a hundred years behind, and they will see the journey through—make no difference what they do.

MONTAGUE COUNTY ENCOURAGED WITH DEVELOPMENT TREND

NOCONA, TEXAS, Nov. 27.—As development work proceeds on the north-east part of the great Pennsylvania split in north central Texas, the lines begin more and more to be drawn toward this region. The Healdton and Hewitt fields in Carter county, Okla., have in turn attracted wide attention, and just now the Hewitt pool is perhaps the liveliest spot in Oklahoma. The producing sand in this prolific field is found around 2100 feet. The oil is high grade. There are something like 90 new derricks and drilling rigs. The daily production is over 30,000 barrels. This field lies to the north-east and across Red river from Montague county.

And now comes Young county, Texas, to the southwest with the rich new Elizaville field. This locality has two producing sands up to date, the first in which the Panhandle Oil and Refining company has a 1,000-barrel well, natural, some in close to 2,100 feet, you will note about the Hewitt field depth, the second pay being found at 2,540 feet. This is by far the most important strike in the north Texas region for some time, and bids fair to rival Burk Burnett. The Panhandle well is but about 12 feet in the sand, well in line to come in for some of the good things which have fallen to the Oklahoma side and are now coming to the Texas side down past us to Elizaville in Young county. The general impression is among geologists and oil men who have been keeping close tab on development work in this locality that it is but a matter of time in getting a test well located on the rich part of one of the structures in this county when the take should be told in terms which mean in liquid gold, or something like that. Anyway, the prospect is good.

The Big Six is making progress here, 1,600 feet, having had a showing of 751 and gas at 3,450 feet. This well is on the Dunn farm and located about six miles southwest of Nocona and is considered to have a favorable location. Several of the best geologists in the business have given clearance papers to this structure.

RAILROAD WRECK SALE

Ritter, Shear & Peal of St. Louis, makers of high grade suits only, sacrificed their entire stocks to facilitate the process of adjusting themselves to the new market conditions, and the Railroad Wreck Sale was the establishment to secure these phenomenal values for its patrons.

Not only did the manufacturers sacrifice profits, but costs as well for only extreme values would tempt me to purchase such a vast stock as this in these times of uncertain conditions.

DRILLING FOR WEEK SHOWS GOOD RETURNS

Kansas & Gulf Leads The Field In The Number Of Producers.

Last week's rain and the holiday held up drilling operations in Wichita county to no little extent and the number of completions announced for the week were fewer than the week previous.

The Kansas & Gulf Company led the field in the number of producers completed. The company which recently bought out the holdings of Langford, Staley and Chenault brought in four producers in the Northwest Extension. Three were completed on the Schmissour lease at a depth of about 1825 feet. The No. 6 Schmissour B. was reported as making about 60 barrels while the Nos. 16 and 18 Schmissour were reported as good for 75 barrels each. The same company also completed its No. 2 well on the Michna, showing about 40 barrels, at a depth of about 1600 feet.

The general Oil Co.'s Nos. 4 and 5 state lands were reported as swabbing about 125 and 165 barrels, respectively, from the 1550 foot sand.

One of the best producers of the week was reported by the McMan Oil Company which brought in a 50-barrel well at the No. 1 state lands from a depth of about 1560 feet.

A 50-barrel well was completed by the Evangeline Oil Company and Gulf States Oil & Refining Company at the No. 4 Michna at a depth of 1650 feet.

The No. 2 Taylor of the National Oil Company was reported as dry and abandoned at a depth of 1675 feet.

No completions were announced from the Electra field though good showings of oil were reported by the titolous Oil Company and Planet Petroleum Company at its No. 7 well. Both companies are preparing to drill in at a depth of about 240 feet.

The E. M. F. Oil Company reported a 60-barrel well at the No. 7 Roller in the

TWO NEW SYNDICATES ARE FORMED TO DRILL IN WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, TEXAS, Nov. 27.—Two new syndicates are being formed in the north for the purpose of drilling two new wells in the Sigler property, according to Lloyd Sigler, who recently returned from Chicago. These new concerns are expected to commence operations within the next two weeks.

The Hale Petroleum Co., which put down the well known "Trapshooter" well in Kansas, is organizing a syndicate in Kansas City to drill a well offsetting the present Sigler lease. One hundred acres have been purchased from the Sigler company for this purpose. The well will be started within the next ten or fifteen days.

The other syndicate is being formed in Peoria and Chicago and will purchase forty acres from the Sigler company for a consideration of $40,000. This syndicate likewise will commence operations within a short time. Forty acres have been purchased from the Sigler company, recently organized here and part of the old Buckeye Oil Co. The land lies one-half mile due west of Sigler No. 1. The contract specifies that a derrick must be erected within the next two or three days and drilling operations must commence within the next ten days.

AUTOMATIC PHONES WILL BE INSTALLED IN CITY BY SPRING

WORK IS YEAR BEHIND PROGRAM DUE TO LACK OF MATERIAL AND MEN.

NEW ADDITION TO BUILDING IS FILLED WITH APPLIANCES

Company Has 600 Contracts To Install Instruments Before First Of Year.

The new automatic telephone system which is now being installed throughout the city by the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company will be in active operation by the first of next March, and possibly by the middle of February, according to an announcement made Saturday by C. C. Kirby general manager of the local system.

The work on the installation of the necessary equipment is progressing as rapidly as supplies and materials are received from the manufacturing concerns in Chicago, and although the present extent of operations are a year behind the program of construction mapped out by the company, officials are satisfied with the progress that has been made. No idea of the vast amount of work, time and trouble required in the switching from one system to another can be gained without visiting the exchange and viewing the myriad different mechanical devices that are being set up and wired.

The new building, or rather the new wing to the old building, which was completed a short time ago, is now practically filled with the central appliances which will serve the telephone using citizens of Wichita Falls in place of the individual operators now employed. There are thousands of wires, some large, some small, that must be numbered, connected in their proper relation and attached to the complex instruments which make the actual telephone connections in the new exchange and each of these must be carefully tested by a corps of experts before they are ready for use. A slight conception of the work required may be gleaned from the information that every telephone in the city, of which there are now 5,000, has two wires running the entire length to the telephone office.

In the case of water or gas mains a common trunk line of large capacity supplies the wants of a large section of the city, but in the telephone system this is of course impossible. Wires from telephones run into a common cable, which is composed of close to a thousand separate wires itself, and by means of that source are carried into the central exchange where they distribute to the proper instruments.

The telephone company now, so Mr. Kirby states, is under contract to install between 500 and 600 new instruments in the city before the close of the year, in which will be included several complete private exchanges in various buildings of the city.

WILL GIVE EMPLOYEES A PART IN MANAGEMENT OF BIG PUBLISHING PLANT

TOPEKA, KAN., Nov. 27.—Before leaving for Washington, United States Senator Arthur Capper held a meeting for the 700 employees of his publishing house here and announced that a plan is to be put into effect whereby the employes will assume part of the management of the business.

Under the plan, Senator Capper said, a senate will be established in which every branch of the force will have a representative who will be elected by the employes without suggestions from the management. This senate will consult with the management and will jointly assume responsibility and direction.

THREE MEN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF JEWELRY ARE RELEASED ON BOND

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Edgar C. Erickson, proprietor of a clothing store; Edward J. Ader, attorney; and Lee Coey, sales promoter employed by Erickson, were released on bonds of $2,000 each today, having been arrested on charges of burglary yesterday. According to the police, the three were involved in a plot to get back $4,850 worth of jewelry previously presented by Erickson to Miss Helen De Woody. The stolen gifts consisted of a $2,000 diamond ring, a diamond bracelet, a diamond necklace and other articles. Detective Ader today that investigation uncovered that Erickson, who is married and has two children, had paid attention to Miss De Woody.

When John D. Rockefeller's stomach went bad he retired from active business to active golfing, which was all right for John D.—he could afford to quit. His definition of riches to day is—"good health." He ought to know.

That chiropractic adjustment is a way to health is evidently the opinion of Rockefeller, as he supports a scholarship in one of the principle chiropractic schools. Keep your health even as you keep your wealth, and you'll find in health something wealth cannot replace.

Music Memory Contest Opens December 1; 1,600 of Local School Children Are Enrolled; Musicians and Music Dealers Are to Help

Sixteen hundred school children of Wichita Falls will be enrolled in the national music memory contest which opens in the leading public schools all over America December 1, according to an announcement made Saturday morning by Miss Henrietta Pyle, supervisor of public school music for the city.

The music memory contest marks the first active step in the direction of national training in music appreciation, toward which goal the music lovers of several leading musical nations have turned their faces during the past decade. In Wichita Falls the supervisor of music and others interested and responsible will receive the co-operation of the Musicians' club and the local music dealers, all of whom have promised their assistance in every way it may be of value.

"The efforts of the country have been to elevate America's musical understanding by training a few performers, or by training pupils in school to read by sight," Miss Pyle said, summing up the situation locally as well as nationally. "But this slight reading, a necessity, or a valuable help to development in the individual, is by no means all of a musical education."

"Many a person may become educated in music yet not be a performer. When we study Shakespeare it is not for the purpose of becoming a writer, nor an actor; it is to be able to understand the great ideas of the artist-writer; to be able to understand his technique and purpose; to separate the chaff from the wheat in the mass of literature we read; to be able to enjoy his thoughts to the fullest extent.

The list of classic compositions and selections which will form the basis of the contest locally was selected by Miss Pyle, assisted by a committee of prominent local musicians. The various selections were rendered locally at the schools, Wichita Falls musicians having promised their co-operation to that end, and the Musicians' club will present selections from the list in their various open programs throughout the winter; they will also be heard at matinees for the children which local music dealers are planning to give with the aid of the various music machines and player pianos. Announcements of these programs and matinees will be made each time before presentation in the Times.

Wand More Prizes. National prizes are offered by musical organizations throughout the country, but as the chance of winning these is comparatively slight, Miss Pyle is anxious to have local prizes offered. A number have been, but it is hoped to have twenty-five or thirty, and it is stated that any individual or organization wishing to help the movement by contributing a prize may communicate with either Miss Pyle.

The play opened with a model Indian scene, in which Mrs. Grady Fletcher as a squaw, and Miss Roberta Fletcher, as a "papoose" took principal parts. There were several other Indian children in the scene.

MUSICIANS' OPEN PROGRAM FRIDAY NIGHT DREW CROWD FIRST M. E. CHURCH SOUTH

The Musicians' Club second open program drew a crowd of between five and six hundred people to the First Methodist church, south, Friday night, and the program drew most unrestrained and enthusiastic applause throughout the entire evening with the local artists.

The new Symphony orchestra recently organized from the ranks of the Musicians club was one big feature of the program, the orchestra giving two splendid numbers—Sir Edward Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," and the "Farewell" number from Fritz Kreisler's "Apple Blossoms." The orchestra was applauded "to the echo," literally. The personnel included: Ernest Katz, director; Misses Bernice Jackson, Marion Maer and Vivian Bailey, and Mrs. O. E. Ellis, cello; Messrs. Taylor and Boyer, cornet; Stonecipher, drums; Courciera, kettledrums; Lawler and Busch, clarinet; Drummer, flutes; Coleman, second violin; Edler, first violin; Lambert, trumpet; Sidwell, bass violin; Gilbert, trombone, and Bell, clarinet.

Famous Soprano Is Expected to Attract a Capacity House

The Wichita theatre is making preparations for a capacity house Monday evening when Marie Rappold, famous soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, is presented under the auspices of the Musicians club of Wichita Falls.

The appearance of any operatic favorite has ever been the occasion of a bigging out appreciative audiences in this city and when an artist of the magnitude and popularity which Marie Rappold enjoys is scheduled to fill the audience will go doubt fill every seat.

An element of unusual interest is attached to the concert of this famous soprano, not only because of her established reputation as one of the foremost sopranos of the day but also because she is one of the very few sopranos in the operatic world, born within the shadow of the Brooklyn bridge who studied under American teachers and customs and mannerisms.

Her very fact that she is an American product from first to last is one of Marie Rappold's proudest boasts, and she takes pardonable pride in her knowledge of this great continent, its various ways, customs and mannerisms. "I know my country," she affirms, "as few people are able to know it. I have seen every type of city, town and village from coast to coast, from Canada to Mexico and have not only seen them but have lived in the homes of their people, partaken of the social life of the community, shaken hands with hundreds of their citizens, felt a closer touch with them when I was singing to them out of my heart, than years of intimacy often establish.

"In a great country like America the variety of life presented is almost unbelievable, unless you actually see it for yourself. Some places are separated not only by thousands of miles but by thousands of years, it seems. The prime, cultural centers of New England, the boisterous towns of the west, the appreciative, kind hearted, placidly flowing life of the south, are all as widely removed from each other as the civilization of different countries. Yet this vast and varied life has an underlying unit of purpose, a common direction.

"The feeling that I have something that all these people want, that I respond to, is the biggest inspiration in my work. It is almost as though I were establishing a bond between them, in the form of a common interest and that an artistic one. It is a feeling that every artist must experience, I suppose, but it is infinitely satisfying when it is for his own country and his own people.

Therein lies the secret of much of Marie Rappold's success, the joy of doing a thing for the mere feeling of satisfaction and personal enjoyment which it brings.

In her concert Monday evening Marie Rappold will offer, in addition to a number of operatic classics, a tone test with the Edison machine, for which she is one of the leading soloists.

A riot of comedy, drama, thrilling scenes and even tragedy, played by a competent company of girls for the most part, is being offered at the Gem theatre for Tuesday only of this week when "Up in Mary's Attic" is presented.

This picture, when first making its appearance in the large theatrical centers of the country was acclaimed one of the finest comedies of the season. The story deals with a young under-graduate at a fashionable ladies' seminary who is notified that she has inherited an enormous estate on condition that she does not marry until her twenty-first birthday. The will also appoints Prof. Pennanink, the principal of the seminary, her sole guardian. Matters take an eventful twist when, greatly loath to allow a legacy of such proportions out of his

First Scenes of the Local Movie Picture Be "Shot" Monday

A revised list of the characters which are to appear in the Wichita Falls movie "The Girl From Wichita Falls," has been given out by Director Charles Le Witt, together with the information that the first scenes of the picture are to be "shot" on the stage of the Majestic theatre at the 3 o'clock matinee Monday.

Lillian Evans is to play the leading role, that of the "girl" while her supporting man is to be Tully Brown. The character of the villain of the play will be taken by William Evans and the two comedy characterizations are to be handled by Ona Deckle and J. Wilkie Talbert.

The important character roles have been assigned Mr. C. C. Randall, as father of the leading man, Mrs. Randall as mother of the lead lady and Eugene Stone as father of the same. Elma Wiggin is to play the remaining "heavy."

The operations at the Majestic will proceed just as they do every day at the big studios in Los Angeles. The principles will be required to become accustomed to the glare of the 300,000 candle power mercury studio lights which will flood the stage with the blinding illumination necessary for the best results and they will be subjected to the peremptory commands and no-doubt frequent criticisms of an experienced director.

Elderly Women Are Threatening Reform of "Movie" Industry

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Elimination from motion pictures of "with lips, women who smoke cigarettes, bare foot girls who wade in brooks, "rough house" scenes in which bowie knives and six shooters predominate and all instruments and portrayals of crime, loose morals and unclean lives," is the object of the Ethical Motion Picture Society of America, whose organization here with 115 charter members was announced today.

Most of the charter members are elderly and many of them are women.

WICHITA MOTOR COMPANY IS TAKING LEAD IN REMARKABLE TRANSPORTATION INNOVATIONS

The Wichita Motor company today is taking the lead in two rather remarkable transportation innovations—the introduction of the gasoline truck as a substitute for the railroad locomotive in carrying passengers over short hauls, and the construction of gasoline omnibuses to be used on the street tracks of two South American cities. The first of these innovations, described by O. L. Formigle, chief engineer of the company, as "a most remarkable reclamation project," and the second, while the idea is not wholly new, is expected to result indirectly in one of the biggest advertisements of Wichita Falls ever spread in a foreign country.

The use of the gasoline-driven truck in place of the steam locomotive is strictly a Texas story, and as such it deserves first mention here. The story, as given to The Times by Formigle and G. S. Breneman, superintendent of the motor company's plant runs as follows in chronological order:

Several years ago the Winnesboro & Gilmer railroad, operating between those two Texas towns south of Dallas, was abandoned by its owners, who had built it merely as a means of getting out the lumber in that district. When service on the road ceased, the farmers living along the line found themselves facing a serious situation. They had no means of any kind whereby to reach a market with their cotton, lumber and sugar cane. The roads were deep in sand in the summer, and impassable during the winter rainy season.

Experiment is Made. Early last summer these farmers got together, did some serious thinking—and then bought what was left of the Winnesboro & Gilmer railroad. The ties were in such bad condition and the rails were so rotted that a steam locomotive could not be used. The farmers appealed to the Wichita Motor company for aid, and the company promptly furnished a gasoline truck and two trailers. The truck was a special "Wichita" truck, equipped with flange tires to fit the railroad tracks, blank differential and special gear ratios.

With this equipment the farmers started getting their products to market. They even carried passengers on top of the cotton bales, and charged a regular three cents a mile passenger rate. From the start the gasoline truck proved such a success that the motor company now is filling an order from the same group of farmers for 19 additional trailers, so that advantage can be taken of the truck's full pulling power. Some idea of what this little enterprise has meant to these farmers, aside from the all-important fact that it has connected them with the outside world that desires their products, may be gathered from a statement made by Superintendent Breneman:

Small Amount Expended. "It would have cost them not less than $2,000," he said, "to have put that Winnesboro & Gilmer roadbed in such shape that a steam locomotive could run over it. They didn't spend $5,000 to repair the roadbed for that gasoline truck."

The experience of the farmers between Archer City and Olney, a gasoline truck built by the motor company, weighing 4,000 pounds and bearing 2,000 pounds of additional ballast to give it traction was used. Not only did this truck carry 15 passengers at a speed of more than 20 miles an hour without particular attention having been paid to the wheel adjustments, but to quote Engineer Formigle, "it handled a 100,000-pound freight car filled with wheat as easily as you would handle the truck itself."

Confidence in Plan. There was no question in the minds of the men, Formigle or Superintendent Sullivan, of the Wichita Falls & Southern, of the ability of the truck to handle passenger traffic or even small freight burdens.

There are today in Texas some 35 or more small railroads that have been abandoned as was the Winnesboro & Gilmer line. If the gasoline truck can be used on these roads successfully, it will mean reclaiming thousands of acres that now are worthless because the men who would otherwise farm them now realize that a crop is a liability when it cannot be moved to a market.

Frank Kell is interested in a number of small steam railroads where the passenger service is losing money steadily. The passenger run between Wichita Falls and Newcastle is a good illustration. At the present time one passenger train is operated daily each way at a cost of $10, which is more than the service returns. A gasoline truck, built somewhat after the style of a Fifth Avenue bus and operated on a pay-as-you-enter system, could make two round trips on this line daily at a cost of $15. It would be in effect a gasoline interurban line—one-man operation, no fireman, no conductor; the bus would carry between 35 and 60 passengers, and, if necessary, trailers could be used also.

Idea Being Worked Out. The idea is being worked out carefully by the engineers of the motor company, and it is expected a decision will be reached by Kell very shortly. The truck that is being designed by the company will weigh only about 4,500 pounds, as compared to 45 tons, the average weight of the lightest type of steam locomotive. Moreover, that type of locomotive now costs about $30,000, whereas the truck can be manufactured and sold at a figure between $6,000 and $10,000.

A. G. Savelli, vice president and export sales manager of the motor company, tells the story of the use of the gasoline truck in place of the electric-driven street car:

"Some time ago," he said, "we sent to La Paz, Bolivia, about 40 Wichita trucks specially equipped to work 14,000 feet above sea level. They made good, and gave such fine satisfaction when the city of La Paz found itself facing the necessity of expensive repairs on a broken-down street railway system the authorities again thought of trucks. They wrote to us, and we went into the matter of supplying a gasoline street car fitted to their track gauge of 54 inches."

"In the meantime a similar request came from Managua, in Nicaragua. We have made an offer of 25 gasoline street cars to La Paz, and 15 to Managua, and I believe the offer will be accepted. I am positive, as a result of our experiments, that the gasoline car will be a success in every way."

There are the two stories of what the local motor factory is doing to advertise Wichita Falls in South America, and to reclaim the abandoned railroads and farm lands of Texas. Sounds rather interesting, don't you think?

TAXPAYERS BECOMING FAMILIAR WITH INCOME TAX COMPLEX PROBLEMS

With the second week of the delinquent tax drive of the internal revenue office over, it is estimated roughly by deputy collectors attached to the Wichita Falls division that the taxes thus far collected are less than one-half the amount collected in a similar campaign last year—which indicates they guess that the public is becoming more familiar with the complex problems that surround the filing of income tax returns.

For the most part the delinquents are in one general class; those who considered it unnecessary to file a return because they knew they were exempt from taxation. The campaign will continue for some time yet, it was stated Saturday, and persons who voluntarily go to the local internal revenue office in the postoffice building to explain matters may possibly escape some of the penalties that may accrue if the office is forced to summon them.

LIVING COSTS ARE GRADUALLY DROPPING

Clothing Apparently Shows Greatest Decrease—Other Things Help.

King Hi Cost of Living, pictured by many as seated on a throne, consisting of a toppling mass of war time measures, minus a foundation of any description, seems to have, through his career as ruler supreme accumulated a sufficient amount of substantial props, which has made it a difficult matter and perhaps a dangerous one, to dethrone him as suddenly as was anticipated.

Prices, which soared skyward, from the impetus of wartime profits and the increase of wages, having reached its peak, seems to be descending, especially in Wichita Falls, tied to an expensive parachute. The sudden drop before the parachute opened has been experienced here but the further descent is uncertain in every respect except the fact that the descent will be slow.

A canvass of the business houses in the city substantiates the statement that the cost of living has fallen from five to 50 per cent, with a possibility of a greater reduction in many articles has reached its peak for at least another six or eight months.

Since the general wave of reductions in prices has started, a survey in Wichita Falls sets forth this table of the mean averages of decrease in the retail prices of the following articles: Clothing, 25 per cent; general merchandise, 20 per cent; baked goods, 20 per cent; groceries, 5 per cent; meats, 5 per cent; fruits and vegetables, 5 per cent.

Christmas shoppers will be elated to know that wholesale candy dealers and manufacturers state that candies this year will be practically 20 per cent lower than in 1919. A reduction has already been made, but by the holidays this general reduction of one-fifth will be in effect, it is thought.

In speaking of groceries and meats a local retail dealer stated that thus far reductions had amounted to approximately five per cent, but that the outlook at the present time seemed to indicate that within the next 30 days the reduction would reach from nine to 10 per cent.

Local clothiers, who quote that reductions in their lines of merchandise have reached an average of approximately 25 per cent, state that at the present time they are able to sell first class goods to the consumer at a price that will not be equalled next spring.

It was explained that practically every dealer had a large supply of goods on hand and that in instances they are closing out certain wares at a price below the wholesale cost and although there will be a reduction in prices in spring goods, it is already evident that the early 1921 prices will be above the prices at which the goods are now being offered.

"People should buy their needs and their wants now," stated one man Saturday morning, "because, the lowest price has been reached now regardless of the fact that raw material prices have dropped. The cost of material in a suit of clothes is nominal in comparison with the cost of labor required in the manufacturing and the cost of selling the goods. Overhead expenses, including rents, have not come down. Merchants are offering the people wonderful bargains at the present time and the person who is waiting a still greater reduction will be a disappointed human next spring or late this winter."

There has been no reduction in the price of a few of the necessities of life, but generally speaking there has been a slight decrease in the cost of living.

A local business man in discussing the prevailing opinion that 1914 prices are coming back expressed himself that this was absurd. He spoke of business as a cycle, a circle composed of every class of people in existence today. It was his opinion that the benefits derived from the reduction of prices throughout the country is bound to have its detrimental effect on some one.

The service rendered by the City National Bank of Commerce is based on experience, and is governed by the desire and purpose that it shall be a really constructive force in promoting the progress and success of the Wichita Falls district and of its people.

DOKEYS TO GATHER IN BIG CEREMONIAL HERE DECEMBER 9TH

If a Dokey meet a Dokey Pouring out the rye, Will the Dokey duck the Dokey If the Dokey's dry?

Not so you could notice it! When two Dokeys hook up together, the spirit of good fellowship triumphs over all selfish individualism—and that's going some, according to Pete Carrier, one of the dinkiest little Dokeys in these parts.

You no sabb the Dokey? Not Well, the Dokey is to the Knights of Pythias just about what the Shriner is to Masonry. And the Dokeys of Wichita Falls are planning to stage a ceremonial in this city December 9 that will be the biggest affair of its kind ever attempted here. There will be local Dokeys, Dokeys from Fort Worth, Dokeys from Dallas, Dokeys from Austin and Dokeys from way out in the sage brush. All the Dokeys who can raise the necessary three cents a mho will tie to Wichita Falls to make merry, and to fill the streets of the city with black fezzes. That's where the Dokey is dissimilar to the Shriner—when you see a red fezz you know the gink beneath it is a Shriner; when the fezz is black, the smiling face below belongs to a dizzy Dokey.

Many of the plans for the big ceremonial will be arranged at the regular meeting of Pioneer Lodge No. 49, Knights of Pythias, this coming Tuesday evening, at which time also a number of candidates will be initiated into the rank of Knight. All Dokeys are urged to attend and to wear their fezzes. The meeting is an extremely important one and it behooveth every good Knight to be present. Good night! The drill team in full uniform, and drum corps of Azotus Temple, D. O. K. K. of Fort Worth, legends to attend the ceremonial December 9. There will be a big street parade, the usual street stunts, and a great many tyros from Turkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park and Wichita Falls will be "put over the jumps."

At the conclusion of the inspection trip the visitors enjoyed a splendid luncheon in the company's cafeteria, which was established a year ago. Attractive souvenirs in the form of bulldog cigar lighters later were presented to each member of the committee by J. G. Culbertson, president and general manager of the company.

Those who made the trip were T. A. Bergin, Hubert Harrison, Bert Bean, Miss Gertrude Deupen, F. J. McCoy, John H. Murphy, C. G. Manuel, C. F. Carter, Moulton B. Harrison and John Thomas.

DECLARES GERMANY IS NOT SEEKING THE ALLIES' FORGIVENESS

STATEMENT IS MADE BY DR. BERNARD DERNBURG IN AN OPEN LETTER.

CHARGES THAT THE ALLIES ARE EQUALLY AS GUILTY

Communication Provoked by The Question of Admission of Germany To The League.

By CARL D. GROUT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Germany feels that in her conduct of the war she was no more criminal than the allies and she is not seeking forgiveness for herself or others, according to Dr. Bernard Dernburg.

In a remarkable open letter to Foreign Minister Puerrydon of Argentina, who is attending the League of Nations meeting in Geneva, Dernburg stated today he could not condemn the sinking of the Lusitania without disloyalty to his country.

He declared Germany is willing to prove the measures and means used by Germany during this war were, neither in proportion nor kind, worse nor more criminal than those used by her adversaries, and asserted that "we neither seek excuse nor ask forgiveness from others or ourselves."

In explaining why he addressed the letter to Puerrydon, Dernburg said: "You were the first to stress so sincerely and energetically the necessity for the league comprising all the great powers. You were also the only one to find encouraging words in recognition of Germany's loyalty in carrying out the treaty. This is the reason I venture to address you."

Demand Treaty Be Examined. Dernburg said the German people were not hurt so much by the economic and financial stipulations of the treaty as by the spirit with which they were branded with the stigma of moral unworthiness, "destroying at the outset the spirit and good will, without which the league can not survive."

He demanded that the league examine the treaty's condemnation of Germany "in a spirit of justice."

"Few will consider the present League structure a fitting instrument to attain fulfillment of its sublime task to secure peace on earth through co-operation of all men," Dernburg wrote. "The majority of those at the conference do, however, believe in the possibility of its perfection."

Dernburg pointed out former Premier Clemenceau's accusations against Germany made under the treaty.

"Not on account of the economic burdens but on account of the offensive one-sided statements, which have not been approved in any impartial forum, are they unbearable for the German people and destroy at the outset the spirit and good will without which the league will not thrive," he said.

Admits Frightful Practices. "We do not deny that during the progress of the massacre the world has just passed through, much frightfulness and oppression was practiced on our side. These are the accompaniments of every war. It will always be difficult to distinguish between murder under the sanctioned rules of international law and the misdeeds that lie beyond this line.

"The writer says Germany does not excuse its war deeds but will gladly try to do the same." He held that German hate has been propagandized by a powerful press. He pointed out he himself was a propagandist and had to give up his work in New York after the sinking of the Lusitania, "which I could not condemn without disloyalty to my country."

"We maintain, however, and are willing to prove that the measure and means used by Germany in this war are, neither in proportion nor in kind worse nor more criminal than those used by our adversaries," he said.

"We neither seek excuse nor ask forgiveness from others or ourselves," Dernburg declared. "If justice is to reign in the league, a statement must be made that all belligerents are sinners, that all are members of the 'old system' and that all aspired to the same political ideals and hence must bear the same burden. He demanded that the league scrutinize all condemnatory judgments in the treaty.

"Germany is confident of the outcome and is willing to meet the sacrifice imposed," he concluded. "She only asks justice."

Unusual Problem Has Been Referred to Labor Secretary

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The strange story of a French girl, an American army captain and his American wife was forwarded to Secretary of Labor Wilson in Washington today by immigration officials at Ellis Island.

Captain Robert Charles Gill, former medical officer, told immigration officials that Miss Marie Schneider, pretty young French woman held there, was his adopted daughter. He said he had assumed parental rights over her while he was in Paris, following the death of her father in whose home he lived. He asked that she be permitted to enter the country.

But Mrs. Gill, who was unaccompanied by her husband, said Miss Schneider's arrival caused her mental anxiety. She opposed the girl's entrance on the ground that she exerted "a strange and evil influence" upon her husband.

The final decision was put up to the secretary of labor in Washington.

MUCH SPECULATION REGARDING PROBABLE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF DECEMBER SESSION OF CONGRESS

BY MARK SULLIVAN.
(National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post.)
(Copyright 1920 By New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—A week from Monday congress will again, and enough senators and congressmen are back in Washington to make possible a consideration of what the temper of this short session will be and what activities it is likely to take up.

No one can understand the present atmosphere of Washington or intelligently follow the activities of this coming short session without keeping always in mind the fact that this is the old congress, not the new one. The members and senators who were elected this month, and who will compose that big republican majority that is to dominate things for the near future, do not take their seats until after March fourth, from December 6 until March 4 is the old congress still in session, and out of that fact flow the most important considerations that will determine what is done or not done.

Frankness is Expected.
A session of congress situated like this coming one is always apt to be rather more exciting in its activities than a normal session. A considerable number of the members in the present case, a rather unusually large number, have been defeated for re-election. They no longer feel under the apprehensive constraint of a watchful constituency, that tends to make them more free and the coming session will be characterized by an unusual and agreeable frankness.

Quite a few of those defeated members who have already returned to Washington feel not only free from constraint, but feel, also, that their own constituents and the country as a whole have been ungrateful. The activities of men in this mood will be characterized not merely by unusual frankness, but by an aggressive independence.

A session of congress, of which a considerable number of members know they are going out of public life and of which the remainder know that they are secure in their seats for a long time to come, ought to provide the country with better legislation than usual. Except for two factors, the coming session would do just that.

President a Factor.
The first of the factors that makes a good body of legislation less probable is uncertainty about the disposition of President Wilson.

Rightly or wrongly, congress has come to feel that President Wilson is in an unreasonable mood, and that in his exercise of the veto power during the coming session will be governed not merely by the freedom which he shares with them as a man about to leave public life, but by a reticent insistence on his own prerogative.

For example, there can be no doubt that the present congress is disposed to pass a drastic law restricting immigration. Congress is almost universally impressed with the belief that many countries of Europe, in the present state of economic chaos there, are taking advantage of the opportunity to get rid of undesirable elements in their populations by facilitating their immigration to America. Several other reasons run toward the same end of excessive and largely undesirable immigration into the United States. Taking account of all these reasons, congress is disposed to check that immigration and to endeavor to pass legislation to that effect.

Fear the Veto.
But in considering this legislation congress is impressed with a more or less hopeless apprehension that President Wilson will exercise his veto power in such a way as to defeat their intentions. The other day, a member of congress who is on the committee that has charge of immigration matters was approached by some representatives of labor unions, who laid before him the necessity for immigration restriction. He replied that he agreed with them wholly, and that they could rely on congress to take the necessary action, but he feared whatever congress should do might be vetoed by the president.

A veto that discourages.
Congress finds justification for this apprehension of President Wilson in his veto of the budget bill.

Last May, just as congress was ending its session, a budget bill was passed which was described as being, next to the federal reserve act, the most important piece of legislation passed since the civil war, and likely to do more toward introducing sound business and administration methods into the conduct of the government than any bill ever passed at any time. The support of this bill was almost unanimous. Democratic leaders competed with republican leaders in the heartiness of their indorsement and in their wish to facilitate its passage.

Discouraging Episode.
But after congress closed, President Wilson vetoed the bill and gave as the reason for his veto his disagreement with what the friends of the bill regarded as an unreasonably minute constitutional objection. The episode was discouraging to congress and to the large number of earnest persons who are friends of the bill. Congress felt that President Wilson is less intent on getting something done to remedy the admitted chaos of the government's machinery than in maintaining a meticulous regard for his own prerogative.

If congress is right in this and if President Wilson retains this attitude, the coming session will be less fruitful of good legislation than might readily be the case. It is largely a matter of mental attitude. If congress and the president, both being free from the usual necessity of deferring to prejudices among the electorate, were disposed to co-operate, this coming session might be an extremely useful one.

The source from whom the signal for this generous spirit ought to come is obviously President Wilson. He has the more exalted position that makes such a gesture graceful. Also, the first move is his. He will open the coming session with the usual address. That address will be his last message of the kind. If he has in him the spirit to do so, he might make that message not only historic but useful. The fear is, however, that he will be disposed to make it more the former than the latter, more disposed to keep his personal record straight for history than to help the people out of their present troubles.

Not Expected to Change.
Of course it would be too much to expect the president at this closing hour to change his position on the league of nations, however, clear it must be to others than his position on that point is disapproved by the people. But conceding him that, he might say to congress that he recognizes and admits the verdict of the election, and that as regards domestic matters he stands ready to facilitate rather than hinder the intentions of congress.

The second element that tends to make the coming session less fruitful in results is the attitude of some republican leaders.

These leaders take the position that the country has expressed its disapproval of the present administration and its thorough going wish for a new deal all around. Under these circumstances, this group of republican leaders claims that the present short session should confine itself to merely routine matters and beyond that should merely mark time until March 4th. The republican leaders who hold this view are by no means alone.

Another Group of Leaders.
There is another group of republican leaders who think the coming session is a time for marked energy. They think that the economic conditions are such as call for prompt action. They think especially that the public should be given a sign of what is to be done along the lines of taxation, the tariff, and other factors affecting business. Several of these republican leaders have a program something like the following:

They think that President-elect Harding should announce his cabinet within the next two or three weeks, especially do they think that he should name his secretary of state and his secretary of the treasury. They take it for granted that the names of these two appointees, if given to the public, would carry reassurance. They think the names would carry reassurance by the confidence the public would have in the men themselves, and also by the sign which the public would get of what is to be the policy for the future as regards foreign relations and fiscal matters.

Further than this, these republican leaders believe that the finance committee of the senate should become active at once and should announce its policies in relation to the funding of the public debt changes in the tax law, and the tariff.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

CREDIT IS STABLE

"Credit used and not abused is capital that never melts away."

We saw that on a statement blank the other day and it struck forcibly.

Capital—of whatever quantity—is subject to almost every little whim of the market. Fortunes—gold—accumulations of a lifetime and of generations—have been wiped out overnight.

Capital is uncertain.

Credit is substantial. Credit is stable. "Credit used and not abused is capital that never melts away."

The man with credit and no money is wealthier than the man with capital and no credit.

Why? Because good credit is a badge of integrity and honest intent—while capital is not, necessarily.

The man with credit buys because the man or men he buys from believe in his character—his honor—his honesty.

The man with capital buys because he has money to pay his way.

Character—honesty—honor—CREDIT—weigh much more in the balance than lucre.

Credit is worth more than money.

YOUR RATING

Credit is extended to you because the man you buy from thinks you are honest.

He has faith in you—in your honor.

He believes you will pay when the time comes. He does not think you will abuse the privilege—the convenience—of credit. He extends you a rare compliment when he allows you to take his goods out of his store without paying for them.

Do YOU make good? Or do you disappoint him?

The answer is shown in your rating listed in the credit book.

Are you "prompt pay—good credit" or "require cash?"

The first means "honor," the latter "Without honor."

Now, classify yourself. You know better to what class you belong than anyone else. And you are alone to blame. It's your fault if you have bad credit—or good credit.

PAY UP

Wednesday is the First. This month's bills are then due. Remember—prompt pay creates credit.

If you owe a hundred dollars, don't think five dollars on the first will settle the account.

Don't pay ten dollars on a four month's old bill of seventy-five and expect to buy twenty dollars worth more in the next thirty days.

You may be turned down.

Now—you must square your old bills before you can make new ones with new merchants.

The Retail Merchants' Association has you spotted. The man who tries to beat his bills—can't get by.

Co-operation and organization is today making the dead-beat pay.

It is also making it easier for the man who does pay his bills to get unlimited credit.

There is just one way to increase your credit—that is to pay what you owe, and pay it promptly.

Next week your monthly bills are due. The way you remit then will either enhance or detract from your present rating.

Racing Trains to Grade Crossings Is Dangerous Practice

The practice, peculiar to practically all motorists, of racing trains to grade crossings is one of the most common causes of fatal accidents in the auto world, according to an old engineer who has watched many of these races from his seat in the cab of a locomotive. His comments have been set forth in a recently published article and serve to illustrate the fallacy of attempting to dispute the right of way with a roaring express, or even a lumbering freight train.

According to this man there is an insistent something which compels the motor car driver to "step on her" every time he sees a train approaching a grade crossing and that the result is an impromptu race. Frequently the motor car proves the faster, or has had a longer start, but every few days the train arrives first, with a dead motor car driver and a demolished machine as the result.

A passenger train of average length, consisting of five coaches, traveling at the rate of 45 miles per hour, will cross a country road in less than six seconds. If it is traveling at a higher rate of speed the crossing time will be reduced proportionately, and even a freight train of thirty or forty cars, if it is running at the average rate of thirty miles an hour, will hold up traffic but a few minutes at the longest.

The largest number of crossing accidents are those in which machines are struck by swiftly moving passenger trains and a few pertinent remarks are made in regard to this by the engineer. If, in the case of a train moving 40 miles an hour, the motorist stops his car while the train is still a quarter of a mile from the crossing it will take the train but 20 seconds to reach the road, and five or six seconds more to cross to the other side. There is less than half a minute which the driver has lost by waiting, whereas he would have gained even less if he had been successful in beating the limited and reaching the other side of the track in safety.

With these facts established it seems peculiar that 29 out of 100 motorists should insist on courting death by attempting to fly across a railway track under the very nose of a thousand-ton locomotive running at the rate of 20, 40, 50 or even 60 miles per hour. It is peculiar, but it is the truth, and thousands of deaths, all of them needless, is the price being paid annually by the motor car drivers of the country in order to learn the folly of such actions.

Trend Is Toward The Smaller Cars For General Use

Striking statistics showing a strong trend among the automobile owners from big bulky cars to smaller machines have just been gathered by the Jordan Motor Car company of Cleveland, Ohio. Twenty men, stationed on twenty of the busiest street corners in the United States, from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon of November 8 counted the number of passengers in the automobiles that passed. The total number of machines checked 27,424 and of these 23,350 were carrying one or two passengers.

These figures were obtained at the direction of Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan company. They are striking corroboration of his prediction that the car owners would turn from the big "carry-all" cars to most compact "quick-about" machines.

A comparison of the figures gathered simultaneously in the twenty different cities show an interesting similarity. A man standing at the corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-second street, New York City, counted 2,464 cars of which 451 were carrying one passenger and 629 two passengers. There were 345 cars with three passengers and 237 with four, while 253 carried five and 225 more than five. It was noticeable that only the lesser priced cars habitually carried seven passengers.

Similar figures were compiled by the Jordan representative stationed at Philadelphia. Standing at the corner of Broad and Chestnut streets this man counted a total of 1,873 cars of which 510 cars carried one passenger and 528 two. Here again it was noticeable that the largest number of passengers were carried in the cheapest priced cars.

At the corner of Euclid and Superior avenues in Cleveland 2,095 cars were checked of which 287 carried one passenger and 442 two. There were three passengers riding in 254 of the cars and four passengers in 276. There were 219 cars carrying five passengers and only 165 carrying more than five.

Increasing Demand For Motor Trucks Is Factory Report

According to a recent announcement by the International Motor Company, manufacturers of Mack trucks, the demand for motor trucks is maintaining its steady increase in spite of what would seem to be adverse general market conditions.

Sales of Mack trucks for September represented a 9 per cent increase over August. Comparing this year with last, the company states that September, 1920, showed a 44 per cent increase over September, 1919. For the three months period ending September, 20, Mack sales in 1920 were 24 per cent greater than in 1919.

A significant fact is the tendency toward a greater use of large capacity trucks. Taking the three months period ending September 30 as a basis, the sales of Mack trucks of capacities from 5 to 7 1/2 tons, increased 25 per cent this year over last year. This indication of the economies offered to shippers by big unit hauling bears out the general belief that transportation costs can be reduced by encouraging the use of the large capacity truck.

Grandma knows how to combat dangerous COLDS

Her old fashioned but effective way conquers Croup, Colds, Grippe and Pneumonia by using this simple, sane and efficient treatment. First she rubs the afflicted part with the hand until a warm glow comes to the skin. Then she applies hot applications to open the pores and increase the circulation. An application of RUB-A-COLD, the stitch in time remedy, is followed with woolen flannel cloths, and presto—the cold is soon gone. RUB-A-COLD is made from wool fat, the most penetrating of all animal oils. Combined with this ointment are harmless but stimulating properties that sink right into the open pores and drive out the pain and congestion. This method strikes at once at the seat of the trouble. It calls to the front fresh, warm blood to oust germs and to build up where they have torn down. RUB-A-COLD opens up the breathing passages leaving a soothing sensation that is of great assistance to the sufferer.

With Auto Dealers

L. C. Russell, factory representative of the Studebaker Auto company, was in Wichita Falls the latter part of the week inspecting automobile conditions in this city. Mr. Russell reports activity in Dallas, Fort Worth and other cities in eastern Texas to be much better than it was the first of the month.

Two carloads of Oakland machines are reported as being on the road to the Marshall Huff Motor company, local distributors for the Oakland, Jordan and McFarland automobiles in Wichita Falls. The shipment will include a sedan, coupe, roadster and touring car.

The Dixon Motor company, local distributors of the Buick machine, continues to dispose of the automobiles no matter what the condition of the market. Four cars were sold in one day the past week, according to Manager Dixon, and the sales for the remaining days were very heavy.

Joe Hill, manager of the service department of the Overland Motors company of this city, is rejoicing in the latest product evolved by his favored imagination, namely a new service machine. The machine has been camouflaged under many and varied coats of paint, ranging from fiery red down to soft and silvery gray, but in every indication of being a revamped Willys-Knight six. Tool boxes and various other paraphernalia have been added for the convenience of the public.

A new Packard single six roadster and an Essex touring car were delivered by the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company to purchasers during the past week. The Packard was delivered by Burk Burnett and the Essex to a customer in Electra.

D. H. Rubens, manager of the Marshall Huff Motor company, spent the larger part of the week visiting various sections of his territory.

Buick "tool" cars seem to be in great demand according to reports from the local distributors. A "tool" car, as it is known, is a standard stock machine with the tonneau removed and a specially designed body substituted in which can be carried tools and other equipment for oil field work. Several of these machines were built and delivered by the Dixon Motor company during the past week.

A load of closed Studebaker machines, in which will be included sedans and coupes, are on the road to the Excelsior Motor company, local distributors of the Studebaker in this city.

A carload of single six Packards are expected by the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company the early part of this week. A new Essex sedan is also on the road for the local concern.

An Oakland roadster was delivered to a Vernon purchaser by the Marshall Huff Motor company last Wednesday. Reports from the local agency indicate that the work of the parts and service department is exceptionally heavy at the present time.

W. J. Daugherty, director of sales at the Overland Motor company, was in Fort Worth the latter part of the week on business.

The new Hupmobile closed cars which are soon to be on the local sales floor are to incorporate every convenience known to the auto public, according to Eckman and Von Altmann, local distributors of the Hupmobile and Peerless cars. Construction, finishing, color schemes and every detail which enters into the building of an attractive closed car have been given the greatest attention possible with the result that a car of unusual merit has been evolved.

Owners whose experience includes many cars tell us that Hupmobile low flier cost is one of its most notable characteristics. 158-21c

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

Engine misfiring is often caused by water in the carburetor.

Headlights should be cleaned at least once a week to insure a clear bright light.

Castor oil applied to the leather belt in the shop will keep it soft and pliable and greatly prolong its life.

A little graphite and shellac rubbed over the rim makes tire changing much easier.

Sealing wax dissolved in gasoline with a little linseed oil to prevent brittleness makes an admirable varnish for terminals.

Never use the carburetor "choke" any more than absolutely necessary if the best results are desired.

Dirt forced into the lining fabric when pressed against the drum is generally the cause of the squeak in the brakes.

Leather upholstery may be made to look brighter if it is treated with linseed oil.

The carcass of a tire is made of layers or piles of fabric impregnated with rubber. Fabric is used to give the casing tensile strength, while the rubber holds together and gives it wearing qualities.

If mud is allowed to dry and remain on the finished surface of the car, the paint will soon be removed.

Scrap front radius rods may be used to good advantage in making stock racks and hoes for use in the garage or repair shop.

After being washed a car should be kept out of the sun until dry, as sunlight has a tendency to damage a wet car by causing the paint to check.

Leaky inner tubes come from a variety of causes. It may be that the valve plunger is worn or sticks; the lock-nut at the base of the valve stem may work loose; or running flat may honeycomb the inside of the casing with tiny holes.

Never forget that cooling water on a bronze bearing that has been running hot is the last thing to do. The best thing to do is to wait for the bearing to cool in the ordinary course of events, but if you are too much in a hurry for this, cool it with oil instead of water.

Too high a charging rate, like any other form of speed, causes overheating which not only hastens the natural wearing out of a battery, but is likely to result in carbonized separators, buckled plates and disintegrated positives.

The simplest way to test a valve of a tire to determine if it leaks air is to turn the wheel of the car, until the valve stem is at the top. Then insert the stem in a tumbler filled with water. If the valve leaks, a stream of fine bubbles will be seen coming up through the water.

When a spark plug has been screwed in too tight and has then rusted it is very hard to remove. Here is a method of doing it. Build a shallow dam of putty around the top of the plug and then fill it with kerosene. Let the kerosene soak in for twelve hours and it will loosen the rust so that the plug can be unscrewed with little trouble.

You should always clean off carbon with a cloth dipped in gasoline, or a brush may be used. Touch up the points of plugs with an emery cloth, but do not touch emery to glazed porcelain, as it scratches and makes it spot up all the more rapidly. A cracked core must be replaced.

For a quick way of determining what air pressure you will carry in your tire if you have no regular table of inflation, the following table is suggested. For three-inch tires, divide the weight of the load by 32; for three and one-half inch tires, divide weight by 40; for a four-inch tire, divide weight by 48; for four and one-half inch tire, divide by 56; for a five-inch tire divide by 72.

Weakening of the springs which close the valves is a common cause of faulty engine operation. Whenever the valves are taken out the springs should be examined to see that they are all of the same length, or rather that all of the inlet set are of the same length and all of the exhaust, as the exhaust springs will probably be a little longer than the others. If one spring is shorter than the others in its set it should be stretched or else a metal plate must be put under it to bring tension up to equality with its fellows.

A handy method of removing a bolt or cap screw which has broken off flush with or slightly below the surface of the part which it is placed, is to drill a hole in or through the broken screw, drive a small square or three-cornered file into it, and turn it out by means of a wrench. The wrench should be applied as near the broken screw or the casting edge as possible, in order to lessen the danger of breaking the file. Sometimes the tank or handle end of an old file can be used to better advantage, as it is not likely to be so brittle as the body of the file.

To test the battery for a short circuit, first charge battery at night; upon the completion of the charges, disconnect terminal connections and thereby isolate the battery so that it cannot be affected by outside influences. Take reading the following morning take another specific gravity reading. If reading is as high as at the end of the charge, the battery is O. K. and the supposed "short" is in the wiring. If, however, reading in one or more cells should fall during the night, then the battery is shorted. Upon this discovery it is essential that the battery be taken immediately to a service station.

ITCH!

A WAR-TIME ILL THAT'S SPREADING HUNT'S SALVE CURES IT!

BRED in the war trenches of Europe, a wave of ordinary ITCH is spreading over the country. This skin disease, history shows, has always prevailed, following wars and the concentration of armies. It was common during the Civil War and following that conflict. There was an epidemic of the Itch after the Spanish-American War. Now history is repeating itself after the great European struggle.

Returned soldiers and those with whom they come in contact will find a recognized remedy for the Itch in Hunt's Salve, commonly known as "Hunt's Itch Cure." Many a veteran of the late War will testify to its merits. If directions are followed HUNT'S SALVE will prove a never failing cure for all forms of the Itch, and your druggist will tell you so. He sells HUNT'S SALVE under a strict guarantee to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied user.

A Medford, Oklahoma man, among thousands who praise HUNT'S SALVE, says:

"Some people dislike to call it the Itch, but candor compels me to admit I had it badly. Your Hunt's Salve, however, cured me after many other remedies had totally failed. One box completed the cure—the first application afforded wonderful relief. My advice to those who have to scratch, is to use Hunt's Salve."

Hunt's Salve is especially compounded for the treatment of Itch, Eczema, Ringworm, Tetter and other itching skin diseases and is sold on our guarantee by all reliable drug stores, or it will be sent direct by mail if your local druggist cannot supply. Price 75c per box. A. B. RICHARDS MEDICINE COMPANY, INC., SHERMAN, TEXAS.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: I have a new Ford car bought the last August and am having trouble with the front cylinder leaking oil, which keeps the spark plug wet with pure oil and have to change and clean every few miles. The mechanic has worked on it, ground the valves and put in new rings with no results. Am now using an elbow joint with spark plug in it with very good results. What can be done to remedy this trouble? Will this plug in the joint be any harder on it than if plug was in right position?—A. J.

No harm can result by changing the position of the spark plug, providing your engine fires regularly and better. The trouble may be caused by the grade of oil you are using. In going down grade the oil in the crank case floods the forward trough of the connecting rod and feeds too much oil to the front cylinder. If the oil is thin and of a poor grade too much will be drawn into the combustion chamber. This excess oil is drawn into the combustion chamber on the intake stroke and augmented by a closed throttle in going down grade. If the oil is of a poor grade or if you do not change the oil frequently you will have trouble. Also make sure that you do not carry the oil level too high or too low. The pet cocks on the fly wheel housing will guide you in this respect.

Motor Department: I have a Grant Six equipped with Remay ignition system. I have been having trouble starting for quite a while and especially since the weather got cool. I would like you to tell me through your paper what my trouble could be. I have cleaned my distributor, also breaker points, but the spark seems to be weak. Do you think the trouble is in the coil? If the car is running slow and I try to speed up quick it will always skip a few times before it gets its speed up. Any information will be greatly appreciated.—Rehder.

The present day grade of fuel is very heavy and more difficult to vaporize in cold weather. You must keep your battery fully charged, and the ignition system properly tuned up. See that the distributor points are clean, also that spark plugs are clean and the spark gap not too wide. Too wide a gap will cause trouble in starting. Would advise installing a primer if you do not have one. Make sure that it works and gives a rich mixture for starting. After the engine warms up be sure to cut out the primer. In cold weather you should cut off part of the cooling area of the radiator. A piece of card board installed at the bottom of the radiator to cover about one-third of the cooling area will answer the purpose. It is possible that your coil is weak. Borrow a duplicate coil and note results. Your service station should help you in this respect.

Motor Department: Please tell me about spark gap intensifier. Does the device really make the current stronger? Does it save gasoline? How far should the points be set for best results? What is the effect if points are too close together or too far apart?—K. P.

A spark plug intensifier may increase the power of the spark to a certain extent and possibly save gasoline. The best gap can only be found by experiment. If gap is too small the intensifying action is not strong enough. If too wide the resistance of the spark gap added to that of the intensifier is too great for the coil and the spark will not jump. The intensifying effect is due to the current accumulating at the gap until it has strength to jump that distance.

Motor Department: Why do spark plug points have to be closer together for magnets ignition than for battery? Is battery ignition stronger or is it for some other reason?—D. L.

The magneto gives a hotter spark at high speed than the battery, but at very low speeds does not give a spark which will jump much of a gap. In order to enable the engine to run at low speed the gap must be set small. The battery gives the same intensity of spark at all speeds and so can have a larger spark gap.

Motor Department: My engine has begun to skip badly. On smooth roads, slightly up hill, it pulls well, but upon reaching level ground, particularly if undulating it begins to bound forward, then check and skip alternately. It develops knock from advanced spark more readily than it should. Please advise me.—R. S.

Your trouble is probably due to a loose wire that comes into contact and pulls away as the car shakes. The knock is probably caused by excess carbon.

Motor Department: The lost motion in my steering wheel is slowly increasing. Is this apt to be dangerous? Where shall I look for the trouble so as to correct it?—M. W.

The trouble is probably in the drag link. The rod that runs forward from the steering gear in the wheel. Screw in the adjusting nut at the end and secure it by a split pin. Any trouble with the steering mechanism is exceedingly dangerous and must be remedied immediately.

Motor Department: During the cold weather I don't get half the power out of my engine. I have tried all sorts of carburetor adjustments. Will covering a part of the radiator help to give more power? Please answer in next issue.—A. H.

Covering a section of the radiator will prevent unnecessary loss of heat units through the cooling system. The power developed by the motor is measured in heat units. When an engine is cold it has practically no power. The radiating area is designed to prevent over-heating in very hot weather, as therein lies the danger of frictional surface seizing. When a motor is cold no injury results further than loss of power. This can be overcome by covering a section usually about one-third of the radiating area during severe weather.

Motor Department: I have a car which I do not intend to use until the coming spring. Would the condition of the tires and tubes remain as good if I jacked the car up and let air out as they would if I removed them from wheels and stored them in a cool dark place until spring? Kindly advise me the best method of keeping them. Thanking you for your anticipated courtesy.—S. W.

It is advisable to remove the tires and store them away. Cover the rim of the car with a film of oil to prevent rusting.

Motor Department: I have a 1920 Model K 45 Buick. For the past three weeks I cannot meet the second and high gears without having them grind. I have to come almost to a stop before I can get the gears to mesh. The car has been driven 4,000 miles. No one has driven the car but myself. I have never had any trouble with the gears until lately. Kindly tell me how I can overcome this trouble. Thanking you in advance, I am.—R. S. 45.

Remove the cover plate over the clutch and note whether the discs separate properly when the clutch is thrown. Sometimes oil will get into the clutch and cause the discs to drag. It takes very little to keep the discs rotating once they are in motion. Also see that all grease cups are filled. If the clutch bearings are dry you will experience trouble shifting gears. If you find oil in the clutch, wash it out thoroughly with a mixture of kerosene and gasoline.

Motor Department: Please answer the following questions through your columns: I have painted underneath my fenders with black asphaltum with no success as it blistered. I cleaned thoroughly down to the base and applied a good grade of black oil paint and that does not stick. Would you advise using red lead and paint on that? Would vibration cause this trouble? My motor starts with difficulty cold mornings and then stops. I choke it to get a good mixture and it either starts or floods, which latter case necessitates working out through the cylinders. Would starting on a few dry cells instead of regular magnets eliminate the necessity of using the choke which I find absolutely necessary on magnet starting?—W. A.

First you must remove all the old paint, grease or rust. If this is not done the new paint will not stick. Apply "Bull Dog" paint remover and let it soak about two hours. Then apply another coat and let it soak about an hour. Then scrape off and clean thoroughly with gasoline. After an hour or so apply a coat of ivory black and Japan thinned down with turpentine and a little varnish. After this you can apply asphaltum or varnish or anything you wish. Dry cells should not be necessary. When you start on magnets, you must advance the spark. See that the spark plug gaps are not too wide. A primer or choke is necessary with the present day fuel in cold weather. The engine must have time to warm up before you can expect good results. Gradually cut down on choke or primer as the engine warms up.

Helpful Hints.
When testing the spark plugs by placing them on the top of the engine we sometimes get a good hot spark, but when the plug is replaced in the cylinder it will not ignite the charge because of the resistance offered by the compression in the cylinders. While the current may jump the gap at atmospheric pressure, yet when resistance is increased between the points of the gap no spark results.

After you have ruined a few spark plugs by removing them with a monkey wrench you will get a socket wrench that just fits around the plug and protects the core from accident. It costs only a few cents and will pay for itself after it has been used a few times. On the other hand the spark should be kept advanced as far as possible at all times, just short of the point where it makes a knock. The difference in your gasoline bill will give you a convincing argument in favor of a spark well advanced.

Beauty With Ability In the Essex Sedan

It is not easy to associate the beauty and exquisite charm of the Essex Sedan with the extraordinary ability through which it has excelled all other cars by so many famous official proofs.

Yet what else could account for the unusual satisfaction and contentment Essex owners feel in their cars.

Essex holds the greatest official endurance record of 3037 miles in 50 hours. Four different Essex cars have 4 times broken the transcontinental record between San Francisco and New York. It holds the 24-hour marks for both dirt track and open road running. And for cars its motor size it holds all official speed and endurance records from 1 to 50 hours.

Moreover Essex gives all the light type saving in fuel, tires and oil. In addition its endurance and reliability eliminate much repair expense that less durable cars incur.

HAPPY AFTER 20 YEARS.
"I must write you I am getting along fine. For 20 years that is over half of my life, I have spent in poor health and suffering from severe gas in stomach and indigestion. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has entirely restored me. I also know of several others who have taken it for the same trouble and are now well again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Mack Taylor and rugists everywhere.—Adv.
