RAINE

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

DAVE SANDERS, range rider on the D Bar Lazy R outfit, and his pal, BOB HART, rescue their employer, EMERSON CRAWFORD, from the hands of a rival ranchman, BRADLEY STEELMAN. This deed JOYCE CRAWFORD, the ranch-owner's daughter, Dave arrives in Denver where he has traced AD MILLER, a gambler, and his confederate, GEORGE DOBLE, who have stolen Sanders' pet pony, Chiquito. Dave discovers his horse in a corral.

Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER XII
Dave whistled. The pony pricked up his ears, looked round, and came straight to him. The young man laid his face against the soft, silky nose, fondled it, whispered endearments to his pet. He patted the bronco through its tricks for the benefit of the corral attendant.

"Well, I'll be doggone," that youth commented. "The little pinto sure is a wonder. Acts like he knows you mighty well."

"Ought to. I trained him. Had him before Miller got him."

"But you hated to sell him."

"You know it." Dave moved forward to his end, the intention to get possession of the horse. He spoke in a voice easy and casual. "Saw Miller a while ago. They're talkin' about sellin' the paint haws, him and his partner, Doble. I'm to saddle up and show what Chiquito can do."

Dave cinched, swung to the saddle and rode to the gate of the corral. Two men were coming in, and by the sound of their voices were quarreling. He stepped aside to let him pass, and on each side of the gate, so that it was necessary to ride between them. They recognized the pinto at the same moment Dave did them. On the heels of that recognition came another.

Doble ripped out an oath and a shout of warning. "It's Sanders!" A gun flashed as the pony jumped to a gallop. The silent night grew noisy with shot, voices, the clatter of hoofs. Twice Dave fired answers to the challenges which leaped out of the darkness at him. He raced across the bridge spanning the Platte and for a moment drew up on the other side to listen for sounds which might tell him whether he would be pursued. One last solitary revolver shot disturbed the stillness.

His flight had no definite objective except to put as much distance between himself and Denver as possible.

Day broke over valleys of swirling mist far below the rider. The sun rose and dried the moisture. Dave looked down on a town scattered up and down a hillside at a livery barn, after having personally fed and watered the pinto, and went himself to a hotel.

Three or four men were standing on the steps of the hotel talking with the proprietor.

"That's him," the hotel-keeper said in an excited whisper.

A brown faced man without a coat turned quickly and looked at Sanders. He wore a belt with cartridges and a revolver.

"What's your name?" he demanded.

"Sanders—Dave Sanders."

"So? Who are you?"

"Sheriff of the county."

"What'djwant me for?"

"Murder."

Dave gasped. His heart beat fast with a premonition of impending disaster. "You're charged with the murder of George Doble last night in Denver."

The boy stared at him with horror-stricken eyes. "Doble? My God, did I kill him?"

He clutched at a porch post to steady himself. The hills were sliding queerly up into the sky.

CHAPTER XIII
All the way back to Denver, while the train ran down through the narrow, crooked canon, Dave's mind dwelt in a penumbra of horror. It was impossible he could have killed Doble, he kept telling himself. He had fired back into the night without aim. He had not even tried to hit the men who were shooting at him. It must be some ghastly joke.

It remained with him, in the background of his mind, up to and through his trial. What shook his nerve was the fact that he had taken a life, not the certainty of the punishment that must follow.

It did not take the lawyer whom West engaged long to decide on the line the defense must take. "We'll show that Miller and Doble were crooks and that they had wronged Sanders. That will count a lot with a jury," he told West. "We'll admit the killing and claim self-defense."

The day before the trial Dave was sitting in his cell cheerfully reading a newspaper when visitors were announced. At sight of Emerson Crawford and Bob Hart he choked in his throat. Tears brimmed in his eyes. Nobody had been kinder to him than West had been, but these were home folks.

He gripped their hands, but found himself unable to say anything in answer to their greetings. He was afraid to trust his voice, and he was ashamed of his emotion.

"The boys are for you strong, Dave. Steve says he wouldn't worry none if you'd got Miller, too," Bob bressed on.

"That's no way to talk, son," reproved Crawford. "But don't you get downhearted, Dave. We're allowin' to stand by you to a finish. It ain't as if you'd got a good man. Doble was a mean-hearted scoundrel. If ever I met up with one, he's no loss to society. We're goin' to show the jury that, too."

They did. By the time Crawford, Hart, and a pair of victims who had been trapped by the sharpers had testified about Miller and Doble, these worthies had no shred of reputation left with the jury. It was shown that they had robbed the defendant of the horse he had trained and that he had grown to a lawyer and found no legal redress within his means.

But Dave was unable to prove self-defense. Miller stuck doggedly to his story. The coupuncher had fired the first shot. He had continued to fire, though he must have seen Doble sink to the ground immediately. Moreover, the testimony of the doctor showed that the fatal shot had taken effect at close range.

The jury found him guilty of murder in the second degree. The judge sentenced him to ten years in the penitentiary.

When Bob Hart came to say good-bye before Dave was removed to Canon City, the young range-rider almost broke down.

"We're gonna stay with this, Dave. You know Crawford. He goes through when he starts. Soon as there's a chance we'll hit the governor for a pardon. It's a damn shame, old pal. That's what it is."

Dave nodded. A lump in his throat interfered with speech.

stirred in him no emotion. As he stood by the dry Colorado sunshine his heart was quite dead.

From one job to another Dave drifted. His stubborn pride, due in part to a naive honesty that would not let him live under false pretenses, in part to a bitterness that had become dogged defiance, kept him out of good places and forced him to do heavy, unskilled labor that brought the poorest pay.

Yet he saved money, bought himself good, cheap clothes, and found energy to attend night school where he studied stationary and mechanical engineering.

One day he smiled grimly and began to pack. When he left, the expressman took his trunk to the station. The ticket which Sanders bought showed Malapi as his destination.

In the early morning Dave turned to rest his cramped limbs. He was in a day coat and his sleep through the night had been broken.

At the junction he took the stage for Malapi. Already he could see that Malapi was going into a new world altogether different from that he had last seen here. These men were not cattlemen. They talked the vocabulary of the drifter, and the wild-catter.

At Malapi Dave descended from the stage into a town he hardly knew. Everywhere old dominated the place.

A branch line of a trans-continental railroad was moving across the desert to tap the new oil fields. Houses rose overnight. Mule teams jingled in and out freighting supplies to Malapi and from there to the fields.

Up the street a team of half-broken broncos came on a lurching gait. The backboard stepped lightly a straight-backed, well-muscled young fellow.

"Dave! Where in Mexico you been, old alkali? We been lookin' for you everywhere."

"In Denver, Bob."

Sanders spoke quietly. His eyes went straight into those of Bob Hart to see what was written there. He found only a glad and joyous welcome, neither embarrassment nor any sign of shame.

"But why didn't you write and let us know?" Bob grew mildly profane in his wrath. "We didn't know when the governor was goin' to act. Or we'd 'a been right at the gate, me or Jim Crawford."

CHAPTER XIV
The warden handed him a ticket back to Denver, and with it a stereotyped little lecture of platitudes. Sanders walked slowly out of the office and through the door in the wall that led back to life. He was free. Tomorrow was his. All the tomorrows of all the years of all his life were waiting for him. But the fact

Clubs Asked to Prevent Showing Clara Hamon Film

The Federated Women's clubs in the First district are being asked, in a letter mailed out this week by Mrs. Walter Robertson, president of the district, to make every effort to prevent the Clara Hamon "life story" film from being screened in the homes of the federated clubs. Mrs. Robertson's letter follows:

"It is important that every federated club in the district go on record as opposing the showing in Texas of the motion picture which purports to tell the life story of Clara Hamon.

"Already this picture has been shown in two Texas cities. We have been assured that it is a splendid menace to the morals of young men and women and an insult to all ideals of morality.

"Use your influence to prevent it being shown in your city and state. Olla Chastain Robertson, president, First district.

The picture is being shown in Burkburnett this week.

WILL POWER WON A PLACE IN GRAND OPERA FOR HER

ELIZABETH LENNOX

By RUTH AERLING
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Elizabeth Lennox, a minister's daughter, and a few years ago a resident of Grand Rapids, Mich., used to help with the church music by playing the piano and organ.

But Miss Lennox couldn't sing. She couldn't carry a tune.

Today Elizabeth Lennox is one of the few really successful American singers. She has been in grand opera and is now on concert tour.

The answer? Will power.

Elizabeth Lennox wanted to sing more than anything else in the world.

"A soprano voice was needed in the choir of my father's church," says Miss Lennox, "so I tried to fill the place and found that I couldn't sing at all."

"Then some dark days for me," continued Miss Lennox, "to sing was the only thing I really wanted to do."

"I kept perfectly still about my will power."

Cullum, Harold Hayes, Henry Welch, Al Booth, Stanley of Colorado Springs, Jettette Bonner and Peery Hancock; Misses Lucille Tancred, Marian Mae, Thelma Kahn and Agnes Reid. ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS "TICKLERS AND SWEEPERS"

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Whenever you see a baby laugh just about nothing at all you may be sure that there is a fairy around somewhere tickling him."

"Come along," said Mr. Crane to Nancy and Nick, so the Twins started after him, followed by Bunkins. "I want to show you the use we make of all the runaway feathers that come up to our sky country."

"Soon he stopped and opened another door, inviting the visitors to enter. It was full of fairies working like sixty, and covered almost to their eyes with big spruns.

"This," said Mr. Crane, importantly, "is the tickler department. We make ticklers here."

"What kind?" asked Nancy.

"For the babies," said the crane. "Whenever you see a baby laugh just about nothing at all, you may be sure that there is a fairy around somewhere tickling him with a tiny feather tickler. Wonderful things, really. Mothers don't know how much they ought to appreciate our efforts along this line. They'd never have time for dishes or the darning of the doorknob if our little fairies didn't amuse baby with their ticklers. But come along, folks. I've more to show you."

So they followed him out again and along the passage to another door which Mr. Crane opened. "Come in," he said, graciously. "This is where we make brooms for the sweepers."

"What sweepers?" asked Nick.

"Fairy ones," answered the crane. "We make cute little feather brooms for them to sweep the cob-

Indiana Lady Prefers Black-Draught for Constipation, and Tells How It Greatly Benefitted Her

Scottsburg, Ind.—Mrs. Annie Johnson, of this place, said: "I suffered for a long time with constipation, which would get me down. I took medicines and any number of purgatives. They would leave me in a worse condition than I was before taking, and my stomach so upset."

"I know once I suffered from constipation, so ill... just so nervous and feverish."

"My husband was reading and found something about Black-Draught, and brought me a package to try. I used it regularly at first until I began to feel better, then I just used a dose occasionally."

"I was cured of this constipation and am sure the Black-Draught did it."

Mrs. Johnson later wrote: "My present health is very good. I still keep Black-Draught in my house, all the time, as it does me more good than anything I have ever used."

Constipation is often a sign that your liver is out of order and needs help. The poisons which constipation forces your system to re-absorb may cause much danger to your general health.

Theodore's Black-Draught is a medicine that every person should keep in the house, and use at the least sign of constipation, indigestion and liver trouble.

All good druggists sell Black-Draught.—adv.

SAYS PASSENGER FARES ECONOMICALLY TOO HIGH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Passenger fares charged by the railroads at present are economically too high to be sustained, Clyde M. Reed, chairman of the Kansas utilities commission, testified today in the U. S. C. C. investigation of transportation charges.

Answering questions by the commission, Mr. Reed said that the railroads should fix their general passenger rates at 2 cents per mile instead of 2.8 cents, abolishing the Pullman fare surcharge, but leaving Pullman transportation at 2.6 cents per mile.

Passenger travel on a per cent basis had decreased 29 per cent under the new rates and was known as one of the first settlers in the Bomarton section. He came to Texas in the '80's and has lived in that section all the while. He was successful in finance and acquired considerable property in lands and was highly respected by his friends and neighbors. He is survived by only one daughter, Mrs. George W. Fritchard of Bomarton, who was present at the funeral.

Don't Let Your Eye Deceive You

Don't think because you used to get 16 oz., or a full pound when you bought a can of baking powder that you are getting it today.

The can may look as large as it used to, but is apt to contain 4 oz. less. Some manufacturers of baking powder have reduced the number of ounces in the large can from 16 oz., or a full pound, to 12 oz., or 3/4 of a pound.

That's why you should be careful when you buy baking powder—you may be paying for what you think is 16 oz., or a full pound, and find that you are 4 oz., or a 1/4 of a pound short.

There is no change in the size of the Calumet can—always did and still does contain 16 oz., or a full pound of baking powder.

VARIOUS REPORTS COME OF CAPITALIST'S DESIGNS

Most Powerful Figure, Industrially and Politically, in Germany.

By Associated Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The name of Hugo Stinnes—once to conjure with in Germany—has smashed its way into Wall street.

Big business, particularly the steel industry, is interested and making it Stinnes has designs upon the commercial and industrial activities of this country.

Various reports have come to the United States concerning plans of the German Croesus to extend his interests to this country where he has heretofore been little known.

But the first concrete evidence of his plans came yesterday with the announcement that he was negotiating with several American railroads for the sale of 15,000 tons of German rails—at a price, including freight, about $2.5 a ton less than the current American price of $40.

Whether Stinnes will follow up his invasion of American markets by efforts to acquire control of American industries is a question that time alone can solve. The United States is one of the few countries in the development of which he has apparently taken no hand.

Credited with controlling eight billion marks of capital and with being the most powerful figure, industrially and politically, in Germany, Stinnes rode to the crest of his power on the crest of the war.

If it was, say his enemies, who conceived the idea of deporting the Belgian workers to Germany and who headed the German interests that exploited Belgian mines and other resources during the occupation.

Even before the war Stinnes was the biggest iron and coal figure in Germany, but it was not until the close of the world struggle that he began reaching out on a large scale for other fields to conquer.

In one of the latest reports he figured as a pawn broker to the Russian soviet government, the story being that he had advanced Lenine a large sum on the Russian crown jewels.

His methods are similar to those of American financiers obtaining control of various coordinated industries, not by fiat purchase, but by obtaining control of a majority of the stock and using his vast wealth and credit constantly for further expansion.

He is credited with control of the people's party, which now dominates Germany.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—If it should be proved that William D. Taylor was murdered, "that should not be held up as a blot upon Hollywood," said W. Griffith, motion picture producer, said here today.

"Hollywood, of course, may receive the blame, as it did in connection with the Arbuckle case," Mr. Griffith said. "But it is a mistake to picture it as a seamy center of decadence. Maudlin imagination goes too far."

MISS NELLIE COLLINS
"I have been thankful a thousand times that I took Taniae when I did.
It is simply wonderful the way it has benefited me," said Miss Nellie Collins, 1338 Connecticut avenue, Bridgeport, Conn.

"About eighteen months ago my appetite began to fail and I seemed to be going into a decline. Nothing agreed with me and my nerves were keyed up to such a high pitch I was actually afraid they would snap in two.

"But Taniae has brought about a wonderful change in my condition.
My appetite is almost ravenous, my digestion is perfect and I feel as well and strong as I ever did in my life. I never dreamed there was a grand medicine as Taniae in the world.

Note—The International Proprietaries Co., distributors of Taniae, have office in Atlanta, Georgia, over fifty thousand signed statements from representative men and women from every state in the Union and every province in Canada. Many of these

THREE HUNDRED KENTUCKY GUARD PROTECT NEWPORT

FRANKFORT, KY., Feb. 3.—With the Covington Tank company in control, upward of 300 Kentucky national guardsmen today are in or en route to Newport, Ky., having been ordered out late yesterday by Governor Morrow for strike duty.

That the troops, sent there for the second time within five weeks, will not be withdrawn until order is restored completely was indicated.

INTERMITTENT SHOOTING IN VICINITY OF MILLS

NEWPORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—Quiet prevailed in Newport early today except for intermittent shooting in the vicinity of the Newport rolling mills.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning a flurry was caused when snip-ing from outside the mill was followed by firing from machine and riot guns inside the plant. The guns were turned toward the Covington bank of the Licking river.
More than 100 shots were fired, but no casualties were reported.

FURTHER MYSTERY IN TAYLOR CASE film industry whose names were brought into newspapers in connection with the director's death included Edna Purviance and Mary Pickford. Minter, also motion picture actress.

Peavy gave the police an account of his finding the body and of his spreading the alarm. Miss Norma, his wife, who was one of the last to see the director alive, told of a call she made to his apartments the night before in connection with a book Taylor loaned her. Her character corroborated her account of the visit which included the statement that Taylor had accompanied her to her automobile; and Mrs. Douglas MacLean, wife of a film actor, and her maid, related having seen a heavy man dressed in a dark coat and wearing a cap and muffler skulking about the place.

Story Corroborated
The story of Mrs. MacLean and her maid was strengthened by employees of an oil service station two blocks from the Taylor apartments and by the crew of a street car.

The detectives said they had learned that Taylor had been aware he was being watched and once reportedly had seen a man outside his bedroom window late at night.

Miss Purviance, who occupies an apartment near that of Taylor, telephoned the news of his death to Miss Normand shortly after Peavy had discovered the body, and Miss Minter was said to have burst into the room when she learned of the apartment with her mother to learn if they could help in any way.

Taylor had directed many actors present in the film world, including Miss Minter and Mary Pickford. Pictures of the two and that of Miss Normand occupied prominent places in his apartments. Miss Normand last night denied a report she had been engaged to marry Taylor, but later, according to another newspaper, she admitted that they had once been engaged, but had decided to be "merely friendly." She said he had helped her with her reading and her study of French.

Going into considerable detail as to her call at the Taylor apartments the night before he was killed, Miss Normand said it was in answer to a telephone call from him regarding a book.

Announcement that Paul L. Boynton, history teacher in the Junior high school, had resigned from the local school system and would leave immediately for Nashville, Tenn., to take up work in the George Peabody college, was made Friday morning by local school officials.
Mr. Boynton was recently awarded a fellowship by the Peabody school and his work, which will prepare him for a masters degree, will be taken under the provisions of the award.

Mr. Boynton graduated from the Sam Houston Normal school at Huntsville, Texas, in 1920, also obtaining his Bachelor of Arts degree at that time. He later attended Peabody college and came to the Wichita Falls schools as history instructor last September.

The fellowship award given Mr.
Boynton by Peabody college is regarded by school officials here as a signal honor and also one well deserved. He was considered one of the local school's most efficient instructors.

No successor has as yet been named to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Boynton's resignation.

JOPLIN UNION PRINTERS ON NEWSPAPER STRIKE

JOPLIN, MO., Feb. 3.—Union printers employed by the daily newspapers in Joplin are on strike today as the result of the receipt and persistent refusal to accept the proposed terms of a new agreement to walk out. Strike sanction was asked by the printers several days ago upon a breakdown in the negotiations with the publishers looking to a new working pact.

The strikers' places are reported being filled by the publishers and they anticipated little difficulty in continuing publication.

Many cities will follow the new style of street signs recently introduced in Pontiac, Mich. Letters are eight inches high and 11 feet above the ground. They're easily read by passing motorists, unlike the three-inch letters designed in the days of the "one-horse shay."

BONUS LEGISLATION TO HAVE PROVISION FOR RAISING FUNDS

SOURCES OF SUCH REVENUE ARE NOT YET FULLY DETERMINED.

BILL WILL BE READY WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Tax on Beer Will Not Be Considered in Connection With Measure.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Soldiers' bonus legislation now under consideration by the house ways and means committee will carry a provision for raising the necessary revenue to finance it, Chairman Fordney announced today after a conference with President Harding at the white house. Whether the money will be obtained by internal taxes or the use of the proceeds from the refunded foreign debt, or both, remains to be determined, Mr.
Fordney said.

Mr. Fordney expects the bill to be ready for the house within two weeks and thinks only a few days will be required for its passage.

Because of the uncertainty as to the number of former service men who will take the cash option the house committee is having difficulty in determining just what the cost will be for the first two years.

Arguments for and against the tax on beer as a means of raising funds were heard today by the committee and at their conclusion members indicated very clearly that such a tax was not to be considered.

Representative Green of Iowa, the ranking republican, declared that he favored the constitutional question involved, the argument is against legalizing the sale of beer as a compelling that the proposition is not being entertained.

Representative Garner of Texas, the ranking democrat, said it was a waste of time to talk about raising revenue when two-thirds of the house and senate was opposed to the beer and light wine proposition.

The argument for 275 beer was made by Levy Cook, a Washington attorney, who said he spoke for the brewing industry. He declared that he could become intoxicated on such beer and that its legalized sale would do away with bootleggers and moonshiners and would disrupt much of the industrial unrest.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, opposed the suggestion, stating that congress under the eighteenth amendment could not legalize the sale of either of 275 per cent beer or light wine.

Opposition to a general sales tax, manufacturers' tax or any form of consumption tax in connection with the bonus was being voiced by H.
C. McKenzie of Walton, N. Y., representing the American farm bureau federation.

PUBLISHERS PROTEST AN INCREASE IN POSTAL RATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Newspaper and magazine publishers as expressed in the national publishers' association today protested to Secretary Mellon against his suggestion that funds for a railroad bonus be raised in part through increased rates on second class postage. Calling attention to the present rates which were declared to have been imposed strictly as a "war measure," the association said rates on newspapers and other publications had been increased 275 per cent in the last four years.

"It appears that there is a stinger influence to tax second class matter excessively," a telegram to Mr. Mellon said, "and this movement should be stifled for publications are the greatest individual factors in the stimulation of national life and spirit."

The telegram was signed by Andrew C. Pearson, chairman of the association's postal committee.

SCHOOL DEBATERS ARE PREPARING FOR COMING CONTESTS

Try-outs, practices and rehearsals, and then more rehearsals, practices and try-outs in the order of the debate, which is to be held in the school auditorium, are being prepared for the coming contests.

With the dual debate with Oklahoma City high schools only five days away, the school debaters are preparing for the coming contests. Inter-school contests are being conducted constantly in charge of Wichita Falls' debaters in the preparation of the coming contests.

It is hoped, however, that Wichita Falls will give a good account of itself when the big debate starts next Wednesday. The local debating forces are confident that Wichita Falls will make the trip as scheduled.

Wichita Falls is upholding the affirmative side of the question, "Affirmative: That the federal government should own and operate the railroads."

The try-out will start next week on declarations for the local schools and also on the debate. The question of the latter is on immigration to Nashville, Tenn. That debate will be held on the 14th of February. The local team has been selected to take the trip as scheduled.

VARIED PROGRAM FEATURES WEEKLY SESSION OF LIONS

A varied program, including poetry and politics and music and drama, was featured at the weekly Lions club session held at the Kemp Friday noon. Several business matters brought up for consideration served as the more important items.

Further reports on the Texhoma park project now being given attention by the Lions were made, but no more action taken. Certain legal difficulties involving the ownership of ground to be used as a park site are still unsettled. It was explained, and pending settlement of this the club will mark time.

Honorary memberships were extended to each of the two local newspapers and the unfortunate press representatives present called on for speeches of acceptance. C. F.
Carter of the Record-News was brought still further into the limelight when Secretary Bruce read a retaliatory poem composed in his Carter's honor. Carter was responsible for a poetic effusion given at the last club meeting and Mr.
Bruce's lines were in the nature of a report on the membership contest now being waged and the inroduction of new members and guests occupied the balance of the business session.

Entertainment was furnished in the form of several songs by Miss Helen Edmondson, accompanied by Miss Annette Walsh.

FOURTH PARTIAL REPORT OF JURY INCLUDES 12 BILLS

ELEVEN FELONIES AND ONE MISDEMEANOR RETURNED BY SECRET BODY.

MAKE INSPECTION OF JAIL AND COUNTY FARM

Grand Jury Takes Ranges Until Monday; No Indication On Final Report.

Eleven felony and one misdemeanor indictments were included in the fourth partial report made by the grand jury of the 30th district court to Judge H. F. Weldon Friday morning.

Immediately after submitting the report in open court the members of the secret body left on an inspection trip to the county jail and county farm.

No indication was given as to when the jury will conclude its labors and submit its final report, although it is reasonably believed that it will be rendered some time the first of the coming week.

Only one of the bills of indictment returned Friday morning were made known as the remaining eleven had not been apprehended.

Shortly after 10 o'clock on the charge of assault with intent to rob. The bill alleges that on or about January 23, 1922, he did assault one J. W. Chism with the intent then and there to commit a robbery.

The grand jury has completed its fifth week of work since being empaneled. During the past week not less than 75 witnesses were examined.

Agree Mode of Dress Is Aid to Health of Girl

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Four Chicago women who know girls and their reaction to dress have expressed approval of the modern purpose of Elizabeth Thelberg of Vassar college, who declared that the health, strength and beauty of the modern girl is directly traceable to her mode of dressing.

"I agree with everything Dr. Thelberg says," said Miss Mary Rose, dean of women at Northwestern university. Modern styles are merely expressive of a healthier, freer spirit. Short skirts, slacks and a desire to conform, said Miss Mabel Craig Stillman of the Illinois Vassar college, are not symbols of moral depravity. The young woman of today is morally trustworthy and sound at heart.

"I approve of short skirts," said Miss Gertrude Hawley, instructor in physical education at Northwestern university, and more than that, I approve of hosiery. They are not symbols of moral depravity. The young woman of today is morally trustworthy and sound at heart.

ROAD CASE TO BE ARGUED SATURDAY IN APPEAL COURT

H. R. Wilson of the law firm of Davenport, Wilson and Thornton, will appear before the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth Saturday to argue the case of the refineries north of the city against Wichita county and the court of commissioners.

The appeal grew out of the dissolution of a temporary injunction by Judge H. F. Weldon of the 30th district court which had been granted the refineries against the county, restraining it from adopting a new route for the Burk Burnett road just outside of the city limits.

The contention made by the plaintiffs is that the original plan of the route for the Burk Burnett road was to have the paving go by the properties owned by the various refineries and that since the bonds were voted with that understanding that it did not lie within the jurisdiction of the commissioners' court to change the course.

SEMI-ANNUAL AUCTION OF HOGS AT CHILDRESS MONDAY, FEBRUARY 6

CHILDRESS, TEXAS, Feb. 2.—Alexander, Michie & Jones will hold a semi-annual auction sale of sows and gilts bred to their giant herd here, Sensation's Type, Monday, Feb. 6 at the sale barn, one mile west of Childress. About 40 animals will be in the offering, and it is expected that some good young boars will be offered also.

Swine breeders will remember that Sensation's Type was the grand champion Duroc boar at the Texas state fair, the Oklahoma state fair and the Childress state fair in 1921, along with many other first and champion prizes won by this famous herd.

The crowd will be served a dinner at the sale barn, and a local hotel is prepared to care for all guests. Quite a large crowd is expected to attend.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The reason there is a prevalent belief that newspapers print a great quantity of crime items is the way in which the average newspaper reader reads a newspaper, Lee A. White, editorial executive of the Detroit News, said last night in an address before the Medill school of journalism. This is the way, according to Mr. White, "Column one, disarrangement conference. The readers' disarrangement conference, um, um, um, Japan, um, Hughes, um, Shantung, um." Finished.

"Column two, Stillman case; no news. Close attention. Occasional murmur of 'can you hear that?' Mr. White says he must scan the column because the case is a 'sociological document.' Another merrily says, 'It's hot stuff.' Both skip nary a word.

"Column three, the farmer big in congress; the reader, 'um, um, um.' Finished.

Well, I know what I think of farmers." Finished.

"Column four, murder; the reader, 'Say, here's my story in real life. Why, it's as good as a novel.' No further sound from him for 15 minutes. Finished.

"Column five, orchestra deficit. Orchestra must be saved. The reader, 'Is that so?' Well, let somebody save it then." Finished.

By that time, Mr. White said, the reader turns hurriedly to the sport page and after having earned his rest, sleeps, his slumbers disturbed however, by the thought of the crime the newspapers print.

START WORK SOON ON DIVERSION DAM, WILL DRIVE PILING

Work on another important feature of the irrigation project is expected to start within the next three days, when the diversion dam sub-contractors start driving the sheet piling for that structure, marking the beginning of real work on that dam. Equipment and material for this work has practically all been assembled.

This part of the project will be followed shortly by the starting of work on the main dam, which will take place as soon as the steam shovel completes its journey from Mabel's station.

Both Mabel's and Dundee are witnessing busy scenes at present, large supplies of lumber, steel and other material and equipment being in process of unloading.

ROAD CASE TO BE ARGUED SATURDAY IN APPEAL COURT

H. R. Wilson of the law firm of Davenport, Wilson and Thornton, will appear before the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth Saturday to argue the case of the refineries north of the city against Wichita county and the court of commissioners.

The appeal grew out of the dissolution of a temporary injunction by Judge H. F. Weldon of the 30th district court which had been granted the refineries against the county, restraining it from adopting a new route for the Burk Burnett road just outside of the city limits.

The contention made by the plaintiffs is that the original plan of the route for the Burk Burnett road was to have the paving go by the properties owned by the various refineries and that since the bonds were voted with that understanding that it did not lie within the jurisdiction of the commissioners' court to change the course.

CHILDRESS, TEXAS, Feb. 2.—Alexander, Michie & Jones will hold a semi-annual auction sale of sows and gilts bred to their giant herd here, Sensation's Type, Monday, Feb. 6 at the sale barn, one mile west of Childress. About 40 animals will be in the offering, and it is expected that some good young boars will be offered also.

Swine breeders will remember that Sensation's Type was the grand champion Duroc boar at the Texas state fair, the Oklahoma state fair and the Childress state fair in 1921, along with many other first and champion prizes won by this famous herd.

The crowd will be served a dinner at the sale barn, and a local hotel is prepared to care for all guests. Quite a large crowd is expected to attend.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The reason there is a prevalent belief that newspapers print a great quantity of crime items is the way in which the average newspaper reader reads a newspaper, Lee A. White, editorial executive of the Detroit News, said last night in an address before the Medill school of journalism. This is the way, according to Mr. White, "Column one, disarrangement conference. The readers' disarrangement conference, um, um, um, Japan, um, Hughes, um, Shantung, um." Finished.

"Column two, Stillman case; no news. Close attention. Occasional murmur of 'can you hear that?' Mr. White says he must scan the column because the case is a 'sociological document.' Another merrily says, 'It's hot stuff.' Both skip nary a word.

"Column three, the farmer big in congress; the reader, 'um, um, um.' Finished.

Well, I know what I think of farmers." Finished.

"Column four, murder; the reader, 'Say, here's my story in real life. Why, it's as good as a novel.' No further sound from him for 15 minutes. Finished.

"Column five, orchestra deficit. Orchestra must be saved. The reader, 'Is that so?' Well, let somebody save it then." Finished.

By that time, Mr. White said, the reader turns hurriedly to the sport page and after having earned his rest, sleeps, his slumbers disturbed however, by the thought of the crime the newspapers print.
