TULSA, OKLA., June 1.—Major Charles W. Daley of the police force this afternoon estimated the number of dead from the race clash here at 175. He gave it as his opinion that a number of negroes had burned to death when their homes were swept by fire.

TULSA, OKLA., June 1.—Nine white men are known to have been killed in the race clash that broke out here last night and raged until noon today with Chief of Police Gustafson estimating the negro dead at 65. In addition, scores of whites and negroes have been wounded and practically the entire negro section is a mass of ruins as a result of fire. The loss is expected to reach thousands of dollars.

Fire department officials expressed the belief early this afternoon that the white residence districts would be saved from the flames still raging in the negro section. With martial law in effect in the city and county, three hundred or more national guardsmen placed at strategic points in the negro quarter, orders issued to disarm all citizens and approximately six thousand negroes under guard in detention camps, officials expressed the belief that the situation is under control.

THREE THOUSAND NEGROES REPORTED TO BE GATHERING

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA., June 1.—Members of a train crew who passed through Bartlesville today told Earl Thompson, day operator at the Union depot here, that they had passed 3,000 negroes near Owasso, about 20 miles north of here this morning, and that they were heading in the direction of Bartlesville. Thompson said the trainmen told him most of the negroes were walking.

Chief of Police Gustafson held a conference shortly before noon with a number of local business men and decided to ask the governor to allow the local state guards to remain here if needed.

The negro was spirited away from the county jail soon after 3 o'clock this morning by deputies from the office of Sheriff McCullough. They refused to divulge his whereabouts. Officials declared he would be given a speedy trial as soon as the situation quieted down, a change of venue being sought if necessary.

The first attempt to fire the negro section were made about 1:30 o'clock this morning, when white men openly threatened to destroy the locality. Two houses at Archer and Boston, used by more than sixty negroes as a gathering place, were set afire at that time and an alarm was turned in. Efforts of the fire department to stop the fire were stopped by a crowd of armed whites and the department returned to its station.

The attempt to lay the negro quarter in ashes was resumed at 4:40 o'clock this morning, when almost simultaneously fire burst forth from the doors and windows of frame shacks along Archer street. Soon dense clouds of black smoke enveloped the location. Under cover of the smoke screen armed men in motor cars and foot throes cordoned about the place where the negroes were stationed and occasional shots gave warning that the conflict still raged.

As the fire enveloped the houses, negroes were seen to dart from flaming doorways with upraised hands shouting "don't shoot." As they dashed through the smoke they were ordered to surrender and quickly were removed to the prison camps.

Adjutant General Barrett took up the office of Sheriff McCullough and announced that Colonel H. H. Marshall of Oklahoma City would be in command of field operations of the guardsmen. General Barrett, who is working under the direction of the sheriff, mayor and chief of police, said he would continue to do so until he deemed it necessary to change command. It is also developments would determine whether it would be necessary to invoke martial law.

The negroes assembled as refugees in the prison camps, which arrived from other parts of the city, were being cared for by civic organizations and private citizens who volunteered for the work. Ice water and sandwiches were being distributed.

PASSENGER TRAIN IS RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 1.—Mute evidence of the fury of the race clash at Tulsa was borne by a passenger train that was riddled with bullets as it passed through the negro section in Tulsa early today. None of the passengers was injured.

served and the wounded or sick were receiving medical attention.

Throughout the morning long lines of negroes streamed westward along the streets leading to convention hall. Many wore their night clothes and ran to safety in their bare feet.

Men, women and children carried bundles of clothing on their heads and backs. The articles they saved were varied and in many cases would have been ludicrous but for the gravity of the situation. Here an old woman clung to a Bible, then a girl with fire-heated hair packed a wooly dog under her arm and behind trotted a little darkey girl with a big wax doll.

In one case an aged negro woman supported an old man, wrapped about with quilts and blankets and apparently very sick. He was hurriedly placed in an automobile and hurried to a hospital.

But all those who came to convention hall were not non-combatants. Heavily armed men, heavily armed whistles up at the big hall directly at the scene of the fighting at the big hall at North Greenwood. With them closely guarded, were prisoners captured with guns during the fray.

Negro domestics were taken from their quarters and moved to the ball park.

ORGANIZING NATIONAL FIGHT

Rev. E. D. Cameron, of Henryetta, Okla., who has announced that he will soon establish headquarters in New York for the purpose of better organizing a national fight against divorce.

With the situation growing admittedly worse, efforts were made to have the three local companies of the national guard cope with the trouble pending the arrival of Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett, who was reported en route here aboard a special train bringing additional troops from Oklahoma City. Under orders issued last night by General Barrett, guard companies in several adjacent towns were prepared for possible duty, and it was thought not unlikely that those troops would be sent in here to assist.

Until the new outbreak this morning the number of known dead stood at two white men and two negroes killed and an undetermined number of persons injured.

The trouble is said to have had its inception over the arrest late yesterday of a negro for an alleged attack upon a white girl.

The negro was taken to the court house and later lodged in the jail, where he was held until this morning.

Early in the night motor cars containing armed negroes appeared on the streets and headed for the court house. A crowd of 500 negroes surrounded the building. Armed white men soon began gathering, the situation grew more serious as the crowds increased.

FIRST WHITE WOMAN TO REACH HEART OF SAHARA

Mrs. Rosita Forbes.

Mrs. Rosita Forbes, recently received by King George, in the first white woman to reach the heart of the Sahara, is seen in the front ranks of explorers.

She travelled from Benghazi across the Libyan desert to the oasis of Kufra, the headquarters of the Senussi, never before visited by a white woman, and only once by a European (Robie) over 40 years ago. The journey was one of great hardship and danger, due chiefly to the fanaticism of the Zawala, a native tribe who hate strangers.

Can't Use Fire Equipment.

"We cannot use the equipment we have and for that reason have not asked for more apparatus from other cities," E. C. Alder, fire chief, said in discussing the fire in the negro section.

"It would mean a fireman's life to turn a stream of water on one of those negro buildings. They shot at us all morning when we were trying to do something but none of my men was hit. There is not a chance in the world to get through that mob into the negro district."

We have five lines protecting the warehouses on the Katy railroad and I think we have them saved. If the wind should change the white residence section east of the negro district would be menaced by the fire.

The fire has swept Greenwood street, where the negro business section was located and is sweeping around the hill to the north. So far the white residence section on the north has not been touched.

Chief Alder indicated that he was prepared to call for outside assistance in case it became necessary.

Fires continued to rage all morning in the negro section but at 11:30 it was believed that the white residence districts which had been imperiled would escape.

All persons not deputized as special officers are ordered to disarm in a room by Mayor T. D. Evans. Persons carrying guns will be arrested under the mayor's orders.

CONTINUOUS GUN FIRE SHORTLY AFTER DAYLIGHT

TULSA, OKLA., June 1.—Continuous gun fire broke out shortly after daylight near the negro quarters of Tulsa, the scene of all night race disturbances in which hundreds of armed white men and negroes took part and which resulted in the death and injury of an unknown number of persons and the calling out of Oklahoma national guard units to put down the disorder.

The firing came from a spot where throughout the early morning hours 500 white men and a thousand negroes faced each other across railroad tracks. First reports to police headquarters said that the bodies of from six to ten negroes could be seen lying in a space described as "no man's land." The police also had a report that three St. Louis and San Francisco railway switchmen and brakemen had been shot to death.

As the dawn broke sixty or seventy motor cars filled with armed white men formed a circle completely around the negro section. Half a dozen airplanes circled overhead. There was much shouting and shooting. A row of houses along the railroad tracks was fired, but lack of wind prevented the flames from spreading. A party of white firemen was reported to be shooting at all negroes they saw and firing into houses. The negroes were said to be returning the fire dispiritedly.

Late reports placed the number of

Two White Men Identified.

At 8:30 two white men killed in the riot had been identified.

Carl D. Lippincott, 28, Harvard, Kan., was shot through the breast and taken to a hospital at 8:30 o'clock this morning. He died shortly afterward.

F. M. Baker, Havelin, Kan., 27, was was picked up by a negro, one of a score or more barricaded in a church. Hundreds of armed white men are being rushed to the district in automobiles. An open battle is believed imminent.

Rowland was spirited out of town at 2 o'clock this morning by deputies from Sheriff McCullough's office. They refused to admit his whereabouts.

Officers said the negro would be given a speedy trial just as soon as the assistance of those of their race in Tulsa. Muskogee advised that the officials there were guarding all highways to prevent the departure of negroes from that city.

White Woman Shot.

In a smash outbreak at 7:30 o'clock in the Mississippi street section the streets northern section of the negro quarters, Mrs. E. A. Gilmore, a white woman, was shot in the left arm and side. Mrs. Gilmore was standing on the front porch of her home when she shot in the back with buckshot. He died this morning at a hospital.

An unidentified white man about 28, light brown hair, light brown eyes, five feet, ten inches, 160 pounds, was taken to an undertaking parlor.

A partial list of wounded compiled early today follows:

F. L. Curry, 26, Tulsa; slightly wounded in the neck.

A. B. Stick, 27, city clerk of Sapulpa, Okla.; probably fatally wounded. Standing on steps of a leading hotel when struck by stray bullet.

G. T. Prunkard, 34, railroad conductor, Sapulpa; seriously wounded.

Lee Fischer, 21, Tulsa; seriously wounded.

L. C. Slinkard, 25, Tulsa; seriously injured when run over by automobile loaded with armed negroes.

At 9 o'clock, 2,000 negroes had been gathered at convention hall under guard. It was filled, as was also the police station. The remainder of those gathered up are being taken to the baseball park, all under armed guards.

$1 DELIVERS YOUR HOOSIER

THE ADVENTURE OF THE SPECKLED BAND

By A. DOHAN BOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far:
Early one morning Helen Stoner came terrified to Holmes for help. She said she lived with her stepfather, the late survivor of one of the oldest families in England, the Roylotts of Stoke Moran. Dr. Roylott had married Helen's mother, who had died not long after returning to England, and Helen and her sister had since lived with him. Helen's mother left all her money to her husband until her daughter should marry.

He developed a violent temper. He let gypsies live on the run-down estate. He kept a crooked horse named Snip in the neighborhood. Two years before her death, she was the terror of the neighborhood. She had just become engaged, and tragically, one evening, coming of the night of the murder, she was next her uncle's, she went to Helen's room, and told her that each night she heard a low whistle which returned to her room and looked at the door. A few hours later Helen heard her screams and since lived with him. She muttered, "It was the Speckled Band," and shortly died in agony.

PART THREE

"Two years have passed since then," continued Miss Stoner, "and my life has been until lately lonelier than ever. A month ago, however, a dear friend whom I have known for many years has come to the honor to ask my hand in marriage. His name is Armitage-Perce Armitage, the second son of Mr. Armitage, of Crane Water, near Reading. My stepfather has offered no opposition to the match, and we are to be married in the course of the spring. Two days ago some repairs were started in the west wing of the building, and my bedroom wall has been pierced, so that I have had to move into the chamber in which my sister died, and to sleep in the very bed in which she slept. I imagine, then, my thrill when last night, as I lay awake, thinking over her terrible fate, I suddenly heard in the silence of the night the low whistle which had been the herald of her own death. I sprang up and lit the lamp, but nothing was to be seen in the room. I was too shaken to go to bed again, however, so I dressed, and as soon as it was daylight I slipped down, got a dog-cart at the 'Crown Inn' which is opposite, and drove to Leatherhead, from whence I have come here, bringing with me the one object of seeing you and asking your advice."

"You have done wisely," said my friend. "But have you told me what?"

"Yes, all."

"Miss Roylott, you have not. You are screening your stepfather."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"For answer Holmes pushed back the fringe of black lace which fringed the hood that lay upon our visitor's knees. He gave her a long, steady gaze, and then, with a white wrist."

"You have been cruelly used," said Holmes. "The lady colored deeply and covered over her injured wrist. 'He is a hard man,' she said, 'and perhaps he hardly knows his own strength.' There was a long silence, during which Holmes leaned his chin upon his hands and stared into the distance. 'This is a very deep business,' he said at last. 'There are a thousand details which I should desire to know before I decide upon our course of action. Yet we have not a moment to lose. If we were to come to Stoke Moran today, would it be possible for us to see over these rooms without the knowledge of your stepfather?'

"As it happens, he spoke of coming into town today upon some most important business. It is probable that he will be away all day, and that there would be nothing to disturb you. We have a housekeeper now, but she is old and foolish, and I could easily get her out of the way."

"Excellent. You are not averse to the trip, Watson?"

"By no means."

"The only both some. What are you going to do yourself?"

"I have one or two things which I would wish to do now that I am in town. But I shall return by the twelve o'clock train, so as to be there in time for your coming."

"And you may expect us early in the afternoon. I have myself some small business matters to attend to. Will you not wait and breakfast?"

"No, I must go. My heart is lightened already since I have confided my trouble to you. I shall look forward to seeing you again this afternoon." She dropped her thick black veil over her face and glided from the room.

"And what do you think of it all, Watson?" asked Sherlock Holmes, leaning back in his chair.

"It seems to me to be a most dark and sinister business."

"Dark enough and sinister enough."

"Yet if the lady is correct in saying that the flooring and walls are sound, and that the door, window and chimney are impassable, then her sister must have been undoubtedly alone when she met her mysterious end."

"What becomes, then, of these nocturnal whistles, and what of the very low whistle which you heard?"

"We are living in a changing world. I never thought I could ever be cured of my stomach trouble. Medical science seemed unable to help me. But thank God we are progressing and now Dr. May's Wonderful Remedy has delivered me from all stomach troubles. I am again able to eat anything. It is a simple, harmless preparation which removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Flanzy of Wichita Falls evidence of their worth. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. A. G. Ohrom, 261 Burnett street, Wichita Falls, says: "Some time ago my back and kidneys were in mighty bad shape. Mornings on getting up my back was so lame and stiff, I could hardly straighten up. When stopping over, while doing some of my housework, pains would shoot up and down my back and make it almost impossible to move. I was also subject to headaches. My kidneys annoyed me by their irregular action, too. I used only two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills when I was cured."

so bulky, but if he had remained I might have shown him that my grip was not so much more feeble than his own." As he spoke he picked up the steel poker, and with a sudden effort straightened it out again.

"Fancy his having the insolence to confront me with the official certificate!" This incident gives zest to our investigation, however, and I only trust that our little friend will not suffer from being impudently allowed his hours to trace her. And now, Watson, we shall order breakfast, and afterwards I shall walk down to Doctors' Commons where I hope to get some data which may help us in this matter."

It was nearly one o'clock when Sherlock Holmes returned from his excursion. He held in his hand a sheet of blue paper, scrawled over with notes and figures. "I have seen the will of the deceased wife," said he. "To determine its exact meaning I have been obliged to work out the present price of the investment with which it is concerned. The total income which at the time of the wife's death was little short of 1100 pounds, is now, through the fall in agricultural prices, not more than 700 pounds. Each daughter can claim an income of 250 pounds, in case of marriage. It is evident, therefore, that if both girls had married, this beauty would have had a mere pittance, while even one of them would cripple him to a very serious extent. My morning's work has been wasted, since it has proved that he has the very strongest motives for standing in the way of anything of the sort. And now, Watson, this is too serious for dawning, especially as the old man is aware that we are interesting ourselves in his affairs; so if you are ready, we shall call a cab and drive to Waterloo. I should be very much obliged if you would slip your revolver into your pocket. An Eley's No. 2 is an excellent argument with gentlemen who can twist steel poker into knots. That and a toothbrush are, I think, all that we need."

GOVERNMENT WORKS BOTTOM UP IN CHINESE EMPIRE

THE SITUATION IS JUST REVERSE SAYS
RUSSELL.

DISSOLVING AND NOTION TAKING PLACE

to Get What They Want
It May Take Time
to Do So.

EDWARD RUSSELL,
dependent of the Wichita Daily Times.

June 1.—"In China," says
American, many years ago
sigh, "In China, govern-
from the bottom up;
ceeds from the top down
don't see this difference twenty of the other for see it. But it is the fact the biggest fact in the will some day settle what rise you may hear that the people of China
real source of power here and they are going to get what they want, but they will get it by force, but they will get it
by force."

Certainly this agrees with everything I have seen and is the only thing that will fit every part of the problem. It is true that the old tradition, the China that new China the hard-baked product of centuries of one habit thought, if that China is dissolving
a new China is taking its place.
Should think that gentlemen like of Great Britain who count on the return of monarchy and the good old days of privilege, might it for a job.

As to this we may now profitably consider a few facts like these:

1. It has always been said of the Chinese people that they would work together, had no sense of cooperation, had not faculty for united action, so that you could lead them in the face of a Wah-hai-wai or Shantung and none of the rest of them would care a rap.
Everybody said this; everybody believed it; and doubtless the same thing was strong upon Japan when presented twenty-one demands, which were as hard a kick in the face as an nation every endured.

The flaccid or crooked Chinese
The flaccid or crooked Chinese

And when Japan, pistol in hand, said
"sign on the dotted line," signed with readiness and dispatch. But will you kindly observe what the people did about it? They didn't recognize any of this bunk but of their own motion and without leadership, without even any advice or suggestion from their press, they started the word and passed it around to boycott Japanese goods, and the next thing Japan knew it couldn't sell five cents worth of anything anywhere in China. Japanese merchants and exporters were caught with millions of dollars worth of stuff they could do nothing with. People would not have it for a gift.

The movement swept all China, swept it with a swiftness that considering the poor means of communication seems astounding. No matter how much talk might be divided about north and south they were of one mind about this. Japan complained and protested and the administration ordered under heavy penalties the removal of the notices "boycott Japanese goods" that adorned so many walls. Forthwith (in some places) under the eyes of the police, down came the notices, but they were succeeded by others that read "Boycott interior goods" which to the Chinese mind meant exactly the same thing. On went the boycott exactly as before and was one of the things
Japan so hard last fall.

If there were anything better settled than another about the Chinese it was that they could not exist without gambling. The Chinese character demanded it; the Chinese government had always legitimized it. But one of the first things the new government at Canton did was to close all the gambling houses and there is now no public gambling in Canton. Even that great and famous house on the river front, so long familiar in the sight of visitors by river—closed tight as a safe and boarded up, as a photograph in my possession attests. Some nerve was required for this reform because the government was gaily and the iniquities of former administrations had left the cash box empty. But the houses were closed, nevertheless, and remain closed, and the people approved.

3. One of the innovations in Canton is an excellent street railroad system.
Imagine street cars in Rabbit Warren Canton, you globe-trotter of other days! After a time, women were employed as conductors and in other capacities, and successfully. While I was in Canton one of the incidents of a day was the appearance of all the women conductors and the rest in a body before the office of the company with a demand for an eight-hour day and some other concessions. And when they were argued with about this, they said, well, that was what their working sisters in other countries of the world were getting and what they were going to have here, too.

4. When the school teachers struck the other day against the northern government they struck not in one place but in all places and not pulsarily but all together. We have even had instances of the strikes of pupils supported by their parents and spreading by some magic free agency in possible without the sense of solidarity.

5. Canton is not the only Chinese city that is undergoing transformation.
A. Foochow and Shanghai and elsewhere you will see demonstrations of the same purpose. From a strictly artistic point of view New Foochow has even surpassed New Canton. And will you look at the changes in Peking—itself in the last fifteen years!

6. The Peking administration has been trying to get up some kind of an election for its so-called parliament.
Somebody or somebody in the mass of the people (no leader, no preconcert) felt that this election would be fraudulent and insignificant and started the idea that it should be boycotted. I think it a fact of utmost moment that the people considered this suggestion, found it good and are now carrying it out to the consternation of the government, which has been trying to save its face by postponing the date of the voting and putting forth every effort to get out the voters. It may well be harmless; the outsider, anyway, will think that nothing could be more impossible.

7. It used to be said that the Chinese had no national feeling; the only place you ever saw a Chinese flag was a national flag on a building and most of the people did not know there was such a thing. Today you can see the flag of the Republic floating over thousands of dwellings and stores. In city squares and villages and apparently the people are turning toward him, as their eventual leader. Please note that he is the sternest democratic leader in the world.

8. All this time Wu Pei-fu is slowly gathering his democratic army in Hunan, his army of students; for while he teaches them arms he teaches them no less the history and theory of democracy and the rudiments of an education. In view of many things in the coming man of north China and apparently the people are turning toward
him, as their eventual leader. Please
note that he is the sternest democratic leader in the world.

9. Back of everything else is the steady pressure of the American ideal;
for, as I told you before, it is America that has inspired all this. In every Chinese city the students returned from American universities and ardent with new ideals are the core and radical of an indomitable progressivism.
But beyond even their ceaseless activities and influence toward the Chinese mind the example of one nation which has never exploited China, has stolen no Chinese territory, worked no swindling railroad concessions here, played no tricks, tried to sell no opium and is at the same time a nation where the government is the will of the people. It is the power of these ideas that has made what there is of new China and I can see no reason to think it will stop where it is; having the more faith in it when I stop to remember the character of the work of the people on whom it is working.

Therefore, the present day conditions may be as bad as the worst representation of them; they are, after all, only superficial, the froth and ferment boiling to the top. There never was a revolution on earth that was not followed by these manifestations. Nor one in which they did not subside into the ways of national progress.

one that went backward!
It will be so in Russia, it will be so in China, it will be so everywhere in the good time of inevitable processes.

BURKBURNETT FAMILY EN ROUTE TO ARKANSAS IN "GASOLINE PULLMAN"

In a Ford truck that had been converted ingeniously into a gasoline Pullman, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Draper and two children of Burk Burnett passed through Wichita Falls Wednesday morning en route to Beaumont, from which place they will go to Arkansas.

The body of the car was constructed sufficiently large to accommodate beds cross-wise and leave sufficient room for baggage and impediments. A small tent was taken for use as a cook tent, but the car is so equipped that the family can live comfortably in it and be entirely independent of railroads and hotels.

When the youngest member of the family was asked by a reporter where he was bound, his reply was, "Arkansas—now—now—"

LAST WORD IN MODERN SCIENCE IS VITAMINES

SECRET OF CHILD GROWTH DIS-COVERED AT LAST.

Being a housekeeper and a mother
these days means keeping up with a fast-moving procession! Hardly a week passes but that some important discovery is made in the realm of housekeeping.

The most recent of these discoveries is "vitamines," the name given to the growth-producing properties of some foods. This word, which is fast becoming common to the housewives of America, was entirely unknown to even the leaders of food research of only a few years ago.

Time was when all food values were given in calories, the unit of measurement of the fuel value. Then came division into proteins, carbohydrates, fats and mineral salts. Much emphasis placed on the first two and very little on the last, probably for the reason that so little was known.

Even this knowledge was incomplete.
A diet that was complete in all of these particulars was often unsatisfactory so far as growth promotion was concerned. Almost by accident it was discovered that there was a difference in fats—that some fats caused growth while others of the same caloric value had no growth effect whatever.

"Vitamines" was the name given to this growth-producing property. The property is found only in a few foods,
and the most important of the vita-mines is found only in butter-fat and the yellow parts of eggs.

Creamery butter, then, long esteemed by the housekeeper for its purity and flavor, becomes her mainstay in providing for the best health of her family. This is true especially of children for it has been definitely shown that without this "vitamine" food no child can attain its normal growth.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

The Fairy King was only as tall as your thumb but he had a good appetite

Mary Jane and the Fairy King

ONE day Mary Jane met the Fairy King in the Forest. The Fairy King was only as tall as your thumb. But he had a very good appetite, and he was always hungry.

So he said to Mary, "Did you bring anything good to eat with you?" And Mary said, "I've got a lovely spread of bread with some delicious Mary Jane Syrup on it, that my mamma gave me for my lunch."

The Fairy King said, "Well, why didn't you say so before? You know that Mary Jane Syrup is what we fairies always serve at our banquets, when we want something especially good."

So Mary brought out her bread with Mary Jane Syrup on it. And they sat and ate, and talked about ships and sealing wax, and cabbages and kings until it was time for Mary to go home.

Then the Fairy King gave Mary a great, big diamond that he found on a rose leaf that very morning. Mary had the diamond mounted in a ring. And she's wearing it to this very day, in memory of the Fairy King, and the Mary Jane Syrup they enjoyed so much that afternoon of the long ago, when the heart of a child thrilled to the magic of a fairy's kingly gift.

RATE REDUCTIONS NEXT.

If the reduction ordered in the wages of railway workers is followed by a substantial reduction in freight rates, it will constitute a great stimulant to industry all over the country, many observers believe.

The high freight rates now in effect are a brake upon industry, and indeed have forced some industries, out of business altogether. The merchant allies are finding the present rates burdensome and they have brought industry to a standstill in some sections of the country.

Lower freight rates ought to result in larger freight movements and give employment to many railroad workers who are now out of jobs so that the reduction in wages will be a benefit to railway workers as a whole.

There is practical certainty that the railroads will voluntarily reduce rates as soon as wages are reduced. Self interest will induce such a course and there is virtual understanding with the railroad managers that they will reduce rates when wages are lowered.

WILL THEY NEWBERRYIZE TEXAS?

R. B. Creager, republican state chairman for Texas, in a meeting of republican workers at Fort Worth Tuesday announced that he would attempt to raise $200,000 to carry on the party's work in Texas. Two hundred thousand dollars is a neat little sum and is more than the republican party spends in many of the doubtful states. The expenditure of such a large sum in a Texas campaign is a step toward Newberryism. If money is to be used so prodigally then it is time indeed that we begin to look to our election laws.

Editorial Echoes

Future of the League of Nations. (Dallas News) Whether the League of Nations is destined to remain a weak or become a strong force for the preservation of peace is doubtful as much of a question now as it was when the people of this country decided that the United States should not become a member of it, assuming that that was their intent and that their verdict will have that effect immediately. The answer to that question is as inscrutable now as it was six months ago. But another question with respect to the League of Nations, which was also much debated at that time, received a pretty definite answer since then. It has become pretty evident to most men that at least the League of Nations will continue to live. It has come to be seen that while the refusal of the United States to join it may have the effect of greatly deterring it from becoming a very effective force in compelling the peaceful settlement of international controversies, it can not have the effect of causing its abandonment.

Lord Robert Cecil's statement that it would be insanity for Europe to allow the League of Nations to disintegrate is the opinion of one of its most zealous champions, to be sure. It is as much the protagonist of it in Europe as Wilson is in this country. Nevertheless, other statesmen of Europe whose minds are under none of the personal prepossession that his may be have expressed the same opinion on the "League of Nations" question. The chauvinistic statements of France, for instance, of whom M. Poincare is an example, have declared that however much the League of Nations may have been enfeebled by the refusal of the United States to join it, its continued existence is nevertheless indispensable. They hold this view of it chiefly because there are hundreds of problems in the peace treaty, many of which will be in process of fulfillment for generations, of which the League of Nations is the administrator. If it did not exist, it or its equivalent would have to be created, and this even though there should be no work for it to do other than that of interpreting and enforcing the terms of the war settlement.

Even without the United States, Germany and Russia are the two nations, as Lord Robert Cecil says, includes three-fourths of the world's population and perhaps an equal percentage of its wealth. If eventually German and Russian should become members of it, as the likelihood is that they will, if meantime it should prove itself to be a useful agency, it will speak for practically all the people of the earth save those of the United States. In that case, the United States might endure that isolation, and even regard it as preferable to association with the other nations of the earth on the terms it offers. That is at least conceivable, however improbable it must seem to all reasoning men. But that an organization made up of such an overwhelming preponderance of moral and material power would languish and expire for the lack of the United States' support, hardly, he thought a rational prophecy by any man.

Others Besides Bergdell. (Houston Chronicle) Grover Cleveland Bergdell's property, amounting to nearly a million dollars, has been seized by order of President Harding. The country is grateful to the president for issuing such an order. It should have been issued many months ago. But for this vast sum of money, lying around to tempt susceptible attorneys, the country would have been spared such a stench. Grover Cleveland Bergdell is a lawyer and a squarer, but he never could have become the nuisance he was without the deary-bought aid of don't-give-a-damn-so-long-as-we-get-the-money lawyers. His mother says that she has paid out $40,000 to these birds' snags in connection with his defense, but for all kinds of tricky work to get him out after he was it that placed that city

WHY?

Is "Banting" a Synonym for "Dieting?" (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

When, in 1921, William Banting, a distinctly competent upholder of London, decided that he was getting much too fat, and made a resolution to refrain from sweets, potatoes, bread and meat, except in small quantities, he probably had not the slightest idea that he was introducing a new word into the English language. Banting's diet was merely based upon the recommendations of a number of physicians that a slimming diet of starchy foods would tend to reduce his weight by preventing the addition of more fat, and by lessening the fatty tissues already present. Banting was not alone. Banting found that he had lost twenty pounds, then forty, and finally, more than eighty. Every afternoon he was his acquaintances by the change which had come over the merchant—a change which was mental as well as physical, because he made him more alert and vigorous that they insisted that he tell them the "secret." Soon it became noised all over London that if one were too fat, or too stout, or too corpulent, to "bant," which, in the course of time, was shortened to "Banting," and finally the capital letter was dropped and the word admitted to the English language—though the majority of dictionaries insist upon referring to it as "Bantingism," and declare that the verb "to bant," though commonly used, had no foundation whatever.

story about the pot of gold before the war department, and by what influence was the department made to fall for such ruse?

Suppose he had buried a pot of gold. What there enough left in his securities?

What excuse was there to let a millionaire out to dig up an extra $100,000. If Bergdell had been a poor man, no such preposterous excuse could have been framed and put over.

It couldn't have been framed and put over, under any circumstances, if two or three lawyers hadn't been willing to kick their consciences under the table for a few dollars.

Taken by surprise, the Bergdell case is about the most purit thing ever exposed in American history, and the principal offender, had as he may be, is not wholly to be disparaged with this affair ought to be disgraced and expatriated.

The man who allowed the Bergdells to get their clutches on so much gold, the rest of the country was being commanded to give it up, ought to be disciplined.

Those war department officials who granted Bergdell parole on such a ridiculous pretext ought to be dismissed. It will do no good to perform a half-way job in this most disgraceful affair.

Bergdell should be punished to the limit of this country's ability, of course, but so should everybody else who contributed, whether through intent or incompetency, to his escape.

JUST FOLKS

Fishing Trip Talks. Those fishin' jaunts we used to take were more than fishin' trips. It seems to me they brought to us our best companionships. An' whether we had luck or not, was fishin' good or bad, we found delight an' pleasure the good old talks we had.

We went to catch some fish, of course, but not for the effect of causing its abandonment. Lord Robert Cecil's statement that it would be insanity for Europe to allow the League of Nations to disintegrate is the opinion of one of its most zealous champions, to be sure. HUMANISMS

Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM A. THURTON DU PUY. Joseph P. Tumulty tells an unusual and tragic story of the circumstances which led up to the presence of Elbert Hubbard, the sage of East Aurora, on the Lusitania when she was sunk off the Irish coast.

Mr. Hubbard came to see the secretary to the president at the white house. He just must go abroad. To go must be a passport by the president. Mr. Tumulty admonished him of the dangers of the trip, but he brushed them aside indifferently.

"All right," said Mr. Tumulty. "I will get you a passport."

"You can't," said Mr. Hubbard. "Why not?" asked Mr. Tumulty. "I have a criminal record," said the sage, of having done time.

It developed that this was a fact, but that it was merely an incident to the publication of a journal which slashed right and left and sometimes got its responsible head into trouble.

So Mr. Tumulty consulted with the attorney general, who prepared a pardon, which was signed by the president of the United States. Thus did men in high places play unsuspecting parts in sending Mr. Hubbard to his death.

The steps of the state department on the white house side ran up for a long flight, and while we stood there and gazed in the sun a man came hurrying out of the basement below and bustled along the roadway followed by the trucks that deliver supplies. It was Secretary Hughes going over for a conference with the president.

The History of Your Name

ALEX. Variations—Allen, Alen, Allin, Allwyn. Racial Origin—Scottish. Source—A Clan. As a family name, Allen and its variations are the outgrowth of the clan organization of Scotland, and the most names of the Scottish and Irish divisions of the Celtic race, can be traced back to a single individual.

There are many branches of the Allen line today, but nearly all of them trace back to Alan, a count of Brittany, who crossed to England with William the Conqueror and obtained grants of land in Scotland. It was a descendant of this Alan also who founded the Stuart line, which later became the royal family of Great Britain.

As a given name, the origin of Alan is lost in obscurity. It may have been taken over from the classical languages before Christ. Theoretical at times have been made to trace it back to the mythical Greek poet Odan, credited in the classical legends with having been the first to write hymns in hexameter. It is certain that it was in use among the Celts of northern Europe in the forms of Alawn, Alwin and Allwyn before the Roman empire extended its way to those parts, for it was taken into the Latin in the form of Elian.

But there is no indication that it developed as a family name in any other land than Scotland.

COURT HOLDS "DRY" AMENDMENT ANNULS OLD REVENUE LAWS

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Passage of the prohibition amendment served to annul various internal revenue laws covering the liquor traffic, the supreme court held today. Congress did not intend to preserve the old penalties, the court said.

HOUSE COMMITTEE TO REPORT VOLSTEAD BILL
WASHINGTON, June 1.—The House Judiciary committee agreed today to report out the Volstead bill, which would prohibit sale of beer on physicians' prescriptions for use by the sick. As approved, the bill also would make the Volstead enforcement act apply to Hawaii and the Virgin Islands, but not to the Philippines. Other provisions included a tightening up clause to prohibit importation of liquors until the present law held under government supervision has been exhausted. Chairman Volstead was directed to endeavor to have it called up for passage by the house immediately.

BARRY REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION FORCES
WASHINGTON, June 1.—Early and complete reorganization of the prohibition unit is planned by the internal revenue bureau, Commissioner Blair announced today with more efficient and less costly administration as the object. The commissioner indicated that he had been considering putting federal prohibition supervisors in each state to replace the present departmental supervising several states. While the commissioner was non-committal on the question of the proposed transfer of the prohibition enforcement to the justice department, the impression was gained that he thought prohibition enforcement belonged more properly under the attorney general. Mr. Blair said he had not had time to take up beer regulations.

8 JURORS TAKEN IN MURDER TRIAL

Careful Selection of Jury Takes Up Greater Part of Day in District Court.

At 4:00 o'clock this afternoon when the special venire panel was exhausted, Judge Martin ordered 30 more names drawn from the jury wheel. The jurors were called in at 4:30 o'clock for a preliminary hearing. A total of eight jurors were selected. The last two were W. M. Beales and S. L. McKinney. Court recessed until Thursday at 9:00 o'clock.

By 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon six jurors had been selected in the order trial of C. Carpenter, who is charged with the slaying of Jack Hollingsworth. Both state and defense attorneys are carefully examining each talsman who is called.

The state had challenged seven jurors for pre-emptory reasons while the defense had asked nine to be excused. It was apparent late Wednesday afternoon that it would be necessary to secure more jurors and the defense asked that the names be taken from the jury wheel rather than have the judge pick up talsmen.

Attorney L. W. Williams of Waco and Attorney B. D. Sartin of this city are representing the defendant while the prosecuting is in the hands of District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones, Assistant Attorney H. H. County Attorney E. L. Hilton and former County Attorney John Davernport.

Under the indictment, Carpenter is charged with having committed the offense of murder in that he shot and killed one Jack Hollingsworth on the night of March 24, 1921. The defendant has been out under a bond of $10,000 since the incident, which occurred in an alley just east of the Henry hotel.

Jurors who were accepted by both sides were J. D. Meredith, B. P. Chapman, W. L. Browning, K. W. Schuch, George Vaught and W. T. Vance.

Education—Its Relation to Citizenship

The winning essay out of about forty submitted in the Knights of Pythias "Citizenship" contest is printed below. It was submitted by Miss Agnes Morton, a high school student, the subject being "Education—Its Relation to Citizenship."

Education—its Relation to Citizenship In this enlightened United States of ours, we have the widest range of free education in the world. For this reason it is hard for us to conceive of a country in which it is necessary to keep the people ignorant and stupid. It is the duty of the people, the citizens, who ought to be the ruling power of the nation, to see that every citizen has the opportunity of education. This is the duty of the government. This situation, nevertheless, is one in which a number of the supposedly civilized countries of today are placed. "In such countries it is necessary to keep the people ignorant and stupid that they may not understand fully how badly they are ruled. In time, of course, the people will see that their ignorance will lead to revolution, to unnecessary bloodshed and to still worse government. Such a country is not only in danger of a day of reckoning but it loses all of the economic and social progress which would have been brought to it by educated citizens."

In a country such as ours, it is necessary that the people be educated to the highest point of efficiency because the people are the ruling power, and good the ruling power must be an able one. In a country of freedom such as ours, it is necessary that the people be educated to the highest point of efficiency because the people are the ruling power, and good the ruling power must be an able one. In a country of freedom such as ours, it is necessary that the people be educated to the highest point of efficiency because the people are the ruling power, and good the ruling power must be an able one.

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene, In quiet solitude lies, A desert lone. Full many a flower is born to blush unseen, And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

It is pathetic to think that somewhere, every where, in America there are children who, when they were given the chance, would one day bring a blessing to humanity as well as a name to themselves. On the other hand, it is no more than we can expect to support a nation that is so backward in its progress. It is no more than we can expect to support a nation that is so backward in its progress. It is no more than we can expect to support a nation that is so backward in its progress.

An HENRY Story

The City of Dreadful Night

By O. HENRY

"DURING the recent warm spell," said my friend Carney, driver of express wagon No. 106, "I had many opportunities to see the human nature through peepaboo waits."

"The Park Commissioner and the Commissioner of Police and the Forestry Commission gets together and agree to let the people sleep in the parks until the weather Bureau gets the thermometer down again to a living basis. So they draw up open-air resolutions and have them O. K.'d by the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Comstock and the Village Improvement Society of South Orange, N. J."

"When the proclamation was made opening up to the people by special grant the public parks that belong to 'em, there was a general exodus into Central Park by the communities existing along its borders. In ten minutes after sundown you'd have thought that there was an undress rehearsal of a potato famine in Ireland and a Kishinoff massacre. They come by families, clubs, clam bake societies, clans, speakeasies, and all the rest of it."

"You know I live in the elegant furnished apartment house called the Bearshaba Flats, over against the elevated portion of the New York Central Railroad. 'When the order comes to the flats that all hands must turn out and sleep in the park, according to the instructions of the consulting committee of the City Club, the Bearshaba Flats, Draying, Returning and Bidding Company, there was a look of a couple of fires and an eviction all over the place."

"The tenants began to pack up their beds, rubber boots, strings of garlic, hot-water bags, portable canoes and scuttles of foal to take along for the sake of comfort. The sidewalk looked like a Russian camp in a snow-drift. 'Now, 'twas a peaceful and happy daylight in the Bearshaba Flats. Mrs. Rafferty, that despises the aspect of a Dago trail on walks in the moonlight with her feet on the beam of Antonio Spizzinetti, and Mike O'Dowd, that always three peddlers downstairs as fast as he came upon 'em, has to unwind old habits and wake up the whole gang at daylight. But here and there some few got acquainted and overlooked the discomfort of the elements. There was five engagements to be made, a house number on their own name shall keep in the public parks until further notice. Fortunately, the orders comes this year during a spell of fine weather, and the borders of the lake, too, along the automobile drives, will not be any greater than usual."

"Who are these people on the sidewalk, you ask? 'Sure,' says I, 'none other than the tenants of the Bearshaba Flats—a fine home for any man, especially on hot nights. May daylight come soon!'"

"The moon here be night," says he, "and breathe in the pure air and the fragrance of the flowers and trees. They do that," says he, "coming every night from the burning heat of swillings of brick and stone. I own the place, except on the borders that give extra benefits to a man's tenants. The rents shall be raised fifteen per cent tomorrow. Good-night," says he.

"What is the herding of us in the great for?"

"Home that all of us had in them same Bearshaba Flats. The O'Dowds and the Steinowitzes and the Callahans and the Cohens and the Spizzinettis and the Joneses—all the nations of us, we lived like one big family together. And when the hot nights come along we kept a line of children reaching from the front door to Kelly's on the corner, passing along the cans of beer from one to another without the trouble of running after it. And with no more clothing on than is provided for in the statutes, sitting in all the elements, and your feet out in the air, and the Rosensteins girls singing on the fire escape of the sixth floor, and Patsy Burke's flute going in the eighth, and the ladies carrying each other's promys out the window and now and then a breeze sailing in over Mister Depew's Central—I tell you the Bearshaba Flats was a summer resort that made the Catskills look like a hole in the ground. With his pension full of beer and his feet out the windy and his old woman frying pork chops over a charcoal furnace and the chimney dancing cotton slips on the sidewalk around the corner grinder and the rent paid for a week—what does a man want better on a hot night than that? And then comes this ruling of the polis driving people out of their comfortable homes to sleep in parks. 'The dark under the trees, and all the children sets up to howling that they want to go home."

"There being no lights except along the automobile drives, up 113 tenants of the Bearshaba Flats prepared to spend the night as best we could in the raging forest. Then that brought blankets and kindling wood was best off. They got fires started and wrapped the blankets round their heads and laid down in the grass. There was nothing to do, nothing to drink, nothing to see. In the dark we had no way of telling friends or foe, except by feeling the noses of 'em. I brought along me last ginger overcoat, me tooth-brush, some quinine pills and the red quilt of the bed in me flat. Three times during the night somebody rolled on me quilt and stuck his knee in me back. Adam's apple of me. And three times I judged his character by running me hand over his face, and the alliance the newswoman says."

"Well, then, Officer Reagan drives the whole lot of us to the park and turns us in by the nearest gate. 'The dark under the trees, and all the children sets up to howling that they want to go home."

Spudders Fail To Hit Opportunely and Buffs Take First Game 6 To 4

MOULTON, May 31.—The Buffs clubbed the Spudders into submission in the first game of the series here today and sent the Wichita Falls troupe reeling back into seventh place as the result of a 6-to-4 defeat. The Marines' routing over the prostrate forms of the Salmites into sixth position.

Walter Salm sent Abe Bowman to the mound in the curtain raiser, but Abe was unable to lengthen the Spudders' winning streak of two games into anything more substantial. He went the full distance, but found the Buff sticks very much in evidence. He might have gotten away with a victory if ordinary support, but his mates bobbed at critical times. Danny Clark being the principal offender.

Skipper Whitteman sent a southpaw against the Spudders and although he was not free to be master of the situation when a hit would have turned the tide. Potts was the young gun in the ninth, however, when a couple of base hits made things look dubious for the southerners. Whitteman then gave him a high sign and rushed Clyde Barfoot to the hill. Clyde used good judgment along with his slant and, although one of the runs were crossed, he retired Jack Miller with the bags full after he had purposely passed McDonald with runners on second and third. The detailed score:

Wichita Falls: Beacher fouled out to Bottomly. Gross was thrown out by Doyle. Rothman went out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Houston: Griggs fumbled Baggan's grounder and the latter was safe. Baggan drove a home run. Griggs fouled out to Bottomly. Griggs was thrown out by Doyle. Rothman went out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Wichita Falls: Clark grounded to Darringer and was out. Potts and Gross were thrown out. Miller flew out to Whitteman. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Houston: Diep popped to Clark. Darringer slapped a safety to left. Blades was retired to McDonald and Griggs. Darringer taking second. Griggs and McDonald were forced at second. Blades and Barfoot were rambled to left and went to third when the ball got away from Beacher. Potts luffed to Miller. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

Wichita Falls: Griggs worked Potts for a pass. On the hit sent to center and Griggs reached third, scoring a moment later on Bowman's long sacrifice fly to deep center. Kitchens went to center on Beacher's safety to left. Beacher drew a throw from Griffith and the ball went to right field, both runners moving up a notch. Gross hit batting and Beacher's wings. Rothman, filling the bags, but Clark fell victim to Potts' southpaw slant and whiffed. 1 run, 2 hits, 1 error.

Houston: Griggs pitched to Beacher in deep left. No runs, no hits, no errors.

VERNON WILL MEET NORTH FT. WORTH HI FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

State Baseball Title Will Be Decided Friday and Saturday in Vernon.

VERNON, TEXAS, June 1.—Vernon high school will meet North Fort Worth high school here in a two-game series Friday and Saturday of this week, according to an agreement made between coaches and players last week while the local team was in Fort Worth. The Tarrant county aggregation promised to come to Vernon for a two-game series in the event that Abilene was beaten by Coach Winston's Phillips 66 team. The agreement is being carried out. The games will be the last of the season for Vernon and without a doubt will decide definitely all claims for the championship. A win over Abilene has put Vernon in a position to contest for the supremacy, and this can only be decided by one or more games with North Fort Worth high. In the event that Fort Worth wins either game of the series, it will have the championship and it will be necessary for Vernon to annex both to gain the title.

Play Begins Today For International Golf Championship

By E. W. HULLINGER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, June 1.—Play for the International Amateur championship, the first of France's annual series of golf classics, began today on the Chantilly links. Teams from America, England and France were entered, the American and British entrants leading numerically. England and America will probably fight it out for the honors, according to doopsters. The chance of the French players are rated considerably lower. This year's program includes two big games for men, two for women and one free-for-all, open to winners in both series. Victors in the International Amateur championship, which will probably last about four days, will have the privilege of entering the "Grand Concours International" (36 holes) at La Bouille, next Monday. June 4. French players with a handicap of two or less also will be eligible.

On June 14, the ladies' championship (36 holes) will begin at Fontainebleau. Winners of this event will meet at La Bouille, June 20, in a Grand Concours International, for women.

Play for the open championship, at Le Touquet, is scheduled to commence June 29.

On account of the lateness of the date of the French classic, winners in the English championship will be able to participate.

France's "scratches" players, the Duke De Mouchy and A. Vagliano, were said to be in best form. Other promising French entrants were Baron Francois de Bellel, Philippe Berard and Count Le Montgometry.

ENGLAND, May 31.—The daylight which belongs to England and Scotland may be a trifle too heavy for the moving picture industry, but it is a great boost for sport. The business man or laborer here may finish his day's work, put away his evening chow and then get in eighteen holes of golf or three sets of tennis before the gray "next night" runs on through purple dusk into darkness. Golf and tennis are round of golf at 3 p. m. and still get in the twilight journey. Or, if one doesn't play golf, he can still dabble at some other sport for a brace of hours before the lengthening shadows drift in upon the scene.

They have something on us in the way of extra daylight, which is an assignment from nature and, therefore, setting a witness not a vice in either direction. But they also have a big edge on us in parking crowds, which is all to their credit. When the Yale Bowl was built to handle 70,000 spectators we took an extra gasp at its mastodontic proportions. Yet at Hampden Park, Glasgow, they can now assemble 140,000 people, and by next spring these accommodations will be extended to take in 175,000, two and a half times as many as our greatest outdoor arena can surround. The Crystal Palace outside of London can accommodate about as many.

These crowd arrangements have a vast public value. They not only yield an opportunity for enjoyment to a far greater number of people, but they also yield a big revenue through a much smaller charge. Which is to say that the individual fan, instead of paying as much for the privilege of seeing the United States.

At the big international football match between England and Scotland at Glasgow the official attendance was 100,000 and the gate receipts amounted to 14,000 pounds or about $18,000. This was only an average charge of 50 cents a head for an entertainment that corresponds to the "stadium" as he is in the United States. Numerous seats that only cost 25 cents. Can you imagine yourself getting within eyesight of any big championship match in the United States for a quarter? If so, you have one of the rarest, little imaginations now left in this country.

What we need back in the United States is a big enlargement of our stands and a big reduction in the cheaper seats, an arrangement wherein those with small incomes will have their opportunity to attend without wrecking the waning bankroll. This arrangement should come in conjunction with every major sport. Small stands and high prices hit the public both ways, but the public has become so accustomed to being soaked both ways that it takes the double whallop for granted. As it is now thousands are frequently shut away from big sporting spectacles through lack of space, and those who do get in are called racing, boxing, football, and the like. Wise promoters should take this into brief consideration.

Prices charged for the coming international polo matches are all out of line over here with other sports. But the situation is different. Polo is an expensive pastime, where the revenue taken in will be only a small part of the total cost. And there is no chance to handle any big crowd, as big crowds go.

An enormous proportion of the population over here either plays or goes out to see some form of sport. It is a rarity when one stumbles upon a fishman, young or old, male or female, who isn't a nut upon one or more sports, racing, boxing, football, and the like. As a rule most of them have at least two or three highly favored pastimes to play or follow.

ALL AMERICANS ARE ELIMINATED IN THE WOMEN'S GOLF RACE

Sara Fowkes Last of United States Golfers to Be Put Out of Running

TURNBERRY, June 1.—Sara Fowkes of Pittsburgh, the last of the four American golfers to reach the third round of the British ladies' open golf championship, was eliminated this afternoon by Mrs. C. Austley. The former champion of Kent, by 6 up and 5 to play.

Dempsey Has Never Had Trouble With Hands in the Ring

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1.—One of the greatest champions in the history of the ring, Jack Dempsey's greatest assets in all his ring battles has been the condition of his hands. The heavy-weight title holder never has trouble with them. When he enters a ring he knows that his hands will be able to stand up to any punishment without breaking. Dempsey has no particular method of hardening his hands. The hard work he has used to do in the mine probably helped toughen them, but they are naturally big, broad and heavy. He has on them a quite the same as a piece of shoe leather.

BUY A BUTTON.

The megaphones and buttons have arrived! Virgil Spudgers received his shipment from Dallas today and had his committee out canvassing the town for buttons. Early indications were that the canvassers would have little trouble in selling the thousand buttons which are significant of membership in the "Spudgers' Rooter Club."

NEW YORK, June 1.—Selection of the referee for the Dempsey-Carpenter bout and discussion of moving picture rights will be the subject of a conference tomorrow between Promoter Tex Rickard and representatives of the principals.

GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB ORGANIZED AT QUANAH

QUANAH, TEXAS, June 1.—At a meeting held in the chamber of commerce Monday night, May 30, a Golf and Country club was organized. R. R. Gilliland was elected president; George Simmons and D. T. Haden, first and second vice-presidents; E. B. Caskey and A. P. Pierce, treasurers; J. D. Huggins, secretary. The club was capitalized for $5,000, which was all subscribed at this meeting. It is the intention of the officers to secure a site on Grohbeck creek, which is an ideal place for a country club.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—adv.

SPORT SPOTS by Paul W. Barkin

Back to seventh place and through nobody's fault but their own.

Today was the first day that the Spudgers spent in seventh place. They stopped from sixth place to the bottom April 30 and just one month later, May 30, they went back to sixth.

The Spudgers will find conditions in Houston far different than they did on their last trip to the southern city. It is not at all uncommon to see in the account of the games played in the Buff city that "the largest crowd of the year attended." The Buffs did well to clear expenses the latter part of the 1920 season. Of course the change in conditions will not make Sam mad.

Yesterday the boys hit the apple hard enough and often enough, but not timely enough.

Abie Bowman was subjected to some rude treatment by the home hitlers, but stuck through the bombardment and his mates should have won for him.

Eleven men stranded on the sacks will perhaps tell the tale better than any other explanation. The Spudgers' "we don't see why they should be in practically every instance when men were waiting to score."

A few members of the Rooter's club "Buddy Tanner Day" committee were a bit skeptical the other day at the meeting about getting 1,000 fans to join the club.

What's a British golf title compared to an international title anyway? Nothing daunted by his crushing defeat in the English tourney, "Chick" Evans is in France and will be one of the starters in the French classic. The American invasion of foreign soil has been anything but a success to date.

Not long ago a story was sent out from the Dempsey camp in which it was stated that Jack and Georges were similar in one respect—they both loved the heat of "sweat." But that is not the heat of "sweat." Both are hard and conscientious trainers.

Dempsey has always been regarded as one of the hardest workers in the game when it comes to preparing for an important engagement. Few heavyweights in the past have applied themselves as diligently as does the champion and few have seemed to enjoy the training routine more. Training is an arduous task and one that most boxers dislike extremely. It is not so with Dempsey, however. Nor is it true of "Carpenter." The Frenchman has proved to the critics of this country that he is no sluggard.

Bull Montana, who appeared here twice in wrestling bouts, is now an accredited member of the champion's training camp. The daily wrestling bouts between Jack and Bull are very popular with the crowds who have been attending the workouts. The powerful Bull gives Dempsey some hard handling during the bouts, taking opportunity to twist and knead the champion while they are locked in holds, and otherwise harden the fighter for any possible attempted holding tactics on the part of Carpenter.

"ROTARY GIRL" WILL GRADUATE THIS WEEK AT BAYLOR COLLEGE

When Bessie Jones receives her diploma at Baylor college this week she will be the youngest of the graduates. She will be the youngest of the graduates of the Rotary club of Wichita Falls. Not that she wouldn't have attained the honor and dignity of a graduate without the Rotary club's help, but that organization certainly made its attainment somewhat easier. Miss Jones is an orphan girl who has resided in Wichita Falls during most of the 15 years of her life. Determined to get an education, she enrolled at Baylor college, where by washing dishes, sweeping and tasks of that kind for five hours a day, she was able to meet the expenses of her education and stay in school. Largely by accident, the local Rotary club learned, about two years ago, about Bessie Jones and the plucky struggle she was making, and learned also that she was a Wichita Falls girl. In accordance with annual custom the club decided to contribute one dollar at Christmas, to be used for some worthy purpose, and Dr. C. R. Hartsook, then president of the club, decided that it could not be more appropriately employed than in lifting some of the load from Bessie's shoulders. Later, the club virtually adopted Bessie, and made further contributions to her education and support, making it possible for her to give up the drudgery she had been undergoing and to devote her full time to her studies. She has been making good and proving herself entirely worthy of the club's friendship. The club wanted to be represented at her graduation, and sent Rev. N. F. Gooden to Dallas to attend the commencement exercises. Next year she will attend the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and continue her education. She insists that she is going to make her life one of exceptional usefulness, to repay the Rotary club for its interest in her. Whether this will be done by her marrying some good Rotarian later on, or in other ways, remains to be seen. In the meantime, the Rotarians will look after her.

PROFITS BY WHAT HER MOTHER DID

Little Rock Woman Induced to Take Tonic Through Parent's Restoration.

"Tonic restored my mother's health so perfectly that I began taking it, too, and just two bottles have helped me wonderfully," said Mrs. Golda Bird, 2104 E. Markham street, Little Rock, Ark. "A short time ago I seemed to have a general breakdown," she continued. "My stomach became so disordered that nothing tasted good and I just didn't want to eat a thing and my weight and became weak and run-down. My complexion was pale and yellow and my back ached so I could hardly lift my little baby. I took little or no interest in anything and was going from bad to worse. "But I think Tonic is just wonderful to have helped me to feel such a short time. I have only finished my second bottle but already I feel like a different person. I enjoy what I eat and am gaining in weight. The pains have about all gone from my back and I have been built up so I feel better and stronger in every way. I have nothing but the highest praise for Tonic." Tonic is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller company, in Electra by Tarleton Drug company, West End Drug company, Burk Burnett, Texas, and by all leading druggists. (adv.)

SHOOTING THE TRIANGLE IS DEVOID OF RESULTS

VERNON, TEXAS, June 1.—Shooting the Triangle well Saturday afternoon failed to bring the results anticipated, and operators are now undecided what further action will be taken with the hole. Sunday morning there was 300 feet of oil and water in the test, and most of this was water. It had been hoped that the ten quarts of nitroglycerine would bring a bountiful supply of oil and only moderate water, but the results were directly the opposite. The shot, however, did not injure the well. A meeting of Triangle stockholders will be held next Monday afternoon, and the proposition of further deepening the well will be considered. Deepening the test will be a financial hazard, but the fact that the Triangle has not as yet encountered gas shows some of the load from Bessie's shoulders.
