

MEXICO REJECTS U. S. PROPOSAL

COMMANDER OF AMERICAN LEGION KILLED IN WRECK

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9.—F. W. Galbraith Jr., national commander of the American legion, was killed, and Henry J. Ryan of Indianapolis, national director of the legion's Americanism commission, and Milton J. Foreman of Chicago, national committee chairman of the legion from Illinois, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding over a steep embankment here early this morning.

F. W. GALBRAITH JR.

The three men were returning to the city from the country club in Mr. Ryan's car. The car failed to make a slight turn in the road and ran over the curb, across the sidewalk and turned over several times, landing at the foot of a twenty-foot embankment. All three men were thrown clear of the car as it went down.

Mr. Galbraith suffered a fractured skull in the fall and died on the way to the hospital. Mr. Ryan, who was driving the car, declared he believed a defect in the steering apparatus caused him to lose control of the machine. He and Mr. Foreman were only slightly injured.

Coroner Paul F. Robinson, who made an investigation immediately after the accident, said an examination of the wrecked machine showed a broken connection of the steering wheel.

The three men were driving to the union station here from the country club, according to Mr. Ryan, where Mr. Galbraith was to meet Mr. Foreman and William Q. Settiffe, adjutant of the department of Illinois of the American legion, who were to have a meeting of the national finance committee here, while Mr. Galbraith intended stopping there preliminarily to starting on a speaking tour in behalf of legislation before congress sponsored by the American legion.

Mr. Galbraith was about fifty years old. The accident occurred about 1:30 this morning.

Colonel F. W. Galbraith Jr. was elected national commander of the American legion on September 23 last. During the war he served in command of the First Ohio national guard at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe. Subsequently he was transferred to the 147th infantry and embarked overseas June 1918.

By leading his regiment through the lines of the Germans under fire, he won the title of the fighting colonel of the fighting First.

As head of the American legion he has been active in behalf of the legion in urging legislation favorable to its interests. He has been particularly active in having been marked with several medals for his services in the war and in defense of the legion's plans for the future. He is a civilian life member of the legion and president of the Western Paper Goods company of Cincinnati. He was a republican, but never publicly declared in politics and was never a candidate for public office. In Cincinnati, however, he was active in civic movements for more than twenty years.

At a youth the legion head was a sailor. He once passed the entrance examination at Annapolis, but never enlisted.

ARKANSAS RIVER IS THREATENING TOWN OF GREAT BEND, KAN.

GREAT BEND, KAN., June 9.—The Arkansas river is spreading far beyond its banks here today. Much damage has been done and many families have been compelled to move. Thousands of acres in the lowlands are under water. Tracks in the Santa Fe yards are being washed out. It was reported.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS CONFIDENT NO FURTHER DAMAGE WILL RESULT.

KATY RED RIVER BRIDGE DAMAGED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Denver Bridge Near Chillicothe Has Been Repaired and Traffic Resumed.

Flood waters in all the streams reached the crest during the night Wednesday and Thursday morning a recession of from one to two feet was reported by the train dispatchers.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday night the bridge across Red river on the M. & T. line was damaged when the 45 cars of oil which had been placed on the structure to keep it steady against the rushing waters and pitted-up driftwood were taken off in order to allow trains 3 and 12 to pass. One of the cars was derailed when the bridge slipped and 100 bridge ties were damaged.

Reports from the watchman at the Red river bridge show that from 9 o'clock Wednesday night until 20 o'clock Thursday morning the waters had fallen three feet.

Train No. 4 on the M. & T. leaving Wichita Falls at 7 o'clock in the morning daily is being turned back at Elk City as No. 3 passengers' pouch mail and perishable express is being carried on the train from Elk City to Leedy and return.

It will be at least ten days before the damage to the bridge across the Red river can be repaired. The latest report from that source shows that a total of 80 bents of the large bridge were swept away. Telegraphic communications were being set up at that point. All wires were also carried away at that place.

The bridge on the Denver line near Chillicothe was repaired by Thursday morning and traffic was resumed over that point.

Line of the protectors on the bridge across Wichita river just north of the city was lost during the night but officers who watched the scene Thursday morning expressed the belief that no further damage would be experienced here. Oil cars were stationed on the bridge and the scene Thursday morning in the Wichita began receding at 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Light showers were reported in the vicinity of Munday, Texas, by operators along the line. A very small amount of rain was recorded, however. It was not heavy enough to make any showing in the streams.

The bridge which was placed on all freights north of Amarillo on the Denver was expected to be lifted before the close of the day.

CLARENCE, TEXAS, June 9.—Don't have a crop failure here in thirty years. The past ten days over seven and one-half inches of rain has fallen. Many crops are being ruined. The Colorado to Gulf highway is practically impassable from Clarence to Childress, several of the culverts being washed out, caused from the heavy rains.

POLICE ELECTION IS CALLED FOR JULY 16, BY ORDER OF COURT

DIRECTS IT BE HELD UNDER GENERAL LAW AND PROVISIONS OF CHARTER.

QUESTION RAISED AS TO WHO CAN ENTER RACE

Believed Contest Open to Any Who Can File Petition—No Announcement Yet By Hodgins.

Saturday, July 16 was fixed Thursday afternoon by Judge Ed Napier as the date for the election for police commissioner, and a judgment issued by him directed the city council to order an election for that date.

With the date for the election ordered, the question which has arisen in connection with it still seems to be unanswered. The judgment directs that the election be ordered "in accordance with the general laws of the state of Texas and the charter of said city," which is taken to mean that petitions must be filed by candidates 30 days prior to the election, and that notice must be given in regular sections.

The question of whether the new election is a "free for all" or whether it is limited to those who are citizens of the city is one that is puzzling city officials. The fact that the election is ordered under the charter provision is taken to mean that anyone who can submit a petition with the requisite number of signatures can be a candidate.

George L. Hodgins, the contestant, has not yet announced his candidacy, but is expected to have an announcement shortly. He is expected to be a candidate for the office of police commissioner.

FORMAL SIGNATURE TO TREATY AS CONDITION TO RECOGNITION IMPOSSIBLE DECLARES OREGON

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—Recognition of the independence of Oregon by the United States must precede treaty making between the two nations and although President Obregon is anxious to sign the treaty mentioned in the recent American memorandum, he cannot do so except after recognition of the Mexican government. This statement was printed by all the newspapers of Mexico City this morning, they apparently having derived their information from the same unnamed official source.

MEXICO CITY, June 9.—The formal signature of a treaty between Mexico and the United States as a condition to recognition of the Mexican government by Washington is impossible, said a statement issued at the presidential office today.

The statement says that the treaty mentioned in the recent American memorandum, which was signed by the president of Mexico on May 27, said the presidential statement, "contained two sections, one pertaining to commerce and the other regarding the political relations. The clauses relative to commerce would be acceptable with slight modifications."

In the political phase the American note was objectionable, because it contained stipulations which were contrary to the precepts of the Mexican constitution, and which the president, who must first of all have regard for the constitution, has no power to accept. The constitution in effect prohibits expressly in article 15 the celebrating of conventions or treaties which may alter guarantees of rights established by the constitution.

FRENCH OFFICIALS DECLINE TO COMMENT ON SITUATION

PARIS, June 9.—Official French news today declined to comment on the note of Secretary of State Hughes to President Obregon of Mexico and it was indicated that no comment would be forthcoming unless President Obregon signs the proposed treaty.

HOPE TO FIND COIN FOR DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Hope of finding a course that will lead to normal diplomatic relations between the United States and Mexico is still entertained by administration officials here, it was indicated today. The state department has not been advised officially of the latest statement of President Obregon that the signing of a treaty as a condition to recognition of the Mexican government by the American government was impossible but this attitude of the Mexican president has been known here for some time.

MEANWHILE a new element has been injected into the Mexican situation by the decree issued since the present negotiations began imposing an increase of 20 per cent in the tax on petroleum. Formal protest against this decree was lodged with the state department today by a representative of the oil companies and it was indicated that the new development would be called to the attention of the Mexican authorities without delay.

MARQUIS OKUMA IS JAPAN'S FOREMOST LIVING STATESMAN

PUTS TO NAUGHT ALL THEORIES ABOUT DECREPITUDE OF AGE.

EIGHTY-THREE YEARS OLD AND IS STILL ACTIVE

Keeps Two Secretaries Busy From Early Morning to Late at Night

By CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL, Special Correspondent of the Wichita Daily Times.

TOKIO, June 9.—In prestige and influence the foremost living statesman of Japan is easily the Marquis Okuma, conspicuous in many bygone cabinets and negotiations, though not now holding any public office. He is another of those marquis men who like Clemenceau, Humboldt and John Wesley have put to naught all our theories about the decrepitude of age and that sort of thing. He is 83, with the same keen, restless, full laboring mind he manifested sixty years ago when he first began to be prominent in public life, and except for the accident of no less of physical vigor. Two secretaries he keeps busy from early in the morning to late at night, he is editor of a magazine, chancellor of a great university, attended observer of the world and its ways, in touch with every important development, acquiring knowledge with the avidity of sixteen, storing it in an inflexible memory. Time he seems to defy, he is not at all unlikely to be again the head of the government. Only five years or so have passed since he gave up the steering of things and he has not for a moment lost his grip upon them.

Few men in the world have seen anything like the great human panorama that has unfolded before his eyes. He knew old Japan, the hermit nation, he was a keen-eyed observer of it when Perry came with his ships and gun muzzles and opened doors that had been locked two hundred and fifty years. He saw Perry's fleet, he saw the landing and something of the negotiations. He has seen and has participated in the whole of that most extraordinary achievement, the making of the New Japan. He has held almost every office in the government. He has been minister of foreign affairs in some of its most acute crises; he showed good sense and practical wisdom have found the way out of many a difficulty.

He is a good politician as well as an able statesman, he founded the old progressive party, now the Kokumintei (Nationalist party) and led it to victory. He founded the great Waseda University, whose baseball players are about to visit the United States, and saw it grow from nothing to its place among the standard universities of the world. In the midst of a life of prodigious activities he has found time to be a patron of literature, indolent and an artistic fondness for flowers, and write several books. I spoke a moment ago of his accident. It was of a nature to shatter any man's health and to bring the supremacy of mind over every obstacle. Years ago his friendly attitude toward foreigners aroused a surviving fanatic of the old hermit school, who threw a bomb at him. He escaped with his life but his left leg was so badly shattered it must be amputated.

When I add that although of a family of distinction he began life in obscurity and has won by his own efforts all the honors he has enjoyed, I think we have a man fitted to appeal to the American imagination. I saw him at his home in a suburb of Tokio and talked with him about the stern old man that seems to be gathering between the United States and Japan. He is of that famous group called the Elder Statesmen, to the American mind mysterious if not weird. These, by common report, brood behind the last shadowy arcana of the throne of things, move in dead secret their wondrous to perform, and manipulate to their own irresponsible will the great deal of fate about this childish conception, but there is no doubt that in time past men of this class have been respected and powerful counsellors to the government. To be true to form I should have seen an old man with shifty eyes, the furtive manner of a conspirator and a masterly trick of concealing his thoughts. Instead, here came into the room, a frank, unpretending man of the world, apparently of middle age, who talked readily and candidly and had the most charming simplicity and directness of manner. Nearly all public men will show at least some indication of self-consciousness, but this one, member of a self-conscious nation, had none.

I suggested that in view of his unequalled experience in the public affairs of his country and his close knowledge of its thought and genius a statement from him about Japanese-American relations would be a good thing. He assented warmly. He said: "In the first place the relations between Japan and the United States should be confined strictly to the attention of these two nations. Absolutely no power should be used upon them, openly, by suggestion, influence or otherwise."

I said that by all accounts the peace-loving Japanese are in the situation, with the apparent idea of fostering ill-will between Japan and the United States. He said: "Left to themselves, there can be no chance that the friendship between these countries will go so many years and so ill founded, can be disturbed. They will always find a basis, acceptable to each, on which they can proceed."

I suggested that the only difficulty about that was the danger of misrepresentation to which the nations were exposed, particularly in delicate moments. He thought Japan's attitude about China was little understood in America and probably nothing else gave so great a chance for trouble, because the current American idea was that Japan was fundamentally and hopelessly wrong in China and while superficial differences might be adjusted we could never adjust a difference based on a profound difference in moral convictions. He said: "It is necessary only to state the facts. Japan has made no movement in China that threatens or interferes with China's national integrity or impairs its right. Commercial relations had drifted into a condition where Japan's economic life and welfare demanded that they should be clarified. That was the whole extent of Japan's purpose and thought."

I said Japan was usually represented as aiming to get territory at China's expense and this belief had prejudiced Americans against Japan. He said: "Those who make such statements are ill-informed or have some reason to try to present the truth. In view of the existing conditions we could not have followed any other course. It was really forced upon Japan, but it was never in any particular unjust, unfair, aggressive or hostile to China or to the interests of any other nation. Japan's policy suggested there was some danger that in the American mind the constant picturing of Japan as playing a secretly aggressive, greedy and selfish game had got on a grandstand would end by establishing that conception of her and everything Japan might do then would be interpreted according to this notion. I said that in former years I had traveled much in Japan and had never found anything in the essential spirit of the people to justify this notion but if it were unfounded something should be done to correct it. He said that lack of acquaintance was at the bottom of most discordant conditions, things and people seemed very different when we came to know them.

"But a grave misunderstanding with the United States is impossible," he said, "our commercial relations are too intimate, for one thing. There is no point where the interests of Japan and the interests of the United States come really into conflict. They may be for a time misrepresented as so conflicting, but in the end the truth prevails and genuine friendships are not to be disturbed by obviously false reports." He spoke next about Shanghai and gave of the Japanese occupation the same count that Viscount Kaneko had given the day before. It is evident the Japanese feel their side in this controversy has never had just attention and are hurt by the idea that they are playing tricks about it.

"We have tried to negotiate with China for its return," he said, "but China will not negotiate. We can hardly force her to talk if she prefers not to." In regard to America, he said, as I was going away: "We have only good will toward the United States. I am sure the United States has only good will toward us. A little patience, a little mutual understanding will clear away any difficulties."

FIVE THOUSAND OF POLISH INSURGENTS HAVE BEEN ROUTED

ARE DRIVEN OUT OF CITY OF ROSENBERG BY THE BRITISH FORCES.

BRITISH ARE EXPECTED TO MAKE FURTHER ADVANCES

Not a Shot Was Fired in Taking Possession of the City—"Tomnies" Got Out.

By Associated Press.

OPPEL, June 9.—Five thousand Polish insurgents have been driven out of the city of Rosenberg, northeast of the city of Poznan, and last night the Poles were reported to be retreating in a southerly direction. At that time many had passed the city of Lublinitz about ten miles from Rosenberg. The Poles made a show of resistance, the British troops and some shot in taking possession of Rosenberg. When the British marched into the city they found a Polish command of 200 men. The commander was directed to leave the city within an hour. The British advance into Rosenberg was so rapid that the Poles made virtually no attempt to carry out their threat and burn and plunder. The Poles were said to be several miles distant and still fleeing.

PRESENTS THE ESCUES OF THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT

PARIS, June 9.—Dr. Mayer, the German ambassador here, called at the foreign office this morning and presented the excuses of the German government for an attack on the French troops in Silesia yesterday by the forces of General Von Hofer, head of the German defense forces in the district. Dr. Mayer said the attack was an error, the French having been mistaken for Polish insurgents.

GERMANS TO REFRAIN FROM ANY FORWARD MOVEMENT

BERLIN, June 9.—The British commander in Upper Silesia had reached a definite understanding with General Von Hofer, head of the German defense forces, that he will refrain from any forward movement. This assurance was the outcome of recent Anglo-French representations to the German authorities. General Von Hofer has issued a remarkable communique with reference to a collision with the French forces at Kalouov, after justifying the advance of his outposts to Rosinaw, as due to the aggressiveness of the Poles, he states that considerable firing occurred at Rosinaw between the Germans and French troops and some Frenchmen. Two of them, wounded, were brought back as prisoners. The communique concluded: "The French ought to apologize for this incident."

VESSEL HITS AN ICEBERG BUT CREW NOT IN DANGER

NEW YORK, June 9.—The captain of the freight steamer Charlot, which struck an iceberg last night, reported by wireless to the Kerr Steamship line today that although his craft was leaking, the pumps were working well and he expected to reach St. Johns, N. F., safely. The Charlot, a vessel of 3,548 gross tons, is owned by the United States shipping board and operated by the Kerr Steamship line. She sailed from Philadelphia May 26 and was en route to St. Johns for engine repairs. She carried a crew of 35 men and general cargo.

AMERICAN FREIGHT STEAMER CHARLOT STRIKES ICEBERG

HALIFAX, N. S., June 9.—The American freight steamer Charlot, from Philadelphia for London and Hamburg via St. Johns, struck an iceberg about 200 miles off the New Foundland coast last night, according to a radio message received here today. Her bow was stove in and the steamship Columbia is proceeding to her assistance.

PRESIDENT OF THE TEXTILE WORKERS OF AMERICA DEAD

FALL RIVER, MASS. June 9.—Word was received here today of the death at Brooklyn this morning of John Golden, general president of the United Textile Workers of America. Burial will be in this city, where he has made his home for many years.

John Golden was to the textile union labor movement of America what John Mitchell was to the mine workers—a leader who worked his way from the bottom of the scale to the top. In 1902, when he was only a boy, he began work in the cotton mills. Blacklisted, he said, because of his activity in the Mule Spinners' union, he came to the United States in 1914 and located at Fall River, Mass., where he obtained employment at his trade. It was in 1902 when Golden was treasurer of the National Mule Spinners' organization of the United States and Canada, that the convention of the United Textile Workers in session at Lowell, Mass., elected him president to succeed James Kasey and each year, for 19 successive years.

Golden has been returned as head of the union labor body with its 175,000 to 200,000 members. During the textile strike of 1904 in Fall River, when 25,000 workers were out, Golden made an impassioned speech before the convention of the American Federation of Labor in San Francisco as a result of which, it is recorded, the A. F. of L. for the first time in its history, levied an assessment on all its members for the support of the strike men and women—able operatives of Fall River. This precedent has since been followed by the A. F. of L. in giving financial support to other affiliated striking trades. In 1912 Golden was in charge of the textile strike involving 20,000 workers of Lowell and Lawrence, Mass. Patterson, N. J., and other mill centers. His conservatism was shown it was said, on several occasions when he helped to avert walkouts. During the Manchester, N. H., strike of 1918, he appealed for federal mediation and the result was a compromise which brought all the operatives back to work. Golden was one of the commission members who, led by Samuel Gompers, went to Great Britain and Italy in 1918 and by speech and pen, sought to convince their overseas fellowcraft that the workers of the United States were solidly back of their government and the allies in winning the war. Golden's home was in Fall River. He and his wife, who survives him, have 20 grandchildren.

Chief of Cabinet Of Mexico Is to Spring Something

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—General P. E. Calles, chief of the cabinet and secretary of the interior, whose protracted absence from Mexico City has given rise to many rumors of his defection from President Obregon arrived here today on a special train from Sonora.

He declined to make any statement but told newspaper correspondents he would shortly make some announcements in connection with the "canards" which his political enemies have been spreading."

WANT FRENCH EXEMPT FROM BRITISH DECREE

PARIS, June 9.—The government has requested Great Britain to exempt French property owners from the decree which declares that the Russian soviet government as the de facto regime is the owner of property taken from private owners and cannot be used by the former owners to recover. The semi-official Temps said today that the French attitude was based partly on opinions recently expressed by Charles E. Hughes, American secretary of state, and upon the opinion of all foreigners who have interests in Russia. It said an adverse reply was expected.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

In a widely discussed recent series it pointed out, with merciful publicity, dangerous evil practices among certain breeders and distributors of pure-breds. Next week in a constructive article, it tells the general farmer how, in spite of these practices, he can profitably stock up with pure-breds NOW.

William Johnson writes the story. For several months he has been traveling all about the country, interviewing leading breeders and livestock farmers and gathering material for a message that will be helpful to everyone who raises animals. His able, concretely suggestive story deserves your attention.

In the same way other investigators are continually searching out the practices that pay in every other branch of farming. Each week their stories help 800,000 readers. What pure-breds are to farm livestock THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is to farm literature—the best, the safest, the most profitable!

TOOTS AND CASPER

The Adventure of the Missing Three-Quarter

By CONAN DOYLE. Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far: Cyril Overton, Trinity College, Cambridge, asks Holmes to help him find Godfrey Staunton, a crack three-quarter of the University Rugby team of which Overton is skipper.

It was already dark when we reached the old university city. Holmes took a cab at the station and ordered the man to drive to the house of Dr. Leslie Armstrong.

It argues the degree in which I had touched with my profession that the name of Leslie Armstrong was unknown to me. Now I am aware that it is not only one of the heads of the medical school of the university, but a thinker of European reputation in more than one branch of science.

"I have heard your name, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, and I am aware of your profession—one of which I by no means approve."

"In that, doctor, you will find yourself in agreement with every criminal in the country," said my friend, quietly.

"So far as your efforts are directed toward the suppression of crime, sir, they must have the support of every reasonable member of the community, though I cannot doubt that the official machinery is amply sufficient for the purpose."

"What about him?" "You know him, do you not?" "He is an intimate friend of mine."

"No, I have not." "Was Mr. Staunton a healthy man?" "Absolutely." "Did you ever know him ill?" "Never."

BOY SCOUT'S CAMP TO END WEDNESDAY, HAVING GREAT TIME

Special to The Times via a... CACHE, OKLA., June 9.—A heavy downpour of rain and quite a few cases of home sickness have failed to dampen the enthusiasm of 75 Wichita Falls Boy Scouts who are encamped in the Wichita mountain reserve and who have thus far been having the time of their lives. Showers have fallen practically every day this week, but between storms plenty of exercise, swimming and mountain climbing has been enjoyed and no special discomforts have been experienced because of the weather.

The three-day hike to the headquarters of Frank Rugh, forest and game warden, was postponed last week when inclement weather made it impossible, but the trip will be made the latter part of this week, weather permitting. A trip through the deer, elk and bison country and several lectures from Mr. Rugh on the habits of these animals will feature the trip.

Half a dozen boys have returned to the city since camp was made last week, two or three because of sickness and the others for various reasons. Mike Caswell was the latest to join the convalescent list, he having been forced to return Thursday because of a severe attack of indigestion.

Troop plans call for the breaking of camp next Wednesday, which means that the scouts will return to the city late Wednesday afternoon or Thursday morning.

THE OUTTA-LUCK CLUB

FLORAL METHODISTS EXCEED THEIR QUOTA ON EDUCATIONAL FUND

Subscribing $11,250 on a quota of $11,200 for the educational movement in the Southern Methodist church, the new Floral Heights Methodist church of this city has made another record. This is a notable achievement, taking into consideration that the building enterprise has required very large gifts from this congregation, which is only 18 months old.

Rev. W. L. Tuttle, pastor of the church, is especially pleased with the very fine spirit which prevails in his membership. He realized that it would be a difficult matter to "put over" the quota under the circumstances, but after preaching two special sermons on the subject, he organized his forces and obtained the above result in just a few days' work in a private way.

Mr. Tuttle is expecting a "record breaking" attendance in his Sunday school next Sunday. A number of large organized classes and departments in the Sunday school are active in enlisting new members and insisting upon full attendance upon the part of all of the present members.

ORDER INVESTIGATION OF AGENCIES DEALING WITH EX-SERVICE MEN

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Investigation of all government agencies dealing with former service men was ordered by the senate today in adopting a resolution by Senator Walsh, democratic, Massachusetts, creating a select committee to conduct the inquiry. The vote was unanimous.

Conditions as to action on former service men's claims were a "canard," Senator Walsh declared, and "causing serious discontent in every American legion post in the country."

Under the Walsh resolution, Vice President Coolidge will appoint five senators, three republicans and two democrats, to investigate the war risk insurance bureau, the public health service and all other federal agencies having contact with former service men.

In the house Representative Robertson, republican, Oklahoma, for more hospital facilities in her state for former service men.

"It seems to be the tendency to give everything to Texas," she told the house.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION POSTPONES ACTION ON ALCOHOL RESOLUTION

BOSTON, June 9.—The house of delegates of the American medical association put over today for another year action on a resolution to reaffirm its attitude expressed in 1917, that there is no scientific basis for the use of alcohol as a food and in the treatment of patients. The resolution, introduced by Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was referred to a committee.

The action was taken after debate and was decided by the vote of Dr. D. H. Murray of Syracuse, N. Y., speaker of the house, which broke a tie. The resolution as proposed would have reiterated the judgment of the association that the "use of alcohol as a beverage is detrimental to human economy."

DRESS

By ANNE RITTENHOUSE

There Are New Gowns That Resemble Fancy Dress Costumes Which Cause a Certain Surprise Among Quiet and Conservative Women, But There Is a Strong Belief That the Style Will Win Out During the Summer Season.

THE public has become so entirely accustomed to seeing period gowns in the long procession of pageants given for war purposes that it is unconsciously trained to a knowledge and appreciation of the history of dress. When they see some woman appearing in public wearing clothes that are not according to conventional standards they assume, with a shock of surprise, that the wearer has forgotten to remove her costume since she left the pageant.

The woman has not forgotten, however, that she wears this picture costume. She is merely dressed in a modern costume even though it is conspicuous. She might answer to the public what Mrs. Sinclair Lewis, the wife of the man who wrote "Main Street," has written of her hostess at a recent party in Washington. Mrs. Lewis wore an evening gown of 1880, made of point d'esprit with a full, hooped skirt and a tight bodice. Her hair was rolled in a knot at the nape of her neck, fastened with a diamond tiara.

Her hostess said: "Mrs. Main Street, are you today's copy of Vogue?"

"No," answered Mrs. Lewis, "I am tomorrow's copy."

So the woman of today in her period gown is really the woman of tomorrow. What she wears she all may wear by the time July sets in. France and America have the same aim, which is to make the full skirt, the tight bodice, the low collar and the bonnet a part of fashionable apparel.

The stage has tried it and the public has decided that such skirts as the stage presents are not suitable for the motor car, the trolley, the crowded shop, but fashion has a way of shocking the public, then placating it. It is doing that now.

It has brought back the picture gown in an exaggerated form, or rather in its original form, which is too exaggerated for our modern activities, but it will smooth out the eccentricity later and leave the new fashion strongly entrenched.

There does not seem to be a much change in the full skirt as to a tight bodice. The flapper figure wears whatever is thrown upon the sands of fashion; jettam and fottam are alike to it. But there are other women besides flappers in the world. They must be clothed. Discrimination in their wardrobe, economy and judgment are necessities. It is these women who must study fashions carefully. If they cannot wear the tight bodice it may go by the board.

Every woman knows that there comes a time when the top ridge of her corsets protrude through a bodice without fullness. The tight bodice which is flattened across the figure was created at the source to go over the high corset that mounted to the bust. The problem today is how to fit the new garment to the new corset. Youth and adolescence can do it. What women with other qualities can do depends on the ingenuity of the dressmaker.

The sketch shows a frock worn by a young married woman at a wedding party. The bodice is of pink crepe de chine with elongated sides and the skirt of white organdy stitched with pink. The bonnet is of organdy lined with the crepe.

Picture frock which is now accepted as modern fashion. The bodice is made of pink crepe de chine, the skirt of white organdy with pink stitching. Hat of white organdy stitched in pink and lined with crepe.

An O. HENRY Story

THE SLEUTHS

By O. HENRY

IN The Big City a man will disappear with the suddenness and completeness of the flame of a candle that is blown out. All the agencies of inquisition—the hounds of the trail, the sleuths of the labyrinth, the closet detectives of theory and induction—will be invoked to the search. Most often the man's face will be seen no more. Sometimes he will reappear in Sheboygan, as in the middle of Tennessee, calling himself one of the synonyms of "Smith," and without memory of events up to a certain time, including his grocery bill. Sometimes it will be found, after dragging the rivers, and polling the restaurants to see if he may be waiting for a well-dressed airman, that he has moved next door.

This snuffing out of a human being like the creature of a chalk man from the blackboard is one of the most impressive themes in dramatic life.

The case of Mary Snyder, in point, should not be without interest. A man of middle age, of the name of Meeks, came from the West to New York to find his sister, Mrs. Snyder. A widow, she had two children, who had been living for a year in a tenement house in a crowded neighborhood.

At her address he was told that Mrs. Snyder had moved away longer than a month before. No one could tell him her new address. At police headquarters Meeks was given a photograph of Mrs. Snyder and a photograph of Mary Snyder, that her brother had been distributed among the stations. In Mulberry Street the Chief assigned Detective Mullins to the case.

The detective took Meeks aside and said: "This is not a very difficult case to unravel. Shave off your whiskers, fill your pockets with gold cigars, and meet me in the cafe of the Waldorf at three o'clock this afternoon."

Meeks did himself of the city detective at once. On the next day someone advised him to consult Shamrock Jones, New York's famous private detective, who demanded fabulous fees but performed miracles in the way of solving mysteries and crimes.

After waiting for two hours in the anteroom of the detective's great apartment, Meeks was shown into his presence. Jones sat in a purple dressing-gown at an inlaid ivory chess table, with a magazine before him, reading "The Mystery." The famous sleuth's thin, intellectual face, piercing eyes, and part of word, are too well known to need description. Meeks set forth his errand. "My fee, if successful, will be $500," said Shamrock Jones.

Meeks bowed his agreement to the price. Shamrock Jones and his client went to the tenement house where Mary Snyder had lived, and the detective demanded to be shown the room in which she had lived. It had been occupied by no tenant since her disappearance.

At the end of half an hour Jones had collected a few seemingly unimportant articles—a cheap black hat pin, a piece torn off a theatre program, and the end of a small torn card on which was written "Left." Shamrock Jones leaned against the mantel for ten minutes, with his hand resting upon his hand, and an absorbed look upon his intellectual face. At the end of that time he exclaimed with animation: "Come, Mr. Meeks, the problem is solved. I can take you directly to her present abode."

Meeks felt joy and wonder in equal proportions. "How did you manage it?" he asked, with admiration in his tones. "Perhaps Jones's only weakness was a professional pride in his wonderful achievements in induction. He was ever ready to astound and charm his listeners by describing his methods."

"By elimination," said Jones, spreading his clues upon a little table. "I got rid of certain parts of the city to which Mrs. Snyder might have removed. You see this hatpin? That eliminates Brooklyn. No woman attempts to board a car at the Brooklyn Bridge without being sure that she carries a hatpin with which to fight her way into a seat. And now I will demonstrate to you that she could not have gone to Harlem. Behind this door are two hooks in the wall. Upon one of these Mrs. Snyder has hung her bonnet, and upon the other her shawl. You will observe that the bottom of the hanging shawl has gradually made a soiled streak against the plastered wall. The mark is clean-cut, proving that there is no fringe on the shawl. Now, was there ever a case where a middle-aged woman, wearing a shawl, boarded a Harlem train without there being a fringe on the shawl to catch in the gate and delay the passengers behind her? So we eliminate Harlem."

"Therefore I conclude that Mrs. Snyder has not moved very far away. On this torn piece of card you see the word 'Left,' the letter 'C,' and the number '12.' Now, I happen to know that No. 12 Avenue C is a first-class boarding house, far beyond your sister's means—as I suppose. What meaning does it convey? None to you, very likely,

Mr. Meeks; but it is eloquent to one whose habits and training take cognizance of the smallest things.

"You have told me that your sister was a scrubwoman. She scrubbed the floors and hallways. Let us assume that she produced some work to perform in a theatre. Where a valuable jewelry lost the oftener, Mr. Meeks? In the theatre, of course. Look at that piece of program. Meeks observed the round impression in it. It had been wrapped around a ring—perhaps a ring of great value. Mrs. Snyder found the ring while at work in the theatre. She hastily tore off a piece of a program, wrapped the ring carefully, and thrust it into her bosom. The next day she disposed of it, and with her depressed means, looked out for a more comfortable place in which to live. When I reach as far in the chain, I see nothing impossible about No. 12 Avenue C. It is there we will find your sister, Mr. Meeks."

Shamrock Jones concluded his explanation with the smile of a successful artist. Meeks's admiration was too great for words. Together they went to No. 12 Avenue C. It was an old-fashioned brownstone house in a peopled and respectable neighborhood.

They rang the bell, and on inquiring were told that no Mrs. Snyder was known there, and that not within six months had a new occupant come to the house.

When they reached the sidewalk again, Meeks examined the clues which he had brought away from his sister's old room. "I am no detective," he remarked to Jones as he raised the piece of theatre programme to his nose, "but it is not a very difficult case to unravel. Shave off your whiskers, fill your pockets with gold cigars, and meet me in the cafe of the Waldorf at three o'clock this afternoon."

Meeks bowed his agreement to the price. Shamrock Jones and his client went to the tenement house where Mary Snyder had lived, and the detective demanded to be shown the room in which she had lived. It had been occupied by no tenant since her disappearance.

At the end of half an hour Jones had collected a few seemingly unimportant articles—a cheap black hat pin, a piece torn off a theatre program, and the end of a small torn card on which was written "Left." Shamrock Jones leaned against the mantel for ten minutes, with his hand resting upon his hand, and an absorbed look upon his intellectual face. At the end of that time he exclaimed with animation: "Come, Mr. Meeks, the problem is solved. I can take you directly to her present abode."

Meeks felt joy and wonder in equal proportions. "How did you manage it?" he asked, with admiration in his tones. "Perhaps Jones's only weakness was a professional pride in his wonderful achievements in induction. He was ever ready to astound and charm his listeners by describing his methods."

"By elimination," said Jones, spreading his clues upon a little table. "I got rid of certain parts of the city to which Mrs. Snyder might have removed. You see this hatpin? That eliminates Brooklyn. No woman attempts to board a car at the Brooklyn Bridge without being sure that she carries a hatpin with which to fight her way into a seat. And now I will demonstrate to you that she could not have gone to Harlem. Behind this door are two hooks in the wall. Upon one of these Mrs. Snyder has hung her bonnet, and upon the other her shawl. You will observe that the bottom of the hanging shawl has gradually made a soiled streak against the plastered wall. The mark is clean-cut, proving that there is no fringe on the shawl. Now, was there ever a case where a middle-aged woman, wearing a shawl, boarded a Harlem train without there being a fringe on the shawl to catch in the gate and delay the passengers behind her? So we eliminate Harlem."

"Therefore I conclude that Mrs. Snyder has not moved very far away. On this torn piece of card you see the word 'Left,' the letter 'C,' and the number '12.' Now, I happen to know that No. 12 Avenue C is a first-class boarding house, far beyond your sister's means—as I suppose. What meaning does it convey? None to you, very likely,

Mr. Meeks; but it is eloquent to one whose habits and training take cognizance of the smallest things.

"You have told me that your sister was a scrubwoman. She scrubbed the floors and hallways. Let us assume that she produced some work to perform in a theatre. Where a valuable jewelry lost the oftener, Mr. Meeks? In the theatre, of course. Look at that piece of program. Meeks observed the round impression in it. It had been wrapped around a ring—perhaps a ring of great value. Mrs. Snyder found the ring while at work in the theatre. She hastily tore off a piece of a program, wrapped the ring carefully, and thrust it into her bosom. The next day she disposed of it, and with her depressed means, looked out for a more comfortable place in which to live. When I reach as far in the chain, I see nothing impossible about No. 12 Avenue C. It is there we will find your sister, Mr. Meeks."

Lyrics of Life

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

YOU CAN'T GET GLAD ALONE
When times are bad, like some we've had,
Or life is looking blue,
There's one thing then: get glad again!
The dumps will never do,
The more you fret the worse you get;
Cut out the grum and groan
And other woe—remember, though,
You can't get glad alone!
Cheer up a while! Put on a smile!
Get glad and you are fit
For any luck you ever struck—
A grin will give you grit,
But do not hide yourself inside
Some office all your own
And think you can remember, man,
You can't get glad alone!
Come out to lunch and join the bunch
Around the board at noon;
Forget your business whatever it is,
The thing that's out of tune,
Forget your cares, remember there's
No work outside your own,
To give you joy—remember, boy,
You can't get glad alone!

The Housewife's Economy Calendar

PICNICS UP TO DATE.
Automobiles have revolutionized picnics. In the old days, even if you went to your picnic in carriages there was little room for carrying picnic paraphernalia, and of course fewer people had carriages at their disposal than those who now have some sort of automobile to help out with the picnic.
A regular picnic lunch basket is a luxury that not every automobile owner can afford, but it is neither expensive nor difficult to get together a basket or substantial box that will answer the purpose for you. For a trifling amount you can get tin plates and cups and old or discarded spoons, forks and knives may be kept for the picnic box. A substantial basket with a close-fitting cover is a good selection for this.
Vacuum bottles and various sorts of alcohol that can be carried in solid form have helped picnickers greatly to add cheer to their picnics. But the sport of gathering wood and building a fire in the open whereon to make coffee or boil water for tea sometimes impels the picnic devotee to leave such inventions of civilization behind.
Let us suppose you are a millionaire. Plenty of money and a desire to spend it, we will say, for a beautiful home.
Suppose again that the masons and the carpenters and the plasterers and the hundred and one other artisans whose handiwork go into a fine home, refused to accept your money or do your work. How would you get your home?
You might by dint of hard work build yourself a shelter, but it would not be at all what you wanted nor in the least what you could afford.
You see, then, that although you were a millionaire you are dependent for your home comforts upon the willing efforts of others.
Suppose, on the other hand, that you are a poor man, not poverty-stricken, but poor in the sense of modern fortunes.
You have saved a few hundred dollars, bought a bit of ground and wish to build yourself a home.
In order to do it you have to borrow money. Suppose the bank, or the building association, or whatever organization you apply to just plainly and bluntly refuses to loan you a penny.
You find yourself in the same predicament that the millionaire was in. You cannot have the kind of a home you want and can afford. You are

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

By DOROTHY DIX THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

THE Unit of Value
CORRESPONDENT WRITES:
"Do you think a man appreciates his wife more if she was hard to win than he does if she did the wooing?"
Surely. The more difficult a thing is to get, the more we esteem it. It is one of the cardinal principles of human nature that we set little value on things that come to us easily, and it is only that for which we have toiled, and agonized, and striven, that we prize.
It is the peach that hangs highest on the tree that allures us, not the over-ripe one that is ready to drop into our mouth. If diamonds were the same price as soft coal, and we could buy them by the ton, we should never think of setting them in a ring, or adorning our necks with strings of carbon.
People who are born with a full pocketbook in their mouths, so to speak, are nearly always wasters and spenders. They do not know how hard it is to earn a dollar, and so they do not value it. It takes the men and women who have worked, and pinched, and scrimped, who have gone hungry and abashed to rake together, one by one, the pennies in their savings account, to know how to appreciate money.
So it is not surprising that our grandmothers always played coy, and reluctant, and always told the suitor when he proposed that they were so surprised, and had never thought of such a thing. It is also worth bearing in mind that the grandmothers of splinters in those days, and that the tact of our ancestors in handling men have never been improved upon.
And just as the man is most anxious to marry the woman who is least anxious to marry him, so is the man most anxious to please the wife who takes the least trouble to please him. Of course, men will rise with one voice and denounce this statement, but every woman knows that it is true.
Theoretically, the most cherished wife should be the woman who works her fingers to the bone to make her husband comfortable; who is meek, and patient, and forbearing, and thrifty, and saving, and who spends her days in adoration of the god-like creature to whom she is united in the holy bonds of matrimony.
Practically nobody ever saw a woman who was a meek, patient, and forbearing, and thrifty, and saving, and who spends her days in adoration of the god-like creature to whom she is united in the holy bonds of matrimony.
The French have a proverb that says that a woman who is kind and permits herself to be kissed, if a woman desires to be the kisser, she must never be the kisser.

And just as the man is most anxious to marry the woman who is least anxious to marry him, so is the man most anxious to please the wife who takes the least trouble to please him. Of course, men will rise with one voice and denounce this statement, but every woman knows that it is true.

Something to Think About

We Depend On Each Other
By F. A. WALKER

EVERY morning when you eat your breakfast, you are sitting in part, the labor of hundreds of men and women. The clothes you wear, the shoes you walk in, the hat that shelters your head, all the necessities to say nothing of the luxuries you enjoy are the fruit of your dependence upon other people.
If you could analyze your needs for one day and count the number of things that labored to satisfy them with either toil or money, you would find the scores and scores of people had been indirectly in your employ and working in your behalf.
And, on the other hand, you have the satisfaction of knowing if you do an honest day's work that you have labored to help scores of others.
It is the lack of recognition given to the fact that we are all dependent upon each other that leads to our greatest troubles. It is that that pits capital against labor and labor against capital. It is that that causes the war between classes and the wars between nations.
If you fully recognized your indebtedness to your fellow man you would want to help him because by doing so you would be indirectly helping yourself.
If everybody in the world set out to gouge and cheat everybody else in the world it would be only a short time before there would be utter chaos, commercially, and morally.
It is because only a comparative few try at one time to get all they can regardless of the methods or results that keeps the world on an even keel and society from toppling to destruction.
The more we recognize that we must rely and depend upon each other, the higher consideration we have for the good of the world as a whole and the more nearly we come to being truly civilized.
God in His wisdom made no one absolute.
The only such power that has ever been bestowed has been placed and recognized by subjects who thought they needed to be ruled, which was a conclusion not very complimentary to themselves.
It is really worth while for you to think for a few minutes on what an inefficient and incompetent being you are when you divorce yourself from all outside aid. It will help you to be meek and in the greatest sermon ever preached it was said, "Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth."

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS, WHAT THEY MEAN

DID YOU DREAM OF SPARROWS?
THE majority of the mystic interpreters say that a dream in which only one sparrow appears means profits coming to the dreamer. Many sparrows in a dream prognosticate a journey soon to be undertaken. Some of the interpreters see in a dream of sparrows an omen of success for those engaged in speculative enterprises and good luck in games of chance. But some of them insist that the dream must be of having a sparrow in one's sleeping-in a cage or held in the hand—to insure success in risky ventures. They do not agree with those who hold that it is sufficient simply to dream of seeing a sparrow.
A business man who dreams of a sparrow may expect to have a good year in his business and to see at the end of it a large sum on the profit side of his ledger. A few of the mystics think that a young, unmarried person of either sex who dreams of a sparrow, or of many sparrows, will marry with a wealthy life-partner, while others, admitting that a dream of sparrows is a good, augury for wealth, or at least for a comfortable fortune, say that the money coming to the dreamer will be acquired by trade or labor and will not come by marriage or inheritance. Others, who depend on the principal point, which is that the money will come somehow, a few mystics think that a dream of sparrows indicates that your neighbors are envying you and begrudging you your success.

Costly Errors Enable Exporters To Vanquish The Spudders 10 To 6

By PAUL W. LARKIN

The stage was charmingly set at Athletic park yesterday afternoon for the rendition of that fine young American drama, "The Extinction of the Exporters." The day fairly glowed in its eagerness to prove that it didn't belong in the same set with the recent samples served us by the weather man.

The unfortunate truth is that the promoters were not able to stage the drama as planned. At the last moment they had to substitute for it a pathetic little piece called "The Obliteration of the Salmities," and the crowd really didn't care for the play, although it had its moments.

The chief culprits of the matinee were Ted McDonald and Danny Gross. They seem to work and mope the afternoon for the gathering just to bring a smile to that rather battered face of Pat Newnam.

Meine was the hurler delegated by Newnam to conquer the home boys, but the conquering wasn't good as far as the game was concerned. He was hoisted from the box in the third inning after the hosts had carved him for five hits, including a circuit smash over the right field fence.

NET ENTHUSIASTS PRACTICING DAILY ON LOCAL COURTS

Local net enthusiasts are losing no time in getting in trim for the coming tennis championships which will be started June 20. Several pairs have already hooked up and are practicing daily and according to present indications it will be a "brotherly" sort of affair, no less than three sets of brothers having handed in their entries to Secretary M. A. Ellis.

Others who will team up in an effort to win the title are Ridley Maples and Paul Hines, high school stars, and Ed Bebb and M. A. Ellis. Charlie Gallenpapp, H. D. Lewis, T. C. Donnelly, J. P. Coleman, R. R. Fisk, Alvin Dubois, Byron Trothor, P. H. McQuinn and J. H. Smith are other entrants who have not yet paired up.

Mr. Ellis expects to have several more entries before the time limit expires, June 17, as many players are on the courts daily who have not yet handed in their names.

It is the intention of the Tennis association to hold a singles tournament shortly after the doubles and a mixed doubles tourney will also be held in the near future.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cards 4, Habana 2. ST. LOUIS, June 8.—St. Louis scored four runs in the first inning to Brooklyn's two today, and both Pfeffer and Knickerbocker pitched shutout ball thereafter.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Philadelphia concentrated its attack in the first and fifth innings while York was on the mound and again in the ninth with Vaughn pitching, and defeated Chicago, 11 to 8, today. Casey was hit freely and was replaced by Betts in the ninth.

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—Pittsburgh defeated Boston today, 16 to 4, after staging a terrific batting session against four visiting pitchers.

BIG BASEBALL TRADE REPORTED UNDER WAY INVOLVING RAPP, GROH AND STOCK

CHICAGO, June 8.—A three-way trade which would send to the St. Louis Nationals Goldie Rapp, the sensational New York outfielder discarded by Cincinnati and later purchased by the Giants for $15,000, is reported to be under way.

Scott Perry, Philadelphia American pitcher, who jumped to a semi-professional league, and Edgie Murphy, released by the Chicago Americans to Cleveland, also are said to figure in prospective trades.

FITZSIMMONS HELD CROWN TWO YEARS LONGHORN COACHING STAFF IS UNCHANGED

AUSTIN, June 9.—The University of Texas athletic coaching staff for 1921-1922 will be the same as the 1920-1921 staff, according to the announcement recently of the athletic council.

Theo Belmont, athletic director, retains his position and will also coach the basketball team. Berry Whitaker, the football manager, for last year, will again be head coach of the varsity squad.

W. J. (Billy) Ditch will have charge of the baseball team for his 12th consecutive year. Wrestling will be coached by Roy McLean and Coach Whitaker will supervise intramural athletics.

Only a little more than two years were given Bob Fitzsimmons in which to enjoy the glamour and the gold that accompany a heavyweight championship.

Jeffries had graduated from a boiler making establishment into the roped square in the tenth round. Jeffries' right and left fists that were made in California, and was expected to sail into the champion with the best and abandon them considered universal tribute of warriors.

The first of these titanic wallows was uncoiled by the Californian in the second round. It landed on Fitzsimmons' head and left the champion in a daze. He was up and doing in a jiffy, however, and continued his whirlwind attack.

Fitzsimmons became weary from his incessant, though ineffective efforts, against the champion's fists that were made in California, and was expected to sail into the champion with the best and abandon them considered universal tribute of warriors.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Chicago took a ten-inning game from Philadelphia today, 9 to 7, in the first of the short-hornered "Inlighting" series. Three hundred singles by Mulligan, Faber and Collins with Frank Walker's error, gave the White Sox two runs and victory in the tenth.

NEW YORK, June 8.—New York re-joined Cleveland in a half game by winning a tumultuous contest from the world's champions, 4 to 3. The finish was played under protest by Cleveland after Baker singled in the ninth. Manager Speaker claimed he swung at the pitch previously for his third strike, but Umpire Wilson called it a ball.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Washington took the second game of the series from Detroit today, 6 to 2. Mogridge kept the hits scattered and received good support.

BOSTON, June 8.—Louis made two runs in the ninth inning on singles by Ellerbe, Pat Collins and Lee and a double by Fletcher Bayne, defeating Boston, 2 to 1. Until the ninth Jones held St. Louis to two hits.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright 1920 New York Tribune Inc.)

PARIS, FRANCE, June 7. If you care to start another international war in an individual way, this peppery commonwealth you can do so by a simple system that will take about twelve seconds—namely, suggest that Dempsey is going to stop Carpenter abruptly on July 2 when they display $500,000 worth of their expensive pugilistic wares.

You have heard of public idols in sport before, but nothing to touch the idolatry in which one Georges Carpentier is held by his favorite nation. He comes very close to filling up the gap left by the departure of another fighter known as Napoleon Bonaparte and the white Dempsey he will get a statue in some public place that will rival any of Napoleon's bronze remembrances.

Here we have a nation that for years liked sport but could never get far into its triumphant batten—a flame-hearted nation waiting to cheer some hero worth the cheering. And then Carpenter arrives—fine looking, clean living, quick thinking, a combination of brawn and brain, wounded in the war with a record of a first-class fighting aviator. The war is over. France turns to sport ever be the same again. He is matched with Joe Beckett, the English champion, and they recall through the years how far above them England has stood in sport and how through the years they have been outclassed. For it is just as well to remember that the rivalry between England and France is still quite keen. And then the great Carpenter proves that even a four-year war couldn't wreck his destiny by knocking out the English champion with a punch.

So Carpenter to all France is "The man of destiny," merely waiting his chance to take one more step that will carry him to the infatigable pugilistic heights. And lofty pugilistic heights mean more here in France and England than they do back home. We have had too many pugilistic champions to bother much with them. In France and England the English champion is to a certain extent social lions. They take their leading pugilists, or ours, much more seriously than we take them, but it must be remembered, that after thirty years and that France has never had one in her entire history. So after thirty years and that France has never had one in her entire history. So after thirty years and that France has never had one in her entire history.

A number of French experts have tried to tell us just why they expect Carpenter to win, but they always lost as at the first-throw-jump of Carpenter can hit as swiftly as an excited Frenchman can talk he will soak Dempsey fourteen times in the first half second. But you don't have to get their ultimate language. When you mention Carpenter's burning glow that leaps into his eyes is answer enough as to how they all feel about the English champion. And who, if Carpenter should win, could withhold hearty congratulations for his first heavyweight championship in twenty centuries?

Eliminate those two boots by Danny Gross and Ted McDonald and the score would have read 6 to 5, with the Spudders on the long end. Neither of the muffs was excusable. Kitchens' peg was a vicious one, but only a Carpentier Demaggio coming into the base and the throw was perfect. Gross made his with a double play in sight. Bowman's throw was not the best in the world, but Danny should have had it. It went through his hands, not over them. A mere matter of five talles followed the errors.

It wasn't the Spudders day to win, anyway. If they win five more before dropping out, there will be no complaint. They dropped it to a good club. We know of no club to whom victory would have been sweeter than the Exporters, or, better, than the Exporters. They were so tickled that they couldn't contain themselves after the game. Look out, for 'em from now on.

Umpire Schaeffer missed one by a wide margin on Bob Becher in the opening round when he called him out at second. Meine never took his foot off the rubber before throwing to second and it was a palpable balk. Bob cavorts around those sacks for the sole purpose of getting the umpire to make a balk or throw wild, but what's the use if the umpire misses them? Meine's throw had Bob off; the bag almost hit him, but he was so sure he properly there would have been a different story.

We hope Salm's new hurler, Hicks, will prove to be worth keeping. Walter is in a bad way for airtight hurling. Bowman had one of his off days yesterday, still Salm could not afford to send another in to relieve him. He hasn't got enough winners to work two men in the box in one day. Give one more winning heavier and there'd be nothing to it.

While Jacobus was nicked for a couple of tallies, he was inclined to resent and prevent any little familiarity, and the local men never had a chance to get real cozy and friendly with him. He kept the Exporters at arm's length almost all the way.

The game was replete with long distance hits as games usually are nowadays. These hits turned the lead from one club to the other and kept the customers in a continual state of uproar. When Danny Clark slapped the sphere for a ride, he ended over in the Exporters' park, it seemed to sport victory. Unfortunately, the Exporters held no such view.

Had it not been for stellar fielding by the guardians of the pastures there would have been several other extra base clouds. Cedric Durst in center for the Exporters had an exceptionally busy day.

DEMPSEY'S SPARRING PARTNERS MUST WEAR HEADGEARS IN FUTURE

Champion Will Take no Chance on Having Gash Over Eye Re-Opened.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 8.—Sparring partners in Jack Dempsey's training camp will be compelled to wear headgears when boxing is resumed to lessen the danger of reopening the wound over the champion's left eye, which was split last Sunday when Larry Williams butted him trying to evade a punch. Since then Dempsey has done no work with the gloves.

Jack Kearns, manager of the titleholder, said today that Dempsey would resume boxing on Saturday provided the wound continues to heal rapidly. New skin has formed over the gash and the stitches taken in it have been removed. Dempsey wears no dressing over the injury. He spends a great deal of time exposing it to the sun to hasten its healing. "I could resume boxing now," Dempsey said today, "as the wound is not causing me any pain, but there is no use taking any chances until it is thoroughly healed. It would be a great mistake for Dempsey to start at it if I am forced to go into the fight with my eye in a tender condition. I don't want that happen. I might be blinded by the flow of blood."

SPORT BRIEFS

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 9.—Johnny Buff, American flyweight boxing champion, and Harry Mansell of England will meet in a 12-round decision bout here tonight.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Ineffective pitching, due to the elimination of freak deliveries, is responsible for excessively long hits, according to Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland club. "The every ball, the shine ball and the other extremes to which pitchers resorted for many years, kept down the batting," Speaker asserted. "The public seems to like the heavy hitting."

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 9.—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus flyweight, has been matched for a 10-round bout with Joe Dillon of New York, to be staged in New York June 21. It was announced here today.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Jack Torporer, the bespectacled utility second baseman of the St. Louis Nationals, has been released to the Syracuse, N. Y., club of the International league. It was announced today. Torporer is subject to recall on one day's notice and was sent to strengthen the Syracuse team, said to have been weakened through injuries.

COLUMBIA, MO., June 9.—Brutus Hamilton, American pentathlon and decathlon champion, will be the only athlete from the University of Missouri to compete in the national intercollegiate track and field meet to be held in Chicago, June 19. Coach Bob Simpson announced today.

ST. THOMAS, ONT., June 9.—Sam Satchell, 18-year-old, is a yearling. He won his first race a week ago, defeating three ordinary horses, and on Saturday he defeated a slightly stronger field.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Playfellow, full brother of the noted thoroughbred, Man o' War, was a comparatively obscure horse until today, when his owner, J. F. Johnson, announced that he had decided an offer of $100,000 for him. The thoroughbred, once valued a false alarm, is a year younger than his famous brother and was bought for $100,000 as a yearling. Playfellow won his first race a week ago, defeating three ordinary horses, and on Saturday he defeated a slightly stronger field.

GERSH AND SMITH WANTED TO SCRAP IN VERNON JULY 4

VERNON, TEXAS, June 9.—A boxing card for Vernon on the afternoon of July 4 is the program of the local athletic club. The organization plans to stage fistic and wrestling encounters at the fair grounds and will advertise the event widely throughout this section. Arrangements are under way to obtain as principals for the day Joe Smith of Denver and Martin Gersh of Wichita Falls, light heavyweights. Preliminaries will be staged by club members and a few outsiders. The boxing program is being arranged in order to provide the athletic club with funds for new equipment.

LITTLE DAMAGE RESULTS FROM TWO FIRE ALARMS

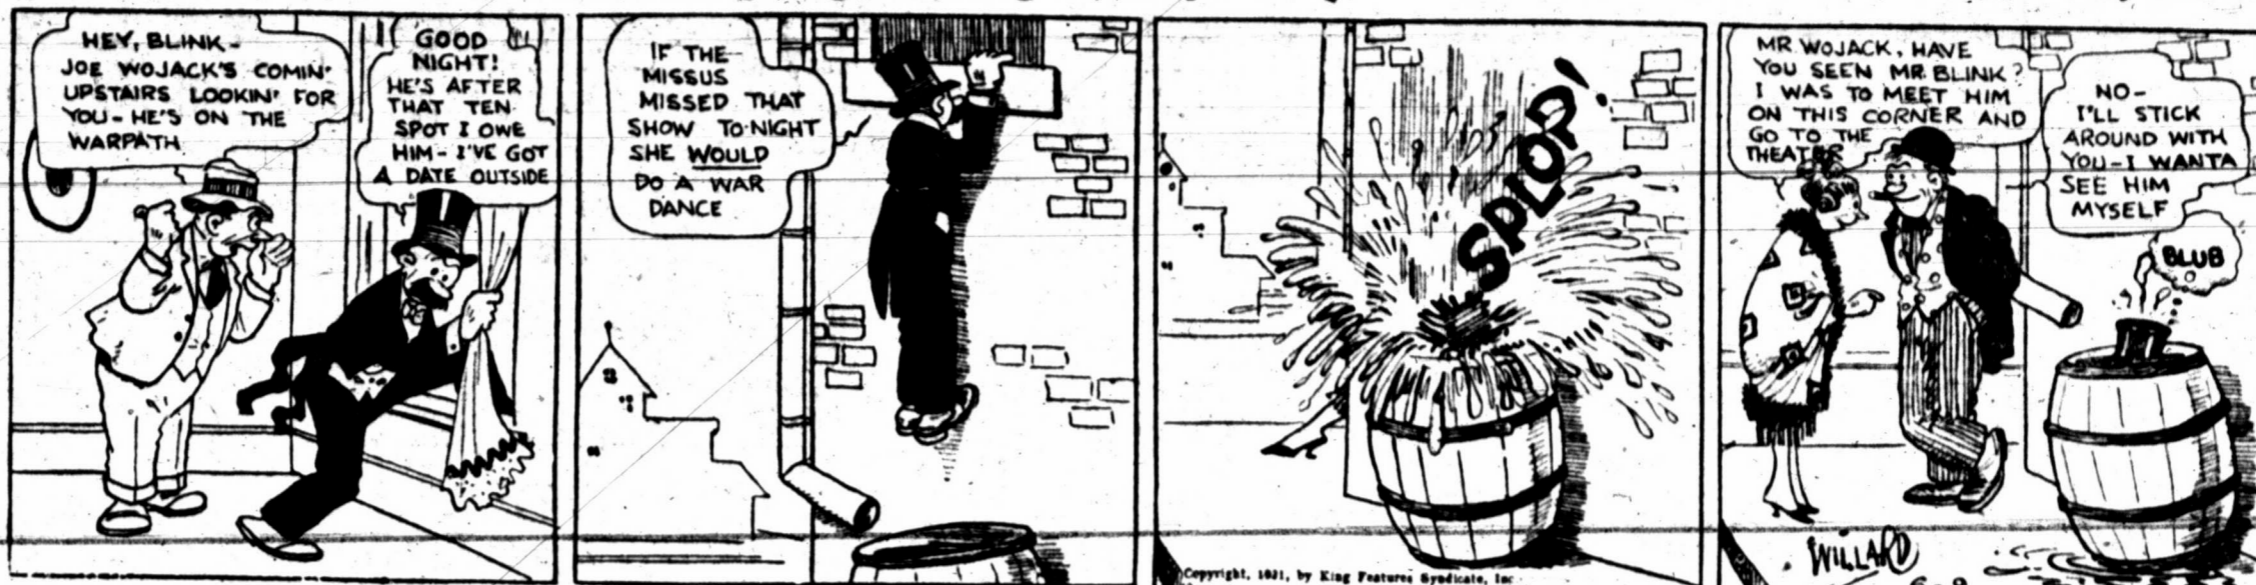

A gas heater explosion at the home of J. B. Donald, 1300 Monroe street, started a small fire at 5:00 o'clock Thursday morning and resulted in a run for the fire department. Little damage was caused by the blaze. A false alarm from the corner of Truthheart and Seventh streets was burned in at 8:20 Wednesday night. Fire apparatus responded to the alarm but could find no fire.

New Strength and Energy For the Weak and Aged

Be strong, vigorous and active. You must have plenty of good, rich blood of the kind that organic iron-nutrated iron helps make. Nuxated iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is from just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Over 4,000,000 people anxiously are using Nuxated iron. It quickly helps make rich red blood, revitalizes worn-out, exhausted nerves and gives new strength and energy. At all drug stores. BELIEVE CARPENTIER IS HOLDING BACK

Challenger Not Displaying all His Tactics in Presence of Fans.

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 9.—Folks hereabouts who would like to give George Carpentier going through his paces during his secret training sessions, but can't, have expressed the opinion that the challenger is fooling the public. They believe he has more speed than he is willing to let the world in general know about and that his somewhat listless performance before newspapermen is only a ruse. While the French champion is not always listless before the critics, he has thus far refused to effectively demonstrate just how he is going to conduct his offensive campaign when he enters the ring with Dempsey. Apparently that is only half the story from all indications Carpentier will continue to let the public wonder just how many tricks he brought in his little bag from Paris.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS HEARD ON IMPROPTU PROGRAM AT ROTARY LUNCH THURSDAY

Thursday's Rotary club luncheon program was largely an impromptu affair, there being no set program for the occasion. E. L. Doheny, assistant superintendent of public instruction and Frank M. Stewart, secretary of the League of Texas Municipalities, spoke briefly. Bertram Jacobs of Wichita Falls and Birmingham, who retains his Rotary membership in the Alabama city, also spoke briefly on Rotary and what it has come to mean in the way of public service. Slim Richardson, who had failed to get up any program for the luncheon, was penalized by being made to sing a brief classical selection.

WHEAT MARKETS SOON TO ADVANCE VIOLENT BREAK IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE AFFECTS STOCKS

WHEAT ADVANCES ON PROSPECTIVE TIE-UP ON RAILROADS JULY 1

CHICAGO, June 9.—Possibility of a tie-up on the railroads on July 1 has had a good deal to do with a rapid advance today in the price of wheat. The market in some cases ran up more than seven cents a bushel for July delivery, which was commanded as high as $1.39 1/2 against $1.32 at yesterday's close.

A big falling off in production of wheat this season is shown by the government crop report that made the trade anxious, and then talk of general strike possibilities sent the market soaring.

Before the rise in values was ended July delivery touched $1.40, an overnight jump of 3/8 cents a bushel. The level thus attained was within 1/2 cent of the topmost point this season.

Buying was chiefly on the part of speculators who previously were on the selling side, believing that the outlook was for lower prices.

Profit-taking by holders led to a reaction at the last July closing at $1.39 1/2 to $1.39.

SUGAR MARKET IS AT LOWEST POINT IN PAST 4 YEARS

NEW YORK, June 9.—A decline on the sugar market on July 9 generally carried prices to the lowest level in more than four years. This new price was established on sales of 6,700 bags of Costa Rican, import duty paid.

Chicago Produce.
Chicago, June 9.—Wheat, easy, receipts 19,034 cases. Poultry, alive, higher, 25c; broilers 38 1/2c.

COTTON MARKET.
NEW YORK, June 9.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1/2 cent on July 9, generally two to 1/2 points lower owing to weakness of foreign exchange, which offset higher stocks and the effect of generally good weather in the south. Active months sold five to 1/2 points below last night's closing after the call Texas spot people were credited with buying on the decline to 13.38 for October, however, and prices steadied on rumors that there had been a

VIOLENT BREAK IN FOREIGN EXCHANGE AFFECTING MARKET

NEW YORK, June 9.—Another violent break in the morning affecting wheat market this morning, affecting severe unsettlement of prices on the stock exchange and the grain and cotton markets.

Wheat, oil six cents to $1.60 for demand bills, the lowest in several months.

Demand bills on Paris at 7 1/2 cents showed an overnight loss of 1/2 point. According to all accounts, London again was the seat of selling pressure. Bankers with European connections continued to distribute the reversal to German reparations payments and the desire of German financial and commercial interests to accumulate large reserves in this country. Others ascribed the reaction to the refusal of American bankers to renew maturing European commercial obligations.

The break in stocks was hastened by reports that the Mexican government purposes a heavy import tax on oil products.

The movement was manifested by the stock market during the day. There was further heavy selling of oil, and the foreign exchange market showed an extreme loss of 2 1/2 points and United States steel dropped to 7 1/2, a loss of 1/2 point. Suspension of the division on International Agricultural preferred, precipitated a decline of 1/2 per cent in that stock, other chemicals and other fertilizers also weakening.

Free offering of all money at six per cent and a slight rally in foreign exchange relieved some of the tension in the stock market later.

Prices of wheat, chiefly steel, oil and kindred issues, recovered one to two points. The closing was heavy with estimated sales of $60,000 shares.

JAMES CALVERT DIES EARLY THIS MORNING AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

James C. Calvert, former advertising manager of the Times and a well known oil man, died at his home at 408 Van Buren street at 4:15 a. m. Thursday. His death resulted from complications resulting from an attack of asthma from which he had been a sufferer for a number of years. His condition had been critical for several days, although there were developments twenty-four hours before his death that made his friends much more hopeful that he would recover. He was unconscious for a number of hours before his death.

Mr. Calvert was 52 years of age. Montreal, Canada, was his birthplace, but early in life he removed to Illinois with his parents. He learned the printer's trade at Rockford, Ill., and was employed by Rockford and Chicago papers for a number of years. For a number of years he had been a member of the Wichita Falls Typographical union.

He mastered the printer's trade but also became an advertising writer and a reporter and developed executive ability. He brought his family to this city in 1907, where he was living for a while at Houston and later at San Antonio from which place he came to Wichita Falls about five years ago. His first employment here was on the Wichita Morning News, from which paper he came to the Times as advertising manager. He served the Times for a number of years in this capacity, during which period he became acquainted with practically every business man in Wichita Falls, and many citizens here who are his friends.

For a time he was manager of the popular industry to say the least, no man in Wichita Falls ever had more friends than Jim Calvert, as his friends affectionately called him. REVOLUTIONARY PLOT IN STATE OF OAXACA NIPPED IN THE BUD

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—Investigation of the revolutionary plot in the state of Oaxaca which terminated with the deaths of General Fernando Vizcaino and General Gonzalo C. Enriquez, alleged leaders, indicates that it had ramifications in all parts of the republic.

The date for the uprising had been set for last Monday. The plans, it was said by the war office, had been laid for simultaneous outbreaks that day in Guadalajara, Morelia, Monterrey, Saltillo, Torreon, Chihuahua, and several other smaller cities, but the arrest of most of the leaders in the city of Oaxaca last Saturday made attempts to carry out the program impossible.

Enriquez was captured in Oaxaca and was shot while attempting to escape from prison. Vizcaino was captured in Mexico City and executed within six hours when documents were said to have been found implicating him as the general in chief of the Oaxaca revolt.

An interesting phase of the program of the rebels is said to have been the selection of Jose Sanchez Juarez, a grandson of Mexico's liberator and provisional president of the new republic. Numerous efforts of alleged plotters have been made.

SAYS CHILDREN SUFFER FROM AMERICAN HUSTLE TO KEEP UP WITH CROWD

BOSTON, June 9.—The American hustle to keep up with the crowd is one of the chief causes of fatigue and resultant malnutrition among children. In making this assertion before the section on diseases of children of the American Medical association, meeting here, Dr. Borden S. Veder of St. Louis said the condition was more common among children of the wealthy than in the homes of the poor. Other physicians addressing the section agreed with his conclusions.

STATE TREASURER BAKER NOT TO BE A CANDIDATE

AUSTIN, June 9.—John W. Baker, state treasurer, announced today he would not be a candidate for re-election at the expiration of his term of office. Mr. Baker said he proposes to enter into private business. When he concludes his term he will have served four years. Ed A. Christian of Austin recently announced as a candidate for this office.

Chicago Grain.
CHICAGO, June 9.—Wheat took a decided upward swing in value today as a result of the bullish aspect of the government crop report. Weakness of foreign exchange, however, and declines in the stock market tended to check buying. Opening prices, which varied from 1/2 to 1/4 cent higher with July $1.34 1/2 and September $1.31 1/2, were followed by a material setback.

Subsequently, talk of a general rail road strike July 1 gave new impetus to the upward in the market. July delivery in particular was affected, owing to the smallness of stocks on hand here. Much of the flurry subsided, however, after shorts had covered. The close was unsettled, 1/2 to 3/8 cent higher, with July $1.34 1/2 to $1.35 and September $1.31 1/2 to $1.32.

Corn, after opening unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, including July at 63 1/2c, underwent a general decline.

Railroad strike predictions were bullish in the corn market, stocks of corn in terminal storage being heavy. The close was nervous at 8 1/2c to 1c net decline, with July 62 1/2c and September 59 1/2c.

State started off to 1/2 cent, with July 61 1/2c and September 58 1/2c, and then sagged to well below yesterday's finish.

New Orleans Cotton.
NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—Reports that the British coal strike had been ended caused a rise of two to five points in the cotton trading in this city today.

At the end of the first hour of business the active months were five to six points under the close of yesterday. July traded up to 12 1/2 and fell off to 12 1/4.

Weakness in the stock market held prices down in the face of continued rumors of the settlement of the coal strike but finally a slow recovery set in and at 11 o'clock the trading months were 2 to 3 points under the last quotations of yesterday. The undertone of the market was very steady on reports from Texas that in many sections of that state the boll weevil was present in great numbers.

Afternoon trading brought only narrow fluctuations, with a reaction in close prices were six to seven points under the final of yesterday.

Cotton closed at net declines of eight to 12 points.

THIRD SHIPMENT COTTON HAS ARRIVED AT BREMEN
GALVESTON, TEXAS, June 9.—The third shipment of cotton, donated by Texas growers, to be spun into clothes for children of central Europe, has arrived at Bremen, Germany, aboard the steamer Schuykill Bridge, according to word received here today. The shipment comprised 54 bales. Another shipment aboard the steamer Maundycourt is composed of 26 sacks of mohair and five bales of wool. It also is destined for Bremen.

TWO ARE TAKEN FROM THEIR BEDS AND SHOT
DUBLIN, June 8.—A Dublin Castle report today said the coast guard station at Ballydonegan, County Cork, has been raided by armed and masked men who destroyed it by fire. At Ballydonegan, Tipperary, Patrick and James Ryan were taken from their beds and shot. Patrick was killed and James wounded. Their home was burned in a round-up Tuesday in the vicinity of Mill street, County Cork, three men who disobeyed an order to halt, were shot and killed.

RELEASING RELEASE OF BRIG. GENERAL MITCHELL
WASHINGTON, June 9.—The release of Brigadier General Mitchell as assistant chief of the air service in England has been requested by Major General C. T. Mencher, chief of the army air service, in written recommendations to the secretary of the War Department.

Repeatedly published statements by General Mitchell, urging a unified air service, made since President Harding addressed congress in opposition to the creation of a separate air force, have been one of the reasons prompting the request that the officer be relieved of his present assignment.

DEMAND STEPS BE TAKEN TO HALT EXPLOITATION DENVER FEMALE LABOR
DENVER, June 9.—Demand that steps be taken to halt the alleged exploitation of female labor by unscrupulous employers was made today in a declaration presented for consideration before the annual convention here by the metal trades division of the American Federation of Labor.

Several important issues confronting the metal trades were also to be discussed at today's session.

The declaration asserted that there is no objection to the employment of female labor but it must be insisted on that the women workers shall receive the same consideration and as good conditions as enjoyed by male labor.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF SEYMOUR DEAD

B. M. Britain, Father of A. H. Britain of This City, Succumbs to Illness.

B. M. Britain of Seymour, a pioneer resident of northwest Texas and father of Judge A. H. Britain of this city, died at his home in Seymour at 12:30 a. m. Thursday.

Mr. Britain was a native of Dallas county and would have been 72 years of age on June 17. When only 14 years of age, he enlisted in the Confederate army and saw service in 1863 west of the Mississippi, being wounded in the closing year of the war. He moved to Baylor county in 1886 and engaged in stock-raising, later entering the mercantile business, in which he was still interested at the time of his death.

Mr. Britain was the first mayor of Seymour, and also served Baylor county as tax assessor and for two terms as county judge. He always displayed a marked interest in public affairs and was looked upon in his home community as a sound thinker and as a man whose leadership it was safe to accept. He was a member of Masonic orders and a Knight of Pythias.

Surviving are nine children, five by his first wife who died in 1888, and four by his second, who survives him. Mrs. R. C. Dickson of Baylor county, Mrs. John T. Dickson of Vera, Mrs. D. D. Paulin of El Paso, J. A. Britain of Seymour and A. H. Britain of Wichita Falls, by his first wife, and Mrs. Ector Lankford, Mrs. Robert E. Britain, B. M. Britain Jr. and Miss Ethel Britain, by his second, are the surviving children; all, with the exception of Mrs. Paulin, are now in Seymour.

Judge A. H. Britain went to Seymour Wednesday afternoon, upon hearing that his father's illness from a year had taken a serious turn. B. M. Britain Jr., who had been attending school in Fort Worth, accompanied him.

Funeral services will be held at 10:00 a. m. Friday at Seymour. It is expected that a number of Wichita Falls friends will attend.

General Viscaino Executed Sunday By Firing Squad

JUAREZ, MEXICO, June 9.—Details of the execution in Mexico City Sunday of General Fernando Viscaino, were received at military headquarters today. The general was found guilty Saturday night of inciting rebellion. Documents found in his home were offered as proof that he had been spreading propaganda against President Obregon. The defendant insisted the documents were written in a spirit of fun. At 2:00 a. m. Sunday the court pronounced the death sentence. At 7:00 Viscaino was taken in an automobile to the place of execution.

When the firing squad appeared he turned to a group of officers nearby and said: "Goodbye, may you be happy." To the firing squad he said: "Goodbye, men I am being assassinated." Five shots were fired.

EXPLOSION SHAKES SHERIFF'S VAULT

Loud Report Just as Office is Opened Brings Visions of Safe Blowers.

Chief Deputy H. C. Dakan had just unlocked the outside door of the county sheriff's office Thursday morning when there was a loud report as if of an explosion and the fire proof safe was shaken. The chief deputy for a second had visions of seeing fleeing safe blowers with liquor under each arm and perhaps valuable bonds and the doors of the big safe blown from the hinges.

A hurried look, however, showed that the big door was intact. Further investigation revealed that nothing had been harmed in the office.

The combination lock worked the first time and the big doors swung open. The inner doors were securely fastened and in place.

The inside of the vault had a strange appearance and a strong smell of liquor greeted Mr. Dakan when the doors opened. One of the large bottles of chock beer had kicked its way loose from the glass enclosure and scattered itself all over the vault.

Retained students desiring to make up work should attend summer school for grades five to seven, sixteen, high school. Work now going on.

MARKED COINS MAY CONVICT 2 ROBBERS

Arrests Follow Promptly When V. N. Grisson is Hijacked in Own Back Yard.

Two marked coins found in the pockets of a pair of youths arrested at Lake Wichita late Wednesday night will probably point to their conviction on charges of robbery with firearms, according to police who are clearing up the details surrounding the hijacking of V. N. Grisson in his own back yard at 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

The two coins, one of which was a half dollar and the other a foreign coin, were cut in such manner that Grisson easily identified them.

According to his story to the police, he had driven into his garage at 1002 Filmore Wednesday night and was preparing to enter the house when a young man stepped from behind a bush and leveled a revolver at him while another went through his clothes, taking eleven $1 bills, a $2 bill and a small amount of loose change. He rushed to the house after being released and obtained his revolver, but the auto into which the robbers had stepped was gone.

Motorcycle Officers Easley and Johnson were put to work on the case and trailed the machine by following the imprints of the tires to Lake Wichita. The car went out the lake road, it is said, and was not easy to trace, but was found at the lake and corresponded in every detail with that seen in the Grisson yard.

Both occupants were arrested and when searched were found with the coins. They were transferred to county officials Thursday morning, but at a late hour no charges had been preferred against them.

HARD TIMES ARE NOT COMING

It's just the SOFT TIMES leaving. The nation is getting down to brass tacks. The same conditions no longer prevail that were in force a year ago. It becomes necessary to adjust yourself to the new order of things.

Place your dollars in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT at this institution. You will get better values for your money eventually.

4% on Savings.

EARNING MONEY? SPENDING MONEY? SAVING MONEY?

Most people earn and SPEND—the wise ones SAVE a portion of what they earn!

Why not be wise and deposit one tenth of your salary at Our Savings Department weekly?

With 4% interest added steadily to your account, you'll be glad you're SAVING instead of SPENDING money.
