

SKIES REDDENED DURING NIGHT FROM CORK TO DUBLIN

STRIFE IN IRELAND COSTS TOTAL OF 28 LIVES OVER WHITSUN-TIDE HOLIDAY.

SINN FEIN OUTBREAKS FOLLOWED BY RAIDS

Believed in London Motive For Violence Was to Prevent Negotiations For Peace.

By LLOYD ALLEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 17.—Smouldering ruins dotted southern Ireland today, memorials of an orgy of violence in which 28 lives were lost over Whitsuntide.

Up to last night there were 25 dead, mostly soldiers and police. The three additional were prisoners named Flynn, Ryan and Aherne, who were shot when they attempted to escape after their capture by a raiding party.

Reprisals followed swiftly on the Sinn Fein outbreaks by a series of raids. Families suspected of Sinn Fein sympathies were given an hour's notice to remove their valuables, after which their homes were fired.

From Cork to Dublin the skies were reddened during the night.

The carnival of violence reached its climax coincidentally with the most promising peace negotiations yet suggested. Premier Lloyd George and "President" de Valera were exchanging notes indirectly in an effort to arrange a meeting.

The negotiations were reported to have been started through the efforts of Martin Glynn, former governor of New York, who was here early in May. He was said to have provided intermediaries who let De Valera understand that the premier was willing to see him.

The president's reply was through the Dublin Freeman. It was a notice to Lloyd George that he would be publicly if the premier would make his proposal publicly.

It was believed here that the White sunbeams were staged by extremists to indirectly carry out of a peace offensive.

INDEPENDENT KINGDOM SUGGESTED FOR IRELAND

By Associated Press.

BELFAST, May 17.—Lord Hugh Cecil, member of the privy council of England, has suggested a scheme by which Ireland would be made an independent kingdom. Its king would be a member of the Windsor family, probably the Prince of Wales, to be appointed by the king of England.

Under the scheme there would be two small parliaments, one to be located in Belfast and the other in Dublin, and in addition, a "house of estates" of one hundred members. Complete fiscal autonomy would be given Ireland, but there would be a levy imposed for imperial defense in proportion to the sum contributed by England.

Ireland, under the plan, would be allowed to have an army but no navy, and in the event of war, the king of England could suspend the Irish constitution. Irishmen in the colonies would have the right to choose whether they should be subjects of the Irish or English king. If favorably received by the Irish leaders, the plan would be submitted to a constituent assembly.

Some of the southern Irish leaders, described it as "preposterous."

Lord Hugh Cecil, in discussing the scheme, said he still favored a union, but as this was no longer practical as politics and federalism did not satisfy the Irish, who wanted a distinct nationality, England must go as far in the direction wanted as possible. Whatever plan was proposed, he declared, must be one framed and approved by the Irish, but also acceptable to the British.

Lord Hugh then outlined his plan, adding:

"I write this in no spirit of optimism. The significance of Lord Hugh's proposal comes from the fact that he is the guest of Lord Londonderry's family, the greatest member of which was Lord Castlereagh, and to whom more than anybody else, the breaking up of Henry Grattan's Irish parliament and the passing of the act of union in 1800 were due.

TROOPS MUST BE WITHDRAWN SAYS ARCHBISHOP MANNIX

LONDON, May 17.—British troops must be withdrawn from Ireland before peace there is achieved, Archbishop Mannix declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press just before sailing for Australia.

The famous Australian prelate presented three "essentials" to Irish peace. They are:

Immediate withdrawal of the "invading army." Acknowledgment of Ireland's right to self-determination. Negotiation between representatives of both countries on an equal footing with a desire to overcome difficulties "which never can be solved without mutual trust and good will."

PRESIDENT OF N. A. M. URGES ABROGATION LABOR AGREEMENTS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Abrogation of the national labor adjustment agreements on the railroads, support of the "open shop" and the enactment of a sales tax law were urged by Stephen C. Mason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers in his annual message delivered today at the association's twenty-sixth annual convention.

"The infamous national labor adjustments," said Mr. Mason, "which were inherited by the carriers of the war time period of government operation and the coincident uneconomic high railway burdens have been the chief causes of the deplorable transportation conditions which have existed during the last year.

"In my opinion the Esch-Cummins act of 1920 has more than justified its enactment in every respect.

"I believe the time has come when, if the railroads are to be efficiently and economically operated in accordance with the provisions of the transportation act of 1920, normal conditions of employment must be restored. The recent action of the railroad labor board in decreasing the abrogation of the war time national agreements, unquestionably did much to clear the way for a practical solution of the labor problems of the railroads."

Claims for Open Shop. The speaker declared that the "open shop" had gained a greater measure of public support and recognition than ever during the past year, adding:

"I believe that the great majority of employers will agree that in employment there should be no arbitrary discrimination against workers because of their membership or non-membership in any labor organization whose members execute lawful purposes through legitimate means.

"So long as it is the cardinal principle and working determination of the American Federation of Labor to exclude independent workers from employment there will be employers who will protect themselves and their employees against the dominance of a policy of arbitrary exclusion by the operation of non-union shops."

Mr. Mason urged a wider recognition among employers of the need for informing their employees on the subject of business principles as affecting their material interest, especially the relation of wages and expenses to cost and prices and the necessity for an adequate return on invested capital.

"Recent frankness on the part of the employers," he added, "in placing before the employees business details necessary to demonstrate certain vital economic facts, has disarmed the preachers of discontent and selfishness and in many instances induced labor to accept with good grace necessary wage and hour adjustments in the interest of the community as well as that of avoiding a shutdown."

COUNCILMEN VISIT SITE OF PROPOSED TOURIST PARK, ALSO SEE ANOTHER TRACT

Members of the city council Tuesday morning inspected the proposed tourist park site, and will probably act favorably on the park board's recommendation on Wednesday morning, when an adjourned session will be held. The other tract, near Holiday park, was considered as having some wonderful park possibilities, but councilmen doubted whether it could be acquired at present.

HUSBAND "TOO HANDSOME TO WORK."

Claiming that he was "too handsome to work," Mark Fox, a young Los Angeles Apollo, according to his wife's complaint, asked to be relieved of the responsibilities of matrimony. Mrs. Fox, as the result, sued for divorce and was awarded a decree in Los Angeles the other day. "The daily grind of earning a living for me and my son didn't appeal to him," Mrs. Fox told the judge. "If he thinks his beauty is deserving of support he can find someone else to continue his upkeep." The couple were married four years ago and in that time Fox, according to Mrs. Fox, has contributed little to the support of their home. The photos show Mr. and Mrs. Fox and their son DeWitt.

ORGANIZING FARM BUREAU IN BAYLOR COUNTY

REYMOUR, TEXAS, May 18.—Five representatives from state headquarters at Dallas are here this week assisting County Agent G. C. McGowan in a week's educational campaign in the interest of a farm bureau for Baylor county. Speaking dates at school houses in all parts of the county have been arranged and it is planned to follow next week with an energetic membership campaign. At a preliminary meeting here Saturday the banking and mercantile interests were well represented and are helping in every way to perfect this organization.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO HAVE SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Pioneer lodge No. 4, Knights of Pythias, will meet tonight at their cattle hall, 602 Scott avenue, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. Applications for membership will be received and referred; candidates will be balloted upon, and a class initiated in the rank of pag. All persons who are to be initiated, as well as those who are to participate in the work, are especially urged to be present at hour designated. Considerable business of importance will come before the lodge, and a large attendance is requested and expected.

LOWER HOUSE IN CONGRESS NOT IN SESSION TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The house was not in session today as it had nothing important on the calendar. It will convene again tomorrow when republican leaders plan to bring up the bill authorizing presidential control over cable landings. The measure has been reported by the commerce committee practically as it was approved by the senate.

SAYS RENT PAYERS UGHT TO ORGANIZE

W. F. Weeks in University Club Talk
Discusses Possible Remedies
For High Charges.

Practical remedies for the present high rents in Wichita Falls were pointed out Tuesday by W. F. Weeks in a short address before members of the University club and their guests at the regular weekly luncheon in the Kemp hotel. He stated that rents were anywhere from 25 to 40 per cent too high and suggested organization of a "Rent Payers Protective Association" to secure remedial legislation.

"The rent to be paid is such a material part in the cost of living that wage earners cannot bring themselves to a reduction of wages as long as rents remain high. You ask any carpenter or any member of any other craft, about reduction of wages and they will at once defend themselves by saying that rents have not declined. Hence, I say wages depend upon rents and, in turn, everything depends upon wages. High wages have produced excessive railroad rates, excessive building costs, excessive merchandise costs and in this way all are concerned. The question of rents is a question of public welfare and is now so treated by the courts."

"Rents cannot adjust themselves and cannot be regulated by competition. In recent years, in fast growing cities such as ours, a heavy building program (we are not yet rid of all the tents) and the tenant who has been, or is now, waiting for a lot of empty houses in Wichita Falls to produce lower rents waits in vain. No one can remember when there was not a housing shortage in New York. They have had crowded tenements for years and rents have been soaring. They have seen in New York that rents cannot be regulated by supplying demand. Rents became so high that a family would have to use less than needed in order to keep the rent bill down. This cramped living conditions, affected the public health, the only remedy was legislation, the exercise of the police power, which covers everything affecting the public welfare."

"The question comes back to what the state may do for the benefit of the community at large. Here the legislation rests upon a secure foundation. The struggle to meet changing conditions, through new legislation, constantly goes on. The fundamental question is whether society is ready for the change. Law of each age is ultimately what that age thinks should be, the law."

"Each generation is as capable of governing itself as the former generation. The state may regulate a business, however honest in itself, whenever that business is, or may become, an instrument of widespread oppression. Property is not the right to use one's property oppressively. Hence the supreme court of the United States, the highest tribunal on earth, placed its stamp of approval upon the statutes of many states, principally those of New York and the District of Columbia, which prevent the charging of an unfair rental and the disposing of the tenant summarily by placing his goods in the street."

"It is my opinion, that residential rents in Wichita Falls are 25 per cent too high, the rents of store houses about 40 per cent and office rent is at least 25 per cent too high. These rents are attempts to be justified, especially in office buildings, by saying what the building cost, the same being erected or purchased during the very peak of high prices, but it cannot be justified on this ground any more than an owner may predicate the sale price of his property upon what it cost him. It is not what the property cost that should determine its sale price or the rental value. The present market value should be the basis. We have had, for a long time, a statute which prevented any man to charge more than ten per cent interest for the loan of money."

"If the right of contract may be limited, with respect to money in order to prevent the usurious oppression, why could we not have the same legislation to prevent a similar injury on account of the oppressive use of other property? You cannot have a fixed rental over the state, or an universal rental throughout the country, but the method used is to appoint a commission, composed of three or four members, who will pass upon the question of the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the rent charged, when that question is placed before it either by the landlord or the tenant, and if the tenant is paying a fair rent the landlord then has not the power to dispossess the tenant."

"I believe there should be organized in Wichita Falls a Rent Payers' Protective Association in order to secure the appointment of such a commission. In order to advertise and hold up to public scorn those who are profiteering on rents, and in order to secure such legislation, if relief cannot be obtained otherwise."

A well rendered declamation was given by Master Veldon Carter after the luncheon and a humorous reading by Miss Dorothy Eargle was well received. Both are pupils of Miss Juanita Kinsey of the high school department of public speaking. Miss Kinsey was highly complimented in Judge Haney's introductory address for the showing made by her pupils at the recent inter-scholastic meet in Austin.

The bi-weekly meeting of the Pat Carrigan post of the American legion will be held Tuesday night in the basement of the Morgan building. Plans for development of the woman's auxiliary, which is being organized Tuesday afternoon, will be considered, and the club room proposition will be up for attention again.

MANY LOCATIONS IN ARCHER DISTRICT

Much Development in Prospect as Result of Recent Successes in New Field.

Archer county's so far unbroken string of successes in the new Texoma field is prompting much new development, and a number of new locations have been made.

The test of W. J. Graham, et al, is now waiting for the cement to set; this promises to be the next completion. The Staley well is now making about 500 barrels, the decrease being due to mud, which is being cleaned out Tuesday. F. H. Gohlke, Mark Walker, J. C. Myrtling, John O'Donohue, et al, have a derrick up for their test on the J. B. Wilson, 1,200 feet east of the Texoma discovery. Another test on the J. B. Wilson will be that of the Nelson Drilling company, which is moving its rig in. Texoma No. 2 Goss is now a rig, and No. 4 is a derrick. The A. L. H. syndicate is installing a rotary on its L. Wilson lease and will start operations at once. The Texas-Illinois Oil & Gas company is rigging up for a rotary test on the W. H. Walker.

The Texoma's No. 2 Goss is shut down at about 600 feet on account of boiler trouble. The Shaw-Donovan-Rathke No. 1 Natherton is drilling around 1320 feet. Erwin Oil Co., No. 1, T. B. Wilson is drilling at 290 feet; Canadian Petroleum company No. 1, Goss, drilling at 460 feet. Brown-McCallister No. 1 Parkey is on the sand at 1615-18 and is underreaming to set the 6 1/2. The Bankers-Merchants company is setting the 6 1/2 on the sand at 1615-18 and is underreaming to set the 6 1/2. Stanley McGregor No. 1, W. H. Taylor has a flashing job at 655. Ten miles southwest of Holliday, Fitzpatrick, et al, are installing a rotary rig on the J. D. Lyle tract. Carter & Walker have a derrick up on the A. D. Thompson ranch and are waiting on machinery.

TWO OF 3 YOUNG BURGLARS AT LARGE

Have Entrenched Themselves Along Banks of Creek With Rifle at Their Disposal.

The Live Oak and Cash Groceries on Lee street were entered Monday night and burglarized. The burglars obtained some fifty dollars in pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters.

One of the alleged burglars, who has confessed is in custody of the officers, while the other two members of the gang, he says, are entrenched along the banks of a creek near the lake, armed with a rifle which was purchased Tuesday morning with some of the loot.

The confessed burglar in charge of the officers is seven years of age and the two others at large are ten years old. The little fellow who was caught by Jailer Cass Tarver at the lake, Tuesday morning refused to say a word for an hour, standing pat for the sake of his elder partners. Finally, however he told the story of how the three had entered the two stores Monday night at midnight.

NO HOPE FOR SOVIET RECOGNITION AS LONG AS AMERICANS HELD

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Definite though informal notification has been served on Soviet Russia by the state department that so long as Americans are held prisoners in Russia there exists no chance of the recognition of the Soviet government in any form by the United States.

The last announced formal communication to Russia was the reply of Secretary Hughes on the subject of trade relations transmitted through the American consul at Reval, March 25, and saying that closer relations with this country would depend upon fundamental changes of the Soviets. "Involving due regard for the protection of persons and property and the establishment of conditions essential to the maintenance of commerce."

A score or more of Americans still are under guard in Russia, however, and state department officials are convinced that the Russian authorities have not concerned themselves even with the amelioration of the condition of these prisoners.

The exact nature of the new communication was not revealed, but it has been intimated that it was made indirectly, either through British or Red Cross channels and could leave no doubt in the minds of Soviet officials as to the attitude of the United States.

It was declared that so long as Americans were held prisoners in Russia, no agent or representative of the Soviets could come within halting distance of the United States, and that until the Americans were released further negotiations direct or indirect were useless.

SHE COULDN'T UNDERSTAND THAT IT WAS ALL "GRATIAS"

An "old, old, old, old lady," who might have stepped out of the "boy with the twisted knee" story, except that she was very much alone, came timidly up and sat down by the Travelers' Aid desk in the union station Sunday morning.

"Where does your son work?" the Travelers' Aid asked. Then it came out that the mother didn't remember; she was to come to him, and he was to meet her. That was all she knew.

"You come right along with me," she said. The old lady leaned over to the Travelers' Aid and said: "How—how much does she charge?" she asked nervously.

"Not a cent in the world," that lady answered, "this is all free. We're glad we can help you."

"Well, now," the old lady said gratefully—and rather pitifully—"I never heard of such."

When we got out of school there was a big fella laying for Red that Red had made faces at or something and he slapped Red on both sides of the face and made him cry. And that made Red so mad that he busted the fella on the smeller and then they elumch and the fella got Red down and was sitting on him with his knees on Red's arms so Red could not move and was rubbing Red's nose till it was almost flat with his face and we all chased him till he got in his own yard. There was blood running down the back of his neck but he did not know it.

My mother told me to hurry home from school and take care of Annabell Lee. I wish when I have got to mind Annabell Lee she would not tell me about it in the morning and spoil my whole day.

I was late home to mind Annabell Lee and my mother scolded everyone in the bunch. When she got done she took Annabell Lee out to the barn and I handed her out of the measure hole to Nibs and we went over to the vacant lot and Miss Farmer saw Annabell Lee and he called to me to bring her to her and she would take care of her whole thing was all right and everyone thought it was a good joke on me. I think it was a joke on Miss Farmer. She stayed to supper and I sat up till nine o'clock. So I did not have to go home with her, because I had to go to look when the clock struck.

CLASS LUNCHEON FAREWELL FOR MISS LOUISE ELLIOTT

Miss Louise Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. La Baume Elliott and member of the Epworth League's Sunday school class of the First M. E. church south, was the surprise show given by the class in the church dining room Monday evening, the occasion of the honor being her expected removal from the city at an early date.

The supper was one of the prettiest and most enjoyable the class has ever given. The dining table was beautifully decorated, the group colors carried out in a lustrous work centerpieces running the length of the board, with Dorothy Perkins roses, sweet peas and pink Cedar of Lebanon used in attractive profusion. The place cards were especially attractive and original, and little art folders in green contained the hand printed menu and program.

Miss Rhea Gardner, president of the class, acted as toastmistress and Miss Hettie Green Thompson, as a special guest, made a short talk to the girls. A special feature of the program was a group contribution from each of the classes into which the class is divided, given from that section of the table where the group was seated. The contribution from group five, a playlet, "Tragedy in Three Acts," was especially good, and another fun maker was the "Totato Pie" chorus by group three. Miss Jessie Bhiels of Dallas, guest of group four, gave two piano songs, one of two songs, and Miss Ora Lee Smith gave a reading, "Joseph," as a contribution from group one.

FORMER WICHITA FALS GIRL MARRIED IN CORPUS CHRISTI

The following clipping from the Corpus Christi Caller, giving an account of the marriage in that city last week of Miss Vera Bowen, will be of interest to the many friends of the bride. Miss Vera Bowen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowen, former old residents of the city, who were married in 1914. Fletcher A. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Duff Jones of Wichita Falls:

"Miss Vera Bowen and David Williams were married at 10:30 o'clock in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rev. J. W. Bykes officiating. The altar of the church was decorated with white flowers and ferns, while potted plants formed an aisle up to the altar steps.

"Just before the bride party entered Miss Marguerite Laney sang 'Love You Truly,' accompanied by Mrs. Len Oliver on the piano. As the bride party entered, Mrs. Oliver played Mendelssohn's wedding march, during the ceremony softly played 'The Melody of Love.'

"The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the bridegroom, attended by W. C. Brantley as best man.

"The bride wore a gorgeous dress, elaborately trimmed in tucks and insertion. She carried an arm bouquet of 'this bride's' roses and carnations, with ferns and lilies.

"Mr. and Mrs. Williams left immediately after the ceremony for Taft, where they will reside.

MRS. ORAN TAYLOR ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT 427 LAST WEEK

Mrs. Oran D. Taylor was hostess to a few friends at "42" one afternoon last week. The remembrance for high school was given by Mrs. F. H. Harrison and Mrs. L. Wheeler was presented with the consolation.

"The bride wore a gorgeous dress, elaborately trimmed in tucks and insertion. She carried an arm bouquet of 'this bride's' roses and carnations, with ferns and lilies.

FLORAL HEIGHTS CIRCLE ONE WITH MRS. BULLARD

Circle One of the Floral Heights Methodist church held its monthly afternoon with Mrs. B. M. Bullard at 710 Denver, with Meadames J. M. Franklin and Verne Harrell hostesses.

During the business session before the study program a substantial collection on the circle's pledge was taken and other business matters attended. Mrs. J. R. Magee led the devotional, reading from the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. The founder of the circle, Mrs. J. R. Magee, reported on her hundred and forty-five visits to the sick and strangers. Mrs. J. M. Franklin made a very interesting talk on "Early Methodism in America." Mrs. Perry Mariele sang a solo arrangement of "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and Mrs. L. E. Cowling gave preparation for the founding of the Wesley house. Mrs. Charles Crowell read "Tapestry Weavers."

It was announced that the next new Floral Heights church in June, with Meadames Little, Alexander, Cowling, and the founder of the circle, Mrs. J. R. Magee, presiding. Appointment to the board of the C. I. A. is more than an ordinary distinction in education circles, the Texas college being the third largest woman's college in America, and the pioneer home economics educational institution for women on the continent.

The women members now include Miss Eleanor Brackenridge of San Antonio, Mrs. William Camp of Fort Worth and Mrs. Turner. Appointment to the board of the C. I. BRIDGE PARTY HONORS MISS ANDERSON MONDAY

Mrs. Charles Morse entertained at bridge in compliment to Miss Lella Beall Anderson, Monday afternoon, when tables were arranged for one of the prettiest parties of the month.

Twenty-four players were seated, the bride-elect occupying a chair of honor very beautifully decorated with flowers and marked with a big tulle bow. The house was decorated with spring flowers, nasturtiums, sweet peas and carnations filling lovely baskets throughout the reception and living room suits. Prizes for the successful players and remembrances for those lucky in the table cuts were especially attractive. Mrs. Jim Barnard was presented with a pair of rose art candle sticks, while Mrs. William Erwin was consoling for loss score with a box of lavender sachet. The cut prizes at each table were dainty little novelties from the gift shop, and the remembrance to the guest of honor, a very lovely surprise, was a golden throated singer in a white enamelled art cage, the cage tied with a big rainbow tulle bow.

The refreshment plates carried out the decorative scheme very prettily, little "nosegays of artificial" spring flowers for centerpieces, bouquets arranged in crepe paper cups on each. The guests included: Meadames J. L. Jackson, J. R. ...

MAY PARTY FOR EPWORTH LEAGUE TUESDAY EVENING

The Epworth league of the First M. E. Church South will entertain its members and the young people of the church Tuesday evening with a May party, to which a cordial invitation to the young people is issued.

In making the announcement of the social Sunday, the superintendent of the young people's work stated that there would be many surprises in the party, with the main event a rehearsal of the league stunt that is to be put on in Dallas at the annual conference June 8-12.

"Our young folks are noted for having snappy entertainments," he said, "and we want you all to come out and have a good time with us Tuesday evening. The party begins at 8 o'clock. The social will be held at the church in the league rooms."

MRS. SNIDER ENTERTAINING FRIDAY FOR MISS L. B. DUFF

Mrs. C. W. Snider is entertaining Friday afternoon with a tea party for Miss Leah Belle Duff of Topeka, Kansas.

THREE OF SEVEN REGENTS OF C. I. A. AT DENTON ARE WOMEN

Three of the seven regents of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton are women, since the appointment to the governing board of that institution of Mrs. E. H. Turner of Denton. General Neff made the appointment several days ago, at the same time he named Mrs. A. Kemp of this city a member of the board.

The women members now include Miss Eleanor Brackenridge of San Antonio, Mrs. William Camp of Fort Worth and Mrs. Turner. Appointment to the board of the C. I. A. is more than an ordinary distinction in education circles, the Texas college being the third largest woman's college in America, and the pioneer home economics educational institution for women on the continent.

DIRECTORS PLEDGE FULL CO-OPERATION IN COLISEUM MOVE

STOCKMEN URGE ABATTOIR AND CREAMERY ALSO—PROMISED STATE RANGERS

BOND ISSUES INDORSED; TO CALL MASS MEETING

Hospital Plan For Smaller Communities of County Approved at Session Tuesday

At an important and busy session of the chamber of commerce directors Tuesday morning the board—

Indorsed the road and hospital bond issues to be submitted on June 18 and took steps for a public mass meeting in their behalf.

Pledged full aid and co-operation in movement to establish a live stock coliseum here, with the possibility of a creamery and abattoir also.

Took steps to supplement the pay of Texas rangers stationed here so that they may continue on duty.

The report of the highways committee, which is understood to contain some vigorous recommendations, was not submitted, but the directors heard from a cement expert on the Iowa Park road, and were told that some of the criticism of the work there is undeserved.

In indorsing the bond issue plan, it was made plain that Wichita Falls is behind not only the road bond issue and the local hospital issue but the bonds for hospitals at Iowa Park, Durburnett and Electra as well.

Financial Aid for Rangers. County Attorney E. L. Fulton and Judge A. H. Carrigan appeared as a committee to ask that an allowance of $250 monthly be made for the state rangers stationed here, this being at the rate of $50 per month for each man. Necessity for this contribution arose, Mr. Fulton pointed out, from the fact that the legislature failed to make the necessary appropriation.

Mr. Fulton gave a brief resume of the activities of the rangers in running down oil field thefts, preventing car thefts and in breaking up gambling, bootlegging and like activities. He pointed to the noticeable decrease in highjacking since the rangers went on duty. Mr. Fulton said that the legislature would probably make a retroactive appropriation to refund the amount advanced.

Without any vote being taken, the directors seemed to agree that it would be best to keep the rangers here, and that the necessary money should be advanced by private citizens rather than by the organization. At the suggestion of Mr. Kell, Mr. Kemp agreed to take the matter of an appropriation up with the governor when he goes to Austin soon. Mr. Kell agreed to see that sufficient funds were obtained in the meantime.

Concrete Engineer Speaks. President Noble announced that the highways committee expected to have a report on the Iowa Park road, but that it would not be ready until Wednesday. In this connection, it was stated that Engineer Satterwhite of the National Cement association was present and wished to explain some things about the Iowa Park road.

Mr. Satterwhite said that the failure to leave expansion joints in the road was in line with the latest ideas in concrete road construction, and had been adopted by eleven states. He explained that cracks such as have occurred in the Iowa Park road and which have caused much of the criticism of the work there, are not prevented by expansion joints and that they are not in reality a detriment. This statement resulted in a more or less general discussion of expansion by concrete, ending in substantial agreement with the engineer's ideas and an apparent disposition to take a less critical view of the Iowa Park work.

Need for Coliseum. Merle Waggoner appeared as a representative of the stockmen's organization, presenting the matter of a coliseum here for exhibits. He briefly pointed out the need for such a building, and asked that the chamber of commerce co-operate and assist in perfecting the organization. Mr. Harrison said it was planned to call a meeting of 100 or more stockmen here soon to start the project in earnest.

Members Banta, McQuerry and Garlington, as a committee of the dairy-men's association, appeared and through Mr. Banta indorsed the coliseum move, and urged also that something be done for an abattoir and creamery here.

"The farmers are getting disgusted," Mr. Banta said. "There is no market here for their stock or their surplus milk, and when they ship to Fort Worth the freight rates break them. When we get irrigation here there is going to be a greater surplus, and I think something ought to be done right to establish a slaughter house and a creamery. The coliseum will be a big help, too, and the dairy-men are for it."

Favors Large Creamery Here. Mr. McQuerry spoke briefly urging the establishment of a creamery here.

J. M. McFall and W. S. Curlee of the board of directors spoke indorsing the plan and pointing to the urgent need of establishing a better market here for farm products.

Mr. Cline said that he could not question the need of an abattoir, but that it was out of the question to figure on it as a municipal proposition, owing to the condition of the city's finances.

Mr. Banta was asked to look into the matter of a county bond issue and report back later.

Mr. Kell took the floor and explained the county road bond offer recently made by himself and W. M. McGregor and also spoke of the hospital bond issues that would be voted on at the same time.

"I am personally for both of the bond issues," he said, "if we don't make it possible for the road work to go on, it means that the concrete road will stop this side of Iowa Park, where it will benefit Wichita Falls only and the rest of the county will be paying taxes for the benefit of this city alone."

Indorsed Bond Issues. "If this bond proposition is approved by a two-thirds vote, it will not increase the county's indebtedness, as the old bonds will be canceled. If it is not approved, the old bond issue will stand, and our bonded indebtedness will be the same as it now is."

"The hospital bond issues for Electra, Iowa Park and Durburnett are dependent upon those communities voting municipal bonds to help with the buildings, and I am glad those towns are making an effort to improve conditions that way. I think it is important that we get behind all the bond issues and see that they are carried by wide majorities."

Mr. Kell suggested that a mass meeting of citizens be called, and it was agreed that this be done. The directors and visitors present, without exception, indorsed the bond issues by rising vote.

At the request of W. W. Anderson of the Retail Merchants association the directors agreed to loan their general manager, Hubert Harrison, to the organization for some special work in the trade extension campaign.

MAIL COMPARTMENT CARS A SUCCESS

Here is the latest in mail carriers, a compartment car for the carrying of heavy mail, such as newspapers, catalogues, etc. The compartment cars are regular flat cars with six separate compartments. Each compartment may be removed easily by a crane at its destination. This will save much time in eliminating side-tracking of cars to be unloaded. This photo, made in the Chicago railroad yards, shows the postoffice department's first compartment car being unloaded.

"THE BRAT" PLEASES LARGE CROWD MONDAY NIGHT IN NEW PROGRAM AT PALACE

A crowd which completely filled the lower floor of the theater witnessed the initial performance of the Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hopkins Players at the Palace Monday night and was sent away with the feeling that it had seen a well worthwhile show. David Balsano's big stage success, "The Brat," a Vitagraph movie production, "The Heart of Maryland," and several impromptu acts of vaudeville made up a program of variety and merit.

Theatrical performances such as the Palace is now offering are entirely new to Wichita Falls and are as pleasing as they are unique. The Hopkins Players are thoroughly capable entertainers and the picture programs being arranged by the theater management are in keeping with the high-class stage attractions. A full grown jazz orchestra furnished music at all performances.

"The Brat" is perhaps one of the best known stage plays appearing before the public at the present time. It depicts the rise of a degenerate loafer, the "black sheep" of a wealthy and aristocratic New York family, to the head of the household, and, incidentally, shows the regeneration of "The Brat," a street girl who is used as a "model" by the egotistical eldest son, an artist of some distinction. All the roles are well handled, especially that of Steve, the young scapegrace, which is played by Mr. Hopkins himself. A little more pep in the clergyman would help out a lot, but as a whole the performance is creditable enough. "The Heart of Maryland" is a civil war picture of more than ordinary interest.

The story thus far: The great race horse of King's Pyland, Dartmoor, was first favorite for the Wessex cup, a race soon to be run. John Straker, his trainer, had three boys under him, one of whom stayed at night with the horse, the other two of whom slept in the barn. On the night in question the maid in Straker's house went with a dish of curried lamb from a supper for the boys on duty. She met a man asking him about the great horse. The boy refused to talk and ran after him with the dog.

PART TWO.

"One moment," I asked. "Did the stable boy, when he ran out with the dog, leave the door unlocked behind him?"

"Excellent, Watson, excellent!" murmured my companion. "The importance of the point struck me so forcibly that I sent a special wire to Dartmoor yesterday to clear the matter up. The boy locked the door before he left it. The window, I may add, was not large enough for a man to get through."

"Hunter waited until his fellow-grooms had returned, when he sent a message to the trainer, John Straker, who had occurred. Straker was excited at hearing the account, although he does not seem to have quite realized its true significance. It left him, however, vaguely uneasy, and Mrs. Straker, waking at one in the morning, found that he was dressing. In reply to her inquiries, he said that he could not sleep on account of his anxiety about the horse, and that he intended to walk down to the stables to see that all was well. She begged him to remain at home, as she could hear the rain pattering against the window, but in spite of her entreaties he pulled on his large mackintosh and left the house."

"Mrs. Straker awoke at seven in the morning, to find that her husband had not yet returned. She dressed herself hastily, called the maid, and set off for the stables. The door was open; inside, huddled together upon a chair, Hunter was sunk in a state of absolute stupor, the favorite's stall was empty, and there were no signs of his trainer."

"The two lads who slept in the chaff-cutting loft above the harness room were quickly aroused. They had heard nothing during the night, for they are both sound sleepers. Hunter was obviously under the influence of some powerful drug, and as no sense could be got out of him, he was left to sleep it off while the two lads and the two women ran out in search of the absentees. They still had hopes that the trainer had for some reason taken out the horse for early exercise, but on ascending the knoll near the house, from which all the neighboring moors were visible, they not only could see no signs of the missing favorite, but they perceived something which warned them that they were in the presence of a tragedy."

"About a quarter of a mile from the stables John Straker's overcoat was flapping from a furze-bush. Immediately beyond there was a bowl-shaped depression in the moor, and at the bottom of this was found the dead body of the unfortunate trainer. His head had been shattered by a savage blow from some heavy weapon, and he was wounded on the thigh, where there was a long, clean cut, inflicted evidently by some very sharp instrument. It was clear, however, that Straker had defended himself vigorously against his assailants, for in his right hand he held a small knife, which was dotted with blood up to the handle, while in his left he clasped a red and black silk cravat, which was recognized by the maid as having been worn on the preceding evening by the stranger who had visited the stables. Hunter, on recovering from his stupor, was also quite positive as to the ownership of the cravat. He was equally certain that the stranger had, while standing at the window, drugged his curried mutton, and so deprived the stables of their watchman. As to the missing horse, there were abundant proofs in the mud, which lay at the bottom of the fatal hollow that he had been there at the time of the struggle. But from that morning he has disappeared, and although a large reward has been offered and all the gypsies of the moor are on the alert, no news has come of him. Finally, an analysis has shown that the remains of his supper left by the stable-lad contain an appreciable quantity of powdered opium, while the people at the house partook of the same dish on the same night without any ill effect.

"Those are the main facts of the case, stripped of all surmise, and stated as baldly as possible. I shall now recapitulate what the police have done in the matter."

"Inspector Gregory, to whom the case has been committed, is an extremely competent officer. Were he but gifted with imagination he might rise to great heights in his profession. On his arrival he promptly found and arrested the man upon whom suspicion naturally rested. There was little difficulty in finding him, for he inhabited one of those villas which I have mentioned. His name it appears, was Fitzroy Simpson. He was a man of excellent birth and education, who had squandered a fortune upon the turf, and who lived now by doing a little quiet and genteel book-making in the sporting clubs of London. An examination of his betting book shows that bets to the amount of five thousand pounds had been registered by him against the favorite. On being arrested he volunteered the statement that he had come down to Dartmoor in the hope of getting some information about the King's Pyland horses, and also about Desborough, the second favorite, which was in charge of Elias Brown at the Mapleton stables. He did not attempt to deny that he had acted as described upon the evening before, but declared that he had no sinister designs, and had simply wished to obtain first-hand information. When confronted with his cravat, he turned very pale, and was utterly unable to account for its presence in the hand of the murdered man. His wet clothing showed that he had been out in the storm of the night before, and his stick, which was a Penang-lawyer weighted with lead, was just such a weapon as might, by repeated blows, have inflicted the terrible injuries to which the trainer had succumbed. On the other hand, there was no wound upon his person, while the state of Straker's knife would show that one at least of his assailants must bear his mark upon him. There you have it all in a nutshell, Watson, and if you can give me any light I shall be infinitely obliged to you."

"I had listened with the greatest interest to the statement which Holmes, with characteristic clearness, had laid before me. Though most of the facts were familiar to me, I had not sufficiently appreciated their relative importance, nor their connection to each other."

"Is it not possible," I suggested, "that the incised wound upon Straker may have been caused by his own knife in the convulsive struggles which follow any brain injury?"

"It is more than possible; it is probable," said Holmes. "In this case of the main points in favor of the accused disappear."

"And yet, said I, 'even now I fail to understand what the theory of the police can be.'"

"I am afraid that whatever theory we state has very grave objections to it," I murmured. "I take it that this Fitzroy Simpson, having drugged the lad, and having in some way obtained a duplicate key, opened the stable door and took out the horse, with the intention, apparently, of kidnapping him altogether. His bride is missing, so that Simpson must have left by the stable-lad, containing an appreciable quantity of powdered opium, while the people at the house partook of the same dish on the same night without any ill effect."

"Those are the main facts of the case, stripped of all surmise, and stated as baldly as possible. I shall now recapitulate what the police have done in the matter."

A delegation of prominent Elks visited the White House recently to pay their respects to the president. Following their reception by the president the members of the delegation and President Harding posed for photographs on the White House lawn.

I am once upon the spot, and until then I cannot really see how we can get much further than our present position."

It was evening before we reached the little town of Tavistock, which lies, like the boss of a shield, in the middle of the huge circle of Dartmoor. Two gentlemen were awaiting us in the station—the one a tall, fair man with lion like hair and beard, and curiously penetrating, light blue eyes; the other a small, alert person, very neat and dapper in a frock-coat and gaiters, with trim little side whiskers and an eye glass. The latter was Colonel Ross, the well-known sportsman; the other, Inspector Gregory, a man who was rapidly making his name in the English detective service. I am delighted that you have come down, Mr. Holmes," said the colonel. "The inspector here has done all that could possibly be suggested, but I wish

CONCERNING RAILROAD WAGES

J. Knight has received a copy of the Trinidad, Colorado, Chronicle-News containing a contribution by his son, J. W. Knight, on the adequacy of the pay of railroad trainmen. Mr. Knight is a railroad man at Trinidad and cites instances to show that the railroad men are not overpaid, but rather that their pay is scarcely adequate. His article follows: The standard national minimum rates set by the United States railroad labor board July 20, 1920, retroactive to May 1st, are $150.00 a month for a passenger brakeman, $120.00 a month for a passenger conductor, $112 a day of eight hours for a freight brakeman, $6.44 a day of eight hours for a freight conductor, with time and a half for overtime. If a freight brakeman works 16 hours a day at this rate he will make $12.80. The conductor would have to work 16 hours a day, thirty-one days to make $45.00 a month. Even at the higher rate of pay prevailing in the Rocky Mountain divisions such sums as the papers quoted are not received except for exceptionally long hours, usually under exceptional conditions such as storms or accidents and occasional for an exceptional class of work.

and get back to the station. Eight hours rest often means four hours in bed. One little error or oversight may cause a man to lose his job and that usually means no more railroad jobs for him. He is not only out of a job but out of a trade, the only one he knows.

“It has been observed that the officials did not call the attention of the public to the exceptionally large pay checks while the roads were under government control. Men have been heard to say that the rule requiring them to account for overtime were markedly lax during this period. Hours running into dollars were not a matter of so much concern when the taxpayers, not private owners, footed the bill.”

“Here is what some more of the men in whose charge we and our goods travel, actually receive: A passenger conductor on the Rio Grande, covering 4600 miles in a month, receives $215.00. A freight conductor on the Moffat road gets $140 for eight hours. These figures look reasonably good even if they are not, after all, so far above the government estimated minimum for a family of five. Meals that used to be 30 cents cost 42 cents now; a room away from home costs $12.00 per month at the least. A freight brakeman averages 15 days away from home and spends $46.00 for expenses while he is away.

“What do these men do to earn the wages which cause officials and newspapers so much concern? They begin by passing a physical examination equal to that passed by a soldier or sailor when he enlists. Every one of them starts as a brakeman and on the Rio Grande for example, a man may work twenty-one years and never get to be a passenger conductor. They ride the top of the cars in snow and bitter cold. They run such a tight ship and health that they had to organize the Brotherhoods to insure themselves as the insurance companies refused to insure them. Every year one man in every hundred in railroad service is killed, one man in every ten is injured; most of them, according to their own statements, rarely get more than five or six hours' sleep at a time often for days at a time not more than four. Rest periods are according to law eight hours, but a rest period begins when a man registers at the depot on the arrival of his train. It may take him an hour and a half to get to his house, wash up and get ready for bed. He is called by telephone an hour and a half before the end of his rest period to give him time to dress, eat

Bowman Applies Brush To Exporters While His Mates Pound Out Seven

Yesterday the up-to-date miracle play, "The Triumph of the Meek," was put on for a single performance at Athletic Park. It made quite a hit with all those present except spectators of eighteenth. They came from Beaumont and had a special reserved bench. Save for this little band, every one who looked on appeared to enjoy the spectacle hugely. And they had good reason to enjoy it for Abe Bowman turned in one of the niftiest games of the season and led his mates to their first whitewash victory of the season. Yes, sir, the Spudders blanked the Exporters 7 to 0.

Where this airtight hurling has been concocted since the season started nobody seems to know. Maybe the hurriers are going to start from now on. Maybe they've been holding out on us. At any rate, the barrel of stuff out there on the mound and his mates played behind him like league leaders instead of amateurs. During the course of the matinee only one invader saw third base and he was nipped at the plate shortly after he rounded that sack. Of course, while he was touching sand before he reached third, but he and just one other visitor got as far as the second station. And what was best of all, not one Exporter reached first without hitting safely. There were no passes; neither were there any hit batsmen.

Professor Jacobus was the gunner aided by Pat Newman to shoot them in at the local array of batsmen, and though he went the complete round he was nipped in the pinches. While Abe was blazing the trail for the Salmites on the defense, Jake Miller was showing the way on the offense. He delivered with ringing blows twice when they were very much needed. His first, a double, chased in one runner, while his second, a one base hit, pushed in two more.

Griggs in Right Field. Cecil Griggs made his debut in right field and he looked like a million dollars. It was his perfect peg in the third inning that made him a star. He was trying to score from second on Demaggio's punch to right and saved the shutout for Bowman. "Cuckoo," screamed the crowd to rib the strike came in fast for and dug out of the dirt. He heaved the pellet while running at top speed and caught Jacobus flatfooted. He also took care of three putouts, two of which were of the circus variety.

Both sides played errorless half for the first time at the local park this season and there wasn't the slightest semblance of a boot. The invaders were simply outpitched as were the home team. That game was never meant for them any more than was Sunday's for us. They were helpless at the plate and could not deliver a ball that would be needed. Abe was one too many for them.

The Spudders' first came into prominence in the second inning when they Clark came through with a three base thrust against the center field fence. He didn't have to wait long for transportation as Miller batted and sent Jacobus back to the bench for a little rest. "Froggy" was tired after he reached the bag and was causing a few minutes later by Whaling. Gross made Jacobus pitch to him and after fouling off all the good ones finally drew a walk. He then punched a safety to right that put Danny on third. Here's where Jacobus pulled his skull. He gave Clark four wide ones pursued and sent him back to work on Miller. Miller worked on him instead, however, and when he saw one floating up to him that was to his liking he sent it over to Miller. He then pitched to Jacobus and scored Gross and McDonald. Clark romped to third and Jake stole second, but Griggs' loft to short center was gobbled up by Stansbury.

In the next period Kitchens thumped the sphere out of the park, via left field, and flung himself all around the circuit to the starting point. Beaumont Threatens. The visitors threatened a hit in the sixth, but they only threatened. It was a most amusing scene when Jacobus, with a crash to center, but was forced at second when Demaggio hit to Clark. Stansbury slammed a scorcher between Gross and McDonald, but the former knocked it down with his bare hand and held the runners to one base each. Breux hit one to McDonald and he tepped on the base forcing Demaggio. Durant caught one on the nose and drove it on a line to right, but Griggs jumped in and speared it. They behaved themselves in a most becoming manner thereafter, but the home boys collected a couple more in the seventh for good measure. They didn't need them a bit, but experience is a good teacher and they didn't know that Abe was going to finish as strongly as he started.

Robtuss walked after Bowman had been retired by Doyle and Johnson. Gross had been robbed of two hits earlier in the game by Smith, but he laced one over his head this time that netted him two sacks and put Rofufus on third. Tex McDonald faced Jacobus with the utmost confidence in the world and promptly poked one through the infield between Stansbury and Smith and the runners counted. Tex went to second on the throw to the plate, but Clark and Miller wanted to make the game one of the fastest of the season and grounded out to second and flew to right, respectively.

WHOLL WIN? NEW YORK, May 17.—Jack Curley, wrestling impresario and close friend of the Frenchman: "Carpentier will win the championship. His speed and skill will counteract what weight and strength advantage Dempsey will have over him. Carpentier has as much punch as Dempsey and can hit more accurately. The fight may not be long. The more rounds it goes the easier it will be for Carpentier."

Brief Gets Start. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 17.—"Bunny" Brief, first sacker for the Blues, got his sixth knockout of the season in the Toledo-Kansas City game yesterday. One man was on base.

CARPENTIER TO WORK BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Frenchman is Here on Business Now And is Not Running a Circus.

By HENRY L. FARRELL, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Georges Carpentier doesn't like crowds.

The Frenchman, here after the world's heavyweight crown, is willing to pass up something like $25,000 to keep away from curious eyes.

Jack Dempsey, whose 195 pounds will block the way to Carpentier's goal, will let the public look at him in training at 60 cents a head, but the Frenchman will work behind a high board fence.

Dempsey will get close to $25,000 for showing himself, Carpentier will get $10,000 for the same.

Carpentier had to put up with the crowds yesterday until he was hustled away from the docks in Tex Rickard's limousine.

After having a bite at the Ritz-Carlton, he disappeared. His manager, Francois Des Camps, had to admit to a crowd of newspaper men and curiosity seekers that he didn't know where his "little pupil" had gone.

Last year when he was on his first visit to America, Carpentier loved the front of the stage. He went out of his way to get in the limelight.

Ah, but it is different then, Des Camps said. "We are here on business now—and our business is to get ready, not to run a circus."

Red Sox 10, Browns 5.

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—St. Louis pitchers were wild today and Boston batted out an easy victory, 10 to 5.

Henry and Pratt led the attack, the former driving in five runs and the latter three. Bush was hit freely, but was steady in the pinches. Score:

Now that the date is definitely fixed through the ropes to face Jack Dempsey, the fact that France as a whole is the sporting history of France.

For the first time a Frenchman has attained the status of an international figure in the boxing world and France as a nation is basking its "idol" and fervently hoping for his success.

The nation-wide interest is intensified by the fact that France as a whole is decidedly backward in a sporting way—especially in boxing, which is an Anglo-Saxon game. And this is the first time a man representing France has been able to meet an Anglo-Saxon as an equal. Coupled with this is Carpentier's extraordinary popularity.

Carpentier knocks out Dempsey here will take his place as the greatest of France's sporting heroes.

The sporting element is definitely fixed the "safe deposits" are beginning to figure on Carpentier's chances. The lurid word pictures of Dempsey as the "tiger man" have been replaced by the more optimistic of the deopeters. The most optimistic of them manage to convince themselves that Georges has a "fifty-fifty" chance at least, taking Dempsey's record and weight into consideration.

Their main reliance seems to center on the "lucky punch" and Carpentier's previously demonstrated ability to deliver this punch. They are convinced that the fight will not last many rounds and that it will be a hammer-and-tongue affair from the first round. The deopeters comfort themselves with the idea that Carpentier is the "lucky punch" and may be able to utilize this speed in the first few rounds to land the "lucky punch."

Hope for Lucky Punch. According to this case officer, Carpentier's whole plan of campaign is based on this idea. He will start trying to break the knees of Dempsey as soon as the gong rings. The general idea is that Dempsey will try to do exactly the opposite.

The sporting element is planning upon an unprecedented migration to New York to see the misup. According to present indications, France has more adherents to cheer Georges than have ever traveled such a distance on a similar errand. Meanwhile Georges has not been content to rest upon laurels as Europe's premier boxer. He has been busy gathering in the pounds, kronen, pesetas, guilders and francs that the laurels can buy.

In the past two months Carpentier with his sparring partner has toured England, Sweden, Denmark, Spain and Algeria, claiming his laurels and dreamed of getting enough so that Georges isn't worrying whether the Germans pay or not.

Like wise with characteristic Gallic forethought Georges is salting away the accrued income in his aluminum business and coal mines in Lens. The net result is that Georges won't have to worry about the wolf at the door if he should happen to wake up July 2 with Dempsey standing over him.

Unlike most fighters with his prestige, Carpentier isn't trying to cut much of a figure in the well-known night life of Paris. Only occasionally he is seen in the all-night joints in the Rue Caumartin and even then he keeps training hours and dallies little with the sparkling wines.

At present Carpentier is figuring on retiring after the little affair of July 2—win or lose—and devoting himself to his business interests.

Georges Will Be France's Greatest Sporting Hero If He Knocks Out Champion

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS.—(By mail.)—July 2, 1921, when Georges Carpentier climbs through the ropes to face Jack Dempsey, will be the most important date in the sporting history of France.

For the first time a Frenchman has attained the status of an international figure in the boxing world and France as a nation is basking its "idol" and fervently hoping for his success.

SPORTS SPOTS by Paul W. Barkin

We had a long tete-a-tete with the Skipper last night and during the exchange of confidences we learned that he greatly appreciates the manner in which the fans have been turning out, despite the work of his club. "This season, indeed, that a city will support a losing club in the manner in which Wichitans have stuck by the Spudders and Walter realizes that fact better than any one."

Walter has been trying for the past three weeks to bolster up his weak spots and at the present writing has about twenty wires out to different managers in nearly every league in the country. He is anxiously awaiting answers to them, but many of the clubs are in just such a fix as the Spudders. He has received wires himself from other managers in other leagues asking for help, so he is not alone in his misfortune.

He is looking for men to fill three positions, but will be well satisfied if he gets two of the men he is after. With those he has on his roster at present there are several possible shifts and two new men will fill the bill very nicely. But good ball players are not to be had at this stage of the game. The scores when he is flicking around the country. He is dicker for three who he knows will set the club right. He isn't taking anybody's word for it, but he knows they are ball players. He listened to others early this spring and was burned. Once was enough!

A new first baseman is due to appear at the Park today. Tom Irwin, a veteran of several campaigns is going to work out a bit. He's not under contract with the club and Walter does not know whether he is in shape or not. If he looks good, Walter will hire him. If he doesn't, he won't. Irwin did his last ball playing in the Eastern League, according to Walter, but has been out of the game for some time.

Danny Gross' work both in the field and at the bat has been a pleasure to watch. He's rapidly developing into one of the best shortstops in the league and he'll open brother Ewell's eyes tomorrow when he comes over to the Bears. His fielding has been every bit as good as Buddy Tanner's and Buddy never socked the old apple in his life any better than Danny has. But Buddy is missed just the same. Danny lacks the experience of the veteran and that same lack of experience is hurting the infield. There was many a bit of inside baseball pulled in the inner works that the fans knew nothing about and Buddy was the cause of it.

Dutch Hoffman may not be hitting the ball as hard as Art Whalen was for the Panthers, but this fact stands out prominently—the Panthers were slipping fast when Hoffman joined them and they were half way down in the standing. As soon as Dutch got back into uniform they started to climb and were not long in battling their way to the top of the heap again. It may not have been Dutch, but it looks mighty suspicious.

Johnny Nees' San Antonio Bears will furnish the amusement at Athletic Park the next three days, after which the Spudders will hold their own meeting all the southern clubs. They will be a few familiar faces with the Bears. Their pilot will be back at his hold station at third while a series deemed by many as one of the best keystone guardians in the Texas loop, will be seen exerting around second again. Ewell Gross who hit the ball with the Giants this spring, will be at short again tonight.

Milwaukee, Pa., May 17.—Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, knocked out Jack Burke, Kalamazoo, in four rounds here last night.

Fallon Kayses Goulard. PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Fred Fallon, Minnesota plasterer, knocked out Jack Goulard, Los Angeles, in the second round of a scheduled eight round bout here last night. Goulard, who backed out of the bout.

Mars and Ray in Draw. CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 17.—K. O. Mars, Cincinnati, and Johnny Ray, Pittsburg, lightweights, finished on even terms in a ten round scrap here last night.

Mitchell and Mendelsohn in Draw. MILWAUKEE, May 17.—Ritch Mitchell was knocked down four times in his battle with Johnny Mendelsohn, Wisconsin champion. He finally punched his way into a draw.

Dillon Shades Malon. CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA, May 17.—According to a newspaper decision, Dandy Dillon of Minneapolis, shaded Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., here last night in a 19-round contest.

Between Rounds.

By O. HENRY

THE May moon shone bright upon the private boarding-house of Mrs. Murphy. By reference to the almanac, a large amount of territory will be discovered upon which its rays also fell.

And just then came the loud scream below stairs, betokening fear or dire extremity. "The probably the cat," said Policeman Cleary, and walked hastily in the other direction.

In one of the second-floor windows Mrs. McCaskey awaited her husband. Supper was cooling on the table. Its heat went into Mrs. McCaskey.

Old man Denny, hall-room, fourth floor back, who sat on the lowest step, trying to read a paper by the street lamp, turned over a page to follow up the article about the "carpet" episode.

At nine Mr. McCaskey came. He carried his coat on his arm, and his pipe in his teeth, and he apologized for disturbing the boarders on the steps as he selected spots of stone between them on which to rest his size 9, width 10.

At the door of his room, he received a surprise. Instead of the usual stove-lid or potato-masher for him to dodge, came only words. "Mr. McCaskey reckoned that the benign moon had softened the heart of his spouse."

"I heard ye," came the oral substitute for kitchenware. "Ye can apologize to riff-raff of the streets for settin' yer ugly feet on the tails of yer frocks, but ye walk on the neck of yer wife the length of every Saturday evening, and the gas man here twice today for his."

"Woman!" said Mr. McCaskey, dashing his coat and hat upon a chair. "The entry of my wife is a beautiful, little, trouble-making angel of a gossamer!"

"The bit of a boy mislaid!" said Mr. McCaskey, leaning out of the window. "My wife, that's bad, enough, entirely. The childer they be different. If twas a woman I'd be willin' for they leave peace behind 'em when they go."

Disregarding the thrusts, Mrs. McCaskey caught her husband's arm. "Jawn," she said, sentimentally, "Missa Murphy's bye is lost. This a great city for lovin' little boys. Six years old he was. Jawn, tis the same age our little boy would have been if we had one six years ago."

"Ye talk foolishness," said Mr. McCaskey. "The Pat he would be named, after me old father in Cantin'."

"Ye He!" said Mrs. McCaskey, without anger. "Me brother was worth in ten dozen bog-trotting McCaskeys. After him the bye be named." She leaped over the window sill and locked down at the hurrying and bustling below.

"Listen at the cryin' of poor Mrs. Murphy," she said. "This an awful thing for a bye to be lost in this great big city. Little Phelan, Jawn, I'd be breakin' me heart."

Awkwardly Mr. McCaskey withdrew his hand. He held it around the sewing shoulder of his wife. "This foolishness of course," said he roughly, "but I'd be cut up some myself if our little-Pat was kidnapped or anything. But there never was any childer for us. Sometimes I've been hard and ugly with ye, Judy. Forget it."

Load voices and a renewed uproar were raised in front of the boarding-house.

"What's up now, Judy?" asked Mr. McCaskey. "This Mrs. Murphy's voice," said Mrs. McCaskey, harking. "She says she's after findin' little Mike asleep behind the roll of oil linoleum under the bed in her room."

"That's yer Phelan," he shouted ardorically. "Divil a bit would Pat have done that trick. If the bye we never had is strayed and stole, by the powers, call him Phelan, and see him hide out under the bed like a nappy pup."

Good steers sold at $7.50 and most of the remainder at $7.00 to $7.50. One car of choice cows hatched $4.44 and best light calves went at $7.75. An outside buyer paid $1.15 for cow and heifer, and packers made purchases at $3.00 and $3.10. Bulk sales ranged from $2.75 to $3.00. Pigs held steady at $6.75 to $7.75. Quotations: $3.50 for 25 lbs. steers; $3.00 for 25 lbs. hogs; $2.50 for 25 lbs. calves; $2.00 for 25 lbs. lambs; $1.50 for 25 lbs. kids; $1.00 for 25 lbs. goats.

By the departed snakes!" he exclaimed. "Jawn McCaskey and his lady have been fightin' for an hour and a quarter by the watch. The misis could give him foreign pound weight. Strength to his arm."

Policeman Cleary strolled back around the corner. Old man Denny folded his paper and hurried up the steps just as Mrs. Murphy was about to lock the door for the night.

At the weekly luncheon of the Wichita Falls Ad club at the Kemp Wednesday.

M. A. Bundy of Bentonville, Arkansas, former Wichita, is to be a guest at the luncheon. A full attendance of members is desired, with the promise of an unusually interesting program.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The cotton market was quiet again during today's early trading but prices held steady because of unfavorable weather in the south. There were complaints of low moisture in the cotton crop and these features appeared to be bringing in some trade or commission house buying.

Arizona springers, $11.50; native springers, $12.40; goats active; lambs, $3.60; wethers, $4.15.

THE HOUSEHOLD

Edited by ANNE RITTENHOUSE

TO SAVE MENDING.

A thrift-loving Englishwoman who makes her meager living going about among a circle of friends doing mending and patching, has some suggestions to make that would reduce the work of mending and make your clothes last longer.

Another thing that she finds worth while to go over any new garment when it comes into the house. No matter how expensive it is, there may be little places where the threads have not been properly tied, places where the machine has run off the buttons and eyes, buttons or fasteners.

The young lady across the way said she could remember who it was that first called England Perfidious Albion.

CITY WILL REQUIRE ABOUT $660,000 IN 1921 TAX REVENUES

COUNCIL FACES PROBLEM OF CUTTING EXPENSES TO AVOID INCREASED TAX RATES.

MAY REJECT PAVING BIDS, AS BEING EXCESSIVE

Offers Show Few Reductions Since Six Months Ago—Traffic Signs May Be Installed.

It will require approximately $660,000 in tax revenues to run the city during the current fiscal year, it developed at Monday night's council meeting, when approximate budget figures were submitted.

Such a tax income would necessitate a tax rate of $2 per $100 on a total valuation of $33,000,000; until the total of the valuations is known, which will not be for several weeks, the rate cannot be ascertained, and in the meantime, the council faces the problem of pruning expenses to a point where the revenues will meet them.

The council did not make any paving contract for the current year, delaying this matter, along with some others, to an adjourned session to be held Wednesday morning. The six companies bids were considered decidedly too high, and Street Commissioner Curlee intimated that he would recommend rejection of them all. The bituminous bids are practically the same as those of six months ago, ranging up to $4.32 per yard; there was an appreciable reduction on one concrete bid of $1.75 per yard.

Expected Cheaper Paving.

Members of the council are inclined to the view that with labor costs lower, and other expenses either lower or stationary, as compared with six months ago, cheaper paving would be available. Figures collected by the department show that Wichita Falls is being charged more for paving than almost any other Texas city.

Proceedings aside from budget and paving matters were brief. Carl Waelde, representing the Automotive Dealers association, submitted an offer to install traffic signals on all business district corners, without expense to the city. Action was deferred on the offer; Mayor Cline expressed the thanks of the council to the association.

A request by A. J. Markey for water service at Second and Lee was referred to the water department.

Seek Permits For Stores.

Two requests for permits to establish stores in residence districts were submitted, and the council turned one down and, after indicating a desire to do likewise on the other, deferred action until later. The request turned down was for a grocery at 1108 Thirteenth; this was refused, being only a block and a half from the Austin school. The other request was for a store on Harrison between Ninth and Tenth. Mayor Cline repeated his previous expressions on the matter of permitting such stores to go into residence districts. It was brought out that several other groceries are a block and a half from the proposed Harrison street site, but the applicant said that the prices were too high and that his store would offer supplies cheaper. It was also brought out that the applicant had not put in any sidewalks, and that he had not signed for paving in front of his property. After considerable discussion, the council decided to defer action. It was stated that the request, if granted at all, would be with the understanding that the store was to be removed at the council's request at any time.

Traffic Ordinance.

C. C. Randle, representing the business council of the chamber of commerce, asked on behalf of that body what had become of the traffic ordinance submitted some time previously. Mayor Cline said that the traffic regulations had never reached the ordinance stage, but that an ordinance had been prepared which the council would be glad to submit to the business council. Mr. Randle agreed to do this.

The council passed finally an ordinance designed to simplify procedure in street paving and an ordinance closing an unused street near the light plant. Bids for paving six blocks on Filmore were ordered advertised for.

Councilman Reed brought up the park board's recommendation for purchase of a tourist camp site, and the council agreed to inspect the site Tuesday. Purchase of $100 worth of laboratory equipment for testing gasoline and lubricating oil used by the city was ordered.

Tentative Figures Submitted.

C. E. Thames, who made the 1920 audit of the city's books, and who is now in Mayor Cline's employ, submitted figures compiled from budget estimates already published. These budget figures have not been finally approved; their total is about $740,000, of which about $120,000 will be provided for by fees collected for various purposes, leaving $620,000 in expenses to be met out of taxation. The tentative figures, nearly all of which show reductions from last year, follow:

General officers, $12,620; inspection department, $4,800; tax collector's office, $6,783.43; city clerk's office, $9,400; police department, $64,820; fire department, $54,180; engineering department, $32,780; sanitary department, $38,500; park department, $25,811.74; cemetery, $27,724.50; street department, $86,281.53; library, $9,000; sewers, $502,837.39 (mostly provided by present bond issue); hospital, $14,135; interest and sinking funds, $178,000.

The paving bids were then opened, being as follows:

Open Paving Bids.

Indiana, Ohio and Sixth (concrete paving): Wichita Falls Paving company, $4.32; Plains Paving company, $2.78; G. E. Zimmerman, $4.12; L. E. Whitman, $4.05; Bitulithic company, $4.17 for stone base, $4.32 for black base; asphalt, $3.97 for stone base, $4.22 for black base.

For Fifteenth Street (no concrete bids were submitted): The bid for asphalt was $3.97 for stone base, $4.45 for black; bitulithic, $4.12 for stone base, $4.32 for concrete base.

Councilman Curlee said the bids were not satisfactory and expressed his disappointment that lower figures had not been submitted. Figures from Fort Worth, Dallas, Waxahachie and Gainesville showed materially lower bids for the same class of work in those places. With the exception of some of the concrete bids, it was said, the new bids are no lower than six months ago.

HOLCOMB TRAINING SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

VERNON, TEXAS, May 17.—The baccalaureate sermon for the Holcomb training school will be preached here Sunday morning, May 22, at the Methodist church by Rev. S. W. Hayne, and graduating exercises will be conducted Tuesday evening, May 24, at the same church. The program for the occasion will be furnished by the young people, and Mrs. C. J. Farrell will make a short address. J. O. Rouse will present the diplomas. There are eighteen in the graduating class.

Miss Audrey Wilma Lockett is valedictorian with an average of 92.2, and Miss Onie Samuels is salutatorian with an average of 94.1. Class colors are brown and gold and the class flower is the daisy. School colors are white and royal purple and the school flower is the jasmine. In the graduating exercises the class will be attired in gray caps and gowns.

On Being Particular

When folks are as particular about those to whom they entrust the care of their eyes as they are about those to whom they entrust their automobiles, there'll be far less eye trouble in this world.
