SURVEYORS TO BEGIN ON DUNCAN RAILROAD EARLY IN THE WEEK

NEAR A SOLUTION OF THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM OF NATION

PRESIDENT HAS HAD A HAND IN FRAMING PROPOSED REMEDIES.

IMPORTANCE OF THE MATTER BEING URGED

Told Whole Geography Of Nation Will Be Changed Unless Something Is Done.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Remedies for the nation's transportation ills, regarded here as the chief cause for the industrial and agricultural slump are near a solution, it was learned today.

President Harding knows of some of these proposed steps and has had a hand in framing them, but he has not put forward any plan for its solution. Harding has been told that unless something is done about the railroads there will be another coal shortage.

Meanwhile the situation in the hands of the interstate commerce commission and railroad labor board. Both are judicial bodies and their decisions are subject to judicial review.

The proposed senate railroad investigation may illustrate the necessity for changes in the present transportation act.

It is all other means fall the government still has power to declare that an emergency exists and take over the railroads, something Harding and his advisers are loath to do.

Meanwhile the supreme court may put the whole railroad problem back into the lap of congress by declaring the transportation act unconstitutional.

The plaintiffs were unsuccessful in a lower court because of lack of evidence that McCann owned the bean.

PLEA OF GERMANY IS HARDING'S CHANCE IN OPINION OF READERS

MEMBERS FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE BELIEVE HE SHOULD ACCEPT.

CONSIDER THE MATTER OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Bearing On Knox Peace Resolution Discussed in Connection With The Situation.

By L. C. MARTIN United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The big change in the name foreign relations committee have given the plea of Germany that the president act as mediator between the warring nations.

Coming on the very eve of consideration by house and senate of resolutions to end the technical state of war with the Central Powers, the German appeal, Harding's reply, and the consequent re-reading of the United States into world affairs are considered of greater importance than the peace state had already been established.

A leading member of the foreign relations committee said today: "It is not a question of whether to consider a peace resolution, Germany appeals to us. The appeal, very properly is rejected, but not entirely. The situation created by Harding's reply, taken in connection with our consideration of the peace resolution, is very favorable for the United States."

Again the allies are concerned about the American settlement with Germany. They believe they have no cause to fear that we will make a peace resolution, but the recognition of the peace resolution and the reparations negotiations is likely to react favorably on allied capitals.

THE KNOX resolution has been re-vamped and is ready for presentation to the foreign relations committee Monday. Senators Lodge and Knox expect an immediate report.

Gale said that President Obregon should have permitted him to have a trial in some neutral country. He declared that if he was sentenced to imprisonment his hunger strike would last until he was "released by the authorities or by death."

Gale has been in Mexico since 1917. He was accompanied to Laredo by his wife, who is staying at a local hotel. At Fort McIntosh today word was awaited from Washington as to what disposition to make of the prisoner.

POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION OF MAN HELD AT SCRANTON

SCRANTON, Pa., April 23.—Positive identification of Tito Ligi, arrested here last Tuesday on suspicion of complicity in the Wall street explosion last September was made today by Thomas J. Smith, of Brooklyn, employed in the local department of an insurance company having offices in the New York financial district.

Smith picked out Ligi from a line of six prisoners as the man he had seen in the local police department, wagon shortly before the explosion.

He later told newspaper men that a few moments after the blast he saw Ligi rushing along Cedar street near here last Tuesday.

At about 11:35 a. m. he said he was approaching the banking house of J. P. Morgan and company when he saw a dilapidated wagon with red and black striped wheels in front of the United States assay office.

"I thought it was a junk wagon," he said. My attention was first called to it when I noticed the two men standing near the horse's head arguing. I crossed the street expecting to see a fight. One of the men was dressed in the style of a rough, roughly dressed and of stocky build.

Turning to Raymond Clark, foreman on a construction job in the vicinity of the blast, Smith asked if this description fitted the man he had mentioned in previous investigations in New York. Clark, who also went to Scranton today to see if he could recognize Ligi but failed to do so, admitted that the general description fitted the man who a few moments after the explosion rushed up to him and shouted, "My god, my horse has been killed."

CONFESSION HE FURNISHED MONEY TO CONSTRUCT BOMB

NEW YORK, April 23.—Captain Arthur A. Carey, chief of police, today identified the Wall street bomb plot, sent picked detectives to Brooklyn after a report had been made to him that Ligi had confessed to the crime.

The police in Brooklyn who removed the chemicals and anarchist literature from Ligar's room threw a veil of secrecy over the investigation they started after Ligar's landlady heard the shot and summoned them to break down the door. Ligar was found with a revolver in his right hand.

The police were reticent concerning the "confession note" in which Ligar is said to have stated he intended to commit suicide because the police were on his trail.

The police took from Ligar's room a trunk and two suitcases as well as several bottles of chemicals.

The family in whose house Ligar lived, however, declared the dead man had with great frequency discussed the explosion.

Search by detectives from the homicide bureau revealed Ligar left several letters addressed to persons in Chicago and other cities. The contents were not made public, but the police indicated they thought it was demerol.

Several letters it was said, railed against capitalists.

Four cigar boxes containing chemicals besides several bottles of acid were found in the room with maps of other countries.

NEXT GERMAN OFFER OF SETTLEMENT TO BE FIFTY BILLION MARKS

DECISION BECOMES KNOWN FOLLOWING CABINET MEETING SATURDAY.

NOTE CARRYING OFFER IS FORWARDED TO HARDING

Great Britain Lets It Be Known That Country Will Stand By Paris Agreement.

By L. C. MARTIN United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, April 23.—The next German offer of reparations will be 50,000,000,000 gold marks, it was reported here today following a session of the cabinet.

A note carrying the offer was forwarded to president Harding tonight.

By LYMPHINE, ENG., April 23.—It is Great Britain's intention to abide by the provisions of the agreement arrived in Paris last January with respect to what steps should be taken to coerce Germany into meeting her reparations debts, she agreed that failure by Germany to meet her obligations in this respect should be met with further pressure.

That became known in course of today's meeting between Premier Briand and Lloyd George, who came here to confer on the situation arising from Germany's stand on the reparations questions and what is to be done if she continued her recalcitrant attitude.

Mr. Briand, at his own request, explained to the British prime minister at a conference which occupied most of this afternoon, the French proposals for setting up an economic administration in Westphalia, including the Ruhr coal district, should Germany fail to make payments due May 1.

Although Mr. Lloyd George doubtless was aware of the general character of the French plans from the communications exchanged between the two foreign offices, Premier Briand explained the important features affecting the general policy of the allies. In order to obtain a complete picture of the situation, Mr. Lloyd George therefore began with an extended exposition of the French scheme by Mr. Briand and Philippe Berthelot of the French foreign office, with Mr. Lloyd George interrogating them.

The conversations were held in the black and gold room of the residence of Sir Phillipps Sassoon. There was no table in front of the conferees, who lounged in arm chairs. Those present were Mr. Krammer, the official interpreter of many French state secrets, and Sir Maurice Hankey, secretary to the commission on imperial defense; Sir Phillip Kerr, Robert G. Viscount and Mr. Sylvester, the latter four assisting Mr. Lloyd George.

During the afternoon word reached Lympshire from Berlin that the German cabinet was discussing French proposals, which were reported might reach here before the conference breaks up Monday.

Mr. J. Aspar, the Belgian foreign minister, will visit London Tuesday to discuss reparations with Premier Lloyd George.

The former secretary also declared he believes America must force its demands for reparations upon Germany by internationalizing the issue, which would not lead to war, he said.

He expressed the opinion an agreement can be reached among the allies on the question of reparations, but that the United States was not represented on the reparations commission. But notwithstanding, America must stand by the allies in their demands upon Germany," Daniels said.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS SAYS SHOULD MAKE GERMANS PAY

DALLAS, April 23.—The United States should stand with the allies on the reparations question and force Germany to pay every cent agreed upon, Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, declared here today in connection with his appearance before the former secretary also declared he believes America must force its demands for reparations upon Germany by internationalizing the issue, which would not lead to war, he said.

He expressed the opinion an agreement can be reached among the allies on the question of reparations, but that the United States was not represented on the reparations commission. But notwithstanding, America must stand by the allies in their demands upon Germany," Daniels said.

By Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23.—The situation in the Alabama coal fields, where thousands of strikers and their families are destitute, was characterized as "alarming" by Brigadier Simmons, commander of the Alabama National Guard today.

Announcing that the army will continue to aid the strikers to the best of its ability, even without state aid, Simmons said:

"The situation is alarming. It is such a situation as that which creates such a condition to exist. We can not refuse to throw our resources into the fight to aid the strikers, regardless of whether Governor Kirby is willing to help or not."

Simmons said the coal miners are starving and desperate. Representatives of half a dozen local unions of the United Mine Workers were canvassing for food and money in Birmingham today. Joseph Smith, representing the United Mine Workers, appealed to wholesale houses for food.

"We are in bad and must have food today," he said.

JAPANESE PAPERS SEE RENEWED HOPE FOR A SETTLEMENT

By Associated Press.

TOKYO, April 23.—The leading morning newspapers, following the official deliberations of Friday on the question of mandates, say they believe there is a possibility of a settlement of the problem through direct negotiations between Japan and the United States.

According to the Jiji Shimpo, Great Britain, France and Italy have advised Japan to resume negotiations with the United States. The newspapers express the opinion that Japan will endeavor to come to an amicable settlement of the question of mandates.

A number of sensational articles have been printed attacking the American attitude as aggressive. In this connection the article in the Republic, which was published in the name of the press to a statement by Hanon Sakatani, former finance minister, in which he says it would be the height of folly to attack an undeveloped country to the Yap problem and to suppose that war alone would settle it.

The best minds in Japan and America, Baron Sakatani declares, are averse to the idea that the peace of the world should again be broken over the comparatively insignificant question of possession of a small island in the south seas.

"There is no doubt," the statement concludes, "that if the matter is dealt with honestly and candidly, the way will be found to a solution which will not compromise either party."

GROUND IS CLEARED FOR NEW MEASURES OF PRESENT SESSION

COLOMBIAN TREATY OUT OF WAY OF CONSTRUCTIVE LEGISLATION.

BEGIN TO RECOGNIZE HARDING AS LEADER

Mark Sullivan Makes Survey Of Situation At Washington As Developed To Date.

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—With the Colombian treaty out of the way, the ground is now cleared for the great new measures of the present session, and as the administration takes up the business of making its constructive record it is interesting to make a survey of the field as it lies before us. The wish of President Harding, which he expressed in asking the senate to take up the Colombian treaty as the first act of his administration, was based on two motives, both of which were in the nature of a clearing of the ground. He wanted the Colombian treaty out of the way, in the first place, as a preliminary to the act of justice combined, which should be the opening move in his policy toward all Latin America. His idea was that by clearing the way to meet the obligations toward our citizens and our nation arising out of revolution, we should first prove to Mexico and to all Latin America our own disposition to live up to every possible demand of justice toward them.

President Harding's second motive was one of house-clearing, so to speak. This particular treaty has been hanging fire for eight years and the controversy with Colombia which it is supposed to close is eighteen years old.

Promoting Good Will

The first and most important aspect of the field is the good will which President Harding starts in to make the record of his administration. You can go up and down Washington in the frequent contacts with every variety of man that we all have without finding, even among the most jealously partisan opponents, one who fails to speak generously of the start President Harding has so far made. For the most part this is just the natural impression made by the increase of acquaintance with his personality.

Even the most suspicious critics have been moved to make generous concessions based on President Harding's bearing in public; on his presence in the tremendous strain of an opening administration; on the firmness which has been difficult for a man of his kindly temperament, but which he nevertheless achieves under the spur of determination to do the right thing; on the pains that every one observes he has taken to get good men for his appointments. This is an effort which in the nature of things can not always be successful and which, therefore, is more apparent to those who watch the white house closely than it can be to the public at large. Finally his critics have been impressed with the simple qualities of his personality: his directness which shine vividly out of his transparent personality.

Harding a Leader

From this ascendancy of President Harding in the judgment of Washington flows the first important fact in any survey of the field. That fact is that President Harding is the leader. No other individual and no group seriously contends with him for this position. At the time of President Harding's nomination the theory was widely held that in the republican management of affairs President Harding would fill, so to speak, the role of general manager, and that the board of directors in the same picture would be the republican leaders in the senate.

This theory, it may be added, was shared by several of those same republican senate leaders themselves. In the campaign this theory became one of the two or three major issues in the shape of the slogan that Harding was going to be the creature of a senatorial oligarchy.

This theory is now utterly disproved. As it has turned out, President Harding has made just two addresses in the senate, and in both he has chosen to express it colloquially, "put the senate in its place." It is doubtful if there is any parallel in our history for this twice repeated declaration of a president to the senate and in the presence of the senate that there must be on its part no expectation of any surrender of executive prerogative.

Foreign Affairs

The foreign affairs which President Harding referred to will be one of four fields in which, roughly, the important business of the present session will divide itself. In this field our foreign affairs President Harding and his secretary of state are now functioning with a free hand unhampered by any such jealous inactivity on the part of the senate as created the deadlock of the past two years.

The second field in which the work of the present session will express itself is that of governmental house-clearing. Here, too, there has been a contest for leadership between the white house and the capitol. The reorganization of the government which is just now in process of beginning is primarily a function of congress. No bureau can be lifted out of one department into another except by act of congress.

Moreover, ordinarily congress is exceptionally unwilling to make such changes. They always involve personal consequences to government employes and when they are proposed the em-

PLAYERS AFFECTED HURRY WITH ALARMED COMPLAINT TO THE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS OR TO THE SENATORS FROM THEIR STATES.

A degree of teneness arose and president Harding has made an extraordinary demonstration of his leadership by insisting that he shall have a representative appointed by him working with the congressional committee which as a matter of form must do the work. The reorganization of the government will be dominated by President Harding and his cabinet.

The other two fields in which the work of the present session will lie are tariff and taxation. The work in these fields is all ahead in the nature of clearing the ground. The emergency tariff bill is merely to cover the period during which a permanent tariff is to be made.

SPEAKS ON PROHIBITION IN NEW YORK SUNDAY

To Ask Every Preacher, Priest and Rabbi To Assist in Making Dry Law Effective.

By HAROLD D. JACOBS

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press.)

NEW YORK, April 23.—William Jennings Bryan today informed Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright that he will urge "all the moral forces in the city" to support the police department in enforcing the new state prohibition law.

This conference between the world's greatest prohibition advocate and the enforcement officer of the highest dry city in the world, which the United Press correspondent was privileged to attend, lasted more than two hours and was marked by the greatest cordiality.

Bryan, who came here to make a speech in Washington Irving High school on "Prohibition" tomorrow, told the commissioner that in his address he would ask every preacher, priest and rabbi to support the police in making prohibition effective in New York city, and cited the 1,800 arrests and enormous quantities of liquors seized to date as evidence of his sincerity.

Among the suggestions by Bryan were: "The commoner" then made several suggestions to the commissioner, many of which he had already endorsed. Others, he pointed out, already were being put into effect or were in the process of formation.

Among the suggestions by Bryan were: Careful selection of the police personnel engaged exclusively in prohibition enforcement; to insure the employment of men "immune" to temptation from liquor.

Establishment of respect for the prohibition law by strict enforcement, thus making certain greater respect for other laws.

Story of Bigamist Rivalled by a Case Found at Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 23.—The recent story of the Jersey City broker who was alleged to have hounded two wives under one roof, was rivalled today in Brooklyn.

Complaints by detectives that Antoine Ruyts, a Belgian, was living in a Brooklyn apartment with two wives—one French and the other French—led to his arrest on a charge of bigamy. He was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing Monday.

Ruyts is alleged to have married Madame Marie Pierre Labor, a Parisian widow, in New York in January, 1920, while his other wife and her two daughters were living in Antwerp.

Detectives learned, they said, that after Ruyts had installed the French woman in his Brooklyn apartment, he sent for his Belgian wife and family. They arrived in November, 1920, and immediately were assigned quarters in Ruyts' household. "Wife No. 2" appears to be "boss," according to investigators, and has the choice of quarters.

Both "wives," detectives said, are employed in a theatrical costume establishment and go to and from work together each day. Since one speaks only French and the other Flemish, they communicate by code, rapping on wood.

Ruyts is 45 and an iron worker. He told authorities he met the "second Mrs. Ruyts" after he had fled from native city, when German troops attempted to force him to work.

MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE IS GIVEN TO RELATIVES

CHICAGO, April 23.—The million dollar estate of the late Charles H. Haines of St. Charles, Ill., was taken from Mercy hospital, Chicago, and the St. Charles board of education by a decision of the Illinois supreme court, it was learned today.

It was given to Clarence and Josephine Lataler of Chicago, grand-nephew and niece of Haines, who died in 1914.

OFFICERS FOLLOW UP OTHER CLUES ON HUGE WHISKEY FIND

Federal officers are busy on other clues with reference to the whiskey find of Thursday night when 20 barrels of liquor were found in the house at 1109 Austin street.

One or two men were called before the officers in the court house Saturday but no arrests had been made at a late hour.

The whiskey has been placed in a cell in the court house under lock and seal awaiting orders from Judge Wilson as to disposition of it.

Officers were of the belief Friday night that they had uncovered a very important angle of the case which might involve several citizens of the city but which led to naught.

Refuses to Leave Companion's Body Until Exhausted

PLAINWELL, MICH., April 23.—Fred Barker, exhausted from the hardships he endured on his 1,500-mile funeral tramp, arrived here early today with the body of his brother-in-law, J. Ward Brown, who died of pneumonia two weeks ago at a frontier trading post in northern Canada.

Refusing to part with the man who had been his companion in submarine fighting during the world war and in gold prospecting and tramping in the far north, Barker remained seated in the express car beside the rude coffin during the last lap of the trip.

Barker collapsed after reaching here with the body. He refused to talk of the perils he faced during his trip through forests, down rivers filled with rapids and along trails in the far north.

NEW PETITIONS TO BE PRESENTED FOR A COUNTY AGENT

New petitions will be presented to the county commissioners Monday in the interest of a county agent, it was learned late Saturday afternoon.

The chamber of commerce has twice had representatives appear before the court in an effort to have the county take advantage of this department but each time it was turned down by the court. The last time the court contended that the farmers were not in need of an agent to instruct how to raise crops but that it needed some one to find a market for the crops after they were raised.

It was decided however, at the last effort that the matter should be presented to the farmers in order to get their view on the subject and it is believed that the new petitions to be presented Monday will contain the signatures of many of the farmers of the county.

Married Man May Wed in Connecticut If He Leaves State

NEW YORK, April 23.—"Unless Connecticut law regarding plural marriages is amended, that state may well produce a race of bluebeards in this country," Miss Lucille Pugh, noted lawyer, declared in an interview with the United Press today.

"As I understand the statute, a married man may go to Connecticut and take another wife or two, or dozen, for that matter—so long as he does not live with her in the state."

Miss Pugh's statement was in reply to a query as to her views, both as a woman and a lawyer, on the remarkable law revealed in the present case of Herbert Thornton Andrews, New York broker, who married a girl in Connecticut and took her home to live with his other wife in Jersey City.

Upon its record of achievements, its financial strength and its long term of usefulness to the Wichita Falls district, the City National Bank of Commerce solicits new accounts—large or small, checkings or savings. 345-110

Cowboys and Cowgirls Gathering For Contests Starting Thursday Big Parade to Be Opening Event

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burnett at their ranch near Iowa Park.

As the time draws near for the third annual round-up which will be staged at Athletic park next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, interest in the big event increases and it looks like it will far eclipse anything of this nature ever before staged in the state.

An elaborate parade has been arranged which will take place Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, and in which there will be seen the greatest array of horses and horsemen ever seen in any parade in this section of the country.

The opening performance will take place at 2 p. m. Thursday afternoon, the first event being the grand entry introduction of champions who are defending their titles at the contest and the three judges, who will be selected to judge each and every contestant's work and award the thousands of dollars in cash prizes.

The second event will be the saddle bull riding, and in this event there will be a dozen or more entries, including Shorty Kelso, Sophie Williams, Ike Armstrong, Luther Lee, Tommie Douglas, Bill Coffman, Joe Hunt and others who are particularly fond of this branch of western sport.

The third event is fancy roping, presenting Tommie Kirnan, Bob Calen, Chester Barrows, Montana Jack Gray, Little Joe Hestager, Leonard Stroud and Fred M. Clancy Jr. The entries in this and other events are not yet complete and the probability is that there will be a great many more entered in each field.

Event number four is the cowboy bronc riding with saddle, bringing together in a contest such noted bronc riders as Bryan Roach, Hugh Strickland, Yakima Canutt, C. R. Williams, Booger Red Jr., Shorty Kilsco, Mike Hastings, Angelo Hughes, Leonard Stroud, Jack Brown, Tommie Kirnan, Delbert Bledsoe and others.

Event number five has been arranged for the amusement of the children, and in this event Mrs. Burnett's famous bucking shetland pony will be brought out and a prize offered to any newsboy who can ride the famous little buck.

Event number six will bring together one of the greatest classes of high school and gaited horses ever seen in the local arena. W. F. Weeks of this city, Virgil Keel of Gainesville, and Miss Mamie Francis of Ridgeway, Colorado, and Mrs. Burnett will be the prominent figures handling the reins of many blue ribbon winners.

Event number seven will be the calf roping, in which a great number of the fastest ropers of the entire west will take part. Wild Brahma calves will be used in this event, and owing to their size and viciousness it is expected that many of the participants in this event are apt to get part of their wearing apparel kicked off of them by the vicious little Brahmas before accomplishing the tie.

Event number eight will be Indian sports and dances, 75 full blood reservation Indians in war paint and feathers participating in a series of native dances, games, etc.

Event number nine, Apollo, the premier high jumping horse, leaping a large size auto filled with passengers.

Event number ten—cow girl bronc riding—in which cow girls who have won fame in the biggest bronc riding contests of the country will try to outdo each other for the large prizes in this event.

Event number eleven will be a horsemanship classic, presenting nearly a score of cowboys and cowgirls in trick and fancy riding, sensational in the extreme and so skillful as to border on those events called marvelous.

Event number twelve—Mrs. Lucille McNeill Burnett and Senoria Anita DeLong—in a specially arranged steer roping contest.

Event number thirteen—Indian buffalo race—presenting all the features of the old time buffalo hunts by the red men.

Event number fourteen—the wild Brahma steer riding. In this event more than a score of riders will attempt to ride as many of the vicious long horn bucking Brahmas ever gathered and corralled at any contest in the United States.

Event number fifteen will be the event in which thrills will follow close upon one another in rapid succession; the most daring sport of the cowboys the wild steer bullhogging. In the event it may truly be said that the greatest number of expert bulldoggers ever entered in one contest will compete for the big prizes, and Manager Burnett has seen well to the fact that the wild steers that these bulldoggers will be called upon to subdue will give battle every inch of the way. It is hard at this time to give the slightest opinion as to who will be determined the winner of this event on account of the large number of entries, yet local interest will center around the giant cowboy, Slim Caskey of this city, who won this event at the round-up here last year, and who will be expected to be either leading or hovering near the leader of this thrilling sport throughout the contest.

The advance sale of season boxes was practically finished at the three ticket offices stationed at the Miller drug store, the Kemp hotel and the City National bank at the close of business Saturday, there being about a half dozen boxes left unsold. The advance sale of grandstand tickets will open at these places Monday morning at 10 o'clock, and it begins to look as though, even with the added accommodations which have been arranged in the way of seating capacity, that many will be turned away again this year owing to the fact that the round-up this year has been advertised in a much larger radius than last year and large delegations are coming from many cities within a radius of 150 miles of Wichita Falls.

Manager Burnett, in a statement given out at round-up headquarters Saturday evening, pronounced everything in readiness. The stock all quartered on the Triangle ranch ready to be shipped in Tuesday, and all matters pertaining to the comfort and safety of patrons well looked after, and he expressed a belief that this year's event will far exceed the previous ones.

The only thing that can possibly interfere in any manner now is bad weather, and that due to the fact that we have had the past two weeks it seems that the weather man on this occasion will also be for the round-up, and that good weather will prevail.

The Advertiser's Distribution Association.

Is a new venture in Wichita Falls that will appeal to those who desire to place samples and advertising matter in the homes of Wichita county in other ways than through the dailies. H. Gordon Cross, who has been with the Martin Printing Co. since last July, is the manager. He has had 20 years experience as printer and publisher, and knows the value of getting results. He has made application for the agency of the Exclusive Distributors Association, who are the medium through whom many national advertisers place their business. Mr. Cross will have a corps of dependable men to help him and the circulars will not be found wasted. If the demand warrants it he will deliver parcels for mercantile firms who have not business enough to pay keeping up a delivery system. At present he can be found at 1501 Bluff street, phone 6172. He would like a personal interview with anyone interested. 245-11p

GROWERS INDOORSE TRUCK MARKET MOVE; PLAN ORGANIZATION

MEETING SATURDAY TAKES STEPS TO PUT INDUSTRY ON SUBSTANTIAL BASIS.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED TO PREPARE DETAILED PLAN

Another Session Called For Next Saturday, When Organization Will Be Perfected.

Indorsement of the plan for a regular market for garden produce, and appointment of an organization committee to work out details for establishing such a market here, resulted at the meeting of truck growers Saturday afternoon.

An organization committee consisting of truck-raisers and representatives of the chamber of commerce and Civic League, was named, and will meet next Wednesday night to prepare a definite plan of action and to nominate permanent officers. The committee will report next Saturday.

About 50 truck growers attended the meeting. Messrs. Smock, Crawford and Richardson representing the Civic League, and Messrs. Kemp, Harrison and McFall, representing the chamber of commerce, were also present. The matter was discussed in detail and several plans of action were suggested. It seemed to be the general belief that a manager must be employed to handle the produce, as the farmers themselves will be unable to remain in town very long to make sales.

Several of the truck growers spoke of the difficulty they had experienced in seasons past, in selling their produce, and these took the viewpoint that a permanent organization would not only be able to build up a strong retail market here, but would probably find work to do as a shipping association.

The organization committee consists of the following: Solon Downing, chairman; Joe W. Tynon, secretary; J. W.
Mix, L. B. Bruner, J. B. Nicholson, J.

NEW FIRE STATION WILL BE OCCUPIED WITHIN SHORT TIME

The new fire station being constructed at the corner of Buchanan street and Avenue H will be ready for occupancy by the last of next week.
The building itself is complete now, only the interior decorating remaining to be finished. This can be done within a week's time, it is believed; and then the structure will be turned over to the department.

The work is already several weeks behind time, for the original intention was to have it completed April 1, but unavoidable delays have necessitated a postponement.

A shipment of twenty new Gamewell fire alarm boxes is expected to arrive in the city shortly. Wires have already been strung and connected with the central station apparatus posts.
The new boxes, with all necessary equipment, represent an outlay of about $2,000 and will give fire protection to several localities unprovided for at present.

BIDS ON ROAD BONDS TO BE OPENED MONDAY

Many Inquiries Have Been Received
By County Auditor During Past
Two Weeks.

BIDS on the county road bonds will be opened at the county commissioners' meeting Monday. The bids will be received for the $1,450,000 remaining bonds as the county took up $20,000 of the bonds with money from the maintenance fund.

The bonds were advertised for sale in the official bond magazine in New York City and bids were returnable on Monday, April 25. Each one of the companies submitting bids has been asked to post a $5,000 bond.

County Auditor W. W. Murphy has received a large number of inquiries with reference to the sale of the bonds and it is believed that a large number of companies will be represented at the meeting of the court Monday.

Building of the various road projects including the Iowa Park road will depend entirely on the sale of these bonds.

Before they were advertised for sale the best offer that the county was able to secure was $2, but this was during the time when the bond market was on the decline. It is hoped that a much better price than this will be secured through the sealed bids.

FINDS GALLON OF CLEAR CORN WHISKEY BUT NO MAN

Sheriff Fred Smith was hailed to Iowa Park late Friday night on the report that a man was selling corn whiskey promiscuously on the streets of the town. The sheriff made a hurried run but returned only with a gallon of clear corn whiskey. It is said that the whiskey was some of the best that ever fell into the hands of local officers, that is, judging from the looks. The man had gone when the sheriff arrived.

NEARLY A MILE OF ROAD PAVED DURING PAST WEEK

Two hundred feet less than a mile of paving was put down by Potts and Prentice, road contractors, during the past week. The exact number was 5,069 feet. Up to Thursday night four and one-eighth miles of road had been paved.

The one concrete mixer which began work at the railroad tracks near the refineries has covered half of the distance to the second mixer, which was started at a point four miles from the first.

One of the mixers broke down Friday afternoon but was repaired and back at work Saturday morning.

Material is arriving on time and Saturday afternoon 100 cars of stone were on the way to this city from the quarry.

Six carloads of rock were rejected
Saturday morning due to the fact that the cars contained a large number of clay balls which, if used, would cause large holes to appear in the pavement.

FEDERAL PRISONER IS TAKEN TO FORT WORTH

afternoon. Barnett was in the Wichita county jail for six months, during which time he served as trustee and Mr. Tarver, the jailer, regretted to see the man transferred, as he stated that he was a great help in and about the local institution.

liberating but ten minutes, found for the defendant in a suit of L. H. Doty

NUMBER NEW WELLS IN DUNCAN DISTRICT

Best-Of-All Company Has 1200 Barrel Producer in Section 31-13-8.

DUNCAN, OKLA., April 23.—The Best-of-All company's well in the northwest of section 31-13-8 is reported in and making at the rate of 1200 barrels.

The Wallace & Coogan well in the southeast of the northeast of the northwest of section 20-13-8 was brought in Friday morning and is making around 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas and spraying some oil.

The Margay well in the northwest of the northeast of the northeast of section 20-13-8 is reported a good well at 2257 feet. Production is estimated at 150 barrels.

The Danziger Brothers well in southwest of northwest of section 36-13-3 was reported Friday to be drilling out the plugs.

One of the biggest lease deals ever recorded for the east side shallow pool was reported Friday. J. D. Davis, county surveyor of Carter county, bought the lease on 20 acres in section 13-24-4 from J. A. Fowler of Petau for $20,000 cash, or $1,000 per acre.

The lease is surrounded by production on the west and south. Davis, it is understood, will develop the property immediately.

East side operators are taking a more hopeful view of the situation following announcement by the Magnolia Pipe Line company that it will immediately connect all wells in that district.

There has been a large amount of production which heretofore has not been connected with the purchasing agency. These shallow operators also have rumors that a premium of 25 cents is going to be paid for east side oil after May 1. It is understood an Ardmore refinery will be responsible for this premium.

RESURFACING WILL BE STARTED MONDAY

Traffic To Be Barred On Sections Of Downtown Streets While Work Is In Progress.

Resurfacing of the downtown wooden block pavement will start Monday, City Engineer Montgomery announces, and traffic will be stopped on each section of the street as it is being treated. The first section will be the east side of Ohio from Tenth to Eighth, on which work will start Monday. Each section will be closed to traffic for about two days.

It is hoped by means of the resurfacing and water-proofing treatment to remove many of the objectionable features that have been noticed on the paving in the past.

"FRIENDSHIP" THEME OF JUDGE WILSON AT SHRINERS LUNCHEON

An informal talk on "Friendship" by Judge James C. Wilson of the federal district court was the feature of Saturday's Shrine luncheon.

Judge Wilson said that mankind was coming more and more to realize the value of friendships, and that such opportunities as are furnished by weekly meetings at lunch, to increase and broaden friendships were a great factor. "To have friends, one must be a friend," he said. Judge Wilson told of incidents in the political careers of noted Americans where lack of close friends had been a deciding factor in critical moments.

Judge Wilson was introduced by Judge J. T. Montgomery, who called attention to the fact that he was a native of the district. Judge Montgomery said that in his early days in Mississippi federal judges were looked upon as "foreigners" whose sole function was to prosecute ku-kluxers.

C. M. Crowell presided at the luncheon.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER SAYS STRUGGLE WITH U. S. IS UNTHINKABLE

HOPE OF WORLD DEPENDS ON UNDERSTANDING WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

DECLARES AGREEMENT WITH AMERICA ESSENTIAL

Statement Brought Out By Expressions On Part Of Some Of Labor Members.

MELBOURNE, April 23.—For Australia ever to take part in a struggle with the United States was something unthinkable and outside the bounds of possibility, declared Premier Hughes in a debate in the house today.

"I have said repeatedly that the chief problem before Great Britain is to draw up a treaty which will not involve us or Britain in a struggle with the people of the United States.

"It is unthinkable and not within the bounds of possibility that we should ever take part in a struggle against America. We cannot be bound by any treaty which we do not ourselves ratify, although the principal consequences of war between Britain and America, whether Japan was or was not her ally, would of course have to be faced by us.

"The prime minister's statement was brought out by expressions of apprehension on the part of some of the labor members, in connection with the treaty renewal discussion, that Australia might be drawn into a war with the United States.

"But for the Japanese," said Mr. Hughes, "the long war which has been before our eyes would have been reduced to ruins in the early stages of the war. I will not agree to an alliance with the United States for the only hope of world peace is in alliance between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxons.

"A world war was arising out of the map dispute would be a disgrace to civilization; this matter must be settled peacefully. An Anglo-Japanese alliance would mean that America would mean the saving of millions of pounds."

LONDON, April 23.—Premier Lloyd George, says the Sunday Times, has commissioned Lord Derby to approach the Sinn Fein to discover, if possible, common ground for negotiations looking to a settlement of the Irish question, in view of the forthcoming elections.

The newspaper says Lord Derby all of his life has been in close touch with all the vicissitudes of the Irish question and thoroughly understands the situation.

Lord Derby returned to London this evening from Lympe, where he had been in conference with the prime minister. On his arrival he went to dinner with Lord Edmund Talbot, the new lord lieutenant and governor of Ireland.

HAYWOOD TO SPREAD SOVIET PROPAGANDA

Understood To Have Been Chosen For This Special Work By Lenin.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Federal officials said today they received information that "Big Bill" Haywood, I. W. W. chief, who is believed to be in Russia, had gone to that country to become head of the propaganda bureau of the soviet government.

"We have information that Haywood was chosen for this work by Lenin after being recommended by certain radicals who have been deported from the United States," said Charles F. Cline, United States district attorney.

"It is understood that the first fields for Haywood's propaganda will be Germany, Poland, Sweden, Norway and Finland. He will attempt to bring about a peace conference between America and the nations which, with our assistance, could hope to maintain the peace of the world."

NEFF TO RESUBMIT RURAL SCHOOL BILL

Will Urge Legislature To Pass Revenue Measures To Provide Necessary Funds.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, April 23.—Governor Neff said today that he would submit the $4,000,000 rural school aid bill again to the legislature at the legislature to be convened in June.

He vetoed this bill when it was passed at the regular session, stating at that time that he would gladly join in making such appropriation if the legislature at the special session could find the funds to cover it.

The governor also said he would urge the legislature to pass certain revenue measures which, if enacted into laws, will enable the state to aid the public schools, even in excess of the amount of the appropriation. It is understood that the governor means that the measures place a tax on amusements and picture shows or oil, sulphur, coal and other natural resources in Texas, the proceeds to go to the school fund.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS OPPOSED EDWARDS

COMMITTEE VOTES TO RECOMMEND HIS CONFIRMATION WITH OTHER ARMY OFFICERS.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Despite some democratic objection, Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, the senate military committee today voted to recommend confirmation of the twelve major and fourteen brigadier general nominees recently by President Harding for promotion.

"Mr. Edwards' reply to Germany is regarded here as a sign that the United States government is ready to abandon its attitude of aloofness to European affairs. Although it would not be necessary for the United States to submit reasonable proposals from Berlin to the allied governments, there could be a return to a more normal channel of communications, since it undoubtedly would induce a closer association than has hitherto existed between the allies and the United States in dealing with the problems arising from the war."

"This prospect may not influence the decisions of Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand at Lympe, but it is safe to assure it will be kept in mind."

The senate committee today voted to recommend confirmation of the twelve major and fourteen brigadier general nominees recently by President Harding for promotion.

Information submitted today by Secretary Weeks regarding General Edwards' record in the senate, according to committee members, was said to have developed at yesterday's committee meeting.

As a matter of general party policy, members of the senate committee expected to oppose the Knox resolution, but republicans expect that a number of democratic votes will be given to the peace resolution.

Information given to the committee today by Mr. Weeks was to the effect that events which led to relief of General Edwards from command of the 26th division had their origin in an order relieving General Edwards from command on the day before his division went into action.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS, WHAT THEY MEAN

For any one to dream of simply seeing a wreath, say this sort of oracles, is unfavorable, but for any one to dream of wearing a wreath is a sign that a pleasant surprise is in store for the dreamer. A considerable number of the mystic interpreters are of the opinion that any dream of a wreath, provided the wreath be fresh and pretty, is a sign of prosperity and large business gain.

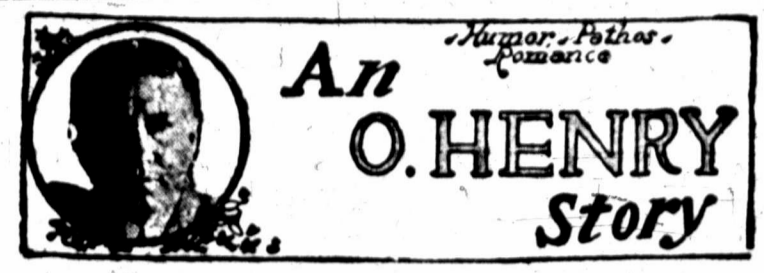

A dream of seeing a wreath of leaves—especially of oak leaves—is accounted by some of the oracles to be a prediction of success and permanent prosperity.

The Count and the Wedding Guest

By O. HENRY

ONE evening when Andy Donovan went to dinner at the second avenue boarding-house, Mrs. Scott introduced him to a new boarder, a young lady, Miss Conway.

Miss Conway was small and unobtrusive. She wore a plain, snuffy-brown dress, and bestowed her interest, which seemed languid, upon her plate.

Two weeks later Andy was sitting on the front steps enjoying his cigar. There was a soft rustle behind and above him, and Andy turned his head—and had his head turned.

Just coming out the door was Miss Conway. She wore a night-black dress of crepe de—crepe de—oh, this thin black goods. Her hat was black, and from it drooped and fluttered a long, thin, filmy veil as a spider's web.

"It's a fine, clear evening, Miss Conway," he said. "To them that has the heart to see it, it is, and I'm proud of it."

"Mr. Donovan, in his heart, cured fair weather. Heartless weather! It should hail and blow and snow to be consonant with the mood of Miss Conway."

"I hope none of your relatives—I hope you haven't sustained a loss," ventured Mr. Donovan. "Death has claimed," said Miss Conway, hesitating—not a relative, but one who—but I will not intrude my grief upon you, Mr. Donovan."

"Intrude," protested Mr. Donovan. "Why, say, Miss Conway, I'd be delighted, that is, I'd be sorry—I mean I'm sure nobody could sympathize with you more than I would."

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you; weep, and they weep with you," she quoted. "I have learned that, Mr. Donovan, I have no friends or acquaintances in this city. But you have been kind to me. I appreciate it highly."

"It's tough to be alone in New York—that's a cinch," said Mr. Donovan. "But say, when you're in this old town does loosen up and get friendly it goes the limit. Say you took a little stroll in the park, Miss Conway—don't you think it might chase away some of your mull-grubs?"

"Thanks, Mr. Donovan, I'd be pleased to accept of your escort if you think the company of one whose heart is filled with gloom could be any less agreeable to you."

Through the open gates of the iron-railed, old, downtown park, where the elect once took the air, they strolled, and found a quiet bench.

"I was my fiancé," confided Miss Conway, at the end of an hour. "We were going to be married next spring. I don't want you to think that I am stringing you, Mr. Donovan, but he was a real Count. He had an estate and a title and a Countess Ferdinando Mazzini was his name. I never saw the beat of him for elegance. Papa objected, of course, and once we eloped, but papa overtook us, and took us back. I thought, sure, and I thought, sure, I would fight a duel. Papa has a lively business—in Pikeper, you know."

"Finally, papa came round, all right, and said we might be married next spring. Ferdinando loved him, and went over to Italy to get the castle fixed up for us. Papa was very proud, and when Ferdinando wanted to give me several thousand dollars for my trousseau, he called him down something awful. He wouldn't even let me take a ring or any presents from him. And when Ferdinando called I came to the city and got a position as cashier in a candy store."

"There's days ago I got a letter from Italy, forwarded from Pikeper, saying that Ferdinando had been killed in a gondola accident. "That is why I am in mourning. My heart—Mr. Donovan, will remain forever in his grave, and I don't seem to make the folks like me any more. And, Andy, I look awfully black—know I do. So I went out to a photograph store and bought that picture, and had a little one made for my lock, and made up all that story about the count, and about his being killed, so I could wear black. And nobody can love a bar, and you'll shake me, Andy, and I'll die for shame. Oh, how never was anybody I liked but Ferdinando and that's all."

"But instead of being pushed away, she found Andy's arm folding her closer. She looked up and saw his face cleared and smiling. "Could you—could you forgive me, Andy?"

"Sure," said Andy. "It's all right about that. Back to the cemetery for the Count. You've straightened everything out, Maggie. I was in hopes you would bring the wedding-day. Bully girl!"

"Andy," said Maggie, with a somewhat shy smile, after she had been thoroughly assured of forgiveness, "did you believe all that story about the count?"

"Well, not to any large extent," said Andy, reaching for his cigar case, "because it's Big Mike Sullivan's picture you've got in that pocket of yours."

"I'll tell you then," said Andy, wisely, "but I guess you won't understand it exactly. You've heard of Mike Sullivan, everybody calls him 'Big Mike' Sullivan, everybody calls him 'No, I haven't," said Maggie. "And I don't want to, if he makes you act like this. Who is he?"

"He's the biggest man in New York," said Andy, almost reverently. "He can do anything he wants to with Tammany or any other old thing in the political line. "Well, Big Mike's a friend of mine. I ain't more than deuce-high in the district as far as influence goes but Mike's as good a friend to a little man, or a poor man as he is to a big one. I met him today on the Bowery, and what do you think he does? Comes up and shakes hands. 'Andy,' says he, 'I've been keeping comes on you. You've been putting in some good licks over on your side thing in the political line. "What's the matter, Andy, you are so solemn and grouchy tonight?"

"It's nothing much, Maggie. 'Yes it is, and I want to know, I'll be it's some other girl you are thinking about. All right. Why takes a cigar, and I take a high-ball. I told him I was going to get married in two weeks. 'Andy,' says he, 'send me an invitation, as I'll keep in mind of it, and I'll come to the wedding.' That's what Big Mike says to me, and he always does like that. "You don't understand it, Maggie, but I'd have one of my hands out for you."

ALL THE NEWS OF ALL THE SPORTS ALL THE TIME

"Babe" Adams, Who Will Be 39 Years Old Next Month Still Has Superb Control

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—One base on balls ever seven and one-third innings. Such is the control record of Charles B. Adams, control pitcher, upon whom Manager Gibson will depend largely to bring home the bacon this season.

In another month, Adams, once sent to the scrap pile as a piece of broken Pirate machinery, will celebrate his thirty-ninth birthday, and his last full season in baseball was one of his best.

Stanks Second in Earned Runs.

Ranking thirteenth in games won and lost by his seventeen victories and thirteen defeats, nevertheless he ranked second in the matter of earned runs per 9-inning game, only the great Alexander outranking him.

Pitching last year in 285 innings, he issued only 18 passes, or an average of one pass every 15.8 innings. Alexander issued 49 passes in 345 innings and Grimes, who is rated as having earned runs, issued 67 walks in 304 innings. The previous year Adams issued 23 walks in 283 innings.

The greatest number of walks ever handed out by Adams in the big league was, strangely enough, in 1910, the year after he had named the "Tigers" in the world series. He pitched in only 245 innings that year, issuing 60 walks, which materially affected his life time average. In 1914, pitching in 214 innings, he issued only 49 walks. In only one other year, 1911, did he issue more than 40 passes.

Works in 2,464 Innings.

Twelve years in the National league, Adams has worked in 2,464 innings, issuing 330 free trips to first base, or one walk in every seven and one-third innings. By striking out 153 batters, he acquired a record of striking out every eighth batsman.

Adams was once the property of the St. Louis Cardinals, but never appeared in a league game as a Cardinal. He had been up to the Pittsburgh team a couple of times before he stuck in 1908, and since then Pittsburgh has been the only big league club he has served.

In 1916 for some unaccountable reason he could not get going right. That year he started in the homecoming double game in St. Louis, but through poor scoring was cheated out of the honor, a hit being scored on a rank error. Then he lost to Cincinnati in a five game series, but just could not get going right. On August 3 of that year he was released.

The team was in New York when Jimmy Callahan, head coach, asked Adams to his room and wanted the hurler to go to Detroit. Adams refused, demanding his unconditional release, and announced his intention of quitting baseball. "Who's Who in Baseball" says he was released to St. Joe and refused to report, but Adams says he still has an unconditional release from President Barney Dreyfuss.

Adams went to his farm in Mount Moriah, Mo., and turned down numerous offers. John McGraw, just before Adams had been released, asked the veteran if he would join the New York club if released and Adams declined, saying he was tired of baseball.

During the winter following, "Jack" Holland, president of St. Joe, asked Adams to sign with that team. He refused, but when called into naming his own figure fixed the price as high as he thought the club would not meet it. To his surprise the figure was accepted and Adams was too fair to go back to his work in St. Joe and pitched remarkable ball.

Turns Down Many Offers.

That summer Philadelphia was in need of a pitcher and Ed Wedder stepped out on a still blind through the sticks. He watched Adams lose a 1 to 0 game and wired Pat Moran to grab off Adams. To his surprise, word was telegraphed back to Wedder, "Have signed. Come home." Ed went home, but it was to far as a scout for the Philadelphia club. Next season Adams was with Kansas City, going to Pittsburgh late in the season. In 1919 he turned in seventeen victories and ten losses.

When it was announced at Hot Springs that Barney Dreyfuss had signed a 5-year lease on Fordyce Field, Adams was asked where he expected to train at the conclusion of that 5-year lease.

"Well, I think my training days will be over," he replied.

"Surely you will go on forever," an admirer said.

Training Trips are Difficult.

"When a fellow gets to my age he can't count on making many more training trips. I feel as good as I ever did, but I know that each time I pitch, I use more vitality than in years gone by. It requires more effort and the reserve supply is not as great as it once was."

Adams went through the training trip this season, the same as other years without a hitch. The secret, he says, is in his attributes to the hard work he does on the farm during the off season. He believes that digging post holes is one of the best exercises for ball players to keep in condition and his neighbors say he has the best fenced farm in that section of Missouri, his winter conditioning stunt having resulted in new fences and repairs to old fences. The chickens, the pride of Mrs. Adams, do not stray over the big farm, nor do the hogs roam over the adjoining fertile fields.

FANS SATISFIED THAT CROOKS HAVE BEEN CHASED FROM GAME

Baseball has come back after the darkest days in its history to a welcome which leaves no doubt as to how the American public stands toward the sport. There were some misgivings that the details of the 1919 world series scandal, coming to light as the 1920 season was about to close, would shake the confidence of the American people as to deal the game a severe blow. These feelings have been dispelled by the crowds which have turned out for the early games of the budding season, and it is already an established fact that the public is convinced that crookedness has been eliminated from the sport.

Record crowds in three major league cities and attendances beyond the normal in the others is the answer of the fan to the efforts made during the past few months to drive from the sport all who might taint the good name of baseball by further participation in it. These may be some more players who deserve banishment, but the public is satisfied with the manner in which those entrusted with the safeguarding of the sport have been fulfilling their duty, and it can truly be said that the sport holds the same high plane in the confidence of the fans as in the days when all believed that baseball and crookedness could not mix.

House Cleaners Deserve Praise.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis and others who were engaged in the housecleaning deserve commendation for the thoroughness of their work, which has brought about the return of confidence so badly shaken when the sordid details of the 1919 series were first outlined. They have lanced where such an operation was deemed necessary and they have healed the wounds. At the same time warning has been sounded to the great army of ball players that honest effort alone will be tolerated, though it must be said in justice to the players who have headed a few instances is a warning ever necessary. The average ball player is inherently honest, and the crook in uniform is a parasite on the game who has produced a group two seasons ago.

Baseball is fortunate, in deed, that it enjoyed such able guidance as a time when the crookedness headed disaster. It is now headed away from danger and along a course to even greater prosperity than in the past. If the player remains true to the trust which the American people has reposed in him, it is not to be expected that such vultures as swooped upon the game will be able to give up all further effort to feast upon it and the player of the future may be confronted with temptations of the sort which the White Sox. The officials of the game have done their part to clean up the game and keep it clean. The fan has put his O. K. on the bill which has been headed disaster. The remainder is up to the player.

The fate of "the discredited White Sox" who find fields barred against their entry, and both players and umpires refusing to associate with them in the city where they were popular idols less than two years ago, is a convincing lesson. If one is needed, that baseball must be played on the square or not at all.

THEN "CHIEF" FANNED.

Years ago Chief Bender, then Athletic pitcher, had accumulated about $1,500 in cash and wanted to put it in an investment. He asked Christy Mathewson for advice and the latter suggested that the Indian pitcher place it in Grand African railway stock (not the real name, but good enough for this story).

In due course of time the stock dropped almost to zero and Bender lost out. Later on the Giants and Athletics met in a world series. Bender was hurrying for the Athletics and Matty for the Giants.

Chief came to bat, a couple of Athletics were on base and McGraw, who was coaching the Giants, hoping to get the Indian's goat, yelled out: "Throw him the Grand African trade-away, Matty."

Bender struck out.

WILD BUT EFFECTIVE

"DUSTER" MAILS
THE SENSATIONAL YOUNG PORT-SIDER OF TRIS SPEAKER'S TRIBE

When death struck down Roy Chapman, Cleveland's star shortstop, a dark cloud hung over that city's pennant prospects last fall. But the proverbial silver lining was there in the form of one—"Duster" Mails.

"Duster" isn't his real name, but the fact that he is fond of shaking the dust of most any town he happens to be in and going to parts unknown may have been the reason why "Duster" supplanted Walter.

It is a fact that this radical left hander is a second Roy Waddell, of illustrious memory. The "Duster" is a creature of strange moods, and there is no telling from one minute to the next just what he will do or how or where he will do it.

He may feel like going to Japan, or Peru, or even to Egypt to see what a sunset looks like viewed from a pyramid—and if he does, he will. He has been known to walk off the mound in the middle of an easy ball game and, without further adieu, depart for parts unknown.

And that isn't the only way he demonstrates his wild, radical nature. All sportsfans are wild more or less, but they can't any of them hold a candle to the "Duster's" brand of wild heaving. For years he has been the greatest left-handed pitcher in point of equipment in the minors.

He'll pitch like a world beater for six or seven innings, then fill the bases with passes and clear them again with two or three real choice wild pitches. That's his minor league record. He certainly was steady enough in the world series.

Mails is 6 ft. 1 in. tall, weighs 185, and at 24 seems to have a great future ahead of him. He is lucky to be with a club like Cleveland and a boss like

VITAMINES AND VICTORY
O, East is East and West is West,
But the West has the vitamins,
And the richer soil is a finer test
Where the star of conquest shines.

O, the boys from Yale are a trifle pale,
Where only the thin goli grow,
But there's nothing weary and nothing stale
In Paddock, Deason and Rose.

Mr. E. A. Crilly, chemical expert of Litchfield county, has sprung the Big Answer. For a long time we have wondered why all our heavyweight champions should come from the West—Dempsey, Willard, Johnson, Jeffries, Corbett, etc.

And most of our record holders—Paddock, in the sprints; Deason and Morins in the high jump; Ralph Rose in the shot-put, etc.

Mr. Crilly lays the Eastern slump to the impoverished soil, which is bereft of vitamins. Especially of Connecticut, where the exhausted condition of the soil brings on the consequent debility of those who feed upon its products.

SOIL AND SUCCESS.

How far do soil and success go together? Did not Yale, you might ask, turn out a Shevlin and a Haffelfinger? To be sure. But they were both from Minnesota.

Yet Coy, Kilpatrick, Hickey and others seem to have done fairly well without the dynamic quality of the embattled vitamins. At least they got by.

Yet the West has something in its favor. In population it is far behind the East. Yet, in addition to heavyweight boxer and track record holders, if you picked an all-star baseball team today most of them would be Westerners.

For could you leave off Speaker, Sisler, Hornsby, Alexander, Johnson, Schalk, O'Neil, Hollocher, etc.?

HOW ABOUT THE "BARE"?

At which point "Babe" Ruth enters to toss a monkey wrench into the machinery of vitaminic debate.

The "Babe" is clearly the most robust performer in the field. He is replete with vitamins and calories galore, not to say in abundance.

But Mr. Crilly might argue that Ruth comes from Maryland, a productive southern state, not to be listed in the Connecticut round-up. He might make a point of that.

It might easily be true that proper soil and success go together. It is also true that the soil of New England has been under cultivation much longer than the soil of the West and most of the South. Virginia soil for example, has been under cultivation longer than Georgia soil. Virginia has produced far more presidents. Especially of Connecticut, where the exhausted condition of the soil brings on the consequent debility of those who feed upon its products.

VEGETATION AND MEN.

If California and other far Western states can produce giant trees of unusual size and vitality, why not men of the same mold? In the late war the Admirals and the Canadians were much bulkier physical types than their English cousins. Yet the Scots were among the best physical types in all armies and the soil of Scotland has known its share of cultivation. It is at least as interesting a study. New England might rise up and ask where Harvard found Harvardwick, Brickley and Mahan.

England, highly cultivated, hasn't turned out a first-class heavyweight or even a good average heavyweight in thirty-five years. But France, even more

Notre Dame Gridiron Star Beats Michigan Aggies Lone Handed

Notre Dame, which usually has been represented by a great football team, had a red hot game with the Michigan Aggies fifteen or sixteen years ago. It was hard fought every inch of the way and neither eleven could get near enough to score.

Pete Vaughan, Notre Dame's fullback was practically the only man on his side who could make his yardage, and whenever he had the ball he crashed his way through for a few feet. That was in the days when it took only five yards to make a first down.

It came on the night of the game, and the Notre Dame coach despaired of a victory unless something was started pretty quickly. He instructed his quarter back, Hamilton, to give Vaughan the ball on every play. This was putting the issue squarely up to the big back.

This part of the program was followed out to the letter. Time after time Vaughan took the oval and crashed and plowed his way, foot by foot, until Notre Dame was on the Aggie's 10-yard line. Vaughan was exhausted.

He lunged on the first down, slipped and fell in his tracks. Again he failed, dropping to the ground.

Hamilton cracked him on the back and gave him an awful calling. He told Vaughan he was a quitter, that he looked agonized, that he was stammering to his feet and tried to soak his tormentor.

"You're showing your streak," snapped Hamilton, shoving Pete back. "You proved it when you fell those two times. Good thing the rest of us aren't like the rest of you."

Vaughan snarled, "Gimme that ball and I'll show you guys," and tucking it under his arm, he dove so furiously at the Michigan forwards that he burst through like a cannon ball, lettering forward a few steps and lurching across the goal line for a touchdown.

He immediately arose in a fury and took after Hamilton, chasing him half way down the field while the spectators looked on in amazement. Pete had his fists clenched, his teeth gritted and was intent on doing bodily injury to his victim when he suddenly realized the whole situation.

He stopped dead in his tracks, looked at Hamilton grinning back at him, and wound up by laughing loudly.

"You sure put it over on me," he said, when he gained his breath.

WILL HAVE PROFESSIONAL BASEBALL IN DUNCAN

DUNCAN, OKLA., April 23.—Duncan is to have a salaried baseball team this summer and it will be ready for business May 13.

A deal was closed Thursday by Sam Robinson, Johnny Burns and Johnny Fann for a party of the city park. A stand to seat 5,000 people is to be ready by the opening date. There is a possibility that the team may yet be based in one of the leagues in this section of the state.
