MRS. KABER ON TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Defense Protests Seating of a Woman On Jury—"Too Cold Blooded and Merciless"

CLEVELAND, OHIO, June 28.—Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, charged with having plotted the assassination of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher, is formally placed on trial in Judge Burnon's court this morning. She is under indictment for first degree murder which carries the death penalty in this state.

CLEVELAND, June 28.—A special venire of 45 talesmen was ordered to report to Judge Maurice Hernon today for the opening of the trial of Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber, charged with killing her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, in one of the most sensational tragedies in the history of Cuyahoga county.

A long drawn out battle over the seating of women on the jury was forecast. Francis W. Peabson, attorney for Mrs. Kaber, has announced he would oppose the seating of women because they are "too cold blooded and merciless." Prosecutor Stanton is in favor of seating as many women in the jury box as possible, declaring women will be more able to judge than men.

When the trial opened attorneys for Mrs. Kaber were prepared to ask for a continuance. Failing in this, it was indicated, a plea of temporary insanity would be entered, which the state announced would be vigorously opposed.

Mrs. Kaber is the first of six persons under indictment for Kaber's murder to be tried. The others are Mrs. Mary Breikel, her mother, Miriam McArde, Mrs. Kaber's daughter, Mrs. Erminia Colavito, Salvatore Cala and Vittorio Pisselli. All are under arrest except Pisselli.

Kaber, an invalid, was stabbed 24 times while asleep in his Lakewood home July 18, 1919. Mrs. Colavito is charged with aiding Mrs. Kaber in the alleged plotting. Upon his arrest a week ago, Cala confessed that he and Pisselli had been hired to commit the crime for which he said they were to have been paid $5,000. This amount was not forthcoming, he said. Cala said he held Kaber while Pisselli did the stabbing.

Gaines, under state indictment for murder in connection with the shooting of a postal clerk in a postoffice robbery last January, today applied to federal court for a writ of habeas corpus to remove the defendant from jurisdiction of Texas courts. Federal Judge J. C. Wilson, in whose court Gaines is under indictment for mail robbery, opened hearing on the application here at 10 o'clock.

Meanwhile, a special venire of 200 appeared in state criminal court at 2 o'clock. Judge C. A. Phippen having ordered selection of a jury to try Gaines for the murder charge to begin immediately.

Defense counsel, in applying for a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Wilson, asserts that Gaines was removed from Indianapolis, where he was arrested, to Dallas on a federal warrant charging mail robbery and that Texas courts are without authority to bring him to trial on another charge.

CAMBRIDGE MASS, June 28.—Several weeks of intimacy with the solar system have had such an effect on the comet-Winnicki, comes that it has changed its itinerary and departed from its orbit, the Harvard planetary observatory announced today.

The change in the comet's plan has been caused by planetary influences, and as a result the predicted meteoric showers are not likely to fall. Solon I. Bailey, acting director of the observatory, asserted.

"As far as we have learned, no showers have yet occurred and it is unlikely that any will take place," Mr. Bailey said.

The comet, he added, is now outward bound through space.

KING'S VISIT TO BELFAST CAUSES REVERSAL OF POLICY

LONDON, June 28.—The parliamentary correspondent of the London Times, discussing the Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation to Sir James Craig and Lamont de Valera, declares that in judging the situation it is important to bear in mind that although the letter was signed by Mr. Lloyd George, it represents the policy of the cabinet.

"A very strong minority of the cabinet is of opinion," writes the correspondent, "that the Ulster cabinet, and the lord chancellor, favored a similar policy a week ago." The correspondent continues: "The Ulster cabinet, however, was overborne by the prime minister and the lord chancellor's speech in the house of lords last Tuesday represented a prominent part in the cabinet's decision to sign the letter."

"A guarantee of stability in this latter attitude," says the correspondent, "is the fact that the Ulster cabinet, and the lord chancellor, favored a similar policy a week ago." The correspondent continues: "The Ulster cabinet, however, was overborne by the prime minister and the lord chancellor's speech in the house of lords last Tuesday represented a prominent part in the cabinet's decision to sign the letter."

HEAVY FOG DELAYS ATTEMPT TO SINK BATTLESHIP IOWA

OLD POINT COMFORT, June 28.—Several bombing tests against the radio-controlled battleship Iowa were called off today on account of fog.

OLD POINT COMFORT, VA., June 28.—Heavy fog outside the Virginia capes delayed today the departure of army and navy seaplanes from the Hampton Roads naval base and Langley Field, a first attempt to sink the Iowa by the use of the radio-controlled battleship Iowa. The Iowa is somewhere off the capes, completely obscured by fog according to radio advices from the air station.

The bowing of the battleship forms the first and one of the most important phases of the problem. Squadrons of light and heavy bombing planes, including seven army F-11s and a number of huge marine Corps Martin bombers, were ready to hop off to the attack on notice from the scouting planes that the Iowa had been located.

Tommy bombs filled with concrete instead of powder and weighing up to 2000 lbs. were to be used in the attack on the Iowa, the bombs being required to test their ability to hit the moving target at a minimum height of 7000 feet.

AND JACKSON DIDN'T ESCAPE, AFTER ALL

"Missing" Prisoner is Located Tuesday Hiding on Top of Cell Cages.

Heine Jackson, the 20-year-sentence man who has been missing since early Monday morning, is back in a cell in the county jail. He was found at 11:45 Tuesday morning. As a matter of fact, he was never outside the building.

A search of the jail Tuesday morning led to Heine's discovery. He was lying on top of the bear cage on the third floor, partly concealed behind some old iron cots.

Class Tarter, the jailer, saw him and ordered him down. He had already been assured, this in the form of the unprinting, for in place of the customary one or two, there are to be three. Dr. T. J. Strong, who has spent quite a few years in the baseball business himself, has been appointed chief arbiter, and is now considering a number of applications for assistants.

The doctor is authority for the statement that Johnson and Heydler could learn quite a few tricks about running a big league baseball game, and it is with this in view that he contemplates extending the glad hand and asking them to come to Wichita Falls to witness the impending hostilities.

One of Strong's "deputies" is to be "the tallest man in Texas," according to his own assertion, while the other will probably resemble Sid (Ginger) "enfant terrible" of the Kiwanis aggregation.

Several other important plans are now materializing and announcements of startling nature are promised in regard to the battle before many hours.

Early Monday morning when it was discovered that the cells had been out and moved all the other prisoners to the third floor in the bear cage. The jailer or left the door of the monkey cage open, and when Tarter reported the delivery to the office, Heine undoubtedly moved to the third floor on top of the bear cage in order to insure getting something to eat.

Although it is not definitely known, it is believed that the other prisoners fed Heine Monday and Tuesday morning.

When Heine moved from the second to the third floor, he made a fatal mistake, because shortly after he moved the jailer locked the door that led from the corridor to the bear cage room to the room where Heine had already cut a hole in the bars nearly large enough for him to gain his freedom. This cut the prisoner off from proceeding with his work.

Jackson was convicted on the charge of murder and his case was affirmed last week. He is now in the state penitentiary.

Judge H. F. Weldon called the grand jury before him at 5 o'clock Monday evening and instructed it to thoroughly investigate the jail delivery here. He stated that he did not charge anyone with negligence, but wanted to know exactly how the convict gained his freedom. In charging the jury the judge stated that within the past half year a large number of desperate criminals have made their escape from the county jails in the 26th judicial district.

After the judge had charged the jury, the foreman handed in a partial report which included 15 indictments. All but three of those on whom true bills were returned are in the county jail.

Wade Muse, an ex-motorcycle policeman, was indicted on a charge of rape. Dan Bennett is charged in indictment with the offense of murder, alleged to have killed George Gentry by striking him over the head with an instrument capable of producing death.

Wiley Smith was indicted on the charge of robbery with firearms. He is alleged to have held up a local resident and robbed him of approximately $15 in money.

B. D. Donnell of The Times returned Monday from Asheville, North Carolina, where he attended the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' association the past week.

THEY MIGHT LEARN SOMETHING IN "HORRIBLE EXAMPLE" WAY AT KIWANIS-WICHITA CONTEST

There is a strong possibility of invitation being extended to Dan Johnson and John Hyidler, presidents of the American and National leagues, to attend the debate at Spudder park next Friday when the Wichita "Top Floor" and Kiwanis "Konkrete" mix up in nine frames of the national pastime.

Such action is not being prompted by a desire to furnish the two high moguls of organized baseball an opportunity to witness the brand of ball evolved by Texas business men, but is being done in a spirit of helpfulness for the officials of the combat are certain that some innovations entirely foreign to any of the recognized baseball tactics will be displayed.

One unique feature has already been assured, this in the form of the unprinting, for in place of the customary one or two, there are to be three. Dr. T. J. Strong, who has spent quite a few years in the baseball business himself, has been appointed chief arbiter, and is now considering a number of applications for assistants.

on foot at a meeting of the park board Tuesday morning. It is possible that the first concert will be held next Sunday, but this is not certain. A committee was named to work out the details and will try to have at least one concert a week.

The board voted to give the name of "Reed Plaza" to the triangular park at the corner of Ninth and Kemp boulevard, naming it in honor of the city councilman who has had such an active part in the park program.

Electric lights similar to those in the plaza will be installed at each of the other parks in the city, without delay, it was decided.

A committee was named to pass upon the purchase of additional playground equipment for Bellevue park, which is rapidly becoming one of the city's chief play centers. It will also have in charge the putting in of sidewalks in keeping with the Kessler plan for this park.

The board decided to discontinue the planting program until next November, and will keep only men at work to maintain the parks in good condition.

VISCOUNT BRYCE PRAISES THE CONSTITUTION OF U. S.

LONDON, June 28.—Viscount Bryce, former British ambassador in Washington, inaugurating the Sir George Watson chair of American history at the Mansion house today, declared the United States constitution "was the greatest single contribution made to the government as an applied science."

Englishmen, Viscount Bryce declared, studied American history too little, and he hoped the Watson foundation would bear abundant fruit in a better understanding between the two peoples.

The establishment of the Watson chair is said to be the first serious attempt to teach American history in England aside from the course begun in Oxford a year ago. The Watson chair will not be attached to any university, but lectures will be delivered in the various colleges.

POLICE TO RESUME ACTIVITIES IN FLATS, CASES TO BE TRIED

"If they keep on their way, we'll keep on ours," Chief of Police Huff declared Tuesday morning when questioned as to what action his department intended taking in regard to the vagrancy situation in the flats. "If they insist on carrying on business the way they have in the past," he went on, "we'll continue to prosecute them."

That no time is to be lost in proceeding against inmates of the district is evidenced by the fact that two cases, which have been on the police docket for nearly a month, were to be tried Tuesday afternoon. Gladys Hall, nee Avinger, and Fay Moore, the plaintiffs in an injunction suit recently tried in district court, and which resulted in the police department being given free rein in its campaign against the flats, are to be tried on vagrancy charges arising from their arrest June 8 and 6.

Both women have been arrested probably a dozen times on similar charges within the past four months, but so far as is known have never been given trial.

Officers A. E. Bridgewater and O. I. Smart, the two policemen who patrol the flats, have been instructed to continue their former vigilance against arrests and to advocate indictments pointing to no let-up in the wholesale raids made in the district.

Scant Styles in Wearing Apparel Provokes Poetry

NEW YORK, June 28.—Scant sumptuous styles, as exhibited in these parts, have inspired the Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, to pen a "poem" which was going through its second edition in the public prints today.

Wrote Dr. Straton:

"Mary had a little skirt,
The very latest style, no doubt;
But every time she got inside,
She was more than half way out."

In a prose foreword, delivered from his pulpit Sunday night, Dr. Straton declared he did not advocate a return to the old street-sweeping styles.

"There is a style for women's dress which is in harmony with the laws of sanitation as well as the principles of modesty," he said.

SAYS PEOPLE OF U. S. ARE ACCEPTING LOWER STANDARD OF LIVING

MILWAUKEE, June 28.—"The people of America are accepting a lower standard of living," said John Ihlder, manager of the civic development department of the chamber of commerce of the United States in an address today before the national conference of social workers. "According to our pre-war standard of living we are producing a million and a quarter houses."

Mr. Ihlder explained that existing accommodations have been subdivided, each family occupying less than in pre-war days. He pointed out that while last year saw less construction than in many years, the demand for both tube was as high as it has ever gone, reasoning that thousands of single family dwellings were converted into multi-family dwellings.

The change in living standards, he asserted, has hit the so-called middle class harder than either the rich or the poor. The poor, he said, were accustomed to the crowded conditions although during the war with high wages, even the poor had bettered themselves. The steps being taken to remedy conditions in pre-war days were not being continued.

Building prices will not go down to pre-war levels, Mr. Ihlder said. "But that is not essential," he continued. "What is essential is that they become stabilized so that a house erected today will not have to compete with a good house erected at smaller cost five or ten years hence. To this end, price level we must adjust ourselves."

STRIKING MINERS ARE ORDERED BACK TO WORK

WILKESBARRE, PA., June 28.—In response to an order from union officials striking mine workers of the Pennsylvania and the Hillside coal and iron companies, Erie subsidiaries, have returned to work. The strike lasted one week and affected ten thousand men and boys. The strikers were granted none of their demands, the walkout being disavowed by the district officials and the men given the alternative of returning or having the charters of their local unions revoked.

BRITISH WAR VETERAN LIVES WITH BULLET IN HEART

A living marvel of the English medical world is Charles Baker, a war veteran, who is alive and apparently healthy, in spite of one-and-one-half-inch bullet imbedded in his heart at the Battle of Gallipoli, more than five years ago. The above photo shows Baker being X-rayed at the National Hospital for Diseases of the Heart, in London.

New Treatment Suggested to the Social Conference

MILWAUKEE, June 28.—A new wife from an old-fashioned bigamous wife—as a cure for the "treatment" of the "treatment" described to the national social conference here last night as one of the "treatments" used by the New York industrial commission, brought comments from delegates today of "ultra-modern," but there was no index to sentiment for or against the "cure."

The description of the "treatment" came as the sensation of last night's session. Miss Frances Perkins, a member of the commission, was describing it.

The blind man came before the commission seeking industrial compensation. An examination showed his eye reflexes to be perfect, she said. Looking into his personal affairs the commission found the man had two wives. His lawful wife was put out of the way through the courts, and the husband a sight restored, Miss Perkins said.

"The man had met with a slight accident," continued Miss Perkins. "Until then he had been able to see as well as any one. Investigation revealed the victim to be suffering from neurosis. We suspected some fear was preying on his mind. Acute questioning brought out the truth."

"The man was living in bigamy with a woman who, by all moral laws, was his wife because she loved him and he loved her. The first wife had been unkind and he had deserted her."

It was also announced that the Grant street and Avenue G intersection, which has been impassable for some time due to sewer repairs, will also be made passable within the next day or so.

Says Men Look For Beauty Not A Home Maker

BALTIMORE, June 28.—"Men only look for beauty; they don't care about the real home-maker any longer," Virginia Hicks, 20 years old, a patient at the Maryland general hospital who tried to commit suicide Sunday night by swallowing poison, explained that there was no place in the world for homely girls.

Refusing to give her lover's name, she admitted that they had both been very happy and expected to get married shortly, until one evening at a dance he met a prettier girl, and after that she didn't have a chance.

"Classical features and a conspicuous lack of freckles" are essential features for happiness, Virginia declared, weeping.

The executive board of the mission federation in meeting at the home of Mrs. C. W. Seider, president, Tuesday morning decided to reiterate the invitation to Wichita Falls mothers who need to shop or attend to other business for a few hours, half or a whole day.

It was decided that the quarterly all-day dinner sessions of the federation would be done away with on account of the big membership resulting from the recent campaign, and that the future sessions would be held from 2 to 3 in the afternoon.

The nursery superintendent was granted two weeks' vacation with pay and a two weeks' leave of absence, and Mrs. Wilford Harrison, who has substituted at the nursery a number of times, offered to take the work for the superintendent's vacation period, which offer was accepted.

JEWISH COUNCIL "KID" PARTY GREAT SUCCESS

Time turned backward in a double handspinning for the women of the Jewish council Monday afternoon, when about thirty-five of them gathered, in costumes appropriate to the occasion, at the home of Mrs. Abe Marks for a "kid party."

The "little folks" behaved according to the style of their dresses, without regard for the besomine conventions imposed by the piling up of years. They planned tails on the donkey queue as inconspicuously as any other class of children, blew soap bubbles through a hoop with an evident delight, and played "drop the handkerchief" and other such games with just as great enthusiasm.

In the pinning-the-tail-on-the-donkey game a prize was awarded Mrs. Weinberg for getting it most accurately placed; in the soap bubble blowing contest Mrs. Blank of Fort Worth, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Blank here, was most successful, and in the candy guessing contest Mrs. R. A. Fine was most successful.

For the costumes, Mrs. S. J. Riesenbergs was awarded the prize for the most original. Mrs. Riesenbergs wore a dainty lavender gingham dress with her gray hair in curls under a lavender butterfly bow.

The party was quite a success financially for the council.

CULPEPPER SERVICE FOR CHILDREN HELD

"Killing Giants" is Subject of Evangelist at Open Air Meeting Monday Night.

Possibly the largest number of children ever gathered in Wichita Falls for a religious service heard Evangelist Burke Culpepper at the open air tabernacle Monday night. It was Sunday school night, and they were there from every Sunday school in the city. Their childish voices rang out in song to the delight of the great concourse of grown people who had come out to hear the sermon to children.

Evangelist Culpepper's theme was "Killing Giants," and when he finished his sermon many were of the opinion that they had some giants to kill. Addressing himself to the children, in a most dramatic and impressive manner, he related the story of David and Goliath. The battle between the mere stripling of a boy and the great giant of the hosts of the enemies of God's people was most vividly portrayed.

The evangelist had the little folks completely under his control. Frequently he would have them lift their hands in approval of some question, and at one time in the course of the sermon he had the little ones stand on the benches, to demonstrate to the audience that children were present, and could be led in either the good or bad way.

Calling a little boy to the platform, the speaker showed how impossible it was for the little boy David to fight with the king's armor, by putting his coat on the little fellow and running across the platform almost dragging the little man after him. The illustration was only to prove that little David only needed a few rocks and a handling and God on his side to slay the monster of business. David had a contempt for his own brothers because they refused to meet the giant in mortal combat. But David was sure of himself, and he was sure the rock taken from the brook and the sling he went out to meet the greatest enemy to God and to his people, but he went with a determined mind to win, and in landing the rock right between the old giant's "peepers," the young shepherd boy took the sword of the giant and cut off his head. Applying the lesson to their lives, Mr. Culpepper called upon the children to be on guard constantly, and said that, trusting in God, they will be able to battle sin as successfully as did David battle with Goliath. Some of the giants the evangelist mentioned that must be killed, and were designated as enemies, were falsehood, dishonesty, bad disposition, lying and other evils. Several interesting and impressive illustrations were given, forcibly presenting the lesson of the evening.

At the close of the sermon J. E. gave their names for some church. Mr. Culpepper emphasized the fact that the children were not joining the church now, but merely giving their names, and after the pastors had talked with their parents and they were willing for them to come in, they would be taken into the church of their choice, but said he hoped the children would join the church with their parents. It was not altogether a children's service, for quite a number of adults gave their names for the church.

Tuesday night will be delegation night for the oil companies, lawyers and doctors. Services will continue through this week. The public has a cordial invitation to attend at 12:20 each day at the Strand theater and 8 o'clock each night at the tabernacle.

THE ADVENTURE OF BLACK PETER

By A. CONAN DOYLE. Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far. Inspector Holmes goes to Sheriff Hopkins for help on his first big case. Captain Peter Carey, fifty years old, a model during and successful sea and shore fisher, has retired and settled down on a small place called Woodville. He lives with his wife, his daughter and two women servants. He is a gloomy sort of man, a friend whose name is known as Black Peter.

PART TWO. "You must have read in the account of the inquest about the man's cabin, Mr. Holmes," Hopkins went on, "but perhaps your friend here has not heard of it. He always called it the 'cabin'—a few hundred yards from his house, and it was here that he slept every night. It was a little single-roomed hut, sixteen feet by ten. He kept the key in his pocket, made his own bed, cleaned it himself, and allowed no other foot to cross the threshold. There were small windows on each side, which were covered by curtains and never opened. One of these windows was turned toward the high road, and when the light burned in it at night he would look out in a way very different from that of the captain. So he says, but he had been two hours in the public house and it is some distance from the house, and also the floor on this refers to the Monday, and the crime was done upon the Wednesday.

"On the Tuesday, Peter Carey was in one of his blackest moods, flushed with drink and as excited as a dangerous wild beast. He roamed about the house, and the women ran for it when they heard him coming. Late in the evening he went down to his own hut, about two o'clock the following morning, his daughter, who slept with her window open, heard a most fearful yell from that direction but it was so unusual that for him to bawl and shout when he was in bed, that no notice was taken. On rising at seven, one of the maids noticed that the door of the hut was open, but so great was the terror which the man caused that it was midday before anyone would venture down to see what had become of him. Peeping into the open door, they saw a light which went from the hut into the street, into the village. Within an hour I was on the spot and had taken over the case.

"Well, I have fairly steady nerves, as you know, Mr. Holmes, I give you my word, that I got a shake when I put my head into that little house. It was dripping like a harmonium with the flies and bluebottles, and the floor and walls were like a slaughter house. He had called it a cabin, and a cabin it was, sure enough, for you would have thought that you were in a ship. There was a bunk at one end, a sea chest, maps and charts, a picture of the Sea Unicorn, a line of logbooks on a shelf, all exactly as one would expect to find in a captain's room. And there in the middle of it, was the man himself—his face twisted like a lost soul in torment, and his great bristled beard stuck upward in his agony. Right through his broad breast a steel harpoon had been driven and had sunk deep into the wood of the wall behind him. He was pinned like a beetle on a card. Of course, he was quite dead, and had been so from the instant that he had uttered that last yell of agony. 'I know your methods, sir, and I applied them. Before I permitted anything to be moved I examined most carefully the ground outside, and also the floor of the room. There were no footmarks.' 'Meaning that you saw none?'

"I assure you sir, that there were none." "My good Hopkins, I have investigated many crimes, but I have never yet seen one which was committed by a flying creature. As long as the criminal remains upon two legs so long must there be some indentation, some abrasion, some trifling displacement which can be detected by the scientific searcher. It is incredible that this blood-be-spattered room contained no trace which could have aided us. I understand, however, from sealings—the straight haired skin, with a leather thong to bind it. Inside was 'P. C.' on the flap. There was half an ounce of strong ship's tobacco in it." "Excellent! what more?" Stanley Hopkins drew from his pocket a drab-colored note book. The outside was rough and worn, the leaves discolored. On the first page were written the initials "J. H. N." and the date "1883." Holmes laid it on the table and examined it in his minute way, while Hopkins and I gazed over each shoulder. On the second page were the printed letters "C. P. R." and then came several sheets of numbers. Another heading was "Argentine," another "Costa Rica," and another "San Paulo," each with pages of signs and figures after it. "What do you make of these?" asked Holmes. "They appear to be lists of stock exchange securities. I thought that 'J. H. N.' were the initials of a broker, and that 'C. P. R.' may have been his client." "Try Canadian Pacific Railway," said Holmes. Stanley Hopkins swore between his teeth, and struck his thigh with his clenched hand. "What a fool I have been!" he cried. "Of course, it is as you say. Then 'J. H. N.' are the only initials we have to solve. I have already examined the old stock exchange lists, and I can find no one in 1882, either in the house or among the outside brokers whose initials correspond with these. Yet I feel that the clue is the most important one that I hold. You will admit, Mr. Holmes, that there is a possibility that these initials are those of the second person who was present—in other words, of the murderer. I would also urge that the introduction into the case of a document relating to large masses of valuable securities gives us for the first time some indication of a motive for the crime.

Tomorrow—The Adventure of Black Peter, continued. The young inspector winced at my companion's ironical comments. "I was a fool not to call you in at the time, Mr. Holmes. However, that's past praying for now. Yes, there were several objects in the room, which called for special attention. One was the harpoon with which the deed was committed. It had been snatched down from a rack on the wall. Two others remained there, and there was a vacant place for the third. On the stock was engraved 'Sea Unicorn, Dundee.' This seemed to establish that the crime had been done in a moment of fury, and that the murderer had seized the first weapon which came in his way. The fact that the crime was committed at two in the morning, and yet Peter Carey was fully dressed, suggested that he had an appointment with the murderer, which is borne out by the fact that a bottle of rum and two dirty glasses stood upon the table.

"Yes," said Holmes, "I think that both inferences are permissible. Was there any other spirit but rum in the room?" "Yes, there was a tattalus containing brandy and whiskey on the sea-chest. It is of no importance to us, however, since the decanters were full, and it had therefore not been used."

"For all that, its presence has some significance," said Holmes. "However, let us hear some more about the objects which do seem to you to bear upon the case." "There was this tobacco pouch upon the table." "What part of the table?" "It lay in the middle. It was of course casually to the department, but such incidents are few and far between and fewer than during pre-war times when the financial situation was normal, according to the commissioner. However, Mr. Hall urged that although the period of stress is about to pass, it is advisable that everyone help correct the precarious condition. Mr. Hall pointed out in his talk that there are slightly more than 1,000 state banks in Texas and that every one of them was as far as his reports show, in good condition. "With the exception of four banks which closed their doors within the past two months and on which reports of the examiners have not been received, the non-interest bearing deposits of every state bank which closed have been paid from the guaranty bank fund of the state. "We will pay the non-interest bearing accounts of these four banks just as soon as the reports of the examiners are sent in," Mr. Hall said. He pointed out that the guaranty fund protects only deposits that do not draw interest.

Material Being Placed on Ground Sixteen Miles Southeast of Haskell.

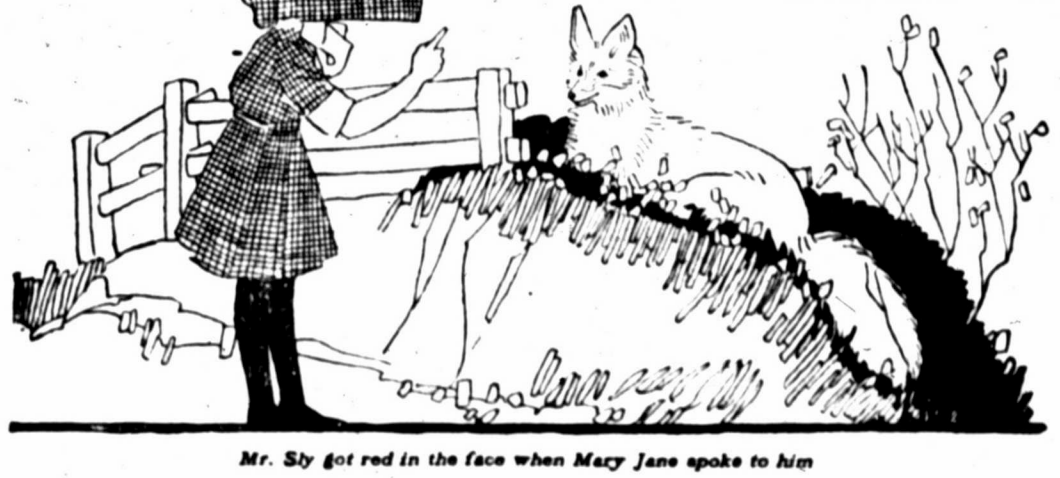

HASKELL, TEXAS, June 28.—The Glenn Royalty company of Chicago is now placing material on the ground preparatory to spudding in another test well on the property of the Reynolds cattle company, 16 miles southeast of Haskell, better known as the N ranch. The exact location is in section six. "This location is on the last pitch of the structure in Haskell county in which the Kour No. 1 found the formation of the Br. sandstone gray lime, and also the black lime and sand at a depth of 3,335 feet. They expect to find the same formation in the new well that was experienced in the Kour one. The derrick is now under construction, and the spudding in of the well will begin as soon as tools and material can be rushed to the location. A new line of casing has arrived for Kour No. 1 which will be set as soon as the well can be cleaned, and a few joints of the remaining casing pulled. It is believed that the well can be made a producer when the new casing is set and the salt water shut off. This well has 42 feet of oil sand and expert oil men believe it to be producing sand when it is placed under control from salt water.

D. C. PRIDDY, A MARILLO OIL OPERATOR, IS SMALLPOX VICTIM. D. C. Priddy, Amarillo oil operator who was well known here, died several days ago of smallpox, according to word received by friends in this city. Priddy was interested in the successful Mous-Marie company, being associated with his brother, W. E. Priddy, and others, in it and other oil enterprises. He had many friends here who regret deeply to learn of his death. Death was due to a severe case of smallpox. Burial was at Amarillo, where Mr. Priddy had resided for some time. Pure, liquid air has a bluish tinge.

CHILD HEALTH CENTER HAS ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL CLINIC. CLARENCE, TEXAS, June 28.—Child Health Center of Doniphan county held another successful clinic at H. J. on Saturday. At this time 24 children were examined. This shows the steady improvement along this line and that the parents are beginning to realize the usefulness of these examinations. Miss I. Yeager is in charge of this work. Indiana farmers used gas masks in last season's harvest as a protection against fumes of formaldehyde which had been used on grain to combat pests.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

Mary Jane and the Little Red Fox

ONE day Mary Jane was going to school, and she met Mr. Sly, the red fox. Mary Jane said, "Good morning. You ought to be ashamed of yourself for stealing old Mrs. Gamp's chicken last night. Don't you know she was saving that chicken for when the minister was coming?" Mr. Sly got red in the face. And then he said he was going along peaceably, minding his own business, and then her old hen ran right out and bit him. So what could he do? He had to protect himself, didn't he? When Mary Jane heard this, of course, she was very sorry she had blamed Mr. Sly. Mary Jane did not know he was not telling the truth. And so she sat down on a big log by the side of the road and opened up her lunch basket, and she and the little red fox had a party. But the best of all were the two big slices of bread spread with Mary Jane Syrup and put together. Mary Jane ate one and Mr. Sly ate the other. And Mr. Sly said that nothing was so good as Mary Jane Syrup. And never again would he eat chicken. And he didn't.

THE SIMS REBUKE.

One cannot help feeling that the severity of the Sims reprimand was but a slap over the shoulder of George Harvey and that the blow was really intended for our ambassador to England.

It may be that Sims did not fully deserve his reprimand, but whether or not this is the case, the tendency of men in high position is to express themselves as private citizens, and it should be curbed.

Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, rose in the senate a few days ago to make some pointed remarks, some of which were that unless the senate gave less attention to big business and more to the people at large that the people would soon offer the declaration, "to hell with both parties."

At last we have taken something out of Europe—we get the polo cup back. The spectacle of the former kaiser, who was the prize loose talker of the world, and the difficulties which his careless remarks brought the world should be warning sufficient to restrain any man in high place from indiscriminate remarks.

ABUSES OF THE PAROLE SYSTEM. Governor Neff has been making a hard fight against the parole system which has been in practice for several years in Texas.

However, there will come to light occasionally information which will give clearly the reasons for the governor's stand.

Probably no suggestion has ever been projected which met with the universal approval as the Borah resolution in the senate for a naval holiday.

HUMANISMS Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY, Secretary Henry C. Wallace of the department of agriculture was a farmer for so long that he was in the habit of getting up early and it is mighty hard for him to wait until 9 o'clock to get down to his office.

To understand the strain that was put upon cordial senatorial relations as between Georgia and New Hampshire, one must know that, in the use of a telephone in government offices in Washington, there is an "inside" phone which connects these federal agencies and there is an "outside" which connects with the world beyond.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement. Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business. They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane until someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them.

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement? What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants! The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat! Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production.

world's greatest producers and refiners of crude oil, and that in order to free this country from the bondage of the Standard Oil company, all protection should be taken off.

"Congress was not interested in a tax upon the importation of oil into this country for the reason that no oil was then being imported into the country, and such a tax was not calculated to produce any revenue. The government required only one billion dollars for the importation of oil and it requires over five billion dollars.

Mexican Production. "Mexico, in the eight years ending 1920, produced 489,853,645 barrels of crude petroleum of this enormous amount, 365,994,051 barrels was produced in the last four years. During this period 400,641,930 barrels of this output was admitted into the United States free of any taxation.

"Imports of Mexican crude and refined oil into the United States in 1920 more than doubled the quantity imported in 1919, and was 183 per cent over the quantity imported in 1918. According to the United States geological survey, the production for 1920 aggregated 106,175,000 barrels. During the last six months of 1920, the importations amounted to 67,166,000 barrels, or 14,534,372 barrels in excess of the total imports in 1919.

"November importations were the largest in the history of the nation, reaching the grand aggregate of 12,750,000 barrels, a daily average of 428,322 barrels. At the rate of November importations, the total for the 12 months would reach 105,000,000 barrels.

"During the first three months of 1921 the exports of oil from Mexico were as follows:

Barrels Daily Av.	Value
January	18,481,136 536,165
February	18,670,678 504,251
March	13,375,444 492,222

"The yearly production of crude oil in Mexico for the last three years is as follows:

Barrels	Value
1918	48,828,327
1919	87,073,000
1920	106,175,000

"In 1920 the United States produced 443,402,000 barrels, and imported from Mexico 106,175,000 barrels, making a total of 549,577,000 barrels of oil produced and imported into the United States. This production was distributed as follows:

Exports of crude oil	Value
from U. S.	2,045,000
Shipments from U. S. to insular possessions	538,000
American crude run to refiners	372,770,000
Added to Mexican stocks	4,523,000
Added to U. S. stocks	1,823,000
Consumed in the natural state	96,723,000

"During the first three months of 1921 the quantity of oil imported into this country from Mexico the following amount of crude and refined oil:

Barrels Daily Av.	Value
January	13,352,145 437,164
February	11,635,372 475,491
March	12,700,971 493,708

"Let me say right here that there was no overproduction of gasoline; it was not an overproduction of light oil which flooded the market, but an over-supply of the heavy ends, such as fuel oil, gas oil and kerosene. In proof of this I submit the fact that gasoline consumption during the year 1920 increased approximately 25 per cent and in the first four months of 1921 increased 15 per cent over the first four months of 1920; and it is generally conceded by all marketers that the consumption of gasoline will be at least 15 per cent larger in the year 1921 than it was in the year 1920 and that the production of light oil in the Mid-Continent field alone declined 20,000 barrels per day between November, 1920, and February, 1921, and will undoubtedly decline 100,000 barrels a day during the next six months.

"On December 12 the Prairie Pipe Line company, one of the gathering systems of the Standard Oil group, issued a notice that it would pre-empt runs, that it would take into its gathering lines only 70 per cent of the production of the leases to which it was connected. This notice precipitated the wildest panic in the refined markets ever witnessed in the industry, a panic which has not yet completely run its course. Refiners, both large and small, wracked with each other in throwing overboard stocks of fuel oil and kerosene, believing that the notice of the Prairie Pipe Line company was the forerunner of a cut in the price of crude oil. Their surmises were fully justified. Mexico had done its work. A great producing industry of the United States was to be almost totally paralyzed. Hundreds of thousands of men were to be thrown out of employment. Thousands of individuals and corporations engaged in the business were to be financially wrecked. The price of crude oil was to be cut far below the cost of production in order to make room for the consumption of the over-supply of low-grade crude coming from Mexico.

"It is to prevent the occurrence of just another disaster of this nature that we now seek and ask congress to place a tariff upon Mexican crude as will be sufficient to stabilize the market, thus protecting the producer as well as the public."

MEETING WILL BE HELD IN FORT WORTH WEDNESDAY

FORT WORTH, June 28.—Independent oil operators and producers of west Texas will confer with the petroleum division of the southern tariff association here tonight, to discuss the proposal for a tariff on petroleum and its products. A similar conference was held at Wichita Falls today and another will be held at Breckenridge tomorrow.

TRAFFIC MANAGERS OF REFINERIES MEET

Hold Session Here Tuesday to Consider Number of Rate and Tariff Matters.

Two score of refinery traffic managers from various Texas and Oklahoma plants met in Wichita Falls Tuesday morning to consider a number of traffic matters affecting the refineries. The session was expected to continue well into the afternoon.

Clifford Thorne of Chicago, general counsel for the Western Refiners association, presided at the meeting, which considered a number of rate and tariff matters.

The question of asking for a general reduction in tank car rates was a prominent one at the meeting. It was extended early Tuesday afternoon that a definite move to this end would be launched. Several speakers contended that the railroads are making a greater profit on refinery products than on any other commodity and that the refineries are clearly entitled to some reduction.

Traffic managers of refineries at Fort Worth, Dallas, Tulsa, Devol, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls attended the meeting. It is the first meeting of the kind to be held in Texas, and was called here at the instance of J. A. Germany of the Panhandle company, who is active in traffic matters of the Western Refiners association. The latter organization has a membership of about 80 refineries.

SEVEN MORE MEXICANS LEAVE MONDAY AFTERNOON FOR THEIR NATIVE LAND

What is regarded as the final delegation of home returning Mexicans to leave Wichita Falls departed late Monday afternoon, seven in all leaving for Fort Worth en route to old homes in Mexico.

The Monday group was in charge of Senor Roberto Arco, special aid to the Mexican consul at Dallas, who was left in the city to care for any late comers who missed out on the special train last Friday evening. All those who left Monday were from this city.

The hundred or more Mexicans who were expected from Newcastles failed to put in an appearance and although no word has been received from them it is the belief that they have given up the idea of returning to Mexico. A large delegation which was expected from Graham has also remained unaccounted for.

REPORTS MISLEADING DECLARES HEAD OF SHOP CRAFTS ORGANIZATION

CHICAGO, June 28.—Reports of an overwhelming vote for rejection of an average 8 per cent reduction recently ordered for all railroad shop employees by the United States railroad board were branded as misleading and unreliable today by H. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts organization. Only about two-thirds of the vote has been counted, according to Mr. Jewell, who added that "a few votes might swing it either way."

"The ballots are coming in by every mail and we have not begun to complete the tabulation. The result at this time is unknown," Mr. Jewell said. "Unofficial compilation of votes from several locals which announced the results of their ballots was said to have shown approximately 355,000 against the proposed reduction and 48,000 in favor of it. There are approximately 600,000 shop employees in the country. Mr. Jewell declared that no figures had been given out from his office."

A meeting here of the general chairman of the shop crafts has been called for July 1. The completed report on the vote may be withheld until that date.

All other union organizations, including the clerks, telegraphers, switchmen and maintenance of way employees and the four engine and train service brotherhoods will also meet here on the same date to canvass the situation and determine future action.

GERMANY HAS FULFILLED OBLIGATION TO REPLACE RAIL MATERIALS TAKEN

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Germany has fulfilled her obligations to replace railway material taken by her armed forces from allied countries during the war, according to figures received here today in official circles.

The inter-allied railway commission demanded that Germany deliver 5,000 railway cars to France and Belgium, of which the former country was to receive 1,500 and the latter 3,500.

In compliance with this demand, according to German figures, 2,419 state-owned railway cars and 61 of private companies have been delivered to Belgium; and 1,492 state-owned railway cars and 113 private owned cars to France.

GRAND JURY INDICTS NEW YORK DEALERS

Charge Violation Revenue Act in Evading Provisions of the Luxury Tax.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A federal grand jury today indicted Martin and Martin, Inc., Fifth avenue saddle and dealers in leather goods, and Herbert P. Martin, a member of the firm, on charges of violating the revenue act of 1913.

United States Attorney Hayward said the indictment marked the beginning of a campaign against evaders of the luxury tax.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt was named as one of the firm's customers on whose purchases the firm had failed to pay the luxury tax.

Mr. Hayward declared the firm's method was to make out two sales slips for articles on which luxury taxes were due. Thus in one case a $120 cocktail shaker, on which a $6.50 tax was due, appeared as $120 worth of harness, saddle and spurs, on which no tax was due.

"They did not attempt to save their customers from the payment, but on the contrary they assessed the tax on them every time, putting it in their own pocket," declared Mr. Hayward.

Hollingsworth There in Pinches and Spudders Get Jump On Exporters

BEAUMONT, June 28.—Hollingsworth led the Exporters down with one earned run here today and the Spudders took the opening game of the series, 6 to 2. The only other run made off him came when Danny Gross knocked one over a man on third. The Spudders were wild throughout the contest, but he was invincible with men on the bags. He fanned ten of the nine clubs sent by his strike-force and went to three on base.

Up to the eighth the game was a hurling duel between "Holly" and Humphries, but the honors even, but the Beaumont batsmen, the Spudders, knocked in the first run with a slashing single, and his double over the right field fence in the eighth with the bases full was sufficient to win the game.

The big stick of "Caddy" Works played a prominent part in Humphries' downfall. This first baseman knocked in the first run with a slashing single, and his double over the right field fence in the eighth with the bases full was sufficient to win the game.

Works knocked the ball down the line by tripping one out of the hole via right field covering Clark and McDonald and putting Miller on third. Kitchens kept up the fusillade by slamming a hard

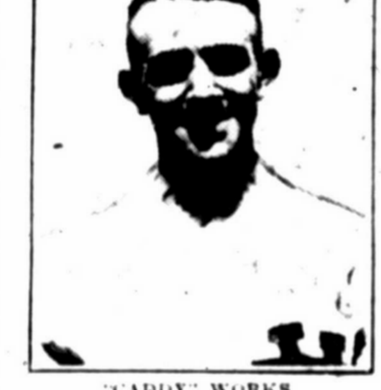

DELAY BASEBALL TRIAL ACCOUNT ZORK'S ABSENCE

CHICAGO, June 27.—Trial of 15 baseball players and alleged gamblers indicted in connection with the 1919 world series scandal was held over until Wednesday today when 10 of the defendants had appeared in court for the opening of the trial.

The delay was caused by Judge Friend's ruling that Carl Zork of St. Louis, one of the defendants, must be in court Wednesday morning. Counsel for Zork and also for Ben Franklin, another St. Louis defendant, had requested affidavits that their clients were too ill to appear.

Judge Friend ordered the state to report on the condition of Franklin at the same time.

STILL TRYING TO STOP TITLE BOUT AT JERSEY CITY

ATLANTIC CITY, June 27.—Clinton N. Howard, secretary of the International Boxing Bureau, left here today for Camden where he said he would appear before Vice-Chancellor Leaming to seek an injunction to prevent the Dempsey-Carpentier fight at Jersey City July 2. If he fails to obtain such a writ in the chancery court, Howard said he would appeal to the supreme court at Trenton.

JERSEY CITY, June 27.—Governor Edwards today declared that any attempt to stop the Dempsey-Carpentier fight would be a waste of time. Of course, I don't know what Mr. Howard may have up his sleeve," said the governor. "This exhibition will be conducted strictly according to the law. I am sure of that."

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright 1920 New York Tribune Inc.)

THE UPSET.
The closer a bewildered, shambling party known as Old Doc Times drag us to the approaching hourlies at Jersey City, the more it begins to look as if Mons. Georges Carpentier of Lille and Paris, France, will be forced to depend for success upon what is technically known as "The Upset." Now dependence upon "The Upset" doesn't mean a total loss. Not a bit of it. Sport has been littered with upsets for ages, and the hitting process will continue for ages to come, or until the age we inhabit today will be known as dim and distant times to future generations.

MATHEMATICS OF THE OCCASION.
What has Carpentier to offer in the way of a successful war? About as follows—proved to date:

1. Speed—especially of the leading hands.
2. Skill—Skill in attack and skill in defense.
3. Experience—Dating back a dozen years.
4. The prime of fighting life—age twenty-seven.
5. Intelligence—Meaning also coordination of brain and muscle.
6. Punching power fully capable of inflicting painful damage.

DEMPSEY'S ASSETS.
What then, has Dempsey to pit against this array?

1. Speed—especially of the leading hands.
2. Skill—that is, perhaps more fighting intuition, the knack of his trade.
3. Experience—against harder men in late years than Carpentier has met.
4. The prime of the golden prime of athletic competition.
5. Ring craft—that is, something well above mere brute force.
6. Punching power that belongs to both hands—not to the right alone.
7. Greater physical stamina, including greater ability to take punishment.
8. Greater weight and greater strength—with twenty pounds to spare.

THE WINNING FACTORS.
If Carpentier was twenty pounds heavier, if he was more roughly built to stand wear and tear, if it was known that he could take fully as much punishment without being slowed down, if he had a trifle more of his left, he would stand at least upon even terms with the champion. But these are the winning factors that in addition belong to Dempsey. Considering the lightning rapidity of Dempsey's hands and his fighting knack, in speed and skill he can land upon Carpentier's jawbone or sink into the pit of his stomach.

BACK TO THE UPSET.
This margin can only be wiped out by Carpentier, through his speed and skill, slipping a sudden, early punch through his opponent's defense that may quickly change the tide of the battle.

DEMPSEY'S ADVANTAGE.
This possibility gives Carpentier his lone chance. If he isn't able to soak Dempsey solidly upon some vulnerable sector in the first two or three rounds, he is quite likely to stop at least one lashing wallop in that period of time, and after that he may plunge into sudden and serious trouble. If Dempsey can knock the giant Willard down with a left hook, no vivid imagination is required to land upon Carpentier's jawbone or sink into the pit of his stomach.

DEMPSEY'S ADVANTAGE.
So the one thing that makes Carpentier a possibility, if not a probability, are the weapons that in addition belong to Dempsey. Considering the lightning rapidity of Dempsey's hands and his fighting knack, in speed and skill he can land upon Carpentier's jawbone or sink into the pit of his stomach.

SPORTS SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

And still we can't gain.
We're not losing ground, anyway. The Panthers will have to crack soon. It will be alright if we don't crack at the same time.

"Holly" had the bugs worried all afternoon, but he wavered only once. At that he didn't follow. He was in the Exporters' needed it. One run was scored on an infield out and the other was the result of an error. A few bases on balls are nothing in his young life.

It took "Caddy" Works a long time to break a nail game, but he finally did it. He was in the Exporters' needed it. One run was scored on an infield out and the other was the result of an error. A few bases on balls are nothing in his young life.

There are numerous sidewalk rums afloat to the effect that either Harry Lee or "Dutch" Schliebner, or both, are coming to Wichita Falls. As far as we have been able to learn, they originated on the sidewalk and have no foundation in fact. It's hard to see why the Crabs would let Schliebner go at this stage of the race. They are in it just as much as the Spudders and should they part with the Flying Dutchman they would be just as badly off as we are.

A team is supposed to be just as strong as its utility men. Maybe we'll have a chance now to see just how strong the Kalmiteas really are. It will be a sorry day for Walter if both Feacher and Rotfuss are out of the game for any length of time.

Suppose you have all noticed how Hill, Harper et al have been going lately.

Reserved seats for the Panther series in Fort Worth may be placed on sale here later in the week. Stocker brothers have wired for a block of seats for both Sunday's and Monday's contests.

Ticket speculators in New York have advertised tickets for the big bout at prices ranging from $45 to $100 apiece, according to the location. Several sales of a pair of front row seats for $1,000 have been reported.

Should Dempsey happen to slip over the baymaker in the first or second round, there's going to be a big holler from those who have parted with a big wad of the long green. It is almost impossible to keep the duets out of the arena, but that's not our business. Bound to hurt the game just the same.

The arena is certainly a mammoth structure, but one writer aptly put it, "It is not true that a five dollar seat is in Philadelphia."

DIG ARENA IS READY TO PACK IN OVER 60,000 FIGHT FANS

Structure on "Boyle's Thirty Acres" Awaits Inspection of Government Officials.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The greatest arena ever built is ready to accommodate approximately 70,000 spectators when Champion Jack Dempsey meets George Carpentier in Jersey City, July 2.

Since April 21, more than 600 workmen have been distributed over all sections of the huge octagonal saucer which grows daily under their tattoo of hammers until today, when their labor was completed. The great reinforced structure, covering a third of the tract known as "Boyle's Thirty Acres," awaits the inspection of government engineers and the installation of telegraph wires through which millions of persons, compared to whom the 70,000 actual spectators will be numerically insignificant, will see the "Battle of the Century" through their mind's eye.

Twenty-five minutes from Broadway and Forty-second street, a more advantageous site for the contest could not have been chosen. Tube trains under the Hudson river will carry thousands of persons to the arena.

Longest Arena Ever Built. The arena is the largest ever built by Richard Aronson other promoter for a boxing contest. It exceeds by far the amphitheater in which Johnson and Jeffries met in 1915 at Reno, Nev., and also the one where Jess Willard lost his title to Jack Dempsey at Toledo, Ohio, two years ago. It has been built at a cost of $2,000,000. Two and a half million feet of lumber, equal to 475,000 or about 140 carloads, have been used in the construction.

Better than ever before at a boxing bout, holders of reserved seats will be protected at Jersey City on July 2. Long experience in the psychology of "tight crowds" has taught Tex Rickard the wisdom of precaution. Fences with barbed wire barricades will mark the limits of the various seat sections, to which the crowd will have access through 19 entrances. Every seat, except the 25 general admissions, has been reserved, and the holder of a $10 or a $20 seat will enter the walk to the desired point of vantage with as much ease and certainty, Richard Aronson, as the purchaser of an orchestra seat in a metropolitan theater.

Advance sales have indicated that a greater proportion of spectators will attend the bout than has ever been the case in a title match heretofore. Rickard has declared that nearly one-fourth of the crowd will be composed of families. Boxes, immediately in the rear of the 250 seats, have been constructed with the aim of accommodating "box parties" comfortably.

Numerous groups of officials, including Governor Edwards of New Jersey and his staff, Mayor Hague of Jersey City and possibly Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general of the United States, will add to the color and the quality of the unusual throng.

Only in the varying distances at which the different priced seats are located from the ring will they vary in discomfort. Persons in every part of the arena will have a clear view of the boxers throughout. No posts, poles or obstructions will hamper the vision. From the ring, raised about five feet above the level of the ground, the seats extend in a gentle slope upward in every direction for approximately 300 feet, making the breadth of the arena, from side to side, slightly more than 600 feet. The structure, at its most distant point, is 28 feet high.

Fans, curiosity-seekers and the hang-around families to every boxing crowd, have made life a bit irksome for the forces of watchmen whom Richard has installed at the arena, on day and night shifts, for protective purposes. Refreshment tents and booths for those who will "soft drink, peanuts, cigarettes and soft drinks" are being set up in the big enclosure within the past week. War prices for these commodities may prevail, but as yet no one has been known to complain. To check a menu or give an inkling of the cost of edibles to the intending purchasers.

Inside and outside the arena, the big bout promoter is furnishing the most careful care which the patrons of boxing ever have witnessed.

DEVOL, OKLA., June 28.—Devol defeated Bridgetown here Sunday in one of the best played games of the season, 6 to 1. Referee, the Detroit boxer, was in great form and allowed only two hits, both of which were garnered by Ted Johnson, Frasier, who worked on the mound for Bridgetown, was on the eighth after pitching straight ball, and the winners pushed across five centers which suited the game. Devol has won 415 out of eight games this year. Bridgetown won a game earlier in the season from them while Duncan was victorious in one game.

DEMPSEY'S TRAINING GRIND ALMOST OVER

Holds Secret Workout in Front of Only Two Spectators—in Far From State.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 28.—Jack Dempsey today is within forty-eight hours from the end of his training grind. The champion is scheduled to do his last boxing in public this afternoon and tomorrow. After the secret workout with his heavyweights yesterday, Dempsey probably will box the lighter man-in-camp in the two final sessions with the gloves.

The champion and his handlers had no explanation to offer today for the secret workout yesterday afternoon, when he toiled for fifty-five minutes at top speed with only two spectators watching him. Dempsey worked out in the stuffy old hangar a quarter of a mile back of his camp after announcement was made that he would take a day off. He successfully evaded newspaper men who were thrown off the scent by the announcement that "the champion had left camp with his two dogs to have them sheared. Two correspondents, however, managed to get by the guard at the gates, along with battling Nelson, former lightweight champion.

"Jack simply felt he wanted to work and he decided to do it on a midget's notice," said Teddy Hayes, trainer of the champion.

"We thought he was going to lose all day. But after he took one of the ordered the sparring partners into their clothes and went after them."

Jack in Far West State. Perhaps the reason the titleholder decided to work in secret was to satisfy himself that he had not gone stale or showed up in his boxing or foot speed. Some noted trainers and athletes have been rather strong in their criticism that they believed Dempsey was too finely drawn, that he had over-trained and was on the verge of going stale. But the champion in his workout yesterday satisfied those privileged to watch it, that he is at the top of his form and in no danger of going stale.

Dempsey had not finished driving powerful rights and lefts into the heavy fist stuffed bag before he broke out into profuse perspiration. He started his practice with three rounds of punching the light bag and then waded into the heavy swinging target. He worked for nearly an hour with only intervals of thirty seconds between three minute rests.

When Dempsey started to work in earnest of looking, as Manager Jack K. he had instructed before leaving for New York, he called over to the house where the sparring partners were doing and told them to come down to the old airplane shed. O'Hara who boxed the first two rounds, was so tired at the finish that he sat down and rested for a few minutes before going on the others. His face was puffed and his ribs were sore from the punching Jack gave him.

The champion set a furious pace from the start. He battered Williams with less concern than the western sparring mate deserved. Several of his blows to the body forced Williams to grunt with pain and retreat.

Judge C. B. Bennett of Philadelphia, referee at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival and a former Olympic champion, watched the workout as the guest of James F. Dougherty, the Philadelphia referee and friend of the champion.

Mirages were known of in ancient times.

SEVERE BREAK IN CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET

WHEAT AT CHICAGO REGISTERS DECLINE UP TO NINE CENTS

CHICAGO, June 23.—Severe breaks in the price of wheat took place today, some sales showing a loss of as much as nine cents a bushel, compared with yesterday's finish. Free selling on the part of country delivery was largely responsible. July delivery fell to $1.191 and closed greatly unsettled at all the way from $1.191 to $1.23.

Unpromising economic conditions, including possibilities of railroad and elevator strikes, added considerably to the weight of selling pressure and tended to stall demand.

It was also pointed out that the harvest of winter wheat has had an unusually early start this season and that the hedging of new wheat has found the market without the usual volume of support from export and speculative sources.

KANSAS CITY, June 23.—July wheat futures dropped ten and a quarter cents at the close of trading today, and September declined six and three-eighths cents. Expectation of heavy receipts was ascribed as the reason.

Closed today at $1.041 against a close yesterday of $1.121, and September finished today at $1.091 and yesterday's close was $1.151.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 23.—Wheat futures broke more than nine cents a bushel here today, with extreme declines of nine and one-half cents for July, and eight and one-half cents for September from yesterday's closing prices.

Declines today in cash wheat ranged from 2 to 22 cents.

EVERYTHING READY FOR FRIDAY'S CELEBRATION

Many From This City Expected to Attend—Ellenville Next Objective of Line.

South Bend, Young county town, was linked with Wichita Falls before noon Tuesday when the tracks of the Wichita Falls & Southern entered that community.

With completion of the line into South Bend, everything is now set for that community's celebration next Friday and Saturday, and a large number from this city will go down on the first train Friday to participate in the festivities.

South Bend is the second important community to be reached by the Wichita Falls & Southern's extension, Graham being the first. The next will be Ellenville, toward which the track gangs are rapidly pushing the steel southward from the Brasos.

FIN PIECES OF SAW IN SEARCHING JAIL
Sheriff to Limit Number of Visitors—Prisoners Hear Lull With Much Disfavor.

A careful shake-down of the county jail was in progress at a late hour Tuesday. Half of the jail had been searched but only two small pieces of saw were found, and one claw hammer.

In view of the breaking down of one of the large cells and the "near" escape of Heine Jackson, the sheriff has had the jail searched for saws and other tools that visitors will be few and far between.

Near relatives of prisoners will be allowed two visits a month, while all other visitors must show good reason for gaining admittance.

The order of the sheriff was made known to the prisoners and was received with disfavor. One man who has been in the county jail for nearly ten months and who is awaiting a decision from the court of criminal appeals stated that he had tried to be a good fellow and that some day he would be on the ground, at which time some one had better be careful.

KU KLUX DELIVER A DIFFERENT MESSAGE

Letter Containing $100 in Left at Protestant Orphan Home at San Antonio.

SAN ANTONIO, June 23.—Bringing a gift to charity and a message of hope and good cheer, the Ku Klux made its first public appearance in San Antonio Tuesday morning.

As the sun peeped through the trees that surround the Protestant orphan's home in West End this morning, an automobile with curtains loosely drawn stopped at the gate. Three men alighted, walked quickly along the pathway and tapped upon the doorway that leads into the hall.

As Mrs. Ida Blagg, matron, opened the door, one of the three placed a sheet of paper and a package of currency in her hand and, turning abruptly, re-entered the automobile and quickly drove away.

The paper proved to be a letter bearing the signature of the Ku Klux Klan. The package of bills contained $100, a donation to the support of the home. The letter, of which there were four copies, contained a copy each to the three daily newspapers in San Antonio.

It contained a warning to evil-doers of all races and a promise of protection and aid to the innocent and weak and the hope "that our work may eventually result in the coming of a day when the orphan's home of the future will only be a matter of history."

STREET CAR LOOP TO INCLUDE SCOTT NOW BEING URGED

COUNCIL HEARS OF MOVE TO RUN LINE ON SEVENTH AND ON SCOTT.

SIGN POLE ORDINANCE PASSED MONDAY NIGHT

Measure Changing Names of Twenty Streets Also Enacted—Discuss Key Rate Changes.

A street car loop down Ninth to Ohio, on Ohio to Seventh west on Seventh to Scott and south on Scott to Ninth may result from the traction company's application for an amended franchise, it developed at the city council meeting Monday night.

Councilman Shepherd said that a movement had been started by interested business men to change the route of the proposed new loop so as to include four blocks instead of one, he pointed out that the suggested loop would provide street car service for all the large business buildings and that with two blocks of the line on Seventh, the extension to the Riverside district and to North Wichita, said to be on the traction company's program, would be facilitated.

The council took no action on the ordinance, which is to have a public hearing last Tuesday night. Councilman local suggested that some time this week the council should carefully go over the proposed changes so as to be able to pass on the matter before the public hearing.

The council also passed finally the ordinance changing the names of a number of streets that are duplicative, this being another measure that has been pending for some time. It was reported that some objections to the measure had been raised by abstractors, but Councilman Currier pointed out that it would be folly to continue to have duplicated names for the streets.

A four-cent reduction in the fire insurance key rate is possible for this city, Fire Chief Melius told the council, by constructing fire screens in the alarm-control room and by employing four additional firemen. The recommendations were referred to Councilman Currier. Four more firemen would cost $8,000 a year, it was stated, and members of the council doubted whether the saving to be obtained would offset that expenditure.

Permission to establish a grocery store at the corner of Speedway and Holliday road was granted to W. Edgin and K. R. Krebs upon presentation of the required petition.

On behalf of a number of Sibley-Taylor property owners, Frederick Thompson raised the question of gas and electric service for that section. Action on this matter was delayed pending submission of petitions.

DONLEY COUNTY REPORTS SPLENDID CROP PROSPECTS

CLARENDON, TEXAS, June 28.—Donley county looks for a bumper crop in its crops. Alfalfa has been cut once, the wheat is now being harvested, cotton and small grain looking fine everywhere. While the recent rains have hurt some cotton on the low lands, it has proved beneficial to all crops. All the farmers in Donley county are happy with their crops. Roads are getting better and tourists passing through every day.

During the war the population of Moscow grew from 125,000 to nearly three millions because refugees kept crowding to the industrial centers.

ANOTHER CONTEST BETWEEN CLUBS IS SCHEDULED FRIDAY

Tickets for the Wichita-Kiwanis club base ball game next Friday went on sale Tuesday morning and officials of the two contending organizations were hoping to dispose of a large portion of the pastebards before night.

A number of local boy scout troops have been enlisted in the selling campaign and are to make a canvass of the business section during the week. As an incentive, they have been offered prizes amounting to $25 in merchandise, this to go to the troop selling the largest number of tickets.

General admission seats will also be on sale at Tipton's and the Kemp hotel drug store, and there is a possibility of their being placed in other business houses during the day. Box seats are being sold by John O'Donohue and Martin Rowe.

Every cent derived from sale of seats to the game is to be turned into a fund for the benefit of this city's deserving poor, any expenses arising being borne by the clubs and their individual members.

Ed Gaines, chairman of the Kiwanis club committee, has repeated his belief that every Kiwanian in Wichita Falls who can possibly do so be on hand at 5:15 Tuesday afternoon when the game is to be played through their first practice at Spudder park.

INCREASE PENALTY AND BOOTLEGGING WILL END DECLARES U. S. ATTORNEY

EL PASO, June 28.—Tighten the enforcement of prohibition laws and "bootlegging" will be broken up within six months, is the opinion of E. B. Elfers, assistant United States attorney for the western district of Texas. Mr. Elfers probably has prosecuted and secured more convictions under the national prohibition act than any other prosecutor in the department of justice, according to Federal Judge W. R. Smith of El Paso, largely on account of the docket here being unusually heavy.

"Let congress fix two years in the penitentiary as a maximum for the first offense under the Volstead act and the violation of the law will be fewer," Mr. Elfers said. "As the law stands the maximum penalty for the first bootlegging offense is a fine of $500. If the bootlegger pays this amount he goes free. Since he stands to make $2,000 on a load of liquor if he gets through with it, the compensation is sufficient inducement for the unscrupulous to take the risk."

"If he has not the money to pay his fine, the liquor runner goes to jail for 30 days and at the end of that time takes the pauper's oath that he has not the money for the fine and goes free.

"There have been remarkably few second convictions for which a prison term is the penalty. If the bootlegger knew that he was facing a two-year term in the penitentiary, he would not be so free to take the first chance."
