SUPREME COUNCIL DEADLOCK OVER PROBLEM OF IRISH

TAX REVISION PLANS ARE MORE EXTENSIVE THAN EARLY AGREED

COMMITTEE GOES FURTHER THAN CONFERENCE HELD AT WHITE HOUSE.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED SUMMARIZING CHANGES

Constitute Great Bulk of Revisions Proposed by the Republican Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Practically all of the important changes proposed to be made in the 1922 tax laws have been agreed upon tentatively by the majority members of the house ways and means committee.

Some minor revisions are in contemplation and when a final agreement is had on all the changes, the physical re-writing of the bill will be taken up when they are assembled today the committee members believed their labors could be completed by late Saturday and the bill made ready for consideration by the republican conference next Monday.

The net reduction in the yearly tax as a result of the committee's work yesterday was estimated at $55,000,000 with a total internal revenue income for the government of $1,119,000,000. Increased revenue figured upon included $282,000,000 from the five per cent increase in the income taxes of corporations and $69,000,000 from manufacturer's tax on certain articles, proprietary medicines, bottled beverages and grape juice.

Treasury experts had prepared today for presentation to the committee revised estimates on government income and expenditures in accord with those figures agreed upon at the conference Tuesday night between President Harding, Secretary Mellon and republican leaders of the house. These included reductions in the 1922 fiscal year, but to accomplish most of the proposed reductions on unexpended balances held by the various departments.

MORE EXTENSIVE CHANGES PLANNED THAN CONFERENCE PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Even more extensive changes in tax laws than were agreed upon at the White House conference between President Harding and republican leaders of the house of representatives were voted tentatively by the majority members of the ways and means committee.

Repeal of the excess profits tax, effective January 1, 1922.

An increase of the income tax on corporations from 15 per cent to 15 per cent with the $2,000 exemption retained effective January 1, 1922.

Repeal of the so-called luxury taxes on clothing apparel effective January 1, 1922.

Exemption from income tax on the first $500 of income from stock held in building and loan associations.

Revision of existing taxes included: Repeal of the tax on certain drinks and ice cream and the substitution of a flat tax of 10 cents a gallon on all fountain syrups to be paid direct by the manufacturer of the drink.

Repeal of the stamp taxes on perfumes, extracts, tooth paste and other toilet preparations and proprietary medicines and medicine for a manufacturer's tax of five per cent on the sale price.

Removal of the 15 per cent manufacturer's tax on carbonated gases and the levying of a manufacturer's tax of 15 cents per gallon.

Substitution of a manufacturer's tax of two cents a gallon for the present 10 per cent on the sale price of fermented juice beverages and carbonated water or beverage or other soft drinks sold in containers.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The whole British delegation to the allied supreme council will return to London tomorrow, according to a Paris dispatch to Reuter's late this afternoon. The dispatch said this action was due to today's developments in the Irish situation.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch (London) received about the same time, said the decision was due to a deadlock in the deliberation of the allied supreme council.

The supreme council's dispatch said it was "dormant in French circles that the reply of Kamonn de Valera, Irish republican leader, Premier Lloyd George's Irish policy proposal meant a grave crisis.

Experts are working on frontier for Silesia.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Experts directed by the supreme allied council to fix the frontier between Germany and Poland, in Upper Silesia, resumed work early today with the expectation that they would be able to present a completed report to the council when it met late this afternoon. The task of drawing the boundary, which was expected to be completed by the allied premiers on Tuesday, presented many difficulties and the experts were unable to submit the results of their labors to the council yesterday.

Reider's decision that the allies would maintain an attitude of strict neutrality in Asia Minor, where the Greeks and Turkish nationalists are engaged in hostilities, the council yesterday went on record as being opposed to interfering with the liberty of private firms in dealing with the belligerents.

The council agreed that a committee should be appointed to study the best means of bringing about allied cooperation in sending relief to famine stricken districts of Russia, and it was stipulated that the committee should submit a report before the present meeting in London.

It was a general agreement that the forwarding of supplies to the suffering provinces of Russia need not necessarily involve recognition in any form of the soviet government, the question being described by Prime Minister Lloyd George as "humanitarian, not a political matter."

SENDING RELIEF TO RUSSIA DEPENDS ON WASHINGTON VERDICT

By Associated Press.

RIGA, Aug. 11.—Conferees between Walter Brown and Maxim Litvinoff, relative to relief measures to be taken in Russia, will be resumed here tomorrow, but both men have made it clear to each other that they are not appearing in behalf of their respective governments.

Decision as to whether American relief supplies will be withheld from Russia until all Americans in that country have been released and placed outside the borders of bolshevik Russia, has been left to the state department in Washington.

Mr. Brown said that sending the supplies to Russia would be a difficult task, but their distribution beyond that point would present a difficult problem.

RECEIVE NEWS OF ARRIVAL OF PRISONERS AT REVAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Official word of the arrival at Reval of Americans released from Russia reached the state department here and relatives were notified by the department in very case where addresses were known.

Negotiations at Riga and level for family relief was the basis of the assumption that all other Americans who choose to leave Russia will be given facilities to cross the frontiers, it was said authoritatively. There are known to be many Americans there, who, while not in jail, have been prevented from leaving.

PROCLAIMS HOLY WAR TO ASSIST TURKS

GRAND JURY TO BEGIN AN INVESTIGATION OF THE KENNEDY MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Fifteen grand jurors for the district and county grand jury today began an investigation of the murder of J. P. Kennedy, which was announced today that it had started a players' bonus fund, to be paid if they win the second half of the season, with the amount of $2,500.

Local fans have wondered why such a bonus was not started before, but the club moguls wisely decided to wait and find out whether or not their players would play for the sake of the bonus. They are now firmly convinced that each and every man has done his utmost to win for the club, and with this in mind they started the fund.

Wichita Falls fans have gained a reputation for the length and breadth of the country for the way they have treated their ball players. Last year the amount of money that was given to players on a long trip in the principal topics of conversation in baseball circles. Again this year, more money has been voluntarily given the players than in any other park in the league, and probably in any other park in the country.

The fans now have the opportunity to give in such a way that it will do the most good. No one player will reap a harvest. The money will be divided evenly among all the players, provided they win the second half. No one man is more deserving than any other. The man who comes through in a pinch is usually the one to benefit most. Any other man might do the same under the same circumstances and the steady player is often overlooked. No one player can possibly be overlooked. They will all share alike.

Wichita Falls has a reputation to sustain in Fort Worth is the only other city around the circuit which has started a players' bonus fund. Are the local fans going to allow the Panther to outdo them? Hardly. The exact total that has been raised in Fort Worth is not known now, but the figures will be available in the near future.

The boys have given the fans all they possessed and without any thought of a bonus. They are going away on a long trip in a few days. Now is the time to show them that you are with them.

The management requests that all Wichita Falls fans contribute to the Wichita Falls Baseball Association, "Players' Bonus Fund," and the subscribers names will be printed from day to day in the local papers.

FORMAL INVESTIGATION INTO THE KENNEDY KILLING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11.—Formal investigation of the mysterious slaying of J. P. Kennedy, which was announced today that it had started a players' bonus fund, to be paid if they win the second half of the season, with the amount of $2,500.

The evidence in the case, involving Madeline Obenchain, Kennedy's companion, who is being held in custody, and Arthur C. Burch, her former college mate and acquaintance of Kennedy, both held in jail, the latter under suspicion of the slaying, all are being presented, it was indicated late yesterday.

Several witnesses, however, according to Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, will be called to the stand. It was understood that an attempt was made to identify Burch as the man who shot Kennedy, but the jury was unable to do so.

SENATE SUSTAINS ACTION OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—The senate today sustained the action of the senate finance committee in refusing the request of the governor for an appropriation of $579,000 for the operation of the penitentiary system until September 1, 1922, when the majority committee report was adopted by a vote of 17 to 11.

As a mark of appreciation for the manner in which the Spudders have been playing ball since the Texas league season was split, the Wichita Falls Baseball association announced today that it had started a players' bonus fund, to be paid if they win the second half of the season, with the amount of $2,500.

DALLAS, Aug. 11.—A capacity crowd filled Judge Felix Robertson's courtroom in corporation court this morning to hear the case of Gus King, center college football star, his brother and six other young men charged with obstructing the sidewalk, disturbing the peace and resisting an officer.

The cases are an outgrowth of an attack Monday evening on Policemen Taylor and Mims on a downtown street. The officers alleged that the young men refused to "move on" when ordered to do so after looting on the corner for some time. In a statement made yesterday, the officers declared that they were standing on the curb talking to a friend who had just driven up in an automobile and that the fracas began when officer Davis came up and ordered "You jelly beans" to "move on and stop looting."

FIVE NATIONS ARE INVITED TO SEND DELEGATES TO WASHINGTON ARMISTICE DAY, NOVEMBER 11TH

DISARMAMENT PLAN IS BUT CARRYING OUT A POLICY OF WILSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—President Harding's formal invitation to the great powers for a conference here beginning November 11 on disarmament and Far Eastern problems were made public today by Secretary Hughes. The text of the communications transmitted to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and China to participate in the conference placed no limitation on the scope of the discussions to be had.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Formal invitations will be sent today to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and China to attend the conference on disarmament and Far Eastern questions. At Washington November 11.

The text of the invitations will not be available today, but President Harding said it was announced today that the invitations were understood to be identical and brief. They will be sent directly to the foreign offices and copies handed to the diplomatic representatives of the powers here.

Tentative negotiations have made certain the acceptance of the invitations and of agreement to send a conference on armistice day. It is expected that the acceptance will make clear how many representatives and experts each nation expects to send. Questions of housing the missions and selection of a building for the principal conference meetings and of many minor conferences are being studied.

Further exchanges of opinion on the agenda will probably continue although preliminary conferences have been abandoned.

Subjects relating to the disarmament negotiations were talked over for an hour today by President Harding and Senator Borah, author of the resolution requesting the executive to call a disarmament conference. The meeting was arranged at the president's request.

The question of negotiations for a treaty of commerce and amity with Germany also came into the discussion. Afterward Secretary Harding said that in his opinion events were moving toward the conclusion of such a treaty.

IRELAND'S REPLY TO PEACE PROPOSAL IS IN BRITISH HANDS

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The reply of Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, to the British government's peace proposals was handed to Austin J. Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons, at 10:30 today.

The tenor of the reply was withheld. The official explanation was that it would be subject first to conferences by the conferees and that it was unlikely to be divulged for some days.

Reuter's from Paris tonight says Premier Lloyd George will return to London Friday owing to developments in the Irish situation. He is rumored in French sources, adds the message, that Eamon de Valera's reply means a grave crisis.

SUCH IS VIEW HELD BY THE DEMOCRATIC LEADERS IN WASHINGTON

WILL NOT EMBARRASS PRESIDENT IN PROGRAM

Expect to Get Sufficient Campaign Material From Revision of Tariff and Taxes.

By MARK SULLIVAN, National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Chicago Daily News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—The democratic leaders in congress look forward to the coming disarmament conference with a complex mixture of a man who sees a chief wearing his clothes but can't find any practical way of having the miscreant in court for punishment or even of making a public outcry about it. The democrats look upon everything the republican administration may do as a theft of democratic clothes and a wanton flaunting of the possession and enjoyment thereof in the public eye.

They fully expect that the ultimate result of the conference will be a treaty of nations which will not differ materially from the Wilsonian league of nations which came so near to adoption under democratic auspices a year and a half ago. At the same time they do not expect that it will do anything to replace their party.

In the world of politics a public controversy between the original inventor of an idea and the party that copy it later is always a matter in favor of the party in present possession of the goods. Moreover, most of the democratic leaders are too conscientious to raise the issue of a treaty in disarmament and hoping for a mechanism which will insure peace, they don't want to take any attitude other than that of a man who says they will tell you as much as they can toward democratic effort for peace.

The democratic leaders are too conscientious to raise the issue of a treaty in disarmament and hoping for a mechanism which will insure peace, they don't want to take any attitude other than that of a man who says they will tell you as much as they can regarding some of the republican leaders they can easily prove that the latter opposed the league of nations, not because they were republicans, but rather because it emanated from Wilson and the democrats. They say that as regards several republican leaders who are now in the hands of the democrats, they are disappointed to be as mean as that, and they are sure to do anything they can to pull Wilson down. The democratic leaders say that if they were disposed to be as mean as that, they would have done it long ago, and as much as the republican senators embarrassed Wilson. They say that just as the republican senators signed a peace treaty, the democrats signed a peace treaty with the league would not be ratified, so could the democratic senate ratify the league, the democrats would have signed similarly at the outset.

All this, however, is the purely political reaction of a man surprised and amazed at the relation between virtue and its proper reward. As a matter of public policy, the great bulk of the democratic leaders are in favor of a treaty which will insure peace and which will have no intention except one of politeness toward President Harding's enterprise. If Harding succeeds in a comprehensive and lasting peace treaty, he need labor under no fear of losing it in the senate. For refraining from making an issue of this resolution, the democrats are sure to be compensated by the abundance of the capital they expect to make out of republican acquiescence in the domestic issue of tariff and taxation.

Nothing that the republicans do about taxation can possibly be popular, and the democratic position on the tariff, the democrats feel, has been made much stronger by the change which the war made in America's relation to the world on these two issues. The democrats are sure to do all their fighting and build up the case with which they will go before the country in the congressional elections of next year from now.

MEXICO SHIPS 17 MILLION BARRELS OF OIL DURING JUNE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Petroleum shipments from the Tampico, Mexico, oil fields in June aggregating 17,000,000 barrels, reached the greatest volume of shipments for any month this year, excepting the record month of January, according to a report to the commerce department today from Vice Consul Hickerson.

June figures, he said, showed an increase of 2,418,000 barrels over May shipments and a decrease of 1,417,000 barrels from those of January. Because of the increased export duty on Mexican oil, effective July 1, Mr. Hickerson explained, there was a rush to empty all available storage, preparatory to a cessation of shipments, after July 1. In the division of shipments, he reported, the United States received 12,577,000 barrels during June, approximately $300,000 more than in May and 73 per cent of the total net shipments.

Image of An Old Tribe of Indians Or Cliff Dwellers

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aug. 11.—Further information as to the petrified body of gigantic proportions found near Helenwood, in Scott county, Tenn., was received here today. Dr. J. C. Pickett, of Helenwood, found the "devil," as he calls it, on July 29, last, while prospecting for coal. The formation was five feet underground. It weighed something like 500 pounds. The trunk is described as having a head of abnormal size adorned by horns resembling those of a ruminant. Its mouth is of unusual size with 24 prominent front teeth. The arms are of unusual length with enormous hands. A chain resembling an ordinary trace chain encircles the neck. Long wings of brownish color reach from the shoulders almost to the ankles. The impression of the feet is plainly visible on the chest. Pickett believes the object may be an image of an old tribe of Indians or cliff dwellers.

Declares America Carries the Subject Of Bathing Too Far

Cameron Pickett, San Francisco physician, in an address before the annual convention of the national association of chiropractors here. Dr. Pickett's subject was skin lesions and he declared that the rapid increase in the prevalence of these convinced him that America had carried the subject of bathing too far.

INDUSTRIES THREATEN TO SHUT DOWN PLANTS IF LAW IS ENFORCED

By Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, Aug. 11.—Commercial and industrial interests of the state of Vera Cruz have informed Governor Tejeda that they are absolutely opposed to the operation of the state law providing for the distribution of the proceeds of industries among workmen and employers. They have declared that it will be impossible for them to operate under the law, which was signed by the governor on July 3, and that rather than submit to its provisions, they will shut down all industrial plants. Farmers assert that they, too, will strike and refuse to plant crops if the law is enforced.

CAPTAIN ROALD AMUNDSEN WILL CARRY PROVISIONS SUFFICIENT FOR 7 YEARS

SEATTLE, WASH., Aug. 11.—The main that "an army travels on its stomach" was applied to the explorer by Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole and noted Arctic voyager, today.

Captain Amundsen, announced that when he sails back into the north next May to resume his interrupted attempt to drift past the north pole with the Arctic currents, his ship, the Maud, will be stocked with enough provisions to last seven years. "North of 85 degrees latitude," Captain Amundsen said, "there is little or no animal life. The explorer who finds himself that far north without provisions may as well abandon hope." "The Fram expedition," the explorer continued, "when we were in the far Arctic, we killed a polar bear that approached the ship. An examination showed that his stomach contained no food but a Norwegian newspaper. The newspaper had been thrown overboard from the Fram several days before."

Congresswoman Is Against the Senate Maternity Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Expressing opposition to the Sheppard-Towner maternity bill, Miss Alice M. Robertson, Oklahoma, only woman member of the house, declared in a statement that "its salient feature is not tangible help of the kind the general public infers would be given, but the establishment of autocratic, undefined, practically uncontrolled, yet federally authorized centers of propaganda." "Statistics presented by the proponents of the maternity bill might find difficulty in passing the ananas test," said Miss Robertson, adding that without complete statistics, which are "not to be had," the "sob-stuff" claim which she said had been made by Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the national consumers' league, that "680 babies die every day" was absurd on the face of it, "and quite in keeping with her comparison of congressional men to Herod."

Itality turned upon the methods which have brought the maternity bill thus far toward enactment." Miss Robertson's statement continues, "The most ardent proponents in my belief would in all fairness be compelled to allow time for the as yet unheard majority of women who know nothing of the proposed legislation, to learn the facts and were to speak for themselves." The bill, which has been passed by the senate, is pending before the house commerce committee.

Dispensation for the Seymour commandery was granted at the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Texas, held in Wichita Falls in April. The commandery was instituted by Grand Commander L. G. Hawkins of Vernon on June 6 and since that time has conferred the degrees on 36 candidates. At the last regular meeting 30 candidates were elected to receive the orders.

Plans are being made for the erection of a new Masonic temple which will likely be started during the early part of next year. The new temple will afford all modern conveniences, including a Masonic club room on the ground floor.

L. Z. Timmons of Godfrey commandery, Jackboro, and James K. Bachman and C. O. Fritz of Wichita Falls commandery No. 59, Wichita Falls, were visitors.

The visitors and candidates were entertained at dinner at the Washington hotel at seven o'clock. Charles R. Hartsock, commander of Wichita Falls commandery No. 59, accompanied by James K. Bachman, W. Y. Hammack, Warren Smith and C. O. Fritz, will go to Howie Friday to assist Howie commandery U. D. in conferring orders of knighthood on a large class of candidates. Work will be commenced at two o'clock in the afternoon and will continue on through the evening.

DOPE ADDICTS RUN OUT OF FORT WORTH NOT ALLOWED HERE

The "keep moving please" sign was hung out by local police Wednesday afternoon when it was learned that Fort Worth officials had ordered a large group of dope addicts out of that city and that the undesirable had started for Wichita Falls.

Five persons were arrested Wednesday, several of whom were reported to have been found with morphine and hypodermic outfits in their possession. They came in on freight cars, according to the police, and those that escaped the clutches of the law headed out the same way presumably for Kansas.

A grinning skull and crossbones at either end of the famous "Death Bridge" on Lowell street, Reading, Mass., was silent company with the monster letter warning: "Death Bridge for Careless Drivers—Passable But Unsafe."

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking the Place of Dangerous, Sickening Drug.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and be unable to do a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless and gives it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything afterwards.—adv.

WILL GRAY SPEAKS ON TEAM FINANCES AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

It takes all the money the baseball association can make, while the team is at home, to offset the losses it incurs when the team is making road trips. J. Will Gray, secretary of the association, told the members of the Rotary club at the weekly luncheon Thursday. Mr. Gray discussed the business end of the national pastime and gave some interesting facts and figures in connection with it.

Mr. Gray was the principal speaker at Thursday's luncheon, which was one of the best attended in some time. Musical numbers by the club's new quartette were a pleasing feature. Miss Gray at the piano, Harry Gray with the mandolin and Messrs. Bergin, Shepherd, Gray and Daniels as vocalists performed most acceptably.

J. A. Johnson, formerly of this city, now of Bartlesville, Okla., discussed the oil business and other things in a brief talk. It was announced that by reason of its membership being above the 100 mark, the Wichita Falls club is advanced in rank from class C to class B.

SOUTH BEND WELL ON OWENS LAND IS AWAITING STORAGE

Late reports from the C. W. Tyrrell test on the R. D. Owens tract, in the Jurgor district six miles due west of the town of South Bend in Young county, shows the sand was encountered at 1,895 feet and was drilled in 28 inches, and is shut down waiting on storage. Wednesday the well made four flows of from three to four minutes' duration, over the top of the derrick, making around 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The nearest production to this well is the Hobbs Oil company on the J. J. Scott and the Y. M. Hale farms, which is approximately four miles east. At the present time six other tests are drilling in this district.

GETTING READY FOR LABOR DAY TRIP OF SHRINERS TO VERNON

Maskat Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., has accepted an invitation extended by the Vernon Shrine club of Vernon to attend the Labor Day celebration and barbecue to be held at the Vernon Country club on September 5. W. W. Gardner, Frank Collier, Horace Robbins and Joe E. Ward comprise the transportation committee and will make arrangements for the movement of a special train to Vernon on that day. R. E. Shepherd has been appointed captain general of the train and trip.

L. G. Hawkins, high priest and prophet of Maskat Temple, is president of the Vernon Shrine club, and is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the visitors. Monday evening a hundred or more Shriners of Vernon and the surrounding country met at Vernon and completed arrangements for the celebration.

The fifty-piece Maskat Temple band, the Arab patrol, chanters and the Maskat drum corps of Electra will make the trip to Vernon. In addition to the Shriners, the ladies with their white fezzes are also invited. This being an all Shrine affair, the organizations will go doled in full uniform and the Shriners will all wear their red fezzes. The Wichita Falls Shrine special will stop at all stations en route to Vernon and will pick up Shriners and their ladies along the line. Invitations have been issued to all Shriners within a radius of fifty miles of Vernon, and it is expected that there will be a large crowd.

MURRY-ORR MARRIAGE THURSDAY AT HIGH NOON

The marriage of Miss Emma Margaret Murry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Murry, to Mr. Marvin Orr of Hugo, Okla., was solemnized on Thursday at high noon. The wedding took place at the Murry home at 2200 Tenth street in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends.

With Miss Louise Bullitt at the piano, the bridal chorus from Lohengrin was played as a prelude. Preceding this Mrs. George Moulder sang "Because."

The bride came in with Mrs. F. S. Brooks Jr., who was matron of honor. Mr. Orr was attended by Mr. Wyatt Freeman of Hugo, Okla. The ring ceremony was read by Rev. T. J. Holt, pastor of the Lamar street Baptist church.

Immediately after the ceremony Mrs. Moulder and Mr. Freeman sang "The Love Me If All Those Indicating Young Charms."

The bride was charmingly dressed in a navy blue crepe net, traveling dress with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and fern. Mrs. Brooks wore a frock of champagne tulle with black lace hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr left Thursday afternoon for a motor trip to Galveston, Mrs. Murry, mother of the bride, will accompany them as far as Fort Worth.

Mr. Orr is principal of the high school at Hugo, Okla., and Miss Murry has been for the past two years director of physical education at the Southeastern State Normal at Durant, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr will be at home after September 1 at Hugo, Okla.

JUBILEE'S PARTNER

Illustrations by Judd Mortimer Lewis

When I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, and went down into my short pants as quick as I could because I knew my father would be watching out for me, I went in the pantry and dropped a piece of cheese out of the pantry window where I knew Jubilee would find it, and then I took the pail and went out and milked the dunned animal, and turned them loose and ran them out of the yard and went in the house and strained the milk and washed my face and combed my hair and went in and so down at the table and my aunt said to me if I wasn't feeling well and I said I felt like a two year old, and that is what my grandfather always says, so everyone but him laughed, and then I told my aunt that I just washed my face to surprise her, and she said that she was surprised—but I ought to remember that she has got a weak heart. I guess women don't amount to much, my aunt has got a weak heart and Yonibus has got a delicate stomach, and all me and Flanty has got stiff necks, and we don't make any team about that, boys are different.

As soon as I had et a little I rolled up a couple of pancakes and stuck them in my pocket for Jubilee and started for the barn to climb out of the manure hole, and my father hollered and asked me where I was going, I said I guessed I would clean out the barn, so he said to go ahead, I guess maybe I will—sometime.

Peanuts and Red and Yet and the Lost Bag of Tripe wanted to know if I would go along and I said that when I went I would not go with a stick like him. He cried the last time, and I told Peanuts how he got home sick for his run and wanted to go home and I guess Flanty was afraid I was going to tell something on him so he said to leave have a game of ball, so we was playing and Old Man Scanlon come over and played and he did not do a good one and ran around the bases as hard as he could go and then he got white and laid down under a tree and asked me to go for Mrs. Scanlon and I did and she come running and I got some water and Miss Farmer come with a fan and fanned him while Mrs. Scanlon wet his face and after a while he got all right and went home, I bet I will be tuffer than that when I get old and have long pants.

When I got home Yonibus had been there, so I went over to her house and asked her what she wanted, and she said she did not want anything. Her mother was not home and she rubbed my neck with some liniment her father has. At first it rubbed pretty slick but after a while it did not work so good and we looked at the bottle and found out that it was her father's glass, she thought I ought to wash my neck but I told her I had washed it once today. No one no good anything and I went to bed when I had et and got jubilee up.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

Just as one flock may be very charming with a high neckline, so another may be fully as attractive with the front of the bodice cut out to the waistline, permitting the use of a white or creamy vest, so soft and flattering to the face, and particularly youthful for the older women.

For the dark dress that one plans with the first hint of autumn, the design in the sketch is most wearable. The lines are easy to follow, and the pattern requires little extra fabric. Crepe marocain or Canton crepe will drape well a these lines, and if made up in dark blue, black, brown or henna, with white or extra trimmed Georgette to fill in the bosom, will afford one of those dresses that may always be depended on for calling, card parties, church or informal dinner wear. And what is more, one can escape the boredom of wearing the same dress too often by varying the treatment of the neck, the waist and the occasion, wearing at one time something soft and frilly, or a prim tailored gilet another occasion, with perhaps a touch of color in binding or embroidery.

In this model the sleeves and both sides of the skirt are finished with an open flap, and several rows of self-color stitching.

PATTERN NO. 226. A pattern for the above model (No. 226) can be obtained in sizes 24, 26 or 28 by sending to Lenore, 8 West Fortieth street, New York City, your name, address and 50 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you, which will be within two weeks time.—The Editor.

JUDGE JONES MAKES REPLY TO MURPHY'S COMMENT ON AUDIT

Judge J. P. Jones of the county commissioners' court stated that he wanted made clear to the public that the proposed audit of the county's books would not cost $10,000, and has issued the following statement:
"I notice that W. W. Murphy, county auditor, has issued a statement through the press stating that he will not oppose an audit of the books of the officers of Wichita county but goes on to say that it will cost the county about $10,000. This appears to me to be propaganda, for at the present time we have of file bills to do this work for $1,000 a year or for a much per cent. The bills received have come from some of the most efficient auditing concerns in the city and other points. Some officers of the county are anxious for an audit, including myself, because of so much propaganda. I believe in letting the people see what we are doing."

LITTLE BIG MISTAKES.

In his court of Boyville William Allen White recites the story of how a man in Lawrence, Kansas, one night ate an extra piece of pie-plant pie and thus did not feel able to attend the ward caucus of his party. The result was that the opposition approved the nomination of a candidate for the state legislature by a majority of one. The man approved was elected to serve in the state legislature. During the session his vote was the one vote needed for the selection of Ross to be senator from Kansas. Later Senator Ross served on the committee which heard the impeachment charges against President Johnson and it was the vote of Ross which prevented the impeachment of Johnson and his removal from office. Thus the whole history of the country was changed because one man ate an extra piece of pie-plant pie, according to White.

But whether or not White was right in his statement the fact remains that many great things come from small beginnings. Baron Sergius A. Kory, in a recent address given before the Institute of Politics at Williams College pointed out that Roosevelt made a serious mistake when he brought about peace in the Russo-Japanese war. According to the Russian baron, former deputy-governor of Finland, if peace had not been forced upon Russia she could have made Japan extend herself so greatly to win, that she would have come out of the struggle a different Japan from the one we now see. He claims that Japan, at the time of the peace negotiations, was at the end of her tether. A prolongation of the struggle would likely have brought about a constitutional reform which would have made Japan amenable to the wishes of the other nations of the world.

Russia, on the other hand, might not have won, but a continuation of the struggle would certainly have brought about internal changes, the greatest of which would have been convincing the czar that he was all wrong in his belief that the czar could do no wrong. That change alone would have liberalized Russia, but, far more important, would dissolved the same idea in the mind of the German Kaiser.

Carrying the argument further our former baron points out that if Kaiser Wilhelm, the august, had been once convinced that the czar might happen to do wrong, he would have felt the same might be true of himself. Therefore there would not have been any late war. Q. E. D.

There is a naive about the argument which nearly equals the White argument but the advantage of the White argument is that it is a playful one, meant for entertainment. It is true that great changes do come over individual men. But as a usual thing they rise from the surging and groping of the masses. The struggle of all life is upward. Centuries may be required before a cause is given clear articulation but, once it is, life moves on and upward. There may be artificial damming processes such as the baron speaks of, but these barriers are soon swept away.

To state now that the great war might have been avoided had only Russia and Japan been permitted to knock each other groggy seems idle speculation. The humans thing to do at the time was to end the struggle. The humane thing is, in nearly all cases, the thing to do. If the world had gone so ridiculously mad that only the late war would satisfy the lust of man then the late war was inevitable and should be purgative. It is only in great struggles that we reach the great heights. The refining processes of war have their compensations for mankind. They may not help the participating individuals and their mothers to any particular extent, but a legacy is left mankind which advances his struggle to reach and hold the heights. You may tell the cross-eyed world this, without fear of contradiction, whereas many people might be inclined to think that the Russian baron should be home helping feed the starving millions, instead of in this country seeing things.

THE EXAMPLE OF THE SOUTH.

It has been the opinion of a number of observers that conditions in the war-torn countries of Europe are not so bad as conditions were in the south following the war between the states. When that war ended the south was prostrated. The best of her manhood had been killed or maimed. Her industries were ruined and her currency absolutely worthless. And if these things were not bad enough misgovernment was fastened upon the states by the victors.

these results of the war. Mr. House was in Europe during the war and is now there as a representative of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Writing for that paper he says: "To one who lived in the southern states after the Civil war, those late enemy and defeated countries do not seem to have suffered in like proportion. At least the scars are not so visible. While the loss of life and the number of maimed was incomparably greater in this war, the financial wreckage was not more complete, and the recovery will not take as long. "Europe can and will resume an orderly life. Even Russia is indicating some reaction. The convalescence of Europe has begun, but how soon complete recovery comes will depend upon the wisdom and toleration of the leaders, and the willingness of the people to adjust themselves to the new conditions which four years of a bloody and destructive war have brought about."

The southern people worked out their own financial and industrial redemption in the face of heavy handicaps. European countries in their present dilemma may well look to the example of the southern people for hope and inspiration.

DALLAS WARS ON "JELLY BEANS."

A number of "jelly bean" cases are being tried in Dallas today. We gather that a "jelly bean" is one of those sap-headed, powdered and scented youth who hang about the street corners and "ogle" upon the girls and women who pass. Some of the young men who are being tried at Dallas today have issued statements declaring that they are not "jelly beans" and that they had just stopped for a moment when a policeman came along and arrested them, addressing them in uncompromising terms and hearing them up.

Editorial Echoes

The Officer and the Law. Every officer of the law is under the same measure of obligation to obey the law as is every other citizen, and no custom, usage, precedent or supposed necessity can justify official disregard of the plain letter of the constitution or of the law.

There are certain things which no officer has the right to do, and the doing of which is a plain violation both of official duty and of the law. First, he has no right to search either the house or the person of any citizen without a warrant based on probable cause. Second, he has no right to arrest a citizen without a warrant unless he sees an offense committed, or is advised by some credible person that a felony has been committed.

Third, he has no right whatever to shoot any person fleeing to escape arrest. There is no such thing as a "hot pursuit" which justifies the officer in shooting a fleeing suspect. It is only when a person is fleeing from a deadly or serious bodily injury that he has the right to shoot. If an officer is in a position to shoot to avoid arrest he should have no right to shoot him. He should have no right to shoot him if he has murdered a sleeping babe he would have no right to shoot him. He should have no right to shoot him if he has committed a crime in Texas and in 1874 in the case of Caldwell vs. the State (41 Tex. 55) was declared, "Caldwell shot a man who was fleeing from a scene of horse theft. He paid the penalty of five years labor in the penitentiary."

Fourth, he has no right to detain a citizen against his will or to search him while he questions him as to his antecedents, his movements, his place of residence, his purpose, object or intention. He has no right to detain a citizen who is guilty of false imprisonment. (Penal Code, Art. 1033.) The constitution and statutory guarantees of the safety and sanctity of the person and the personal rights of every citizen, however lowly or humble, are the things that we should protect and make any argument to support them unnecessary.

HUMANISMS Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM A. HERTON DU PUY. President Harding was telling of his first social appearance in Washington. He has just appeared as senator from Ohio and the Ohio society was holding one of its regular meetings. "There had been a formal session and then a recess had been taken that the members might mingle and get acquainted. Mr. Harding, without introduction, fell into conversation with a young woman from his own state or to be more accurate, the young woman poured out a sea of talk upon him. "Ohio," she said, "has degenerated sadly. Think of the good old days when she boasted such giants in the senate as Hanna and Sherman, and then think of the two dubs she now has sent."

Then when they were parting, she shook hands in her friendly and said: "I beg your pardon, but I didn't get your name. "I am one of these dubs," said the senator, "name Harding."

Mr. Ernest Greenwood, who is in charge of the office of labor information in Washington for the league of nations, and who is the only official of that organization in America, wears in his buttonhole a dapper little purple button which the slightly initiated recognize as the outward symbol of his having received a decoration. It is an extremely indelicate thing to ask a man the significance of a button of this sort, so Mr. Greenwood's associates at the National Press club, where he lunches, were long in ignorance. Finally one of them went to a jewelry store which knows these things and found out that the purple button meant that France had conferred upon Mr. Greenwood the honor of being an "Officier de l'Ordre de l'Instruction Publique." It was to the man who rendered an intellectual service about what the Croix de Guerre is to the fighting man.

Giving this term a sweeping American interpretation, Greenwood's friend thereupon exasperatingly insisted on referring to him as a "member of the Order of School Superintendents."

Senator John William Harrell, the huge, genial Oklahoma oil operator, who has recently taken his seat in congress, made himself a rule when he went into the oil business, some six or eight years ago. This rule was that of all the money he made in oil, he would reinvest only 20 per cent in the same business; 80 per cent he would place in what he called "safe investments," and obviously more stable securities. The 20 per cent that he reinvested in oil has made more money than the 80 per cent placed in the "safe investments," which was conservative. He still holds, however, that his formula was dictated by good judgment.

Has Read From the Bible Every Sabbath For Forty-One Years. HARKELL, TEXAS, Aug. 11.—T. H. Hancock of this city has made a remarkable record in Bible reading during the 41 years of his married life. On his wedding day, May 19, 1881, he resolved that he would read one or more chapters from the Bible every Sabbath day, and up to this time he has kept his vow. On one occasion he had retired for the night without reading from the book of Job, and when the thoughts of his actions during the past Sabbath day passed through his mind before he entered dreamland's happy realm, he remembered his forgotten pledge and arose from his bed, read his chapter and again tucked himself in bed and fell asleep. Mr. Hancock was born in Tennessee, reared in North Carolina and came to Haskell in 1908. He is now the senior partner of Hancock & Co., a dry goods firm of this city.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

By DOROTHY DIX
THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

To the Sweet Girl Graduate

You have just graduated in all the degrees, and in a perfectly peachy white frock, and you contemplate your blue-ribbon diploma you have a sigh to think that the late Mr. Solomon is no more. You feel that your intellectual attainments as you be in the hundredth degree, and his level is a great and glorious feeling. It lasts, little girl. Make the most of the fleeting hour, for it is only in the few months following graduation, while the school plaquid still ring our ears, that we are perfectly certain that we know all there is to know, and that wisdom will perish off of the earth with us. Pretty soon experience will begin shaking your confidence in yourself. You will find yourself making mistakes, and blunders, and acting like a fool, until the time will come when you will have such a humble opinion of yourself that you will wonder how they come to let you be at large with a diploma. It is only when you are young and very old—when you are in the two childhoods of life—that we enjoy perfect self-satisfaction in our own attainments.

Now this education of which you are so justly proud has cost you a good many years of hard work. It has also cost your father a good many thousands of hard dollars. Suppose you sit down and check it up, and see how it figures out in practical terms.

Just how far has it fitted you for the rough and tumble fight of life? If, today, you were thrown out on the world alone, to sink or swim, would you win a long distance, endurance medal, or go to the bottom like a stone?

Think it over.

You have graduated in chemistry. Can you make a loaf of bread that would not be first dished to the undertaker?

You took honors in higher mathematics. Can you tell what sixteen yards of muslin at thirty-nine and three-fourths cents a yard, plus the war tax and with a one per cent discount for self-delivery, comes to without figuring all over a sheet of paper and getting a different result each time?

You were the star pupil in the trigonometry class. Can you work out a perforated paper pattern for a nonna-leeved, one-piece suit at all?

You spent years studying dietetics and you can discourse glibly about calories and carbohydrates and proteins. Can you translate them into meat and potatoes, and pie, in a way that would keep a man in fighting trim, without superfluous nerves, or fat, or thinness, and with the calm mind of one who is properly nourished without knowing how?

You studied hygiene. Would you know how to feed a baby and keep its bottles sterilized so it wouldn't have the colic?

You studied English for years. Can you spell correctly, or are you one of those millions of girls and boys who go through school without ever being introduced to the mysteries of the dictionary? Can you write a simple, well-expressed, courteous business letter, or are you one of those to whom every word of the simplest communication must be dictated, even to the very punctuation?

Can you write an interesting gossip letter, or are you one of those who are so awkward with the pen that they take it in hand as seldom as possible?

You have studied psychology. Have you gotten working dope from that that will turn the trick when you come to avoiding the angles of a nervous, cantankerous husband's disposition, or soothing down the ruffled feelings of a mother-in-law?

Can you do any one thing in the world well enough to make people willing to pay you for doing it?

If you cannot answer these questions in the affirmative, dear little, sweet little girl graduate, don't you think you had best get busy putting a few annexes, and towers, and cupolas and things on the education that you now consider such a perfect House of Life? For when you come face to face with the realities of every-day existence you will find that all that schools and colleges can teach you is just kindergarten stuff. It helps when you matriculate into the big University of Life, but it doesn't carry you all the way as you thought it would.

So lock up your diploma and begin your real education, and commence in the kitchen with mother as instructor. Whatever else a woman needs to know in the world, there are two things that she may be certain she will require to be mistress of: cooking and sewing. No matter what fate has in store for her, a woman will always require to be fed and clothed, and whether she fares well or ill, and dresses beautifully or sloppily depends upon what she knows about cooking and sewing.

No girl is well educated unless she is a good housewife. Cook and can turn out a hat and dress that even her dearest enemy does not know is home made.

Then, sweet little girl graduate, study some way by which you can live an honest living. This, no matter how rich papa is. Money has wings, and many a millionaire's daughter has died in the poorhouse. Don't risk this fate. Make learning a trade as much a part of your education as learning to read and write well.

When you can cook and sew and support yourself you will be entitled to consider that you are a fairly well-educated girl. Not before.

An O. HENRY Story

The Reformation of Calliope

By O. HENRY

CALLIOPE CATESBY was in his humors again. Ennui was upon him.

Over night Calliope had hung out signals of approaching low spirits. He had kicked his own dog on the porch of the Occidental Hotel, and refused to apologize. His dog was capricious and fault-finding in conversation.

At this stage Calliope generally began to drink.

A quiet, amiable man was Calliope Catesby at other times—quiet to intolerance, and amiable to worthlessness. At best he was a loafer and a nuisance; at worst he was the Terror of Quickland.

At the morning Calliope was fit. Inspired by his own barbarous melodies and the contents of his jug, he was ready primed to gather fresh laurels from the diffident brow of Quickland. He had a crumpled and crisscrossed belt, abundantly garnished with revolvers, and copiously drunk he poured forth into Quickland's main street.

Down the street went Calliope, shooting right and left. Glass fell like hail; dogs yowled; chickens flew, squawking; feminine voices shrieked concernedly to youngsters at large; the din was perforated at intervals by the occasional roar of the Teror's guns, and was drowned periodically by the brazen screech that Quickland knew so well. The occasions of Calliope's low spirits were legal holidays in Quickland. All along the main street in advance of his coming clerks were putting up shutters and closing doors. Business would languish for a space. The right of way was Calliope's, and as he advanced observing the death of opposition and the few opportunities for distraction, his ennui perceptibly increased.

But some four squares farther down lively preparations were being made to minister to Mr. Catesby's love for interchange of compliments and repartee. On the previous night numerous messengers had hastened to advise Buck Patterson, the city marshal, of Calliope's impending eruption. The patience of that official, often strained in extending leniency toward the disturber's misdeeds, had been overtaxed.

Buck Patterson had been expecting and awaiting in his little ten-by-twelve frame office that preliminary yell announcing the Calliope was being heard. His eyes were wide as the city marshal rose to his feet and buckled on his guns. Two deputy sheriffs and three citizens who had broken the edible qualities of frozen candy, appearing with Calliope's leaden jeaderities.

"Gather that fellow in," said Buck Patterson, setting for the lines of the campaign. "Don't have no talk, but shoot as soon as you can get a show. Keep behind me and bring him down. He's a no-good 'un. It's up to Calliope to turn up his toes this time, I reckon. Go to him all spraddled out boys. And don't get too reckless, for what Calliope shoots at he hits."

Buck Patterson, tall, muscular, and solemn-faced, with his bright "City Marshal" blue shining on the breast of his blue flannel shirt, rose to his feet, patting his head in the kind of a friendly way that was to accomplish the downfall of the Quickland Terror without loss to the attacking party, if possible.

And now Calliope met the enemy's forces in kind, appearing with the weakest and least accurate fire had come. He invaded it at a double-quick, abandoning the unprotected middle of the street.

Not far away was the little railroad station, its building a strong box house, ten by twenty feet, resting upon a platform four feet above ground. Windows were in each of its walls. Something like a fort it might become to a man thus assailed by superior numbers.

Calliope made a bold and rapid spurt for it, the marshal's crowd "smoking" him as he ran. He reached the haven in safety for the station agent leaving the building by a window, like a flying squirrel, as the rarrison entered the door.

Patterson and his supporters halted under protection of a pile of lumber and held consultations. In the station was an unexcited desperado who was an excellent shot and carried an abundance of ammunition. For thirty yards on each side of the besiege was a stretch of bare open ground. It was a sure thing that the man who attempted to enter that unprotected area would be stopped by one of Calliope's bullets.

Standing near was a hand truck

DRESSING FOR THE PHOTOGRAPHER

IT IS a good rule to follow never to wear a new dress to the photographer. Not only do you show awkwardness that comes from wearing something with which you are not entirely familiar, but it is a well-known fact that new clothes are stiffer and hang in less graceful folds than do clothes that have been worn. The old frock has taken on the curves and lines of your own body. It seems to have absorbed something of your personality.

And of course the old frock if it is becoming may be worn for a photograph when you might not get it for a party. If it is a little faded or even shows signs of wear this will not show in the photograph.

You may have noticed that certain pictures taken some time ago are almost grotesque now, while others of the same date are still satisfactory. You are looking at a photograph of your personality. The dress that you are wearing is still pleasing, show no freaks or extremes of fashion. Collars and collar lines seem to be the details that most people look out of, and here the wisdom in always having your picture taken with a low neck line is obvious.

Make, too, date a picture. The picture you had taken without a hat you will like to display for a longer time than the picture that shows its date by the hat you wore.

Jewelry does not add to the effect of a picture and often detracts much. A single earring, a bracelet, a brooch, or a ring, or a necklace, or a chain and pendants, or brooches and rings detract from the simplicity of line.

"What's In a Name?"

MARTHA.

THE names of the sisters of Bethany, Mary and Martha are closely allied. While Mary signifies bitter, Martha means bountiful. Since the sister of the Blessed Virgin bore the same name as her own, both are said to come from Mara (bitter) though some believe that Martha comes from the Greek Mar (a lord) which was often heard as the title of Syrian bishops.

Martha of Bethany, according to legend, demolished a terrible dragon by holding up a cross one time when her family was making a journey through wild country. The Mar of Russia is, of course, like the English Martha, Matty and Patty (though by rights, the last named is a diminutive of Patricia and not the name of a saint). In Russia, Martha is considered the true housewife woman of the Bible, independent of the legend of the dragon.

Martha's equivalent has been a royal name, there for many centuries, occurring frequently among the daughters of the earlier caesars. The Martha used in Ireland is only an equivalent for the native Eran Bhan, Mar, or Mab. Among a great Irish princess, who has since become Queen of the Fairies, and is universally known as Queen Mab. Martha was used for Mer in Scotland. Martha and Marthon of the south of France and the sister Marth of Italy and Spain were all from the provincial dragon-slayer. The name has always had a quaint, old-fashioned ring and its popularity will never cease, due no doubt to its Biblical reference.

The pearl is most appropriately Martha's jewel, representing, as it does, purity of thought. Its heritage of tears would seem a fitting attribute for Martha. Monday is said to be her lucky day and I her lucky number.

"Easy there," said Buck Patterson. "You're a keeper of the dog right where it is. Calliope Catesby. Don't you dare to take it off till the day your mother leaves this town. You'll be city marshal of Quickland as long as she's here in town. After I start around town a bit later, put 'em up. I'll guarantee that nobody won't give the thing away to her. And, say, you leather-headed, rip-roarin', low-down son of a hooded cyclone, you follow that advice she give me! You gon' to take some of it misic, too."

"Buck," said Calliope feelingly, "I don't I hope I may—"

"Shut up," said Buck. "She's a-comin' back."

DRESS

By ANNE RITTENHOUSE

Women Have Found They Cannot Stand Dark Blue Serge From the Summer Wardrobe. The Realization of Its Importance Has Brought the Standard Fabric into the Limelight. Although It is Used for the Occasional Gown and Treated in an Ornamental Manner.

BLUE serge is a difficult fabric to eliminate. It is the bread and butter of dress. One tired of it, one discards it, one falls back upon it. It was banished as a coat suit from the wardrobe of the smart set through a caprice on the part of the tailors. It had so many rivals as a one-piece frock that it sunk beneath the waters of high fashion. The dressmakers were not quite pleased with this turn of events, so they concocted a series of blue serge gowns which made their predecessors look like poor relations. These new ones were trimmed with sequins, flowers, gold braid, even metallic lace.

Some of the frocks looked as though they were intended to be worn on gala occasions. It would be impossible to have a proper knowledge of the suitability of clothes and wear such a frock out shopping at eleven o'clock in the morning. They are worn to afternoon dances, to luxurious luncheons. The average woman regards them with indifference. They mean nothing in her scheme of life. Thus she argued, if a blue serge was not to be worn as a knock-about costume, very well, she would accept home-spun, woolen Jersey, Canton crepe. She would go with the crowd. She would accept its verdict.

This philosophy went all through spring days. When actual summer arrived the average woman turned to extra thin blue serge for days that were dusty, for shopping in the streets of big cities, for motorcars and train travel, for all cool days. She had tried the other fabrics, but her knowledge of thin serge and its lovable qualities inclined her again to it. The new serge appears in one-piece frocks of it that are not as demure as they were, but she has faith in it that are as plain as those worn by her men folk.

This one-piece slip-over frock of blue serge, fashioned with exaggerated simplicity is not a favorite. It is among the common-place clothes. The average woman has accepted the fashion of the smart set to ornament blue serge in a frock and leave it unadorned in a suit. An odd distinction, but one that carries weight. The sketch shows a one-piece frock of serge worn in the afternoon outside the streets of a city. It has a white organdy vest and collar, also broad ruffles in its long sleeves. There is a loose Oriental girde fin-

THE RIGHT TO CRITICIZE.

RUBY.

WE all are wise in all our ways. We make our days all perfect days. Our conduct always is correct. Our judgment always circumspect. It must be true—for we're the guys Who have the nerve to criticize.

We never slipped in all our life. We have been true to husband, wife. We never even thought to flirt. To look a look or lift a skirt— We are those angels from the skies Who have the right to criticize.

We've always acted on the square With everyone and everywhere. And if we found in any trade We made too much, we've overpaid. We paid it back—all these are whys We have the right to criticize.

Of course if we had ever slipped, Had ever stumbled, even tripped, We wouldn't dare to make a sound. When tales of gossip were around— But, since we're always good and wise, We have the right to criticize.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS: WHAT THEY MEAN

DID YOU DREAM OF WHARVES?

TO DREAM of seeing a quay or wharf is accounted a propitious dream by nearly all the mystic interpreters. Some say that the dream signifies wealth and shelter against all dangers. Others put it that it means that there is peace and comfort in store for the dreamer. There are some, it is true, who say that the dream means good fortune only when the water about the wharf is clear and untroubled on the surface. But these are vastly in the minority. Many oracles see in the dream a signification that the dreamer is a prudent person or if he is not now will soon become one, and will be much benefited thereby. To dream of seeing a wharf or quay with vessels lying along side of it unloading is a sign, say the mystics, that riches are coming to the dreamer, though there are a few who see in that phase of the dream not a prognostic of great wealth but only of a fair competency. All agree that the dreamer will have enough to live on comfortably in his latter years who sees a wharf unloading alongside a quay. If one dreams that he sees vessels leaving the wharf or pier, it is a sign that he will soon go on a journey which will be both pleasant and profitable to him. But with or without vessels in it a dream of a pier is considered to be a most favorable one and the main idea running through the various interpretations is that of comfort and peace.

Something to Think About

How a Nation Learned Cooperation

By F. A. WALKER

IT is a common thing to regard the forty years passed by the children of Israel in their wanderings as so much punishment inflicted on them for their sins. To take this view is to overlook the necessary part that that experience played in turning them from a chaotic, unorganized, cooperative people into an organized, cooperative people.

Moses, in the Island Printer, points out the truth about Moses: "The great lawgiver did not lead the children of Israel out of the wilderness."

On the contrary he kept them "in the wilderness" for the wilderness was all that they needed.

The legalities had been softened by a long period of Egyptian servitude. Their spirits had been broken by making bricks without straw and all sorts of indignities. If they had been led straight to the land of Canaan they would have been a lawless, lawless, lawless, lawless, and a dozen other well-known and warlike tribes, prepared to defend their land flowing with milk and honey, with all the resources of their civilization.

By the time that Joshua took over the direction of affairs from Moses, a great change had taken place. The people had been made strong by a strenuous life in a strenuous environment of mountains and deserts by gifts of Divine favor and direct-

The generation that had known the black yards, the flesh pots and the land of Canaan they would have been a lawless, lawless, lawless, lawless, and a dozen other well-known and warlike tribes, prepared to defend their land flowing with milk and honey, with all the resources of their civilization.

But not only were they fit to conquer the promised land, they were prepared to establish a strong centralized government with definite laws, when they had taken possession.

For it was in the course of the forty years in the wilderness that they received the Mosaic Code which put them in a position of superiority

Works' Excursion Bang Breaks Up Slugfest In Spudders Favor 11-10

By PAUL W. LARKIN

It was clearly demonstrated in the first game of the series between the Spudders and the Marines at Athletic Park yesterday that there is nothing more uncertain than the outcome of a ball game. If ever a club fought gamely and kept its head up all the way the local outfit did and despite a five run lead which was piled up by the Hampouts off the delivery of Hollingsworth and Marshall after the contest was well under way, the local clan went out and snatched the pastime out of the fire and increased their lead over the invaders to three full games by winning 11 to 10.

Taking this game of yesterday by and large, there is excellent authority—it comes from some 2,000 fans who were present—for the assertion that it was the most exciting imbroglio ever witnessed in the local park. We did not hear of any appetites cashing in, but there was many a heart that skipped a few beats and it would be hard to say which were the more done up after the matinee—the fans or the players. Those fans who care for the crisp sound of the ashen wand in contact with the leather mallet and who wholed the fiery rally that subdues the arrogant oppressor and drives him from the mound had a wonderful time. Those who doubted to right center, Munson was safe and Falk scored, when Works dropped Clark's peg of the former's groundout. Munson went out trying to steal. Two runs, two hits, one error.

WICHITA FALLS: The Spudders were hopeless earlier. Robertson retired on a grounder to Hill, Works whiffed and Kitchens grounded to Stow. No runs, no hits, no errors.

WICHITA FALLS: The Spudders did little enough in their half. After Knadler hit, Robertson, and sending Palmer to third, Stow singled to right center, scoring Palmer and Robertson. Stow pitched second. Segrist singled left field, scoring Robertson. Hill fumbled the ball. Segrist talking second. Skinner hit to center, Marshall on the mound. Skinner was hit by a pitched ball, but Galloway ended the suffering by going out, Clark to Works. Five runs, five hits, one error.

WICHITA FALLS: Cliff Hill took the mound for Dallas and retired the Spudders in order: Kitchens popped to Hill, Hollingsworth fanned and Bischoff filed to Skinner. No runs, no hits, no errors.

HIS THUMP DID IT.

BUFFS 10, BEARS 2

HOUSTON, Aug. 10.—Houston's ability to hit Hill at will coupled with two costly errors gave the Buffs the last game of the series here today by the score of 10 to 2.

Selection of Davis Cup Team Presents A Great Problem

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Selection of players to represent the United States in the Davis cup, due to the numerous upsets in the play of ranking stars, has presented a great problem for the Davis cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

In keeping with the Davis cup regulations, selections must be announced by the committee tomorrow.

William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, despite his defeat by Vincent Richards, national junior champion, is considered a certainty.

William Johnston of San Francisco, Watson Washburn and Richards of New York, R. Norris Williams of Boston and Robert and Howard Kinsey of California appear to be among the leading candidates in the opinion of the experts.

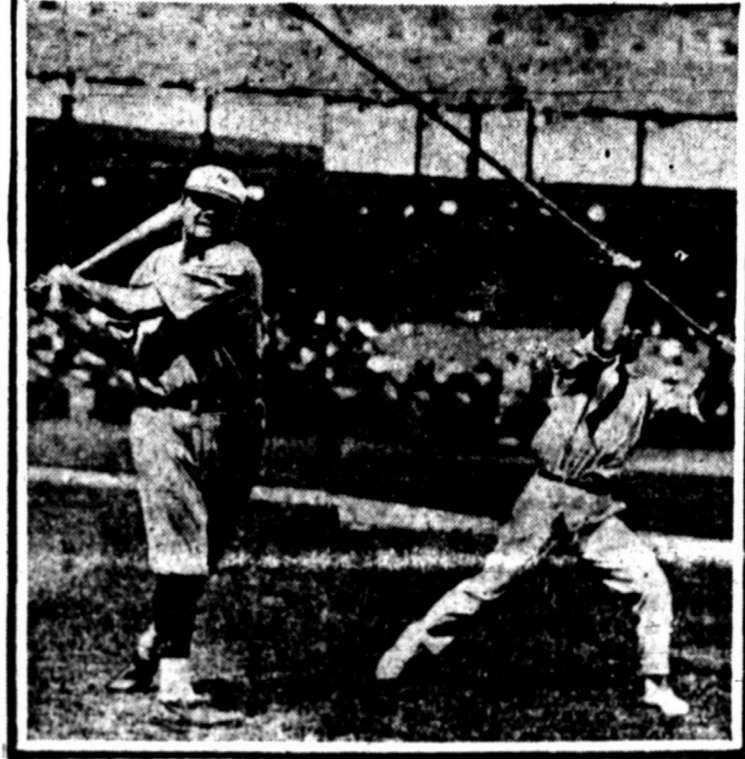

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—For the second time in two days the Athletics defeated Cleveland Wednesday, when a Mack tornado of seven runs in the seventh session broke a tie at two and swept the Indians down in defeat by the score of 5 to 1.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—The Yankees went back in first place Wednesday night when they defeated Cleveland.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Profringe took the deciding game of the series Wednesday, 5 to 2. Shocker pitched a strong game throughout.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR BABE RUTH

In a most unusual contest at the Polo Grounds, N. Y., recently, Harold G. Lentz, world champion surf caster, using a four-ounce lead, tried to better Babe Ruth's record of 470 feet. Lentz made four attempts, casting the lead 232 feet, 402 feet, 421 feet and 440 feet. The photo shows Lentz and Ruth swatting in their record test.

PORT WORTH, Aug. 10.—Port Worth hit Red Ford at opportune moments and defeated Shreveport 4 to 2.

BEVERLY, CALIF., Aug. 10.—State champions, former champions and veterans went down in defeat before comparative unknowns in the first and second rounds of the annual trans-Mississippi golf association tournament at the Denver Country club here today.

TENDLER TO CLAIM FORFEIT AND TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Eugene Tendler, challenger for the world lightweight boxing championship, who was to have met Benny Leonard in a bout for the title here tomorrow night, which was called off when the champion dislocated his thumb, has announced he will claim the title, declaring he trained faithfully for the match and was ready to carry out his part of the contract.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it. They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTEY AFTERTASTE.

The SPORTLIGHT

THE BEST SIX

Please detail for me in rhyme "the best six" who's bugs in the ring; the best six pug, judged as losers, of all time; here are hundreds in that hunt and no two men think one way. But here are to bait the fans, in the pugilistic orbit. First of all I'd put Jim Corbett and the dusky wizard Gans.

Then right on their heels, my boy, harking back through history, Ranks young Griffo, prodigy of defense, then "Kid" McCoy; And the final bracket runs: Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, And the elusive Tommy Ryan, each a match for twenty tons."

Pretty good, pop, though you've missed some darn good ones: Kilbane, Erne and Layhne would have heartburn if omitted from that list. And MacFarland—there's a king, J. J. Corbett, Alton, Leonard, Gibbons, and who's out 'em all to kings. Trempey, hey, pop, in one ring!"

THE RESIN'S RESISTANCE

Other sports, such as baseball and racing, have taken a lousy pummeling from time to time, only to show wonderful powers of resistance by coming back with a rush. But boxing is the hardest product of them all. No other game in history has ever been nurtured in such drab surroundings, or from time to time dragged into the mire by so many crooks. Fighters, promoters and fight managers—the latter two classes in vast hocks—have hammered and ripped away at the ancient sport until at times only a shreds of it remain. Yet today it can still lure more money into the gate from a greater variety of human beings than any other sport.

ON ADVERSITY

It may be that games, after the manner of people, thrive best upon adversity. Provided they are sound of soul. The time to keep a double look-out posted is when prosperity in the shape of golden tidal waves begins to envelop a sport. Too great success makes a track a game where all other attacks had failed. As long as ball players and club owners were gathering in great harvests of precious kale they stood out beyond all criticism. The cloud upon the horizon has been shut out by the golden wall. Few ball players making from $5,000 to $10,000 a year have hustled and fought as the oldtime did at half the price. Or can any one visualize the oldtime crowd of Evers, Chance, Wagner, Mathewson, Cy Young, etc., unopposed, or undisturbed, or even sympathetic, as an episode as the White Sox amers.

THE GREATEST INFILDER

A brace of bystanders desires an opinion upon the name of the greatest infielder baseball has ever known. An opinion is only an opinion. We still award our sprig of laurel to Hans Wagner as the greatest of all infield stars, where all the elements of defense, attack and earnest purpose are considered. And no less a judge than John McGraw credits the old Pirate as being the most valuable ball player that ever smote a double or stroked a double play.

ON TO PHILADELPHIA

Has the annoying presence of two tail-end ball clubs put a kink in the competitive soul of Philadelphia? Not with two sets of sportive tourists either starting for the Leonard-vander Jamboree, or preparing quick starts for one of the greatest tennis championships in the book.

On one side of the walk non-combatants can observe Leonard defending, or attempting to defend his crown against a worthy challenger whose left hand is invested with possibilities of destruction. On the other side they will be able to keep an eye adjusted upon the rush of young Richards against Tilden and Johnston, or, possibly, another pulsating duel between the two billies who have taken charge of the final round for the last two years.

WINNING A CHAMPIONSHIP

"There wasn't a moment during the open championship," says Jim Barnes, "when I even thought of getting mad, losing my temper or allowing myself to get worried. I had made up my mind in advance that I was going to give ten per cent of my time and attention to giving golf and let the breaks of the game and the uncertain greens take care of themselves." Which might be used as a complete book entitled "How to Win a Championship."

WILSON AND DOWNEY IN RETURN MATCH LABOR DAY

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Marvin Killian, manager of Johnny Wilson, announced tonight that Wilson had been matched by Tex Rickard to meet an Downey, in a 12-round non-decision bout at Jersey City on Labor Day. In the recent bout at Cleveland, the referee awarded the decision to Wilson on a foul, but the Cleveland boxing commission announced that it had reversed the decision and would recognize Downey as middleweight champion on the ground that he had actually scored a knockout. The Massachusetts boxing commission has refused to recognize the action of the Cleveland body.

ONE HOME RUN WILL SATISFY THEM ALL. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—A cavalcade of motor trucks was to roll through Philadelphia's streets today, each with a load of orphaned or crippled boys on their way to see Babe Ruth in the opening game between New York and Philadelphia American league series at Shibe park. Today is "Cub Day," named for the club, an organization formed to entertain orphaned and crippled children. Arrangements have been made to have 2,000 boys from institutions of all creeds and of disabled soldiers to attend the contest.

GOLF AS TAUGHT BY THE CHAMPION

SPORTS SHOTS

by Paul W. Barkin

He who laughs last snick is to deal the band.

A man can't stand many of that kind. We met fans on the street last night at 10 o'clock and they were still trembling with excitement.

A few days ago we said "what'd we care for four runs?" Well, raise the ante now and make it five.

Knauer made a great hit with the fans in his first start. The youngster has a world of stuff, but he had Kitchens on the worried list just before he went out. Frank wanted him out of there long before he went. He was getting a lot wild and there was no sense in taking any unnecessary chances at that stage of the game. It was a good move out but a whole lot to do with winning the ball game.

When "Caddy" Woods broke up the ball game the boys in the coop had a fanning bee regarding excursion bands and here the gist of the discussion. "Caddy" has made two star and both have been against Dallas. Incidentally, both his drives broke up the game. The last time Conley worked for the Maroons he went in as a relief hurler and lost the game when Bill Kraft socked one out of the yard with a man on base—the same thing happened yesterday. Again, it was so long since Bobby Stow had hit for the credit, that the date has been forgotten. Yet, both he and "Caddy" (neither of whom are home run hitters) connected for the circuit.

Neither Swartz nor Hollingsworth were supposed to be feeling well when they went to the mound but they felt a whole lot better than they did when they left it.

Bobby Stow received quite a welcome from the fans. It was the same led by the Crabs. Thrash is said to have been whaling the pill around the 100 mark.

Ruth was behind his 1920 schedule less than a week ago, and now he is four days ahead of it. He may reach that 60 mark after all.

Tommy Cochran is attracting more than passing attention in the Trans-Mississippi tourney. He was responsible for the biggest upset to date when he defeated Harry Legg of Minneapolis yesterday. Legg is a vet and was one of the favorites to cop.

Just because Benny Leonard was unable to meet Lew Tendler tonight the latter is going to claim the title. Maybe he'll be champion in his own estimation, but he'll have a hard time trying to get matches on the strength of it. Benny is one of the few real middle champions in existence.

TWO GOOD MATCHES IN SEABRIGHT TOURNAMENT TODAY

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 11.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco and Vincent Richards of New York were matched in the upper half of the semi-final round of the men's cup singles at the Seabright lawn tennis and cricket club today. Maxwell Woodman, captain of the British Isles Davis cup team, was matched with H. Norris Williams II, of Boston, in the lower half.

FEDERAL WORKERS COMING HERE FOR CLAIMS SERVICE

EX-SERVICE MEN IN 11 COUNTIES
TO HAVE CHANCE TO ADJUST
INSURANCE MATTERS.

HEADQUARTERS TO BE AT LEGION'S CLUB ROOMS

"Team" to Consider All Matters Pertaining to Ex-Soldiers Compensation and Health.

Former service men who have claims for insurance, compensation, hospital service or medical treatment will have an opportunity next Monday and Tuesday to get such matters straightened out.

All day Monday, and on Tuesday morning, a "clean-up" squad will be in this city, and will be at American legion headquarters, 512 1/2 Ohio, to meet all such complaints. The squad will consist of a medical representative, a compensation department representative, an insurance and claim bureau man and representatives of the American legion and Red Cross.

The visit of the squad is for the purpose of giving ex-soldiers in a number of northwest Texas counties a chance to "clean up" all matters pertaining to insurance and health. All such claimants in Wichita, Denton, Archer, Montague, Wise, Jack, Clay, Young, Throckmorton, Baylor and Wilbarger counties are expected to meet the "team" here.

A special meeting of the legion post has been called for Monday night. The notice issued by Zeb V. Nixon, adjutant of Fat Carigan post, follows:

"A clean-up squad sent out by the war risk insurance bureau will be in the city Monday and Tuesday until 2:30 p. m. to assist all ex-service men and women of Wichita, Denton, Archer, Montague, Wise, Jack, Clay, Young, Throckmorton, Baylor and Wilbarger counties, who may be entitled to compensation, hospitalization, treatment, vocational training or other aid from the government.

"This squad consists of a medical, compensation, claim and insurance man, a representative of the American Red Cross and a publicity man, who will have their headquarters at the American legion club rooms, 512 1/2 Ohio, avenue. All ex-service men and women are invited to confer with the squad with reference to claims against the government.

"A special meeting will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock at which time the different members of the squad will discuss and advise ex-service men and women as to the provisions of the law.

"Zeb V. Nixon, adjutant, Fat Carigan Post, American Legion."

All claimants desiring further information may see Mr. Nixon at 514 Bob Waggoner building.

POLICE INSTRUCTED TO ARREST BOYS WHO BEG AUTOISTS FOR RIDES

Small boys who make a habit of flagging automobiles in hopes of getting a "lift" are going to find themselves in hot water from now on, according to Police Commissioner J. R. Pitts, who has issued orders that all youngsters caught in an effort to bum such rides will be arrested. Motorcycle officers have been instructed to watch the busy city streets and to bring all offenders into the station.

The practice is exceedingly dangerous to the youngsters themselves, Mr. Pitts stated, and it also keeps drivers constantly on edge. To see a small boy dart from behind one machine directly into the path of another, yelling "give me a ride, Mister," is enough to give any one's nerves a jolt, and the increasing number of boys who are joining in the sport is rendering the situation all the more difficult.

Form of the $1,500,000 new special road bonds has been approved at Austin, according to a telegram received by County Auditor W. W. Murphy Wednesday evening. A copy of the form of the bonds was sent to the attorney general for approval.

The first 500 bonds have been duly signed by the county clerk and county judge, and word was received that the second shipment of 500 left Galveston Tuesday afternoon and that the remainder will be shipped Thursday.

As soon as all the bonds have been signed the entire 1,500 will be taken to Austin, where the signatures of the state comptroller must be affixed. They will then be taken to St. Louis for disposal.

500 CARLOADS OF FRUIT JARS SENT FROM LOCAL PLANT

Approximately 500 cars of glass were shipped from Ball Brothers' plant in this city during the summer shipping season, which closed in July.

While this is far from being a record season, it was a much better showing than had been expected. Owing to unfavorable weather in many parts of the fruit belt, and business conditions generally, it had been thought that shipments would be very light.

Another shipping season will start late in August and continue into September.

HOUSTON MAN ATTACKS WIFE AND THEN SUICIDES

HOUSTON, Aug. 11.—C. Bard, 38, storekeeper in the fifth ward, attacked his wife early this morning, inflicting severe injuries on her, and then, in her sight, slashed his own throat with a razor. He died within a few minutes.

Noted French Chef Says General Eat Enough for Three

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The latest war reminiscences to be printed are those of the "chef" who presided over the destinies of the French general staff during the battle of the Marne and who prepared the simple but abundant menu that Marshal, then General, Joffre sat down to at very irregular hours.

If the chef's culinary accomplishments were not superior to his literary talent then one pitiful poor General Joffre and it must have been a relief to the commander-in-chief to leave the mess table and return to the battle line.

"During the battle of the Marne," says the chef, "the general put away enough food to feed three ordinary men. Then he added naively: 'I hope, Monsieur le Marechal won't mind, what I say about the general.'"

One of the most amusing incidents related by the chef is that on September 12, when it became clear that the enemy was in full flight northward and that the battle was won, congratulations were in order and he received instructions that the menu for the dinner should be as much of a banquet as his raw material would permit.

Just as the meal was about to be completed a British automobile came up to headquarters with a basket of champagne as a token of congratulation to the French staff. It came from a British unit "in liaison." The chef was just getting ready to serve it when he noted that the bottles bore a German mark and he informed the officer of the fact. That worthy forbade him to serve the champagne to the staff and ordered him to throw the bottles away. "We did," says the chef, "but only the next morning, and they were empty."
