SMOKE WREATHS WILL ANNOUNCE SUCCESS

Ballooning Not Expected to Consume More Than Two Days.

By Associated Press.

ROME, Feb. 2.—The conclaves of the sacred college which is to choose a successor to Pope Benedict XV began its sittings today.

The balloting is not expected to consume more than two days and the next pope is expected to be chosen by the moderate section of the sacred college.

Crucifixes are placed in St. Peter's square to watch for the tell-tale smoke wreaths from the chimney of the stables chapel.

Confidence that the conclaves would be a success was shared by Cardinal Gasparri, who in making provisions yesterday for the sustenance of the cardinals only provided for the cardinals and Saturday.

As the conclaves convened it appeared that the reconciliation party under Gasparri could count on about 20 votes.

SEVERE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF SECRECY

ROME, Feb. 2.—Major excommunication and instant dismissal from the Vatican household is the penalty which will be inflicted upon any person in attendance at the conclaves if found guilty of imparting information to persons outside before the result is officially announced.

Cardinal Gasparri's orders conclude by stating that any party or parties found implicated in any attempt to obtain news prematurely will be tried by Vatican justice before Monsignor Sampar, major domo of the palace, who, under strictest secrecy, is empowered to administer civil and criminal justice.

MELLON PROPOSES SPECIAL TAXES TO PAY SOLDIER BONUS

INCREASED POSTAGE, TOBACCO, BANK CHECK AND OTHERS SUGGESTED.

ESTIMATES BONUS COST $425,000,000 FIRST YEAR

Secretary Opposes General Sales Tax Because of Cost of Administration.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—With the present "high tension" on the prohibition question, it would not be practicable to undertake the bonus payment with a tax on light wines and beer.

Mr. Mellon had been asked by Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, whether such taxes could be levied and if so whether they would disturb economic conditions.

Representative Garner said it had been suggested that a tax on light wines and beer would raise $425,000,000 yearly or enough to pay the bonus.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The soldier's bonus should be paid out of special taxes, such as increased first and second postage and tobacco levies.

Increased second class postage to wipe out deficits in that branch of the postoffice department, $10,000,000.

Increased cigarette tax, the increase amounting to 30 cents on 100 cigarettes.

Increased documentary stamp tax, $40,000,000.

A tax of two cents on each bank check, $20,000,000.

Increased tax on automobiles, $100,000,000.

The total estimated return from these taxes is $425,000,000.

Mr. Mellon said that the proposed general sales tax on the ground of the cost and difficulty of administration.

"I should say that we cannot increase the taxes in existence," said Mr. Mellon, "as they already are as burdensome as should be borne.

SECRETARY WEEKS SUBMITS OFFER WITHOUT RECOMMENDATION BUT SUGGESTS CHANGES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Henry Ford's proposal for the government projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was submitted today to congress by Secretary Weeks "for such action as congress may deem appropriate."

The only change from the proposal in the letter of transmission related to specific clauses in the contract and the desirability of amendments which would in event the proposal be accepted by congress, further safeguard the government's interests.

Otherwise the secretary of War carefully has considered the proposal and the question of its acceptance or rejection of the offer as submitted.

In the event the offer be rejected, the secretary gave it as his opinion that dam No. 2 and lock No. 1 should be completed by the government and that the power requirements for commercial purposes, the benefit to navigation as well as the possible needs of the government, would warrant this expenditure.

"If this were done," he continued, "the government may itself undertake to sell the product to the best advantage, but such a sale of the amount of the government's present proposed investment would be very materially reduced because dam No. 2, costing from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, would not be built."

The question of unemployment is recognized as a factor in connection with its treatment of the Muscle Shoals question.

Options Claimed by Others. The secretary informs congress that the Alabama Power company, which has a claim in regard to the Warrior plant and transmission lines.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF HUSBAND IS JUDGED INSANE

JURY IN COUNTY COURT FINDS MRS. MARY WHITAKER OF UNSOUND MIND.

INSISTED ON SON REMAINING NEAR BY

Incidents of Horrible Affair of Last Saturday Reviewed Before Jury.

Mrs. Mary M. Whitaker, who confessed to the killing of her husband last Saturday by striking him over the head with an axe while he lay asleep, was adjudged insane by a jury in the county court Thursday afternoon.

A pathetic scene was enacted in the court room as Mrs. Whitaker insisted that her son, Thomas L. Whitaker of Marlow, Okla., remain close by her side. She held his arm and hand to her breast and would not permit him to leave her while she testified on the witness stand. Sheriff Fred K. Smith, who was called to the house on Twentieth street last Sunday afternoon, told of the finding of the body and the conversation that he had with Mrs. Whitaker at the time. He stated that she told him, "I have done the worst thing I have ever done." Sheriff Smith testified that he believed her to be a woman of un-sound mind.

Louis M. Jernigan, superintendent of the county farm, was the second witness. He told of an incident that occurred five years ago when he was called upon as an officer to remove Mrs. Whitaker from a farm. He stated in his opinion that she had been of un-sound mind the past five years.

Testifying that he had examined her, Dr. M. M. Walker, county health officer, told the jury that Mrs. Whitaker was a typical case of paranoia, that she was laboring under numerous delusions and considered it best for her own safety and the safety of others that she be placed under restraint.

The son, Thomas L., was called to the stand. He told that his mother had been sent to the asylum at two different occasions, once in 1896 and another in 1917. He estimated her estate amounted to $2,000.

When Mrs. Whitaker took the stand, her son walked by her side. The gray haired woman said she was 45 years old. She said that she had killed her husband because he had threatened to give her seven month old grandchild away to a stranger.

CALOMEL SALIVATES EVEN WHEN CAREFUL

Treacherous Drug can not be Trusted and Must Be Used with Care. Calomel is dangerous. It may salivate you and make you suffer fearfully from soreness of gums, tenderness of jaws and teeth, swollen tongue, and excessive saliva dribbling from the mouth. Don't trust calomel. It is mercury; quicksilver. If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money. If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you will take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate—Adv.

REPORT MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says we must keep feet dry; avoid exposure and eat less meat

Get off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid. Rheumatism is caused by poisons, our toxins, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This salt is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate of soda which, overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well—Adv.

ROTARY VOTES TO BUILD GRANDSTAND FOR CITY'S YOUTHS

A definite decision to undertake the building of the "Rotary Kn-t-hole grandstand" at the baseball park, to provide free admission to week-day games throughout the season, was reached at the weekly meeting of the Rotary club Thursday. The question of whether the $1,000 required might not be expended in a more generally beneficial way was raised during the discussion, but the fact that by thus providing for the boys of the city, Rotary would have a great opportunity to influence them for the better, carried the proposition unanimously.

After eating ginger bread composed largely of cotton seed meal, the Rotarians heard a very interesting talk on cotton seed products, by George Dasher of the Wichita Cotton Oil company.

Mr. Dasher read a long list of commodities in which cotton seed products are used. Photograph records, roofing material, explosives, cosmetics, soap, lard substitutes, salad oil and moving picture film were among the articles named. Mr. Dasher said that the manufacture of cotton seed oil dated back to before the Civil war, at which time, for some reason, the manufacturing methods were shrouded in much secrecy.

The club members were taught the song, "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon Us" which was led to a report by Orville Bullington on how the song came to be written at the State university. The singing and the report were the best, with the exception of one meeting, the club has ever had at a luncheon.

ARMS CONFERENCE OCCUPIED WITH FAMOUS 21 DEMANDS

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Its naval discussions concluded and the results written into treaty form, the arms conference turned its full attention today to the far eastern situation again today with the hope of bringing the Washington negotiations finally to an end this week.

The famous "twenty-one demands" was the immediate business before the far eastern committee at the same time subcommittee met to try for a compromise on the Chinese Eastern railway problem.

Meantime a possibility developed that the far eastern decisions of the conference might be put into three treaties instead of two, bringing to nine the total number of covenants to result from the negotiations here.

Some conference leaders want to write a treaty on the four-root principles and the open door, another on customs arrangements in China and a third to cover other far eastern resolutions adopted by the conference.

In the far eastern committee, arrangements to meet for speeches by the Chinese, Japanese and American delegates on the 21 demands, the general tenor being to indicate that the adjustment recently reached on the Shantung question and the action taken by the conference on other Chinese problems involved in the general treaties to be completed today will make further consideration of the 21 demands unnecessary.

SECOND ASSISTANT P. M. GENERAL DIES FROM INJURIES IN COLLAPSE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Edward H. Shaughnessy of Chicago, second assistant postmaster general, died from injuries received in a fall from a hospital from injuries received in the Knickerbocker theater disaster Saturday night.

Although Mr. Shaughnessy's injuries were known to be of a critical nature, his condition had shown improvement up to yesterday and his death was unexpected. Attending physicians at the army hospital where he was being treated, and taken when removed from the wreckage of the motion picture theater several hours after the collapse of its roof, which caused nearly a hundred fatalities, said his death followed a collapse shortly after midnight. They are being treated, they said, by development of internal complications yesterday.

He is being treated at another hospital, the daughter having had both arms broken while Mr. Shaughnessy is suffering from a fractured rib and shock.

FERGUSON'S PARTY HAS BEEN DISSOLVED
TEMPLE, TEXAS, Feb. 2.—Formal dissolution of the American party in Texas was announced here today by former Governor James E. Ferguson, who also proclaimed his return to the fold of the democratic party and announced his candidacy for the seat in the United States senate now held by Charles A. Culberson.

Dissolution of the party, organized at Fort Worth in May, 1920, was effected at a secret session of the executive committee here last Saturday at which resolutions were adopted providing that members of the party "are absolved from further allegiance" and urging them to make such political alignments as to each individual may appear to be the best interest of the state and the preservation of free government among men.

The meeting is said to have brought particularly all the party leaders to Temple. At the 1920 state campaign the American party polled upwards of 80,000 votes. T. H. McCreger of Austin headed the ticket for governor. The party was found by Mr. Ferguson and his political followers following his impeachment as governor by the Texas legislature.

CHAPTER IX
The pursuit took the riders across a wide, undulating plain above which danced the dry heat of the desert. Lizards sunned themselves on flat rocks. A rattle snake slid toward the cover of a prickly pear. The bleached bones of a cow whose white beside the trail.

"No use, Bob," said Dave, "they were cooking supper. They've made their getaway. Might as well drift back to Malapi, don't you reckon?"

CHAPTER X
Dave stood on the fence of one of the shipping pens of the Albuquerque stockyards and used a prod-pole to guide the bawling cattle below. The Fifty-Four Quarter Circle was loading a train of beef steers and cows for Denver. Just how he was going to manage it Dave did not know, but he intended to be aboard that freight when it pulled out for the mile-high town in Colorado.

"I see you've bought you a new pair of boots," he said in a heavy, domineering voice.

The big fellow laid a paper on the breast of the cowpuncher. "Here's a bill for a pair of boots you charged to the old man's account—eighteen dollars. I got it just now at the store. You'll dig up?"

It was the custom for riders who came to town to have the supplies they needed charged to their employer's account. Sanders was no exception. He was riding the same bronco he had used to ride the horsethieves. It had been under a saddle most of the time for a week and was far from fresh. Before he had gone a mile he knew that the foreman would catch up with him.

CHAPTER XI
Dave knew he was stubborn. No, many men would have come on such a wild-goose chase to Denver in the hope of getting back a favorite horse worth so little in actual cash. But he was not that kind of a man.

CHAPTER XII
The stars were out long before Dave's train drew into the suburbs of Denver. It crawled indolently through the quiet residential sections, coming to a halt at last in a wilderness of tracks on the border of a small, narrow stream flowing sluggishly between banks cut in the clay.

he meant to move to his end intelligently. If Miller and Doble were in the city they would be hanging out at some saloon or gambling-house. The knowledge of their habits took him to that part of town below Lawrence street. While he chatted with his foot on the rail, a glass of beer in front of him, he made inconspicuous inquiries of bartenders. It did not take him long to strike the trail.

"Two fellows I knew in the cattle country said they were comin' to Denver. Wonder if they did. One of em's a big fat guy, name of Miller—kinda rolls when he walks. Other's small and has a glass eye. Called himself 'George Doble when I knew him.' 'Come in here 'most every day—both of em. Waitin' for the Festival of Mountain and Plain to open up. Got some kinda concession. They look to yours truly like.'"

HAIR OFTEN RUINED BY CARELESS WASHING
Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonful of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky. Bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will meet the needs of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified—Adv.

Donations for the building continue to come in, and are getting a warm reception.

MESDAMES GRAY AND SMITH ENTERTAIN N. O. P. CLASS

Mesdames H. S. Gray and H. P. Smith were joint hostesses at the attractive home of the former on Elizabeth street Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Floral Heights N. O. P. class, the meeting being the regular monthly social gathering of the class.

The Gray home was decorated with Cupids, hearts and other Valentine pretties with a color scheme of red and white carried out throughout the living room suite, the "42" appointments and the dainty menu served late in the afternoon. Preceding the games and informal music, a study hour was presided over by Mrs. Black, from themes selected from the textbook, "Playing Square With Tomorrow" (Eastman). Members who contributed to the lesson program included Mesdames D. L. Fritz, J. B. Stokes Jr., F. E. Richardson, J. B. Richardson and Paul Cotter, and Misses Mary Belle and Vera Hale.

The plate luncheon boasted pretty Valentine favors, and was served by Mesdames Black, Stokes, Fritz, Paul Hawthorne, Paul Harding, E. A. Gordon, Richardson, Cotter, Hugh Cotter, Ruth and Will Gray, Misses Helen Bauer, Hale and Vera Hale, and Mesdames Gray and Smith.

FASHIONS BY LENORE

Probably the most distinguishing feature of smart handbags is the smallness of the size. One almost never, at least hardly ever, sees a well dressed woman carrying a bag larger than about eight inches wide at the bottom, even in leather.

Most of the imported bags are in pouch and in envelope shapes, many in the loveliest of brocades. But that is because the French woman looks first for decorative features in her purse, while the American is more interested in utility. For her the regulation bag with simple or ornamental top usually has separate straps.

Unusually lovely models are being shown for the spring. Navy and teal de serge are featured, but black predominates, and unusual designs is laid on the frames to achieve individuality. Metal and glistening, ruffled, and unusual designs are also very new, but the very newest thing is the marquisette frame, which is made of a kind of sparkles, and is impregnated in steel.

Small bags, too, are popular, but chiefly in envelope shapes.

HEAD OF "PREACHERS' KIDS" EXPLAINS THEIR AIMS

MISS RUBY LENT.

At the present time there are 45 members of our loyal band, and I feel that we have already proven to our classmates that we are just like they are.

The "P. K.'s" are classed as among the most all-around students in college, taking part in all student activities from the volunteer band and the Home Service association to the Kiwanis and the midnight pot meetings.

Real Distinction.

If it is one of the most exclusive organizations in the college, since one is born into it unless one's father should turn preacher while the student is in college. So there is really some distinction to it.

We feel that preachers' children everywhere have a strong bond between them and we are working toward the formation of a state and national organization with its headquarters at Cornell.

We want to "hang together" for fellowship among ourselves, for hearty friendship with others, and for real accomplishment in the world.

The condition of W. P. Daves of 1609 Fifteenth street, which has been rather serious for the past week, is reported much improved.

"No, thanks," said Bill, "I'll stay on the main line"

Traveling the regular road from here to there, Bill met a man who showed him a gate and a detour.

"Might do," said Bill, "If I didn't know where I am going. When I'm on the main line I don't see any object in switching off."

That's what the whole Southwest has said about the choice of corn flakes.

Post Toasties take the taste and appetite where they want to go—and public opinion chooses to take the main line and stay on it.

There are imitations, but the imitations don't satisfy!

Post Toasties are made by a special patented process, and they have a "body," crispness and texture all their own.

That's the particular charm of a Post Toasties breakfast or lunch.

You'll agree with Bill—"No experiments when I know what I want"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS "A QUEER RIDDLE" BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What's the difference between a jumping jack and a baby?" asked Mr. Crane.

The storks thought and thought about the riddle Jusks had asked them, the riddle being, "What's the difference between a jumping-jack and a baby?"

Mr. Crane, looking more solemn than ever, went down the row. "What's the answer?" he asked the first stork.

"I confess I don't know," said the stork looking foolish.

"Next!" said Mr. Crane sharply, turning to his neighbor.

"Me either," said the second stork, shaking his head. "I don't know."

"Next!" said the Crane.

"No! I don't know either."

And so it went on down the line until at last Mr. Crane reached an old, old fellow who looked as though he was about to go to sleep.

"What's the difference between a jumping-jack and a baby?" asked Mr. Crane.

"Well," answered old Daddy Stork slowly. "There's enough difference so that I should never mistake one for the other."

"Aha," smiled Mr. Crane. "That's the answer, Daddy. You get her nice soft pinky-blue silk comforter. I'm afraid if I gave it to some of these other storks they might swap a jumping-jack up in it to deliver to a family on earth. Instead of a nice, soft, pink baby. Now begone, all of you. There won't be any more comforts made until goose-plucking time is over and more soft down comes flying up to the sky for my fairy workers to use. Well, well, I do believe there's more coming now. Mrs. Brown must be having a plucking. I heard her y she needed new bolsters the other day and some of the softest feathers have run away. They know where to come!"

A whole flock of feathers came blowing in at the windows and doors of the factory, so the storks waited.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

What the Jolly Jumping Jack Said to Mary Jane

ONE day Mary Jane met Josiah Ouchterloney, the jolly jumping jack. Her little brother, Bobby, had him on the end of a stick. He was all painted up beautifully in a red coat, and a belt.

All Bobby had to do was to push up the stick and Josiah would turn a somersault, and shake his knees and elbows just like old Mr. Stimkins when he has a misery. Mary got to talking with Josiah. She found out he was a great traveler. He had been to Mobile, and Ocala, and Pensacola and everywhere. He told Mary a lot about the wonderful things he had seen on his travels. Finally he got to talking about the best things to eat.

Josiah shook his knees and elbows, and said "There isn't anything as good as Mary Jane Syrup. Everybody knows that. If you put a lot of nice rich Mary Jane Syrup on your pancakes or hot biscuits, or spread on bread after you come from school, you'll be big and strong, and can turn somersaults and everything—just like I do.

Then Mary Jane said this was no news to her, for they always had Mary Jane Syrup on the table up at her house. And not only that, but they made the most delicious fudge and peanut brittle with Mary Jane Syrup.

Josiah said he was glad to know about this, and that, first chance he got, he'd make up a big batch and distribute it around to all the boys and girls. And then he shut his eyes and went to sleep, and Mary Jane and Bobby went home to supper.

WITH THAT DELICIOUS SORGHUM FLAVOR

She could eat anything—without indigestion or sleeplessness

FOR a long time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep splendidly afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. It is rich in the appetite-stimulating vitamin, so that appetite is always kept normal and you are protected from indigestion.

Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver it regularly.

PARLEY AT GENOA MAY END AMERICA'S ISOLATION POLICY

MAY EVEN MEAN NATION'S ENTRY INTO MODIFIED LEAGUE OF NATIONS

CHIEF MOTIVE FOR MOVEMENT ECONOMIC

Public Demand For Participation Swing Back From 1920 Extreme

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post and The Wichita Daily Times (Copyright, 1922, by The New York Evening Post)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—There can be little doubt of the deeper significance of the movement to have the United States represented at the Genoa conference. It is the beginning of the new policy of isolation for the United States, which was the verdict of the 1920 political election. That was nearly a year and a half ago, and it takes about that long for an exaggerated political tide to begin to recede.

In 1918, Mr. Lloyd George, in England, won an election on war psychology. He won on two issues. One was "hang the Kaiser," and "put the Kaiser on trial for his life." The other was "make Germany pay the entire cost of the war, including pensions and separation allowances." One of these promises was impracticable and the other was impracticable. It was Mr. Lloyd George's promise to "make Germany pay in full that was the chief cause of the lack of success of the Paris peace conference. That conference came within a month of Mr. Lloyd George's election, and while the heat engendered by it was still blazing. For the moment Mr. Lloyd George had to seem to live up to his pledges. But within a few years, "hang the Kaiser," was forgotten and the British public grew accustomed to the fact that "making Germany pay" was an economic impossibility and economically undesirable, even if it had been possible. For a year or two the principal activity of Mr. Lloyd George and the British government in foreign affairs has been towards persuading Germany to pay exactly the thing the British public had once demanded should be done.

A swing-back to normalcy. In a similar way, the present movement in the United States is the beginning of a swing-back towards normalcy from the extreme position taken by the republican party in 1920 and affirmed by an overwhelming majority of the American voters. The chief motive for the movement is economic. Forces which support the republican position solidly in 1920 are beginning to realize that it is chiefly our isolation that stands in the way of the export of our crops and other commodities. When the Harding administration came into power, one of its earliest activities was an attempt to restore foreign trade. The war finance corporation with the appropriation of half a billion dollars, was set in motion with that specific purpose and that purpose only. It was initiated under the most favorable auspices and with an executive who would have made it a success, if any one could. But it was only a few months before Mr. Meyer found the thing was impossible. The foreign consumers of cotton and other American goods had not the cash to pay with the American government willing and able to finance the transactions. The foreign buyer held off. He was unwilling to make commitments while exchange was subject to violent fluctuations, and while all the other political and economic conditions of the international world were so chaotic. The war finance corporation withdrew from the efforts to facilitate exports, and during the last six months it has been engaged, with greater success, in lending money to American producers and others, with the purpose of enabling them to hold their goods until such a time as a market should develop. That time does not arrive and the farmer and the business man have come to realize that the indispensable requisite of a restored market for his goods

NOW DO MY WORKWITHEASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y. — "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable, and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first day I felt better and I tried to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you wish. — Mrs. Chas. E. Spence, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N. Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

the economic and political stabilization of Europe. May Lead to a Modified League. It is back of the present movement. It does not yet and may not ever, go to the length of calling for our entrance into the league of nations. But ultimately it will demand that we look at this subject not from the exaggerated point of view of a violent political campaign, but from the standpoint of what is best, look at it in the light of cold reason. The party in power will be called on, not to act according to a position taken, to a certain degree, for the purpose of a political campaign and in the heat of violently stimulated passions. It will be called on to do whatever would have been done if there had been no political campaign; if it could have looked upon the question, not in the light of political passion, but in the light of what is best to be done by party solely responsible for the best good of that country.

"That may take the form of considering the question of our entering the league of nations with reservations, or joining an amended league of nations with another name or what not. There can be little doubt that if both the leader and the rank and file of the republican party had been able to look upon the question of national policy in its merits, freed from Woodrow Wilson's personality and the other complications of a violently party political situation, their attitude would have been in some degree different from the position they have taken."

This present movement has developed almost overnight. When the Genoa conference was first mentioned there was no appearance of any change of public opinion on our policy of remaining out of such a conference. It was a little while the farm conference here in Washington gave surprising and indisputable evidence of a disposition to question this policy. Various senators and other public men who in the past have supported this policy have begun to question it. Some who have been among the chief supporters of a policy of isolation are now active in what is being done as an organized campaign in favor of our representation at Genoa.

The evidence is abundant that the administration has been made aware of this beginning of a change in sentiment. That the change should have come to a focus on the matter of the Genoa conference undoubtedly embarrassing. The decision to attend the Genoa conference or not to attend it cannot be made in square on considerations of whether or not our participation is desirable.

From the point of view of our government the Genoa conference was launched hastily and clumsily. The time, March 8, is embarrassing. It is telecast too closely into the end of the Washington conference. During the same weeks when the Genoa conference is in session our senate will be discussing the results of the Washington conference. Every morning we would be receiving news of what is being done at Genoa of such a nature that it would be injected into the senate debate. The results of the Washington conference. Some of these dispatches would provide consistent arguments for the freer trading policy. It is to whom any brick will do to throw at any foreign agreement we attempt.

A first principle in America's foreign policy at the Washington conference has been to take one step at a time and sure-footedly to make such a conference a complete success before the next is taken. It is on that principle that the American delegates have successfully resisted, with the assistance of considerable firmness all efforts to throw economic or other extraneous matters into the agenda of the conference. The agenda have been right where they were originally fixed. When an Ambassador Harvey expressed his desire to add to the agenda with an obvious and acid allusion to the Paris conference, "this Wash-

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS RESULT OF DISSATISFACTION

By Associated Press

ROME, Feb. 2.—The Italian government of Premier Bonomi has decided to resign, the semi-official Stefani agency announced. The cabinet council met this morning to discuss the situation created by the attitude of the parliament, says the statement, and as a result the government's decision to resign was reached.

The ministry early today found itself in a precarious situation as it faced the convening of parliament. The democrats, upon which the government had counted for 150 votes, had passed to the opposition overnight, while the fascists and the nationalists maintained their strong opposition. The Catholic party remained firm for Premier Bonomi; however, as did his own small group of reform socialists.

Stolen Sacks Found in South Chicago
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Eight mail sacks stolen yesterday by three bandits from a postal clerk at Whiting, Ind., were found today by South Chicago police in an alley. The ground nearby was strewn with envelopes and parcel post. Police believe the bandits were en route to get a $20,000 Standard Oil payroll. The sacks they took contained only newspapers, parcel post and ordinary letters.

How an EXPECTANT MOTHER Prepared for Baby's Coming

Do YOU know that thousands of women never really suffer at child-birth? Perhaps you have thought with many others that this should always be the case. But how?

Let Mrs. Mattie Paul, of Ocala, Ga., tell you. She is one of thousands who has demonstrated this fact:

"As I am a young mother of one baby, I am writing for free booklet to 'expectant mothers.' I used only two bottles of Mother's Friend before I was confined and had a quick and easy time through labor. I can recommend Mother's Friend to all expectant mothers. I will never go through pregnancy without it."

You, too, can have this booklet for expectant mothers by sending coupon below.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

HEIRESS TO $40,000,000 ON HER WAY TO WED RUSSIAN WRING MAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Margha B. Stephens, heiress to the $40,000,000 estate of her father, the late Norman B. Reed, was speeding to New York to prepare for her marriage Saturday to Anatole Andrievitch Vonsiatky-Vonsiatky, a Russian working man.

During her flying visit to Chicago, she reiterated her determination to live according to the means of her husband-to-be in his humble cottage and expressed her views on marriage.

"Happiness," she said, "is not a question of money. Money has nothing to do with my marriage, one way or another. We shall live very simply, in accordance with my husband's position, although we are not going to live in precisely the kind of a working man's cottage described as typical. I expect to be very happy."

FIND BOOZE HIDDEN AMONG BON BON BOXES IN CHICAGO CANDY SHOP

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The proprietor and a young girl employe of a candy shop today were charged with bootlegging alcohol which resulted from "tips" given to dry agents at the Chicago automobile show.

One agent remarked in admiring one of the 1922 sedan models that a compartment "would just about hold a case, maybe two."

"Sure, but where would the other get the booze?" queried the owner. A pretty girl immediately handed them cards advertising the candy shop, then disappeared in the crowd. Yesterday they presented the cards, obtained a "hint" and found some more nestling beneath rows of bon-bons. Diognario Consolmagno, owner, denied knowledge of the liquor. Miss Lillian Bear-

RECTIFICATION OF DENATURED ALCOHOL BOOTLEGGERS LATEST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Bootleggers throughout the country are evolving a new industry—the rectification of denatured alcohol—a prohibition officials said today, which probably will necessitate a complete revision of the government's system of distribution.

Reports have been received, it was said, that some of the government's formulae for industrial alcohol lend themselves readily to rectification so that illicit liquor dealers are obtaining the denatured spirits under government permits and by various processes rendering it more or less drinkable.

Rectification of the present permit system now in vogue is understood to be under consideration with a view to checking any diversion of denatured alcohol into unlawful hands.

STATE PLANS TO ASK RE-HEARING ON SNOW'S CASE

NO BOND WILL BE SET UNTIL MANDATE ARRIVES FROM AUSTIN.

MAY ALSO ASK SPEEDY TRIAL ON OTHER CASES

One of State's Witnesses Now in Jail Under a 15-Year Prison Sentence.

Close upon the announcement that the court of criminal appeals reversed and remanded the case against H. C. (Doc) Snow, convicted here on a charge of murder and sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary, comes the report that the state will ask for a rehearing on the case.

It was stated Thursday morning that the setting of bonds in the case will not be entertained until the mandate arrives from the court of criminal appeals in Austin. Should the state file a motion for rehearing on the case it will have the effect of placing the case in the same state as it was prior to the decision of the court which was announced yesterday. The defendant will be forced to remain in the county jail without bond until action is taken on the motion.

From various sources it is understood that the state will also ask that the remaining murder case be tried as soon as possible. Snow was indicted in two separate bills each charging murder. One of the bills named Marvin S. Caple and the other William S. Toney. He was tried for the murder of Caple on the first trial.

Several of the state's witnesses in the former case, it is reported, have moved from the state. Wiley Smith, another state's witness, is a prisoner in the county jail awaiting a decision from the court of criminal appeals on his case in which he stands charged with robbery with firearms. Smith was found guilty as charged and sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary.

When discovered the back of the youth's head had been crushed in and both legs severed from his body. A press report published in the Shreveport Times led to the identification of the body.

Motor Cop Takes Painful Tumble From Fire Truck

As a police officer, Motor Cop M. D. Eyerley grades 100 per cent, but as a fireman he's a whale of a good policeman. This was the general opinion around the city hall Wednesday night following a comical, and fortunately, an inconsequential spill in which Eyerley was considerably mussed up.

An alarm, which proved to be false, came in about 7:50 and as the Central station trucks were leaving the hall Eyerley attempted to mount the hurricane deck of the hose wagon. Something went amiss and a dignified cop skated half way across Ninth street with one ear as a contact point with the pavement.

The Waltham mainspring is the result of costly experiments covering many years and the use of machinery and processes unknown to other makers.

It is tempered in resilient form, then coiled into a hardened and tempered steel barrel. If the spring should break, its tension discharge cannot hurt the mechanism of the watch. This exclusive practice is a Waltham standard.

Waltham are the largest mainspring makers in the world. Fourteen tons being the annual output. There are many other exclusive horological achievements in a Waltham which cannot be found in any other make of watch. It will pay you to investigate them.

ALTROCK WORKS HIS GREATEST GAME IN 1906 WORLD SERIES

By NICK ALTROCK.
What is the greatest ball game I ever pitched?
It has been so long since I pitched that a lot of people probably have forgotten I ever earned my living that way.
I have pitched a lot of bad ball games in my career and a few good ones. However, in my memory, one game stands out above all others—the first game of the 1906 world series.
Fandom will recall that the Chicago White Sox won the pennant that year after a hard struggle. For those who have a bad memory I might add that I was a member of that team.
With the race half over no one figured the Sox had a chance. It looked like a clinch that would result in the second division. Then we began a spurt that set the baseball world talking. In the month of August we won 13 straight ball games and became a contender, finally winning the pennant.
The Chicago Cubs had the pennant in the National league that year. The Cubs that year outclassed the National league, winning 114 games and losing only 26. It was considered an invincible aggregation, managed by the "Peerless Leader," Frank Chance.
Against that combination no one gave the Sox a chance. The White Sox were known as the "Hitless Wonders" because of their weakness at the bat. The club had a good pitching staff and a fine defense.
The winning of the first game in a world series means a lot. Such a victory gives a club much needed confidence. With the White Sox, a team not conceded even an outside chance, the winning of that game meant everything.
I guess Ed Jones, who was managing our club, didn't sleep a wink the night before the first game trying to figure out who was going to pitch. I relieved him of that responsibility about an hour before game time. We held a meeting to plan how we would play the Cubs. Jones started to tell how un-derfused he was to pitch, when I stepped in by saying:
"I thought it was all settled. Fiedler, that I was to work the opener." That decided Jones; he gave me the job.
That game is photographed on my memory. I beat the Cubs, 2 to 1, with the great Mordecai Brown. I allowed only four hits. Without desiring to appear conceited, I believe that win decided the series. It caused our fans to realize the Cubs were not invincible.
Tomorrow Altrock tells what is wrong with present-day big league pitching.

Billy Evans says
Golf is no longer a small-time amusement.
In the past five years it has made rapid strides.
It has become an all-year-round sport. Those possessing the fifty lure, journey south or to the coast during the winter.
Others not fortunate have gone in strong for the indoor game. Indoor golf is no longer an institution merely for the beginner. The veteran is also able to use it to advantage.
The first big professional tournament opens at San Antonio on February 2. The purses offered to attract the leading pro-golfers are larger than those of many of the big northern championships.

Today's Sport Angle
Basketball is a strenuous sport. If not played to excess it is a most healthful exercise.
However, it can be easily overdone and immediately becomes injurious rather than beneficial.
Too many basketball games played in a week or in a year have a detrimental effect on the physique of an athlete.
The big mistake in basketball as a sport comes in early youth. Most of the high schools and amateur teams play a schedule that is entirely too long.
A great many of the high schools start the basketball season about the first of April.
During a recent meeting of prominent western coaches, figures compiled by freshman medical examiners, showed that a great many of the freshman athletes were suffering from enlarged or athletic hearts.
Basketball is more strenuous than football, baseball, track or tennis. More athletic hearts have been discovered among college freshman basketball players, than all other branches of sport combined.
Long basketball schedules unquestionably "burn out" the player before he is safely through his youth. Few high school basketball stars are good for more than two years on college varsity teams.

The promoters of the San Antonio tournament have offered $5,000 in purses for the professionals to shoot at. After the San Antonio event, the prize will be his trip to Shreveport where on February 16 and 17 he will contest for a $1,000 purse.
On February 21 Houston will offer a $1,000 purse. On March 3 and 4 New Orleans will alternate with money prizes totaling $2,000. In addition to these new tournaments for the professionals, there are the regular events which have featured southern play for years.
It is said a half-dozen prominent professionals have formed themselves into a stable and will attack the southern events in mass formation, dividing the total into equal shares at the close of the southern season.
Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes, Mike Brady and Jack Hitchcock are not in the proposed stable. These stars prefer to take a chance with their own hook, feeling it will prove more profitable.
Two games a week is plenty for the professional basketball stars. More than that is injurious.
Mobsman hold their Sabbath on Friday.

COACH SERVES EIGHT YEARS WITHOUT PAY

By BILLY EVANS.
Hugo Beadek to coach his football team.
Beadek was willing, but he insisted on a five-year contract calling for $10,000 per year.
That was considerably more than Minnesota wanted to pay. Beadek said he was getting almost that much at Penn State.
Leland Stanford, in order to be able to offer real competition for University of California, sought Glenn Warner as coach.
Warner was willing to give his efforts to place Stanford on the football map, but his salary demands couldn't be met.
In these days of frenzied finance in the sport world, the case of Coach George Foster Sanford of Rutgers is most interesting as well as unusual.
For the last eight years Sanford has been head coach at Rutgers and has turned out a number of great teams. During that time he has never received a cent for compensation.
Sanford is in the brokerage business in New York. Rutgers is located at New Brunswick, N. J., about a 20-mile ride from the city.
Every afternoon during the season he leaves his office and journey to New Brunswick. He is assisted from time to time by former Rutgers players who return to aid in the work.
Sanford is unalterably opposed to professionalism in football, even to professional coaching, and repeatedly urges Rutgers men not to take up coaching as a profession after graduation.
Woodward, like a number of others high up in football, believes the game is getting away from the college and becoming merely a commercialized amusement.

EVERS WILL ASSIST WHITE SOX MANAGER
Trojan Johnny to Devote Time Coaching Young Players.
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Johnny Evers, veteran National league player and former manager of the Chicago Nationals, yesterday signed a contract to become assistant to William Gleason, manager of the Chicago American league baseball club.
Evers will report to Manager Gleason in time to accompany the first squad of White Sox players, which will include the battery men and a few of the regular infielders, who will go to Hot Springs before joining the main squad at Seguin, Texas.
The signing of Evers by President Comiskey will be a big help to Manager Gleason. Evers, it was said, will devote his time to the coaching of the young players, while Manager Gleason will give most of his time to the young pitchers.

NORTON AND COCHRAN WIN FROM GOLDING AND JACOBY
Norton and Cochran defeated Golding and Jacoby two up Wednesday afternoon in a contest that was far from showing the same kind of golf displayed in the earlier foursome in which the former state champion participated.
The sort of play may be judged from the fact that Cochran, with low score, shot at 79. There was a general exploration of the rough on both sides of the fairway, all afternoon.

HOUSTON, Feb. 2.—W. H. Herr, Oklahoma, capped high honors Wednesday for the first three days' shoot at the Sunny South handicap shoot, with a grand total of 595 for 408 targets.
For the third regular days shoot Herr and Warren were high with scores of 179. E. C. Wheeler was second with a score of 198. Woodward, who until Wednesday had missed but two targets in 496, dropped four targets and had a score for the day of 195.
John Clay was high in the special handicap event. Shooting from 21 yards, he went straight for 49 targets. E. C. Wheeler, F. H. Hughes and Cochran being tied for second with 42.
In the doubles event Frank Troch won back the Hazard trophy, breaking 95 out of a possible 100, or 29 pairs. Troch went straight for his last 25 pairs. He broke 48 targets in his first 25 pairs. E. F. Woodward was second in the doubles with 55. Woodward went straight for his second 25 pairs. He dropped four targets in his first 25, however.

PAL MORAN HAS EDGE ON OBBY GREEN
HOUSTON, Feb. 2.—Obby Green of San Antonio and Pal Moran of New Orleans staged one of the best battles ever seen here last night. Moran on extreme cleverness was accorded an edge by the majority of newspaper men at the ringside, but Green's aggressiveness was given by other representatives as a reason for a draw.

SAN ANTONIO GOLF TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

Large Entry of Professionals and Amateurs in Big Southern Event.
SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 2.—Canada, Mexico and 17 states of the United States were represented by 70 professional and amateur golfers in an 18-hole, best ball match, starting at 12:30 o'clock today open the San Antonio golf tournament, which is unique in many respects for the south. The tournament will last until Saturday night, there being 26 holes play Friday and Saturday. The unusual feature of the event includes a total cash purse of $5,000 with $1,700 to the player making the lowest total score for 36 holes in the three days; pairing of the same players from the beginning to the end of the tournament; playing exclusively on a municipal course which does not charge extra for fees, and free admission to the gallery.
Among the professionals for the event are Leo Diegel of New Orleans; Charles Ho'ner, Philadelphia; Pat O'Hara, Staten Island, N. Y.; Bob Peebles, Louisville, Ky.; A. G. Epiphona, San Francisco; J. M. Anderson, Mexico City, and Dan Penny, Canadian open champion in 1919.

GREB HAS WIDE MARGIN OVER HUGH WALKER
GRAND RAPIDS MICH., Feb. 2.—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh out-boxed out-fought and out-generalized Hugh Walker of Kansas City in the opinion of newspaper critics, in every round of their no-decision contest here last night. The Pittsburgh boxer's speed and speed appeared to puzzle Walker, and he was seldom able to land a green face. He kept bobbing in throughout, however, and both men were fighting strong at the finish. Greb weighed 163 pounds and Walker 175.

UNDEFEATED UNIVERSITY CLUB WILL HAVE REAL OPPOSITION IN LEGION TOMORROW NIGHT
Several capacity crowds have turned out to witness the game thus far, but the fact that the varsity crew has not as yet tasted defeat, while the Legion five is the one aggregation which is still capable of turning the trick, is sufficient drawing card to pack the hall. Arrangements for an additional hundred seats have been made while work was started today to rip out several square feet of ceiling around both baskets, thus affording players longer and more spectacular shots.
Members of both teams have been working out all week. The University five had a fast practice Tuesday night and the players have been perfecting themselves individually ever since. According to latest reports the injuries sustained by the varsity players during the past week are fast rounding into shape. Bill Viner gave his arm a severe wrench in Saturday's game with Burk Burnett and was forced to retire from the game, but he states that it will be o. k. by tomorrow night. Tate was unable to practice Tuesday night with the rest of the squad owing to a game knee, but he has been working out with his high school charges since and claims he's ready to go now. Burnett hurt his ankle in Tuesday's session, but not enough to keep him out of the fracas tomorrow night. The Legion athletes are in the best of shape at present, but much will depend on the outcome of Abraham's battle in Burk tonight with Speedy Sparks. If the Cincinnati scrapper mauls him to any great extent the chances are that he won't feel so frisky tomorrow night, but Legion backers are hoping for the best.

HAS PLANS FOR CALENDAR REFORM

Moses B. Cotsworth and his 12-month calendar. Note the extra month, 'Sol', between June and July.

What day of the month is today? Answer quickly, not without looking at the calendar.

Seven chances out of ten you can't do it! On what day of the week did the 17th of last month fall?

These two little tests prove that you—and all the rest of us—use slaves to the calendar.

Up here there's a scientist who's busy to justify existing changes in the calendar.

And now he thinks that victory is just a few years—or possibly a few months—ahead.

This scientist is Moses B. Cotsworth. He's one of the world's best known statisticians.

He's devised a new calendar known as the 'Sol' calendar.

It provides for 13 months, each month with 28 days, to supplant the present cumbersome system of 12 months with 29 or 31 days.

Every month in this new calendar begins on Sunday and ends on Saturday and has four even weeks.

The thirteenth month is known as 'Sol' and is inserted between June and July. All other months have the same name as in our present calendar.

But 13 months of 28 days make only 364 days and the year has 365 days. The extra day is known as 'Leap Year Day'.

Along with the rest of the world's important institutions, public schools, and particularly local public schools, have been making some changes in the long list of non-essential activities.

Beginning with the first grade in the school system and progressing through the years of graduation, the course of training organized by Miss Robinson is carefully graded.

Thus every child must do all the work of the art course until he has reached the Junior high school. During the years of training in grammar school he is given a general, rudimentary knowledge.
