"Someone Had to Kill Him" Says Woman Who Declares She Used Axe to Slay Her Husband

"Some one had to kill him. Since I have only a few more years to live, I thought it better for me to do it than anyone else."

Calmly and slowly stroking the threads of grey hair from her forehead as she spoke, Mrs. Mary M. Whitaker, aged 67 years, assigned this as her reason for the killing of her husband, John A. Whitaker, aged 72 years.

Funeral services for Whitaker will be held at the First Methodist church at 4:30 Monday afternoon with Rev. J. D. Pinkston, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

From the time that the homicide was committed until her arrest Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Whitaker had remained in the same house, 1212 Twentieth street, with her 14-month-old granddaughter, sleeping in the room next to the one where her husband lay a corpse.

When Sheriff Fred K. Smith arrived at the house Sunday afternoon, the blood-stained axe was found back of the door of one of the rooms. The body of the headless man, who had been killed, was found in bed fully covered and clothed with the exception of shoes and stockings, which lay at the side of the bed.

Judge R. V. Quinn, who held the inquest on the body, as well as several other officers, express the belief that the homicide was committed prior to the time that Mrs. Whitaker relates it was done.

Several of the neighbors had been to the house Sunday morning and Saturday evening to get a milk can as Mrs. Whitaker kept four cows and 100 chickens and supplied the neighbors with milk and eggs.

Mad Sued for Divorce T. V. Brennan, officers stated, had to go to the house Sunday evening as he inquired for Mr. Whitaker. Mrs. Whitaker told him that she had gone out to his son-in-law's place Sunday morning to get a milk can.

Officers stated that the killing was the culmination of many years domestic trouble. Mrs. Whitaker on Jan. 14, 1921, filed suit for divorce against her husband, alleging cruelty and non-support.

Apparently all troubles were patched up and they returned and lived together until the summer. Neighbors stated, however, that they times since that time the two had quarreled.

Was Witness in Case On Saturday, Jan. 21, both Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker were witnesses in a case in the court of the justice of the peace, J. F. Maxwell. Attorneys in the case who had occasion to examine her in many states.

The son from Marl, Okla., arrived Sunday afternoon at his parents' home. Shortly after the arrival, he was apprised of the tragedy that had occurred.

Following an attack of brain fever, while the wife was in the asylum in 1915, where she remained a patient for six months, the son told officers.

Later the family moved to Weatherford, Texas, where his mother was again committed to a state asylum. This time she remained only three months. The son, in relating the history of his mother and father indicated that his mother had been sent to the asylum in Austin in 1912 without his knowledge and that the proceedings against her had been instituted by Mr. Whitaker, the father.

Seven months ago, Mrs. Whitaker took to the bed. Her 14-month-old daughter of her daughter who died shortly after the birth of the child. The mother of the child, Mrs. Anna May Hurd, was a witness in the divorce case of her parents was tried before Judge Martin.

Besides T. L. Whitaker from Marlow, Okla., Mr. Whitaker is survived by three sons, Lee of Jirfolk, Neb., James C. of Wyoming and John A. of Brownsville, Ore. A sister, Mrs. Emma Hanson of Weatherford, Texas, also survives him.

Under the terms of the resolution, the committee is authorized to inquire into the details and control committee.

Supporting the resolution, Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, said the investigation should be a widespread one of the entire district government.

Senator Frelinghuysen said that he would make out the capias for each of the defendants named in the bills of indictment returned Tuesday afternoon in jail, and for that reason none were made public.

Resolution Proposed. Whereas, it is the imperative duty of the senate of the United States to know all the facts relating to this inexcusable tragedy and also to learn what, if any, truth there is in the repeated assertions that the safety and health of thousands of citizens and residents of the District of Columbia have been jeopardized by the action of careless contractors, builders and building inspectors;

Resolved, that the senate committee on the District of Columbia be and hereby is authorized and directed to make a searching investigation into the Knickerbocker tragedy, including the operations of building contractors and building inspectors, especially in relation to structures erected during and since the world war."

BUILDING NOW THOROUGHLY EXPLORED AND IT IS BELIEVED ANY ADDITIONS WILL COME FROM AMONG THE LIST OF INJURED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—With the search for dead under the wreckage of the Knickerbocker theater suspended today in the belief that all bodies had been recovered, probability that the death toll of 108 would be further augmented centered around a dozen or more persons reported in critical condition at various hospitals.

Assurances that an exhaustive investigation would be made of the disaster, not only with a view to fixing blame, but also to determining whether other theaters and public buildings in Washington are unsafe in event of heavy snow such as that which caused the collapse of the building Saturday night, was given today by leaders in congress as well as officials of the District of Columbia.

An inquiry already has been undertaken by the commissioners of the District of Columbia, while in the senate a resolution calling for an investigation by a senate committee was introduced by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, representative Monday, republican, leader of the house, announced, however, that the house would not undertake to investigate the cause of the disaster until the District of Columbia agencies have concluded an inquiry.

However declared a lesson had been taught at great sacrifice and announced that an effort to work out a standard building code for use in all cities of the country as a means of preventing similar catastrophes was being made by a committee of leading architects in conjunction with the commerce department.

As a result of the heavy loss of life and consequent deep sorrow, social activities in the capital have been practically suspended.

Wild rumors that the walls of the ill-fated theater had collapsed on rescuers, killing many, spread throughout the city today. Additional excitement was caused by reports that roofs of a number of apartment houses and buildings had collapsed.

A number of injured were reported as having only a fighting chance for life, and many, especially those who were injured in the collapse of the theater, were in a state of shock. The coronation, which was the last night of the dead, six other theaters belonging to the corporation would remain closed today and tonight, more indignantly shared by the rest of the city.

HUGHES PROPOSALS HAVE TRIUMPHED AT ARMS CONFERENCE

ADOPTED QUIETLY AND GRADUALLY ALMOST IN THEIR ENTIRETY.

INTEREST OF PUBLIC IN PARLEYS ON WANE

By MARK BULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The present lull in interest in the armament conference is the consequence of the importance of this case of appearing once only in a fortunate, and fails to take account of some things that are about to happen.

For the lessening of interest there are several causes. I have the honor to be a witness of King Learners' mark on the opening day, when the world was thrilled over what Secretary Hughes had done.

There was another well known journalist at the opening session who also had a prophetic foresight. Heywood Brown, sharing the high distinction we all share that day and realizing that success had already been nine tenths won by what Mr. Hughes did, remarked: "The only thing that can now endanger the success of this conference is the cynicism of diplomats and newspaper men."

This whole subject of publicity which has seemed to have the effect of deterring the public has been a subject of very wide word of mouth discussion in Washington. Motive is a thing very difficult to be sure about, but at least it can be said that there has been much searching out of presumed motives.

Trying Pace for Peace. Aids from however much there is in this sort of thing, many newspaper men who are not at all cynical are, nevertheless, very tired. It has been a trying pace. Also newspapermen have seen their stories of the armament conference, after occupying the first page for several weeks, pass back to the third page.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, of 705 North Seventh street, this city.

NO MORE PATIENTS ARE ACCEPTED AT GENERAL HOSPITAL

ALL CASES ARE BEING TRANSFERRED TO THE INSTITUTION AT CALL FIELD.

EXCAVATION WORK BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Whitehill Construction Company Plans to Speed Up Work in Addition Erection.

No more patients are being accepted at the Wichita General Hospital. This order was put into effect Monday morning and all cases from this time until the new addition to the hospital is completed will be handled at the Call Field institution, which is now being actively operated by the city and county.

The superintendent of the hospital announced Monday morning that there are quite a number of cases still confined at the general hospital, but that the majority of these patients would be discharged by the end of the week and those that remain, if found necessary, will be in such condition as to warrant their removal to Call Field.

It is planned to complete the building just as soon as time will permit and a large force of men will be kept on the job at all times.

Mr. Hughes and the conference in general are the bias of some of the writers. Anyone who has reason to be strongly pro-French and anti-British, or vice versa, will be naturally inclined to reflect his bias in his disposition to regard the conference as a failure or a success.

As there is one sure way for the reader to measure for himself the success of the conference, let us recall Mr. Hughes' speech, recall the general opinion of the people of the world, and see how Mr. Hughes' plan was received. Recall how you yourself felt that Saturday night when you tried to imagine that the voice from heaven on that night had said that of all that Mr. Hughes proposed he would have the world would have felt if that had happened in that forceful way.

The truth is, it has happened. The general opinion of the world has gradually and quietly, by piecemeal instead of spectacularly, should not rob us of our appreciation of it.

Incidentally it would be useful if the friendly words of the conference would now revive some of the spirit of that opening day. The completion of this conference ought to be a cause of joy to all whose impressions ought not to be less than that of armistice day.

MAKING THE FINAL PREPARATIONS FOR ELECTION OF POPE

MINUTE INSTRUCTIONS HAVE BEEN GIVEN OUT

Cardinals Will Meet on Thursday To Take the Oath of Secrecy.

By Associated Press. ROME, Jan. 30.—Final preparations were begun today for the convening on Thursday of the solemn conclave at which the cardinals of the Roman Catholic church will choose a pope to succeed Benedict XV. The last minute ceremonial will be preceded by solemn requiem masses, the first of which took place this morning with the cardinals participating.

The beautiful and historic stately chapel in which the conclave will meet has already been fitted with the long stalls in which the cardinals will sit while the balloting proceeds. Minute instructions have been given out for the performance of the ceremonials and the dress and deportment of those participating in them. It has been prescribed that all prelates excepting cardinals will wear black vestments.

All those who will remain within the Vatican when its doors are bolted at the beginning of the election have been summoned to meet in the Sala Regia, adjacent to the sistine chapel, on Thursday to take the oath of secrecy for the duration of the sittings, and the sacred college has appointed a commission to examine the credentials of all the members, attaches and secretaries. This commission is also charged with selecting guards for the conclave and the appointment of barbers, plumbers, plasterers, carpenters, and such other workmen and attendants as may be required before the doors are again opened to the world.

Devices have been installed at the entrance of the door of St. Damasus so that any articles needed may be sent inside, but their operation must be only in the presence of the witnesses. These devices are in the form of cylinders placed vertically. Opening one of the vertical sections an object may be placed within and transferred to those in the court yard by revolving the cylinder until the opening is on the inside.

This method of communication will only be allowed between 9 and 11 a. m. and 5 to 7 p. m. Any communication, whether of words or signs, must be in the presence of the two witnesses. No reference to these communications must be made to members of the conclave, and any violator of the rule of secrecy is subject to excommunication.

The whole section of the sistine chapel included in the conclave has been fitted with a platform on which the stalls for the cardinals are placed. These are covered with richly embroidered tapestry in finely executed designs and with pleasing harmony of color. An altar is placed against the noted mural painting of Michael Angelo, "Last Judgment" and on the altar are six great silver candelsticks. In the center of the altar there is an improvised tomb at which absolution will be given at the three solemn requiem masses.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS MR. CRAMPLEG CRANE

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mr. Crane apologized for his appearance.

Mr. Crampleg Crane made a bow when he saw Nancy and Nick and Buckskin. The visitors bowed and even escape from pillows like your friends, they make a bee-line for our country, the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air. They come because they know that they can still be useful. "Oh, well, then," said Nancy, "I guess we'd better go with you to work, hadn't we Buck?" "Buckskin said yes, so off they all started down the road of this queer country up in the sky where they were to see more magic. It seemed to the little boy and girl that each one of the Fairy Queens King Hundred and Ninety-Nine Kingdoms was there. "I don't know," said Nancy, "but I'm pushing, though, why Mother Goose's feathers go down, while ours come up to the sky?" "Buckskin overheard. "Don't believe everything you hear about Mother Goose," said he. "The books are wrong."

MORE OF "FLU" AND PNEUMONIA CASES IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Influenza and pneumonia cases continued to increase today, probably as result of the storm which covered the streets of the city with eight inches of snow.

Five hundred monkeys have been used by health officials in the last two years in experiments looking to the development of vaccines against influenza and pneumonia.

Dr. William H. Park of the New York health department said today the experiments had been suggested during a meeting of medical authorities of the country in 1919.

We haven't learned anything about the disease, he said, "only that the invisible, unidentified organism which causes it can pass through a stone wall."

The experiments on the monkeys have shown conclusively that if one is vaccinated he cannot contract pneumonia when inoculated with the germ, but that in the absence of vaccination, inoculation proved fatal in a majority of cases.

GUNSLING PASS

by WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

CHAPTER I

It was a land of splintered peaks, of deep, dry gorges, of barren mesas burnt by the sun of a million hot summers. The normal condition of it was warfare. Life here had to protect itself with a tough, callous rind. Only the fit survived.

Around the camp-fire the drivers of the trail herd squatted on their heels or lay sprawled at indolent ease. They were waiting for the flames from the twisted mesquite lit their lean faces, tanned to bronzed health by the heat of an Arizona winter and the sweep of parched winds.

Out of the soft shadows of the summer night a boy moved from the veranda toward the lamp. He was a lean, sandy-haired young fellow, his figure still lank and unfilled. As he sat down on the wagon tongue the straggles of his appearance became noticeable.

A young man waved a hand toward him by way of introduction. "You're the boy from the north," he said. "I got fifty dollars more for you, wherefore, and how come it of Chiquito's superiority to all other equine matter."

"I'd like right well to make love to that Pinto my own self," he said. "You're sure an easy mark, Buck." "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy.

"You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy.

"You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy. "You're not," said the boy.

MONTEVIDEO, URUGUAY, Jan. 30.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer, died Jan. 5, on board the steamship Quest, on which he was making another expedition into the Antarctic regions.

Sir Ernest died on board the Quest which was anchored off South Georgia Island. The previous night he had been slightly indisposed, but no illness was felt for him. His medical needs were attended to by Captain Hussey.

At 2:30 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 5, he began to sink rapidly, and despite all efforts by his attendants, he died within three minutes. The voice of George Doble cut in openly and officiously. "I'll tell you now that bromoform never had a chance to beat Whiskey!"

HOW DO YOUR PREFERENCES CHECK UP?

While publishers do not let what their readers want entirely govern what they print they are largely influenced by the desires of their readers. In the larger cities, of course, publishers can pick the fields or groups of readers to whom they will appeal and govern their papers accordingly. But in the smaller cities this is not possible. The smaller papers must have general support.

The results of a questionnaire recently submitted to one hundred students of Journalism in Columbia University will be of interest to newspaper publishers especially and to the readers of newspapers generally who can check their own preferences with those of this group.

"Four prefer to read scandal, while twenty dislike it; twenty-nine prefer politics and three find such news objectionable; twenty-five like news from foreign lands, while three don't; fourteen are partial to the dramatic section of the newspaper and not one would wish it deleted; sports are read by fourteen students, four would as soon the sports department were omitted; eight delight in criminal news, sixteen deplore its publication; economic news is a favorite by eight to two; finance takes the short end by a four to thirteen vote; social news is read by four and scorned by nine; legal news meets the same fate on a basis of two to thirteen.

"Thirty-six of the students said they chose what to read by what the head lines said; twenty-seven judged the desirability of news by the department in which it appeared.

"Eighteen of the future journalists believed newspapers created public opinion; twenty-one that newspapers followed public opinion; thirteen that the papers both led and followed.

"Eighty-six per cent of the class agreed that newspapers promote public welfare.

"Thirty per cent of the class were 'casual' readers of advertising with clothing and department store ads in the lead."

BRITISH PURPOSES IN EGYPT.

The British government has reaffirmed its purpose to recognize Egypt as a sovereign state as soon as it is satisfied regarding conditions which it regards as vital both to Egypt and to the British empire. One of these is that the communications to which Egypt is essential are assured. Another is that Great Britain have both the right and power to afford protection to foreign communities in Egypt which the governments of such foreigners look to Great Britain to supply. Another is that Egypt is safeguarded against all foreign interference, direct or indirect.

Great Britain could not well ask for less and in doing this she undertakes serious responsibilities. Responsibility is a thing that Great Britain is not shirking in these latter days.

Egypt is only one of Great Britain's many serious problems. In its solution she ought to have the sympathy and support of the American people.

POLITICS AND BANKING.
 New York Times.

No intelligent republican contends that the change made by his party in the Federal Reserve Board is good banking. But many republicans in Washington maintain that it was good politics. They point to the danger of alienating the Middle West. There the republican party obtained its decisive majorities in 1918 and 1920; so, it is said, nothing must be done to offend the sentiment of that region, or to run the risk of a party split which would be fatal in this year's elections. By inducing the president to yield to the bloc, while at the same time giving up his opposition to the bonus, the republican managers think that they have played skillful politics and made their continued control of congress sure.

Sometimes, however, politicians are too clever by half. They take short views. The small immediate advantage seems bigger to them than the large ultimate gain. They often deceive themselves as to what can safely be done by a party. And if there is any one thing peculiarly dangerous for the republican party it is an appearance of playing fast and loose with the finances and the business of the country. It simply cannot afford to give the impression that it is ready for political motives to impair in any degree the independent functioning of the Federal Reserve Bank. That would break down confidence exactly where it is vital to the republicans that they should retain it. How would they fare in the great voting centers if it could be charged against them that a democratic administration had established the Federal Reserve and kept politics out of it, but that a republican administration had let politics in?

In actual fact, there is no mistaking the disquietude and the chill which have been caused by the President's surrender to the bloc. Men are asking anxiously how far this is to go. The "farmer" senators, flushed with victory, have a lot more bills in a class interest which they are going to press. Are these also to be acquiesced in on the ground that they will make votes? And if the republican management is to add $1,000,000,000 or so to the national debt on the score of the soldiers' bonus, what becomes of the appeal for the votes of thinking men and property owners with the argument that the republican party is the only one that can be depended upon to prevent foolish meddling with banks and with the public treasury?

As there is bad banking as well as good, so there is politics which is really bad at the very moment when it is acclaimed as most astute. It is the latter that the republicans in Washington are now exercising. And nothing is more certain than that if they keep on in their present course they will accumulate more troubles than votes.

TODAY'S TALK
 By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WINDOWS.
 I am looking out of a window, high above the street. Hundreds of other windows spot the city buildings as far as I can see.

Behind all these windows human beings sit and work and dream—laugh and weep.

I see moving figures pass in shadow before many of these windows. The drama of life is being enacted. Some of these people are at meals. Some are in conversation. I see a girl at a piano. A mother is rocking her baby in her arms. A man sits at one window smoking his pipe. Two children are at another window looking out. I wonder what they are thinking about?

Never do I pass a building or a home with windows but I wonder what is going on behind them.

Today I rode for hours in a train. I came to the edge of great cities where little homes were crowded like the great cities in a wall—roofs and windows, for miles and miles. And each roof and every window represented all the home in the world to those who lived beneath and behind them.

Windows are for light. And yet how small a light gets into the lives of many of the workers of the world!

I look into people's eyes and I say: What wonderful windows!

My bedroom window faces the East. Great trees tower outside. Branches reach almost to the very sill. Birds come early to sing their morning songs. And sunrises of gorgeous hues greet me at break of day. I lean against the sill and Nature filters my thoughts.

The world is outside of every window!

Yet there isn't a window in the world that God doesn't come up to and look into. He is always interested in knowing how folks are getting on.

As an employer, I wouldn't have an office or a building that didn't have plenty of windows, so that light might come to all who worked therein. No vital life can live in darkness. People only grope in darkness. They climb in the light!

JUST FOLKS —By— Edgar A. Guest

THE IMPORTANT JOB.
 I may fall to be as clever as my neighbor down the street,
 I may fall to be as wealthy as some other men I meet,
 I may never win the glory which a lot of men have had,
 But I've got to be successful as a little fellow's dad!

There are certain dreams I cherish which I'd like to see come true,
 There are things I would accomplish ere my time of life is through,
 But the task my heart is set on is to guide a little lad
 And to make myself successful as that little fellow's dad.

I may never come to glory, I may never gather gold,
 Men may list me with the failures when my business life is told,
 But if he who follows after shall be manly, I'll be glad,
 For I'll know I've been successful as that little fellow's dad.

It's the one job that I dream of, it's the task I think of most,
 If I failed that growing youngster, I'd have nothing else to boast;
 For though wealth and fame I'd gathered, all my future would be sad
 If I'd failed to be successful as that little fellow's dad.

BAR-ROOMS

Some spectators would prefer "Ten Bar-Rooms in a Night." This film will have real historical value a few generations from now. It will be a ghost from the past,uring an awed public, like the relics of former opium dens that make tourists gasp in Chinatown.

The saloon fades into history, to join the "hop joint."

FASHION
 Feminine trousers were worn by 150 women at a forest dance staged by the Boston Chamber of Commerce at North Conway, N. H.

"Knicker," worn by women, have become common in the east, especially for outdoor sports. This is believed to be the first time they have passed approval in the ball-room.

YOU AND I

FARMERS
 Farmers in the corn belt last year received less than 5 cents an hour for their labor and the labor of their wives and children, claims a speaker at the national agricultural conference.

He says farmers are asking "why they have to pay 400 bushels of corn for a wagon they used to buy for 150 bushels?"

"Why must they pay 250 bushels of corn for a gangplow which formerly cost 125 bushels?"

"Why 150 bushels for a suit of clothes which formerly cost 50 bushels, or 23 bushels for shoes that formerly cost nine bushels?"

Corn farmer, hit hardest by depression, has put his thinking cap on. He said this truth:

"The dollar lies, as a common measure of value. What you can buy with your money, not how much you get, is what really counts. The short cut to economic truth is to think in terms of commodities instead of fluctuating dollars."

ROMANCE

He will fly around the top of the world, taking moving pictures from his two airplanes.

Polar exploration used to be the pinnacle of romance. Soon mechanical inventions will finish eliminating the romance and make the trip about as thrilling as going into the cellar.

FEMALE
 In our country, 2,000,547 more males than females, counting every one from babies up.

But figures on people 15 years or older show the males leading by only 17,431,448.

In youth, mortality must be higher among boys than girls.

The surplus of women explains why so many of them have gone into the business world. All women prefer marriage and the home in their subconscious minds.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL
YOUR NOSE
 By DR. R. H. BISHOP

Defective drainage and ventilation of the upper air passages in the nose is one of the factors causing colds.

The normal healthy nasal passages should be large enough to allow free entrance of all the air required by a person in breathing, whether at rest or during exertion. In the latter case, fortunately, the tissues have the power of contracting and thus making the passages larger.

The inner wall of each nasal passage is the septum or partition and is made of bone and cartilage. From the outer wall of each passage project two prominent, bony, curved bodies, the turbinates.

These turbinate bodies are irregular in size and shape. They add a great deal to the surface over which the air passes. In them are partly located the nerves of smell.

The ventilation of free passage of air through the nose and in and out of its cavities may be diminished or destroyed by twists, curvatures, and folding of the septum or by bony or cartilaginous growths projecting into these cavities, or by over-growth of the adenoids or tumors or membranous thickness of some sort.

Such obstructions in nasal ventilation prevent proper evaporation of the mucus. Consequently this accumulates in masses and drops into the throat or is blown out by the person frequently.

These conditions produce all the symptoms of a chronic cold and they invite the onset of more acute ailments from various infections, since germs are apt to grow rapidly in such spaces full of abnormal secretion.

2 LANDLORDS ARE HEARD MONDAY BY RENT COMMITTEE

ONE REFUSES TO MAKE ANY CESSIONS, OTHER MAY MAKE TEMPORARY CUT.

NO RESIDENCE TENANTS RESPOND TO INVITATION

Witness Denies That High Rents Are Material Factor in Local Conditions.

No residence tenants at all appeared before the chamber of commerce rent investigating committee Monday afternoon, in response to the published invitation for them to be present.

Of two downtown landlords who had been before the committee up to 2 p. m., one indicated a willingness to make a temporary reduction, in addition to the recent cut. Provided another opportunity was given, he did not materialize. The other landlord's attitude was absolutely uncompromising. He expressed the opinion that $200 a month was not too high and that it would not be chargeable to high rents if bankruptcy resulted.

The first landlord showed the committee that an effort was made a year ago, to dislodge the present tenant, when an opportunity presented itself to lease the property for 19 years at a monthly rental higher than what is now being paid, though not higher than the original lease, which was for $600 monthly for 15 by 25 feet; the $600 has been reduced to $200, and recently to $100. The landlord indicated a willingness to make some further reduction, as a temporary measure, if conditions do not improve, but that it was intended to try to make the 19-year lease offered a year ago.

The second witness, whose tenant is under a five-year lease, with two and a half years yet to run, at $200 per month for a 59 by 150 two-story building, expressed unwillingness to make any reduction and declared that $200 was not too high. He submitted figures showing that if he reduced the $200 monthly to $100, he would lose 80 percent of the property's value. He declared that the $200 rent was the tenant's offer, two and a half years ago, and that he could probably have rented the property later for $100 to $150 per month. The witness, whose tenant is under a five-year lease, with two and a half years yet to run, at $200 per month for a 59 by 150 two-story building, expressed unwillingness to make any reduction and declared that $200 was not too high. He submitted figures showing that if he reduced the $200 monthly to $100, he would lose 80 percent of the property's value. He declared that the $200 rent was the tenant's offer, two and a half years ago, and that he could probably have rented the property later for $100 to $150 per month.

Asked if he did not think it would be good business to reduce the rent if, by not doing so, he forced his tenant out of business and had the property vacant, the witness said that general business conditions were responsible for the tenant's financial status, not the rent.

The landlord said that if he thought the rent was too high, he would reduce it, but he refused to admit that the $200 charge is out of line. He was unable to say what rental he would be able to get if the property should become vacant shortly. The witness, in reply to a question, said the property was renting for $200 a month prior to the signing of the existing lease in 1918.

TAX COLLECTOR'S OFFICE SWAMPED WITH TAXPAYERS

The office of the county tax collector was swamped the entire day with tax payers who formed lines that stretched from the west end of the long hallway to the south and north cross hallway. Many of those who stood in line stated that they were forced to wait nearly two hours before arriving at the window.

The greater portion of those composing the lines were merely paying poll taxes and but little receipts were had from the payment of property taxes.

Saturday the total number of poll taxes received amounted to 464, being the total number of qualified voters, including 434 exemptions, to $327. At 1:30 p. m. the collector's office was deluged in the afternoon to approximately 9,000.

GASOLINE DEALERS DISCUSS PLAN FOR CITY REGULATION

About 30 local merchants, most of whom handle petroleum products, were present at a meeting Monday morning in which provisions of a proposed ordinance calling for the establishment of a department of weights and measures was discussed. The meeting was held in the chamber of commerce rooms and resulted in a committee headed by J. M. McFall being named to draft a resolution, this to be presented to the city council.

If the council acts favorably on the resolution it will direct that an ordinance creating the weights and measures office and outlining its duties be drafted.

Agitation for weights and measures inspector was started several weeks ago when a leading merchant appeared before the council with the request that such an official be named. Dr. A. H. Douglass, head of the city health department, was directed to prepare tentative plans to adjust the matter in shape for presentation to the council.

Voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against C. E. Burkhardt Monday by Atchafalaya, Morrow & Francis, attorneys at law, following concerns of the following creditors: Rhode Island of Chicago $2,000; Elrich of New York $1,000; Shure of Chicago $1,000.

CITIZENS ASSIST IN ENFORCEMENT OF LIQUOR LAWS

Four citizens of Young county have originated a new phase toward enforcement of the national prohibition law, which came to light in the raids conducted by local officers in Graham and Oil City Saturday and Sunday nights.

These four citizens of Graham, in order that the officers might be qualified with legal search warrants, as is held under the prohibition law, secured the positive evidence of the selling of whiskey and then appeared before the officers with the information.

Officers who are engaged in enforcing the liquor laws stated that this is a great assistance to them as citizens who procure this information on their own initiative without being asked by officers can take the stand in the trial of the case and their testimony is admissible.

The law has been so construed that were officers ask an individual to purchase whiskey the information is not admissible on the trial of the case nor is it legal information upon which a search warrant can be secured.

SEEK PERMANENT ORDER AGAINST OIL OPERATORS

A permanent injunction, restraining Jim Parker, J. H. Kenro and James Overly from pursuing their drilling operations on a tract of land near Powikles station, is sought in a suit on trial Monday before Judge Ed Napier at the district court by the Moma-Marie Trust.

It is alleged that the defendants are beginning to drill a well on an 80 acre tract of land 150 feet from the line which is contrary to an agreement had by the plaintiff with the Magnolia Oil company, who has a well getting the property.

The injunction is made that the contract under which the defendants claim a right and title to the property in which they are drilling is void and that if the defendants are not restrained from further operating that it will cast a cloud over the title of the property which will cause a loss financially. A temporary injunction was granted by the court several weeks ago.

ARGUE MOTION TO HAVE THE PICKFORD DIVORCE SET ASIDE

IN THIS MANNER COMMISSIONERS EXPRESS VIEW OF EXISTING PROBLEM. PRESCOTT, KUNTZ AND HAYNES STAND HITCHED

Final Disposition of Matters is Delayed for Several More Weeks. Voting of more special road bonds in order that the entire road system of Wichita county can be maintained...

Commissioner Jackson hinted that there was a probability of legal action if the Clay county road, from Wichita Falls to the Clay county line, a distance of some three miles, was not paved.

It is the consensus of opinion of all the members of the court that any legal action should be prevented if possible. The three out of town commissioners representing the Iowa Park, Burk Burnett and Electra precincts however state that they still remain unchanged in their decision on the order that now stands recorded on the court's minutes.

Final action on the matter was postponed for several weeks as Commissioner Prescott notified the court that he expected to be gone for two or three weeks. He stated that he would leave the state for that length of time and asked permission to be excused. No action will be taken until his return.

A broken gas hose connection on a home in the Savoy Rooming house, 400 Seventh street, caused a short run for the central station fire department at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning. Flames were shooting from the broken pipe but no damage was done.

Funeral services for Mrs. Asale Campbell will be held in the residence near the brick yard district at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Donley, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

ARGUE MOTION TO HAVE THE PICKFORD DIVORCE SET ASIDE

CARSON CITY, NEV., Jan. 30.—A motion to have the divorce decree of Mary Pickford from Owen E. Moore dissolved as illegal was argued here today before the state supreme court by Attorney General Fowler and Miss Pickford's attorney, Gavan McNab, of San Francisco.

Fowler attacked the divorce, which was granted by Judge Frank P. Langan in the district court at Minden, March 2, 1920, "in the interest of the state of Nevada" and on the ground that Moore and Miss Pickford were guilty of fraud and collusion and that Judge Langan had no jurisdiction since the parties were bona fide residents of Los Angeles.

It is recalled that the courts' judgment was irrevocably final since neither party to the divorce had ever appealed. He disputed the state's contention that it had jurisdiction of the case because of the fact that the parties were bona fide residents of Los Angeles.

AUSTIN, Jan. 30.—Governor Neff issued a requisition today on the governor of California for the extradition of Sam Bates, wanted in Lubbock county, Texas, where he escaped jail after having been convicted of murder. BUSINESS AFFAIRS RECEIVE ATTENTION AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

A business session that brought out several proposed changes in the general scheme of affairs relating to Kiwanis activities was the scheduled Kiwanis luncheon Monday noon when "Ma" Burdick who was to have been the principal speaker for the day, was unable to keep the engagement. Serious illness in her family made it impossible for her to appear.

A new system of collecting dues has been under consideration and will be in effect various committees for the coming year were named, a new plan for the preparation of weekly programs subject to the approval of the Kiwanis club was adopted and other items of importance were discussed.

Mrs. Harold Carpenter and Prof. F. W. Green supplied musical entertainment of the day—supplied it to such an extent that Ben Neal, president of the Kiwanis, was forced to resort to Spanish in order that the club's appreciation be adequately expressed.

W. W. Green won the attendance to Kiwanis award of membership from the D. I. Fritt Motor company and Pat Jarrett supplied entertainment in the form of carefully constructed automatic self-lighting non-shrinkable match boxes. The latter were not passed out, but were reported to be available for all Kiwanis at Pat's place of business.

SMALLPOX APPEARS IN COUNTY, STREET QUARANTINE KEPT

About a score of smallpox cases have been reported in Wichita county during the past ten days, according to county health officials. There are no cases in Wichita Falls, according to Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, a case found near Electra was traced to Burk Burnett, and several Burk Burnett cases were traced to the home side of Red River. The disease appears to be milder than the form which is causing concern in other parts of the state, as all children deaths have been reported as yet.

An unusually strict quarantine is being maintained in all cases found, it is stated.

One ill case camp between Electra and Burk Burnett appears to be the center of the trouble at present, having fourteen cases, all children.

ANOTHER LARGE STILL DESTROYED IN YOUNG COUNTY

LOCAL OFFICERS MAKE SECOND RAID EARLY SUNDAY MORNING.

FOUR MEN AND FOUR WOMEN ARE ARRESTED

Eighteen Alleged Gamblers Also Fug into Net Before The Officers March.

Another large still, having a capacity sufficiently large to turn out 20 gallons of corn liquor per day, fell into the hands of State Ranger J. W. McCormick, U. S. Deputy Marshal Charles M. Dodgen and Detective Charles Rebut Sunday morning in the second raid in Young county within the week.

The still was found four miles south of Graham in a shed and with the still were found thirty-five fifty-gallon barrels of mash and five gallons of whiskey. No arrests were made as the still had apparently been deserted when the officers arrived.

The raiding party continued its work all day Sunday, and Sunday evening raided an alleged gambling house at Oil City where 18 men were found and placed under arrest.

In this house a woman, who gave her name as Tiny Edwards, was arrested on charges of violation of the prohibition law. Officers state that she was selling whiskey by the drink to the men engaged in the various games in the building.

During the latter part of the evening Sunday, the officers visited a number of rooming houses and drug stores and drunks in Oil City and made the arrest of three more women and four men, all charged with illegally possessing whiskey.

Charges were filed against them in the United States district court before Commissioner J. A. Lansing Monday morning. Those included were Mrs. C. Miller, Elsie Despain, Mrs. L. A. Bordeaux, Jim Wilson, Ernest Tubb, C. Allen, C. J. Brachsen.

The officers who took part in the raid left this city Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

SLOW DRIZZLING RAIN IS GENERAL THROUGHOUT AREA

The slow drizzling rain that fell here practically all day Sunday and still in existence Monday morning was general throughout the district touched by the railroads leading into the city.

At Forgan and Woodward as well as Texline the thermometer had fallen 11 degrees during the past 24 hours. The minimum temperature reported at Forgan and Woodward was 12 degrees with an east wind, which changed to the northeast at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Farmers in the county were pleased with the drizzling rain, stating that the wheat and grass showed every sign of life Monday morning. The amount of precipitation, however, has been so small that it could not be measured.

The first issue of "The Trail Blazer," the new scout paper to be published semi-monthly, came off the press Friday afternoon and was distributed at troop meetings Friday night. A clothing, silverware, jewelry and other articles valued at the aggregate, will total $500 or more in value, were stolen from the home of N. A. Gaines and H. M. Craig, 1184 Fifteenth street, early Sunday night. The house, which has two apartments, was ransacked from top to bottom by the thieves who evidently worked at leisure while the occupants were away from home.

Boy Scout News

The development of lively interest in wireless by members of Troop 6 and prospects that the troop will soon purchase and operate a complete wireless telephone and telegraph set were the outstanding features of scout activities during the week just past.

Grand opera from Pittsburgh and various talks from Intermediate points were heard by means of the Jack Martin station. Martin was one of the first amateur radio operators to be licensed and his wireless equipment is complete in every detail.

Records in the hands of Scout Executive H. E. Taylor show that thus far this year 29 scout: have been registered. If registrations continue in like degree throughout the balance of 1922, record will be established.

Troop 10 stirred officially again after a lay-off by treating itself to a feed after the meeting. A big increase in membership is expected by H. E. Taylor, scout master. The troop meets at the Central Presbyterian church.

Two talks, one by E. Mashburn, a troop-committee member, and the other by Mr. Smith, an out-of-town attorney, were given Troop 13 at its meeting, Mr. Smith also talked to Troop 4 during the course of the evening.

Troop 1 recorded almost a 100 per cent attendance at its meeting, but numbers counted for little when the basket ball team located hours with the troop 4 quintet. Two games were played, with the latter team coming out on top in both contests.

The local Newsboys' club received material assistance Saturday from Troop 2 scouts when a den was constructed at the Central Methodist church, Seventh and Lamar. The newsboys are reported to have fixed up a nifty club room.

Practically all troops met Friday night were well attended and developed some valuable work
