SOVIET GOVERNMENT PREPARES TO RECEIVE U. S. RELIEF WORKERS

FIRST INSTALLMENT DUE AT MOSCOW LATTER PART OF THIS WEEK.

STREETS PASTERED WITH PROPAGANDA OF SOVIET

Foreign Minister Discusses Probable Results of Presence of American Committee.

By Associated Press.

MOSCOW, SOVIET RUSSIA, Aug. 25. (Via Reval)—The soviet government officials are preparing to receive the first installment of the American relief administration workers who are due here the latter part of this week to relieve the suffering from famine.

George Chitcherine, soviet foreign minister, in conference with the Near East relief commission here yesterday, voiced the expectation that the activities of the Hoover relief organization in the Russian famine would tend to the removal of "prejudice between the American and Russian peoples."

"In addition to its humanitarian side and the salvation it will bring to the millions of children doomed to die of starvation without outside aid, the American relief work in Russia will furnish an opportunity to break down the wall of calumny as to conditions in Russia which so long has estranged the friendly peoples," M. Chitcherine continued. "The intelligent and serious minded class of Americans coming into the country as relief workers, traveling all over and seeing what is going on with their own eyes, will be able to determine themselves as to the truth or falsity of the stories spread about Russia. They will see, as you have seen, that corpses are not hanging about the streets of Moscow, nor are there any starving, people eating dead bodies here, as some accounts would have America believe."

The letter to the Star, which was written on tablet paper, apparently in the hand-writing of a woman, was in part as follows:

"This is to inform you that there is an organization of people here to protect the purity of our government, which our forefathers bled and died for in order that we might enjoy the fruits thereof."

ment lodge and church members are guilty of conduct that should not be hoove one of their standing. The letter concludes with the following ultimatum:

"We trust that by the time our plans are completed for work here that our assistance will not be needed, but if conditions do not get better, we expect to begin at the top and come on down the line until every womanhood destroyer is put to flight and virtue comes unto her own."

Other than the letter received by the newspaper and those containing individual warnings, there have been no developments to indicate plans for further activities.

"The United States of America and Germany:

"Considering that the United States, acting in conjunction with its co-belligerents, entered into an armistice with Germany on November 11, 1918, in order that a treaty of peace might be concluded;

"Considering that the treaty of Versailles signed on June 28, 1919, and came into force, according to the terms of its Article 440, but has not been ratified by the United States;

"Considering that the congress of the United States passed a joint resolution, approved by the president July 2, 1921, which reads in part as follows:

"Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that the state of war declared to exist between the imperial German government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of congress approved April 6, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

"Section 2. That in making this declaration, as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America and its nationals any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the rights to enforce the same any where, or by any agency whatsoever, under the terms of the armistice signed November 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof, which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or which, under the treaty of Versailles have been stipulated for its or their benefit; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal allied and associated powers; or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of congress, or otherwise.

"Section 3. All property of the imperial German government or its successor or successors, and of all German nationals which was on April 6, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand of the United States of America, or any of its officers, agents or employees, from any source, or by any agency whatsoever, and all property of the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian governments or of their successor or successors, or any of their officers, agents or employees, from any source, or by any agency whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States of America and no disposition thereof made, except as shall have been heretofore or specifically hereafter shall be provided by law, until such time as the imperial German government and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or their successor or successors shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satisfaction of all claims against said governments respectively, of all persons, wherever domiciled, who owe permanent allegiance to the United States of America and who have suffered, through the acts of the imperial German government, or its agents, or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or its agents, since July 31, 1914, loss, damage or injury to their person or property, directly or indirectly, whether through the ownership of shares of stock in German, Austro-Hungarian, American or other corporations, or in consequence of hostilities or of any operations of war, or otherwise, and also shall have granted to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States of America most favored national treatment, whether the same be national or otherwise in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, trade, navigation, commerce and industry, property rights and until the imperial German government and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government, or their successor or successors shall have respectively confirmed to the United States of America all fines, forfeitures, penalties and seizures imposed or made by the United States of America during the war, whether in respect to the property of the imperial German government or German nationals or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government or Austro-Hungarian nationals, and shall have waived any and all pecuniary claims against the United States of America.

"Being desirous of restoring the friendly relations existing between the two nations prior to the outbreak of war;

"Have for that purpose appointed their plenipotentiaries:

"The president of the United States of America; Ellis Loring Dresel, commissioner of the United States of America; and "The president of the German empire; Dr. Friedrich Rosen, minister for foreign affairs;

"Who, having communicated their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

"Article 1. Germany undertakes to accord to the United States and to the United States shall have and enjoy all the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages specified in the aforesaid joint resolution of the congress of the United States of July 2, 1921, including all the rights and advantages stipulated in the treaty of Versailles, which the United States shall fully enjoy notwithstanding the fact that such treaty has not been ratified by the United States.

"Article 2. With a view to defining more particularly the obligations of Germany under the foregoing article with respect to certain provisions in the treaty of Versailles, it is understood and agreed between the high contracting parties:

"(1) That the rights and advantages stipulated in that treaty for the benefit of the United States, which it is intended the United States shall have and enjoy, are those defined in sections one of part four, and parts five, six, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, fourteen and fifteen. The United States in availing itself of the rights and advantages stipulated in the provisions of that treaty mentioned in this paragraph, will do so in a manner consistent with the rights accorded to Germany under such provisions.

"(2) That the United States shall not be bound by the provisions of part one of that treaty nor by any provisions of that treaty including those mentioned in paragraph one of this article, which relate to the covenant of the league of nations, nor shall the United States be bound by any action taken by the league of nations, or by the council or by the assembly thereof, unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action.

"(3) That the United States assumes no obligation under or with respect to the provisions of part two, part three, sections two to eight, inclusive, or part four and part thirteen of that treaty.

"(4) That, while the United States is privileged to participate in the reparations for Europe, sections two to eight, inclusive, or part four and part thirteen of that treaty, and in any other commission established under the treaty, or under any agreement supplementary thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so.

"(5) That the periods of time to which reference is made in article 440 of the treaty of Versailles shall run, with respect to any act or election on the part of the United States from the date of the coming into force of the present treaty.

"Article 3. The present treaty shall be ratified in accordance with the constitutional forms of the high contracting parties and shall take effect immediately on the exchange of ratifications which shall take place as soon as possible at Berlin.

"In witness whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate in Berlin, this 25th day of August, 1921."

STATE DEPARTMENT EXPLAINS PROVISIONS OF GERMAN TREATY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The following statement with respect to the treaty is made by the state department:

"The treaty defining peace relations between the United States and Germany was signed at Berlin today. It was signed on behalf of the president of the United States by Ellis Loring Dresel, commissioner, of the United States, who had received full powers for the purpose; and on behalf of the president of Germany by Dr. Friedrich Rosen, minister of foreign affairs.

"The treaty with Germany is in accordance with the peace resolution adopted by congress and approved by the president of July 2, 1921.

"The preamble of the treaty recites sections 1, 2 and 5 of the resolution which relate to Germany.

"Article I of the treaty provides that the United States shall have all the rights and advantages specified in the resolution, including those stipulated for the benefit of the United States in the treaty of Versailles.

"Article II of the treaty defines more particularly the obligations of Germany with respect to certain provisions in the treaty of Versailles. Thus it is provided that the rights and advantages stipulated in the treaty of Versailles for the benefit of the United States, which it is intended that the United States shall enjoy are those defined in section one of part IV and parts V, VI, VIII, IX, X, XI, XIV and XV.

"Section one of part I contains the provisions by which Germany renounced her former overseas possessions in favor of the principle allied and associated powers. This confirms the rights of the United States with respect to Yap and other former German overseas possessions upon an equality with the other powers. The other parts of the treaty of Versailles above mentioned embrace the military clauses, the reparations, financial and economic clauses, the parts relating to aerial navigation, ports, waterways and railways, guarantees and miscellaneous provisions. The result is to put the United States on a footing with the other allied and associated powers with respect to all the rights defined in all the clauses. It is provided that the United States, in availing itself of the rights and advantages stipulated in these provisions of the treaty, will do so in a manner consistent with the rights accorded to Germany under such provisions.

"The treaty provides that the United States shall not be bound by any of the provisions of the treaty which relate to the League of Nations.

"The United States also assumes no obligations under parts II, III, sections two to eight inclusive, part IV and part XIII of the treaty of Versailles. Part II relates to the boundaries of Germany; part III to the political clauses for Europe; sections two to eight inclusive, part IV and part XIII of the treaty of Versailles; part II relates to the boundaries of Germany; part III to the political clauses for Europe; sections two to eight inclusive, part IV and part XIII of the treaty of Versailles; part II relates to the boundaries of Germany; part III to the political clauses for Europe; sections two to eight inclusive, part IV and part XIII of the treaty of Versailles.

"The United States is entitled to participate in the reparations commission and other commissions set up under the treaty of Versailles but is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it elects to do so.

FURTHER DELAY IN MOVING DERRICK FROM TRIANGLE

VERNON, TEXAS, Aug. 26.—Triangle operators now have the derrick which formerly stood over the hole just abandoned about one-half the distance to the new location on the Burton lease. It was necessary to skid this equipment because during the heavy rain storm of about a week ago the derrick over the Burton well was blown down. The incident merely added to the delay Triangle operators have been enduring thus far. They were obliged to reset a derrick over the hole just abandoned in order to prove to an inspector that it is properly plugged.

DECLARED IT DANGEROUS TO PROLONG THE NEGOTIATIONS

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Premier Lloyd George, replying today to Eamon de Valera in alluding to the demand for recognition of Ireland as a foreign power, says Mr. de Valera, "is playing with phrases to suggest that the principle of government by the consent of the governed compels recognition of that demand on our part, or that in repudiating it we are straining geographical and historical considerations to justify a claim to ascendancy over the Irish race."

RED LETTER WEEK IN CONGRESS OF U. S. FOR PRESIDENT'S POLICIES

GERMAN PEACE AND SOLUTION OF SHIPPING MUDDLE FEATURE WORK.

IMPORTANT MEASURES COME AFTER THE RECESS

Railroad Bills Failure to Pass Chief Drawback in Progress of President's Program.

By MARK SULLIVAN, National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and the Wichita Daily Times. (Copyright, 1921 by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Harding has had a very good week. If he should take the recess of congress as a milestone, and reflect on the trend of events as they affect his official fortunes, he would undoubtedly feel that things have "broken" for him handsomely.

Within a single week congress has put the finishing touches on a considerable program of important legislation. Peace with Germany has come into sight. Great Britain has sent her formal reply to the invitation for a disarmament conference, the shipping board has been given the appropriation which will make it possible to clean up the worst mess that the president has on his hands, and a score of less important steps have been taken towards that "return to normalcy" to which President Harding dedicated himself during his campaign.

The German treaty in a multitude of ways, will make possible other steps towards normal peace-time conditions, including the greater facilitating of trade with Germany, and including also, it is generally presumed and hoped in Washington, the consideration of amnesty for prisoners under punishment for breach of wartime espionage acts, and the ending of other war-time restrictions and harassments. In connection with the German treaty, not the least of Harding's satisfaction must be in the fact that he has succeeded in avoiding what he himself at one time feared might not be avoidable, namely the submission of portions of the Versailles treaty to the senate, with all blasing up of old senate rancors which that would have entailed.

During the same week events are happening outside of the United States and beyond the control of President Harding, but vital in their effects on our return to normal peace-time conditions. Everybody believes that the admission of the American expedition to Russia reflects a political condition in that country which forecasts a return to normal, ultimately the opening of that country to peace-time conditions of trade. Equal optimism marks the current belief about events now coming to a head in Ireland.

Probably the chief fly in the ointment of any review President Harding might make would be the failure of congress to pass the so-called railroad bill. It is easy to gather that he and his administration have set their hearts strongly on this measure as the longest single immediate step that could now be taken towards the return of normal business conditions in the United States.

The spokesmen of the administration have repeatedly predicted that the passage of this measure would result in the employment of fully a million men now out of work. The friends of the bill hope and predict that it will be passed immediately after the reassembling of congress. They believe that when senators and congressmen return to their various communities and become aware of the degree of unemployment they will be willing to take this step towards cure.

Omitting this one bill, and omitting the fact that the tariff and tax bills are not as close to completion, congress is satisfactory to those who are responsible for it. If this were an ordinary session of congress, and if everything else had not been overshadowed by the questions of taxation and tariff, the record of the four and a half months just closed would be regarded as a reasonably good one.

ORDER DISPOSITION OF SEIZED LIQUOR IN STORAGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Immediate disposition of liquors seized under the national prohibition act on which storage charges are accruing was ordered today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Liquor such as "moonshine," adulterated and low proof liquor, having no commercial value, should be destroyed, Mr. Haynes said, while the higher proof and unadulterated liquors should be diverted to commercial but non-beverage users.

He estimated the total value of good liquors held by the government at about $1,000,000.

For twenty hours this food is baked—one reason you like it—another reason why it digests so easily.

One of the important things in connection with any cereal food is to have it thoroughly baked or cooked. For baking or cooking changes the starch of the grains.

Grape-Nuts is the longest baked of all cereal foods. It is scientifically baked at carefully regulated temperatures for 20 hours. This is one of the reasons why Grape-Nuts digests so easily; why it agrees with many people who cannot take any other form of cereal without producing fermentation.

A goodly part of Grape-Nuts is converted into dextrose, ready to be immediately assimilated by the system, and yield strength and energy. A further portion has partially undergone this change, while there remains sufficient unchanged cereal to strengthen the digestive organs. It is then in a condition to meet the various requirements of the digestive system.

If you want to eat a most strengthening and nourishing food, and one that will digest more readily, go to your grocer today and get a package of Grape-Nuts. Eat it with stewed fruit or as a cereal with milk or cream; or make it into an appetizing pudding.

Every member of the family will enjoy its delicious flavor and wholesomeness.

THE TENDENCY TO REGULATE.

The Houston Chronicle has an editorial on the same subject as one in Thursday's Times in which the tendency toward government regulation of our morals was discussed.

"Somebody else is invariably to blame for their difficulties and shortcomings."

"Somebody else is always in need of counsel and advice."

"What a fine time we are having with these conferences and conventions on the other fellow's business."

"He doesn't do it any more. He expects the school to bring them up in the right way, and for fear that the school might succeed, he forbids corporal punishment."

"If the school fails, he expects some institution or other to save them."

"Dad used to go out and look for work if he were out of a job, but now he expects a free employment bureau to find it for him."

"If he couldn't find work, he used to be doing nothing at home. Now he foregathers on the street corner and cusses the government."

"We have some kind of a theory, or system, for doing everything for us that we used to do for ourselves."

"When there is no other way, we pass an act, entitled an act."

"We have acts to fit most every situation that can arise. They are sufficiently numerous and varied to meet most every man's moral code."

"But, because there is some man to disagree with most every man's moral code, we have merely succeeded in offending most everybody."

"If there is some law to please each of us, there is, also, some law, to annoy each of us."

"We are doing vastly more for each other than we ever did before, but are we doing more for ourselves?"

"And, while we are doing more for each other, are we not doing more for each other?"

"It is one thing to give a man a lift when he needs it. It is quite another to undertake to remodel him according to our own notions."

"It is one thing to pull together. It is quite another to knock off and tell everybody how they ought to place hands and feet."

"The story of the Kilkenny cats that ate each other up is not possible from a physiological standpoint. It is possible from a psychological standpoint."

"People can exhaust themselves preaching to each other, without getting anywhere."

"They can meddle with each other's business so much that they have no time left for their own."

"The better carpenters, plumbers, engineers, doctors we have, the better we shall get along, but the carpenter will not be a better carpenter if he spends too much time finding fault with the doctor, nor the doctor a better doctor if he occupies himself with fussing at the plumber."

"The more we help ourselves, each according to his ability, the less necessary we shall find it to call upon each other."

"The less time we take calling-upon each other, the more we shall have for helping ourselves."

THE AGE OF DISILLUSIONMENT.

These scientists will yet be the death of our popular beliefs. The latest cruel blow we have sustained is the charge of a learned man with a Ph. D. tacked after his name who claims that the well known cave man did not woo with a club.

This scientist makes a good case for his contention. He points out that it is recorded that Siegfried strangled the bear; at the door of Brunhild's cave, that there he killed the wolves and that he went through the flames and that he; but he contends, we do not anywhere find record of his having used force on his true love.

The Greeks fought savagely for Helen of Troy, but their savagery was confined everywhere to the battle field. Helen herself was held up at all times as a wonderful and fair vision in human flesh. Samson's riddle, "Out of the strong, came forth sweetness," is given as an indication of the wooding tactics of our primitive fathers. Jacob continued his courtship for fourteen years and never once, according to the Biblical accounts, resorted to the club or hair pulling methods of courtship.

And our scientist, not being satisfied with telling of the love stories of a few of our best known lovers of history goes on to make his case by pointing out that the lion and the hawk do not court by means of tooth or claw; that these are kept in reserve for the rival male. All creatures which have strength, he maintains, have an accompanying sense of tenderness.

The female of the species, whether she be human or animal, must be won through tenderness and devotion. She is in control of the situation. This has always been the case and was far more true in the earlier ages than it is today.

The learned doctor of philosophy may be right. If he is, and his theories are accepted and generally presented in our school readers, newspapers and on the movie films for twenty to thirty years it is barely possible that the delusion under which we labor of the "treat 'em rough and tell 'em nothing" tactics of our forefathers may be dissipated in another half century.

But love is love and mating is mating whether it be in the age of savagery, in the forests and fields or in the present period, which we call civilization. Gentle caresses and soft nothings have always won the day in this greatest of all experiences.

Blacked eyes, pulled hair, torn clothes, and clawed bodies have never, except in isolated cases, helped further its cause. Our interpretation of life changes as the centuries go by, but the immutable principles ever remain the same and life from age to age, aon to aon, is developed and refined, it is true, but fundamentally is the same.

THE NEW YORK TIMES CELEBRATES AN ANNIVERSARY.

When a considerable number of copies of a New York newspaper are sold daily in Wichita Falls, Texas, there must be something of exceptional merit about that newspaper. The newspaper is the New York Times and its greatest merit is a thorough presentation of the news of the world. The New York Times has other merits. It is decent and clean. Its editorial opinions are fair and sound. Its typography is excellent.

But the surpassing merit of the paper is its thorough presentation of the news. That is why people in Wichita Falls who want the best of information buy the New York Times. The New York Times has been brought to its present position in American journalism under the leadership of Adolph S. Ochs, its publisher. A few days ago the New York Times celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary under the management of Mr. Ochs. With pardonable, but modest, pride Mr. Ochs told the story of the twenty-five years of development of his newspaper. His story is an inspiration to American newspapermen. The success of the New York Times is a proof of the soundness and integrity of the American citizen.

My old Puds Simpkins was looking in a candy store window wishing we had our choice, and some man went past carrying a round bundle by a handle, being about the big size of a cannon ball, and me and Puds poked each other, me saying, Jimmy Krisman, look at the bomb, and Puds saying, Holy Moses I bet he's a snarkist lets follow him and see what he blows up. Which we started to do, the man keeping on wawking and us following him with our caps pulled down like 2 detectives. THE HISTORY OF YOUR NAME

HOPKINS. Variations-Hobson, Hopkinson, Hobbs, Hobly. Racial Origin-English. Source-A given name.

Hopkins, which of course is simply a shortened form of the name Hopkinson, does not sound a bit like Robert. Yet it is from one of the Hobbs, who given name that this group of family names has developed.

Paradoxically, the Hopkinds, the Hobsons, the Hopkings and the Hobys trace back to Anglo-Saxon blood for the most part, rather than Norman blood, though the name Robert was brought into England by the Normans.

Though Robert may be classed as originally a Norman name, one nickname derived from it is distinctly Anglo-Saxon, namely, "Hob." It was not at first a popular name among the subdued Anglo-Saxons, following the Norman conquest, but became so through the fame of one Hob who won the archery championship of Sherwood Forest. Archery, of course, was a calling reserved more for the Anglo-Saxon element than for the Normans who, as conquerors, had established themselves as the nobility and the upper classes socially.

Hopkin is a combination of "Hob" and the Anglo-Saxon ending "kin"

When Secretary Albert Fall of the department of the interior, became associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico back in the '90s, he found the docket much congested with a multitude of cases, many of which had been hanging for years.

The next day he called the lawyers of the town together. He said to them that the court would meet the next morning at 8 o'clock, and that it would continue to sit until 9 in the evening. It would try cases all the time. If any lawyer was not ready and got his excuses, was not obviously valid, his case would be dismissed.

Many of the lawyers protested, and swore. The judge heard that the strenuous program was much harder on him than on them, as he heard every case while they spelled each other. In a little while the docket was cleared and the business of the court was thereafter handled with ease and expedition.

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY. When Secretary Albert Fall of the department of the interior, became associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico back in the '90s, he found the docket much congested with a multitude of cases, many of which had been hanging for years.

The next day he called the lawyers of the town together. He said to them that the court would meet the next morning at 8 o'clock, and that it would continue to sit until 9 in the evening. It would try cases all the time. If any lawyer was not ready and got his excuses, was not obviously valid, his case would be dismissed.

Daniel Richard Crissinger, the new comptroller of the currency, is the president of the Marion, O., Cemetery association. Likewise is he the treasurer of the Marion Tackling Co., and a director in the Marion Steam Shovel Co. He is a Mason, a Knight Templar, a Shriner and an Elk. He feeds several hundred head of cattle and hogs every year, and makes a living as the owner of several farms. He sets forth these facts in a sketch of himself prepared by himself. Mr. Crissinger became prosecuting attorney of Marion county about the time that Mr. Harding purchased the Marion Star. Their lives have grown side by side. Each has watched the other expand.

JAPAN WOULD FORM A 3-POWER-ENTENTE SAYS TAKEO TANAKA

LONDON, Aug. 26.—There is a considerable body of opinion in Japan which asks: Why not an entente between the three great Pacific powers—the British Empire, Japan and the United States? If the Washington conference can secure that result, well and good. It is what we want. We wish for peace and prosperity, not war and ruin.

This frank statement was made here in the course of an interview by Takeo Tanaka, member of the Japanese house of commons, who is accompanying a small party of prominent Japanese legislators on a world tour. Mr. Tanaka insisted throughout the interview that he was speaking from the viewpoint of the Japanese people.

"The war," he said, "has made an enormous difference in Japan's outlook. Nothing is the same. Values have changed. Before the war, alliances were made to guard against possible conflicts."

"Today we expect other results. The nations—all the great powers—desire to advance a step forward, to bring to pass something never contemplated under the old alliances. Japan is in full sympathy."

"We do not want war any more than does the United States or Great Britain. There seems to be some misapprehension about the Japanese attitude towards the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It is said in some quarters that Japan does not like the criticisms of Canada, that she is not really well disposed to President Harding's invitation for a world conference at Washington to discuss questions of armament and Pacific problems."

"That is not the case. We have no cause for resentment. We are, indeed, in agreement with what is proposed. 'Please let me make this plain. The burden of armaments is as heavy upon the peoples of Japan as it is upon the peoples of the United States and Great Britain. We do not desire warlike alliances."

"It is understood among us that if the United States and Japan went to war, which God forbid, Great Britain would remain neutral. So we see no reason why the Anglo-Japanese treaty should not be renewed, unless something better can be put in its place."

HOME GROWN PEACHES GO BEGGING IN EL PASO

EL PASO, Aug. 25.—A big basket of fine peaches sitting on the sidewalk beneath this sign—"Help yourself; no market for El Paso peaches, so we give them away," welcomed, attracted lots of attention.

Investigation revealed that orchardists in the Rio Grande valley find little market for their peaches regardless of quality. It showed that grocers and produce men prefer to buy California fruit and have an arrangement with wholesale produce men to get peaches and other fruit and produce from California and make as much money out of them as they can by handling valley grown fruit.

J. M. Wyatt, who owns a big orchard, made a statement typical of others who have fruit for sale.

"Peaches as fine as those grown anywhere if raised in the valley bring only 4 cents a pound," he said. "However, fruit not so good readily sells for 1 1/2 cents at groceries and produce houses, but they are California peaches. When peaches are selling for 1 1/2 cents a pound often there is no market for local fruit. Dealers depend almost entirely on getting stuff shipped in here. They have a satisfactory arrangement with wholesalers who handle foreign stuff."

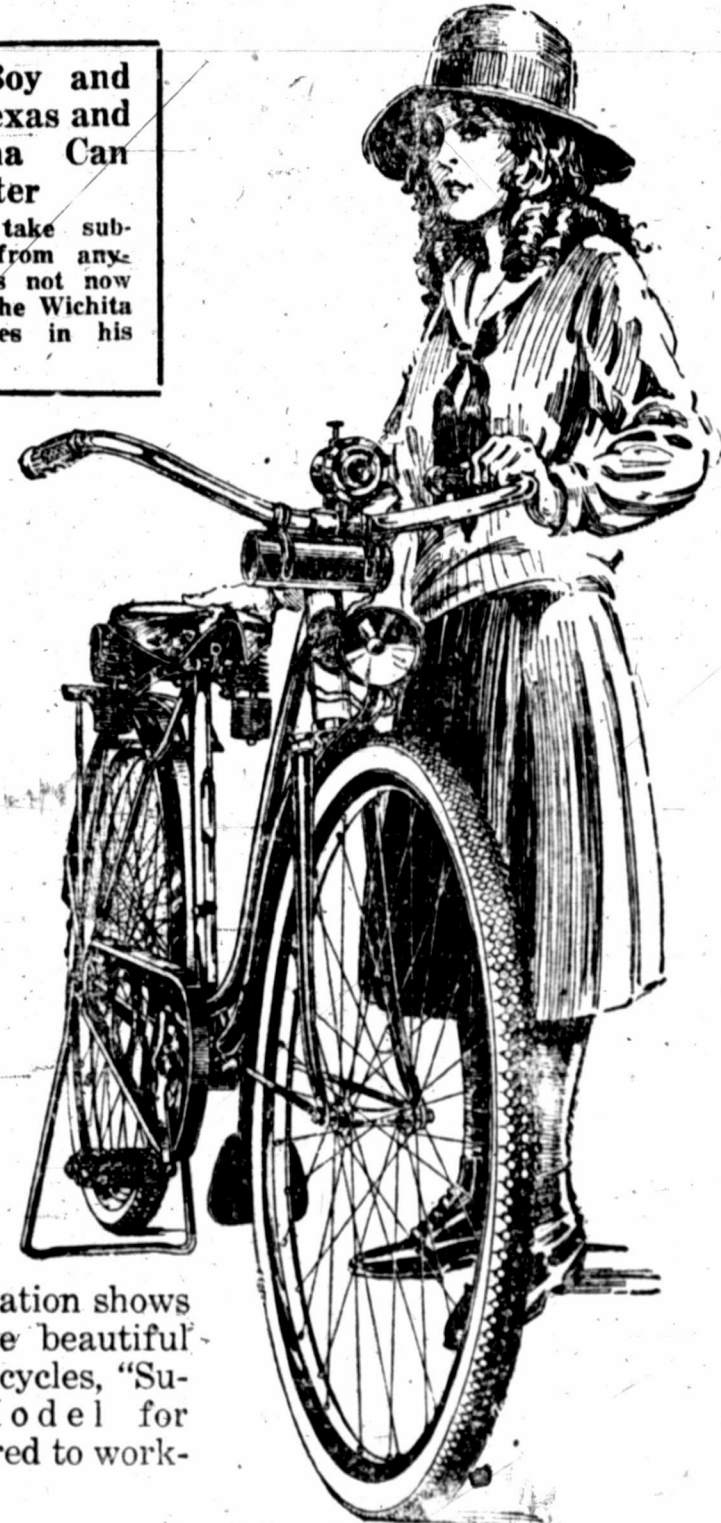

Orchardists, through co-operative organizations, are trying to get local merchants to handle valley products. When California tomatoes are offered for 15 cents a pound, it is impossible, according to Wyatt, for farmers, to sell their tomatoes for 3 cents a pound.

Automobile loads of tomatoes have been brought to El Paso and given away or sold to private families for 3 cents a pound when tomatoes were selling for 15 cents a pound at stores and no market existed for valley tomatoes. Farmers say through co-operative associations they will sell their fruit in the north and east, but not at home.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

By Judd Mortimer Lewis

When I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth this morning my ant put her head out of her window and looked all around just before Jubilee got as far down as she was, and she staid there quite a while, so when she pulled in her head I knew that she would be watching so I pulled Jubilee up again and took him under my arm and out through the attic to the little doot that opens on the kitchen roof. I took him out on the roof and let him down by the rope in his teeth, and I was kneeling down on my hands and knees looking over at him, when I heard someone laughing and there was Mr. and Mrs. Farrel out in their backyard by the flivver looking up at me, so I made a face at them and went back in and put on my pants.

I wish people would mind their own business, and I wish I had a tame ant eater that would eat anything but ants. I would have it upstairs some morning and then I would let the rope down and jerk it around till it made a noise outside of my ant's window, and then when she stuck her head out I would let the ant eat down on the back of her neck, and then I would shut my window and go down and milk the cow and her dotter, and when my mother went to look for my ant she would find out that we did not have any more than a rabbit.

I bet I could make a lot of money renting my ant eater out after I got through with it. If I was a little boy's ant I would be a sport and make him like me and would not always be watching him and telling things on him. I bet I would be the only ant in the world like that.

When I was milking the cow the Lost Bag of Tripe stuck his head in the manure hole and I asked him if Frenchy could not catch him in a million years, and then he started to climb through the manure hole and when he got about half way through someone got him by the feet and pulled him out, and they were scraping on the manure pile, and pretty soon Frenchy got up with a bloody nose and skinned out and the Lost Bag of Tripe was chasing him, and the cow had her foot in the milk pail when I turned around.

We played ball and went and got some aprites and some grapes and some carrots and went swimming and after our cows and never did see them all day. The next time one of them chases the other I am going to run along to see what happens.

When I was milking the cow my ant had polished her shoes and set them out on the step to dry, and when I went to go in Jubilee had them and had chewed them into rags. I put them under the step, because if she thought Jubilee done it she would poison him, because that is the way ants are. She thought a tramp swiped them. I guess a tramp could wear them all right. The woman who likes a cloth street dress but has found the severely tailored type unbecoming, should consider this attractive model in light brown duvetyl adapted from a new French design. While it has all the dignity and trimness of the usual tailored skirt, a cascading frill at the side does much to soften the effect, to say nothing of the individual collar—the wearing of which may be altered with one's mood, for it may be tied into a butterfly bow at the side with an amazingly chic result.

Black taffeta is used for the tie and to finish the long bell sleeves. But for the frill, either taffeta or self-material will be suitable.

If a black dress is desired, broadcloth may be used, and with more trimming will be exceedingly elegant. It has also been shown in youthful semi-tailored styles with facings or revers of white flannel or gray satin. Twills are proving more popular than tricotees.

PATTERN NO. 242
A pattern for the above model (No. 242) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36 or 38, by sending to Lenore, 4 West Fortieth street, New York city, your name, address and 50 cents in postage stamps. SAILORS DO NOT TAKE KINDLY TO ACTIVITIES OF "DRY" OFFICERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Staid old salts aren't taking kindly to all the prohibitive inspection, official and unofficial, that's going on inside and out of the three-mile limit.

"Gettin' no you can't drop a mud-hook without some lubber whispering you're a rum runner," said one sun-tanned skipper who recently breezed into port with his schooner aglitter with fish scales.

According to this captain and others of his calling, numberless sleuths who played the "chase-the-spy" game during the war now are bent as zealously on tracking down liquor-laden craft in post-war days.

There were spies during the war and there probably are rum runners now operating off the coast, but skippers innocent of more than a strong tea-leasate are complaining that even their cod and haddock now are falling under suspicion and that a reflection is being cast on the ancient and honorable calling of fishermen.

Several months ago, strange fancies began coming in from the Atlantic of vessels mysteriously missing and of other vessels as mysteriously sighted—the phantom craft that bobbed up out of fogs, circled merchant craft and scooped away as silently as they had come. Pirates was the first verdict.

"Yes, in July, off Hatteras, was found a stranded schooner, so battered by the waves that even her name had been ground off her stern. She never was identified, but before she was destroyed by a coast guard cutter as a menace to navigation there was found in her hold a cargo of rum.

This set folks thinking and when there came from Montauk Point, on the tip of Long Island, reports of an English schooner, that lay off the three-mile limit and dispensed forbidden drinks to all comers, there were persons afloat and ashore who gave credence to the story.

Atlantic City, too, contributed a tale of a liquor schooner that lay off shore, sold liquor and tauntingly signalled to prohibition enforcement officers to come and get it.

Other schooners were reported, from Tampa north to Cape Sable, and each was suspected of rum-running. In many cases, it was reported that the two-stickers had ignored signals, refused all advances and kept nobly in their courses.

Now hardly a day passes that some vessel reaching port somewhere does not report encountering these baffling strangers, until it seems as if the entire merchant marine of all countries must suddenly have turned to rum running for a living.

Then seizures began and to date more than half a dozen schooners are being held on technical charges. At Philadelphia, Gloucester, New Haven, Atlantic City and New York there's lying a schooner under suspicion.

The capture of the Henry L. Marshall, seized off Atlantic City and brought to New York by a coast guard cutter, has aroused perhaps the greatest flurry. For she was flying the British flag outside the three-mile limit when the cutter swooped down on her, and now official Washington has been called upon to decide what is to be done with her and the liquor found aboard her.

Great Britain has indicated she will enter a formal protest, just by way of showing, without animosity, that she can't approve of other nations grabbing her vessels on the high seas. Her British registry, however, has been challenged.

Federal officials claim to have evidence of a conspiracy involving prominent men in ports on the Atlantic seaboard, who are believed to have put up hundreds of thousands of dollars to sell liquor to their thirsty fellow-countrymen. The Bahamas is alleged to be the home port of a rum-running fleet. Others are believed to sail from St. Pierre, Miquelon, the French island south of Newfoundland.

TURKISH WOMAN NOVELIST AND NATIONALIST LEADER DISCUSSES PRESENT WAR WITH THE GREEKS

ANGORA, TURKEY, Aug. 26.—Dressed in a black riding suit and astride an Arab mare, Halide Hanum, the Turkish woman novelist and nationalist leader, greeted the Associated Press correspondent by the roadside outside of Angora, waving her hand in recognition as the automobile approached after crossing innumerable mountains and rivers from Itebolli, the contraband port on the Black sea.

Halide invited the correspondent to her home, an Anatolian farmhouse in a nearby gorge. She said she had ridden horseback frequently since she escaped from Constantinople in March, 1920, riding the entire distance to Angora on her horse.

"My mind and soul are here but my heart is in American with my boys, Ali and Hassan, in college at Urbana, Ill.," said the woman who has made herself famous not only as a novelist but by espousing the cause headed by Kemal Pasha who is fighting the Greeks.

She spoke of the war with the Greeks and of the difficulty of making peace with the allies.

"Time is our great and best ally," she said. "We want peace, and we are willing to fight forever for it. It is costly for us, but it is the only way. We must have our independence: political, geographic and economic."

The correspondent reminded her that these were vague terms used by the nationalists since the Turkish armistice.

"It may seem monotonous but we keep right on saying and thinking the same things," she replied. "When we first said them, we were ridiculed by some of our own people, while the allies went on violating the armistice terms. We have made progress during the past two years, and finally we will win. Haven't the allies got enough out of us by taking Mesopotamia and

Spudders Slug Way to Victory in Opener But Are Beaten in Second

BEAUMONT, Aug. 25.—The Spudders and Exporters had a wild day here today, each winning a hectic ball game. The Spudders were on the long end of a 10-to-9 score in the curtain-raiser which went the regulation distance while the Exporters won an absence of contest which went only four and a half innings by the count of 8 to 3. It took four Spudder hurriers to open the Beaumont sluggers in the second pastime.

Before the second ball ended Walter Salm was forced to press everybody but "Rube" Marshall and the boy into service. Jake Miller returned to the game after a week's absence, but was forced to give up shortly after the second game began. Bischoff also relieved Kitchens behind the bat in this imbroglio, but had been in only a few moments before he injured a finger and had to quit.

The opener was a swiftest from beginning to end. The Spudders collected 13 safeties off Scott, Meine and Jacobus while the Exporters had only 15 off Bowman, Darrough, Sewell and Hollingsworth. Danny Clark and Tex McDonald led the Spudder onslaught in this fray, the former contributing the homer, the latter a single. Willie Tex came through with two doubles and as many singles.

The Salmites scored two right off the reel, but the Exporters came back in their portion of the frame and went them two better. And so it went until the end of the game when Jake Miller finally broke it up with a timely single in the eighth that chased the ninth and ninth runs over.

The Spudders tied the score up in the third only to have the home boys come right back at them with a more potent home run in the seventh. In the seventh it looked as if the Spudders had tucked the game away when they tallied three times and went into the lead for the second time. However, the Exporters kept pecking away and scored four in their allotment of the round and usurped the lead once again. But they were unable to hold it in the two in the eighth.

Abe Bowman started the second at-fay all right, but his relay on the mound was even better than a single to force the inning was ended the Exporters had hopped on him with all fours and he was given the air in favor of Knadler. The latter was just as good as ever and turned the double over to Ramsey before long. A total of six counters was collected by the home boys in the first chapter and they were more than enough to win in the fourth and a half innings that were played.

May did the flinging for the Exporters, but he had nothing to deceive the Salmites. He was out of the game before they had done in the previous contest, but did not have enough time to overcome the lead. The detailed score:

WICHITA CHOYS by Paul W. Barkin

No use to worry over the second defeat. We lost only a half a game all day. That second matinee settled one thing—no all-knowing Danny Gross and Jim Sewell are still with the club. "Rube" Marshall must have been sick. He's the only Spudder who was in Beaumont who didn't break into the game in some manner.

If Abe Bowman had his way, the Spudders would have had a triple and Jim Sewell are still with the club. "Rube" Marshall must have been sick. He's the only Spudder who was in Beaumont who didn't break into the game in some manner.

They're not putting much over on Barney Burch these days. In a game with St. Joseph the other day Griner was sent in to pinch hit for St. Joe. Griner's suit apparently did not correspond with that worn by his mates and Barney promptly entered a protest.

The SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

THE VETERAN'S REBUTTAL. The kid may charge with the sword of Youth. That gleams in the summer sun. With never a care where the barriers fare. As the last far heights are won— Still wait on the road ahead—

But we have been through the foremost fire. Steel-wrought by long defeat. Serene and cool from bitter school. Fades out on the sulien beat— But the Old head knows the route.

THE HOME RUN TEAM. "How would this home-run team look to you as an aggregation?" writes Harold Base, Peck, shortstop; Frisch, third base; Ruth, Cobb and Helman, outfielders.

ADVANCE ECHOES. Was somebody whispering? What was that refrain? "Princeton's ball—third down—and seven yards to gain!"

"CLEAN-UP" OF IDLE WOMEN IS STARTED FRIDAY AFTERNOON

County officers, state rangers and members of the city police force Friday afternoon, conducted a round of the old flats district, where it is reported that a large number of women are congregating. The purpose of the round is to warn all idle women to move at once.

It was also stated by several members of the party that several of the local hotels would also be visited to give warning to proprietors and managers to have all idle women move out of the building.

It is the purpose of officers to soon start a clean up of the entire city and no clemency will be shown to women who have been warned to leave and to keepers of houses or hotels in cases where violations of the law are discovered.

PROFESSOR TRIMBLE IS LECTURING AT A. M. E. CHURCH

Prof. C. C. TRIMBLE, former teacher of the public colored school of this city, is giving a series of lectures at the A. M. E. church. His subject last night was "Down at the Corner." He was listened to by a large and enthusiastic audience. This subject is one of the professor's masterpieces. Every thought was well worded and met the hearty approval of his hearers. His subject tonight—Friday, August 26—will be "Don't Give Up the Flag." A still larger crowd is expected out. Prof. Trimble is a ripe scholar, a deep thinker and a sane and safe leader, representing the highest type of Christian loyalty so much needed at this time. The public generally is invited to hear him. Special seats for white people. Don't forget the place—at the A. M. E. church on Park street, Rev. E. D. Bonner, Pastor.

An Appeal—Bibles, Bibles, Bibles.

We are agents for the American Bible society, also have a line of the Holman Bibles. Because of affliction in body we haven't been able to visit the churches of Wichita Falls. Phone 5048. Located at 1315 Thirteenth street. R. L. Merrill. 204-47p

DANGER IN VICTORY FOR OKLAHOMA SEEN BY STATE ATTORNEY

Valuable farm lands in Wilbarger and Hardeman counties will become part of Oklahoma if Texas loses the Red river boundary suit, according to Wallace Hawkins, assistant attorney general of Texas, who was in Wichita Falls Thursday, following a trip to the counties above mentioned. The nature of the river bed, and the contour of the river front, Mr. Hawkins said, is such in those counties that if Oklahoma is awarded what she claims, Wilbarger and Hardeman counties, especially the former, will lose large areas, on which are now situated some of the northwest Texas' most valuable farms.

One purpose of Mr. Hawkins' trip to this section was to work up evidence to be introduced when the county seat hearings are held in Texas. Many of those most vitally affected, he said, in northwest Texas, have taken little interest in the suit, in spite of the fact that it may wipe out their accumulated holdings.

COUNTY TO GET ALL ROAD BOND MONEY IN ONE INSTALLMENT

A deal has been consummated in St. Louis between the state and the county of Wichita and the local banks, whereby the county will be paid the entire amount of money instead of in three installments.

The first arrangement made was for the St. Louis bank to pay $750,000 upon delivery of the entire bond issue and two $750,000 installments within 60 and 90 days.

According to word received by County Treasurer Tom McHam, the St. Louis bank said it would rather pay the entire amount at once. This was agreed to.

There was some delay occasioned in St. Louis in consummating the deal due to the fact that the opinion of the attorney general of Texas on the bond issue was not in the bundle of papers when bank officials and local representatives started checking up.

It was learned, however, that a telegram to Austin was sent Wednesday morning and it is believed that this opinion will arrive in St. Louis Saturday, at which time the deal will be closed.

District Attorney Bert Wilson and County Attorney E. L. Fulton will remain in St. Louis until everything is complete.

NEW TYPE OF AIRPLANE DESIGNED TO CARRY MAIL BEGINS INITIAL FLIGHT

MINNOLA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A new type of air mail plane, which the builders claim will carry 2,000 letters from New York to San Francisco in 30 hours, began its initial flight from here to Chicago late yesterday and was reported to have landed at Bellefonte, Pa., two hours and five minutes after taking off. The plane is said to have twice the carrying capacity of the older types, without additional operating cost.

NOTICES LYDAY HE WILL NOT BE REAPPOINTED

AUSTIN, Aug. 25.—Governor Neff has notified P. E. Lyday that he will not be reappointed commissioner of the department of markets and warehouses when his term expires on September 1. The governor has not announced Mr. Lyday's successor or given any reasons for his action.

The governor has consistently urged the legislature to merge this department with the agriculture department. However, the governor's action is not taken to mean that he will veto the appropriation for the department.

ENOUGH HOUSES FOR GULF NEEDS FOUND; TO ADJUST RENTALS

Enough houses are available to meet all requirements of the Gulf company, which is moving its north Texas headquarters here from Fort Worth, but in some cases adjustments of rental charges will be necessary before the matter is finally settled, it developed late Thursday after W. B. Byron, chief of the Gulf company in north Texas, had visited the houses obtained by the chamber of commerce.

The chamber of commerce requested Friday that Wichitans who have houses for rent continue to list them with that organization. It is pointed out that the removal of the Gulf headquarters will result in other companies and individuals coming here; in fact, that it is already resulting in that, and that tenants can probably be found promptly for all rental property. A number of houses were listed Friday, and it is hoped to add to the list.

BOYS AND GIRLS JUMP TIMES BICYCLE OFFER

Rapid fire sale campaigns were being conducted by over a hundred Wichita Falls boys and girls yesterday and about as many more outside of Wichita Falls at Burk Burnett, Iowa Park, Electric, Henricetta, Frederick and other Texas and Oklahoma towns.

There is a hot race on as to who will be the first to win one of the 100 bicycle cycles offered by the Times for securing 25 new subscribers. Tips to the swimming pools have taken second place in the thoughts of these youngsters even if the mercury does go above the 100 mark.

A stream of youngsters crowded the circulation department all day yesterday, clamoring for instructions and a subscription booklet. Telephone calls were numerous and mail inquiries were plentiful. In this connection the bicycle department wishes to state that boys and girls living in Wichita Falls will save time by calling at the Times office for instructions as it will take some time for our representative to get around to all of you.

8TH STREET PAVING NEARS COMPLETION, PROGRESSING ON 8TH

The Ninth street paving project will be entirely completed within another week's time, according to City Engineer Julian Montgomery, who stated Friday morning that the short stretch in front of the car barns would be finished up within a few days. Work was held up here for some time by changes necessary in the tracks of the company.

When all these improvements are made the paving will be put down and the job completed.

Grading is progressing rapidly on Fillmore street where several blocks of bitulithic are to be laid, and on the Eighth street project, which includes the paving of that street from Brook to Huff, all but one block of the surface having been laid. The street is now finished between Brook and Broad, with prospects of the remainder being put down by the end of the week.

Camels die without warning much the same as a car stops from lack of oil.

THIS COUNTY GETS 2 NEW LEGISLATORS, DISTRICTS CHANGED

Wichita county will have two additional representatives in the next legislature, by the terms of the legislative redistricting bill passed at Austin Thursday. Wichita and Wilbarger counties will continue to have one representative between them, as at present, while two other representatives will serve Wichita county alone. Other northwest Texas districts are:

- 109—Young and Jack.
- 111—Baylor, Haskell and Throckmorton.
- 112—Hardeman, Foard, Knox and King.
- 113—Jones and Shackelford.
- 114—Mottley, Cottle, Hall and Childress.

Wichita county will thus have increased representation in both branches of the legislature, although the senatorial redistricting bill, which puts this county in a district with 12 other northwest Texas counties, does not become effective until 1924.

The first white settlement in Australia was founded 140 years ago.

"DRIVE TO THE RIGHT" SIGNS INSTALLED BY AUTO ASSOCIATION

"Drive to the Right" signs have been put in place at the intersections of Scott avenue with Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets by the Wichita Falls Automobile association, and if they are as satisfactory as it is hoped they will be, similar signs will be placed by the association at all the street intersections in the business district.

The signs are very neat in appearance notwithstanding that they weigh approximately 1,500 pounds each. They are made of concrete and iron. The base is a large iron cylinder filled with concrete and the post which holds the sign is another cylinder filled with concrete and cast into the body of the base cylinder.

The signs are painted in white and can readily be seen for a distance of several blocks.

Business Men Are More Particular

Progressive business men of today have gotten away from the old idea that "just any bank" will do. They not only recognize the difference between banks, but they know how to turn that difference to their advantage.

knows that a strong banking connection is an important factor in his success. He looks upon his bank as something more than the custodian of his account. It is his business counselor, to be relied upon for valuable information and advice. This bank offers you the benefit of its long and varied contract with business affairs. Our knowledge and experience are at your disposal. If you do not make use of these advantages, you are not realizing the full scope of our ability to be helpful to you.
