All those arrested last Saturday night were men but a week ago several were women.

Four boys each 14 years of age, and two young men, 18 and 20 respectively, were arrested by Constable Frank Morgan's deputies Sunday night and charged with disturbing public worship. DECLARES CORN GROWER HAS NEVER RECEIVED THE PRICE PRODUCT MERITS

CHICAGO, April 2.—Corn is the foundation of America's agricultural wealth and is a "splendid starchy vegetable dish," cheaper than potatoes or rice," W. N. Adams, president of the American Corn Millers' federation, told a joint meeting of that body here today.

"Yet the farmer has never received the returns from this crop that its value merits," he said, "because it has come to be looked upon as largely an animal food."

DARING HOLDUP AT WICHITA SOUTHERN SOUTH BEND DEPOT

SOUTH BEND, TEXAS, April 3.—A masked bandit staged a daring holdup here at 8 o'clock Saturday night when he ordered Agent J. F. Hollis and Operator C. D. Winters of the Wichita Falls and Southern railway to "stick 'em up and keep 'em up." Messrs. Hollis and Winters had just stepped out of the depot and were locking the door for the night when a man appeared and gave the above command, and throwing a flashlight and gun in their faces he searched for weapons.

Finding none he marched between inside and ordered Winters to face the wall in the corner of the office and told Hollis to open the safe. Then this being done he grabbed two of the drawers in it and dumped their contents into his pocket, securing $175 in currency and checks amounting to $400, upon which payment has been stopped.

He evidently became frightened about this time and not touching the other drawers which contained over $200, he made a dash for the door and disappeared in the darkness.

Superintendent R. W. Miller and the constable and sheriff of this and neighboring counties were immediately notified. It is believed that the robber had a confederate on the outside. Messrs. Hollis and Winters remained at the office until 11:30 when they again left for the depot this morning it was discovered that the robber had evidently returned for more loot. The window near the telegraph desk had been broken, but nothing of value was missing except a small amount of wearing apparel belonging to Mr. Winters. Four suspicious looking characters were in town Saturday afternoon and it is believed that they were the robbers.

The Iowa Park precinct constituents desire to put down gravel roads instead of concrete, their contention being that 15 miles can be built instead of five with concrete.

RODEO TO BE HELD HERE IF FUNDS FOR PARK ARE PROVIDED

Wichita Falls will have a rodeo this spring, as usual, it plans formulated at a meeting of chamber of commerce directors Monday morning can be realized.

With the indorsement of the chamber of commerce, a representative of the rodeo will endeavor to raise $2,000 among local business men to cover the amount needed for rental on the baseball park. If the amount needed is subscribed, the rodeo will be held the first week in May.

"Foghorn" Clancy, representing Tom Burnett, started his canvass Monday, with the assistance of W. N. Maer and J. S. Stone, representing the chamber of commerce. The latter organization is not financially obligated in the matter.

Mr. Burnett had planned to have the rodeo at his ranch west of Iowa Park, when it developed that no place would be available here. Later Iowa Park business men began negotiations with him to hold the rodeo at Iowa Park, and this deal is still pending. Both Mr. Burnett and Mr. Clancy are anxious to have the round-up here, if it can be arranged.

Mr. Clancy believes that the amount of money spent in the community as a result of the round-up ought to make the raising of $2,000 easy. That amount is asked by the baseball association for rental for the park.

"I Want to Be Governor to Bury Bosses and Barrooms"—Pinchot

Gifford Pinchot has reentered politics, after an absence of eight years, as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

He is state forester and since 1919 has been president of the National Conservation Association. He is nationally known for his life-long fight for forest conservation. He was an intimate friend and lieutenant of Theodore Roosevelt.

At the request of NEA Service, Pinchot has written his views of the nationally significant aspects of the peculiar political tangle created in Pennsylvania by the death of two influential senators, one being Hiram Penrose, last of the old machine bosses.

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 2.—Bosses and barrooms have done more harm in political government than any other two single things.

The boss is a dead institution, and the saloon ought to be eliminated, leaving for government to prove it to be worthy.

Woman as a voting power signal, the passing of the ball not only in Pennsylvania but nationally.

When Senator Penrose died America's last political boss passed Pennsylvania, the last crack one-man rule. Pennsylvania was the last political monarchy in the United States.

Half a dozen little bosses—one-time lieutenants of Penrose—are trying to step into his shoes. But they don't fit. These minor bosses haven't the guts to follow the lead death broke Penrose's grip the people woke up to a new freedom. They discovered they could run things themselves.

A thing that most people overlook, however, is that even Penrose was beginning to slip as a political boss when he was elected. It meant one-man rule was bound to fall. You can't boss a lot of women like you can men. They won't stand for it. And it is a happy thing.

Women are only beginning to exert themselves as the most powerful single factor in politics. Penrose and his kind, the boss, in which bossism stood, they are going to participate in a state primary for the first time. By this time, the death broke Penrose's grip the people woke up to a new freedom. They discovered they could run things themselves.

Some people say women are not enthusiastic about politics and they won't take advantage of the power they've got. I don't believe that. I believe they know they've got the last word in politics, and will use it. Their basis of judgment is different than men's. They are interested in moral issues. The biggest is the saloon.

In Pennsylvania saloons are still licensed by the state. In effect that is a license to bootleg, and the saloons have a semblance of legality. But everybody knows a man can't pay a license fee of $100 a year to sell pop and ginger ale.

I have been in favor of prohibition many years. My chief plank in this campaign is to drive out the saloon. Also I want a real state enforcement law enacted.

When Penrose lived nominees were hand picked. Now "school is out." And the republican party, once omnipotent, is divided against itself.

WILBARGER COUNTY HAS A REVENUE IN BUILDING

VERNON, TEXAS, April 2.—A revenue in Wilbarger county building activity, having its inception in the recent rains, is clearly traceable in the sales of Vernon lumber yards, according to local managers. Traditionally every county of this kind reports renewed interest in the construction of residences, barns and fences, and a carrying out of general improvements both in the city and country.

There is more fighting on buildings with serious intent, according to local managers. For several months prospective customers have worked out costs with the idea in mind of carrying out construction when times might be more prosperous. At present, however, estimates are being asked with the purpose of immediately beginning work.

Late in the evening, however, Motorcycle Officer Kinnair and Johnson found a small negro boy and engaged him in conversation. He knew nothing of any game of the kind.

One of the apartment men made good his escape when officers raided the place, but seven others were taken to the city hall. All paid $10 fines or charges of gambling.

Six men were arrested by the police late Saturday night on gambling charges, all adding guilty and paying fines.

SHOWER AND BREAKFAST HONOR WEDNESDAY BRIDE

Miss Madeline Thomas, who will become the bride of Robert Nolan on Wednesday, was complimented with two pretty affairs Saturday and Monday. The first, a shower, was given by Mrs. John W. Thomas at her home on Grant street. The living room and dining room decorations were carried out in Easter yellow and white, with yellow narcissus and white and yellow lilies, and the hostess provided an entertaining contest as a compliment to the bride, "Madeline's Romance," in which all of the guests took an interested part. In the romance, blank spaces called for the names of different guests, which, when filled in, completed the pretty story. Miss Madeline's contest was most successful, completing the story, and Miss Suda Willis was crowned for the best correct version.

Shortly after the contest the dining room doors were thrown open, and here, within a beautifully made "Easter Nest," the bride-to-be, in a gown of the most attractive material, was presented in a dainty, white, egg-shaped basket. With each gift was a bit of advice to the honoree, many courses of ice cream in yellow lily molds, with angel food cake, was served, the plate favors being tiny narcissus, with yellow and white tulle. Those who were present included: Mesdames Pat Jarrait, Terrell Patterson, Leonard French, Mack Thomas, Mrs. C. C. Moore, and W. J. Nolen. Misses Madeline Thomas, Ruth Nolen, Suda Willis, Ethel May Martin, Ruby Avis, Cecilia Adickes, Gretchen Avis, Sadie Moore, Mayfield, Vera Hale, Nancy Jane Harlin, Louise Prize, Lois Adickes, Mattie Corlett, Josephine Moore, Katherine Moore, Elizabeth Miller, Margaret Miller, Ethel Owen, Louise Hamlin, Lucy Hill of Dallas, and Sara Hale of Henrietta.

Breakfast Monday. Miss Ethel May Martin was hostess at her home Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock with a breakfast. The dining room was attractively decorated, with a table centerpiece of pink roses and tulle and place settings of cups, with pink tulle napkins. A three-course breakfast was served during the hour. The bride was presented by Master Charles Malone, with a "white bouquet" of white roses, "elegant" fashioned from hand-embroidered linen handkerchiefs and tied with tulle. The place favors were tiny narcissus, with yellow and white tulle. Those who were present included Mesdames L. A. French and Terrell Patterson, and Misses Madeline Thomas, Suda Willis, Lucy Hill of Dallas, Ruth Nolen and the hostess.

Only the relatives and close friends of the young people were present. Following the ceremony Mrs. Thornberry, assisted by Mesdames M. E. Carey and Casper Street, served a luncheon plate to the wedding party and guests. Mr. and Mrs. Mahon left for their home in Dallas Saturday evening.

KIWANIAN LEARN ALL ABOUT CANADA AT WEEKLY LUNCH

Statistics covering every conceivable feature of Canadian national life were spread out for inspection by Kiwanis club members Monday noon when "Canada and United States Day" was observed. The local club, together with every Kiwanis club in the United States and Canada, celebrated the long period of fraternity between the two nations at the request of Dr. S. M. Martin, who was presented as conductor of the statistical tour of the eight Canadian provinces, and was giving facts and figures relating to the political, religious, educational and economic features of these he planned into a lengthy review of Canada at the Kiwanis club.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS DREADFUL DREAMS

The kettle boiled and a queer green steam arose. Enna Meena, the magician, started right away to boil two dreams for the bat (Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer) and for Nancy and Nick, who were peacefully sleeping between two mountains in a lovely valley. First he took seven green feathers from a parrot, the rind of a pineapple cheese, and a hint of barnacle shells. Then he ground together in a coffee grinder. Next he mixed the milk of a coconut ground on the North Pole with a quart of medium oil and a drop of bay rum. Lastly he sifted into one bowl a pinch of sulphur, two pinches of gunpowder and three pinches of snuff. He mixed the things all together then and poured them into a large applebutter kettle over a hot fire, muttering these words as he stirred: "Kier briar, little dream. Things are seldom what they seem. First with Nancy, then with Nick, Help Twelve Toes to turn the trick."

OUR FIRST YEAR A STEAK AND HEARTBREAK

It was right in the middle of preparations for dinner, with the table fixed prettier, I think than I had ever looked before. And the telephone rang. "I'm going to stay at the club this evening, hon; got a big game going. I'll be home around 10." He was availing himself of his privilege to "retain his liberty as an individual"—as we had both agreed to do three months ago, before the wedding! And there was my quarterly anniversary dinner—all but ready to be served. I wished for a long minute that such an absorbing thing as chess had never been invented. And then the phone rang again.

It was Bart. He wanted to come for us to the Playhouse club. When I told him Jack would not be home, he immediately claimed the privilege of escorting me, anywhere. "I reckon the fact that we're going together and pulled hair and played Simon Says 'Thumbs Up' ought to be sufficient chaperone for us, Peggina," he said. "All right," I agreed, trying to be enthusiastic. "Come along when you are ready, and I went back to the dining room.

Theories and things all considered, it was mighty foolish to wear my daintily spread dinner table through a blur of tears. I wiped them away and decided to let the table wait for breakfast. Although too formal, it would do. There was a great deal of disorder in my kitchen, a vegetable upon the stove, a salad in the making, and that wonderful steak on the kitchen table, trimmed and ready for the table. It was a perfect tenderloin, nearly two inches thick. I had paid $1.42 for it. We couldn't afford that very often. I decided that I would best for me to change my dress before I cleared up my kitchen.

WICHITANS ASKED TO GIVE OLD BOOKS AND MAGAZINES FOR PENITENTIARY LIBRARY

Wichitans who have magazines, books or reading matter of any kind that they no longer need have an opportunity to put it to a very useful service. The chain of the Huntsville penitentiary has asked for donations of reading matter to replace the books destroyed when the prison library was burned recently. The prisoners now have no reading matter at all, and as there is no appropriation for a library, the loss can be remedied only by private donations. About 10 per cent of the prisoners made use of the library, so that its loss is keenly felt.

Appeal has been made to the Rotary club of the state to help provide reading matter, and the local Rotary club will gladly collect and forward all books and magazines available here. Anyone who wishes to help this worthy work may notify Horace Robbins, president of the club, at 1011 North Main street, secretary, at The Times office, phone 4292.

The club will see that all offerings of the kind are called for and given to the penitentiary. Anything that comes under the head of reading matter, even discarded school books, can be used. It is hoped to send a big shipment from here.

Winter Comes A. S. M. Hutchinson

(Continued from Saturday.) I'd encourage all I know how if I were a proctologist. "I say, aren't I the limit, gassing away like this? I hardly ever get off now, and when I do—Why don't you stop me?"

She made a little gesture deprecatingly, as if to say, "Because I like to hear you. I like to watch your funny old face when you're on one of your ideas. It gets red under, and the red slowly comes up. Funny old face, do you want to hear this because I'm going to disagree with you. I think, I think, conventions, most of them are odious hateful, Marko. I hate them."

He had been strangely affected by the words of her interruption. A contraction in the throat—a twitching about the eyes. But he was able, and glad that he was able to cough along with a stick and drawing a bit into safety. I'm not sure about that. Perhaps that's what we're all looking for—back precisely at the thoughts his mind had taken up on the morning he had met her. But what a degrading moment! Two feelings came into his mind, the second hard upon the other and overflowing it, as a fierce horseman might catch and override one, the first, "It's rather jolly to have someone that can see ideas like that." And then the overriding, and he said with satiating roughness, "But you—aren't flotsam—the life you've taken?"

And, lo, if he had struck her, and she been bound, defenses, after with her eyes entreating not to be struck again, she could not deeper have entreated him than in the glance she flitted from her eyes, the quiver of her lids that first released, then veiled it. It stopped his words. It caught his thought.

He got up quickly. "I say, Nona, never mind about thinking. I'll tell you, I've been doing it. Rotten. Happened just after I met you the other day." "The rotten thing is that he's turned it down. At least practically. He's been doing it. Rotten. Happened just after I met you the other day." "Well, old Fortune promised to take me into partnership about an age ago."

"Marko, he ought to have done it an age ago. What's there rotten about that?" Her voice and her air were as gay as when she had entered. "The rotten thing is that he's turned it down. At least practically. He's been doing it. Rotten. Happened just after I met you the other day." "Well, old Fortune promised to take me into partnership about an age ago."

"I'm married." "Why, Bart? I'm married." "At which Bart Elliott sat down on my kitchen ladder-chair as if my really had robbed him of a man's strength." "You mean to say that just because you're Jack Madison's wife you and I never can sit down opposite each other at a table again? It isn't human, Peggina!" I giggled hysterically. "No!" I cried. "It is not." (To be continued.) (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service.)

FAREWELL DINNER OF NOVEL NATURE TO 'BUD' AND WIFE

A supposedly farewell dinner, deviating considerably from the orthodox nature of similar events, was tendered a number of their friends here by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Forrester in the ballroom of the Kemp hotel Saturday night. The hosts, who have had charge of the past year, are contemplating leaving Wichita Falls in the near future and although final decision in regard to this has not as yet been made, the Saturday dinner was in the nature of an official farewell.

Strictly informal from first to last, the solemn portent of the occasion was lost in general hilarity until B. Frank Johnson and Mrs. Tom B. Smock, after a series of agonizing and tearful eulogies, presented the hosts with the remnants of a feast in the most generous fashion. The intrinsic value of the gifts were not considered but the spirit in which they were given moved the Forrester in the same fashion. Other addresses, brief and humorous, were given throughout the evening by W. D. Cline, Horace Robbins, J. H. Roberts, Harry Gray, Harry Gray and John Taylor. B. F. Johnson styled himself toastmaster of the occasion and conducted the festivities in the most graceful manner.

An elaborate seven-course dinner, a "gastronomic masterpiece" it was served by Mr. and Mrs. Forrester to Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Glover, Messrs. and Mesdames, W. S. Curlee, Tom B. Smock, W. D. Cline, J. E. Sharpe, B. F. Johnson, Harry Gray, John W. Taylor and Harry Gray Jr., Misses Esther Gates, Florence Jackson, Irene Davidson and Messrs. Horace Robbins, Sellers Rodgers and Harold Johnson.

DISCOURAGED AND MISERABLE

Virginia Lady So Weak She Could Hardly Get Around. —Says Cardui Helped. —Relieve a Serious Condition

"I would . . . try medicines, and grew weaker and weaker, more out of heart every day. I would get up and try to drag around, and feel so miserable, and creep back to bed. My husband bought me Cardui. I thought the first bottle helped me, and when I began the second, I knew it did. I kept it up—each day growing a little stronger, a little more like my former self, and I began to eat and sleep.

"I sure wasn't long until I was up and around like another woman. No more dragging, no more wax and blue feeling. It cured me. I used seven bottles in all. Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Barker describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui. If troubled with womanly ailments, take Cardui, the woman's tonic. For sale by all good druggists. Adv.

Spudders Are Beaten By Cardinals Despite Jake Miller's Heroic Efforts

The Cardinal Yankigans turned on the Spudders Sunday afternoon at Athletic park and avenged their defeat of the previous day by winning a justly deserved victory 5 to 4. The St. Louis lineup remained unchanged with the exception of the slabs, but one would never know that it was the same aggregation which faced Spud's charges Saturday. On Japs Plavich came within range of spotting the Sunday pastime, but the Spudder skipper was determined that his charges should work out and help prevent the Cardinal expense after waiting an hour for the skies to clear ranging the ball at 4 o'clock.

That the Spudders failed to emerge victorious was in no way due to Jake Miller. Jake pummeled the offerings of "Tink" Riviere, Cardinal regular, for a brace of routine trip tickets and was directly responsible for the only three runs scored by the locals. There was nothing fluky about either smash as they cleared the left field wall with plenty of room to spare and there was no wind to help him out. Jake also contributed two scintillating catches, one of which robbed Del Greer of an extra base blow in the first round and prevented a tally. On his last trip to the plate he smacked the agate solidly with a flying run on third base, but the drive went straight at Adams and was converted into a double play, killing the best opportunity the Spudders had to win.

Adams in the Way

The Spudders ran into the last line they have faced this year. Riviere and Barnes had plenty of smoke and were exceedingly tight in the pinches. But though they mixed up their speed with Riviere, the Spudders hit as well as could be expected and were unfortunate in having their drives go astrait at the fielders when big smashes were called for. Adams' diminutive Cardinal shortstop, the Salmites were chalked on more base hits but he was their one particular nemesis of the day.

Spring Football is Under Way at Texas University

AUSTIN, April 3.—Spring football practice for the Longhorn candidates for the 1922 team began Monday, March 28 on Jordan field. One of the 25 men on the list of possible candidates for the University of Texas as a squad 35 came out for the first day of practice, which consisted of only limbering up exercises.

Returns to Game After Absence of Two Years

The Braves are banking a great deal on the return of Pitcher Frank Miller to baseball. Miller was purchased two years ago from Pittsburgh.

SPEAKER IS INDIANS' PRINCIPAL WORRY

Silver Fox's Knee Is Not Mending As Rapidly As Cleveland Routers Hoped.

By NEA Service. Cleveland finished second to New York last year after a bitter struggle for the very end.

Can Cleveland make a better showing in the coming campaign? That question is of interest to followers of baseball the country over.

On paper Cleveland has a better ball club than in 1921. Paper ball clubs, however, do not always come through. Games are won on the ball field.

The acquisition of Stuffy McInnis about greatly help the Cleveland ball club.

McInnis is one of the best fielders in the game. He made only one error last year, proof of his fielding ability.

Joe Sewell and Bill Wambegans should profit greatly by the presence of McInnis in the Cleveland infield. Neither will have to use care and take pains in making throws to first.

All that is necessary will be to get the ball in the hands of first base and McInnis will do the rest.

In addition McInnis is a good hitter, who delivers his best work at the bat in pinch.

The Cleveland infield with McInnis at first base is 25 per cent stronger.

The pitching, which was erratic the greater part of last season, certainly should be improved.

IMPROVED PITCHING WILL BE ONLY SALVATION OF CHICAGO WHITE SOX

By NEA Service. Improved pitching is the only hope of the White Sox in the 1922 American league season. The Sox have no improvements to make in the batting and the betterment of the pitching is a problem that will be solved only after the championship season is well under way.

Just now Charles Robertson seems the best bet of the spring work. He is a right hander who was with the club in 1921 and was sent to Minneapolis several times.

Robertson performed effectively against the Cubs this spring. He has a lot of stuff and knows how to work.

STORY OF BALAAM CONFLICT OF WILL, SERMON POINTS OUT

By FRANK S. REID. "Permission... was the subject of Dr. Grafton's Sunday morning sermon at the First Presbyterian church. He selected his text from the 12th, 20th and 22nd verses of the 22nd chapter of Numbers (12) "And God said unto Balaam, thou shalt not go with them; thou shalt not curse that people; for they are blessed. (20) And God came unto Balaam at night and said unto him if the man come to call thee, rise up and go with them; but yet the word which I shall say unto thee, that shalt thou do. (22) And God's anger was kindled because he went, and the angel of the Lord stood in the way for an adversary against him. Now he was riding upon his ass, and his two servants went with him. Dr. Grafton said: "Glancing at these verses of the Bible we find in the battle of being inconsistent or punishing a man for doing the thing that God told him to do. There is such a thing in life as permitting without sanction. That permission comes always under protest and it carries with it responsibility and consequences. That is the lesson from which I have selected these three passages. "God gave Balaam permission to go but God did not sanction his going, and Balaam suffered the consequences of having gone. What was the thing Balaam wanted to do? He was fighting against the Children of Israel. Balaam sent for Balaam and offered him both honors and riches if he would help him curse Israel and Balaam asked God's permission and in the first verse God said 'No. Balaam went to God a second time and asked his permission and God didn't want him to go and God said he would suffer the consequences of his going. Balaam opened the door of temptation. He sought to be satisfied with the first answer that God gave him, but he dabbled with the tempter. Satan is never satisfied with having tempted a man one time. A man may have the will power to resist Satan for a while but unless he has thoroughly committed himself Satan will win out in the fight. "There is a lesson in this for everyone of us, and I think on this communion Sunday we ought to consider the lesson that God has for us in this story. "God permits things that he does not sanction. That is the environment of every life. Take the life of a little child in the home, in a strange world, sitting by the fire

"FORGIVENESS" IS EVENING SUBJECT OF DR. PITTENGER

"Forgiveness, human and divine," was the Sunday evening subject of Dr. T. S. Pittenger at the First M. E. church. He said, "There are not many of us but that need to pray for forgiveness every day, yet most of us are so busy that we neglect it, and thus get out of touch with the divine will. Soon we begin to drift in the other direction and it becomes an easy matter to do the things that we otherwise would not. We do these things because we have become careless and allowed ourselves to think on them, after which it is an easy matter to do them. "The first thing we must do is to ask divine forgiveness for doing these things, if we are to get back into touch with the divine. The man that does this may secure forgiveness and the power of God. Then there must be an intent upon his part to cease doing the things for which he is asking forgiveness for having done. God asks us to forsake our sins, then to control our thoughts so we do not think or act in violation of His law. We do not ask forgiveness simply to escape punishment, but also that we may forsake the things hurtful to us. "If people have lost their way in life, have returned to their former sinful ways and have begun doing the things that God does not want them to do, it is because they have followed the path of least resistance, have returned to their former habits and have forsaken God for the pleasures of the world. Their sin will destroy them because they cannot escape the destruction of sin. The man that does not daily ask forgiveness will soon find himself drifting and the only safe thing to do is to forsake this way and come back and ask God for His forgiveness. "That though your sins be as scarlet, I will make them white as snow. He gave His son to save the world. Too many men keep going on in sin, afraid to ask God's forgiveness, yet Christ died on the cross as an atonement for the sins of all men. Too many people get away from the throne of God because they have trouble with other folks and they let these human troubles keep them from asking God for forgiveness. "The thing that the world needs today is in the spirit of the Master that endures the troubles of other men and bears their burdens. If we but knew the burdens that other men are carrying, we would forgive them not once but a thousand times.

Their sin will destroy them because they cannot escape the destruction of sin. VERNON, TEXAS, April 3.—Opposition to a drive in Vernon for the purpose of raising money for near east relief was voiced Wednesday afternoon by a meeting of local charity workers. THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

Mr. Cock-a-doodle-doo Has a Joke on Mary Jane

MR. COCK-A-DOODLE-DOO, whose real name was Delish Ezarjeth, but everybody called him Bill, met Mary Jane up in the barn one morning when Mary Jane had gone to gather some eggs for Aunt Susan. Bill said, "Mary Jane, why do you all come a-pesterin' around here and takin' my missus' eggs? Maybe she wants to get a dozen or fifteen little chickens, and then you give her a door-knob to set on." Mary Jane said that the old red hen would have just as much fun setting on a door-knob or a glass egg as on the regular egg, and she wouldn't have near so much work finding bugs and worms for the glass egg as she would for twelve or fifteen hungry chickens. Bill said, "Well, maybe there is some sense in that, but, at the same time, I don't think it is quite fair."
