LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—After a beginning pronounced "satisfactory" by the district attorney's investigation of the murder of William Desmond Taylor was expected to be continued today with the possibility that a number of the men who were named in the motion picture world would be summoned as witnesses.

Twelve persons, both men and women, believed to have information of value to the investigators, have already been questioned by Thomas Lee Wynne, district attorney, or by William C. Doran, his chief deputy.

The information already obtained was believed to have information of ground work upon which to base the examination of persons known to have been closely associated with the director.

Those who have appeared at the district attorney's office so far include Charles G. Dixon, general manager of the Famous Players-Lasker studios, where Taylor was under contract; Douglas MacLean, film actor, a neighbor of Taylor and his wife and their maid; Henry Peavey, Taylor's negro servant; Howard Fellows, Taylor's chauffeur; Harry Feltner, the latter's brother and formerly Taylor's chauffeur and more recently his assistant director; Verne Dumas and Neil Harrington, oil operators and neighbors of Taylor; Charles Maline, a film director; Arthur Hoyt, an actor and close friend of Taylor; and Captain R. A. Robertson, who as an officer in the American army said he had an overseas acquaintance with Taylor as an officer in the British army.

POULTRY BUSINESS IN KNOX COUNTY IS GROWING INDUSTRY

MUNDAY, TEXAS, Feb. 10.—R. L. Briggs, one of the local business men of this city began several years ago breeding the Partridge Wyandotte for pleasure, but realizing from the adventure that the poultry industry is a real business, he has put money and good poultry appliances, good houses and pens and he has stocked his best pen with some birds that won first prizes at the Dallas state fair, and also the premier show. His new houses are built fire and vermin proof. He is keeping 30 hens on a city lot and the hens are paying their way in egg production at the market price, and a handsome profit besides if Mr. Briggs cared to sell them that way. When he sells them for setting purposes, as he is doing, his profits are assured to exceed any other investment. Mr. Briggs has lived at Munday 29 years and knows the possibilities West Texas and its future as a poultry center.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bowden, living a mile south of Munday own 228 acres of well improved land and they grow on this farm the principal crops grown in this section with reasonable success. But they are using the cow and the hen to make sure in drouth or prosperity that the farm should produce a living for the family and a profit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowden have 45 pure bred Barred Plymouth Rock hens and on this yard are prize winners at various shows in West Texas. They have been in the poultry business five years, and they have tried it out and are in the business to stay. Realizing above $200 profit last year from a small flock of hens they have increased their breeding stock this year to above three times the number of breeders of last year. They ship a can of cream every week and will increase that to twice the amount in a few more weeks.

Mrs. E. B. Bowden living a few miles south of Munday has been breeding pure bred poultry on the farm for 15 years, and she has figures to show that poultry keeping pays. She has kept an account of her egg production from 49 pure bred single comb Rhode Island Red hens, from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1, which reached the total of 1,240 eggs. She keeps her flock culled closely and feeds her hens egg producing foods with plenty of fresh water and warm houses and they produce the profits she expects. Last year she sold $150 worth of chickens from her flock and she has more breeders this year and expects to double her sales. They keep cows and ship cream and sell butter and they have a good farm that her husband operates on the side.

J. M. Heald and son have the largest poultry plant in Munday territory. They keep most of their pens on a farm west of Munday. Edwin Heald, who is the junior partner of the firm and is also cashier of the First National bank of Munday keeps a few of the pens at Munday. He is here in town. They are prize winners with single comb Rhode Island Reds in all the fairs of West Texas and are also premier show birds of Dallas. They have 10 matings in pens and the outer range covered with utility stock. They get an immense egg production. They have put considerable capital into the industry and plans for the future enlargement of the plant are on foot. Heald and son have found ready sale for their products at good prices and have been unable to supply the demand in many instances.

Edwin Heald is secretary and promoter of Knox County Poultry association and they have held several shows at Munday and are planning for the best show ever held in Knox county this fall.

You've hankered for the taste of Maple—here it is!

The flavor that first the Indians knew, and gave to the settlers in New England. It's the flavor of—LOG CABIN Syrup

IT was Moqua, squaw of Woksis, who, the Indian legend tells us, first made syrup from the "sweet water" of the maple. And quite by accident she discovered it in boiling moosemeat for her chieftain.

But it is no legend that early settlers in New England learned the secret from the tribesmen—how, by boiling down the sap of the maple tree in early spring, there might be made a syrup of wondrous flavor—how, by further boiling, this sweetness might be concentrated in sugar that could be kept.

In many a Colonial household they knew no sweetening other than this maple syrup or maple sugar.

In the west, they longed for a taste of this spring-time delicacy

But the pioneers who later ventured from those regions where the sugar maples grew—to them the flavor of maple was but a memory. And how they hankered for it!

Their cornmeal mush, their pancakes, waffles and desserts all called for maple. Nothing else would give them the right taste.

Then, in the eighties, came Towle's Log Cabin Syrup. Instantly it sprang into favor. Ever since it has been the "Standard from Ocean to Ocean." For P. J. Towle found a way to produce a syrup of uniform maple flavor that was always clear and golden in color, and absolutely pure.

How Log Cabin gets its rich, unvarying flavor

He combined the choicest of New England maple with the best from Canadian groves—got the real sugars of maple in which the flavor is most intense. And he blended with this just enough pure sugar of cane—nothing else—to mellow and enhance that delicious maple taste.

That was Log Cabin years ago; that is Log Cabin today. It never varies.

For pancakes and waffles—and many other uses

Tomorrow morning have pancakes or waffles—with Log Cabin Syrup. And as you're pouring it on, notice how fragrant it is of the maple. Then taste it. The family won't blame you for smacking your lips!

That maple flavor will put new delight in hundreds of dishes from breakfast cereals to supper desserts the whole year around. Fritters, French toast, baked apples, candied sweet potatoes, puddings, cake frostings, ice cream and candies—all call for it.

Phone your grocer now for a can of Log Cabin. You can be sure you get it, for it comes only in the distinctive log-cabin-shaped can—3 sizes.

A Careless Habit

Don't buy a can of baking powder without knowing the exact weight of the contents—it's a careless habit and an expensive one.

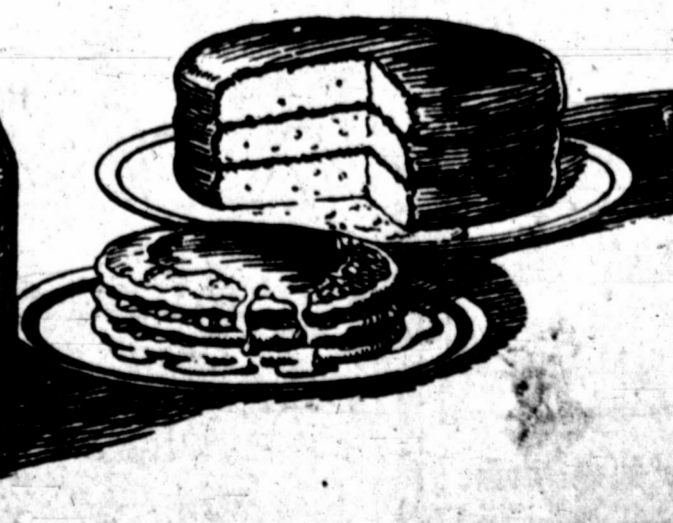

Some baking powders are now put up in 12 oz. or 3/4 pound cans instead of 16 oz. or full pound cans as formerly. Your eye may not detect the difference in the size of the can—so always look at the label—know that you are getting 16 oz. or a full pound when you want it.

Remember when you buy Calumet Baking Powder you get 16 oz. — a full pound. The one pound size of Calumet has never been reduced.

That's one reason millions of housewives prefer and use Calumet. They also know that it produces pure, sweet and wholesome foods.

Calumet is the largest selling brand in the world — buy it — try it.

FASHIONS

By LENORE

An out-of-ordinary cloth frock is ready to prove its versatility by serving as two different types of outfit. It may be worn as a dress, with the collar buttoned snugly and smartly high to the chin—or it may be worn with a blouse, and the coat open at the neck. A collarless blouse will be the most suitable.

Of an idea derived from the Russian peasant smock. Gray broadcloth was used, but serge or any of the twill materials are equally smart, particularly in beige, with silk braid in the same color together with a touch of black. Shiny metal ball buttons are used, and to balance the side opening of the neck there is a little patch pocket with a monogram embroidered in black. The skirt is about ten inches from the floor.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS THISTLEDOWN LAND

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"How lovely!" cried Nancy, holding on to her little dandelion parachute with both hands. "I feel just like a bird."

"It's better than a flying machine," called Nick, who was drifting far away by this time, hanging onto his own tiny umbrella. "Are we aviators now, Mr. Buskins?"

"Yes," shouted Buskins in reply. "Only you can't guide yourselves. But don't be frightened, your little car knows where it is taking you—just hold on and be patient."

Up they sailed, the three of them, up and up and up, over the orchard, over the house (it looked now like a playhouse with wooden chimneys so far below), over the hill, over the river and the pond. They were making straight for the blue sky and its white clouds, just as they had done in their little airplane elevator.

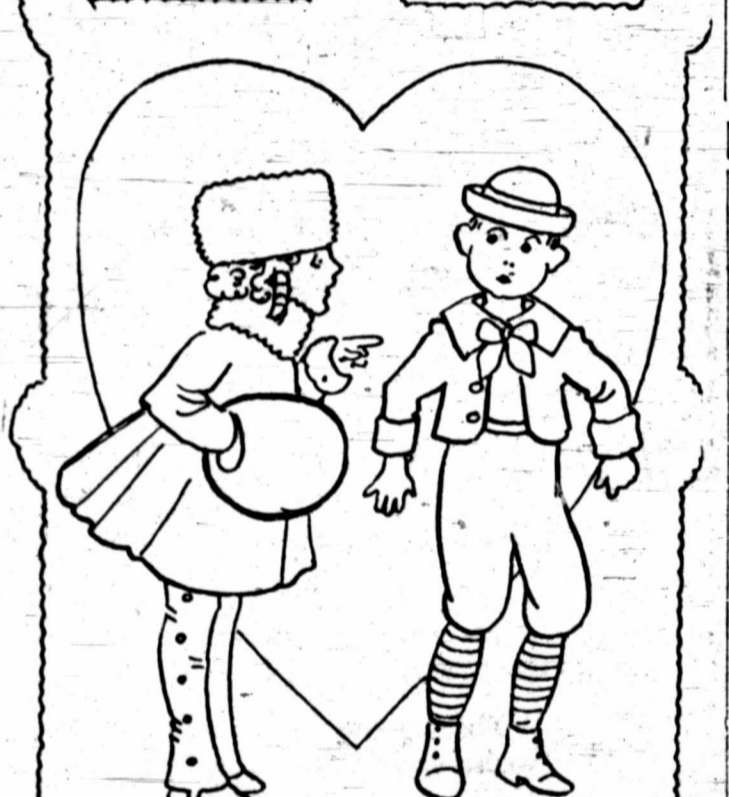

Finally they poked through the very clouds themselves, but still they went on up into the mysterious regions beyond. They passed Balloon Land, and off in the distance they could see the city of Balloontick, Then Kite Land, and Soap Bubble Land, Feather Land, and the Land of Everything, one after the other went by like floors in a building far away by this time, hanging onto his own tiny umbrella. They saw all the queer places they had visited before on their adventures in the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air.

And now they were delighted to think that they were going to have another one.

They went so high they began to fear that perhaps they were going to bump into the sun, when suddenly all three of them drifted toward an opening in a very large cloud, and floated through. Instantly they knew they were in a new and strange country, for the opening closed behind them and the cloud was no longer a cloud, but a beautiful green land full of trees and flowers.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1922.

REGARDING MR. MARLOW'S STATEMENT.

In a communication to The Times Thursday J. B. Marlow directs criticism to the manner in which publicity was given the grand jury report.

Whether Mr. Marlow's criticism was aimed chiefly at the grand jury or at the newspapers which printed the report giving it some prominence is not entirely clear. That he meant to criticize both the newspapers and the grand jury is evident.

As for itself this newspaper considered the grand jury report an important public document revealing some conditions which it believed its duty to lay before the community and it has no apology to offer.

It is regretted that the grand jury could not return specific indictments, especially in connection with its general indictment charging the sale of spirituous liquors in Wichita Falls. But as Mr. Marlow says, the grand jury was composed of good citizens and they labored many weeks, we may well believe, with diligence. While we can easily believe that the grand jury could find evidence that would convince them that liquor was being sold, even openly as charged, it is by no means easy to obtain the evidence necessary to convict, and an indictment returned without such evidence is a travesty. The grand jury report ought to have the effect of stirring the peace officers of the county to prevent such violations of the law and to secure evidence that will result in indictments and convictions if violations of the law continue.

With Mr. Marlow this paper believes that it ought never to have been necessary to call state rangers to Wichita county to aid in the preservation of law and order. Ours is a fairly intelligent community, the majority of whose citizens are capable and law abiding. The request to the state government to send rangers here was an acknowledgement of our incapacity to enforce the law ourselves and to handle our own affairs. If the peace officers of Wichita county cannot or will not enforce the law and will permit lawlessness and disorder to prevail then we have a remedy which we can ourselves apply.

LOST THRILLS.

Why do people drink liquor? Answer: To get the thrills of intoxication.

No further proof is needed that alcohol is twin-brother of opium and other drugs.

Prohibition doesn't stop with the mere taking away of liquor.

Inebriates of the present generation will not shake the craving for liquor out of their minds and bodies until they discover thrills that are substitutes for whiskey and wines.

The next generation or the one that follows won't know the taste of "the stuff." It will have no memories of lost liquor thrills, craving for a substitute.

A peculiar mystery of whiskey is how one drinker can lap up a pint without showing real intoxication, while another drinker is "put under the table" by one or two drinks.

It's a mystery easily solved:

Some temperaments and bodies are born a certain number of drinks below normal. Get those drinks in them and they rise to par.

Doctors and chemists have a big job ahead of them, learning how to remedy the bodies or egos that are below normal.

What such people really need is not stimulants from a bottle. They need corrective diet, lots of fresh air, outdoor exercise and healthy thoughts.

The drinker is committing slow suicide. Chronic alcoholism is a form of insanity. But you can't make the average drinker realize it.

Take a person born, as some medical men express it, "so many drinks below normal." This is inherited alcoholic craving, handed down from many generations of hard drinkers.

A father, with more or less of his ancestors' alcoholic craving in his blood, gratifies his craving. Liquor feeds on itself.

Soon it takes two drinks to do the work of one, then three—so on, until hardened drunkards think nothing of "killing a whole quart."

All this is inherited by the son.

You've often heard the expression, "Drinking runs in his family."

After a few generations of prohibition, with alcohol increasingly more difficult to get, there'll come a generation without any craving for liquor.

That generation will be normally healthy and happy, in body, mind and spirit. Prohibition will be easy to enforce then.

The man who thinks twice before he speaks usually has a wife who speaks twice before she thinks.

Princeton asks parents not to give students autos. You can't burn gas and midnight oil at the same time.

JUST FOLKS

THE CHIMNEY PIECE.

I would not, if I could, recall some customs that are gone.

I'm glad that wreath of immortelles I need not look upon—

That cold, imperishable thing of wax, in colors gay, Which hung upon the parlor wall in grandma's earlier day,

No longer shrieks its warning grim that mortal life must cease—

And yet I'm sorry we have lost the old-time chimney piece.

The modern mantle, I admit, is striking to the eye, And yet it lacks the wealth of charm we knew in days gone by;

For on the little marble shelf above the grate fire's glow Were all the sacred treasures of the homestead in a row,

The pictures and the Onyx clock, the globe of native birds, Which told the things we loved the most in clearer speech than words.

There mother kept in tenderness the trinkets of the years, The tokens of her happier days, the symbols of her tears;

The glossy cabinet photographs, the candlesticks of brass, The picture of Niagara Falls blown into heavy glass, And there above the grate fire's glow, for every eye to see,

Were all the sacred treasures from her book of memory.

But time has swept these things away, the mantle now is bare, The attic dust lies thick upon the joys once valued there;

The photographs are stored away, the birds long since have flown, Nor is it now good form to show the treasured things we own,

For when the newer customs come, the ones of old must cease, And yet I'm sorry that we had to lose the chimney piece.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP.

The day is spent. The goodnights have been said. Now I lay me down to sleep!

Father of All, it was a good day—not perfect, but good. Down the lanes of the hours I found much to make me happy, and, as I draw the covers about this body of mine, I close my eyes to thank you, while yet my brain is awake,

Soon the stars will shine over the drawn curtains of my heart, and while your billions of constellations hover about my lost consciousness, I ask that you wash my heart out for the new streams of light that the coming day shall bring.

Now I lay me down to sleep. Oh God, walk through the paths of my brain while it is so silent, and take out all the weeds that have grown up there during the unthinking moments of this busy day.

Take down the pictures of my failures and mistakes and put in their place the maxims of your goodness and beauty so that I may go forward in better faith and fuller confidence.

Arouse me from my lethargies. Quicken me in spirit. Show me the better ways—when I have awakened.

Now I lay me down to sleep. Thank you for putting me in this world, at such a time as this.

Rest my body from this day's activities, and bathe me in your love, so that my dreams may be pleasant ones. And when you lead me into your light again, make me ready for every worthy call.

What a short day it was! How fast it ran—how fast they all run!

Now I lay me down to sleep. Thank you for the bed and shelter, for my food—and my friends. In appreciation do my eyes grow heavy and full of languor.

Now I lay me down to sleep. Everybody—good-night!

FOOD VALUE

By DR. R. H. HISHOP

Variously distributed in all kinds of vegetable food are found the three substances that serve as body fuel, protein, fat and carbohydrate. The vegetables having the largest amounts of protein are the legumes—peas, beans, lentils and peanuts. In fact, all nuts have a considerable store of protein element.

Next in importance are the cereals, with wheat, corn and oat at the head of the list. Other vegetable foods contribute varying smaller amounts of protein.

Carbohydrate in a pure form is found in sugar, refined from the juice of the beet and sugar cane. Sugar is likewise found in the juices of sweet fruits and vegetables, as oranges, grapes, apples, corn and peas.

Another form of pure carbohydrate is starch, found in wheat, oats, corn, potato tubers, tapioca and in lesser amounts in many kinds of fruit and vegetables, as bananas, peas, beans and nuts. In olives, cottonseed, peanuts, co-cobeans and other seeds is obtained pure fat. It is found in abundance, too, in nuts, but only in small amounts in other kinds of vegetable foods.

While plant foods might be considered the original source of human energy, animals, too, supply us with each one of the three body fuels.

In animal food, as we eat it, there is little carbohydrate except in the milk. Scallops, oysters and clams are also exceptions. Fat is found more or less intimately associated with lean in all kinds of meat.

The leanest animal food is perhaps the codfish. Milk contains fat in the form of cream and butter and bacon also offers fat in acceptable form.

Lean meat affords fuel in the form of protein. Milk and eggs are valuable for their protein content. Cheese consists chiefly of the protein from milk with or without fat according to the kind of cheese. White of an egg has all its fuel in the form of protein, while the yolk contains part protein and part fat.

mon use, they probably are getting ready to clutter the air with their messages about pills, contraptions and candidates.

HONKS
Can you remember 25 years ago? Only four autos in the whole United States then.

Apparently there are about 10,000,000 motor vehicles registered in all the states. Farmers have 3,000,000 of them.

The next 25 years probably will bring an equally rapid growth of airplanes and wireless telephones.

FARMS
Crop-growing farm land, classed as "improved," totaled $62,072,097 acres in the last census.

Apparently it takes the yield of nearly five acres to feed the average American and provide an export surplus. That should interest farmers, wondering how much land they'd need if they went back to the land.

There's decided need of a "going back." Population increased 15 per cent. between 1910 and 1920, but acreage of improved farm land gained only 5 per cent.

Favorite Incubator

It's the same incubator that we have sold for the past fourteen years. We have made a close study of all other makes of incubators and find none so near perfection as the Favorite Incubator.

The materials are California red wood, copper and galvanized iron, therefore they are very durable and will last almost indefinitely. The operation is so simple that a school girl or boy can care for them before and after school hours.

In this age of high priced poultry and eggs every family that has a little yard space should buy a Favorite Incubator. It requires practically no capital to begin with, so why not show a little thrift yourself and buy a Favorite Incubator. Now is the time to start your poultry ranch. We have the 110, 160 and 220-egg sizes now on display in our store at 584-4 Ohio Ave. and our salesman will be pleased to explain the workings to those who are interested.

W. O. WINSTON BUYS BANKRUPT STOCK OF FREEMAN & BLACK

W. O. Winston, proprietor of the Winston drug store, has purchased the bankrupt stock of the Freeman-Black company from Sanger Brothers. Mr. Winston intends to have a sale of about five weeks to reduce the stock as much as possible, at the conclusion of which time he will move his drug store into the Freeman-Black building. The new firm at that time will be known as Winston's department store. The drug store will be only one of the departments in this new store and will close evenings and Sundays. He will also remodel the second floor and use it for ladies' ready-to-wear.

Resent Charge College Women Expect a Kiss

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A majority of the co-eds at Columbia and New York Universities today denied and characterized as a libel the published contention of R. L. Ingraham, editor of the university of California "Josh" paper, "The Pelican," that college women universally desire to be kissed and they expect every man who takes them out to attempt it. A majority of Harvard girls also cried out against the charge. The substance of their "hot denial" boiled down was that the college girl saved her kisses—all of them—for the man who was to be her husband. "All college girls like to be kissed," wrote Editor Ingraham, basing his assertion on four years of apparently intensive observation. "Cave man stuff is regarded with high favor and college girls are disappointed with the mild and meek type of student."

As to the assertion that the college girl kisses only the man she is to marry, he said: "Yes, but every man a college girl goes out with is a prospect."

PRINCIPALS IN OBERAMMERGAU PASSION PLAY

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Five hundred thousand dollars runs into millions of marks at present rates of exchange. But an offer of that amount by American movie producers has been sprung by the God-fearing villagers of Oberammergau, Bavaria, though they are all but ruined by the war, the revolution and post-war economic troubles. The American movie producers wanted exclusive rights to film the famous Oberammergau Passion Play. The villagers thought acceptance of the offer would be commercializing their holy drama. The Passion Play will be enacted on the huge stage at Oberammergau next May. Just as it has been performed every 10 years since 1862. This information comes to me direct from Oberammergau and should set at rest the wild rumors that have been current to the effect that no Passion Play would be given in 1922. These rumors were based on the supposition that the villagers feared a boycott of the play by nationals of the countries formerly at war with Germany and that the old players could not perform. It is true that if spectators remained away from the Passion Play, it would spell ruin for almost every family in Oberammergau. For the savings of the whole village are thrown into the production. But there's no danger of such misfortune this year. Already more than 50,000 applications for seats have been received from Americans and Englishmen. Le Cri de Paris, a flippant anti-German weekly, recently said: "The 'Holy Virgin' has married; the 'Christ' married far from Oberammergau; 'Judas,' a private soldier, fell before Verdun, and 'Joseph,' a fervent communist, was killed at Rosenheim by the white guards. There's only one element of truth in all that. Otilie Zwink, who played Mary in 1910, was married the following year. Hence she's ineligible for that part this year. But 'Judas'—Johann Zwink—was not killed in the war. And Anton Lang, Christ of 1910 and 1920, will play in the same role again this year. Here is the cast, as it is officially announced: Christ, Anton Lang; Peter, Andreas Lang; Judas, Guido Mayr; Annas, Sebastian Lang; Herod, Gregor Breitsamer; John, Melchior Breitsamer; Calaphas, Hugo Rutz; Pilate, Hans Mayer; Mary, Martha Veit; Mary Magdalene, Paula Rendl; George Lang, a sculptor, will act as director. Nearly 700 will take part. One hundred and twenty-two will have speaking parts. There will be 58 musicians, 41 singers, 25 scenic shifters, 60 ushers and 50 guards. Most of the players in every day life are farmers or wood carvers. Anton Lang, impersonator of Christ, is a potter.

Can You See Your Ribs?

"It wasn't that I wanted to get fat,—no, I just wanted to put on about 6 pounds more flesh, then I'd be right. I've nibbled at diets, gorged big meals, I've haunted health resorts, been to fine climates, gussied milk, buttermilk, olive oil, I've had my stomach pumped, digestion aids, and a score of other 'wonder' works. Finally, it dawned on me. None of these things was building up the new red blood cells I needed. I took S. S. S., the greatest red-blood-cell builder, firm-flesh producer, blood-cleanser known. I put on 7 pounds in a month, and my nerves, instead of strings feel like wires. S. S. S. has the world beat."

S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable in its medicinal ingredients. It has produced amazing results in building up run-down, thin-blooded, ambitious men, and in making women of all ages more plump and beautiful, and younger looking. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

Clara Quintet Knocks Wichita Out; Sunset Easily Defeats Olney

Wichita High school's championship aspirations were knocked higher than a kite this forenoon when the fast Clara quintet, principally through the efforts of Millard Chambers, knocked them out of the district title running by a score of 22 to 23. It was easily the fastest and best played game of the tournament and there was no doubt about the honors going to the better team. Both outfits were considerably handicapped by a slippery floor, but it was just as much a handicap for one team as another. It was simply a case of "to much chambers." There were three of them, all brothers, in the lineup and each played a whirlwind game. Millard Chambers, especially, stuck out like a sore thumb throughout the contest. He entered the fray with a bandaged hand, but it did not seem to bother him much. He was the thick of every play and though he played one of the guard positions, he caged as many field goals as any member of his team. Both Chambers were wonderful exhibition of guarding and it was due to their defense rather than their offense which turned the tide. Practically every Wichita field goal was made under pressure due to the close Clara blocking.

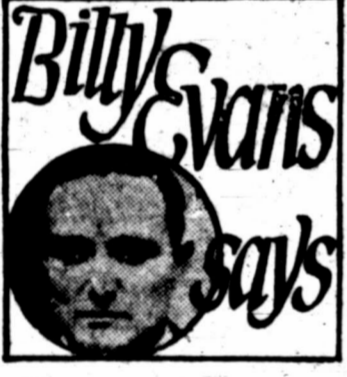

The first half ended with the score in a 13 to 13 deadlock. First one team would take a two-point lead and then the other would start off the same way, but the Chambers brothers cut loose in the final 10 minutes and ran up a lead that was impossible to overcome. Emmet Elrod enabled Sunset to get into the finals tomorrow night by his stellar shooting and all-around work. Emmet scored 23 of his team's 45 points while the Olney quintet, which rode roughshod over Brockmorton yesterday, scored but 27, counters. Olney was a bit handicapped soon after the game started when West was barred along with J. Martin of Sunset for unnecessary roughness, but it is doubtful if they would have won with West in the whole game. Though Elrod clocked up the most points, the work of Captain R. Martin of Sunset was worthy of note.

After the games coaches Rogers of Clara and Admire of Sunset drew tags to see which team would play Megargle tonight. Clara picked the number while Sunset will meet Olney tomorrow night when it clashes with the winner of the Clara-Megargle contest for the district title. The scores:

IT WASN'T HIS FAULT

CAPT. "BUCK" JOHNSON, Wichita High.

Billy Evans says

Without a good infield a ball club hasn't much chance to get anything.

Most essential to a good infield is a shortstop and second baseman.

The Detroit team had trouble with those two spots last year, and as a result the Tigers didn't do very well.

All of which leads us up to the question as to which club in the major leagues has the best infield defense.

The addition of Heinie Groh to the New York Giants just about brings them to par to McGraw's aggregation.

The coming of Groh gives McGraw the two leading third sackers in the National League. Since both of them cannot be used at that position, McGraw will be forced to make a shift.

Groh is a veteran, and has played third base for such a long time that McGraw will undoubtedly do his experimenting with Frisch. No doubt Frisch will prove to be as valuable a second baseman as he was on third.

An infield made up of Groh at third, Bancroft at short, Frisch at second and Kelly on first is a mighty fine combination. There are other first basemen who are perhaps more flashy than Kelly, but the big fellow plays a mighty acceptable first.

In addition, McGraw has Rawlings in reserve. Rawlings is a mighty good man to have around, as he can fill in anywhere on the infield with the exception of first base. He is the aggressive type so much in favor with McGraw.

There are a number of other good infields in the two leagues, but it is doubtful if any of them will quite measure up to the standard set by the Giants.

The addition of McInnes to Cleveland will greatly strengthen the Indians' defense. His presence will do much to steady Sewell and Wambegans.

The Washington infield is a real combination, now that the Nationals have acquired Peckinpugh. Joe Judge at first, the brilliant Harris at second, Shanks at third and Peck at short makes a great defense.

The infield is the big thing in baseball.

WONDER MAN OF BASKETBALL

By BILLY EVANS. Introducing the "wonder man" of basket ball, Coach Meanwell of the University of Wisconsin.

Every sport has its so-called miracle performers. However, it seems that basketball has been overlooked in the shuffle.

Like many others who have achieved fame in the world of sport, Dr. Meanwell's opportunity to prove his worth was largely accidental.

During 13 years of coaching Meanwell has developed teams that have won 201 out of 217 games.

In nine seasons of coaching at universities of Wisconsin and Missouri his teams have won 140 games out of 155.

Of the 155 games played by these colleges, 120 of them were against teams representing the Western Intercollegiate and Missouri Valley conferences.

During seven years at Wisconsin his teams have won four championships, finished in a tie for another and third twice.

Twice, while at Wisconsin, his teams went through an entire season undefeated. On four other occasions his teams have suffered only one defeat during the season.

Basket ball is one of the most uncertain games of all the sports, which speaks all the more for Meanwell's uncanny ability to develop winners.

Made His Debut in 1911. Coach Meanwell's first experience in intercollegiate basketball was during the season of 1911-1912. Up to that time Wisconsin, while fairly successful in basketball, had never won a western conference championship.

Shortly after the start of the 1911-1912 season, Haskell Noyes, former Yale star, who had been coaching Wisconsin, was forced to quit.

Every effort was made to secure a professional coach to take charge of the team. At the time D. Meanwell was in charge of the men's gymnasium at Wisconsin. He offered his services as coach until a successor for Noyes had been decided upon.

With only mediocre material, and a coach who was merely a substitute until some one else could be secured, Wisconsin resigned itself to a poor year in basketball.

The opening game of the season resulted in a victory. It was very unexpected. Then followed six straight wins. The athletic authorities began to think Meanwell was the man of the hour. He was given the position of coach.

At the close of the season Wisconsin had not only won the first western title in the history of the university but had gone through the entire season without a defeat.

In six years at Wisconsin Meanwell turned out four championship teams and two that finished third.

Then he went to the University of Missouri and won two titles for that institution in the Missouri Valley Conference.

In the interim Wisconsin had been having its troubles in basket ball. It was decided to call Meanwell back to again put the Badgers on the map. He did so by ending the season of 1920-1921 in a tie for first place.

TOURNAMENT SHOTS

By PAUL W. LARKIN. There wasn't much regret expressed when Knox City was eliminated in the first round by Megargle to the tune of 41 to 21.

The Knox leader proved to be a good crabbler. Nothing seemed to be agreeable to him from the time the meeting opened in the morning until his team was eliminated.

In fact, the majority of teams feared that Wichita Falls would have the advantage on an indoor court. Coach Tate, however, is full of confidence and even offered to play all his games outside if the others would play inside.

The teams failed to take advantage of this generous offer and voted to play the first round outside and all others with the possible exception of the finals inside.

Two of the teams—Bryson and Bellevue—were unfortunate in going out in the first round. It is our opinion that these two could have beaten some of the other winners.

Olney ran up the largest total of the first day by winning from Brockmorton 60 to 23. Evans and West could not be topped.

The Wichita-Bryson contest was by far the most thrilling of the day. The Red and Black rosters were almost ready to give up about the middle of the second half. The Jack county boys overcame a nine-point lead, but "Cherry" Johnson took things into his own hands late in the game and pushed his team out in front again.

Gerald Coffey had the best forward of the game and was the greater part of the game had to watch two men, York of Bryson

University and Caseys Opponents in Feature League Battle Tonight

There's another treat in store for City league fans tonight when the University club, league leaders, and Knights of Columbus, runner-up, clash at 8 o'clock in the first game of the league twin bill. A defeat for the varsity would throw it into a tie with the Caseys, while a victory will assure them of a tie for the top rung when the curtain falls, even if they should lose their next game.

Neither team is reported to be in the best of shape. Harry Viner has a bad foot, while his nose is still a bit wobbly. Bill Viner's arm has never got back into shape since he injured it in the Burk game a couple of weeks ago, despite several visits to the doctor.

The Knights, on the other hand, may have to play without the services of Gerald Coffey. Coffey joined the Red and Black team to pull it through the district tournament and may not feel equal to the task of playing with the Knights. The last time he was missing from the Casey lineup, the team went to pieces and lost its only game of the season.

The Elks and Methodists will wind up the night's hostilities.

TODAY'S Sport Angle

A recent news item carried the statement that golfers who desired to compete in national amateur championship next summer would have to convince the eligibility committee that they are of championship caliber.

In other words, the committee on rating doesn't want any player other than a star to try to enter the championship event.

Certainly the year Outmet defeated Ray and Yardon, no one gave him much of a chance before the start of the tournament.

It would seem that no player would care to enter unless he believed he had a chance. Therefore it doesn't seem fair to have a committee count him out before play—B. E.

BREAD PROVIDED FOR FAMILIES OF UNEMPLOYED HERE

Salvation Army distributes food to many who face starvation.

Donations by dealers help much with work.

Soup, Meat and Milk Given Where There is Sickness—Many Are Being Helped.

With a big percentage of Wichita falling laboring population out of employment, the Salvation Army is again being waged in their behalf by the Salvation Army. The situation, one of the most serious in this city's history will continue so until warm weather comes, and it is taxing the resources of the Army to meet the demand.

There are 30 to 40 families that are supplied with bread daily, the number of loaves being determined by the number of sick. This bread is being contributed, for the most part, by local bakeries which are giving splendid help to the Army in its work.

Where there is sickness, soup, meat or milk is given, much of this also being donated.

In addition, in families where there are children, assortments of groceries are given to the number of 15 to 25 daily. The Army has bought in large quantities so as to obtain low prices and are distributed by the Army.

In nearly all of these homes, according to Ma Burdick, there are men able and willing to work, but unable to find employment at any wage whatever. Until there is more work for them to do, the Army is doing its best.

Single men are given orders on a restaurant for one meal occasionally two, but Army officials feel that such cases cannot be handled too generously without receiving the amount available for men with families. Twenty-five cent beds are also provided in some cases.

PROPRIETRESS OF HOTEL DRAWS FINE OF $200 AND COST

Mrs. Roy A. Taylor, proprietress of a local hotel was fined $200 and costs by Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law Friday morning in criminal case No. 4272. The total fine amounted to $222.15.

ARREST MEXICAN AND HIS WIFE ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Charged with having found $500 in money left by "Uncle Jimmy" Bateson, who died last December and applying it to their own use and benefit, Espalanto Cuella and wife, Mexican, were arrested Friday morning. Charges of theft over $50 were placed against each.

Special Investigator George Hawley and Detective Robert Goodell made the arrest, following a day of investigations. It is stated that Cuella rented the house in which "Uncle Jimmy" had lived on Bonner street and where he died.

Shortly after the Mexican and his family moved into the house some valuable papers, which Bateson had, were turned over to Reverend Benicente of the Catholic church of this city. It was noted that a short time later that Cuella purchased a Ford automobile and that he and his wife and family were all wearing new clothes.

According to the officers, Cuella told the commission that he had carried papers worth contained $500. He stated that he had spent all of it but a small portion. The automobile has been delivered to the officers.

By the terms of the Bateson will the residue of his estate after the payment of certain specified sums is to go to some worthy charitable institution.

Three executors were named in the will and Father Boniface, one of them, has qualified.

LESSEES OF HOTEL PROPERTIES HEARD BY RENT COMMITTEE

Lessees of three rooming house properties appeared before the chamber of commerce rent committee Friday afternoon to complain of rental charges they believed exorbitant.

One is paying $127 for ten rooms that are sub-let when all are occupied, for over $200; another is paying $200 monthly for 29 rooms and a third is paying $100 for 20 rooms. The last two, in the business section, reported very poor patronage that made it impossible to meet expenses. The committee is expected to meet with the property owners at a later date.

The only residence tenant to appear before the committee testified Friday afternoon to paying $60 for a six-room house, half of which is sub-let for $30. The tenant had no lease on the house. Asked why she did not move to a cheaper place, of which there are many available now, she said it was too costly and troublesome to move.

One business tenant who appeared before the committee for the first time, said the landlord did not accept the invitation to appear before the committee, reappeared Friday to again ask for charges that they were $120 higher than the highest in the city. Members of the committee promised additional effort in the matter.

REDUCTION IN BRITISH NAVY IS RECOMMENDED

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Reduction of the British navy, navy and air forces and their coordination under a ministry of defense, was recommended in the report of the economy committee headed by Sir Eric Geddes, issued today.

The committee recommends reduction in the naval personnel of 25,000 men and in the army of 50,000 men.

The committee, which was asked to show how 100,000,000 pounds would be clipped from the national expenditures, accounts for 7,000,000,000 pounds in the report and suggests further reductions.

The committee points out that it is not a civilian, but a military, that is to be reduced. It is the extent of the government's military arm that is to be reduced. It is the extent of the government's military arm that is to be reduced.

SAYS CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION PLAYS POLITICS IN OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Members of the civil service commission were attacked in the senate today by Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, who charged that they were "prostituting their office for partisan purposes."

"The commission is lending itself to the most outrageous abuses," said Senator Caraway, citing Arkansas cases in which he declared the commission had raised examination grades of politicians who were seeking civil service jobs.

The Arkansas senator asserted the commission had refused to permit any one to examine the papers in these cases and added: "They are lending themselves to positive fraud. Their conduct is a disgrace."

Senator Caraway's objections succeeded in holding up temporarily a proposition in an appropriation bill to increase the salaries of commissioners from $5,000 to $6,000.

CREDIT MEN WILL START ADJUSTMENT BUREAU SHORTLY

An adjustment bureau, planned to keep business men out of bankruptcy court, is to be established in Wichita Falls shortly, it was learned Friday. The Association of Credit Men of this city is arranging for such a bureau.

The bureau operates in cases that would, ordinarily, get into the bankruptcy courts, and it works unofficially in much the same manner that a bankruptcy court works officially. It is said, a man whose business is threatened with bankruptcy can, which would be the best means of handling it without the red tape and expense incident to court proceedings, will be returned next month on board the Erucayuan training ship "18 De Julio" for burial on the island of South Georgia, near where he died of cancer. It was announced today.

PRISON COMMISSION HOLDS A CONFERENCE WITH GOVERNOR NEFF

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—The members of the prison commission are conferring with Governor Neff today in regard to financing the prison system of Texas until the 1922 crops are sold. It is understood that the governor has offered to advance from $500,000 to $700,000 and the offer is being discussed in the conference.

Since the proposed loan by the banks of Texas was abandoned because the banks could not get sufficient security to enable them to make the loan, it is thought that this offer will receive considerable attention from the governor and commissioners.
