ROY GARDNER GETS AWAY FROM PRISON; HIS FOURTH BREAK

ESCAPES DURING BALL GAME IN THE PRISON GROUNDS MONDAY.

ONE PRISONER IS KILLED AND ANOTHER MAY DIE

Told Judge at Time of Sentence That He Would Again Make a Getaway.

TACOMA, WASH., Sept. 6.—Roy Gardner, 34, train bandit, who escaped yesterday from the federal prison at McNeil island, near here, during a break in which one prisoner was killed, apparently has succeeded in reaching the mainland, one mile away, prison guards and others declared today, when their search of the island had failed to reveal the missing man.

This was Gardner's fourth break for liberty, each time under sensational circumstances. He escaped yesterday during a baseball game in the prison grounds. Everett Impmy, former Camp Lewis soldier serving a life sentence for a statutory offense, was shot and killed by guards as he fled with Gardner. Lawrence Bogart, sentenced with Impmy, was captured when the latter was wounded by rifle fire. He is not expected to live.

During a tense moment in the ball game, Gardner, Impmy and Bogart made for the fence. Gardner succeeded in cutting the wire and passed through but his companions were shot down. Gaining the outside, Gardner started a herd of cattle and using the animals as a barrier to the guards, reached the woods which skirt the island. There a number of him was lost. The guards set fire to the woods in an attempt to drive him out. This gave rise to a report that the prison was on fire.

His exploit occurred in the presence of Heber H. Votaw, superintendent of federal prisons and brother-in-law of President Harding. Votaw arrived yesterday morning at McNeil island on an inspection tour.

Gardner was arrested in San Diego, Cal., in 1920 and confessed to robbing a mail truck when $37,000 was stolen. He escaped from the San Diego jail, was recaptured and again escaped, this time near Portland, en route to serve his sentence on McNeil island.

On May 19, 1921, the Pacific Limited of the Southern Pacific railway was held up at Newburg, Cal., and a $175,000 taken. Gardner was captured at Riverside, Cal., a few days later, as he sat in a poker game. He confessed to this robbery upon interrogation of his wife, who resides at Napa, Cal., with their child.

Taken before United States District Judge William G. Brien for sentence Gardner told the judge he would again escape and he made good his boast when he shackled his guard and escaped from a patrol on his way to the northern prison.

This time he was captured at Centralia, Wash., and finally landed behind the bars at McNeil island on a spectacular break for freedom.

Gardner frequently has boasted that in all his exploits he never injured any person.

PRESIDENT AND HIS PARTY HAVE RETURNED TO CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—President and Mrs. Harding and a party of friends, including a number of high officials, returned to Washington today aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower.

The Mayflower arrived at her dock at the navy yard shortly before 11 o'clock, completing a cruise that started Saturday afternoon, and extended down the Potomac river and Chesapeake bay and as far as the coast as Atlantic City, where the president had hoped to spend Labor Day. A severe off the coast, however, prevented a landing at the seaside resort.

Due to the late arrival of the party, the regular Tuesday cabinet meeting was postponed.

The president plainly showed the beneficial effects of his trip. He wore a coat of almost ruddy tan and some of the lined lines of his face had disappeared.

HOLDS THAT STATUTE WILL NOT PERMIT VOTING TWO ISSUES SO CLOSE TOGETHER.

$100,000 BOND ISSUE MAY BE HELD NULL AND VOID

Commissioners Vote to Send County Attorney E. L. Fulton to Austin.

State's Attorney General Cureton, in a letter to County Attorney E. L. Fulton, states that he cannot approve the $100,000 bond issue voted by Wichita county for the erection of branch hospitals in Iowa, Paris, Electra and Burk. There are three objections raised, but officials state that the first two can be remedied, but are dubious about the third.

The main objection raised by the attorney general, on which he based his opinion that the bonds could not be approved, was that the county commissioners had no jurisdiction in ordering the election for the branch hospital bond issue in view of the ordering of the $75,000 bond issue for an addition to the Wichita general hospital.

Records disclose the facts that the order for the election for the addition to the general hospital was passed on May 9, 1921, and the order for the branch hospitals on May 17.

The attorney general quoted a statute of the state which, in substance, is that no two bond elections can be held in the same county within 12 months of each other.

County Attorney E. L. Fulton excepted to the attorney general's ruling and maintained that the purpose and intent of the statute quoted by the attorney general was only meant to apply in those cases where the voters voted on a bond issue, and that in such cases another election could not be held before the expiration of 12 months.

It is well understood that the attorney general has the last and final say on the issue, but as the approval of the bond transcript practically depends on the action of the county commissioners, the court passed an order asking Mr. Fulton to proceed to Austin at once to discuss the question with the attorney general.

A delegation from the three Wichita county towns attended the court Tuesday morning. The members of the delegation stated that the residents of the towns are anxiously awaiting the issuance of the bonds so that work on the erection of the buildings can be begun immediately.

POLICE CALLED TO QUELL MUTINY ON BOARD STEAMSHIP

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Police with riot guns, summoned by a radio message from the captain, today broke up a fight between negro and white members of the crew of the shipping board freighter Chester Kiwanis, anchored at Staten Island.

They found Captain Charles Boothby barricaded in his cabin, bruised and bitten. He attributed his injuries to white members of the crew.

When the police boat John F. Hyland approached the officers heard shots and saw whites and blacks in a battle royal on deck. It developed that 12 negroes were on the deck, and 20 whites toward the barricaded captain's cabin. The trouble was quelled in an hour without the police firing a shot. The whites left the vessel after driving the whites below decks and waiting till they had gone asleep. The negroes remained on deck guarding the captain.

The fight had been almost continuous since the freighter dropped anchor Saturday night and had been brewing through today, a comprehensive report covering all phases of the situation there and containing important recommendations.

Secretary Weeks declined to discuss the report publicly until he had taken it up with President Harding.

GENERAL BANDHOLTZ SUBMITS A COMPREHENSIVE REPORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz, commanding federal troops in the West Virginia coal fields, transmitted to Secretary Weeks today a comprehensive report covering all phases of the situation there and containing important recommendations.

UNITED STATES HAS SENT ANOTHER NOTE TOUCHING MANDATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The United States government has addressed a note to the governments of the subject of mandated territories.

Official announcement that the note had been dispatched last week was made today at the state department.

The communication was said to refer specifically to class A and B mandates as administered by the league of nations and to reiterate the position of the United States government with regard to rights in mandated territories.

Land Between Bank and Bluff Sudden Formation of Islands Testimony in Boundary Case

Staff Special to The Times.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 6.—Oklahoma began to make it hurt today, apparently scoring an important point for her side of the case in the Red river boundary hearing, when Major Charles F. Miller, government river expert, testified that the stretch of land between the south bank bluff and the channel of the river came into being, not by the gradual accretion of silt, but by sudden formations of island which became attached to the southern bank of the stream through the action of the wind in building up sand dunes.

The law in cases like this draws a sharp distinction between land that is built up gradually, by accretion, and land that is built suddenly or by evulsion. To establish that the valley north of the bluff came into being other than by accretion would be to gain a big advantage for the Oklahoma and government side.

Major Miller had not been cross-examined up to noon. In identifying the various islands along the river, he testified that in three or four miles of big bend river from there a ten or twelve islands; such islands do appear on the map, but they are not visible to the naked eye. Texas attorneys claim that the islands were built up gradually, and that the government claim that they were built suddenly or by evulsion.

The witness also testified that the river is still actually flowing slowly underneath the flood plain between the channel and the bluff. He went into complex technical detail as to the characteristics of the river that caused it to swiftly create islands during #### times of high water, these islands being consolidated with the bank by sand dunes created by the wind.

The first in Major Miller's testimony from an Oklahoma viewpoint, is in the fact that the actual time when the conditions took place cannot be established. He testified that the island-building process had been going on since the river first began to trickle down from the staked plains. Oklahoma is probably relying, however, upon the testimony of ecologists to establish how much or how little of the island-building has taken place since 1819.

The testimony as to islands has another bearing on the case, in that the treaty of 1825, which gave the island under the jurisdiction of the federal government and removes them from any possibility of Texas claim.

Monday's session was uninteresting to the point of boredom. The government devoted most of the day to laying the necessary predicate for the expert testimony. Identification of maps, field notes, charts and photographs and establishing them as part of the official record.

R. W. Livingston and A. N. Kimmel, the cadastral engineers for the government, went through this tiresome formality, and then the witness, who makes surveys in connection with tax matters, the term being derived from a meeting of early English history. The attorneys for Texas announced they would not cross-examine the engineers until later, when it is expected they will vigorously attack the accuracy of the map that portrays conditions in the "big bend" with which Wichita county is most intimately concerned.

Major Miller testified that the river was Monday afternoon the first expert witness to put on the stand. This was Major Charles F. Miller, formerly of the federal engineering corps, and for many years in charge of navigation and flood prevention work on the Mississippi river, and a hydraulic engineer of national reputation.

Major Miller testified that Red river is one of the most precipitous streams in the south, its fall along the Texas-Oklahoma line averaging about five feet to the mile. This fact, he said, accounts for the river's erosive habits, for the variability of its actual channel and for the general uncertainty of its temperament.

Major Miller also brought out a fact not generally known, that Red river is a much wider stream near its headwaters than it is near its confluence with the Mississippi. Its bed is from a mile to a mile and a half wide through the western part of the Texas-Oklahoma boundary, while in Louisiana the distance between banks is only about a quarter of a mile. A similar condition exists in the Nile river in Egypt, and in certain streams in China, but is contrary to the accepted rule of rivers.

Adjournment for the day was taken before Major Miller got to that part of the river opposite Wichita county.

Irish Leaders Will Accept An Ultimatum From Great Britain As Meaning a War Must Come

QUIET PREVAILS IN THE MINE DISTRICT OF WEST VIRGINIA

DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, declared today that he would accept an ultimatum if England issued one, but that it was an application of force, which must mean war and not peace.

By Associated Press.

Routes were indicated to the men with the advice that they should not go for shooting at Armagh, Sunday, in which Mr. O'Duffy declared the boycott against Ulster would be tightened by the Sinn Fein and the unionist.

Charles W. Harvey, wounded during the rioting at Armagh, Sunday, in which he was the nineteenth victim of the disorders.

DEFEND IRISH DEMANDS MADE ON GREAT BRITAIN

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Sinn Fein Ireland's demands upon Great Britain are defended in an interview with Eamon de Valera, printed here by the news agency. The Irish republican leader, Simone Terzi, quotes Mr. de Valera as asserting that the Irish republicans are basing their fight "on the principle of justice, and not on the basis of realism, more practical than the opportunity we are advised to adopt." Mr. de Valera is quoted as declaring that the British government declares it desires to end, once and for all, strife between its country and ours. We also wish to end strife, but we are lacking in practical sense because we know, as everybody in Ireland knows, that lasting peace can be made only on the principle of justice. If Ireland is refused rights which she has a primordial and essential claim she is bound to continue her fight because of stubbornness because she knows that her rights are denied her? Who, then, can imagine, even among these "realist politicians," that lasting peace can be built on a refusal of these fundamental rights?

PREMIER HAS CONFERENCE WITH MEMBERS OF CABINET

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Lloyd George today had conversations with members of his cabinet and civil and military authorities in Ireland, relative to the situation which has arisen as a result of the latest note of the British government from Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader. The prime minister met his colleagues at Inverness near Gallic, Scotland, where Lloyd George has been spending a brief vacation. It was believed that the Irish situation, and continuing over preliminary to the meeting of the cabinet which will convene at Inverness tomorrow.

Although London newspapers continued today to counsel patience and forbearance in dealing with the Irish situation, there were certain indications that the Irish controversy had virtually reached a crisis, and that tomorrow's meeting of the British ministry might prove historic. There were many who believed that Mr. de Valera and his colleagues at Dublin would be given a certain limited time in which they could either accept or reject the British government's offer of a settlement for Ireland as a basis for a settlement of the ancient controversy.

A party of American tourists has been sent to the premier and the cabinet a box of cigars. Accompanying the cigars was a note of personal esteem and appreciation of Prime Minister Lloyd George's effort to "settle the age-long Irish problem." Hope was expressed that "Ireland and Great Britain might soon smoke together the pipe of peace."

Dr. Hadley denied newspapermen yesterday that he had made any admission concerning the murder.

October was the strongest month, and showed gains by the middle of the morning of 177 points, compared with the closing quotations of last week.

Back of the buying was a general crop scare, especially in the Liverpool market, which stood at wide gains before the local market opened. Advances from American mill centers of 20 to 30 cents heavier trading in cotton goods. Buying orders came from all directions and the contract market was in an upward spiral from the opening.

Reports that buyers were paying in advance of 2 cents a pound in spot demand increased the demand for contracts late in the morning. Prices were at 20 cents for May, 1920 to 120 points over last week's close.

GALVESTON, Sept. 6.—The market for spot cotton here was up 200 points today with middling quoted at 18.50.

Private advices from the belts reported further crop deterioration over the holidays.

Buy orders continued to pour into the market after midday and price movements continued upward, finally reaching the 200-point limit allowed for any one day's fluctuation. October sold at 18.55 and December at 20.20. The market closed very strong at a 50 a bale advance for the day.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY HAS A CONVENTION IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The American Chemical Society began a convention here today, which is expected to develop into one of the greatest international conferences in the history of the science and industry.

More than 200 scientists are expected to attend the sessions which will continue through September 10. The program calls for a series of addresses, symposiums and exhibits embracing all phases of chemical work.

On their travels across southern Oklahoma, the party attending the hearings were often put to it to find the best eating places. They soon learned to simply follow Judge Wood of San Antonio, who has wonderful instinct for finding out good eating places. His instinct has not failed him so far.

REPORT A WHOLESALE RESUMPTION OF WORK IN TAMPICO DISTRICT

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6.—Wholesale resumption of work in the Tampico oil district is reported in dispatches from that city. Hundreds of workers are returning to the petroleum fields, where operations have been resumed as a result of the agreement between large American oil companies and the Mexican government, reached last week.

Production taxes, which covered levies made on oil held in storage by American companies in Mexico, were paid by a majority of the companies yesterday, according to an unofficial statement to the newspaper Excelsior. This was in line with announcements made by oil men last Saturday, following the agreement with the government. It is understood that the export taxes have not as yet been paid, but as these were for the month of July were insignificant and were not due until Aug. 25. It is believed arrangements for their payment will be made soon. Payment of the taxes will lift automatically the government embargo on the funds and holdings of oil companies.

RED RIVER WAS ONCE A NAVIGABLE STREAM AS FAR AS RINGGOLD

BROUGHT OUT BY TESTIMONY TAKEN IN THE BOUNDARY HEARINGS.

SAIL AND STEAMBOATS MADE OCCASIONAL TRIPS

Some Evidence That the Spaniards Used Straits Into Get Supplies to Old Forts.

Staff Special to The Times.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 6.—Red river was once a navigable stream as far west as Ringgold, and while it did not exactly team with traffic, it was used regularly and successfully as a highway of commerce. This fact is brought out by a personal testimony taken in the Red river hearings along the southern Oklahoma border, various old-timers testifying to having seen both sail and steamboats plying the stream.

There was some evidence that the Spaniards used the stream as a regular transportation highway to carry supplies to their old forts along the stream. The historical fact that the stream was used by federal troops in the Civil War is also referred to in the record.

One witness in Carter county testified that a small steamboat made regular trips up the river from Shreveport, and that, having an engine that produced no surplus power, it was unable to comply with regulations for blowing its whistle at crossings and when coming into river towns. So it obtained a small cannon, which it fired in lieu of blowing its whistle. On one occasion, the steamboat was stopped by a shot in the cannon, which was known to the skipper, with the result that the skipper's leg was shot off. Mrs. Lillis Morgan, who is attending the hearing, says that when she and her mother were crossing Red river, near Denison, on their way to Wichita county over 40 years ago, a small steamer boat in Red river at that point, loaded his family and household goods to the deck, and the voyage from Wichita Falls to Shreveport, La., Old fields of The Times bear this out.

On their travels across southern Oklahoma, the party attending the hearings were often put to it to find the best eating places. Always a matter of some uncertainty in the average small town in Oklahoma City. They soon learned to simply follow Judge Wood of San Antonio, who has wonderful instinct for finding out good eating places. His instinct has not failed him so far.

LOOKING TO HOOVER TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT

HARDING HAS HIGH HOPES OF CONFERENCE LATER THIS MONTH.

REGARD RAILROAD BILL AS KEY TO SOLUTION

Engineering Mind of Secretary is Expected to Work Out a Satisfactory Plan.

By MARK SULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times. Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The mind of Secretary Hoover is primarily an engineering one. It is one of the few engineering minds in public life in any country. We have the legal mind—have it rather in excess of its proportion. We have the banker mind, and the labor mind, and the farmer mind, and other varieties of class mind. We have also, rather in excess of what we can comfortably absorb, the politician mind—pure and simple, the sort of mind that makes Gavin McNab of San Francisco say that "the politician is the only animal known to nature who can keep both ears to the ground at the same time." But Mr. Hoover has almost a monopoly of the kind of mind that can survey the economic forces of the world as a business man surveys the condition of his own country, and figure out what is likely to result from them, and most important, figure out what can be done to direct these forces to a different result. It is the mind of a super-business man, who is a manager of industry on a large scale, plus a student of markets and trade conditions. It is this kind of mind, undoubtedly, that has led Mr. Hoover to consider unemployment, and at the unemployment conference, which will be held under his direction shortly after the middle of the month, he can be expected to provide whatever suggestion may be possible in the direction of controlling this particular economic phenomenon. The unemployment is not as great as statistics make it out. The department of labor figures say 5,700,000 men are out of work. But a good deal of what the statistics see as unemployment is really in the shape of farmers who went into the factories during the war and are now being absorbed again by the farms without much discomfort. For this and other reasons, careful persons who temper statistics with personal observation and judgment say that the actual unemployment is nearer 2,000,000.

But whatever the figure the expected phenomenon of post-war unemployment is upon us and must be looked in the face. If ignored, it might readily have unpleasant social and political results. After the Civil war, the workless, discharged soldier was absorbed by the free land of the west. So far as the general public was concerned, he disappeared and was no problem. Now we no longer have the free land, and for it we must substitute economic intelligence.

Incidentally, the sudden appearance of unemployment in America illustrates the wisdom of the act restricting immigration, which was passed during the first few weeks of Harding's administration. Otherwise, our employment problem might have been greatly increased. Throughout the world a great number of human beings have been displaced by war and post-war conditions. These derelicts float towards us as inevitably as water flows down a hill. There was some degree of truth, although more mere cleverness of course in the saying that America was becoming the "cess pool" of the human race. However, the new law puts a limit, even if only a loose and partial limit, on the number of immigrants who are allowed to enter our country, and thus it helps to solve our unemployment problem.

The one obvious offset which apparently the administration has in mind is the "cess pool" of the human race. It is believed that if the government will arrange for the railroads to get immediately a sufficient sum on account of the railroads' claims against the government, that the railroads will be able to provide for a million men, in part directly on the railroads and in part in factories and mills making railroad supplies.

This increase of employment will in turn improve general business and especially increase the volume of traffic on the railroads. With increase of the volume of traffic will come the possibility of increased freight rates, and it is hoped that this and other expedients will cause the start of a new and better economic cycle. That, if one may guess from appearances, seems to act in count for the administration's obvious eagerness to have congress pass the so-called "railroad bill" immediately after reassembling.

COLLEGE OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS SESSION TO OPEN AT DENTON SEPTEMBER 20

DENTON, TEXAS, Sept. 6.—The College of Industrial Arts will open its nineteenth annual session Sept. 20, 1921, with the brightest prospects in its history, according to announcement made today by Dr. F. M. Bralley, president of the college. During the 18 years of the history of the college, 13,514 Texas young women have entered its halls of learning and have carried away increased knowledge and better equipment for the duties of good citizenship and better home life.

During the academic year which closed Aug. 31, the college conferred 114 bachelors degrees, awarded 15 diplomas in public school music, 6 diplomas in the kindergarten training school, 56 certificates evidencing the completion of vocational courses, making a total of 185 Texas young women who received credentials from the College of Industrial Arts. This does not include about 300 young women who did work in the College of Industrial Arts for which they received state permanent and state first grade certificates from the state department of education.

The new, modern gymnasium building will be completed and equipped at a cost of $175,000 and ready for use at the opening of the next session of the college.

The new auditorium and music hall has been located on the campus by the board of regents, just south of the household arts building and work has started on it. This building is to be completed by March 1, 1922. The seating capacity of the auditorium is to be 2,500 and, according to announcement made at the college, will be, perhaps, the most attractive building on the campus.

Speaking of the attendance at the College of Industrial Arts for next session, President Bralley said: "We are expecting a large attendance and have made all necessary arrangements to care for all who come."

AIRPLANES BEING USED TO RELIEVE DISTRESS IN PARTS OF SOUTH WALES

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 5.—(By Mail)—Airplanes are being used to maintain communication and relieve distress in the western part of New South Wales, where hundreds of square miles have been under flood waters. The great rivers of the west spread far beyond their banks and many towns were isolated.

Informer years casual communication was attempted between towns by boat, but in outlying ranches there was frequently hardship and loss of life. The airplane has changed that. Owing to the flat and open country, it is able to land wherever the ground is not covered with water and mails are being carried regularly to towns and homesteads.

Recently thousands of sheep were saved by an aviator from starving. They were cut off on a ridge several miles from Mingindil, and their owner reported he was unable to get feed to them. An airplane was despatched with a large amount of maize on succeeding days, keeping the sheep alive until the water subsided.

NEW SOUTH WALES SCENE OF DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 2.—(By Mail)—The northwest part of the state of New South Wales and the southern part of Queensland have again been inundated by torrential rains over the watershed of the Darling river. Its tributaries in northern New South Wales overflowed their banks in a single night, and it is believed that the floods will extend from Bogavilla to Bourke, 200 miles across the flat country. This is a rich grazing region.

The recent big floods had begun to subside when the fresh downpour took place over the whole region between Sydney and Brisbane. Hundreds of persons fled to highlands, but on the Richmond river alone six persons lost their lives, and damage to farms along the Tweed river reached $500,000.

The town of Lismore, center of the important dairying district of the Richmond river and Murwillumbah, principal town of the banana growing country along the Tweed river, were inundated by water many shallow towns on these rivers, and on the Clarence river further south.

"Wouldn't Spank My Baby," Local Mother Insists

"I wouldn't spank my baby; not for anything! I don't care what folks say about the necessity of disagreeable consequences to make it learn how to behave!"

The Times w. p. editor was very nearly precipitated into a large section of the old "corporal punishment" discussion Monday morning when she asked one of the sprinkling of local mothers present at the inter-county institute what they thought of Dr. Nutt's talk on discipline. The talk was essentially broad and kind, but the first mother approached in the opinion census matter hadn't taken to it.

The reminder that spanking the baby hadn't been specially mentioned didn't pour any oil on the troubled water. The little young mother was polite, but firm. Dr. Nutt had said that during the first period of training the child must be dealt with as grownups were dealt with during the "three-shaft" period of history, and that "proper inhibitions for future conduct are developed from the disagreeable experience that results from the spontaneous following of an impulse." It meant, as clear as anything, that if her pink and white 2-year-old bundle of loving innocence should pull the dressing table cover off by way of following the active partner in the contrary-wise pair of impulses, and the floor should be littered with the toilet accessories, that a disagreeable experience should follow for chubbily, instead of a loving remonstrance. And the "disagreeable experience" meant a spank—also as clear as anything. Some people felt that way about it.

"But I'm not raising my baby that way," she declared stoutly. "I wouldn't spank her for anything in the world, and her dad knows that if he did he'd have to spank me, too!"

Pew Mothers Present.
The Local Parent-Teacher association was represented by a sprinkling of mothers Monday and Tuesday, all of whom seemed to appreciate the talk highly. Dr. Nutt's talk on discipline and conduct training Monday morning was probably of more interest to them than some of the others, as it could be applied to home as well as school methods.

BIG CROWD OF YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY BELLEVUE PARK PICNIC

Half a hundred young people of the First Methodist Epworth league enjoyed a Labor Day picnic at Bellevue park Monday afternoon and evening. In spite of the hot weather something near the 100 mark—the groups began gathering about 4 o'clock at the park for the ball game between Bob McCulloch's "Wildcats" and I. E. McWhirter's "Dodgers." The Dodgers won, 12 to 11, in a five-inning round, and departed immediately for the Seventy-Seven club for the second session of the picnic—the eats. It was decided, however, not to stay at the club, but to serve the luncheon in the church basement, where a very much famished bunch was served a bountiful spread a short time later.

Members of the Senior league were very much surprised and regretful to learn that Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McWhirter, two very popular members of the league, are leaving this week to make their home in Dallas.

Those present at the picnic included: Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patrick, Mrs. G. W. Jones, and Mrs. T. A. Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. McWhirter, Misses Lora, Belle Hamberger, Onnie Taylor, Ida Baggett, Scott, Koenig, Nellie Ivey, Elizabeth Peyton, Mary L. ### LATEST STYLE

Summer's vogue for the lace gown has permeated itself into the domain of the Fall blouse, and a happy chance it affords for an economical costume for formal afternoon or informal evening wear. One of the very nicest looking models shown this week is illustrated today. (1) Here black Chantilly lace is posed over a cascade of royal blue crepe-back satin, and the same color is carried into the slender

Fibrous girdle. This may be worn with a separate skirt, either in black or in a color to match the under bodice.

A younger looking blouse also of black lace, was cut with arched across neckline and very short sleeves, slashed from the shoulder to the edge. The under bodice was of chiffon in a peach-like shade of pink.

That changeable taffetas are to be modish this season for wear with the tailored suit, is indicated in the other blouse illustrated. (2) The scallop finish of collar and cuffs is a smart detail.

PATTERN NO. 251
Patterns for the above models (No. 251, 1 and 2) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36 or 38, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th street, New York City, your name, address and 25 cents apiece in stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time.—The Editor.

MRS. BUCHANAN HOSTESS AT PRETTY PARTY FOR VISITOR

Mrs. L. R. Buchanan was hostess at a pretty party Saturday afternoon in compliment to her niece, Miss Ruth Chandler of Weatherford. The guests were invited to meet Mrs. Buchanan and Miss Chandler at the Strand, where they saw Ralph Connor's "The Pilot." After the show they were taken to the Buchanan home on Polk street, and an attractive "floral love story" entered into. Miss Hallie Adams proved the best versed in the language of love, and was presented a pretty fruit basket. Miss Adele Marter was consoled with a miniature cupid, to better instruct her along his particular line.

Late in the afternoon fruit punch and ices were served to the following: Misses Chandler, Madeline Thomas, Ethel Owen, Marlon Maer, Lula Wood, Ruby Avis, Adele Marcus, Mary Spert Clark, Guida West of Sherman, house guest of Mrs. J. W. Ferguson, Margaret Duncan, Virginia Parks, Hallie Adams, Margaret Miller, Ruth Nolan, Cecelia and Sadie Adickes, and Frances Dickson and Mrs. Joe D. Harrison.

BY WAY OF THE TRANSOM

Sunday night's sunset was an outstanding spectacle among the miracles of such magnificence for which this part of the country is rightly famed. But it wasn't like any other sunset the writer has ever seen. Instead of a gorgeous brilliance of flame and rose and gold it was a shimmering loveliness of silver.

To be exact, it was a masterful reproduction of moonlight on a little silver lake, with several quiet little houses scattered over the landscape, shadowy, but unmistakable trees, little bits of brushy undergrowth sharply defined by the silver light, and a bit of an old log thrust up in the water out from the edge. There were even sketchy little weeds on the edge of the lake that might have been cattails. Evidently a lot of people noticed the unusual beauty of the spectacle. "Did you see the sunset yesterday?" we heard one person ask another on the street. "Yes, it certainly was beautiful, wasn't it? Such pretty colors." "It was a moonlight scene," the first one went on, "with a lake in it, and houses and trees. Didn't you see it?" It really had been remarkable. "No-o-o, I didn't notice. It was just sunset."

Just sunset! When it was moonlight on a silver lake, with houses and trees and beautiful shadowy stillnesses down against a lapping lake-edge! Just sunset—when no master who ever lived has ever painted a moonlight scene in all its realism as accurate and lovely and true as the moonlight scene in Sunday's sunset.

And the queer part of it isn't that we don't see it; that we refuse to accept what we see. If we know a thing in one character, we refuse to accept it in another, regardless of the beauty we may miss or the knowledge we may lose. We were just that way 2,000 years ago.

"Isn't this the son of Joseph, the carpenter?" they said. "Isn't this Jesus of little old miserable Nazareth?"

NAME C. T. LYNCH AS MOTOR COP ON IOWA PARK ROAD

County commissioners Tuesday appointed C. T. Lynch, now a member of the sheriff's department, as motorcycle officer No. 2 on the Iowa Park road. Several weeks ago the court appointed D. Reeves, and although he has been patrolling the road constantly, it was found that one man could not handle the situation.

The county now has four special motorcycle officers on the paved roads in the county and not a day has passed but that one or more automobile drivers are arrested for speeding. The court also raised the monthly allowance to Mrs. E. A. Ashley, who was permanently injured over a year ago when the bridge across Beaver creek collapsed while she was crossing it. The first allowance was $50 per month, but this was raised to $100 per month.

DISTRICT MANAGER ASKS FOR TIME TO RECOMMEND AGENT

John P. Edmonds, district manager of the A. and M. college, who intended to appear before the commissioners' court Tuesday and recommend a man as county agent for this county, in a letter asked that the court grant him longer time to find a man whom he considered capable of handling the work here.

He stated in the letter that he would try his best to appear before the court next week, and that he believed by that time he would be able to recommend a man who would be thoroughly qualified in every respect to handle the situation.

J. L. McMahon, general superintendent of the Texas company, and family have returned from a month's visit to Colorado Springs.

$50 AND 60 DAYS IS FIRST VERDICT IN COUNTY COURT

Fifty dollars and sixty days in the county jail was the penalty included in the first verdict returned by the jury in a case in the county court at law Tuesday morning.

Steve Sargent, negro, pleaded not guilty to the charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and asked for a trial by jury. The case was concluded just before the noon recess and after a ten-minute deliberation, the jury returned a verdict of guilty and assessed the punishment as stated.

Sargent was accused of accepting the property alleged to have been stolen by Ed Tendler, another negro, knowing it to be stolen. Tendler made a confession and pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $25 and sent to the county jail for 30 days. His plea of guilty was accepted last week.

M. J. Delaney of Dallas and C. A. Conley of Ranger are the guests of R. J. Delaney at 1711 Tenth street for the week.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Becker and daughter, Ruth Harriett, returned home today after spending a few weeks in Estes Park, Colo.

The Fountain of Youth

The Vacuum Process is a figurative "Fountain of Youth," for coffee packed by this method retains its original freshness and flavor for an indefinite period. There is nothing magic about the method. On the contrary it is quite simple.

Coffee becomes stale on account of the oxygen in the air oxidizing the essential elements that give coffee its delicious flavor. Under the Vacuum Process the coffee is packed in air-tight cans from which the air is withdrawn—preventing all deterioration. Hills Bros. use this method as it insures the purchaser of receiving the fine, rare coffee of which "Red Can" is composed, in as perfect and fresh condition as when leaving the roaster.

MORE MEXICAN OIL.

The complete amicable adjustment of the points of contention between the Oregon government and the American oil producers passages continued heavy importations of crude from Mexico, which in turn will postpone the day of relief for domestic producers.

No other outcome of the conference was possible. It is seldom that five men representing fully two billion dollars of capital journey several thousand miles without previous assurance that their difficulties will stand a mighty good chance of settlement.

As before stated, the adjustment of the difficulties brought about by the Oregon production tax, which went into effect just last, means the postponement of the day when our domestic producers will come into their own.

In July of this year, when importations from Mexico had been greatly decreased, there were six million barrels of oil placed in storage in this country. This was the smallest amount going into our reserve supply on top of the ground for any month in this year.

The new oil campaign which began nearly three years ago reached its high point in drilling activities in July, 1920; the peak of production in the United States came with the week of June 11, 1921, nearly one year afterward.

The senatorial redistricting bill, so far as redistricting itself is concerned, is generally satisfactory, but the clause which delays its becoming effective until 1924 is an unjust postponement of a constitutional right to the people of west Texas.

But as it is improbable that there will be another session of the legislature that would permit a correction of this injustice. The selfish senators responsible for this delay have fixed it so that even a veto by the governor would not shake them from their hold upon their jobs.

The fight to have an import tax placed upon Mexican crude importations is scarcely likely to be successful. The administration has shown no inclination to date to arrange for such tax.

tuning of the representatives of the independent producers and provided for an import duty on Mexican crude. President Harding saw fit to write to Chairman Fordney requesting that no such clause be included in the tariff bill unless it carried the provision of its being rendered null and void in case reciprocal treaties should be made with foreign countries.

There is no absolute formula for success. The thing that will make one man rich might fall another man. Henry Ford used a bicycle-repair shop as the starting place of his great industry. Others, who had bicycle-repair shops, never got out of them.

Study yourself. Analyze. Find that power. What can you do best? What do you like to do best? What are you best fitted for? Therein is your fortune.

Our independent producers rode the crest of a tidal wave for nearly three years, but they are having to swim against the current now. The ebb and flow of the tide has brought them great prosperity and the pinch of hard times. Another and greater tidal wave is headed in their direction.

There is a saying that it is a great life if you don't weaken. But that is not true because it's a great life even if you do weaken, and the best things are always in the future. Right now this is true in its fullest significance for the independent oil producers.

Governor Neff has filed the senatorial and representative redistricting bills without his signature. This means that these measures will become effective in due course.

It is claimed that there are some inequalities in the representative redistricting bill, and this is doubtless the reason for the governor's failure to sign this bill. So far as Wichita county and west Texas are concerned, the bill treats us kindly.

But as it is improbable that there will be another session of the legislature that would permit a correction of this injustice. The selfish senators responsible for this delay have fixed it so that even a veto by the governor would not shake them from their hold upon their jobs.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN. With his mustache shaved off, is on his way to his old home town, London, England, after an absence of nine years.

He will, doubtless, visit the music halls where his father and mother in years long past were poorly-paid performers. In particular, he will seek out the tiny theater where Charlie, aged four, made his first stage appearance, singing the coxter ballad, "Jack Jones."

That's a big gap. Genius couldn't bridge it alone. For even a genius finds it a job to get out of the poor-house level.

o's at $1 a day. "Jimmy" was so pleasant, so obliging, so eager to help everyone, that tips flowed in fast. Then Delmonico's rich customers began giving Jimmy real tips—tips on the stock market, on sound investments.

At his death, the former doorman was a millionaire. There is no absolute formula for success. The thing that will make one man rich might fall another man.

Study yourself. Analyze. Find that power. What can you do best? What do you like to do best? What are you best fitted for? Therein is your fortune.

LARGE ATTENDANCE FOR INTER-COUNTY TEACHERS MEETING

SUPERINTENDENT CLARK PRESIDES AT OPENING SESSION.

DOCTOR NUTT DELIVERS THE PRINCIPAL ADDRESS

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Will Speak Tuesday Evening.

With every available seat in the First Christian auditorium occupied when the general meeting of the inter-county teachers' institute was called to order at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, the institute opened for another most interesting and successful day's work.

The supervisors' section opened at 8 o'clock, with Dr. H. W. Nutt in charge, and the feature address of the general meeting was made by Dr. Nutt on the subject of the teacher's relationship with the school and community.

Superintendent Clark presided over the session, and Rev. O. L. Powers of the First Baptist church made a short talk following the opening prayer. It was expected that an informal talk would be made by Miss Blanton during the morning, but Miss Blanton was unable to get to the institute before noon, so the program as arranged continued, with the section meeting following Dr. Nutt's talk and a talk by C. F. Walker of Hays, Kan. just before noon. The convention place was removed to the Christian church on account of the heat at the high school.

The formal and informal talks by Dr. Nutt are the outstanding features of the institute. The educator is a man of splendid training and, what is even more appreciated in this day, unusually broad human sympathy. His working theories are tempered by a very fine philosophy of soundness and understanding, which is reflected in all of his teachings at the institute.

One of the best points of his general talk Tuesday morning was that the most desirable originality is that which imitates the finest and most perfect work without a feeling of degradation. His practical illustration was that of the teacher who carries out to the best of his or her ability the program mapped out by the leader of the school, leading all possible personality and power to the effect instead of fretting over the necessity of being a follower rather than a leader. "It is not always the new thing that is original," he stated. "The real psychology of originality is to be able to make a masterpiece honestly our own."

Dr. Nutt spoke at some length on the relation of the teacher to the school principal and superintendent, and to the other teachers. He spoke of the "secretable existence of professional jealousy, more marked in the teaching profession than most others because of the circumstances of the institution, and of the lack of team work and cooperation between many groups of teachers. Later he discussed the teacher's relation to the child in school, and methods by which that relationship might be improved from the heart out. Sincerity of feeling was the keynote of this part of the talk, and many good points were made. "It is the teacher's work to take that which is unlovely and make it lovely; to take that which is undesirable and make it desirable; to take that which is disagreeable and make it agreeable," he said, later adding, "You can't live for them unless you live with them."

Dr. Nutt referred a number of times to his experience as a teacher of a rural school, and of the splendid results which such training gives the teacher. He concluded his talk with the teacher's relation to himself, and in naming several of the things often mentioned as characteristic of those in the profession, declared that every teacher should "go home and look at himself in the mirror each day, and see what kind of a teacher he was becoming—and how becoming it was to him!"

It was expected that Miss Blanton would make an informal talk to the institute in the afternoon. During both morning and afternoon various teachers were in charge of the section meetings and conducted periods of the institute. Some of these sessions were among the most interesting of the convention. Miss Blanton's talk for the evening was expected to be one of the attractive features of the five-day session. It is to be given in the First Christian church, beginning at 8 o'clock.

MISS BLANTON THE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT UNIVERSITY CLUB

Miss Anna Webb Blanton, superintendent of public instruction of Texas, gave a brief address on the need of higher education in the state before members of the University club at the weekly meeting in the Kemp Hotel Tuesday. Miss Blanton told the needs of competent legislators at Austin, who understand the conditions throughout the state, and pointed out especially the poor wages that are paid instructors as compared with those paid others in different walks of life.

Strange What a Difference a Few Years Make

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Old man football, the hardy veteran whose adventuring for the public comes in the cool, crisp days of autumn, crowded into the scene of summer sports today and the dull tedium of his training stunts caused baseball, tennis and yachting fans to turn for a moment from thoughts of national championships and world series.

SPORTS STORIES by Paul W. Barkin

We're back and glad of it. There was no pleasure in a trip of that sort. Guess we jinxed 'em. Somebody did and we'll accept the blame.

The boys sure looked pitiful in Dallas, but they were simply unfortunate in Fort Worth.

The trip settled one thing in our minds for all time, however. Fans who are listening to returns or watching scoreboards are misled and do not know just what is taking place on the ball field.

Another play which wasn't recorded by the operator yesterday was one that Empire Baseball missed at first base on a Marine player.

No, all the fans get here is the fact that so-and-so singled or made an error or was put out.

Upon arriving in Wichita, Falls today we learned that Salm is being severely criticized for the loss of the seven games.

There were many Wichita fans who took in the Fort Worth series and are still in Dallas and if any of them are consulted on the matter we believe that these "razzers" will find that the blame is not being placed right.

There was only one move made by Salm that we didn't like, yet he did it for the best.

Yet while almost everybody's "dohber" is down now, the Spudders are not out of it by any means.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 6.—Mike Collins, manager of Mike Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight boxer, announced today that he had received a telegram from Tex Rickard.

Collins said he had not yet answered the telegram, but probably would notify Rickard that the St. Paul boxer would accept whatever terms the promoter suggested.

LOCAL SHRINERS ARE HOME FROM VERNON

Delighted With Program and Splendid Hospitality Extended Monday.

After a day full of eating and fun as the guests of Vernon nobles, Masked Temple Shriners arrived in Wichita Monday on their special train at midnight. The trip was a continuous round of fun from the time the special train left Wichita Falls for Vernon at 8:30 Monday morning until its arrival on the return trip at midnight.

Stops were made at Iowa Park and Electric on the way up, and at each place parades were staged and concerts given by the band.

The train was met by a multitude at Vernon, where the wide paved streets afforded splendid advantages for the parade there-following which the visitors were carried in automobiles to the Vernon Country club grounds.

Major Harry Mason and Art E. Kilgough delivered welcoming addresses to which response was made by Mayor Cline of Wichita Falls.

Delegations of Shriners were present from many northwest Texas cities, and the gathering was one of great enjoyment.

Monday night a man returned home and found that his water supply had been turned off, but that all his neighbors had all the water they wanted. He went to investigate and found that someone had turned it off from the main.

He blamed a neighbor of his and consequently went over to tell him it was not a neighborly act and proceeded to further show that he didn't believe it by striking the said neighbor.

Tuesday morning he paid a $10 fine in police court with instructions to make more thorough investigations before placing an accusation.

SPECIAL MUSIC IS FEATURE OF REVIVAL

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

The Ireland revival opened at the First M. E. church, Seventh and Lamar, Sunday morning with a large congregation in attendance and a forceful sermon by Rev. Ireland on personal service and sacrifice. He took his text from Romans 12:1, his subject being "Present Yourself as a Living Sacrifice," and dwelt upon the many mercies of God in our every day lives for which we should be thankful, but rarely ever take time to count. His message was filled with commonplace examples from every day life, showing the greatness of God's mercies and lack of appreciation for them by us.

Sunday evening the evangelist took his text from John 3:2, his subject being "Sir, what must I do to be saved?" He stressed the fact we must each rely upon our own deeds, works, acts and faith, and not upon our relatives or neighbors' good qualities, to be saved. The sermon was a call to personal service and work in God's kingdom and brought home to his hearers the fact that it is the new birth into God's kingdom, and not education, philanthropic money raising, and other pious and fanciful, that is able to save the soul.

The meeting Monday evening was interrupted by the rain and windstorm through a fair sized crowd was present to hear the evangelist's message which was taken from Isaiah 42:16, the subject being "Prepare ye the way of the Lord." The sermon was an exhortation to a more prayerful life on the part of church people everywhere, stressing the fact that all great revivals of the past, including the revival at Pentecost, were the results of prayer, and that the only way a real revival can come to this city is by devout and sincere prayer. The preacher asserted that had lives, an unforgiving spirit, careless and prayerless lives on the part of church people, and a lack of human co-operation would not prepare the way of the Lord and that God sometimes failed to save a community because of these very things.

He called the attention of his hearers to the fact that the people needed to get into touch a tune with God through prayer, that there are too many drones in the church, that fine buildings, better education and the many activities of the present day church, without prayer, will not save sinners, that the business of the church is to set up holy standards of living, that having your name on the church records, partaking of communion, and going through the forms of worship cannot save, that we should make God's house a house of prayer, and should have the spirit of David, who said, "I will not let thee go till thou bless me."

The special music for the three weeks' meeting is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Ireland, with Professor Krumpeln at the pipe organ, Mrs. Marshall at the piano, and instrumental music by Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Ireland, all experts in their line, and in to be one of the outstanding features of the meeting, since Rev. Ireland is a great believer in music in revival work. Solo and duet work also feature the meetings, which are to be held each evening at 7:45. Everyone is invited to come and take part in the meetings.

Monday night a man returned home and found that his water supply had been turned off, but that all his neighbors had all the water they wanted. He went to investigate and found that someone had turned it off from the main.

He blamed a neighbor of his and consequently went over to tell him it was not a neighborly act and proceeded to further show that he didn't believe it by striking the said neighbor.

MERRY GO ROUND ONLY MAKES NOISE

Running in Circles Gets One Nowhere, Theme Discussed at Safety Meeting.

A merry-go-round makes a lot of noise but gets nowhere. This was a theme discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Safety First committee of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway held Tuesday morning in a passenger coach in front of the union depot.

J. M. Walsh, superintendent of safety, presided, assisted by D. C. Dobbins, trainmaster. It was brought out that the meetings now being held every month to promote safety was of no benefit if nothing more was done than just to speak about things.

It was emphasized that the rule of blowing whistles on engines beginning 600 feet from a public crossing should be followed out to the letter.

Every member of the committee which is made up of representatives from all the departments made a report of things he noticed during the past month that he considered were unsafe.

Dangerous crossings, unsafe places in main tracks and switches, foreign obstacles lying between switch tracks, switchmen placing themselves in unnecessary danger, switchmen riding on pilots of engines and waste of fuel oil which created fire hazard were a few of the things reported to the committee to be reported to the proper authorities.

The meeting was well attended and much interest was shown by all.
