By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and the Wichita Daily Times.
(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Of all the discussion at the coming Washington arms conference which is commencing under the phrase, "Far Eastern problems," 90 per cent has to do with China. For practical purposes persons attending the conference are to be divided into two groups, those who stand for the "open door" policy and those who stand for the "spheres of influence" and "concessions" policy. The "open door" policy is the one which the United States has always favored. It is the one which the United States has always favored. It is the one which the United States has always favored.

WANNAMAKER'S OPTIMISM.

John Wannamaker, the great merchant, has issued an optimistic statement on the prospects of business revival in which he declares that instead of retrenching the Wannamaker stores are expanding. It will be remembered that the Wannamaker stores started the movement for lower prices more than a year ago. They started a movement that has brought a big reduction in the cost of living to everybody. Let us hope that their action now is not less prophetic of a revival in business. Discussing the business outlook Mr. Wannamaker said:

"I have more faith in America today and more expectation of the future than any time in my sixty years in business life. In our store we are expanding rather than retrenching. I am asked: Why are you putting fine goods to the fore, such as jewelry and silver from the Orient, when business is slow? My reply is: 'I have faith in America.'"

"There will be plenty of work for all if we show our faith. It is a mistake to holt back, to relax, to wear blue glasses, to hold money in our pockets; rather we should make needed improvements, build and rebuild, buy and sell, setting to work with money, energy and brains, every thing we have to make the country busy and prosperous. Instead of curtailing advertising, our stores are enlarging it. Instead of standing pat, we are making improvements, which gives work to many mechanics, both day and night. We mean to be ready for the good times just ahead."

FORT WORTH NEW HOTEL.

A number of Wichitans have been invited to attend the housewarming of the new Texas hotel at Fort Worth Saturday. All Wichita falls will join in congratulating Fort Worth on the completion of this splendid new hotel, probably the largest and finest in the south. It was built, like so many of Fort Worth's magnificent enterprises, through community effort. A list of those who have subscribed stock to make the two million dollar hotel possible covers nearly an entire newspaper page. It is another example of that spirit of enterprise and unity which has built a great city at the gateway of West Texas.

Current Comment

DEBATING THE TREATY.

Senator Lodge did not shine in opening the discussion on Saturday of the new treaty with Germany. He went wearily about a task laid upon him as leader of the republican majority in the senate. As such it was expected of him to praise the administration and defend the treaty for the space of two hours, and he did his duty manfully but dispiritedly. He urged speedy ratification, gravely arguing that this would hasten the recovery of business, though he and every senator must have known it to be utter nonsense. Then Mr. Lodge walked delicately around the question of working together with other nations in carrying out the Versailles treaty and dealing with the sequelae of the war. He asked plaintively why we should suddenly dread that kind of international undertaking when in other years we had found it both innocent and useful. Thus does the Massachusetts senator seek shamefacedly to try to undo a part of the mischief he did in 1919 and 1920 by spreading abroad the notion that association with European countries was to be avoided like the plague.

In a brief and merely introductory speech by Senator Borah the nature of the new treaty was clearly set forth. It has no real life and effect except in and through the treaty of Versailles. It contains no contract with Germany save as it may be executed by the consent and co-operation of the allies. That this is both the law and the fact in regard to the new treaty has been tacitly admitted by the state department in its announcement of intention to negotiate treaties with England and France and the other allied nations, in which they shall assent to our separate interpretation of our rights and privileges under the Versailles treaty.

The senate debate will be of value if it sinks these fundamental truths into the minds of the people. There has been a good deal of false representation of the new treaty as cutting loose entirely from the treaty of Versailles. Senator Borah will see to it that this matter is set right. The democratic senators, more public-spirited and less meanly partisan than the republican senators last year, do not threaten captious opposition to the treaty. They merely wish to discuss it until it is clearly understood of all. This is not only their right but their duty.

MEETING CIVIL SERVICE REQUIREMENTS.

(Denton Record Chronicle.)
The republican administration is ostensibly—one might say, ostentatiously—carrying out the civil service requirements in the matter of postoffice appointments, but if a recent instance as reported by the Cleburne Review is a fair sample of its adherence to civil service methods, it is a travesty. Examinations are still being called for and being held, but there is such wide discretion, the Review charges, given the examiners that there is nothing left to hinder the man with the political pull landing the job, even though he may be the least well-fitted of all the applicants for the place. The Review cites the instance at a Texas postoffice where three candidates entered the examination. Two of them were former service men and entitled to "military preference," under the civil service law. The third had no "military preference," but he was "right" politically. The two ex-service men were rated one and two in the examination; the "in right" candidate was rated three. But the postoffice department announced that the list of eligibles must be submitted to another man, quite unconnected with the civil service so far as reports show. To make it short, the third-best applicant as shown by his examination, the man without "military preference," but with the right complexion politically landed the job. The Review doesn't understand why the administration should continue such a "clumsy subterfuge," when it is befooling nobody unless it is those who are responsible for it.

YOU AND I

Are Not in Danger of Disease if We Guard General Health Our Defense Against Cholera.

Tuberculosis death rates high. But you wonder why it does not swiftly exterminate all humans, when you learn that nearly every one at some time or other becomes infected with the tubercle germ. That information comes from the medical research organization of the Knights of Columbus. The reason most of us shake off the tubercle germ is because the average body normally has the power to kill invading diseases. The great danger to health is not disease germs, but in allowing the body's general health to grow weak and let its defensive powers. Are you keeping your body healthy by fresh air, exercise and proper food? If so, don't worry about germs. If not, select your doctor.

INDUSTRY.
France fears that Germany may have a financial crash next spring. That would wreck the industry program. Rathenau, German business agent, wants to avert the crash by stopping payment of reparations in gold and delivering, instead, actual goods. Germany cannot manufacture gold, but she can manufacture enough machinery and goods to meet her payments. But such a flood of commodities would hurt manufacturing in allied countries. A war is a loss, no matter who wins.

DISCOVERY.

A New Orleans professor announces that he has discovered how to make camphor out of turpentine, which would free us of Japanese camphor from Formosa.

This is an important discovery. It has been "made" at least 20 times in as many years.

What becomes of all the wonders that are never heard of after the first announcement?

SEALS.

The extending use to which airplanes are being applied, have considerable of the romantic. Up near Newfoundland, airmen are tracking down seals for the fur hunters. Killing seals with a club is easy. But first find your seals. Airmen can find them in a few hours. Same work in water boats often takes weeks.

The air ship in commerce is romantic, because it is novel, unusual. Soon it will become commonplace.

CAVE MAN TACTICS OBJECTIONABLE, IS WOMAN'S COMPLAINT

Alleged tactics employed by her husband, which bore resemblance to the methods resorted to by the cave man in the stone ages, were of such a nature, a woman relates in her petition for a divorce decree, that it made living with him impossible.

Bertha Tucker asks for a writ of separation from her husband, Will Tucker, whom she says she married on July 5, 1921, and from whom she separated on September 5, 1921.

On the date she left his house and heard she contends the defendant struck her and beat her about the face and head and then concluded by whipping her severely with a rope or a strap, not knowing which it was.

"WHY JONES LEFT HOME" TO BE DR. KNICKERBOCKER'S SUBJECT SUNDAY NIGHT

"I am not a betting man," said Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker to a Times reporter, "but I would lay a wager of two to one that we will need the sign, 'Standing Room Only,' at my church next Sunday night. We have such a wonderful program arranged that I can hardly wait for it to come myself. I am even tremendously interested in my own sermon, which will be on the novel and interesting subject, 'Why Jones Left Home.' The other features of the program are worth a dollar of anybody's money to see and to hear. They are as follows:

"a. Sermon on the subject, 'Why Jones Left Home.'

"b. Heart stirring violin solo by Jarrell Goss.

"c. Thrilling spectacle of an illustrated cross, musical accompaniment.

"d. Echo singing by soloists, quartet, etc.

"e. Great chorus singing by Mrs. E. C. Huckabee's choir of 40.

"f. Jubilee songs by a splendid chorus of negro melody makers.

"g. At the 11:00 o'clock service we are going to have a great rally of the membership featured by the registration of all members present. The members that are absent, without excuse will get a black mark like truants children at school. The subject of my sermon will be, 'The Remarkable Remark of Roger W. Batsman.' We should point with pride to the fact that most of the church people are prosperous and most of the poor people are outside of the church.' Don't criticize this subject till you hear the sermon."

THE FORCES OF SELFISHNESS

By RICHARD LLOYD JONES

Not long before England's greatest editor, William T. Stead, set sail on the ill-fated Titanic he was asked the question "What will be the great war of the twentieth century?" To which he promptly replied: "The war against poverty."

Kings will not direct this war, nor will organized military forces champion its cause. It will come through the individual's protest against the oppression of organized power; it will come through the righteous resentment of sensible selfishness.

When the individual shall assert himself, misery and degradation will cease to be. Poverty is a power with which crowns cannot cope.

The French revolution was a battle between the forces of selfishness and selfishness, and the righteously selfish won.

When men once feel their own power they become masters of their own circumstances. To be free is the commonest of self instincts. The doctrine of the survival of the selfish.

Our captains of industry, actuated by the power of selfishness, become the masters of commerce and therefore the masters of men. The love of liberty defies the rule of the master, for liberty is the sentiment of selfishness. Thus the selfish masters of industry find themselves opposed by an individual selfishness, out of which clash must grow a fairer distribution of the spoils of the world, thus lessening poverty and distress.

Selfishness insists upon rights. But that selfishness which, in the quest of rights, forgets duty soon faces defeat. In the new order of things rights must regulate industry and trade, but duty must perform its work and he who, demanding rights declines to do his duty, defeats his own ends.

Government is but a system of organized selfishness. When it falls into the hands of a few, it becomes oppressive. When it falls into the hands of many, it becomes beneficent. Hence the triumph of democracy.

Patriotism is selfishness glorified. Our forefathers upon many fields of battle employed both the bullet and the bayonet to insure their rights.

But selfishness is already squelching war. Men do not wish to receive injury; therefore, they can not give injury. The ballot takes the place of the bayonet and men are learning that they cannot vote an injury to another without risking an injury in return.

The laws of self protection are the laws of altruism. The rights of men can be granted only through obedience to the Golden Rule. Thus does the selfish insistence of all usher in the dawn of a better day.

MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The cotton market showed continued nervousness early today and business again appeared to be chiefly the result of evening up for over the week-end so far as speculative accounts were concerned. There was some southern hedging which, with scattering liquidation, gave the market an unsettled appearance, but the tone was decidedly on the decline by a continued demand, reports of rain in the belt, and a report from New Orleans placing the condition of the crop at 35, or a little below the average of previous years. The market opened steady at an advance of 1/16 to 1/16 points, but later sold about 15 to 20 points net from 20.8 to 20.7.

The market showed continued nervousness late in the morning with December settling off to 20 1/2 and higher 20 points from the high level of the morning and closing at that figure. The market closed irregular. High 20 1/2, Low 20, Close 20 1/2.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—A local condition report of 35, indicating a yield of 6,100,000 bales, put the price of cotton high at 20 1/2 at the early trading today, but liquidation of sales from the long side gradually filled up the market and the price declined to sag, although the market held up steadily at the decline by much lower temperatures in the northern section of the belt. At the end of the first half of trading the market was trading at 20 1/2 and fell to 20 1/2 and closed at 20 1/2.

Talk of very large ginning returns for the report during the week, caused selling to increase. Some claims were made that the ginning of September 23 would be very heavy as the result of general premature opening of gins and ginning at a high rate. Heaviest pressure of the day was felt around the close and it put prices down to 20 1/2 and closed at 20 1/2.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Wheat was on the down grade at the opening today, showing an early decline of about 1/16. Heavy Canadian movement, increase of stock at Minneapolis and professional liquidation in Chicago combined to make sentiment gloomy. December started 1/16 lower at 1.04 1/2 to 1.10 and May a half cent lower at 1.23 to 1.12 1/2. Selling orders came out at 1.19 for December and 1.24 for May, but their effect was nullified when the market rallied on a report that a member of the Russian relief commission has recommended that the government should not limit the grain to Russia.

Speculators sold and commission houses bought, and the market came down, but when this buying stopped prices sagged to the lowest of the week at 1.14 1/2 for December and 1.17 1/2 for May and 1.22 1/2 for June. Corn started 1/16 to 1/16 lower with December at 48 1/2 and May at 48 1/2. Hedging sales helped to drive down corn prices. The close was near the low point with December at 48 1/2 and May at 48 1/2.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH US, ANYWAY?

By THEODORE H. PRICE.

Editor, Commerce and Finance. I think the unemployment is much exaggerated. The volume of retail sales throughout the country as reported by the federal reserve board is fully up to last year. This could not be the case if the purchasing power of the masses was seriously impaired by unemployment. The savings bank deposit to June 30 as reported by the superintendent of banking for the state of New York shows a very substantial increase, which would not be the case if millions of people were out of work. As I understand it, the report of labor with regard to the unemployment is based upon figures received from the larger industrial establishments, which have fewer than their pay rolls than they had a year ago, but it takes no account of those workers who have left the factories to return to the farms.

T. H. PRICE.

Many of those who are unemployed are idle because during the war they acquired an epicurean taste for work and are unwilling to take the job that they could now obtain if they were truly anxious to be busy. Several New York newspapers who have made an investigation of the subject confirm this view. In so far as there is any real unemployment or shortage of work for those who are willing to work at a fair wage it is due, in my opinion, to the dislocation caused by the unecessarily abrupt deflation which was brought about by high interest rates and the propaganda of pessimism of which the United States was the victim until recently. Sudden Stop. Something is almost sure to be broken when a rapidly moving train is stopped suddenly, but it can be slowed down gradually without injury to the passengers or the equipment. Those who controlled our economic machinery tried to stop it too suddenly and more or less dislocation and injury was the result. The brakes have now been released, the train is moving again and I believe that within a few months, after the injury that has been done is repaired, it will move along with normal speed. Tomorrow—William C. Redfield, former U. S. secretary of commerce.

BAND AND PATROL OF MASKAT WILL STAGE BIG MUSICAL REVUE

The members of the band and patrol of Maskat Temple are today jubilantly declaring that they are going to unfold to the critical eye of the public the best show ever staged in this city, and have engaged MacCormack Productions company, a new Texas organization, to produce their "Oh Joy Musical Revue" with them on October 18 and 19, at the Wichita theater. Plans are rapidly being formed to make this the biggest success in the history of local amateur theatricals. Under the guidance of Chas. Nolan, the general committee are being appointed and selection of suitable talent for the cast will begin immediately. "This production is the embodiment of the greatest idea I ever heard of amateur undertakings," said Joe Ward, manager of the band. "Primarily, because it gets away from the old idea
