GOVERNOR FURNISHES EVIDENCE PURPORTING TO PROVE HIS CHARGES

AUSTIN, July 22.—Evidence purporting to substantiate Governor Neff's charges of graft in certain state departments became property of the appropriations committee of the house at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Representative Lee Satterwhite, chairman of the house appropriations committee, named by the house this morning to secure the evidence from the governor, held a conference with the chief executive at 2 o'clock.

The evidence has not yet been presented to the committee, but Satterwhite said it probably would be presented some time today. He does not anticipate publicity to the evidence before Saturday. Six volumes of stenographic reports covering the prison investigation, letters unknown as to contents, and other miscellaneous data made up the parcel of evidence Governor Neff turned over to Satterwhite.

The committee probably will have some of the department heads before it tomorrow. Satterwhite heads before it tomorrow.

HALF BILLION LOST YEARLY IN WAGES IN BUILDING INDUSTRY

RESULTS FROM UNEMPLOYMENT, SAYS REPORT ENGINEERING COUNCIL.

ATTRIBUTED LARGELY TO HIGH COST OF CONSTRUCTION

Employer, Employee and Material Men Are All Blamed For Present Conditions.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Half a billion dollars a year in wages is being lost in the building industry through unemployment, declares a report made public today by the committee on elimination of waste in industry of the American Engineering Council.

The committee, headed by Herbert Hoover, when he was president of the council, asserted that the loss was caused primarily by high costs of construction.

The report said that waste was causing huge losses in building, which, including all trades and common labor, ranked second among industries and contributed more than three billion dollars yearly to the wealth of the nation.

The chief sources of waste in the industry were, according to the report, irregular employment, inefficient management and wasteful labor regulations. Customs of conditions prevailing throughout the industry and poorly designed equipment are given as secondary causes.

The annual economic loss due to accidents was estimated as high as $120,000,000. Application of safety methods, it was stated, should save the industry 12,000,000 days' work a year. Loss through duplication of estimates and designs and duplication in bidding was said to run into millions.

An acute national shortage of housing exists, the report stated, because of prohibitive construction costs to householder and banker.

Many union rules were condemned as "absolutely wrong" and both employer and employee were blamed for restriction of output.

"Union regulations in the past have produced enormous losses," said the report, "through direct or indirect restriction of output. Workmen and contractors, however, are beginning to appreciate that reduced output reacts in tremendous fashion upon themselves."

"Greater co-operation between workers and employers is an absolute essential. This co-operation must be attained before we can approach the elimination of labor difficulties. Such co-operation, however, is impossible without the removal of causes of friction and the working out of plans to this end."

The report deplores the irregularity of employment for building trades workmen, declaring that they were busy only on an average of 190 days a year. It recommended the following means of reducing reasonable unemployment:

Allowance of small margin of profit for both labor and capital during the winter months, development of methods of conducting the work in cold weather, arrangement of work to provide indoor operations in cold and stormy weather, organization of a clearing house for co-ordination of activities, increasing the usefulness of employment bureau and educating the public.

"Business, however, is not due entirely to seasonal demands."

The strike was declared to be only one of the great wastes in the building industry.

Hard to Estimate Waste.

"The waste of the men engaged, the contractor and the public is hard to estimate," it was asserted.

"If the greatest cause, the demand for an increase in wages, could be eliminated, strikes as a factor of waste would shrink into insignificance. The committee suggests itself as co-operation. Management and labor must forget the sore spots of past conflicts and through whole-hearted co-operation fix by careful study a minimum wage to correspond with a standard amount of production, with additional compensation for additional output. This would furnish an incentive to the men and would give recognition to deserving mechanics."

The "Philadelphia plan" is endorsed by the report as one of the means of adjusting labor difficulties and eliminating waste. This plan, it was stated, provides for a tribunal or council of the building industry, composed of an equal number of representatives of employer and employee.

It also proposes establishment of a central bureau through which, voluntarily, all construction programs in the territory should be cleared, including national, state, municipal and private work.

Unions are not alone blamed for restricting output by the report, which said that "contractors and builders and supply dealers affect the situation to as great a degree indirectly by maintenance of high prices, collusion of bidding and unfair practices."

Haphazard Management.

Haphazard management in planning and controlling work and lack of standards in the industry has often doubled the labor costs, states the report.

Trade unions are urged to make their service more valuable to the employer by developing and training the men in their organizations and assisting in the development of standardization of time, method and material.

"Never in the history of our country," concluded the report, "was it so important that certain fundamental principles of economics should be accepted and established as a working program. These principles will throw overboard the fallacy that restricting production can make work go further and will supplant this with the knowledge to get one must give, that to receive the equivalent must be given in money or in time or in effort and that increased returns can only be attained through increased production."

The building investigation was in charge of Sanford E. Thompson of Boston, who directed a large force of field workers who covered the entire country with special attention, the report said, being paid to representative cities such as Boston, New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, Atlanta and San Francisco.

CORPORATIONS MUST PAY CAPITAL STOCK TAX ON OR BEFORE JULY 31ST

The following statement has been issued by Cecil Reed, collector of internal revenue for the second district of Texas and has been given The Times with the request that it be published.

July 31 is the last day for filing returns of the capital stock tax. To avoid penalty, the returns must be in the hands of internal revenue collectors on or before midnight of that date.

Blank forms are available at the office of collector of internal revenue at Dallas, and at the following branch offices: Wichita, Falls, Tyler, Fort Worth and Abilene. Form 707 is required for domestic and form 708 for foreign corporations.

The capital stock tax is a special excise tax imposed on corporations with respect to "carrying on or doing business." The tax on domestic corporations is $1 for each $1,000 or so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30 as is in excess of $5,000.

Foreign corporations are required to pay a tax at the rate of $1 for each $1,000 of their capital employed in the transaction of business in the United States without the benefit of the $5,000 deduction. The tax is payable in advance, returns filed in July of this year covering the taxable year beginning July 1, 1921, and ending June 30, 1922.

The bureau of internal revenue estimates that approximately 325,000 such returns will be filed and that the amount of revenue derived from this source will be approximately $90,000,000.

Returns are required of every domestic corporation, regardless of the par value of its capital stock, and of every foreign corporation irrespective of the amount of capital employed in this country in the transaction of its business. Certain corporations not organized for profit are exempt from the tax.

Copies of which may be obtained at the following offices: Dallas, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Tyler and Abilene. Corporations claiming exemption are required to file returns setting forth their reasons for such claims, accompanied by evidence in support thereof. If, because of lack of complete data or other reasons than illness or absence, it is impossible to file a complete return on or before July 31, a tentative return may be filed, reporting the approximate value in order that an initial assessment may be made, thus avoiding penalty.

The penalty for failure to file a return within the time prescribed in an added assessment of 25 per cent of the amount due unless it is shown that the failure was due to reasonable cause and not neglect.

In addition to the added assessment a fine of not more than $1,000 is provided for failure to make a return on time. For willful refusal to make a return, willful evasion of the tax, willful refusal to supply information requested by the commissioner, or attempting in any way to evade the tax and payment when due, the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

With a view to the prompt collection of the capital stock tax, and for the convenience of the taxpayer as well as the government, the bureau suggests that corporations submit checks with the returns for the amount of tax

'T WAS A LUCKY DAY STATES TEXAS MAN

Houston Citizen Was About to Give Up But Finds Just What He Most Needed

"I never had much faith in medicine, but Tanlac has convinced me that there is one, at least, that does what they say it will do," said Harry Davidson, well-known wood carver and designer living at 217 East Ninth street, Houston, Texas.

"I certainly would be hard to please if I wasn't satisfied with what Tanlac did for me. I was run down for a year and was mighty nervous all the time. At times my head ached so bad I could hardly stand it and I was awfully bilious and constipated. I got to where I could scarcely do my work and began to be alarmed for fear I would have to quit altogether."

"It certainly was a lucky day for me when a friend dropped in and advised me to take Tanlac. This medicine suited my case exactly and I believe reached every nerve and muscle in my body. My whole system just feels like it had been made over again, and it has been many a day since I was as full of life and energy as I am now. After what it has done for me I am convinced that it is just the thing folks in a weak and run-down condition, for there is something about it that builds a man up and makes him feel fine."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarleton Drug Store, in Burkburnett by West End Drug Co., and by all leading druggists—adv.

ELECTRIC COMPANY HOST TO WICHITANS THURSDAY EVENING

INSPECTION OF BIG PLANT, BARBECUE AND SHORT PROGRAM ARE FEATURES OF VISIT.

"FIRST AID" EXHIBITION IS GIVEN BY COMPANY

Speakers Tell History of Plant and of Part it is Now Playing in City and Section.

An inspection of the power plant, a first class barbecue and a number of interesting talks combined Thursday evening to make Peter Rogers' party an occasion of marked enjoyment for members of the Rotary club and a number of invited guests. About 150 responded to Mr. Rogers' invitation, the occasion being planned to better acquaint Wichitans with the institution that serves not only this city, but a considerable part of northwest Texas.

A very interesting feature of the meeting was a "first aid" demonstration. Illustrating the most recent methods in which the electric company specializes and which it is helping to inculcate in school children in this city. The visit to the plant was a revelation to the Wichitans who had not seen it before. Representatives of the company explained the workings and purposes of the big and mysterious looking pieces of equipment whose steady throbbings make it possible for people 30 miles away to read by electric light after supper in their homes. "Probably few of the visitors realized, and the guide neglected to tell them, that there are few plants in the southwest as large or as efficiently operated as that in Wichita Falls.

A barbecue supper, with all fixings, including P. A. Rogers' own special brand of coca cola, followed, and the guests then seated themselves in an improvised outdoor auditorium. After a brief session of the Rotary club, President Robbins of that organization turned the meeting over to A. E. Myles as toastmaster. Mr. Myles said that the plant was an exemplification of the Rotary principle of service, and he called upon Frank Kell to tell something of the history of the plant.

Mr. Kell described some of the early vicissitudes of the plant, saying that at first, electric light fixtures were used as ornaments in Wichita Falls homes, but that no one thought of trying to depend on them for service. Discarding the present ownership of the property, Mr. Kell declared them to be western-raised men, with the broad constructive spirit that has come to be recognized as typically western. Other speakers were F. N. Lawton, C. W. Beavers, Orville Bullington and Hugh N. Fitzgerald, who discussed, humorously and otherwise, various phases of the plant and its part in Wichita Falls. P. A. Rogers, in a brief expressing appreciation of the response to his invitation, told of those associated with him in the early current to northwest Texas. He mentioned Jimmy Lyle, in charge of the high tension wires; J. W. Thorn, in charge of motors and plant superintendent, and last but not least, A. E. Kelly, who has to do with the familiar little blue "bards."

"First Aid" Exhibition.

Those present heard plans of the campaign the Wichita Falls Electric company is following in the way of teaching the general public the value of knowing the prone pressure method of resuscitation, which has proven so successful in reviving persons knocked out by drowning, gas asphyxiation, smoke and electric shock. The prone pressure method is being universally adopted as the best method to administer artificial respiration to persons affected by the above mentioned causes.

The ever increasing number of swimming pools being installed increases the value of the prone pressure method of resuscitation to the individual. By this method records show that people have been revived after other known applications have failed. It is endorsed by the most eminent physicians of the country.

C. J. Rutland, safety engineer of the Wichita Falls Electric company, gave an actual demonstration of the method.

ASK LEGISLATURE TO ADOPT PRINCIPLE OF RIGID ECONOMY

MEETING HERE FRIDAY URGES THAT TAX RATE BE CUT TO LOWEST POSSIBLE.

RESOLUTION WILL BE FORWARDED TO AUSTIN

Will Urge That Present Business Conditions Be Considered in Making Appropriations.

A motion calling upon the state legislature, now meeting in called session, to exercise the most rigid economy possible in making appropriations in order that the tax rate may be kept down, was adopted Friday morning at a meeting of the Wichita Falls business men at the chamber of commerce rooms.

A resolution setting forth this plea will be prepared shortly and forwarded to the legislators.

Those present at the meeting took the view that, considering present business and financial conditions throughout Texas, the tax burden should be at the very lowest possible commensurate with the state's needs.

Present were G. C. Wood, Hugh N. Fitzgerald, W. S. Curlee, Frank Kell, E. H. Clark, E. Stanley Field, C. J. Shumaker, Orville Bullington, C. C. Cabiness, R. E. Shepherd, N. H. Martin and J. W. Chatham Jr. Mr. Curlee presided and J. W. Chatham Jr. acted as secretary.

HEART TROUBLE FATAL TO MRS. W. A. BARRON FRIDAY

Mrs. W. A. Barron, aged 42, dropped dead at her home two miles east of town on the Petrolia road at 12:30 a. m. Friday. She was taken suddenly ill at midnight and in less than thirty minutes had expired. Heart trouble was ascribed as the cause.

She is survived by her husband and several small children, all of whom were with her at the time of death. The body was removed to the Hines undertaking parlors and is being held there pending funeral services, which will probably be some time Saturday.

"In any of these cases, first turn the victim on his stomach, face downward, and resting on one of his arms, bent at the elbow. Feel with your finger in his mouth and throat to pull out his tongue if partially swallowed or remove any foreign substance. If mouth is tight shut pay no more attention to it until later. Kneel, straddling the patient's hips. Place the palm of your hand on the small of his back, with the fingers spread over the lowest ribs, and it is only necessary to get the respiratory organs to function again. The method is the one-man method and requires no equipment, only the hands."

"With your arms held straight, swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually brought to bear upon the subject as in figure 2. Do not hurry or become excited. Remember that the patient, in order to be brought back to life, must breathe regularly, or just as you ordinarily breathe. Guide yourself in each act by your own deep, regular respiration. Continue resuscitation, if necessary, four hours or longer without interruption or until natural breathing is restored or until stiffening of the body has set in."

The method was successfully administered in Wichita Falls last May by J. W. Lyle, an employe of the Wichita Falls Electric company, when W. O. Dougherty, a fellow employe, received an electric shock while working near the American refinery. Mr. Dougherty was completely knocked out and out-siders had given him up for dead when Mr. Lyle straddled him and signs of life appeared after ten minutes' work.

E. A. Rogers, manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company, has tendered the services of his resuscitation committee to teach the method to any body of people or individuals who would like to know it.

9TH STREET PAVING NEARS COMPLETION. 8TH TO COME NEXT

Another ten days will see the Ninth street paving project practically completed. City Engineer Montgomery stated Friday morning, while work on the Eighth street project will probably be started not later than Monday of next week.

The crushed rock base over which the bitulithic surface will be spread was being put down Friday on the one remaining block on Ninth, and with the exception of about 100 feet where it crosses tracks running into the car barn all of the base will be laid by the end of the week. Until the tracks are lowered by the street car company the street cannot be finished.

The Eighth street paving, which is to extend from Bluff to Brook street, a distance of four blocks, will also be of the bitulithic composition. Concrete curbing has already been installed along the sides of the new paving route.

FUNERAL OF N. N. DURRETT IS HELD FRIDAY MORNING

SERVICE SCHOOL TO TRAIN POLICE PLANNED BY FITTS

NEW POLICE COMMISSIONER AD DRESSES MEETING OF OFFICERS THURSDAY NIGHT.

MUST LEARN CITY SO AS TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Pleas For Complete Harmony Between Departments And With County Officers.

A service school designed to more thoroughly educate Wichita Falls policemen in all things pertaining to their duties as servants of the public will be started within a short time. J. R. Fitts, newly elected police and fire commissioner, stated Thursday night when he addressed a public meeting in the city hall. About thirty officers and several civilians were present at the time.

The course of instruction will be in the nature of informal "tag" meetings, at which time ideas for the improvement of the department will be submitted and comments on existing conditions in the city, as applied to the police, thrashed out. "Recitations" will probably be held once a week in the police court room, Fitts said.

In his talk the commissioner emphasized the fact that complete harmony between all members of the force, as well as between the heads of departments and between city and county officers, was one of the things which ### he especially desired to see brought about. Maximum efficiency is impossible where such a condition does not exist, he declared, and then stated that it was his earnest wish to place Wichita Falls police department on a plane second to none in the country.

He also advocated a study of the geographical features of the city, such as learning names and locations of streets, so that strangers coming into town could be directed intelligently by officers. Courtesy to strangers and citizens alike was insisted upon by the commissioner.

No mention was made of further changes in the personnel of the department by Mr. Fitts and officials accept of this as an indication that no more were to be made.

Several policemen volunteered short talks at the conclusion of Mr. Fitts' address, and all heartily endorsed the policies outlined by their boss. A general handshaking ended the conference. Chief Morgan was unable to be present because of illness.

$500 BOND FOR NEGRO IN CHOCTAW BEER CASE

George Anderson, negro, was placed under $500 bond by United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz Friday morning upon preliminary hearing of his case in which he stands charged with selling choctaw beer. The arrest was made in Young county upon a warrant issued from the United States district court. He went to jail in default of bond.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT IDENTIFIES PICTURE OF GIRL AT DENVER

POSITIVE SHE IS FORMER STUDENT NORTH TEXAS NORMAL COLLEGE.

TELLS HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES THAT SHE WAS KIDNAPED

Escapes Captors, She Says, and Came To Wichita Falls and Later Landed in Denver.

DENTON, TEXAS, July 22.—Positive identification of a young girl in a Denver hospital as Miss Connie Phillips of Rosston, Texas, was made here today by Dr. T. H. Bruce, president of the North Texas Normal college, from a photograph forwarded from Denver. Miss Phillips was former student of the college and withdrew on July 6. On July 12 she was picked up in Denver with her mind blank, Mr. Bruce said. The girl claimed to have been kidnaped, according to Mr. Bruce, who said his attention was called to the case three days ago.

TELLS OF KIDNAPING AND OF ESCAPE FROM CAPTORS

DENVER, COLO., July 22.—The young woman who has been at the Denver city and county hospital unidentified since July 12, Thursday, admitted to Dr. J. R. Jaeger, acting resident physician that she was Miss Connie Phillips of Rosston, Texas. The girl said she was kidnaped by a man and a woman "with red hair" from Denton, Texas.

The young woman admitted she was Miss Phillips after the physician told her he had a telegram from Denton saying she was missing and described her. The girl told a story about how she came to Denver from a little normal school at Denton.

Miss Phillips said a man and woman came to her and asked her to go to Grayson, Texas, to inspect a school with a view to teaching there this coming winter. The girl said she had taught school and was taking a summer course at Denton. She accepted the invitation and got into a car with the couple and started away with two suit cases containing clothing.

"After we had driven about 50 miles or more," Miss Phillips told the physician, "I became suspicious that we were not going to Grayson. I protested and was bound, gagged and drugged. After a while I recovered enough to hear what was being said. I pretended to sleep and heard the couple plan to murder me as they said I greatly resembled a niece of theirs who was an heiress and whose money they would get if it got out that she was dead."

"I decided to escape if possible and struggled free and got away. I was not far from Wichita Falls, Texas, I found, so I walked to that city carrying my two suit cases. I was dazed and did not realize just where I was or what I was doing until I arrived in Denver. Then I became dazed again. I had not been able to remember until today who I was."

Miss Phillips said she left Denton at midnight July 6. She arrived here about July 19. It is believed, registered under an assumed name at a local hotel and on July 12 fainted in a downtown office building and was taken to the city and county hospital. The name of a shoe company was found in her shoes, but the address had been cut out. It was found later the shoe company was located at Denton.

The girl said that she had had trouble at home. She said she had a stepfather by the name of Hester who with her mother, lives at Rosston, Texas. Neurologists who questioned her declared the girl was shamming. A telegram received tonight from the sheriff of Cooke county, Texas, at Gainesville, asked local authorities to hold the girl until her relatives, who were to start immediately, could reach Denver. The telegram said the girl had been missing since July 6.

ANONYMOUS LETTER WARNS MECHANIC TO QUIT CITY BY FRIDAY

An anonymous letter warning him to leave Wichita Falls by Friday night was received today by J. H. Samuelson, who is employed at the Callahan repair shop at Sixth and Indiana. The letter, written on a piece of paper, was found by Samuelson on the bureau in his room. It closed with the words "You know why." Later Jack Callahan, Samuelson's employer, received a warning to discharge Samuelson. "They'd better leave me alone," Samuelson said Friday. "I have no idea why anyone should have it in for me like that, but if they start anything, I'll be ready for them."

ILLNESS FATAL TO HEAD OF BUSINESS COLLEGE THURSDAY

John R. Blyew, aged 37, died Thursday afternoon in a local hospital after a protracted period of illness which resulted in his being stricken with pernicious anemia about two weeks ago. He had been in poor health for several months, it is said, and the serious illness suffered early in July left him with but a scant chance of life. Mr. Blyew was president and general manager of the National School of Business in this city and had built up a wide circle of friends during his connection with the institution. He opened the school in 1917, shortly after his arrival in the city, and had built it up till at the time of his death it was one of the leaders of its kind in the state.

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD THURSDAY FOR LITTLE ELIZABETH HANKS

Funeral services for Elizabeth Hanks, aged four years, who died Wednesday afternoon from an appendicitis operation in a local hospital, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the First Methodist church south, with Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker officiating. The little girl was taken ill early in the week and immediately rushed to the medical institution where every effort was made to save her life. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanks, 1402 Hurff street. Burial was in Rosemont burial park.

ELECTRIC IRON CAUSES FIRE ON SIXTH STREET, HOUSE BADLY DAMAGED

Fire believed to have started from an electric iron that was left connected while the family was on a picnic trip to the lake burned away the interior of a house at 1109 Sixth street, occupied by Mrs. Annie Parker, at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, causing loss estimated at between $500 and $1,000. The flames had gained such headway before being discovered that it was impossible to save anything but the frame of the building. The roof was badly damaged and the outside walls scorched, while the inner partitions and all furnishings were a complete loss. Insurance to the amount of $250 was carried on the furniture, according to reports, and some insurance was also carried on the building, which was owned by C. C. Allison of Carthage, Texas.

PUBLIC MARKET SPACE ONLY FOR THOSE WHO RAISE PRODUCTS THEMSELVES

Complaints were made Friday morning by Mrs. H. S. Crawford, chairman of the open-air market committee, that several men had usurped space on the market lot and were selling products which they had not raised themselves. A stringent rule of the market is that no one shall offer foodstuffs for sale that have not been produced by the seller. Mrs. Crawford wishes the public to understand that this rule must be strictly adhered to and that no one will be permitted to occupy space in the market grounds without having satisfied the committee of their right to do so. The unwelcome hucksters Friday were not aware of the ruling, it is said, and promptly left when informed.

MASONIC SPEAKER URGES MEMBERS TO WORK AGAINST KLAN

GRAND MASTER RANDELL SAYS KU KLUX IS BASED ON WRONG PRINCIPLES.

DELIVERS TWO ADDRESSES AT MEETING THURSDAY

Explains Working of Service Association Recently Formed to Promote Americanism.

"Such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan are irresponsible, illegal and un-American. This is a time when every Mason ought to be exerting his best influence on behalf of law and order, not against it. There may be men in those organizations whose motives are worthy, but no man has a worthy thing to accomplish needs to cover his face with a hood and go out in the darkness of night to do it."

Andrew L. Randell, grand master of Texas Masons, thus expressed Thursday night the attitude of Texas Free Masonry against the mysterious organizations who are making their presence felt in so many Texas communities.

Mr. Randell said that in some communities the name of Masonry was being linked with that of the other organization of which he spoke. He urged his hearers to do nothing that would tend to mar the institution of Masonry in such a way.

"Some day there will be a bill to pay for these outrages," he said, "and I don't intend that Masonry shall have to pay it."

This feature of Mr. Randell's address Thursday night was but one of the many that made the several hundred Masons present feel that they had seldom in their lives enjoyed two hours to better advantage.

Mr. Randell's lecture dealt largely with the purposes and work of the Masonic Service Association, an organization started on November 11, 1918, Armistice day. It is planned as a national body to unite the efforts of the various state grand lodges, each of which is supreme in its own jurisdiction.

Mr. Randell spoke Thursday night of the need for such a Masonic organization, and he dealt particularly with the subject of Americanization of one to which Masons should give their thought, attention and effort.

Mr. Randell spoke at the Masonic temple in the afternoon and at the First M. E. church at night, only Masons being admitted at either meeting. At 6:20 o'clock a buffet supper was served at the Masonic temple.

Several hundred local Masons attended the meeting in addition to a large number of visiting brothers from other points in the Wichita Falls district. P. B. Cox was chairman Thursday night and "Appell" Mr. Randell when the latter rested between portions of his lecture.

Joe Ward's Shrine band furnished music for the occasion.

DONNELLY CLAIMS CASE IS "FRAME-UP"

Burburnett Man is Bound Over in Sum of $10,000 on Statutory Charges.

Dillon Donnelly, governorman of Burburnett, was bound over to await the action of the grand jury by Judge of the Peace R. V. Gwinn, under a bond of $10,000. This bond was set late Thursday evening following a preliminary hearing on two statutory charges.

The defendant's two daughters and his wife, stepmother of the daughters, testified for the state. Donnelly pleaded his own case and cross-examined the witnesses. It appeared from the method of his cross questioning that he branded the entire affair as a frame-up to have him shipped out of the country.

Donnelly was the man who ten days ago received a warning from the K. K. K. at Burburnett to leave town and when placed under arrest a mob congregated at the city hall demanding the prisoner be turned over to them.

One of the defendant's daughters who testified against him is 17 years of age and the other is 15.

TWO NEW BUILDINGS FOR THE CLARENDON SCHOOLS

CLARENDON, TEXAS, July 22.—Two new buildings will be erected in September of the temporary type, and large enough to take care of the increased enrollment of the public schools. The school board has decided not to dispose of the bonds at this time owing to the general condition of the bond market, expecting to erect permanent buildings in another year. By this plan they expect to save at least $10,000. The new permanent buildings as planned will be a credit to our city, making this one of the best schools in the neighborhood. The board announces that the facilities for the year will be one of the strongest that the city has enjoyed in recent years and that the attendance will be one of the largest, according to present indications.

THE RED-HEADED LEAGUE

By A. CONAN DOYLE Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far: Mr. James Wilson, a stolid, stout, red-headed man, a free mason, who has been in China, visits Holmes for the purpose of obtaining help. He gives Holmes and Watson a clipping, asking them to read it.

It is dated two months before. It says that there is a vacancy in the Red-headed League, at a salary of four pounds a week. Wilson says he is a pawnbroker, whose business of late years has been a small one. He has only one assistant, a quick and reliable young man named Vincent Spaulding, whose only fault is that he is always taking photographs and running to the cellar to develop his plates. Wilson had a wife and a family, and a girl of fourteen keeps his place clean and does a little cooking. Spaulding is a widower, and has a young son in the Red-headed League, and suggested that Wilson, with his fiery red hair, apply. Wilson did so, and he was accepted on the spot, and he was given a key to the office.

The young man, Vincent Spaulding, was appointed to find Wilson not a man with a family. However, Wilson set to work. His duties consisted only in copying the Encyclopedia Britannica for four hours a day. If he left the office in these hours he would be fined. He worked comfortably, without interruption, at the job for eight weeks. That morning he found a placard on the office door saying that the Red-headed League was dissolved. He went to the manager, but Wilson had come to Holmes for help.

Holmes inquired about Spaulding. Wilson said he worked for half wages, and that he was a hairless man and had holes punched by a kippah in his ears. Holmes said he would give an opinion on the case shortly. Later he and Watson went to look at the pawnshop in Base-Coburg Square, and Wilson, with the assistance of the manager, showed them the way to the street, which he quickly gave. Then they investigated the house at the next door to the square. Then he went to the apt, and forgot his professional work.

"You want to go home, no doubt, doctor," he remarked, as we emerged. "Yes, it would be better for you. And I have some business to do which will take some hours. This business at Coburg Square is serious."

"A considerable crime is in contemplation. I have every reason to believe that we shall be in time to stop it. But today being Saturday rather than a weekday, matters, I shall want your help tonight. At what time?"

"Ten will be early enough."

"I shall be at Baker street at ten."

"Very well. And I say, doctor, there may be some little danger, so kindly put your army revolver in your pocket. He waved his hand, turned on his heel, and disappeared in an instant among the crowd.

I trust that I am not more dense than my neighbors, but I was always oppressed with a sense of my own stupidity in my dealings with Sherlock Holmes. Here I had heard what he had said, and I had seen what he had seen, and yet I was unable to see the obvious. Clearly not only what had happened, but what was about to happen, while to me the whole business was still confused and grotesque. As I drove home to my house in Kensington I thought over all from the extraordinary story of the red-headed copier of the "Encyclopaedia" down to the visit to Base-Coburg square, and the ominous words with which he had parted from me. What was this nocturnal expedition, and why should I go armed? Where were we going, and what were we to do? I had no doubt from Holmes that this smooth-faced pawnbroker's assistant was a formidable man—a man who might play a deep game. I tried to puzzle it out, but gave it up in despair, and set the matter aside until night should bring an explanation.

It was a quarter past nine when I started from home and made my way across the park, and so through Oxford street to Baker street. Two hansom cabs were standing at the door, and as I entered the passage, I heard the sound of voices from above. On entering his room I found Holmes in animated conversation with two men, one of whom I recognized as Peter Jones, the official police agent, while the other was a long, thin, sad-faced man, with a very shiny hat and oppressively respectable frock-coat.

"Hut our party is complete," said Holmes, buttoning up his pea-jacket, and taking his heavy hunting crop from the rack. "Watson, I think you know Mr. Jones of Hootland Yard? Let me introduce you to Mr. Merryweather, who is to be our companion in tonight's adventure."

"We're hunting in couples again, doctor, you see," said Jones, in his consequential way. "Our friend here is a wonderful man for starting a chase. All he wants is an old dog to help him do the running down."

"If hope of a wild goose may not prove to be the end of our chase," observed Mr. Merryweather, gloomily.

"You may place considerable confidence in Mr. Holmes' air," said Jones, "for he has his own little methods, which are, if he won't mind my saying so, just a little too theoretical and fantastic, but he has the makings of a detective in him. It is not too much to say that once or twice, as in that business of the Sholto murder and the Agra treasure, he has been more nearly correct than the official force."

"Oh, if you say so, Mr. Jones, it is all right," said the stranger, with deference. "Still, I confess that I miss my rubber. It is the first Saturday night for seven-and-twenty years that I have not had my rubber."

"I think you will find," said Sherlock Holmes, "that your friend here is a higher stake tonight than you have ever done yet, and that the play will be more exciting. For you, Mr. Merryweather, the stake will be more than the official force. Jones, it will be the man upon whom you wish to lay your hands."

"John Clay, the murderer, thief, smasher and forger. He's a young man, Mr. Merryweather, but he is at the head of his profession, and I would rather have my bracelets on him than on any criminal in London. He's a remarkable man, is your John Clay. His grandfather was a royal duke, and he himself has been to Eton and Oxford. His brain is as cunning as his fingers, and though we meet and struggle at every turn, we never know where to find the man himself. He'll crack a crib in Scotland one week, and be raising money to build an orphanage in Cornwall the next. I've been on his track for years, and have never set eyes on him yet."

"I hope that I may have the pleasure of introducing you tonight. I've had one or two little turns also with Mr. John Clay, and I agree with you that he is at the head of his profession. It is past ten, however, so we must get going at once. If you will take the first hansom, Watson and I will follow in the second."

Sherlock Holmes was not very communicative during the long drive, and lay back in the cab humming the tunes which he had heard in the afternoon. We rattled through an endless labyrinth of gas-lit streets until we emerged into Park Lane street.

"We are close there now," my friend remarked. "This fellow Merryweather is a bank director, and personally interested in the matter. I thought it as well to have Jones with us also. He is not a bad fellow though an absolute imbecile in his profession. He has one positive virtue. He is as brave as a bulldog, and as tenacious as a lobster if he gets his claws upon any one. Here we are, and they are waiting for us. We had reached the same crowded thoroughfare in which we had found ourselves in the morning. Our cabs were dismissed, and, following the guidance of Mr. Merryweather, we passed down a narrow passage and through a side door which he opened for us. Within there was a small corridor, which ended in a very massive gate. This also was opened, and we led down a flight of winding steps, which terminated at another formidable gate. Mr. Merryweather stopped to light a lantern, and then conducted us down a dark, earth-smelling passage and so, after opening a third door, into a huge vault or cellar, which was piled all round with crates and massive boxes.

"You are not very vulnerable from above," Holmes remarked, as he held up the lantern and gazed about him.

"Nor from below," said Mr. Merryweather, striking his stick upon the floor which lined the passage. "Why, dear me, it sounds quite hollow!" he remarked, looking up in surprise.

"I must really ask you to be a little more quiet," said Holmes, severely. "You have already imperiled the whole success of our expedition. Might I beg that you would have the goodness to sit down upon one of those boxes, and not to interfere?"

The solemn Mr. Merryweather perched himself upon a crate, with a very injured expression upon his face, while Holmes fell upon his knees upon the floor, and, with the lantern and magnifying lens, began to examine minutely the cracks between the stones. A few seconds sufficed to satisfy him, and he put his glass in his pocket.

"We have at least an hour before us," he remarked. "For they can hardly take steps until the good pawnbroker is safely in bed. Then they will not lose a minute, for the sooner they do their work the longer time they will have for their escape. We had better, doctor—as no doubt you have divined—in the cellar of the city branch of one of the principal London banks. Mr. Merryweather is the chairman of directors, and he will explain to you that there are reasons why the more daring criminals of London should take a considerable interest in this cellar at present."

"We have had several warnings that an attempt might be made upon it," said Mr. Merryweather, "but we have never had occasion to unpack the money, and that it is still lying in our cellar. The crate upon which I sit contains 2,000 napoleons reserved for bullion in much larger at present than is usually kept in a single branch office, and the directors have had misgivings upon the subject. We should have been very well justified," observed Holmes, "and now it is time that we arranged our little plans. I expect that within an hour matters will come to a head. In the meantime, Mr. Merryweather, we must put the screen over that dark lantern."

"It is our French gold," whispered the director. "We have had several warnings that an attempt might be made upon it."

"Your French gold?"

"Yes, we had occasion some months ago to strengthen our resources and borrowed for that purpose 30,000 napoleons from the Bank of France. It has become known that we have never had occasion to unpack the money, and that it is still lying in our cellar. The crate upon which I sit contains 2,000 napoleons reserved for bullion in much larger at present than is usually kept in a single branch office, and the directors have had misgivings upon the subject. We should have been very well justified," observed Holmes, "and now it is time that we arranged our little plans. I expect that within an hour matters will come to a head. In the meantime, Mr. Merryweather, we must put the screen over that dark lantern."

"It is our French gold," whispered the director. "We have had several warnings that an attempt might be made upon it."

CAMPBELL DECLARES HE DID NOT RECEIVE BERGDOLL'S MONEY

DENIES CHARGE MADE BY THE MOTHER OF NOTED DRAFT EVADER.

QUESTIONED REGARDING DEPOSIT WITH BROKER

Explains That It Was Profit on Real Estate Deal Handled by Friend of Family.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Denial of the charge that he accepted $5,000 from Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll to aid Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, to escape was made today by Major Bruce R. Campbell of the army before a house investigating committee.

"Mrs. Bergdoll's charge is false in every particular," Major Campbell said. "There is not a word of truth in it."

Asked about a deposit of $4,500 made by a New York brokerage firm about the time Mrs. Bergdoll swore she gave him the money, Major Campbell said: "I can tell the committee right now where I got the money, but I may want time to produce evidence corroborating what I have to say."

The money, deposited with Wasserman Bros., the major said, was made in connection with Laura E. Campbell, his wife.

Pressed to give the source of the money, Campbell said he had been paid a cash sum from the sale of real estate.

"There was absolutely no connection between the money Mrs. Bergdoll said she paid me and the deposit I made with Wasserman Bros," the major said.

"The old woman lied when she said she gave me $5,000 to help Grover Bergdoll. She did not give me a cent of money."

In the heat of a cross-fire with Representative Shriver, Republican, Indiana, Major Campbell said he had placed $5,000 with Col. Milton Young of Lexington, Ky., in 1915 and that the investment jumped to $8,000. Colonel Young, he added, is dead.

"The money was paid to me in 1917," he added, "by a man who is alive and whose name I will not give. Altogether, my wife and I had $24,000 in banks and real estate."

"The fund increased," Major Campbell said, "I don't know. It may be that Colonel Young, a close friend of my father, had a $5,000 investment. This same money was kept in cash through the war and deposited with Wasserman Bros. in 1920."

"Why did you not tell this at first?" Chairman Peters demanded.

"I did not want to bring family matters in," the witness replied.

"Who was the man who delivered the money?" Mr. Peters insisted.

"I'll give you his name later—oh, hell, it was my father," the witness said. "I wired him to come to Washington."

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Major Bruce R. Campbell today denied charges that he had accepted $5,000 from Emma C. Bergdoll of having accepted $5,000 to aid her slacker son to escape, appeared before a house investigating committee today and asked for a preliminary executive session.

In denying the charges and declaring he desired the fullest publicity, Major Campbell said he wanted to present first names of witnesses he wished called but did not want printed at this time.

"The case here just as soon as I could," the major said, "and it was a trifling misfortune that I was not here when the charges against me were presented. The committee ordered the room cleared."

EL PASO AND SOUTHWESTERN TO ISSUE NEW CERTIFICATES

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The El Paso & Southwestern Railroad company was authorized today by the Interstate Commerce commission to issue 750,000 shares capital stock without par value in exchange for all the company's capital stock now outstanding, which consists of 250,000 shares with a par value of $250,000,000.

R. L. YATES LIKELY TO SUCCEED MORGAN

Appointment Will Be Made by Judge Jones Monday—Numerous Applicants.

A county juvenile officer to succeed R. L. Morgan, recently sworn in as chief of police, will be selected Monday by Judge J. P. Jones. Judge Jones stated Friday that he expected to make the appointment at that time provided the recommendations had been made by the three school heads.

The office has been vacant since last Friday, when he expected to be known to the police, who state that he was a personal enemy of the recipient.

What action will be taken, if any, in case the identity of the writer is established beyond doubt is not known, but in view of recent developments city officials are confident that no Ku Klux organization yet exists in Wichita Falls.

No one has appealed for police protection since from the one man threatened earlier in the week.

It became known Friday that Superintendent Bryant and Woodward, who are both attending school at Northwestern University in Chicago, have recommended the appointment of R. L. Yates. There are several other parties who seek the appointment.

Cashier Is Fooled by Trick One Time, Arrest Follows

An old short change trick which police believe was a favorite pastime of the light fingered years ago was uncovered in this city Friday afternoon when a man was arrested on complaint of a local cafe owner. The prisoner worked the scheme successfully on the cashier at the same cafe, Thursday, it is said, and returned to the latter expressed surprise at having offered the tenner, at the same time drawing a $1 bill from his pocket, laying it with the four other ones and showing them over the counter with the request that he be given a ten dollar bill in exchange.

The five spot had by this time found its way into the man's pocket, and the cashier, thinking it was at the bottom of the pile of ones, passed over the ten. By the time she had counted out the bills the customer was gone, with a profit of 45.

According to officials, the trick is an old one and can be worked nine times out of ten by an experienced crook, especially during a rush hour when the cashier must work at top speed.

This is the first time it has ever been brought to the attention of the local police.

Police Believe Writer of "Klan" Letter Is Known

The threatening letter received last Wednesday by a local man in which he was ordered by a supposed Ku Klux Klan to leave the city within four days was a hoag police official declared Friday afternoon. The letter was actually received and was signed with the mystic seal of the K. K. K., but the author of the missive is believed to be known to the police, who state that he was a personal enemy of the recipient.

What action will be taken, if any, in case the identity of the writer is established beyond doubt is not known, but in view of recent developments city officials are confident that no Ku Klux organization yet exists in Wichita Falls.

No one has appealed for police protection since from the one man threatened earlier in the week.

Mrs. A. G. Sutton has left for Chicago where she will visit her mother for the summer.

Howard Ryan is making a flying trip to Fort Worth on business.

Lots of smoke and a small blaze in the Singer Sewing Machine shop, 908 Indiana avenue, caused a short run for the central fire station crew at 10 o'clock Friday morning. A pile of crates and boxes stored in a rear room ignited in some way and for a short time gave promise of starting a respectable blaze. Damage was confined to the loss of a few feet of wall paper.

DECISION IN CASE OF GOV. SMALL TUESDAY

Judge Thus Informs Those Who Were Waiting For Ruling On Plea Today.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 22.—Whether Governor Len Small, indicted by a Sangamon county grand jury for the embezzlement of interest on state bonds, will be held to trial or released from arrest, is to be decided by Judge E. S. Smith of the Sangamon county circuit court.

Governor Small's attorneys advised him to resist arrest on the grounds that he would violate the constitution and betray the people by submitting.

Addressing newspaper men who gathered in his court room when he recovered court shortly after 2 p. m. today, Judge Smith said:

"I may as well tell you that there will be nothing done in the case in which you all appear to be interested until Tuesday morning."

No attempts to arrest Governor Small can be made before next week as a result of the judge's action in postponing all further action until next Tuesday morning. With the exception of Lieutenant Governor Sterling's appearance this morning to file his plea, the status of the cases against the governor, lieutenant governor and Vernon Curtis remained unchanged today.

FEDERAL INVESTIGATION OF PAYMENT OF INCOME TAX

CHICAGO, July 22.—Federal investigation of $2,000,000 mentioned in indictments against Governor Small and others has begun, it was announced today.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR GIVES BOND FOR HIS APPEARANCE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 22.—Lieutenant Governor Sterling today gave bond in the Sangamon county court that he will appear to answer warrants charging him with embezzlement of state funds. The bond was given during a session devoted to Governor Small's argument that as state secretary he was immune from arrest on the warrants.

Lieutenant Governor Sterling's bond was for $50,000, secured by the National Security company of Chicago.

HAVEN PARK CONTESTS IN SWIMMING AND DIVING ARE LARGELY ATTENDED

Twenty-five contestants entered the swimming and diving contest held Thursday evening by the Haven Park swimming pool officials, at which time prizes were offered for the best exhibition of aquatic skill. The park was filled with throngs of people during the day and it was estimated that over a thousand were on hand when the contests were opened in the evening.

A prize of $5 in cash was offered for the best dive from a tree overhanging the pool, this being won by John E. Church. A season ticket of admittance to the pool was given William Walker for carrying off second honors, and a $2 cash prize went to E. J. D. Brouce for winning third place.

Fancy diving from the spring board resulted in Max Shuler taking first place, William Andrew second and Almond Gates third.

E. L. H. DeSaller and Frank Bunting, all said to be authorities on aquatic sports, acted as judges of the contest, and expressed themselves as being well pleased with the work of the contestants.

A number of girls and women were included in the entry list.

FEAR CROP OF NEW MEXICO SHOWS LITTLE IMPROVEMENT

EL PASO, July 22.—The pear crop of the Mesilla valley is much better than was expected after the late spring frost, said Fabian Garcia, director of the experiment stations, New Mexico college of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts.

Mr. Garcia said that while the quality of the pears will be somewhat affected by the frost bite, the yield will be about the same as last year when 20 carloads were shipped from the valley. F. W. Whitney, superintendent of the co-operative pear-packing plant in the lower valley at Yleta, reported that the lower valley yield will be about 25 carloads, instead of 70 cars as last year.

GET DEPOSITION IN HOLD-UP ON HIGHWAY

Was That of Former Mistress of Mishawum Manor in Celebrated Case.

HAVERHILL, MASS., July 22.—The robbery in a road holdup of a deposition obtained from "Brownie" Kennedy, former mistress of Mishawum Manor, for use by Attorney general Allen in the supreme court proceedings looking to the removal of District Attorney Tuttle, was reported to local police early today. The report was made by Thomas J. Holmes, an agent of the attorney general, who said that he and George Kelley of Wakefield were held at gun point in Methuen.

The Mishawum Manor case, in connection with which the attorney general has sought a deposition from "Brownie" Kennedy, has been a center of popular interest and of judicial consideration in the charges on which Mr. Allen has petitioned for removal of District Attorney Tuttle. It is based on a party at Mishawum Manor, a Woburn road house of which "Brownie" Kennedy was the head, in March, 1917, attended by Hiram Abrams, Adolph Zukor, Jesse Lasky and others prominent in the motion picture world.

The attorney general alleges that District Attorney Tuttle entered into a conspiracy with certain attorneys and others by which, under threat of prosecution, $250,000 was extorted from them on other picture magnates. A deposition by Abrams was presented last week to show that he said approximately that amount in several installments.

The whereabouts of "Brownie" Kennedy has been understood to be in doubt for several months.

NOT OF IMPORTANCE SAYS ATTORNEY GENERAL ALLEN

BOSTON, July 22.—Attorney General J. Weston Allen today characterized as not of importance the incident reported to involve a deposition of "Brownie" Kennedy, as far as it concerned presentation of his charges of irregularity against District Attorney Tuttle before the supreme court.

Mr. Allen said that the incident was of no importance to the state, and that he would not be interested in it until Tuesday morning.

No attempts to arrest Governor Small can be made before next week as a result of the judge's action in postponing all further action until next Tuesday morning.

Lieutenant Governor Sterling's appearance this morning to file his plea, the status of the cases against the governor, lieutenant governor and Vernon Curtis remained unchanged today.

Entire Available Balloon Supply of City Is Stolen

If a circus day should suddenly descend on Wichita Falls it would find the city in a rather deplorable condition for 50 gross of those indispensable show-day playthings, toy balloons, were stolen Thursday night.

The loss represented the larger portion of the city's visible supply of such articles, according to police, and the worst of it is that little hope is entertained of recovering the property. They were taken from the store rooms of the Wichita Candy company, 600 block Ohio avenue, and no trace could be found Friday, which would throw any light on the identity of the robbers.

CAN'T SIT ON PORCH SMOKING CIGARETTES

Morgan Says Law Will Be Strictly Enforced in Flats—Won't Molest Those Who Behave.

The days of the Wichita Falls "flats" are numbered.

This information was given out Friday by Chief of Police R. L. Morgan after a tour of investigation through the action commonly known as the flats or reservation.

"We are going to eliminate the flats if it takes the whole police force to do it," the chief said, "and we aren't going to lose any time about it."

He then went on to state that as long as the women now living in the flats behaved themselves properly they would not be molested by officers, but as soon as they showed themselves as they have in the past there would be trouble with a big T. Their practice of sitting on front porches, hair unbrushed and smoking cigarettes, will not be tolerated, Morgan declared, nor will their "open house" campaign for men of questionable character be permitted.

Only one woman has thus far moved back into the flats since the new police administration took office, according to Morgan, who also declares that so far he has been able to learn no names of those planning on returning.

"If they do," he said, "we have plenty of men to get them. The suit case women will be watched especially closely."

A query as to what "suit case" women are brought forth the information that they were of the traveling variety, who were in a position to do in one city until evicted by police action, whereupon they moved to some other locality where the process was repeated.

Several women now living in the district east of the tracks own their own homes and these will not be molested, Morgan states, as long as they observe themselves. Practically all of the trouble between the flats and the Bralley-Huff regime was caused, however, by women who owned their homes.

ROAD BOND ISSUE APPROVED FRIDAY, MONEY READY SOON

ALL FORMALITIES COMPLETED FOR CONTINUANCE OF HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION.

DEFECTS IN TRANSCRIPT ARE PROMPTLY REMEDIED

Work on Printing of Securities Is Being Rushed and Early Delivery Is Promised.

Approval of the bond transcript by the attorney general's office at Austin was communicated to this city by County Attorney E. L. Fulton Friday.

The transcript was taken to Austin several weeks ago, but at that time the bond expert was out of the office and no action could be gotten upon the issue. However, when the transcript was examined several minor defects were found and the papers were returned for correction.

County clerk W. H. Harris, County Auditor W. W. Murphy, County Judge F. Jones, members of the commission, county court, County Attorney E. L. Fulton and Mr. Johnson of the secretary's office, were present at the meeting when they proceeded to Austin without further delay.

Which it became practically certain that all defects had been remedied. County Auditor Murphy instructed the printers at Galveston to proceed at once with the printing of the bonds and a proof was forwarded to him.

A non receipt of the message of the approval of the transcript Mr. Murphy telephoned to Galveston, instructing the printing company to hurry with the bonds. Within the next ten days 500 of the bonds will be in the hands of the county as the printers have promised to send the bonds in, in portions.

The local banks came to the rescue of the county during the delay of getting the bond transcript approved and made arrangements to hurry with the county sufficient funds to tide it over until money could be realized from the bonds. It was evident that unless some remedy was found that the work on the roads would have been closed down last week.

The Wichita Falls made the offer of purchasing the new 6 percent treasury bonds will be in a position to do so, to take up the first set of bonds and make the agreed payment within a few days after the bonds arrive from the printers.

McDonald and Bischoff Pound Apple and Give Spudders Another Win

DALLAS, July 21.—It fell to the lots of Tex McDonald and Smiley Bischoff today to come to Hollingsworth's aid and put the Spudders back at the top of the heap and both these gentlemen were equal to the occasion. While "Holly" was holding the Marines at bay, Tex and Smiley were either driving in runs or making them themselves and the Spudders took a nifty pitcher's little, 4 to 2.

Out of four trips to the plate, McDonald batted out two doubles and as many singles. His first base came on a single to right that sent Tanner over with the first run while he scored eventually on a wild pitch. Again in the sixth it was his double that started a young Spudder rally which was finished by Bischoff, who belted out his second triple, scoring him while he scored a moment later on Conley's fumble.

Holly had plenty of competition on the hill as "Lefty" Swartz was having one of his good days. The manager saw to it that new lemons were pasted on strikers in nine innings with a total of 13. "Holly" fell victim to his wiles four times, Kitchens and Becher three times, Munson twice and Galloway once. The Spudder abalster sent eight of his opponents back to the bench via the whiff route, also.

The fielding feature of the game was contributed by Cecil Griggs in center. On a hit and run play, Salm's utility man ran to the center field screen and robbed Jim Galloway of a sure home run by a one-handed stab, converting it into a double play by a speedy and accurate peg to Works. Had the ball ever gotten away from Griggs the three complexion of the game would have been changed.

First Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Becher flew out to Mattick. Bischoff singled to center and went to second on Works' sacrifice. Swartz to Galloway in an effort to catch him napping and southpaw set up a new lemon pasted on a safety to center scoring Tanner. He went to second on the peg to the plate. Clark grounded out to Galloway, McDonald taking third. Galloway hit him over the platter. Griggs took a third strike. 2 runs, 1 hit, 1 error.

Second Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Becher singled to center and went to second on Works' sacrifice. Swartz to Galloway. Kitchens went out swinging. Hollingsworth did likewise. No runs, hit, no errors.

Third Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Becher looked a third strike. Tanner popped to Galloway. McDonald doubled to right. Clark popped to Robertson. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Griggs walked on four straight balls. Bischoff sacrificed. Swartz to Galloway. After McDonald hit a third strike slip by Griggs stole third. Kitchens swung at the third one and missed. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Becher singled to center and went to second on McDonald's sacrifice. Swartz hit the first ball to McDonald and went out at first. Falk popped to Kitchens. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: McDonald got his third straight hit, another double to right. He went to third on Clark's sacrifice. He was held at third while Conley was thrown out by Griggs, but Conley's timely triple sent him home. Conley fumbled works' grounder and Bischoff scored. Kitchens singled through third. Works fanned at second. Hollingsworth fanned. 2 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

Seventh Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Skinner relieved Mattick in center for the Marines. Becher was thrown out by Swartz. Tanner singled to center. McDonald made his fourth successive hit—a single to right, but Tanner was thrown out trying to reach third. McDonald went to second on the play. Clark flew out to Falk. No runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Bischoff went out swinging. Bischoff socked out his third triple—a lusty swat to deep center. Works popped to Robertson and Bischoff was doubled out by third on an attempted squeeze. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Kitchens fanned again. Hollingsworth hit the same misfortune as he did in the previous inning, making 12 strikeouts for the Marine lefthander.

DALLAS: Skinner beat out an infield fly by Hollingsworth. Munson singled to center and bumped to second when the ball went through Griggs' legs. Galloway watched a third strike by Conley. Conley beat out an infield hit to short. Munson took third. Palmer went out on strikes.

Tenth Inning.
WICHITA FALLS: Kitchens fanned again. Hollingsworth hit the same misfortune as he did in the previous inning, making 13 strikeouts for the Marine lefthander.

DALLAS: Skinner beat out an infield fly by Hollingsworth. Munson singled to center and bumped to second when the ball went through Griggs' legs. Galloway watched a third strike by Conley. Conley beat out an infield hit to short. Munson took third. Palmer went out on strikes.

THEIR HITTING WON!

TEX McDONALD "SMILER" BISCHOFF

SPORTS SHOTS by Paul W. Barkin

Not so very long ago Tex McDonald was known in Fort Worth because a southpaw was going to work for the Panthers. It was the first time in many a moon that such a thing had happened to Tex. He has been asking to get a crack at some more southpaw hurling ever since. It was determined to show the Spudder boss that pitchers bothered him no more than normal hurlers, "other" it has been said yesterday's box score.

Walvers have been asked on Leland McElwee by Skipper Salm, according to a story which emanates from Dallas. "Mac" should make a good ball player for some club. He's a much better player than he has shown here this year. Great things were expected of him when the season opened, but his work has been most disappointing. He showed last year that he is a fine ball player and maybe a change of atmosphere will do him good. His mind did not seem to be on the game this year. To date no other club has snatched him, though it has been gossiped that all will pass him up.

Frank Kitchens has been in his worst batting slump of late, according to the past few days, but should come out of it soon. Wonder if Bischoff ever gets into one? For a little fellow he can hit the apple hard as his hard as anybody who ever lapped. Another swatter who resembles him is "Topper" Rigney of the Panthers. "Topper" is probably the lightest man on "the circuit" in driving in runs. He has a power club, but "Big Boy" Katt is the only one who hits the apple harder. Commenting on one of Smiley's triples yesterday, the Dallas News says: "Bischoff, in driving in the longest run in the ninth, soaked the longest air-hit ball seen inside the park this season when he rapped a triple that landed just at the feet of the center field boarder." Some lusty poke!

GASSERS 5, PANTHERS 2
FORT WORTH, July 21.—Red Eird pitched a great game today and Shreveport won from Fort Worth, 5 to 2. Hack Ebird hit his 20th homer in the fourth inning, driving the ball over the right field fence in Coody's park. In the fourth when he threw a ball from center field to the plate, Umpire Myers evidently thinking the center fielder was showing at him, Phelan, who replaced Coody, mistook Judged Vann's drive in the sixth. It went for a triple and cost two runs. The score:

White Sox 2, Athletics 1.
CHICAGO, July 21.—"Red" Faber turned in his twentieth victory for the White Sox Thursday, but he had to travel fourteen dizzy innings before he finally saw his mates win for him over the Philadelphia Athletics. The score was 2 to 1. Bib Falk knocked a home run for the winning run.

Tigers 7, Senators 2.
DETROIT, July 21.—Detroit won the second game of the series Thursday from Washington, 7 to 2. Veach and Miller made home runs, but no one was on ahead in either case. Both teams did good field work. Harris, a second for the Senators, being the star in the field, handling ten different chances cleanly.

Indians 17, Yankees 8.
CLEVELAND, July 21.—The Indians received their place by slaughtering four Yankee pitchers for twenty-two hits and seventeen runs Thursday, while the Yankee middle eight. Babe Ruth twisted his ankle and was relieved from the game after hopping to first on one leg on his single in the fifth.

Browns 8, Red Sox 1.
ST. LOUIS, July 21.—St. Louis solved Myers and Thormahlen and profited by Boston's errors to win Thursday, 8 to 1. The victory is the seventh straight for the Browns and Harris outplayed its opponents all the way and won as it pleased.

Phillies 8, Cubs 1.
PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—The Phillies won their second straight Thursday from Chicago, 8 to 1. Jimmy Rigney held the Cubs to five hits. Goldie Rapp hit safely for his fourteenth straight game since coming to the Phillies from the Giants. Coffey and Peters hit home in the sixth-inning, his third drive in five days.

Dodgers 2, Cards 1.
BROOKLYN, July 21.—Bernie Nels single, scoring Johnston in the eleventh inning, won the second game of the series for the Dodgers Thursday against the St. Louis Cardinals. It was a pitchers' duel between Grimes and Doak, each allowing nine hits. The score was 2 to 1.

DRESS

By ANNE RITTENHOUSE

The Frock That Carries Its Own Wrap Is a Strong Fashion of the Season and Though It Makes for Extravagance It Assuredly Gives Satisfaction. The Economist Can Find Ways and Means to Achieve It.

The woman who spends a moderate allowance on clothes turns with indifference from the new suggestion that every frock should carry its own wrap this season. She believes that such extravagance is beyond her purse and environment.

There are some economists who combat this belief with the argument that a woman of slender means should dress as much in one color as possible, which gives her a chance to produce a wrap suitable for each gown.

Loose afternoon wrap of dark blue serge embroidered with white braid which goes over dark blue tulle frock. Hat is blue and white striped silk.

It takes self-control to continue to dress in one color. That's sure. It demands the same repression of impulse and desire as eating one kind of food to get thin. The doctors say that such a trick is a sure method of reducing and restraining flesh. One dish at each meal, even if repeated, will keep one alive and thin. But the organism of a human being requires a variety of food; therefore it is better to eat a little of several foods at each meal than to eat well of a single food. So there you are. You can take your choice.

What is true of food is true of clothes. One can be economical and individual by restraining any natural impulse to buy more than one color for the wardrobe, but the process is monotonous, the result depressing.

There are ways, however, of keeping to one color in general and in each season's purchase. This is the wisest plan for the average woman, as it assures her that she can utilize all of her clothes, all of the time. If she has chosen a special color with due regard for her coloring and taste, she is assured of looking her best in any garment she wears. The range of colors that one woman can wear is limited. It's a pity she does not realize it.

When she chooses to live according to this scale of dressing she finds that it is not entirely impossible to produce a wrap for each gown. She realizes, if she has any knowledge of good dressing, that it is not easy to add any kind of a covering to a frock. Even the best top coat or cape may not do the trick, and the result is a dress and gown, and it is because of this fact that the alleged usefulness of one colored top coat for all garments proves a boomerang. Women imagine themselves economical when they purchase a dark brown top coat. They are in error.

The solution to the way in which an economical woman chooses a frock and coat that harmonize. She chooses to wear dark blue in many forms. The selection of a separate cape with sleeves, made of dark blue serge and braided in white, is justified by the several dark blue gowns and hats she possesses.

It is well, by the way, to take seriously this new fashion of using quantities of white braid on a dark surface. It is lavishly done on frocks, hats and coats. White embroidery on a black surface, black embroidery on a white surface, are equally in fashion. They only give way to braid when the material is heavy, although there is a remarkably good gown being worn about town which has a white braid on a dark blue background with many bands of broad black silk braid. It defies standards with success.

"What's In a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

LETTY.

ONE of the "glad" names is Letticia. It comes from the Latin adjective laetus, meaning glad, from which the substantive, "laetitia," was formed. Whether ancient Rome underwent a "glad" period, etymologists do not record, but the fact remains that Letticia as a proper name was adopted by the fashionable maids and matrons of that bygone empire.

Letticia first made her appearance in Ireland, a name favored by the Italians during the fashion for extreme novelty that prevailed in the Cinque-Cento. Spain adopted Letticia, but the name reached England in the form of Lettice. In Ireland, Lettice was extremely popular. One famous bearer of the name was Lettice Killoyle, the wife of the Earl of Essex. Lettice was evolved in Ireland, and is still a favorite with Irish lassies, though Letty, the diminutive, is by far the most popular form.

The turquoise is Letticia's talismanic stone. If set in gold, it will protect her from all danger, especially when traveling. According to an old legend, the stone will break at the approach of evil. The best possible good luck is promised Letty if she can see the moon reflected in her turquoise. Saturday is her lucky day and her lucky number.

Lyrics of Life

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TAKE A SONG ALONG.

When you take the road
At the dawn of day,
When you lift your load
And are on your way,
Just to keep you glad
And to make you strong
When the walking's bad
Take a song along.

For the song you sing
As you trudge your way,
It is a better thing
Than the gold you own,
Is a better boon
When the world goes wrong—
All the year is June
With a song along.

There is not a hill
That you cannot climb
If you have the thrill
Of a thought sublime,
There is not a soul
In the crowding throng
But will sing to you
With a song along.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS: WHAT THEY MEAN

DID YOU DREAM OF BOWLS?

THE dream of a wash-bowl is said by the oracles to be a sure sign of a coming inheritance. Some of the mystic interpreters, it is true, consider that the dream wash-bowl should be filled with water in order to insure the legacy or inheritance; but most of them appear to consider that it does not matter whether the bowl is full or empty. The general rule with regard to bowls of all sorts is, however, that it is better to dream of them filled with something.

Any sort of a bowl in a dream is indicative of coming wealth, or at least of an increase in the dreamer's fortune; but if the bowl contains something, the fortune will be greater and come sooner.

A bowl of bread and milk is a fortunate thing to dream about, as it indicates that the dreamer will achieve success by his own efforts and by the strict attention to his business. A bowl heaped high with fruit is an omen of coming good fortune, but there is not the same assurance of permanency in this dream as in the dream of a bowl of bread and milk, though the chances are that the fortune will be greater than the one prognosticated by a dream of the simple fare.

It is not considered to be a fortunate omen to dream of seeing a broken bowl or to dream of letting one fall so that it is shattered. It is, however, thought by the mystics to be a rather favorable omen to dream of mending a broken bowl. Some say that such a dream means long life.

An O. HENRY Story

The Social Triangle

By O. HENRY

AT the stroke of six Ikey Sniglefritz laid down his goose. Ikey toiled and snipped and basted and pressed and patched and sponged all day in the steamy feter (tailor-shop). But when work was done Ikey hitched his wagon to such stars as his firmament let shine.

It was Sunday night, and the boss laid twelve begrimmed and begrudged dollars in his hand. Ikey set forth in pursuit of his ideals.

Behold Ikey as he ambles up the street beneath the roaring "El" between the rows of reeking sweatshops. Pallid, stooping, insignificant, aquiline, doomed to exist forever in penury of body and mind, yet, as he swings his cheap cane and projects the noisome inhalations from his cigarette you perceive that he nurtures a narrow bosom the bacillus of society.

Ikey's legs carried him to and into that famous place of entertainment known as the Cafe Maginnis—famous because it was the rendezvous of Billy McMahan, the greatest man, the most wonderful man, Ikey thought, that the world had ever produced.

Billy McMahan was the district leader. Upon him the Tiger purred, and his hand held manna to scatter. Now, as Ikey entered, McMahan stood, flushed and triumphant and mighty, the center of a hussian concourse of his lieutenants and constituents. It seems there had been an election; a signal victory had been swept back into line by a resolute beam of ballots.

Ikey slunk along the bar and gazed, breath-quickened, at his idol. The Cafe Maginnis rang to the note of victory. The white-coated bartenders threw themselves feebly upon bottle, cork and glass. From a score of clear Havanaes the air reeked with the perfume of clouds.

The lead and the hope of clouds McMahan's hand. And there was born suddenly in the workshop of Ikey Sniglefritz an audacious, thrilling impulse.

He stepped forward into the little clear space in which majesty moved, and held out his hand.

Billy McMahan grasped it unhesitatingly, shook it and smiled.

Made mad now by the gods who were about to destroy him, Ikey threw away his scabbard and charged upon Olympus.

"Have a drink with me, Billy," he said familiarly, "you and your friends."

"Don't mind if I do, old man," said the great leader, "just to keep the ball rolling."

The last spark of Ikey's reason fled. "Wine," he called to the bartender, waving a trembling hand.

The corks of three bottles were drawn; the champagne bubbled in the long row of glasses set upon the bar. Billy McMahan took his and Ikey, the lieutenant, took his and Ikey took theirs and growled "Here's to you." Ikey took his nectar in delirium. All drank.

Ikey threw his week's wages in a crumpled roll upon the bar.

"Credit," said the bartender, smothering the twelve one-dollar notes. The crowd surged around Billy McMahan again. Some one was telling how Brannigan fixed 'em over in the Eleventh. Ikey leaned against the bar a while, and then went out.

He went down Hester street and up Christie, and down Beland street where he lived. And there his women folk, a bibulous mother and three dingy sisters, pounced upon him for his wages. And at his confession, they shrieked and objurgated him in the pithy rhetoric of the locality.

But even as they plucked at him and struck him Ikey remained in his ecstatic trance of joy.

He had shaken the hand of Billy McMahan.

Billy McMahan had a wife, and upon her visiting card was engraved the name "Mrs. William Darragh McMahan." And there was a certain vexation attendant upon these cards, for, small as they were, there were holes in which they could not be inserted. Billy McMahan was a dictator in politics, a four-wheeled tower in business, a mogul, dreaded, loved and obeyed among his own people. He was growing rich; the daily papers had a dozen men on his trail to chronicle his every word of wisdom; he had been honored in caricature, holding the Tiger cringing in the leash.

There was a brave and conspicuous assemblage in the dining saloon of a hostelry where Fashion loves to display her charms. At one table sat Billy McMahan and his wife. Mostly silent they were, but the accessories they enjoyed little needed the indorsement of speech. Mrs. McMahan's diamonds were outshone by few in the room. The waiter bore the costliest brands of wine to their table. In evening dress, with an expression of gloom upon his smooth and massive countenance, you would look in vain for a more striking figure than Billy's.

Four tables away sat along a tall, slender man, about thirty with thoughtful, melancholy eyes, a Van Dyke beard and peculiarly white, thin hands. He was dining on flet mignon, dry toast and apollinaris. That man was Cortlandt Van Duyckink, a man worth eighty millions, who inherited and held a sacred seat in the exclusive inner circle of society.

And then Billy McMahan conceived and accomplished the most startling and audacious act of his life. He rose deliberately and walked over to Cortlandt Van Duyckink's table and held out his hand.

"Say, Mr. Van Duyckink," he said, "I've heard you were talking about starting some reforms among the poor people down my district. I'm McMahan, you know. Say, now, if that's straight I'll do all I can to help you. And what I say goes in that neck of the woods, don't it? Oh, say, I rather guess it does."

Van Duyckink's eyes were somberly lighted up. He rose to his lank height and grasped Billy McMahan's hand.

"Thank you, Mr. McMahan," he said, in his deep, serious tones. "I have been thinking of doing some good for my district, but I shall be glad of your assistance. It pleases me to have become acquainted with you."

Billy walked back to his seat. His shoulder was tingling from the accolade bestowed by royalty. A hundred eyes were now turned upon him in envy and admiration.

Mrs. William Darragh McMahan trembled with ecstasy, so that her diamonds smote the eye almost with pain. And now it was apparent that at many tables there were those who suddenly remembered that they enjoyed Mr. McMahan's acquaintance. He saw smiles and bows before him. He became enveloped in the aura of dizzy greatness. His campaign coolness deserted him.

"Wine for that gang!" he commanded the waiter, pointing with his finger at the group of those for those three cents by that green bush. Tell 'em on me. D—n all Wine for everybody!"

The waiter ventured to whisper that it was perhaps inexpedient to carry out the order, in consideration of the dignity of the house and its custom.

"All right," said Billy. "If it's against the rules, I wonder if I would do to send my friend Van Duyckink a bottle? No? Well, it'll blow all right at the café tonight, and it'll be a rubber boots for anybody who comes in there any time up to 2 a. m."

Billy McMahan was happy. He had shaken the hand of Cortlandt Van Duyckink.

The big pale-straw auto with its shining metal work looked out of place moving slowly among the push carts and trash-heaps on the lower east side. So did Cortlandt Van Duyckink, with his aristocratic face and white, thin hands, as he steered carefully between the groups of ragged scurrying youngsters in the streets. And so did Miss Constance Schuyler, with her dim, caustic beauty, seated at his side.

"Oh, Cortlandt," she breathed, "don't say that human beings are born in such a badness and poverty. And you—how noble it is of you to think of me, to give your time and money to improve their condition!"

Van Duyckink turned his solemn eyes upon her.

"I can do," he said, sadly, "what I can do. The question is a large one, and belongs to society. But even individual effort is not thrown away. Look, Constance! On this street I have arranged to build soup kitchens, where no one who is hungry will be turned away. And down this other street are the old buildings that I shall cause to be torn down and there erect others in place of those death-traps of fire and disease."

Down Beland street slowly crept the pale-straw auto. Away from it dotted convoys of wondering, tangled-haired, barefooted, unwashed children. It stopped before a crazy brick structure, foul and awry.

Van Duyckink alighted to examine at a better perspective one of the leaning walls. Down the steps of the building came a young man who seemed to epitomize its degradation, squalor and infelicity—a narrow-shouldered, pale, unsavory young man, puffing at a cigarette.

Obeying a sudden impulse, Van Duyckink stepped out and warmly grasped the hand of what seemed to him a living rebus.

"I want to know you people," he said sincerely, "I am going to help you as much as I can. We shall be friends."

As the auto crept carefully away Van Duyckink felt an unaccustomed glow about his heart. He was near to being a happy man.

He had shaken the hand of Ikey Sniglefritz.

Acquiring a Sense of Humor

WE are in the way of thinking that a sense of humor comes by nature, as Dogberry thought that knowing how to read and write did, and that one was no more responsible for not having a laugh that was hung on a hair trigger and went off at a touch than we are for not being worn with a classical profile and naturally curly hair.

Of course, to arrive on this sad old earth with a protuberant snout, bones, to be the darling of the gods, for to have an intuitive sense of what someone has called "the sweet absurdity of things" is to have a magic that takes the sting out of misfortune, and puts an extra kick into the cocktail of joy. Never the less, if Fate has denied you this precious gift, you need not despair. You can acquire a sense of humor. You can Burbank the smile of politeness into the rip-roaring laugh of hilarity.

You don't believe it? You know too many stupid, groggy, pompous whose lips would curl if they tried to laugh. You know too many crape hangers who never read anything but Russian novels, and the deaths and accidents in the newspapers and who drink black tea, and believe that the Judgment Day will come. You know too many literal men and women, upon whose heads a surgical operation would have to be performed before you could insert a joke into their poor old heads, and you are convinced that people have to be born with a measure of humor, just as they are born with tenor voices. They can't get that way yourself.

That is where we have made a mistake. That's why there are so many depressed and depressing who complain, stolid, heavy people in the world. We have believed that if anyone didn't naturally see the funny side of things, or catch the point of a joke, that he or she was like the helplessly blind of deaf, and all we could do was to endure the poor afflicted creature with what patience we could. We never dreamed of such a thing as trying to lift the curse from the victim.

Yet it can be done, as I am witness, before and after the fact. Among my friends is a superwoman who is wise as she is witty, and who is equally filled with imagination, humor, just as they are born with tenor voices. They can't get that way yourself.

up-and-down literalness to her. My first duty is to teach that child how to laugh," said the step-mother.

"Not you can't do it," you couldn't make her see a joke with a telescope. She has absolutely no sense of humor whatever."

"I'll develop one in her," replied the new mother. "I can't let her miss the best in life. I don't see how anyone can hate the courage to carry on through life if they haven't a sense of humor. There's so much that one must either cry over, or laugh over, and to be able to laugh is the brave attitude."

So this wonder-woman took the reins, papers and diagrammed their jokes for the little girl and explained their quips, and dissected their humor, and showed her where the laugh came in, and why certain things were funny. It was slow work, but at last she opened up the unsuspected spring of humor in the little girl's soul and from it bubbled up full-throated laughter, and today that child, now a woman, has an almost abnormal appreciation of the ridiculous, and is noted as an exceptionally good story-teller.

This tip is passed on to other parents and teachers. Don't let children grow up whom you are responsible for without a sense of humor. It is as criminal a thing to do as it is to let them grow up cross-eyed, or bow-legged, or knock-kneed, when a little judicious treatment would have saved them.

For a sense of humor is more than just an added enjoyment in life. It is a sword and buckler against the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. Fate cannot down those who always come up laughing after every fall.

It is the serious people, the intense people, who break under strain. The merry-hearted have the resilience of India rubber. The men who commit suicide when things go wrong with their business, the women who are literally driven into the insane asylum by their children and their servants are those who take life as a tragedy instead of seeing it as a comedy. The men and women with a sense of humor never despair because they always see something so diverting and interesting even in their misfortune that they fight on until their luck changes.

Also, a sense of humor will do more to keep us from making fools of ourselves than anything else. It is only those who have no appreciation of what a figure of fun the pomposity, the pretentious, the bragging and the vain are, that stand about like peacocks. When you can laugh at yourself you keep other people from laughing at you.

A sense of humor keeps us humorous, and brave, and cheerful. It makes us easy to live with, and pleasant company for our fellow creatures, and for these, and a thousand other reasons, it is worth cultivating in ourselves and developing in our children.

HOME-MADE PETTICOATS.

In making petticoats from anything but quite heavy material it is a good plan to make a double gore so as to prevent transparency. Skirts of frocks and separate skirts are as thin as you please. It is up to the petticoat beneath to prevent the sunshine from showing through.

It is a simple matter to make petticoats at home. A four-piece pattern is perhaps the best. This requires a front, a back and two side gores. There is no placket hole, the petticoat being slipped on over the head, a drawing or rubber fastening it around the waist.

Washable satin in white or pastel shades is a good selection for the petticoat to wear beneath the organdie or other transparent cotton frock.

The petticoat is usually made straight without ruffle or flounce. Sometimes it is finished with large scallops at the bottom that are worked in hand buttonholing. Again, it is finished with a four or five-inch hem which is finished by machine hemstitching.

For the petticoat to be worn with straight white petticoat of poplin or the sport skirt or gingham frock a wide striped pique is an economical selection.

Some economical women have petticoats to wear with suits or woolen frocks made of fine gingham finished at the bottom with machine hemstitched hem, sometimes with a shallow flounce attached to the petticoat by means of a neat cord.

Many women have practically eliminated petticoats from their wardrobes, selecting instead slips that hang from the shoulder. These provide camisole and petticoat in one and are scarcely any more trouble to make than a petticoat. They are usually finished at the shoulders with a ribbon strap. They are especially desirable to wear under one-piece frocks that would show any line where petticoat and camisole meet. A rather quaint idea of some women is to have these slips made of fine gingham when worn under a dark frock or under suit and dark blouse. For the rest they are made of mull, lawn, washable satin or crepe de chine.

Something to Think About

The Five Most Interesting Places in the World

By F. A. WALKER

A METROPOLITAN newspaper recently featured the photographs of the five most interesting things seen in a trip around the world.

They were as follows: The Great Wall of China, a group of figures outside a Buddhist temple to frighten away evil spirits, the horse-boats on the canal at Canton, China, the ancient instruments in the astronomical conservatory at Peking, the bank of the Nile near Cairo, where, according to local tradition, the daughter of Pharaoh found the infant Moses in the bullrushes.

The interests of this traveler were apparently confined largely to the orient or else he traversed the most of his journey with his eyes shut, a fault common to a good many travelers.

What are the five most interesting examples of the handiwork of man to be seen in a trip around the world? What are the five things most worth seeing and remembering? What would interest one would not perhaps interest another, and the list which is given below may not appeal to you even though it be an opinion compiled from the experiences of a dozen or more world travelers who discussed the interesting question.

Here are the things which were generally agreed upon as the five things most worth seeing.

The Taj Mahal at Agra in East India. This is undoubtedly the most wonderful example of architecture in the world. It was built by Shah Jehan to his favorite sultana, Mumtaz-Mahal, and the romance of its building, if you will take trouble to look it up in the library, you will find extraordinarily interesting.

The Vatican at Rome. No building in the world houses so many unreplaceable treasures as the Vatican. Its art riches, its wealth of literary treasures exceeds in interest and in value any other single collection ever made.

The Mount Wilson Observatory, near Los Angeles, California. It is in this observatory that is housed the 100-inch Hooker telescope, which pierces further into the unknown of space than any other instrument that human hands have devised. One moment's look through that magnificent instrument would show you a new universe which before it was built had never been seen. It is one of the scientific wonder spots of the world.

LASKER IS MAKING NEW SPEED RECORD ON SHIPPING BOARD

ECLIPSES ONE HITHERTO HELD BY GEN. DAWES CURIOUS COMBINATION.

GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

Heads of Government Agencies Take Hold With High Spirit of Aggressiveness.

By MARK SULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—If any comparison were made of the progress made by the administration in its various fields of effort, it would be found that, without foreign relations the greatest achievements have been in what may be considered the government's own business management and housekeeping.

In this field, the numerous house cleaning now being done by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board makes a new speed record, eclipsing the one hitherto held by General Dawes' curious combination of evangelism and profanity, dedicated to the service of government economy.

Aside from what has been accomplished by these two and by others in the direction of better government housekeeping, the most noticeable progress made by the administration has come from those government agencies which are most concerned with the country's business conditions and most responsible for its economic prosperity.

Believe Worst Is Over. The men who constitute the personnel of these governmental agencies have gone at their problem with high spirit of aggressiveness.

The belief of practically all of them today is that the worst of the business depression is over and that the future is a period of growth and betterment, of which the speed is dependent more upon business men themselves than upon any other factor.

One of the most careful of the authorities here in Washington believes that the principal factor now is the psychology of business men and merchants. It is believed that the merchants are as unreasonably timid as they were unreasonably overconfident two years ago.

It has been found that important merchants in some cities are carrying stocks of goods only adequate for two or three weeks' requirements. Their motive in carrying such small stocks is the expectation that they will be able to renew them at lower prices.

The same merchants two years ago, being then in the psychology of rising prices, had goods ordered ahead for several months.

Some of the most cautious of the authorities in Washington do not believe that this anticipation of lower prices will come true, except as to a few lines which have not yet gone completely through the process of liquidation.

Organization Complete. The completeness and thoroughness of the government's effort in helping business are now such that this factor alone ought to be able to change the trend that has been downward for nearly two years.

The war finance corporation has done much not only to stimulate exports, but also to ease the strain on business men who must carry goods until a market develops.

While the primary function of the war finance corporation is to stimulate exports it is a part of that function to provide credit facilities for business men to carry goods destined for export and prevent those goods from being dumped on the market disastrously.

In the old days, when Great Britain was the creditor nation of the world, it was the custom for that country to buy the major portion of the cotton crop soon after it was picked.

Great Britain not only carried a large part of our southern cotton crop, but also, in fact, provided banking facilities to carry that crop from the time it was picked until the time when it should go into the factories.

Under the changed conditions it is necessary for America to furnish those credit facilities, and the war finance corporation is doing so to the limit of its power.

In addition to this, further relief for cattle raisers and farmers is sure to come just at this moment. It looks as if this relief might come through the passage of the Norris bill in congress, which sets up a separate organization for farmer relief.

If this help does not come through the passage of the Norris bill, it will be sure to come to an equivalent degree through the federal reserve board or some other organization that has the duty of easing the strain on business.

All in all, every appearance in Washington leads the most cautious of the government officials to believe that business conditions in the United States are now safely headed toward recovery.

NO WHITE BREAD IN MORE THAN 3 YEARS

Alarming Conditions Found in Poland By American Relief Administration.

WARSAW, July 21.—Inspectors of the American Relief Administration of the European Children's fund which is feeding 1,200,000 children in Poland have just explored districts along the eastern frontier of the new republic where thousands of persons made homeless by war are living in soldiers' dugouts and where no white bread has been seen in more than three years.

Heretofore, it has been almost impossible to reach these areas chiefly because of lack of transportation. In the Pripiet marsh country, between Pinsk and the Russian border, one inspector reported that potatoes had been the principal food upon which these people existed during the winter, the inspectors reported, and with the coming of spring, men, women and children lived chiefly upon wild gardenias and some farm products.

At various points along the frontier, which follows the old German-Russian line of 1917, peasants who had been driven from their homes by advancing armies, have been returning, only to find their homes demolished and virtually everything gone.

At various points along the frontier, which follows the old German-Russian line of 1917, peasants who had been driven from their homes by advancing armies, have been returning, only to find their homes demolished and virtually everything gone.

When the German and Russian armies clashed, Lubieszow was a thriving village of 955 buildings. Twenty houses are now standing, some badly damaged by shelling. There are 800 people now living in barracks and in other makeshift huts.

Because of the shortage of horses it was a common sight in these districts, according to the inspectors' reports, to see men and women pulling plows in the fields.

Arrangements have been made by the relief administration officials to get food to these districts as soon as possible and, during the summer, kitchens will be established where all children up to 17 years of age will receive one full meal each day.

COLDEST INLAND LAKE IS WARM ENOUGH FOR BATHING

DULUTH, MINN., July 22.—For the first time in several years the waters of Lake Superior in the vicinity of the head of the lakes have been sufficiently warm to permit bathing to a marked extent.

Known generally as the "coldest inland lake," Lake Superior this year records a favorable bathing rendezvous, according to reports from cities and towns along both north and south shores.

The reason for the extreme change in temperature of the lake's waters is attributed by weather bureau chiefs at the head of the lakes to the unusually mild winter of 1920-1921 and the ensuing excessive heat.

They explained that ordinarily ice floes are floating about in the lake until late spring and sometimes far broke much earlier and accordingly ice floes passed out of the lake several weeks before the usual time for this movement.

In the Twin Ports the favorite bathing rendezvous are along Minnesota Point here bathers plunge into the lake or

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks—Grain and Provisions—Cotton—Livestock

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Hedging propped up at the opening in the cotton market today and with this, easy cables, smaller spot sales at Liverpool and the irregular opening of the stock market caused a decline of 5 to 10 points in first prices.

Lowest prices of the forenoon, when October sold at 12.72 and December at 12.54, resulted from selling inspired by the condition report of a southern agency which made the figure of 67.5, indicating a decline of one 1/2 points from the previous month. Offerings were well absorbed nevertheless, partly on account of the favorable news from dry docks circles, and prices rallied half a dozen points toward one o'clock.

The early afternoon market while quiet was steady at 12.81 for October, which was within 7 points of the previous close. The market was quiet and steady at 12.81 for October, which was within 7 points of the previous close.

Cotton closed steady. Low Close October 12.81, High 12.88, Low 12.72, December 12.54, High 12.61, Low 12.48.

NEW ORLEANS, July 22.—Prices were lower in the early trading in cotton today mainly because of poor cables. In the first hour of the session, prices lost $ 1/2 to 1 point and October dropped to 12.68, while the market was steady at the decline because of too much rain here and there in the belt.

The late trading, enough liquidation came on the market to a little more, and prices advanced to 12.72, which was the close of the active months were at net losses of 10 to 15 points.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—The master of a small British schooner, Pocophone, which came into Atlantic City yesterday in distress and without her cargo of 1,000 cases of intoxicating liquor from the Bahamas island, who have some explaining to do to the British authorities in this jurisdiction, according to Charles R. Kurtz, surveyor of the port.

LIVERPOOL, July 22.—Spot cotton quiet, prices steady. Good middling 13.12, fully middling 8.72c, middling 8.72c, good ordinary 8.45c, ordinary 8.45c.

Fort Worth Livestock. FORT WORTH, July 22.—Yearlings gained around 50 cents today, two cars of a choice sort selling at $5.25 for a high range and other kinds of cattle were steady.

WOMEN FARMERS IN TEXAS TOTAL 16,128

Of This Number 10,470 Own Their Own Farms and 5,624 Are Tenant Farmers.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A report from the census bureau, issued today, shows that out of a total of 434,023 farmers in Texas, 16,128 are women. Of this number, 10,470 own their own farms, 34 manage farms for others and 5,624 are tenant farmers. The Texas farms operated and managed by women have a total acreage of 2,306,281. The men farmers of Texas number 419,905, of whom only 190,720 are owners, 2474 managers for others and 226,711 tenants. The total acreage comprised in farms of all classes operated by men is 110,774,435.

This is the first census in which an effort has been made to obtain separate information as to men and women farmers. In the nation at large it is shown that the percentage of farms operated by women ranges from 1.9 in Nebraska to 7.2 in Rhode Island. In seven of the states the proportion of farms operated by women range from 6 per cent upward. These are Rhode Island, Mississippi, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Alabama, Massachusetts and South Carolina. States aside from Texas, reporting more than 10,000 women farmers are: Mississippi, 15,022; Alabama, 16,264; Georgia, 12,932; North Carolina, 12,184; South Carolina, 11,579; Kentucky, 11,293; Tennessee, 10,274; Arkansas, 11,077; Virginia, 10,423.

TORREON, MEXICO, July 22.—The Laguna cotton district reported heavy rains which will be of much benefit to agriculture in the state of Durango. According to telegraphic advices from Tepic, without further irrigation bumper crops of corn, beans and chile are expected there.

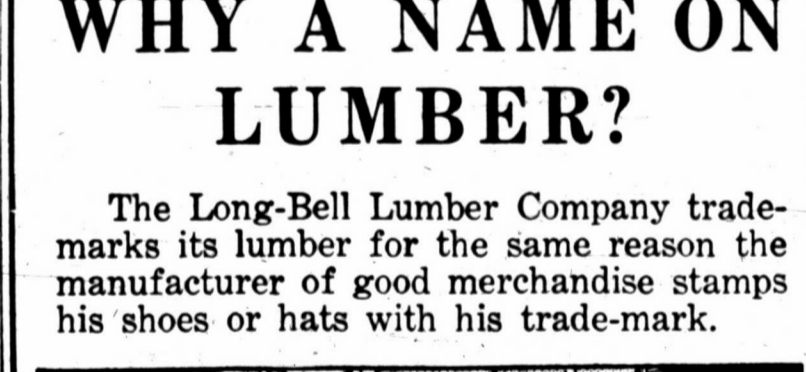

The vast grazing lands of Durango are in excellent condition and all the livestock is in fine condition, the reports said.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Nominal losses ruled at the hesitant opening of today's stock market. Chesapeake and Ohio was the only exception, reacting 14 points. The placing of oils and leathers on the free list by the house of representatives failed to stimulate trading in those shares, most foreign oils displaying further heaviness.

WHY A NAME ON LUMBER? The Long-Bell Lumber Company trademarks its lumber for the same reason the manufacturer of good merchandise stamps his shoes or hats with his trade-mark.

Trade-Marked goods are usually reliable merchandise. The manufacturer of a good product takes pride in it and, naturally wants to be given credit for the goodness he builds into it.

The Long-Bell Lumber Company believes that the buyer is entitled to the same protection on lumber that he gets on other merchandise, hence the LONG-BELL brand on all Long-Bell Lumber.

5 IMPORTANT AMENDMENTS TO TEXAS CONSTITUTION WILL BE VOTED ON AT POLLS SATURDAY

Five proposed amendments to the constitution of Texas are to be voted on Saturday. All qualified voters are eligible to participate in the election. Boxes were distributed to all the polling places in the county Thursday.

Form of Ballot.
FOR THE amendment to Article 17, Section 58 of the Constitution, abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners.
AGAINST the amendment of Article 17, Section 58 of the Constitution, abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners.

Explanation of the Amendments.
 This amendment proposes to establish the office of the three penitentiary commissioners. It is believed a management can be provided that will be more efficient and less expensive than is the present system. A change may save taxes.
 Salaries now paid the "executive officers" are: Governor, $4,000; attorney general, $4,000; treasurer, comptroller and land commissioner, each, $2,500; secretary of state, $2,000. They were fixed under the constitution of 1866—12 years ago—when living expenses, duties and responsibilities of the officers were much less than now. About every salaried person but these has had a raise in pay since then. Under the proposed amendment the legislature could pay these executive officers not to exceed: Governor, $8,000; attorney general, $7,500; treasurer, comptroller, land commissioner and secretary of state, each $5,000 and no more. The legislature could pay them less. That proposed raise in those salaries is too small to increase the tax rate; that the pro rata part of one who pays tax on $1,000 worth of property would be only one-half of a cent, or five cents on $10,000 worth.

FOR the amendment to Sections 4 and 21 and 22 and 23 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for Compensation of Executive Officers.
AGAINST the amendment to Sections 4 and 21 and 22 and 23 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for Compensation of Executive Officers.

Explanation of the Amendments.
 If this proposed amendment to increase the amount of pensions for Confederate soldiers and their widows should be adopted, the tax rate would be increased from five cents to seven cents on the $100 worth of property. Soon these "worthy people" will pass away. Then this tax will not be collected. The question now is, are we willing to increase their comforts a little while they live among us?

FOR the amendment to Section 31 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows who have been a resident of this State since January 1, 1910.
AGAINST the amendment to Section 31 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows.

Explanation of the Amendments.
 This amendment proposes to reduce the mileage or traveling expense of legislators to one-half of what it is now. Also proposes to pay them not to exceed $10 a day for a session of 120 days and $5 a day thereafter. The legislature could pay them less. They now get $5 a day for 60 days and $2 a day thereafter. They can neither complete necessary legislation within the 60 days nor pay their expenses with $2 a day. The records of the comptroller's office show that the legislature could, under this amendment, have a regular session of 120 days at $8 per day (their pay in 1886) for $19,501.81 less expense to the taxpayers than the same regular and four special sessions cost during the past two years. So much time is lost in organizing and adjourning these short sessions that it is believed more had bills could be killed and the good bills made better in one regular session of 120 days than is now done in so many short expensive sessions. It is near the tax rate would not have to be increased. This would mean a better condition for legislation without any increase in the tax rate, and everybody agrees Texas needs it.

FOR the amendment to Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution relating to the mileage and per diem of members of the Legislature of the State of Texas.
AGAINST the amendment to Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution relating to the mileage and per diem of members of the Legislature of the State of Texas.

Explanation of the Amendments.
 Under the present constitution foreigners are authorized to vote as soon as they declare their intention to become citizens. If this proposed amendment should be adopted they must be citizens fully naturalized before they can be authorized to vote.
 Also, at present, all voters in towns of more than ten thousand people must get their poll tax receipt in person. If this proposed amendment should be adopted either the husband or wife could pay the poll tax and get the receipt for the other regardless of residence.
 Also, if this proposed amendment should be adopted, the legislature could authorize a person to vote in a general election without being present just as is now permitted, under the absentee voting law, in primary elections.

FOR the amendment to Section 3 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this state and providing that either the husband or wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting.
AGAINST the amendment to Section 3 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this state and providing that either the husband or wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting.
