Grip Left You a Bad Back?

ARE you getting over a cold or grip only to find yourself a victim of backache? Are you suffering headaches, too, dizzy spells, a dull, tired, worn-out feeling and annoying kidney irregularities? Then don't delay! Physicians agree that a vast number of the worst cases of kidney trouble are the result of germ diseases. In every infectious disease the system is alive with poisonous germs and bacteria. That kidneys are overworked with the rush of new work; they break down, become congested, inflamed and diseased. Too often the real trouble is lost sight of until some dangerous kidney ailment sets in. If your kidneys are falling behind, don't wait for serious trouble. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These Wichita Falls Folks Found Relief

A. M. GROSS, retired farmer, 306 Lee street, says: "My back and kidneys got in pretty bad shape caused by a cold settling in my kidneys. My back was sore and lame across the small part and when I stooped such sharp pains caught me I could hardly straighten. I became dizzy at times and was so weak I had to sit down and rest. I tried all kinds of remedies but found no relief until I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills which I did and before long Doan's cured me entirely."

MRS. M. A. FERLMAN, 800 Virginia avenue, says: "My back and kidneys were in bad shape caused from doing so much heavy work. My back was so sore and lame I could hardly get up when I was down and when I did bend sharp pains caught me in the small part of my back. Nights I was unable to sleep my back hurt me so. My kidneys were out of order. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills which I did and before long Doan's cured me entirely."

A. LUDOLPHUS, plumber, 1604 Travis street, says: "My back and kidneys gave me trouble caused by heavy work. My back was lame and sore across the small of it and I could hardly do my work. When I stooped such sharp pains caught me I could hardly straighten. My back was stiff and my kidneys were irregular in action and bothered me at night. My neighbors advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at the Rexall drug store. Doan's soon cured me of the complaint."

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

THE LARGEST CHAIN DEPARTMENT STORE ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

Meeting Places Named for Drive Workers Tuesday

The Civic league membership campaign workers are armed cap-a-pie—pens, pencils, membership blanks and a full quota of blank check books—ready to go when the reveille sounds Tuesday morning, filled with the holy zeal inspired by a vision of a thousand-dollar membership drive and a completely rehabilitated coffers. (What's the use of being a militant suff if it can't be military?)

Anyway, the league workers are going to beat it out of their several households Tuesday morning just as soon as the dishes are washed and the children are packed off to school. Some of them may even leave the dishes, according to the exigencies of the occasion—and hit them to the nearest corps meeting place. From wherever that may be they will scatter into the several thousand sacred precincts of home in Wichita Falls and offer fellowship in the liveliest and most progressive woman's organization in the city to whoever is willing to pay the price. And the price will be extremely nominal—one dollar for new memberships, with the privilege of subscribing an additional dollar or two or ten if the subscriber has any such feeling.

"Tell 'em it won't be a tin peddler, a vendor of hand-made lace, or a magazine agent working his way through college," one prospective campaigner begs. "It'll be the Civic league knocking at the door, and if the front door is unresponsive we will be glad to go to the back."

The committees will meet as follows, all promptly at 9 a. m.

Mrs. J. W. Stone's committee, all except Mrs. Johnson's division, at the Hills drug store, Tenth and Van Buren.

Mrs. Johnson's division, at Kemp and Tenth.

Mrs. E. E. Milburn and Mrs. M. H. Glover's divisions, corner Burnett and Tenth. (Episcopal church corner.)

Mrs. Duke's division, corner Alma and Huff.

Mrs. Hubert Harrison's entire committee, at the chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Curlee's entire committee, at the home of Mrs. W. W. Silk.

The workers all meet at 12 o'clock at the Y. C. A.

WINS MUSICAL SUCCESS

VESTA CLARE HASTINGS.

Vesta Clare Hastings, who made her piano debut recently in Carnegie hall, New York City, is a Wichita Falls girl, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hastings of 2907 Eighth street. Mrs. Hastings was present at her daughter's recital. Favorable comment on her performance was made by the critics of Musical America, the Brooklyn Eagle, the New York World, the Hudson Dispatch and the New York Morning Telegraph.

The World's comment follows: "Vesta-Clare Hastings, a talented young pianist from Texas, made her debut before a New York audience Sunday afternoon at Carnegie hall. Her remarkable technique, combined with a charming personality, has gained quite a reputation for her in the southern states."

"Of particular interest to Jersey folks is the fact that in private life she is Mrs. D. Bryan, wife of Professor D. Bryan, who is an old resident of Hoboken and well known in Jersey musical circles. Mr. Bryan operates the Bryan school of Music at 140 Fourth street, Union Hill, New Jersey."

IDEALISM'S VALUE THEME OF ADDRESS BEFORE KIWANIAN

DR. H. T. STOUT OF FT. WORTH SPEAKS AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON.

SAMPLES OF PROGRAM OF MONDAY NIGHT GIVEN

T. W. C. Artists Present Musical Numbers of Excellence at Meeting.

Using as a basis for his address the idea that physical and material power alone is insufficient to produce a great nation, club or organization of any kind, Dr. H. T. Stout, president of Texas Woman's college, gave to the local Kiwanian club Monday noon a clear conception of the value of service and idealistic power.

Dr. Stout's address came at the close of a well ordered program in which musical entertainment by Carl Venh, dean of the T. W. C. music school, and faculty members of the same institution served as a prominent feature.

In stressing the importance of service and idealism, Dr. Stout contrasted the international prominence of Russia, China and Turkey, three nations possessing unlimited material power, with Switzerland, Scotland and Greece, inconspicuous materialistic standpoints.

The first three, he declared, had never been regarded as nations of formidable importance, mainly because of their lack of idealism and their failure to serve. On the other hand, the latter triumvirate, Dr. Stout said, had produced dominating figures in the musical, literary and art worlds and had, at some time or other, held positions of international power.

From this illustration was pointed the need of striving for worth while ideals, and in concluding, the speaker charged the Kiwanians with continuing their practice of building constructively.

Dr. Stout illuminated his talk with many humorous passages and held his hearers' attention from the first.

Preceding the main address a sample of the music to be given Monday night at the Wichita theater was presented by the Kiwanians of the T. W. C. artists now in the city.

Two vocal selections by Ellen Lindsay, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Garver, were followed by a series of readings by Miss Alma Cowan that completely suspended all gastronomic operations. Miss Cowan was elevated to an improvised stage and the Kiwanians felt their dinner get cold in order to better see and hear her. The three numbers which she gave were enthusiastically received.

Following Miss Cowan came Bernard U. Taylor, vocalist, whose spirited rendition of Kipling's "They're Hangin' Down" was followed by a plaintive negro melody, were musical gems.

The real feature, however, came with the two violin solos by Mr. Venh, accompanied by Mrs. Venh. "The Music Master" held his hearers in rapt attention during the rendition of both solos and climaxed fittingly the splendid work of the other.

The day's business session consisted of clearing up details on the ticket selling campaign for Monday night's musical and in the selecting of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Fitzgerald as life, honorary members of the Kiwanian club.

H. G. Smith won the attendance prize, a silk shirt offered by J. N. Sherrill, while J. T. Yeargin furnished silent boosts in the form of novel tractors.

 IF YOU THINK YOU HAVE TROUBLE, CONSIDER THE FARMER.

If the reader has business troubles and is in despair and tempted to give up he might consider the farmer.
 The farmer buys in a seller's market and sells in a buyer's market. He hasn't anything much to say that he shall pay for what he buys and as little to say that he shall receive for what he sells.
 His crops are dependent in large measure upon the weather. A drought may wipe out his crops entirely. A freeze may cut them down. Too much rain will spoil them. A hail storm will destroy them. And the menace of insects adds to the hazards of farming. A new insect has appeared in South Texas. It is the corn caterpillar or borer. It destroys the corn crop and the area of infestation is spreading. It may become as widespread as the cotton boll weevil.
 After thirty years of slow, persistent advance since its appearance in this country on the Mexican border, the boll weevil has now reached the limit of cotton cultivation, except in Western Texas, southwestern Oklahoma, northeastern North Carolina and Virginia. Each step in the spread of the weevil has been against the stubborn efforts of the federal government, the states and individual farmers to hold the pest in check.
 The mild winter of 1930-31 and the wet summer of 1931 favored an abnormal multiplication of the insect throughout the territory affected. In determining the extent of its spread last year the search over a great part of the territory surveyed was for the last cotton fields rather than for the weevil because all fields were infested. It still remains to be seen, says the circular, whether the weevil can maintain existence in the extreme portions of the cotton belt in which it now finds itself.
 For the first time the states of Missouri and Kentucky were invaded by the weevil and all fields in these states were found to be infested. The gain west of the Mississippi river is very nearly equal to that east of the river. The greatest gain in any single state, however, is 15,700 square miles in North Carolina.
 So if you think you have business troubles consider the farmer with his uncertain markets, the hazards of weather and climate, the menace of insects and a multitude of other troubles.

THE PANHANDLE PIG A SUPERIOR PRODUCT.
 Despite the very heavy freight charges buyers for California packing plants are finding it profitable to invade the Panhandle of Texas for hogs. The resort hotels of California and other Pacific coast states demand a very high class of pork for which pigs weighing from 175 to 225 pounds are the most suitable. Pigs of this size when properly fattened make delectable pork, and grain and maize fed pigs are said to give better flavored meat than corn fed.
 The long distance of shipment and the high freight rates make a heavy charge against the Panhandle pig for the California consumer. Some day there will be packing plants in the Panhandle from which pork instead of pigs on foot will be shipped to the Pacific coast and to all other sections that demand a special and superior pork product. These packing plants will save the shrinkage that results from long shipments as at present and will save freight costs. They will be an incentive to the farmers of this section to raise hogs.
 Wichita Falls is a center of railroads radiating through one of the greatest maize growing belts in the United States. It would be a convenient place for one of these packing plants.
 How would you like to have your mail come addressed "Wichita Falls, Arkansas?"
 The Henrietta Review observes that congress is now about to take the bone out of the bonus.

Current Comment
 NORMALCY WITH A VENGEANCE.
 (Houston Chronicle).
 Let us admit, for the sake of argument at least that government operation of merchant ships is wrong in principle.
 Let us admit that, if the government can not operate them, there is no advantage in its owning them.
 Let us admit that their transfer to private interests is desirable.
 Let us admit that, because of a general shrinkage in values, such a transfer necessarily involves some loss.
 Let us admit that, because of our navigation laws and the unequal basis of competition they impose, some assistance is demanded from the government in behalf of the private interests which may take over these ships.
 Let us admit that there has been too much government in business, and too little business in government, not only with respect to ships, but with respect to many other things, and that we would welcome a return of economy on the one hand and of freedom from interference on the other.
 And, having admitted all this, let us ask ourselves whether the republican program represents a sensible way of solving the problem?
 What's the rush?
 Suppose the ships have shriveled in value, and suppose they are idle. Is that any warrant for offering them at a tenth of their original cost?
 We have heard much carolling and crooning about "normalcy" and "expertness" and "business methods" and "budgets" and other alleged factors of efficiency at Washington.
 Leaving this out of consideration, and, harking back to ordinary horse sense, would anybody outside a crowd of cheap politicians say it was good judgment, or shrewd, or even practical, to dump 1400 steel ships on the market in a single day?
 Would any corporation consider such a move? Wouldn't the most bewhiskered proprietor of the most out of the way rubs store know better?
 Does it amount to less than sheer, unnecessary, boneheaded defiance of the law of supply and demand?
 If these ships were yours, would you try to dispose of them wholesale at such a time? Wouldn't

You know intuitively that such a move would be equivalent to throwing them away?
 They are supposed to cost more than $2,000,000,000. Making every allowance for the season of inflation in which they were built, for the succeeding decline in prices, for depreciation, for the reluctance of private capital to invest in ships, aren't they still worth more than $200,000,000, and couldn't the government reasonably hope to realize more than $200,000,000, with even ordinary care?
 Allowing that it costs something to maintain them in idleness, or to operate them under unfavorable trade conditions, wouldn't it be better to stand a year's deficit than confess ourselves such nincompoops?
 What are the people in general going to think of an administration which, in spite of all its fine orating, is willing to hand them a loss of $1,800,000,000 without so much as a wiggle, and then sanction a subsidy out of the public treasury that will more than reimburse the purchasers?
 What have we run up against, ignorance or chicanery? What is the essence of this game, rotten politics, or plain graft?
 Back to normalcy, indeed; we'll say so; the normalcy of those good old days when Tweed, or the Union Pacific, or Quay, showed the boys how to get theirs.

TODAY'S TALK
 BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
THE JOY OF LIFE.
 Cream rises to the top. It is the richest of the milk. In this act of nature is a truth significant of all nature. It puts the best nearest to us—if we will but take it.
 Joy saturates all life. The dumb animals know it. Hardly is a kitten-given freedom in this world before it starts to play.
 Most of us crush the flowers of our lives before they come to their bloom and fragrance, simply by not remembering that joy is for us—first of all.
 And joy is everywhere! Before all else we must draw it into our hearts and give it a regular place there. Joy wants to come in wherever it will be appreciated.
 How stimulating it is—how rare in its simplicity and expression!
 If you have joy within you, you understand what the stir of life means, and you know what to look for to satisfy your soul.
 Joy—that is aroused by beauty, that is stimulated by work and service, that keeps growing more wonderful under the spur of laughter, kindness and justice.
 Joy that rises out of the ground after the fresh shower. Joy that glides the coat of the ground when the sun kisses the earth through parted clouds. Joy that comes from having done your best. Joy that dances from the petals and leaves of the flowers and gives shade from trees. Joy that runs about—hunting out people.
 The joy of life. Just glad because you are here and are given a chance at something.
 And what joy is possible in recreation, in sport and the out-of-doors, in study and reading, in travel.
 Also the joy we get from our friends, in trying each day to understand them just a little better and just a little deeper.
 Joy will be with you if you remember that it is here—that it is everywhere you go. But you must take it—and give it!

JUST FOLKS—By—Edgar A. Guest
THE GARDEN CATALOGUE.
 There's never frost nor blight nor weeds,
 Nor neighbor's chickens, cats or dogs,
 To ruin all the tender seedlings;
 That flourish in the catalogues;
 The humblest vine that's planted there
 Blossoms without the slightest care.
 There are no withered stalks to see,
 No pitiful attempts to thrive,
 No shrub that struggles desperately
 To catch the sun and stay alive;
 In catalogues the larkspur seems
 To match the gardener's fondest dreams.
 The red geranium is strong,
 Its clump of blossom full and round,
 No wind storm ever comes along
 To sweep the cosmos to the ground,
 No youngster ever bats a ball
 Among the roses, straight and tall.
 I turn the pages o'er and o'er
 And see the pansies dark as wine,
 And think, as I have thought before,
 These are superior to mine;
 In my poor garden, never yet
 Has bloomed such lovely mignonette.
 Since pansies have the storms to face,
 And men must battle day by day,
 They cannot wear the charm and grace
 Their printed catalogues display;
 Life is much sterner than it looks
 And scars are seldom shown in books.

FROM DEATH CELL TO FREEDOM
 COHEN, CLEARED, MAKING GOOD

JOSEPH COHEN
 "THE GOVERNOR'S REPRISAL CAME JUST IN TIME."
 "IT'S NOT THE MAN IN THE CHAIR WHO IS BEING PUNISHED, BUT THE MEN WHO ARE LEFT BEHIND."
 "THIRTEEN MEN PASSED BY MY CELL ON THEIR WAY TO DEATH."
 Study of Joseph Cohen by Artist E. H. Higgins, sketched as Cohen told his dramatic story.

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
 NEW YORK, March 9.—After two years at the door of death—the grim, green door in Sing Sing—Joseph Cohen has come back.
 Freed from the charge of murder which had been hanging over his head for nearly five years, he is hard at work on his old job—unloading chickens in the Washington market. But he is no longer the same worried, fearful, "King Joe."
 "Once," he says with a rasping voice, "I was within seven minutes of the chair. The governor's reprieve came just in time. If it had been delayed I wouldn't be here now."
 Cohen had been convicted of investigating the Rosenthal case in popular interest. In 1927 he was sentenced to the death house.
 "I was in a daze from the start of the trial," said Cohen today. "The whole business was so unbelievable. But when I found myself in the little gray house up the river I knew that it was real—all too real."
 "I couldn't bear to look at the bars. So I slept with my head toward the door. One night I heard a buzzing noise on the other side of the wall. It was the electric chair. I was nearly frantic."
 "Thirteen men passed by my cell on the way to their death. As each would go by, there would be a noisy goodbye from the other men."
 Most Terrible Sound in World
 "Suddenly we would hear the buzz of the motor. It's the most terrible sound in the world—absolutely indescribable. We would lose our heads and scream. But—soon everything was quiet again."
 "It is not the man in the chair who is being punished," Cohen said earnestly, "but the men who are left behind. There is a living death. Any of them would rather die immediately than linger in the death house."
 "I wanted to die. The only thing that kept up my courage was the thought of my innocence and the stigma that would have been left on my family."
 "One day a youngster broke loose from the keeper's grasp as he was being led to the chair. He ran down in front of my cell screaming. The boy was only 15. He began to yell. It was all over in a little while. The kid went through the little green door."
 Days and Nights in Solitary
 "None of us slept that night. I was taken from my cell and put in a dungeon. It was punishment for cat-calling with the rest. For three days and four nights I lay in solitary. When I got out, I couldn't talk."
 "Sometimes the men told jokes. Sometimes they laughed. But it wasn't often. They couldn't forget that little door and the buzzing noise."
 Cohen shuddered.

"There is something ironical," he continued, "about giving a man a good feed just before he goes to the chair. I have never been able to figure it out. I remember one youngster who didn't eat. He had been arrested with three others in a Bronx murder. His side-kicks told me that he was innocent. He just read and wrote until his day came."
 Finally Taken from Death House
 After Cohen was reprieved his imprisonment was commuted to life imprisonment, and he was taken from the death house.
 "I was so weak that I couldn't walk," he said smiling for the first time. "After a couple of weeks in the hospital I began to come and out my courage returned. From then on I never gave up hope."
 "And one day my dream came true. I was granted a new trial."
 "Everybody in prison seemed to share my happiness. I was nursing diphtheria patients in the hospital when the doctor came in and told me to get ready. I was going to New York."
 "It was the greatest moment of my life. I was released on bail. But it was only a few days after the courts finally freed me."
 "I'm still dazed. But I'm going to start all over."

NEW ERA IN INDUSTRY SAVES
 70 FIRMS A MILLION A YEAR

By EDWARD M. THIERRY
 NEW YORK, March 13.—A new era in industry is beginning in the United States, built on concentration, cooperation and conservation.
 Saul Singer, president of the Garment Center capitol, making this statement, points to the garment industry to prove it.
 Seventy garment manufacturers employing 15,000 people doing an annual business of $120,000,000 are housed in two skyscrapers and are proving Singer's theory of industrial centralization by saving a million dollars a year.
 Singer, just 37 this year, and 23 years ago an immigrant boy from Sebastopol, has seen his dream come true. The Garment Center capitol was his idea, a $18,000,000 building venture that was carried through in spite of handicaps and the trade's declaration that it was impossible.
 "Ideal Method of Industrial Economy."
 "What garment manufacturers have done any industry or business can do," says Singer. "It is the ideal modern method of industrial economy. Centralization eliminates waste. It prevents drifting and duplication of effort, and stimulates competition."
 "Cooperation has greatly helped the garment industry weather a period of depression. It has improved working conditions. Eventually it will result in such great savings that the manufacturers can pass the fruits of economy on to the public."
 "We haven't any patent on this cooperative scheme. Other manufacturers and wholesalers can do the same thing. It will benefit the business man and benefit the public. It makes possible a pull-together spirit—a growth in five years that under old methods would take 50 years."
 Immense Savings in Insurance Alone
 Housed in two buildings, one of 23 stories and the other of 17 stories, the 70 firms in the Garment Center capitol are saving more than $5 per cent on their fire insurance premiums. They used to pay 55 cents a thousand, Singer said, and now they pay 7 cents.
 In compensation insurance they are saving $40,000 a year by reason of cooperative medical aid. There is a hospital on the fourth floor, with two doctors and two nurses, a dentist and an oculist. Cooperative welfare work is carried on; there is a club, a gymnasium and rest rooms. All are free to employees.
 Same Motto as "Three Musketeers."
 "Our motto is 'One for all and all for one,'" said Singer. "Each business is separate, for the 70 firms manufacture all grades, all classes

LITTLE BENNY'S
 NOTE BOOK

BY LEE PAPE
 This afternoon I went an errand for me, being one cent change from $1, and on the way home I started to go past Mommy Simmings store and there was some sour balls in the window with a sign saying, 'Wilt thou, I for a cent. Me thinking, G, if I give me this cent I'll buy 3, only G, I by the time I go home and see if I can have the cent and then come back the sour balls mite not last that long. O, well, G, I guess I'll just take a chance.
 And I went in and got 1 sour balls for the cent change, and wen I got home I sed to ma, 'Hay ma, will you give me a cent if I tell you something?'
 'If you have anything you want to tell me, tell me, I dont like these bribery methods, sed ma.'
 Meaning to tell her free of charge, and I sed, 'Well G, ma, gosh, hohy amooks, you awnt to discourage me wen I'm trying to find a honest way to make a cent.'
 'O, dont be so absurd, sed ma, and I sed, 'I'll tell you will you, ma?'
 'Will I wait?' sed ma, and I sed, 'Will you give me a cent if I tell you something?'
 'No certany, I wont, wa nonsense, Id drather give you a cent not to hear it, whatever it is, sed ma.'
 'G, all rite ma, thats a bargain, now I wont even mention it any more, thanks, ma, I sed.
 And I quick run out and sat on the front steps and sucked the 1 sour balls feeling honest.
