TARIFF BILL PLANS PROTECTION FOR THE PRODUCTS OF FARM

FIRST TIME IN TARIFF HISTORY SUCH ATTEMPT IS MADE.

AVERAGE OF RATES TO BE HIGHER THAN BEFORE

Senate More Responsive to Demands of Farmer Than is the House.

By CHAS. S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent Wichita Daily Times.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Although it probably will be the first of April before the senate finance committee will be ready to report out the permanent tariff bill, enough facts have been disclosed to make something of a comparison between this and other tariff measures which have preceded it. It is certain that the general average of the rates will be high, but the most outstanding feature is the fact that for the first time in tariff history there is an effort to afford real protection to the products of the farm and ranch in a permanent tariff bill.

The so-called emergency tariff passed last year was a temporary measure, but this bill is intended to be permanent in character and while the rates to be prescribed in the permanent tariff on those products of the farm are somewhat less than in the temporary measure, there is not such a very wide difference. Another significant feature of this bill is that the senate demands of the farmers for protection than was the house. Senators claim this is due to the fact that the agricultural bloc has a greater relative strength in the senate than in the house.

Take the item of wool. The Fordney bill, as it came from the house, placed a duty of 25 cents a pound, secured contents, as the basis for the wool schedule. The senate has increased this to 32 cents a pound. Under the Payne-Adrich tariff, wool, listed as the celebratory tariff, had a basic rate of 11 cents a pound in the grease. It is true that wool shrinks heavily in washing, much of it not more than 10 per cent, so that the rate in the new bill will be much higher than in the Payne-Adrich law.

Hides, on which the senate bill will provide a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem, were not given any measure of protection in the Fordney bill. Of course they were not in the Underwood bill, nor were they even in the Payne-Adrich bill, and it is necessary to go back to the Dingley bill to find a tariff on hides.

Wheat lumber the rates are the same as those carried in the Fordney bill, with the exception that the duty of 50 cents a thousand on rice, lemons and many other products which, in times past, were left to face competition on the world market unaided and alone.

Many leaders among the demonstrators insist that it is impossible to afford protection for agricultural products and point to the fact that market prices on items carried in the emergency tariff shrunk after that bill was passed. In answer to this, Representative J. J. Dickinson, republican and a leader in the farm bloc of the house, says:

"Had it not been for the emergency tariff the shrinkage in values would have been immeasurably greater and I am convinced there could not have been the early recovery which has taken place. We had the only cash market and Australia was ready to pour in her wool and beef, Argentine her corn and Canada her wheat. The emergency tariff literally saved the day for the American farmer."

FISH HATCHERY AT DALLAS TO PRODUCE OVER TWO MILLION

AUSTIN, TEXAS, March 22.—The state fish hatchery at Dallas will produce approximately 2,700,000 baby fish this spring, according to W. W. Boyd, state game, fish and oyster commissioner. The hatchery at Dallas, the only one in the state under state supervision, consists of 27 ponds. Each pond provides space for twenty breeders. Mr. Boyd said, with each breeder expected to average about 5,000 baby fish. The other hatchery in the state producing on a large scale is the government hatchery at San Marcos.

The breeders in the tanks at Dallas spawn during the months of March and April, and with the exception of crappies, the offspring are ready for distribution the latter part of May. Crappies do not stand shipping during the hot weather. Mr. Boyd said, and are shipped in the fall.

The various kinds of fish placed in the ponds to spawn are large mouth bass, catfish, rock bass, crappie and bream, a variety of sunfish which grow to a weight of one to two pounds. Small mouth bass breeding is not successful in ponds. Mr. Boyd said, as the fish demands and must have running water for spawning.

The "babies" are distributed to virtually all the acceptable waters in the northern part of the state. The state department has an agreement with the federal authorities in charge of the hatchery at San Marcos whereby the state distributes fish in the northern part of the state and the fish from the federal hatchery are used to supply the waters in the southern part.

Parties having private lakes may obtain the young fish free of charge. Mr. Boyd said. About all they have to do is ask for them. Last year a large number of fish were placed in Lake Austin, a few miles from here.

The dividing line agreed upon for the supply of fish by the state and federal hatcheries is as follows: El Paso to Sweetwater on the Texas

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY SKIN

Irritation and Breaking Out Often Healed Over Night, Says Skin Specialist

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickly by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of the sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation. Mentho-Sulphur lightens acne right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream. —(Adv.)

Stunt Program Features Meeting Business Women

A stunt program featured the meeting of the Business Women Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. with a brief business session during supper.

The "stunts" began with the bridge group for March, which sat at a square table in the middle of the dining room in excellent view of the surrounding tables, and hidden to each other's eyes. A huge angel food birthday cake in the middle of the table furnished incentive for the contestants, and was later cut. In the cut Miss Era Dawson found the ring in her slice. Miss Frances Brooks was awarded the remainder of the cake for most success in the contest.

Other stunts included the "Bluebird's Wives" illustration, an "explaining to music" demonstration, and a school days stunt in costume.

During the business session, at which Mrs. C. P. Carter, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, several announcements were made including consideration of the open house for Thursday evening, the Dramatic club work, and others. The president suggested that since the bluebird wives were brought for the purpose of identification, with the rapidly growing membership, an ever-increasing problem in the matter of remembering names, they should be worn with more regularity.

JARRATT-HALE WEDDING TONIGHT; HOSPITALITIES HONOR THE BRIDE-ELECT

The marriage of Pat W. Jarratt and Miss Mary Belle Hale will be solemnized Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the First Baptist church, with Rev. Dr. Groselock officiating. A very beautiful service has been planned, and the church being decorated for the occasion today.

Patrice Honor Bride

Two beautiful hospitalities this week have honored the bride-elect and her wedding party, the first having been given Monday afternoon by Mesdames J. L. Staley and Chester Wayne at the home of the latter. About fifty guests enjoyed a progressive series of bridge and "42" in surroundings made delightfully pleasant with a profusion of lovely cut flowers and fern. The party, which also honored Miss Virginia Wynne, house guest of the hostess, included among its prettily planned features a miscellaneous dinner for the bride and bridesmaids. The gifts were presented in a green and white umbrella shower, carrying out the St. Patrick's color scheme of the day, and a green and white significant of April shower and blossoms, were plate favors in the dainty refreshment course served at the close of the bride's party.

In the hostesses' house party were Mesdames Wynne, Staley and W. L. Hawkins, and Misses Virginia Wynne, Hale, and Chester Wayne. The games, Mrs. Dudley Golding was most successful at bridge and Mrs. E. E. Hardin, of Oklahoma City, at "42," while Miss Susie Willis and Mrs. E. F. Morris were candidates for consolation. Mrs. Golding was remembered with a quilt pen in tones, Mrs. Hardin with a sandwich tray, Miss Willis, shoe trees, and Mrs. Morris a pretty beaded novelty.

The house guest of the hostess, Miss Hale with a handsome Madeira lunch cloth and Miss Wynne with a dainty bit of lingerie.

A two course luncheon was served late in the afternoon to the following: Mesdames R. E. Shepherd, H. E. Lewis, Dudley Golding, J. M. Heister, E. E. Hardin, L. E. Fritz, F. S. Richardson, Frank Shackelford, Dan Hubsum, M. Mitchell, J. B. Frank, F. T. Staley, W. L. Hawkins, Ralph Pond, E. F. Morris, Paul Cotner, Ike Upchurch, W. L. Hawkins, E. E. Hardin, Abe Marcus and J. E. Staley.

Misses Mary Belle Hale, Virginia Wynne, Nancy Jane Harlin, Cecilia, Adickes, Mattie, Ruth, Josephine Mayfield, Sibyl Kell, Jewel Cummings, Edna Willis, Thelma Kahn, Josephine presented, Ruby Avis, Ruby Proctor, Gretchen Avis, Marian Maer, Ruth Nollen, Billy Harper, Lois Moore, Mattie Ruth Corbett and Vera Hale, Groom Also Engagements.

A six course dinner in the rose and gold dining room at Kemp hotel was the groom-elect's commitment to the bride-to-be and her wedding and house party Tuesday evening. The dinner was faultlessly planned and served, and the table a symphony of springtime beauty with its colonial centerpiece of delicately cut glass, a broad runner of delicate fern marked the entire length of the table, and the guests' places were designated by Kepple bridesmaids' costumes were daintily complete as to veil and orange blossoms.

The dinner was served at a check, a pretty feature of the dessert course being the discovery by members of the wedding party of handsome favors in the bottom of their peach Melba glasses—diamond stone shop buckles for the maids and engraved sterling belt buckles for the men. At the conclusion of the dinner, after the coffee service, a big bride's cake was brought in and set in front of the host, who served the members of the party from his place.

Those who were present included Mesdames J. B. Evans, Fred C. Schuch of Montana, E. E. Harlin and D. L. Fritz; Misses Mary Belle and Vera Hale, Sibyl Kell, Ruby Proctor of Dallas and Cecilia Adickes; Messrs. T. E. Hale, D. L. Fritz, J. S. Glass, Jack Hale and Dr. N. H. Coleman and the host.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS IN BROWNIELAND

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"What are the other mountains?" asked Nancy anxiously.

Mr. Pim Pim and Kip listened to the Twins' story and how they had lost their way on the Glass Mountain.

"It's clear to be seen," said Pim Pim finally, "that you'll need help, my young friends, for you have passed over the two easiest mountains of the lot. The five ahead grow harder in turn until you come to the last. And you'll be lucky indeed if you can get past it."

"What are the other mountains?" asked Nancy anxiously.

"Well, said Mr. Pim Pim, "they are the Electric Mountain, the Chocolate Mountain, the Five-and-Ten-cent Store Mountain, and the Mountain That Isn't There."

"They all sound nice enough," said Nick.

"Well, just wait and see," said Kip waggling his head. "It's too bad you didn't get some of the rubber or Rubber Mountain to the tops of the soles of your shoes."

"Why?"

"Because you can't step on the

JUNIOR HI MOTHERS ENDORSE ADICKES AND BUCHANAN CANDIDACY

Junior Hi mothers, in a well attended meeting at the school auditorium Tuesday afternoon, endorsed the candidacy for school board membership of Mrs. M. M. Adickes, present member whose term expires August 1, 1923, and L. R. Buchanan, nominated at a recent meeting of the Alamo Home and School council. Many expressions of approval of Mrs. Adickes' work with the board were made.

At the close of the business meeting a good program was given, featuring the "What the Boys and Girls are Reading," and Rev. Mr. Grafton discussed what they should be reading. Both talks were excellent and informative. And provoked spirited round table discussion. During the discussion the mothers and teachers decided, by vote, that the Youth's Companion, the National Geographic and the American Magazine were three periodicals practically indispensable in the home where there are reading and growing young folks.

Mr. Glass made an excellent talk on the Good Citizenship movement in the schools, and asked for the co-operation of the parents in the home.

In the program session Mrs. E. C. Huckabee led the devotional exercise, which was followed by a song by the Junior High Girls' club. "The Marbell and the Flowers" and Miss Marian Maer played "The Cradle Song" with Miss Annette Walsh at the piano. Mrs. Kinsey's room was awarded the picture for the best attendance of mothers.

Six tables of players enjoyed the Golf club bridge games Tuesday afternoon at the club house. Mrs. H. F. Weldon capturing the club prize, a gift shop novelty. The hostesses included Misses Mont. Stanforth, Thurston Stuyton, Shepherd and Sheering. Refreshments were served to twenty-five or thirty members and guests at 8 o'clock.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon-cream. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then wash off the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan ray-killer, because it doesn't irritate.

American Women Are Careless

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take a necessary chance, which in the long run causes much pain and trouble. Feet, exposed to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause a good deal of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the morning, followed by a dose of her pills, will do you good. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial. (adv.)

GIRLS PRESENT MOST ACCEPTABLE VAUDEVILLE

Girls members of the Junior Jewish council auxiliary presented a most acceptable entertainment Tuesday night at Kemp hotel, when they entertained with a six-number vaudeville performance as an auxiliary benefit.

Every number was well presented, the entertainment opening with a song, "Sunny Tennessee" by Sophie Wolfson in costume, supported by a tenor chorus in apron dresses comprised of Misses Eva Blank, Dorra Blank, Ida Miriam Cohen, Minnie Goldberg, Martha Bergolowski, Sophie Spitz, Helen Swatt, Fannie Fisch and Stephanie Feldschmidt. The girls responded to an enthusiastic encore.

Anna Mae Cato gave the second number—a beautifully executed two-dance in orchid chiffon costume, with Miss Elvia Altman at the piano, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. George Gordon, sang a character song, "Hottentots" which was recalled several times and responded twice.

The one-act sketch, "The Hope Chest," by Jonas Knopf of Dallas, presented by Misses Eva Blank and Ida Miriam Cohen, was one of the hits of the evening, and very prettily presented by Misses Elvia Altman and Sophie Spitz. Misses Elvia Altman and Sophie Spitz were named a committee to decide on the most acceptable song. "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Blest Be the Ruler" were suggested Tuesday, and the contest was left open for the suggestion of other songs.

The membership chairman, Mrs. J. B. Hatchett, stated that of the 145 members of the auxiliary, considerably less than 100 had paid their 1922 dues, and that the treasury was badly in need of the money. Several of the captains made reports on their teams in the matter of attendance at meetings. A number of matters of interest to the auxiliary were discussed, and it was decided that the auxiliary could not be without a treasurer any longer, in the absence of Mrs. H. H. Hudson, elected to that office. Following the discussion Miss Mabel Winfrey was selected to take Mrs. Hudson's place.

Legion Auxiliary Plan to Purchase One Honor Bond

After discussion as to ways of raising the necessary $20, Mrs. J. E. Ward and Mrs. O. W. Wilson were appointed a committee to devise any practical plan, and later Mrs. H. C. Thurston was authorized to carry out, with the help of Mrs. Wilson, a plan for the selling of coffee among the auxiliary members at their meetings and returning the labels for cash on an introductory offer recently made the Auxiliary.

Price For Song.

The Auxiliary is very much interested in Mrs. Carrigan's offer of a solid gold Legion Auxiliary membership pin to the member whose suggestion of an auxiliary song is accepted, and Mrs. Curtis Atkinson, Mrs. Orville Bullington and Miss Irene Davidson were named a committee to decide on the most acceptable song. Prepare yourself for a most agreeable surprise when you inspect our Spring Corset Showing

We have gathered here for your approval the best and the newest of the foremost makers.

Prominent in this collection are examples of the new "phantom" type. Some of these corsets are so light and flexible that they can almost be drawn through a finger ring. Skillful design in them has taken the place of heavy boning. The materials used are lighter, the boning is more flexible, and fewer bones are used.

Properly fitted these corsets will support the figure perfectly, keep their shape, and wear as long as any corset you have ever had. These models may be had in various qualities and a wide range of materials.

Our expert fitters, too, have made a special study of fitting these new models. The natural and pleasing effects that skillful fitting can bring out with this type of corset causes us to predict for it a wonderful vogue.

FOREST FIRE DOES EXTENSIVE DAMAGE IN OZONA SECTION

SONORA, TEXAS, March 22.—Account was being made of the damage done yesterday by the largest and most destructive forest fires in this section in the hill country near Ozona, Crockett county. The wind blew a gale from the west, probably 40 miles an hour, making it difficult to fight the flames.

Automobiles carried volunteer fire fighters, water and provisions. The fire built an army of over 200 men was engaged in the fight, every man doing his best for more than 16 hours before the fire was under control.

J. W. Fields of Sonora was probably the heaviest loser as he lost a quantity of feed and ranch supplies, hundreds of acres of range and about 200 head of cattle.

The concern of Williams, Mosier and Kinkaid also suffered heavily, losing hundreds of acres of range and numerous sheep and goats. It will take several days to ascertain the livestock loss, as sheep and goats drifted in deep canyons.

AIDING IN CAMPAIGN TO SIGN UP A WHEAT POOL

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 22.—G. H. Alford, secretary of the Texas farm bureau federation has gone to Amarillo to aid in the campaign waged in northwest Texas to sign up a wheat pool of 2,000,000 bushels. It was reported today. Reports at bureau headquarters were that nearly 2,000,000 bushels have been already pledged.

Organizations are being effected in all counties where any considerable quantity of wheat is grown.

GAS AND FUEL OILS WILL BE IN DEMAND IN EVENT OF STRIKE

WASHINGTON, March 22.—An increased demand for gas and fuel oils may be anticipated in case of a coal strike, the bureau of mines said today, and in that connection issued a statement showing that the stock of these oils on hand February 1, last, amounted to 1,818,481,259 gallons. Based on the daily average domestic consumption it added these stocks are equivalent to 68 days' supply. The production of these oils in January amounted to 85,119,477 gallons.

Stocks of gasoline were increased in January by 119,000,000 gallons and on February 1 there was a reserve of 795,700,000 gallons, which is 120,000,000 gallons more than for the corresponding date a year ago. The record was established in May, 1921, with 800,000,000 gallons. These stocks are equivalent to a 50-day supply.

DEATH PENALTY ASKED FOR AN ALLEGED BANDIT ON TRIAL IN FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, March 22.—The death penalty was asked for John Cornish Miller, alleged bandit, who went to trial in criminal district court this morning on a charge of robbery with firearms. It is alleged he held up P. A. Force, manager of the Pennsylvania pharmacy, in a pistol battle, wounding Miller and killing Arthur "Doc" Miller, son of John. Miller, the bandit, was captured and is facing a robbery with firearms charge. It was in the court today that young Miller will plead that he is a juvenile and ask for the transfer of the case to the juvenile court.

DR. LORENZ REPEATS THE OPERATION THAT BROUGHT HIM INTERNATIONAL FAME

TWENTY MOVIE STARS GO TO JERUSALEM TO STAGE KING DAVID FILM

JERUSALEM, March 18.—Twenty stars of the American film world arrived in Jerusalem recently to prepare for the filming of the Old Testament story of King David. The big scene in the play is to be the fight between David and Goliath which will be staged a few miles north of this city. Biblical accuracy is not strictly to be adhered to, since the scenario provides a love scene after the battle.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD AGAIN HEADS BOARD

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Major General George H. Wood, Ohio, was reelected president of the board of managers of the National Homes for Disabled Veterans at a meeting last night at Sawtle, Cal. J. W. Wadsworth, New York; Colonel Roy Marston of Maine, and Captain W. S. Albright of Kansas were chosen first and second vice-presidents and secretary, respectively. The board is in charge of 10 homes for veterans of American wars.

PETITION ASKS RELEASE OF WAR-TIME PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Release of all war-time prisoners, serving terms for expression of opinion and not for overt acts, was urged in a petition signed by 80 members of the house of representatives and presented yesterday to President Harding. The joint committee of the American Civil Liberties Union, in announcing the presentation of the petition, said that 20 children whose fathers are in jail would come here next month to make a personal appeal to the president.

EDISON DECLARES POLITICS PREVENTS LEASE WITH FORD

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22.—Prediction that Henry Ford's proposal to lease the government projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., would not be accepted because of "too much politics" was made by his friend, Thomas A. Edison, in a statement here last night while en route to his winter home at Fort Meyers, Fla., where Mr. Ford will join him for a visit.

"Wall street is fighting Ford and Ford is fighting back," Mr. Edison said. "The fertilizer interests and Wall street are as one and politics will keep Ford from acquiring the property."

TWO OFFICERS ARE KILLED BY A NEGRO

Negro Is Later Shot by Two Other Officers and Is Expected to Die

VICKSBURG, MISS., March 22.—J. L. Cavitt, town marshal of Soudheimer, East Carroll parish, Louisiana, and a deputy sheriff of that parish were shot and instantly killed yesterday by a negro, Pascal Plunkett, who was shot in the head later in the day by Deputy Sheriffs S. B. and G. B. Pettis of Madison parish as he was trying to escape, according to Louisiana officials. The negro may die.

TWELVE PEOPLE ARE INJURED IN A CRASH OF CLEVELAND CARS

CLEVELAND, March 22.—Twelve persons were hurt, some of them seriously, when a heavily laden Detroit avenue trolley car crashed into the rear of a Cleveland and Southwestern interurban car in the downtown section of the city this morning. Both cars were crowded with men and women passengers bound for work when the crash occurred. Several of the injured were taken to hospitals suffering from cuts and bruises.

TRAFFIC SIGNS MAY BE REPLACED WITH SMALLER MARKERS

The "silent traffic cops" installed on downtown corners will probably be replaced with markers less conducive to accidents, it was indicated at an adjourned session of the city council Wednesday morning, when the report of the committee of citizens which investigated last Friday night's accident was received.

The committee recommended that small iron or concrete blocks, low enough for traffic to clear, be substituted for the large markers. The council is considering the installation of markers set almost flush with the ground, equipped for illumination at night, but has taken no action as yet. It is expected that one or more specimens of such a traffic marker will be put in experimentally before any general move is made.

The citizens committee, consisting of T. B. Noble, M. J. Gardner and J. A. Richoit reported as follows: "As requested by you we have examined into the circumstances in connection with the accident by which Fireman John Jenkins was injured and the chemical truck was demolished on last Thursday afternoon about 7:00 o'clock at the intersection of Ninth and Travis streets.

"The testimony which you have taken in our judgment shows that the fireman injured in this accident was in no wise to blame as he was performing his duty and trying to get to the scene of the fire as quickly as possible. We think that the driver of the freight truck was negligent and failed to perform his duty as he heard the fire whistle and failed to look for the fire equipment which we think he should have done."

DENVER BUNK HOUSE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire breaking out at 7 o'clock Tuesday night in a bunk house in the Fort Worth and Denver railroad yards just east of the union station completely destroyed the building and contents, entailing a total property loss of about $100. The flames gained headway with such rapidity after being started that the house was doomed before firemen arrived on the scene.

First public school for the blind was established in Paris 1784.

At Nashville, Tenn., Walter Gibbs was killed while trying to defend Joel Harris, a 65 year old man from masked men who were attempting to seize him. After killing Gibbs the masked men took Harris to the secluded spot and beat him severely.

At Dallas masked men entered the home of F. H. Etheridge, knocked down his daughter when she sought to prevent them from dragging off her father, took him to the outskirts of the city and beat him unmercifully.

At Beaumont a party of men seized J. A. Pelt on the porch of his home after they had beaten him over the head with a revolver and had knocked down his wife. They took him into the country where they whipped, tarred and feathered him. Pelt is 63 years of age.

These incidents were reported in Tuesday's Times. Similar incidents are being reported every day. They have become so common as to lose some of their news value. There is scarcely a community in the state that has not had its whipping and tarring party. And one such party has been followed by others. At Dallas there has been a regular epidemic of them. Men everywhere are setting themselves up as judges over other men and convicting them of misconduct and are themselves, under cover of masks, inflicting punishment. Rights guaranteed to all citizens are being overridden. No man can know when he may become the victim of malice, spite, envy and all the other things that can be hidden under a mask.

It has been said that these masked parties have not given any punishment that was not deserved. This may be true. It may be true also that some good men have taken part in these whipping parties. But they are outrages nevertheless and violations of orderly justice. They preach that might makes right and that what can be gotten away with is right and proper. They are an incentive to criminal instincts wherever these instincts exist. Their logical development is a state of terrorism, anarchy and crime. Mobbers will not have to go far before they throw down orderly government and destroy rights which men have won through long centuries of struggle and sacrifice. When the mask, the whip and the tar pot become the emblems of justice civilization will be destroyed. Isn't it time now for us to stop and look in the direction in which we seem headed?

EXIT: THE "BLUES"

Have you noticed that in vaudeville and burlesque they aren't waiting those "blue" songs as much as a few months ago?

And when you and the wife go out for the evening, if some pest starts up the phonograph the "blues" records aren't as much in evidence? If brought out, apt to be dusty?

The "blues" are passing out because a psychological wave of optimism is pulsating through the country.

When the nation was down at the mouth and keeping itself plugging along only by a grim sense of humor, the national anthem had verses like these:

"Ashes to ashes, dust to dust,
If whiskey don't get you, the ralsinjack must.
I'm goin' to put my head on a railroad line,
An' I B. O. train pacify my min'."

Let a B. O. train pacify my min'.

A market letter comments that lately no figure is created in the stock market by any news story indicating that there'll be a soldier bonus.

When the market was down low, mere mention of a bonus bill, with its financial problems, gave the market acute indignation.

The difference is all in the mental state of the American people. As the market letter puts it, "Optimism is the great force underneath the market and it is the most powerful force known in business."

Business went to pot when every one lost courage, began looking solemn and speaking in funeral tones.

Whether pessimism produced hard times, or hard times generated pessimism, doesn't make much difference.

The important point is that optimism and prosperity travel together, and that the country is getting optimistic.

Fundamentally, we haven't been critically ill—at least, not compared with the hard times of 1873. It was largely a case of financial stomach trouble. Dr. Fate put us to bed, to stay until we learned that bread, beans and round steak are more digestible over a long period than chocolate cake, lobster and candy.

Just like a patient with a sound body—can't keep him in bed after he gets restless.

Hard times come when we get pessimistic and underestimate our strength. That's a continuous human failing. It takes eight men to hold down a physical weakling when he goes crazy, yet his muscles haven't changed, nor his reserve energy.

The strength has been there all along, only he didn't know it.

National optimism will bring out the strength we have but are ignorant of. Start tomorrow whistling.

THE "EMPTY DINNER-PAIL" ARGUMENT

While too much reliance cannot be placed upon the results of Maine elections held early in the year as an indication how the country will go in November, they generally do indicate a trend that is followed in November. The results in the third Maine congressional district Tuesday will therefore be encouraging to the democrats. The republican candidate was elected as expected but his plurality was reduced from 19,357 in 1928 to 6,294. The administration was the issue in the campaign, too, and some of the big men of the republican party spoke in the campaign. On the other hand the democratic candidate attacked the administration and made much out of unemployment and industrial depression. The "empty dinner-pail" received a lot of thumping by the democrats and this evidently carried weight, whether justly or not, as seen in the greatly reduced plurality of the republican candidate.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE OPEN MIND.

What a thrill there is in a new idea! How it runs through the brain, stirring up the normal cells there, and getting them to scurry in all directions, waking each up to welcome the newcomer.

Ideas come oftener to the open mind. Because they are welcomed there.

If you let the world into your mind, you will get a better understanding of people each day. The narrow mind shuts out people and consideration of them.

Who does not admire the man who welcomes to his home every shade of opinion and every sort of decent thinking folk—the man with an open mind, always ready to learn and to grow.

The open mind is an unselfish mind. It sees so much of error and back-stepping in so many, that it has a clearer vision for that which is hopeful and uplifting.

The traveler, the actor, the lawyer, the newspaper reporter, are a few of those who come in close contact with all types of human beings. Therefore you find them with minds that are not sealed to facts and truth.

There is nothing more inspiring than to walk into people's minds—and find a welcome there!

I recently had the privilege of talking to a very great man whom I had admired for many years but whom I had never met before. I found him extremely simple and democratic in his manner—pleasant, courteous, and open minded. I could understand in my own mind the reason for his marvelous success—for he is one of the most noted publishers in the world.

The people who do the most good in this world are those who see all sides and who have tolerant spirits.

The open mind lets God in, as well as any who may want to find peace, comfort, or stimulation.

And the open mind lets in more sunshine, more fragrance, and more happiness, than any other kind of a mind.

There is one prayer I would like to have answered—my prayer for an open mind!

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW.

How little we know, you and I,
How little we know of what's known.
Suppose all our people should die
And we should be left here alone,
And a new race should spring into birth,
Could we teach them the ways of this earth?

We could tell them of marvelous things,
Of ships that have flown in the air,
Of the wireless which every day brings
Its message of joy or despair,
We could tell them of motors to run,
But not how these marvels were done.

We could say men went down in the sea,
And talked with the men on the land,
We could tell them of what used to be,
A light with the touch of a hand,
We could boast of the marvels of now,
But what if they questioned us "how"?

We know that the phonograph sings;
We know, for it's common today,
Whenever the telephone rings
That people will hear what we say;
But if we were left here alone,
Could we tell them the "how" of the phone?

Our civilization is not
Stored deep in the brains of the few,
By the toil of the many it's wrought,
It is all men have learned how to do,
And only the many could save
The age from oblivion's grave.

WHEAT FIRST IN EXPORTS

(Dallas News)

The market page disclosed some of the front page's stuff the other day when it heralded the department of agriculture's statement that the exports of wheat and wheat flour were of greater value last year than the exports of cotton. It had never happened before since the government began to keep tab on such things. Cotton has always been the country's chief foreign-money getter, and was even during the two years immediately following the war, when Europe had to give first claim on a depleted purse to its food requirements.

In point of volume, however, there was an increase in the exports both of wheat and cotton last year, compared with the exports for the year before, a circumstance that may be taken as evidence of Europe's recuperation, and in something like the same proportion. In 1931 the exports of wheat amounted to 279,949,000 bushels, as against 218,287,000 bushels in 1930, while, as for cotton, the exports were 6,678,000 bales in 1931, as against 6,359,000 bales in 1930. It is evident, therefore, that it is partly because of a greater increase in the price of wheat than in the price of cotton that, last year for the first time, it became the country's foreign-money getter.

Not less noteworthy are the facts concerning rice, as given in the department of agriculture's statement. One of them is that the United States has been a steady exporter of rice since 1918, and others is that the exports last year, amounting to 600,050,000 pounds, were 23 times the annual average exports for five years.

It is worthy of remark that we have become heavy exporters of most of the agricultural products on which the levy of import duties is being demanded as the due of the farmers. A dam built across a stream to protect the land above it from overflow would be as serviceable as tariff duties to "protect" the producers of those commodities from foreign competition, which is to say that its effect, if any, would be to damage those in whose behalf the duties were levied.

The RIDER OF GOLDEN BAR

WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE
© 1922 by Little Brown and Company

"You're so scared of me, you can't hardly breathe," he said calmly. "I don't like it if you're scared of me, so you can just get you another plate and cup and saucer and sit down there on the other side of the table and eat your supper with me."

"To eat supper with her uncle's murderer! Here was a grotesque jape of fate. It was unthinkable. Absolutely. The man divined something of what was passing in her mind. He said: "All in the line of business, H'l girl," he said, with a backward jerk of his head toward the front room where he had killed her uncle. "I didn't have a thing against him—personally."

"There were dishes here on the table," she babbled hysterically. "They found them here after—after—showing how he'd fed you first, and—"

"Sure he fed me," he interrupted. "I was hungry, hungrier than I am now. All the same, you gotta eat supper with me."

He twisted her wrist to emphasize his wish. She uttered a little moan. "Oh, but, please, me any more, I'll do what you want."

Beaten, body and soul, she went to the cupboard and got herself plate and cup and saucer, knife and fork and spoon.

She sat down opposite the man and tried to eat. It required every atom of will power to induce her throat muscles to permit her to swallow. Dan Silke watched her with savage satisfaction. He found the situation intensely amusing. To murder her uncle and later eat a meal with the niece. What a joke!

"I saw two mules and a horse in the corral when I came by," he resumed. "Looks like a good horse—better than the one I left up in the timber. I'll ride your horse and lend the other. Listen, I expect tomorrow sometime you'll have a few gents a-calling on you. It'll likely take those Golden Bar citizens till about then to pick up my trail."

looked at him. He was breathing very lightly.

She dragged herself on hands and knees to where he had thrown his six-shooter.

Rafe groaned a little. He rolled over and sat up, his chin sagging forward on his chest. He moved his head and looked at her vacantly. The blood ran down his cheek and dripped slowly off his chin.

The light of reason glared of a sudden in Rafe's eyes. She could see that he was absorbing the situation from every angle.

"I'll give you five minutes to pull yourself together and get out," she announced clearly. "If you're still here by the time I've counted three hundred I'll begin to shoot."

Rafe started to go by the time she reached 60. With the six-shooter pointing at the small of his back, her finger on the trigger, step by step she drove him out of the house to where he had left his horse.

Hazel watched him ride away and after a little became at one with the moonlit landscape. She walked back to the house. She felt that she was taking enormous strides. In reality she was stepping short and staggering badly. She went into the kitchen. She closed the door, dropped the bar into place and fell into the nearest chair.

"My God!" she said aloud. "I wonder what will happen next!"

CHAPTER XIV

"Now that we've got Dan out of jail," the district attorney pattered on, "we've got to get onto Bill Wingo, and the sooner the quicker. Me, I'm going out to Walton's tonight and question Hazel."

"We'll go," said Sam Larder decidedly. "I ain't a heap attracted by your methods with the ladies, and I intend to see the girl gets a square deal."

CHAPTER XIII

"You see," said Dan Silke, as he topped his mount, "I ain't been hard on you. I only took what I needed. Think of that and be happy."

He whirled the horse and rode away.

Hazel remained standing beside the corral gate. Suddenly she was conscious of a great weariness. With dragging steps she returned to the house. When she returned to the kitchen, there was a man standing in the middle of the room.

Nothing had the power to surprise her now. She would not have been amazed had the devil himself popped into the room. The man turned at her entry. He was Rafe Tuckleton.

"What do you want?" she asked lifelessly.

"Who's been here?" he demanded, pointing an accusing finger at the table. "Two plates, two cups, two saucers—who you been entertaining?"

Entertaining! Good Lord! Hazel sat down on the wood-box and laughed hysterically.

He was around the table and confronting her in three strides. "Who's been here?" he kept at her.

"Dan Silke," she said with a spasmodic giggle.

"You're a liar," he told her promptly. "Dan Silke ain't in some this way. He—he went another way. You've had Bill Wingo here, that's what's matter."

She said nothing. Billy Wingo! He had loved her—once. What a queer, queer world it was. Everybody and everything at cross-purposes. Yet there was a reason for Rafe. She looked up at Rafe. He was glaring down at her with a most villainous expression on his lean features.

"Say, whatan use of lynin' to me? You're an odd number, by all accounts, but you ain't no odd you could sit here and eat and drink and carry on with your uncle's murderer. You can't tell me that."

She was regarding him with curious eyes. "I thought you always said Dan Silke didn't kill my uncle!"

"Well—uh—yes, everybody else seems to think he did. And—uh—maybe I was wrong."

"You had Bill Wingo here, and we'll settle this Wingo business right now. This Tip O'Gorman murder has quered him for keeps. Sooner or later he'll hang for it. You'd look fine wouldn't you, the widow of a—"

"Don't say it," she cut him short. "Billy Wingo is no murderer. How- ever, you can set your mind at rest. I'm not likely to marry Billy Wingo, or anybody else."

His eyes, savage and mean, held her steadily. "I come over here, tonight to get you. I'm taking you back with me tonight to my ranch."

"You're taking me to your ranch?" she asked.

He nodded. "You, nobody else."

She laughed harshly without a note of hysteria. "You're two hundred miles behind the times. Men don't carry off their women any more."

"Now for the first time she smelt his breath. It was rank with the raw odor of whisky. So that was what had given the wild idea of carrying her off by force. The man was drunk. Sober, he was had enough. Drunk, he was capable of anything. She reached stoicly for the lid lifter. Rafe seized her wrist and jerked her sidewise.

He was striving to kiss her and she, face crushed against his rough shirt, fought him like the primeval female every woman becomes in like circumstances. Her right hand clawed upward at his face. Her left arm, doubled between their two bodies, she strove to work free so that she could grab his gun.

Rafe received three distinct clawings that considerably altered the appearance of one side of his face, before he was able to confine those active fingers.

"Here!" he bawled in a fury. "I'll fix you!"

He tried to seize her by the throat and his thumb slipped by mistake into her mouth. She promptly clamped down hard on the thumb. With a yell, Rafe released his grip on her body and worked a thumb and ring finger into her cheeks in a frantic effort to force open her locked jaws.

He jumped back against the wall, dragging her with him, and began to shake her as a dog does a rat. And then the old Terry clock did that for which it surely must have been originally made. For, as his shoulders struck the wall, his head knocked away the bracket that held the clock. Involuntarily he ducked his head. It was the worst thing he could have done, giving, as it did, the clock an extra foot to fall. It fell. One corner struck him fairly on the temple and knocked him cold as a wedge.

When Hazel's reeling senses had re-established their equilibrium, she found herself on the floor, lying across the legs of Rafe Tuckleton. She raised herself on her two arms and Proved, Yesterday! To Wichita Falls!

Big Audience at Wichita Theatre Hears Harvey Hindermeyer and the Dann Trio in EDISON Tone-Test

In a test of direct comparison, made yesterday at Wichita Theater, before a large audience, the New Edison scored a complete and convincing triumph.

Harvey Hindermeyer, the famous tenor, sang in direct comparison with the RE-CREATION of his voice by the New Edison. To every ear, there was no difference between his living voice and his RE-CREATED voice.

This is the most drastic phonograph test known. No other phonograph has ever sustained it. No other phonograph has even attempted it.

The New Edison's marvelous performance of yesterday vindicates everything that has been said or claimed for its perfect realism.

Mr. Hindermeyer stood on the stage next to a shapely Chippendale cabinet. He began to sing. His golden notes soared over the auditorium, bringing all under its magic spell.

Halfway through his song, he suddenly stopped singing. The New Edison, at his side, took up his song—and continued it alone.

Singer and phonograph thus alternated, throughout the song.

The only way the audience could be sure which was singing, was by watching Mr. Hindermeyer's lips—so exactly like the living voice was the RE-CREATED voice.

The Dann Trio made the same test of comparison with the RE-CREATIONS of their instrumental selections. Again the same result—there was no difference between the RE-CREATED performance and the living performance.

Proof was piled upon proof! Evidence was massed on evidence! The end of the concert found the audience absolutely and completely convinced, through its own personal experience, that there is no difference between an artist's living performance and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison—that listening to the New Edison is, in literal truth, the same as listening to the living artists.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

Only one question can still bother your mind. This question we now answer.

The instrument used in yesterday's tests was not a special model. It was an Official Laboratory Model, owned and used by Mrs. A. H. Carrigan for five years. Every official Laboratory Model in our stock is guaranteed to sustain the same test of direct comparison with living artists.

You can have an Official Laboratory Model in your home. You can own an instrument which will do everything done yesterday in the test.

Come in. Hear the wonderful Official Laboratory Model for yourself. Learn about our Budget Plan, which puts our Official Laboratory Model into your home for no more than you would "pay down" for a talking machine.
